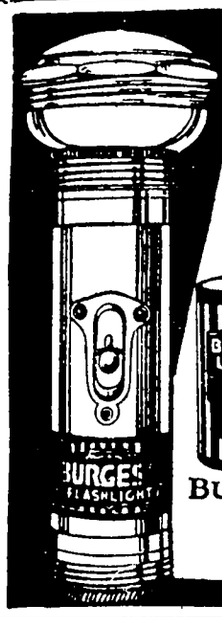
SHOP in Fifth Avenue. Pay millionaire prices. But you'll never find coffee or cocoa that's better than Monarch — the kind your own grocer sells.

REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago · Boston · Pittsburgh · New York



BURGESS FLASHLIGHTS & BATTERIES

Is your old flashlight in good working order? If it isn't, step in at your dealer's store and get a Burgess Flashlight Battery

There is a Burgess Battery for every flashlight case. The same quality that has made Burgess Radio Batteries the choice of the foremost radio engineers is found in Burgess Flashlight Batteries; they are laboratory products.

BURGESS BATTERY COMPANY
General Sales Office: CHICAGO
Canadian Factories and Offices
Niagara Falls and Winnipeg

When Grandmother Was a Girl

Since 1867

Styles have changed a lot since grandmother was a girl. The curls and frills and ruffles and furbelows of that bygone day are only a memory now.

But there is one fashion that has remained in vogue during all these years—that has, as a matter of fact, increased amazingly in popularity since 1867. That is the fashion of home decorating with paint products bearing the label of The Chicago White Lead and Oil Co. This label signified highest quality then—just as it does today. And of the complete line of half-century-old favorites, none is better known than King Wall Finish.

For this remarkable finish combines all the desirable features anyone can ask for. It's easy to prepare by simply mixing with hot water. It's easy to apply, even by an amateur who has never held a paint brush, for it never spots, laps or streaks. And it is so economical that you can finish the average size room for less than $1.00!

Write today for name of dealer nearest you and for FREE Color Chart showing 19 beautiful colors to choose from.

THE CHICAGO WHITE LEAD & OIL CO.
15th St. and S. Western Ave., Chicago, Ill.

KING Wall Finish

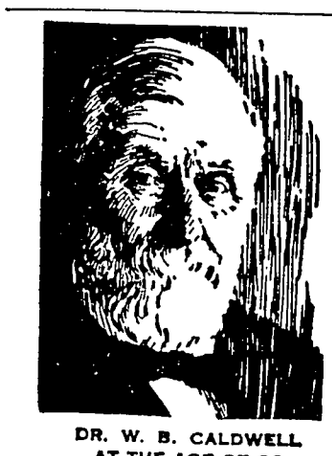
Women as Pharmacists

Prescription filling by women is on the increase in Manila. In the latest crop of 110 pharmacists who took the oath before the board of therapeutical examiners 30 per cent were women.

The Exact Term

"Girls are altogether too careless putting on rouge and face powd They should be more—more—"

"Cosmeticulous, I presume is t word you're trying to think of."



DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Women Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headaches, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even cross, feverish, bilious, sick ch gladly take it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at a store that sells medicine and just for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

Let Yeast Foam build you up!

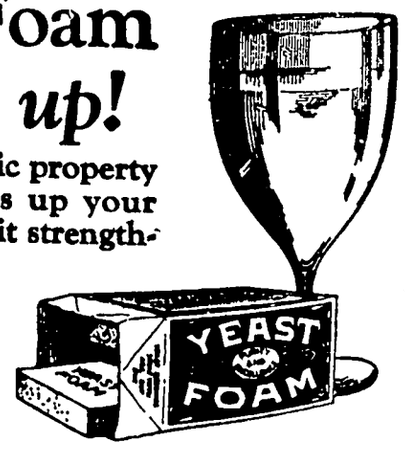
Everyone knows the tonic property of yeast—how it builds up your weight to normal—how it strengthens and invigorates the whole system.



Just try this: drop a cake of Yeast Foam in a glass of water; let stand for five minutes; stir; let settle and drink the milky water, including the white precipitate.

Or, if you prefer, eat the yeast with a cracker or a piece of butter.

SAMPLE CAKE FREE

NORTHWESTERN YEAST CO.
1750 North Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Send me FREE and POSTPAID your book "Dry Yeast as an Aid to Health," also a sample of Yeast Foam, without obligation.

Name _____

Address _____

W. N. U.

100%
Paraffine Base

Every Quart Guaranteed

YOUR MOTOR NEEDS Mona Motor Oil

...ood ...rtainment ...O-I-L the Mona Motor Oil Radio Station

...REAM WANTED

...ip Direct for Best Prices

...e have no buying station in your town, ship ...You get all the profit. Cans furnished at ...le prices. Write for tags and further information.

DES MOINES CREAMERY CO.
...W. 3rd St. Des Moines, Iowa

Knew Quite Well

...hat will Bobby say when I meet ...

...on't ask me, you know just as ...swear words as I do."

...IAMOND DYE" ANY GARMENT, DRAPERY

...t Dip to Tint or Boil to Dye

Each 15-cent package contains directions so simple any woman can tint soft, delicate shades or dye rich, permanent colors in lingerie, silks, ribbons, skirts, waists, dresses, coats, stockings, sweaters, draperies, coverings, hangings—anything!

...y Diamond Dyes—no other kind—tell your druggist whether the ma...l you wish to color is wool or silk, whether it is linen, cotton or mixed ...

Five Billions in Diamonds

...e diamonds of the world repre... approximately $5,000,000,000.

...ow's Your Blood?

...maha, Nebr.—"My blood was im...rished, my stomach was giving me trouble, and I was bothered with constipation. Finally I was advised to try Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I did so and it completely overcame the trouble. The first bottle helped me wonderfully, but I continued until I had taken five. I am sure ...e is not a better tonic on the market ... Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Dis...very."—Mrs. Fannie Gillespie, 604 So. ... St.

...et up in both fluid and tablet form. ...nd 10c to Dr Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., ...r trial package of tablets. Write for ...e confidential medical advice.

...LLEN'S FOOT-EASE

For Tired Feet It Can't Be Beat

At night when your feet are tired, sore and swollen from much walking or dancing, sprinkle two ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE powders in the foot-bath, gently rub the sore and inflamed parts and relief is like magic. Shake Allen's Foot-Ease into your shoes in the morning and walk in comfort. It takes the friction ...m the shoe. Sold everywhere. For FREE ...mple and a Foot-Ease Walking Doll, ... ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, Le Roy, N. Y.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks., Patchogue, N.Y.

...DERCORNS Removes Corns, Cal...es, stops all pain, ensures comfort to the ... makes walking easy. 15c by mail or at Drug... Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

... PAID for Dental Gold, Old False ..., Discarded Jewelry, Diamonds and ...ium. Cash by return mail. Florida Gold ...ing Co., 21 W Adams, Jacksonville, Fla.

...uticura Talcum Unadulterated ...xquisitely Scented

...TOMACH TROUBLES

...ickly leave. Green's August Flower ...e-tomachic corrective, has been ... for 60 years and has given re... to thousands suffering with indi...n, dyspepsia, constipation, etc. ...at druggists. 30c and 90c. If ...cannot get it, write ...GREEN, INC., Woodbury, N. J.

...0 OR MORE PER WEEK. Sell to stores ...dividuals. Experience unnecessary. Es...ty fine for crew managers. Secure ...ory. Box 625, Richmond, Virginia.

...NERAL STORE WANTED IN SMALL ... Have 240 acres well improved farm, ... mortgage $13,000. Price $125 per acre, ... balance in cash. Write Allan F. ... Mason City, Iowa.

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

AMERICAN LEGION'S FIRST RADIO POST

The first radio post of the American Legion is now in existence. A national charter for such a post was granted recently at Oklahoma City, Okla., for a post to be known as "Oklahoma Radio Post No. 300."

Membership in Radio post is restricted to veterans who do not live near a Legion post, and it is said that ownership of a radio is one of the requirements of membership.

The post broadcasts every Saturday night at midnight from Station KFJF, Oklahoma City, wave length 261 meters.

More than 20,000 fan letters and telegrams have been received by Radio post since they started broadcasting their popular midnight programs on January 15, according to Department Adj. Harold Janeway. Fan letters have reached Radio post from every state in the Union and Mexico, Canada and Hawaii.

Artists of national reputation "do their stuff" for Radio post, including the Tracy-Brown dance orchestra, considered the best in the Southwest; Art Fowler, wizard of the ukulele, late of Station KFI, Los Angeles, and the Universal quartet of the Ford Motor company, all Legionnaires, and the official quartet of Radio post.

A special program for disabled veterans is broadcast every Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, Central Standard time. "We are giving this special program," declared Robert C. Graham, program director and announcer of the post, "because taps usually sound for disabled veterans in hospitals before we go on the air Saturday nights."

Radio post celebrated the opening of KFJF's new studios on March 1 by broadcasting a 14-hour program.

Radio post was conceived and organized by D. G. Rixey of Oklahoma City, formerly a national field secretary for the American Legion $5,000,000 endowment fund for disabled veterans and orphans of the World war.

The department of Oklahoma recently made a radio inspection tour to Philadelphia, 1926 national convention city of the Legion. With train effects furnished in a most realistic manner on the harmonica, Legion officials "boarded" the radio special. Stops were made at St. Louis, Terre Haute, Indianapolis and other points, where musical programs and two-minute rear-platform speeches were given.

Boys' Baseball League O. K.'d by Federation

Endorsement by the National Baseball federation of the American Legion's all-American baseball league for boys was given in a resolution passed by the federation at its annual meeting in Detroit recently. The resolution read:

"Resolved, That the National Baseball federation endorse the plans of the American Legion to promote town and city athletics in the ten thousand communities which have American Legion posts:

"Be it further resolved, That the National Baseball federation co-operate particularly with the American Legion in the conduct of their baseball program for boys."

The junior leagues are well under way in many sections of the country, according to Frank C. Cross, national director of Americanism for the Legion.

The general plan of the league calls for championship contests in local communities, in congressional districts, in states, in sections, in regions and finally in the junior world series at the Legion national convention.

Hospital Treatment for Veterans of World War

More than 23,000 World war veterans, exclusive of those tracing their disabilities to the World war service, have been extended free hospital treatment since the passage of the World War Veterans' act on June 7, 1924, according to rehabilitation officials of the American Legion at Washington. The hospital bill for their treatment approximated $8,000,000.

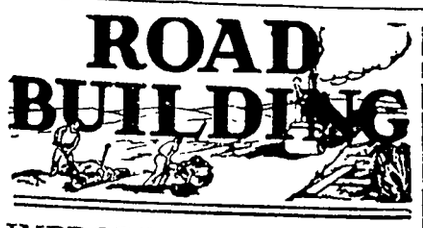
The average period of hospitalization for these veterans was 97 days. All classes and types of disabilities and disease were treated regardless of who the veteran was, so long as he could produce an honorable discharge.

The World War Veterans' act was passed largely through the efforts of the Legion. Further liberalization of the act is sought at the present session of congress, including a provision that would give free out-patient treatment to all veterans regardless of the class or origin of their disabilities.

Members Are Musicians

Harmony will prevail at all meetings of a new post of the American Legion organized in Minneapolis. Every one of the 26 members is a musician. "As the post grows, bands, orchestras, glee clubs and quartets will be organized from the membership," Harold D. Hopp, organizer of the post, declared.

ROAD BUILDING



IMPROVED ROADS HELP MOTORISTS

"Motorists of the United States save annually $1,630,000,000 in operating costs due to the construction of 230,000 miles of gravel and hard-surfaced roads," declares William H. Connell, president of the American Road Builders' association. Mr. Connell points out that the saving in motor vehicle operating costs exceeds the annual cost of improving the highways every year. In his own state of Pennsylvania, he reports that the owners of motor vehicles saved $51,750,000 by operating over 4,500 miles of hard surface in 1925 and only paid the state $20,500,000 in registration fees and gasoline taxes to support the construction and maintenance of the highway system, leaving them a net saving of $22,250,000.

"Pennsylvania today is operating on a basis that the user pays all costs for constructing and maintaining the state highway system. Motor license receipts and the proceeds from the gasoline tax are used exclusively for highway purposes and these funds pay the entire cost of all construction and maintenance, as well as all departmental salaries and wages; in fact, all highway expenses. New construction is financed principally by bond issues, but the interest and sinking fund charges are paid from the motor receipts.

"The figures which have been stated as to the saving to the owners of motor vehicles by the construction of improved roads have definitely justified the adoption of the principle in Pennsylvania that the user should pay for the road and when this idea has been universally adopted the entire highway business will be on a sounder financial basis."

Mr. Connell voiced his opinion that the increasing mileage of paved highways would not seriously affect the steam railroads but will ultimately act as a benefit, as a supplement or feeder to them. He predicted the early abandonment of short-haul rail lines which in many cases have operated at a loss, in favor of motor vehicle transportation.

To Carry Passengers on Lincoln Highway in East

A development in transportation between Philadelphia and New York which has been long anticipated is at last a fact. The People's Rapid Transit company, a subsidiary of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company, is now operating regular bus service between the Bellevue Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, and the Waldorf-Astoria in New York over the Lincoln highway.

The distance is slightly over 90 miles, and fares are considerably below those charged by the railroads.

Those who have made the run in the new busses say the trip is an enjoyable one over a perfectly paved road and through beautiful and historic country. Stops are made at Trenton, Princeton, New Brunswick, Elizabeth and Newark, all important Lincoln highway communities.

Nearly 1,450 Miles of State Highway in Ohio

Nearly 1,450 miles of Ohio state highway will be constructed by the state highway department in 1926, G. F. Schlesinger, director of highways announced. Of this, 450 miles will be paved, and the rest will be of gravel and other construction.

The maintenance program will extend over 7,850 miles of paved and traffic-bound roads.

During 1925, 450 miles of paved roads in Ohio were completed, and 700 miles of other roads were finished. Maintenance was provided for 6,700 miles of highway.

Twelve million dollars was expended for paved roads, $2,000,000 for traffic-bound roads, and $9,000,000 was spent for maintenance, repair and reconstruction, for a total expenditure of state highway funds amounting to $23,000,000.

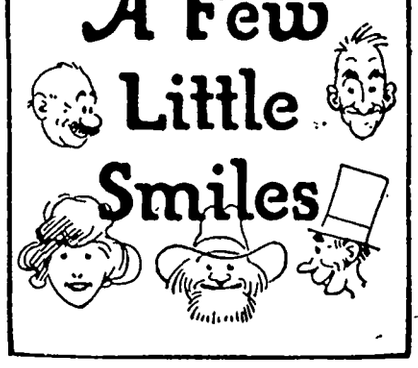
Minnesota Good Roads

Minnesota will maintain nearly 7,000 miles of main or trunk highways this year, against less than 4,900 miles in the average state as reported by the government. It plans an extra large total of 170 miles of new paving, about twice as much as last year; also 250 miles of other surfacing and 242 miles of grading, compared with average state projects for 141 miles of paving, 300 of other surfacing and 180 miles of grading this year. Minnesota will have a little less than $2,000 a mile of funds for trunk routes, compared with $3,420 in the average state.

Eliminate Grade Crossings

The increasing number of accidents at highway grade crossings has led to the adoption of a policy looking to the elimination of such dangerous crossings wherever practicable on federal aid roads. The policy, which has met with the generous support of the states, is that all existing grade crossings on the federal aid highway system shall be classified for priority of elimination by agreement between the bureau of public roads and the state highway departments.

A Few Little Smiles

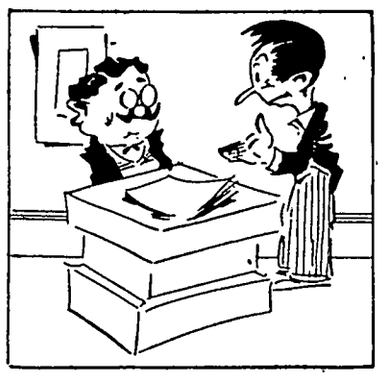


SCOTTY'S PLAN

Two Scotchmen had planned a hike into the country and had agreed to meet at a certain place at five in the morning. Only one of them owned an alarm clock, but he finally hit on a solution of rousing the other.

"Mac," he said, "when the clock goes off I'll get up and ring ye on a public telephone. But, be sure and don't answer it, so I can get my nickel back."

MIGHT ADD SOMETHING



Director—Your play, sir, is too short for the stage.

Playwright (hopefully)—How long is your stage?

Why He Offered His Seat

'Twas not an act of chivalry,
Nor yet the fear of scorn;
He offered her his tramcar seat
To keep her off his corn.

Getting It Right

Two American negro soldiers were discussing musical instruments.

"Yas," said one, "I'se gwine to get me a eucaliptis."

"A what?" queried the other.

"A eucaliptis—dat's a musical instrument, fool."

"Go on, nigger! You can't kid me—dat's one of the books of the Bible."

Retreat for Men

Talkative Woman—It's a shame the way we women slave for the men. Home wouldn't be home without us. Can any one think of any home without a woman?

Man (in rear)—Yes, ma'am, the Old Soldiers' Home.—Progressive Grocer.

Two Uses

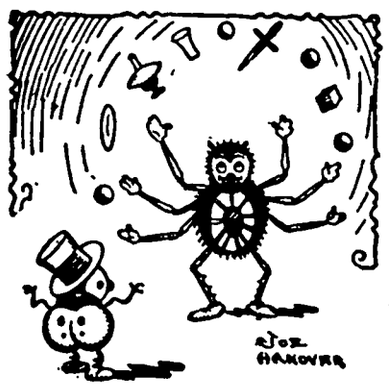
"I wish some cod liver oil."

"We now have several varieties," said the druggist. "Is this for children?"

"Yes."

"Do you wish to use it as a medicine or as a punishment?"

ENVY



Envious Bug—Oh, shucks, why haven't I got a lot of arms so I can be a great juggler like Mr. Spider?

Jealous

Because he was plucky
Successful was he;
But when his friends told it
They left off the "p."

Day of Variety

Grandma—People don't seem to marry as young as they did when I was a girl.

Grandflapper—No, old dear, but they do it oftener.

Why He Gave Her Age

Eldest Sister—Don't you know better than to go telling everybody how much older I am than you are?

Little Brother (indignantly)—I have to, else people would think you were my mother.

The Limit

"I've sent back your letters, your gifts, your ring. Is there anything else I can do?"

"You might return my love."—Cornell Widow.

What's a Hall For?

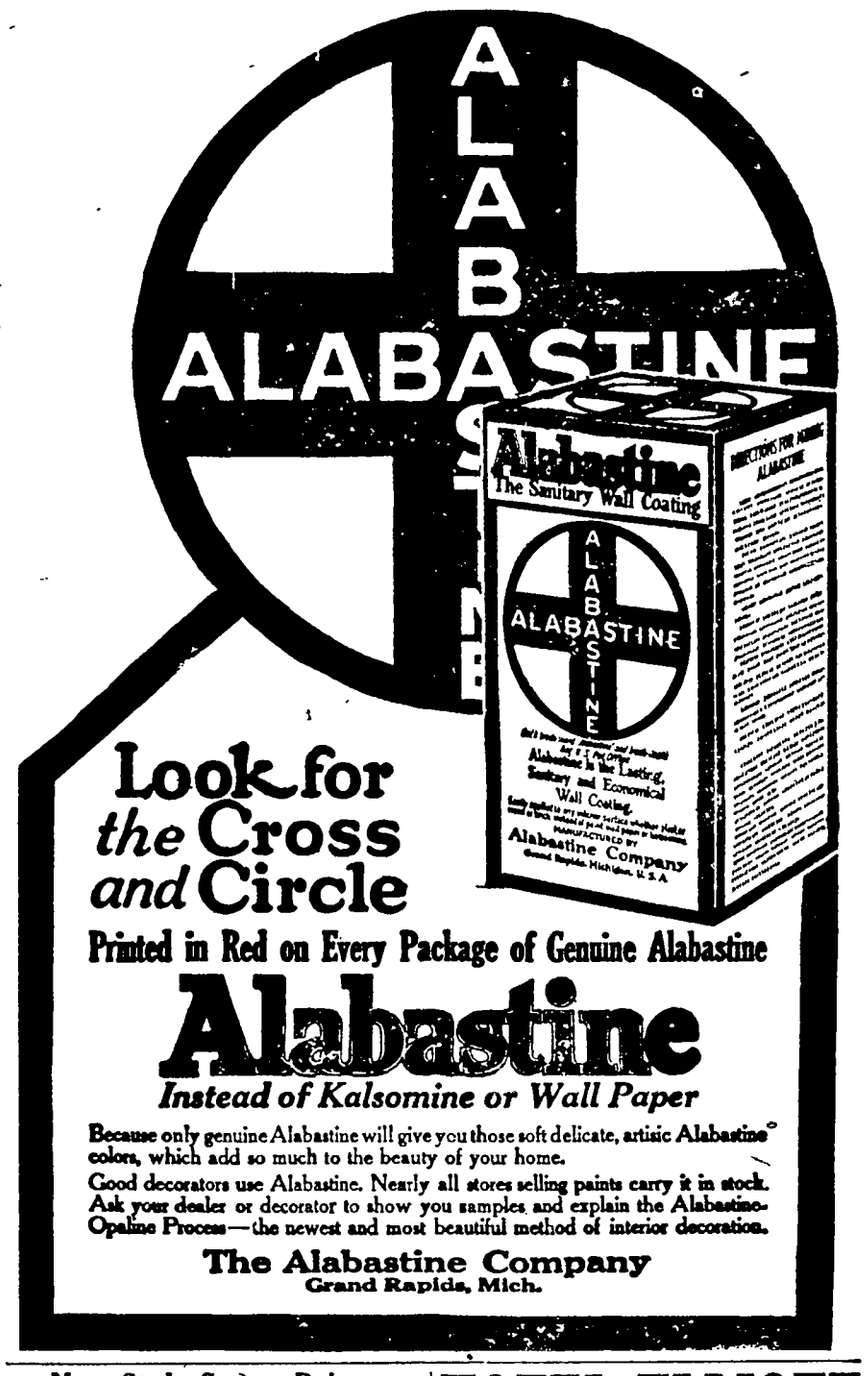
Irate Father—When you were in the hall last night. I distinctly heard that young man kiss you. Explain yourself.

Daughter—Why, daddy—it isn't nice to make a young man stand out on a cold front porch.

Slaves

Aunt Rachel—When I was your age we always kept our legs covered.

Ruby—Oh, styles will make one do almost anything.



Look for the Cross and Circle

Printed in Red on Every Package of Genuine Alabastine

Alabastine

Instead of Kalsomine or Wall Paper

Because only genuine Alabastine will give you those soft delicate, artistic Alabastine colors, which add so much to the beauty of your home.

Good decorators use Alabastine. Nearly all stores selling paints carry it in stock. Ask your dealer or decorator to show you samples and explain the Alabastine-Opaline Process—the newest and most beautiful method of interior decoration.

The Alabastine Company
Grand Rapids, Mich.

New Style Screw Driver

A recently invented screw driver is made so that it holds any screw by its slot. It starts screws easily in difficult places. By applying pressure on the top, two steel clips are released from the tool. When the screw driver is placed in the slot of the screw and pressure released these clips spread apart, securing themselves tightly in the slot.

A great many men reason in a circle. That's why there is no end to their arguments.

Men are immortal till their work is done.—Livingstone.

HOTEL ELLIOTT

219 Fourth Street - Des Moines, Iowa
A Pleasant, Home-like Hotel
Rates: $1.25 to $2.00. Centrally Located.

Theatrical and Fancy COSTUMES for school plays and masquerades. Masks, wigs, beards, make-up. Colleges and high school caps and gowns to rent. The Wingate Company, 543 5th Ave., Des Moines, Iowa.

Artistic Cleaning & Dyeing Co.

9th and Keosauqua Way, Des Moines, Iowa

We live up to our name—"Iowa's Largest Cleaners and Dyers." It will be to our mutual interest by giving us your cleaning and dyeing. Our prices are moderate. A trial order will convince you.

PATENTS Booklet free. Highest references. Best results. Promptness assured. WATSON E. COLEMAN, Patent Lawyer, 644 G Street, Washington, D. C.

What makes the value in General Motors Cars?

1 SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH AND TEST. Centering in the largest automotive laboratories and proving ground in the world.

2 COMBINED PURCHASING POWER OF MANY COMPANIES. Insuring the best materials at the lowest price.

3 VOLUME PRODUCTION. 120,000 skilled workers made more than 835,000 General Motors passenger cars and trucks in 1925.

4 QUALITY BODY WORK. Fisher Body Corporation is a part of General Motors.

5 WORLD-WIDE MARKETS. Sales and service in 144 countries.

6 FAIR PRICE POLICY. Standard prices, with General Motors' savings passed on to the buyer.

7 GENERAL MOTORS ACCEPTANCE CORPORATION. A finance company owned by General Motors, and assuring sound terms and low rates to time purchasers.

All these factors mean that General Motors has every facility and every incentive for maintaining quality in the product and value for the price.

GENERAL MOTORS

CHEVROLET · PONTIAC · BUICK
OLDSMOBILE · OAKLAND
CADILLAC · GMC TRUCKS

"A car for every purse and purpose"

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

Mrs. Worthie Usher was visiting at Goodell Tuesday evening.

Floyd Fraser, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Tuesday.

Mrs. Emma Gibbs was at Garner on business Tuesday.

Sheriff Peck Hanson was in town on business last Thursday.

R. A. Jorgenson and family spent Sunday at Garner.

Mr. Klingaman, of Garner, was in Klemme on business Monday.

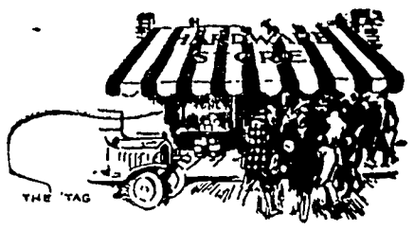
Elmer Arnold is driving a fine, new Buick Sedan.

Start your Chicks on Dr. Hess' Poultry Pan-a-cea. Sold at Wilson's Pharmacy, Klemme, Iowa. 1tc

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Smock have moved into one of the Ell houses, recently vacated by the West family.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Rev. Metcalf, who conducted revival meetings here a few years ago, and who recently has been at Forest City, will begin meetings at Hayfield Tuesday evening April 27th



Let's talk Tools someday

EVERY MAN loves good tools and knows that it is hard to do good work with poor ones. It is easy to get fooled in quality. A finely finished chisel that looks like good steel may be so soft or brittle as to be useless. Your "Farm Service" Hardware Man is a tool man. He knows the kinds to buy to get dependable quality without excessive cost. Sometimes when you pay him two or three cents more for a hammer, bit, or some other article, you are buying two or three times the value in quality.

At a "Farm Service" Hardware Store you have the advantage of seeing, hefting and handling before you buy. You take no chances. You will need extra pliers, wrenches and other things badly some day next summer in the height of your working season. Better get them now and not take a chance of losing a half day for want of a screw driver at your busiest time. Remember we sell only dependable tools, and invite you to come in, look over our stock, and let us help you select the best for your purpose.

Let us show you our complete line of WINCHESTER TOOLS of all kinds. They are dependable.

At your "Farm Service" Store in Klemme—

E. F. Jacobs

THE WINCHESTER STORE

Klemme, Iowa.

Your Farm Service Hardware Store

Pledged to Render a Real Farm Service

Mr. G. H. Lade and Mr. Chris Rasmussen, of Garner, were Klemme business callers Monday afternoon.

Mr. D. D. Ross, of Garner, was in Klemme on business Wednesday of his week.

FARM FOR SALE—My 80 acre farm, terms reasonable. Andrew Nelson, Goodell, Iowa. 4fc

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Back entertained her uncle, Lewis Jurgemeyer, of Blairstown, Sunday.

Don't forget the Senior Class play onight and Friday night of this week at the school house.

H. L. Suckow was a business caller at Garner the fore part of the week.

DON'T lose your Chickens with Lice—Use Dr. Hess' "Instant Louse Killer." Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

Elmer Bredlow and Sophia Katter secured marriage licenses at Garner Monday morning.

Miss Marie Gauger has been elected to teach in the 5th and 6th grades here next year.

Attorney "Fat" Hastings, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Tuesday.

J N. Day and son, Dorance, were at Belmond Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. V. S. White, of Britt, was a Klemme visitor last Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Lewis enjoyed company from Ames last Thursday evening.

Start your Chicks on Dr. Hess' Poultry Pan-a-cea. Sold at Wilson's Pharmacy Klemme. Iowa 1tc

Miss Madeline Richter, of Garner, is here caring for Mr. G. W. Kluckhohn

Chris Gram is driving a new hustler car which he bought last week.

Mr. D D Ross, of Garner, was transacting business here Wednesday of this week.

Dewey Rice and wife are the proudp arents of a baby boy born to them at Clarion last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Pavey and children spent Sunday at the Verner Lewis home.

Mrs. P. M. Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Klingaman, of Garner, drove to Mason City Tuesday afternoon.

P. M. Wilson and family drove to Sheffield Sunday for a visit with friends.

DON'T lose your Chickens with Lice—Use Dr. Hess' "Instant Louse Killer" Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson and son, Buster, drove to Garner on business yesterday afternoon.

Einar Salling now has his new Ford sedan, purchased at the Garner Auto Company here. Einar has a fine job and has it fully equipped.

Mr and Mrs. Henry Griewe, Jack and Clarice Wellemeyer drove to Garden City, Minnesota, Sunday, for a visit with relatives.

Miss Esther Green, a sister of Mrs. Henry Ludeke is here and is helping at the home of Mrs. Elmer Arnold.

NOTICE—There will be a Republican Caucus at Liberty Township Center School at 7:30 o'clock Monday, April 26.—Committee. 1p

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman and Marian, Mrs. Mary Waterman and Miss Loverin visited at Belmond Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Sampson left Wednesday evening of this week for Soopner, Wisconsin, for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Paul Grange and son, Dorance, and Albert Keeper, drove to Garner Wednesday afternoon of this week.

WANTED—to pasture about 25 head of horses or cattle. Good pasture, no swamp. J. H. Dorenkamp, Phone Klemme 5903. 2tp

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wiles, of Ames, came last Thursday to look after business matters in Klemme. Klemme is always glad to have former residents back for a visit.

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Mr. A. D. Gimer, accompanied by Mr. Jacoby, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, made a trip to Titonka on business Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter (Happy) Johnson and daughter, Shirley, and Miss Gladys Buchan, drove to Garner Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson and Buster, took in the play, "Abie's Irish Rose," at Mason City Monday night.

Court begins at Garner on Monday May 3rd with Judge Kelley on he bench. The Times Print Shop will print the Court Calendars for all terms of court this year.

Now what do you think of our nice spring weather? Farmers here took advantage of the nice weather and have their spring work well along.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Waterman and daughter, Marian, and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus, drove to Swea City Sunday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Mitchell.

Rev. Gauger drove to Hayfield on business yesterday. Mrs. Minnie Josten accompanied him as far as Garner. Mrs. Josten is building a new home at Garner on a lot east of the Methodist Church there.

Mr. Bert Stafford, linotype expert, of Des Moines, paid the Times shop a visit this morning.Bert was out on an inspection trip to see that all machines were in proper running order.

The Klemme Auxiliary will put on another old time dance at the Idle Hour next Thursday night, April 29. Their last dance was a great success and drew the biggest crowd for a dance here for some time.

Mr. A. D. Gimer and sons, Harl and Thomas, and daughter Thelma, accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Johnson and son, Robert, drove to Abbott Saturday for a visit with Art's folks. Art's mother was sick and in bed and under the doctor's care.

Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Schaefer and daughter, Miss Mabelle, and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Suckow, drove to Mason City Sunday afternoon to visit with Mrs. W. J. Suckow, of Forest City, who is a patient at the Park Hospital.

"The Deacon Slips" is the title of the comedy home talent to be given at the Idle Hour Saturday night by the all star cast "The Liberty Township Hay Seeds." Don't miss the big show. Nothing but laugh's. And the price is only 15 and 35 cents.

The Methodist church is undergoing a complete renovation this week. Painter Geo. Lawhorn is refinishing the interior with new wall paper, new paint and new varnish. The services Sunday will be held at the school house.

The Times Print Shop will soon print the new telephone directories for the Koerner Telephone Co. We would advise that anyone wanting to have a phone installed soon should see Mr. Koerner at once, so that the number will appear in the new directory.

According to the Garner Signal, the Garner Boy Scouts have raised enough money and have purchased the old Methodist Camp Grounds in Concord, which will be used for a Scout Camp. Business men got back of the move and quickly raised $500 to buy the grounds and more money has been pledged to equip the camp.

The D. B. Walton family, and Mr. Lebeck and his children, departed suddenly from Klemme Monday night at midnight when a moving van from Mason City hauled away their household goods. They have left for parts unknown, and for reasons unknown. An advertisement in Tuesday's Mason City paper disclosed the fact that they sold their household goods there at public auction.

The Cop Will Not Buy Many Cars On That Salary

The new town marshall, Solon Smith, by the good offices and generosity of the new town council, will receive $15 a month for his salary. The business men of the town have been given notice to look after their own night-watching.—Shell Rock News.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR

STATE OF IOWA,
Hancock County, ss.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified os Administrator of the estate of John Gruetzmacher deceased, late of Hancock County, All persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned for allowance, and file in the oicffe of the Clerk of the District Court.

H. L. SUCKOW,
Wichman & Hastings his Attorneys.
Dated April 6th, 1926.
(Publish April 8-15-22, 1926.)

NOTICE FOR BUILDING SCHOOL HOUSE

Notice is hereby given that proposals for the erection of a school house in District No. 6, in the Township of Twin Lake, in the County of Hancock, Iowa, will be received by the undersigned at the Center School House in Twin Lake Township, until 1:30 P. M., May 3, 1926, at which time the contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Plans and specifications may be seen at my place.

JULIUS PRIEBE, Secretary,
(Pub. April 8-29) Goodell, Iowa.

EGG CANDLING STARTS MAY 1st

"It has not been necessary to candle eggs during March or April but starting May 1st all dealers must candle all eggs which they buy," states the Iowa Department of Agriculture.

The department does not require observance of the Iowa egg candling law during the months of March and April as practically all of the eggs which are sold during those months are first class. However, after the time many eggs are offered for sale which are not up to the standard.

The purpose of the egg candling law is to protect the seller of good eggs. If eggs are bought on a flat price basis the dealer lowers his price on all eggs so that the man who produces a first class product is penalized. Candling eggs not only insures a better price to the producer of good eggs but insures the consumer a higher class product for his breakfast table.

Clarence Eldredge, who works for Alfred Josten, is very ill with pneumonia.

Repairing
OF ALL KINDS

SHOES half soled, either sewed or tacked, new heels fitted. Tires and Tubes repaired. Bring in your light repair work of any kind.

Chris Blumer's
REPAIR SHOP

LADIES' ACCOUNTS RECEIVE SPECIAL ATTENTION

Women get much satisfaction from managing their own affairs.

They contribute equally to the accumulation of the family's wealth by their efforts, and should enjoy the privilege of having a personal account.

It will give them that business exeprience which is so essential in this commercial age.

Ladies' accounts receive special attention at this bank.

First National Bank,
KLEMME, IOWA.

33 Farmers!

Each Paid Over $50 For Two Weeks Cream Sold To Us

HERE'S THE LIST OF CREAM CHECKS OF $50.00 OR OVER, FROM MARCH 1 -15, 1926, PAID TO THESE PATRONS:—

Wm. Greimann	$144.85	Henry Wendall	59.71
C. Sheppleman	92.88	O. Pringnitz	59.67
M. Halfwassen	90.54	Lassahn Brothers	58.86
Harry Carpenter	90.22	Wm. Velau	58.18
Mat Smith	87.17	H. G. Heightland	57.42
H. B. Lauen	84.33	F. Butz	56.92
Lee Hammon	77.22	W. H. Koehler	55.62
P. Christians	76.14	E. Rosendahl	55.12
E. G. Beiers	71.91	Harry Gibbs	55.08
Wes Lenz	69.25	John Bock	54.18
F. W. Klinge	69.25	Henry Schuldt	53.01
Frank Sandry	65.47	Frank iMller	51.66
V. A. Cook	62.91	F. Kohlsdorf	51.52
F. W. Wenzel	60.84	Herman Lemke	51.38
W. L. Sherwood	60.57	Jake Dorenkamp	50.89
J. L. Abele	60.39	Art Knoke	50.76
		John Christians	50.76

Total Pounds of Butter Fat from March 1 to March 31 ..... 39,470.2 lbs.

Average Price Paid for Month of March ..... .45cents

Highest Test 39½%

VALENTINE JOSTEN, Sec.

Klemme Co-Op. Creamery Company

THE KLEMME TIMES

ntieth Year—Number 37. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1926. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

ANY NEW CASES, FOR MAY TERM

T TERM OF COURT BEGINS MONDAY, MAY 3rd

e C. H. Kelley Will Hear Cases This Term

ederal Reserve Bank, vs. W. A. et al. Plaintiff asks judgment $14,000.00 and foreclosure of tgage on W½ NE¼ & E½ NW 7-97-24, etc, etc.

ora M Rathbun, Executrir vs. Andrews, et al. Plaintiff asks ment for $10,000.00 and fore- re of mortgage on W½ of SW 4-94-24.

aurice Larson vs. L. O. Kimball, l. Plaintiff asks judgment for 4.70

. A. Lamoreaux vs. O. J. Eisen- . Plaintiff asks judgment for 2.00 on account of storage of n and labor performed.

arrie H. Brummond vs. E. C. ham, et al. Plaintiff asks judg- t for $25,741.89 and foreclosure ortgage on S½ of SE¼ and S½ ¼ 26-94-26.

ewis Nelson vs. Carl A. Hanson, l. Plaintiff asks judgment for 40.00 and foreclosure of mort- e on S½ NW¼ of SW¼ 6-97-23 part of SE¼ 1-97-24.

. H. Ramsay vs. Clara E. Schuldt l. Plaintiff asks judgment for 79.56 and foreclosure of mort- e on S½ of SE¼ 18-94-23.

nion Bond & Mortgage Co. vs. C. Eisenman et al. Plaintiff asks gment for $3,526.35 and fore- ure of mortgage on NE¼ & N½ E¼ 3 & W½ of SE¼ 2-96-25.

F Tompkins vs. Elliot Thomp- et al. Plaintiff asks judgment $15,948.98 and foreclosure of tgage on W½ SE¼ & W½ NE and S 35 acres of NE¼ NE¼ 7-23.

ederal Reserve Bank vs. Wm. Ol- et al. Plaintiff asks judgment $9,000 00 and foreclosure of tgage on S½ of SE¼ 12 & SE¼ W¼ 12-97-24.

. A. Andrew, Receiver vs. C. D. y, et al. Plaintiff asks judg- t on notes for $5,128.37 and at- ment.

. A. Andrew, Receiver vs. Geo. ner. Plaintiff asks judgment $6,487.29 on note and for at- ment.

. A. Andrew, Receiver vs. L. A. er, et al. Plaintiff asks that veyance of S½ of SE¼ 14 & ¼ 13-95-26 to J. P. Hanson be aside etc.

arsh Fork Coal Co. vs. W. L. . Plaintiff asks judgment on unt for $107.56.

. C. Ripley vs. Tom A. Way. The ntiff asks judgment on note for 3.51.

mes Erickson vs. Louis E. Erick- Plaintiff asks that he be ap- ted Guardian of the property of defendant.

m. Wehrheim vs. E. W. Sabin l. Plaintiff asks judgment on for $213.77.

ary S. Jordan vs. Michael F. Jor- Plaintiff asks that the Court orize execution of quit claim to S½ of NE¼ & E½ of SE¼ 5-25 net Wiles vs. Glen Latch et al. ntiff asks judgment on account nt due of $192.10.

tate Savings Bank of Woden vs. . Gabrielson et al. Plaintiff judgment for $5,000.00 and closure of mortgage on NW¼ & of W½ of NE¼ 12-97-26.

. E. Gifford vs. F. W. Jurgens et Plaintiff asks judgment for 540.00 and foreclosure of mort- e on NW¼ 9-94-25.

. E. Gifford vs. F. W. Jurgens et Plaintiff asks judgment for 378.78 and foreclosure of mort- e on S½ of NE¼ 31-95-26.

. E. Gifford vs. F. W. Jurgens. ntiff asks judgment on note for 40.00.

ood Rubber Products Co. vs. J. ck & Sons. Plaintiff asks judg- t on account for $127.77.

. M. Thompson vs. Ross Coomes. ntiff asks judgment for $400.00 landlord's attachment for rent.

eo. M. Van Evera et al vs. W. R. m et al. Plainti asks judg- t for $2,085.72 and foreclosure ortgage on W½ 1-94-23.

hn Miller vs. Augusta Abraham Plaintiff asks that partition d of SW¼ 10-96-26.

. E. Olson vs. Leo Paulson et al. ntiff asks judgment for $175.00 and land lord's attachment.

Chicago Joint Stock Land Bank vs. C. J. Saunders et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $30,965.12 and foreclosure of mortgage on E½ SE ¼ 11 and W½ 12-96-25.

Chicago Joint Stock Land Bank vs. C. M. Furlong, et al Plaintiff asks judgment for $22,256.18 and foreclosure of mortgage on NE¼ & E½ SE¼ 2 & E½ NE¼ 11-95-25.

Chicago Joint Stock Land Bank vs W. J. Laufersweiler et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $23,363.04 and foreclosure of mortgage on SE¼ 35-97-25 & SW¼ & W½ SE¼ 1-96-25.

Des Moines Joint Stock Land Bank vs. C. L. Eisenman et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $14,975.36 and foreclosure of mortgage on SE¼ 8-97-26.

Union Central Life Insurance Co. vs. P. M. Griesemer et al Plaintiff asks judgment for $7,542.08 and foreclosure of mortgage on SE¼ 36-95-23.

H. E. Byram et al vs. Frank Hejlik. Plaintiff asks possession of tract of land in NW¼ of SE¼ 30-96-23.

Iowa Builders Supply Co. vs. Paulson & Zeisemer. Plaintiff asks judgment on note for $350 00.

Fred R. Smith, Supt. vs. Eli Cole. Plaintiff asks judgment for $20,000.00 and attachment.

BY NEW METHODS RAIN WATER CAN BE MADE AT HOME

Cloud Bursts Not Necessary To Fill Old Time Cistern

IOWA CITY, April 29.—Special. The joys of saving sixty percent of one's soap bills, of possessing scaleless tea-kettles and hot water boilers, and of seeing the family washing emerge from tubs flaky-white instead of lime streaked—joys known only to the more fortunate housewife—can be every day occurrences if water softener now available get the acclamation due them.

Prof. Edward Bartow of the department of Chemitry of S. U. I. offers two home methods of treating hard water to give it the semblance and content of nature's waterfall.

The first, or lime soda process, consists simply of adding lime and soda to the water, stirring the mixture, and allowing the sediment formed to settle. The amount of foreign substance to be added can be quickly determined by consulting any chemist or by writing to the state geological survey in case the water came from a municipal supply.

Even more satisfactory is the base exchange process which consists of passing the hard water through an artificial or natural mineral. Apparatus containing the necessary exchange mineral is being placed on the market.

Of the two processes the former is the cheaper and is very satisfactory when water of constant composition like well water is used. The latter gives a softer water, is most satisfactory for water of a variable amount of hardness, but is more expensive, the machines costing $150 and up.

OVER EIGHT THOUSAND ATTENDING IOWA THIS YEAR

Number Of Graduates Largest In History Of University

IOWA CITY, Iowa, April 29.—The University of Iowa continues to grow. Its student body for the present year numbers 8,300 persons. This number, since it represents a full year's registration, includes the students registered in the summer session as well as thoe on the campus at the present time. The figure represents a gain of 289 students over last year, and is the largest registration ever recorded at the Univesity in a single year.

The graduating classes which will have been turned out this year will exceed the 1300 mark. The class of 1920-21 number 570 which is approximately half the number of this year's graduates. The group which receives its degrees this June will number 904 according to the present estimate. The June Commencement is the last graduation of the year, the others taking place in July, August, and February.

KLEMME FARMER GETS STATE HONOR

FRED KOTHENBEUTEL, KLEMME FARMER, HAD FOURTH HIGH COW IN STATE FOR MARCH

296 Cows Culled From State Testing Associations Because They Did Not Show A Profit

AMES, IOWA, April 29—Special To The Times—Nearly 300 cows—296—who had not been paying satisfactory profits as dairy producers were sold to the butcher in March. The farmers who owned these cows were all members of some of the 63 cow testing associations in Iowa. Approximately 1,575 farmers belong to these associations and secured accurate records on the profitableness of each cow in their herds during the past month. More than 22,000 head of cows were owned by association members.

Black Hawk-Buchanan Association led the 63 testing organizations in the state for average production per cow during March. The average was 33.4 pounds of butterfat from 361 cows, of which all but ten were in milk. Bremer County Association staad second with an average of 30.9 pounds per cow, while Kossuth County was third and Linn County Association No. 1 fourth. Averages for the latter three were, respectively, 30.9, 30.2, and 30.1 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Floyd Gilley of the Fayette County Association No. 3, for the third consecutive month, led the state for average production per cow for an entire herd. His 10 purebred Holsteins in March averaged 60.7 pounds of butterfat each and 1,798 pounds of milk. The herd, or part of it, was milked more than twice daily.

The second high herd in March was composed of 8 purebred and grade Guernseys owned by M. G. Woodruff & Son of Warren County. The average was 52.6 pounds of butterfat per cow. Thos. Hansen of Cedar Falls, with 18 purebred Holsteins, secured an average of 52.3 pounds per cow, third highest in the state. The fourth best average was made by the 9 purebred Holsteins in the herd of B. L. Zurcher of the Monona-Farmersburg Association. The latter average was 51.6 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Kothenbeutel Has Fourth High Cow In The State

C. G. Hammer of Warren County Association had highest producing cow in Iowa during March. A purebred Holstein in his herd produced 88 6 pounds of butterfat and 2,533 pounds of milk. She was milked more than twice daily. Thos. Hansen had second high cow, also a purebred Holstein, with 87.3 pounds of butterfat. Floyd Gilley owned third high cow, she having produced 86.7 lbs. of butterfat The fourth best producer was a grade Guernsey owned by Fred Kothenbeutel of the Hancock County Association No. 3. The latter cow produced 84.6 pounds of butterfat.

POULTRYMEN WANT TO IMPROVE FLOCKS

Much Interested In Flock Accrediting And Certifying

Iowa poultry keepers are interested in raising the quality of their flocks. That's indicated by the way they have gone in for flock accreditation and certification, thinks F. W. Wesco, of the Extension Service, of Iowa State College.

Tho the accrediting and certifying service was started only this spring, 73 poultry keepers in all parts of Iowa have signed up for the work. The flocks of these owners are being carefully culled by a specialist who discards all birds who are poor layers, those of poor type or who show disqualifications.

Each bird in the flocks of these inspected for certification or accreditation are carefully banded so that they cannot be interchanged. A sealed tag is used for this purpose.

In addition to the individual flock owners who adopted the accrediting and certifying, 18 baby chick hatcheries in the state were inspected for accrediting. This fall work will be startd in accrediting and certifying male birds so that those who buy such stock can feel reasonably sure of getting high quality stuff.

RECENT DEALS IN COUNTY LANDS

HANCOCK COUNTY REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

John Steenlage wf. to Jacob Rohrbach. W. D., date 4-13-26, $1.00, SE¼ 18-96-25.

Malcolm R. Black to J. B. Eilers. Q. C. D., date 10-15-25. $1.00, E½ 7-96-24.

D. Goodrich wf. to Isaac H. Parshall et al. Q. C. D., date 4-17-26, $1.00, SE¼ 21-94-26.

Harry Mantle wf. to First National Bank, Kanawha. W. D., date 4-20-26, $1.00, SW¼ 19-94-25.

Lela S. Loucks et al to Ione A. May et al. Q. C. D., date 4-20-26, $1.00, E½ 16-94-26.

G H. Whyte to E. G. Whyte. W. D., date 1-1-26, $1.00, SE¼ SW¼ 33-96-23.

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff to E. J. and John A. Blum. Sheriff's Deed, date 4-15-26, $16,470.97, SE¼ 20-95-23.

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff, to State Savings Bank, Godell, Iowa, Sheriff's Deed, date 4-17-26 $2163.59, S½ of NE¼ 16-94-23.

"MIRACLE MERCHANT" DID $325,000.00 BUSINESS IN 1925

Fred Anderson Became Famous For His Methods Of Doing Large Business In A Small Town

Fred Anderson, a storekeeper at Cozard, Nebraska, is known over the country as the "miracle merchant." Cozard is a town of 1,200 and Mr. Anderson has built up a department store that did a business of $325,000 last year and he contributes his success to judicious advertising.

Mr. Anderson started his store twenty years ago and in 1905 he did a business of $20,000 with a $5,000 stock by quick turn-overs. Now his store has a floor space of 37,000 square feet. Mr. Anderson has counted 450 people in his store at one time, and now he carries a stock worth $90,000.00, and his sales last year amounted to $325,000.00, and he says his business so far this year has run ten per cent ahead of last year's.

Mr. Anderson is a young man in appearance, his hiar is still black, and he is a bundle of energy.

"First, last and all the time, I'm for advertising," he declared. "Fifty per cent of my success is due to it. A business should spend at the least, 5 per cent of its turnover for advertising."

"Advertising is so powerful that it can cause me to change my shaving cream for another make, or even my living place. It is the long distance phone to your store with the charges reversed. It is no trouble for a farmer to jump into a Ford and drive fifty miles to yours tore if you'll tell him about what you have to sell."

"Twice a week I run a page ad in our local paper. I've "bought" a newspaper everyv ear since I've been in business, bur I don't own one. I haven't got half the business that I'm going to get."

"If it were not for advertising we would be fifty years behind the times. Everybody that reads anything at all reads a newspaper. That is the place to put your ads. Then write your ads ast hough you were talking to those readers, about your goods."

"If you aren't getting more business thany ou had last year you're slipping backwards, and the only way you can get it is to advertise, and advertise every week, just keep pounding away."

"I'm not like some merchants. They think because everybody knows them and that they sell prunes and tobacco they don't need to advertise. I tell the world what I have to sell every week, about new goods, and what it sells for."

"If your business is sick, either call the printer for a good "tonic" or let the sheriff close your doors."

DES MOINES, Ia., April 29—The voice of Mrs. Glenna Espe, of Klemme, Ia., helped to entertain a large audience in the Drake university auditorium Monday night Mrs. Espe, who is a student in the College of Fine Arts at the university, is a member of the women's glee club, which appeared in joint concert with the men's glee club of the university.

TIMELY GARDEN TIPS

Cut Flowers All Season Possible

A vaseful of sweet smelling flowers is a welcome addition to any home in the summer and fall. And almost anyone with a love for flowers can keep the vase full of perfumed blooms throughoutt he summer and fall by the intteligent maintenance of a cut flower garden.

Gladioli are among the best cut flowers grown. The blooms are very beautiful, they are easy to grow and they keep a long time in a vase. They have a long period of usefulness, it being entirely posible to cut gladioli from the first week in July until the frost nips them in the fall.

The bulbs should be planted about 4 inches deep, or 6 inches is not too deep in sandy soil, and 6 inches apart with 12 to 24 inches between the rows. Bone meal or any good potato fertilizer is beneficial when it is applied at the rate of one pound to the square yard. The fertilizer must not be allowed to come in contact with the bulbs.

Hybrid or ever blooming roses are also good for table decorations. Not all roses are commendable, but the ones that we recommend are the Columbia, Ophelia, Mrs. Aaron Wood. These roses are fairly hardy if the soil is hilled up around them. Pot grown plants may be set out as late as June 1. Two-year-old plants grow best here, but bench-plants from the green house will grow well if they have enough attention.

Dahlias, though they have a great variety of colors and bloom from late July to frost, can hardly be recommended as highly as the roses and gladioli for they are hard to grow and require a great deal of attention. They cannot be planted until May 15 and then only single tubers should be planted.

Some of the annual family make good cut flowers. Marigolds, African and French Caliopsis, Cornflowers, Callendula, Snap Dragons and Zinnias all bloom until they are killed by the frost.

Some perennials which ought to be planted by May 1 are: Hardy aster, blanket flowers, cornflowers, sneezeweed, false dragon heads and nasturtiums.

Plant Right Kind Of Greens To Bear Thuout The Summer

A nice dish of greens is a welcome food on most anyone's table during the summer months. But oftentimes there are no greens to be had due either to the fact hat no green bearing plants were seeded in the garden or because the hot weather withered those that were planted.

Swiss chard, New Zealand spinach and kale all produce excellent greens and will withstand the hot dry weather of the late summer months, say vegetable specialists at Iowa State College. Spinach will stand cold weather but is not near as resistant to summer weather as the three varieties afore mentioned.

The seed should be planted right away regardless of the variety preferred. The first greens will be ready for the table sometime in late June and the supply will continue until the frost nips the plants. Only one planting need be made because the leaves can be pulled from the same plant thruout the season.

The entire leaf can be stripped from Swiss chard and kale but the best practice with New Zealand spinach is to cut back the terminal growths about four inches.

Swiss chard has more than one use. The leaves can be stripped from the midribs and used as greens while the midribs may then be creamed in the same manner as asparagus or pickled for use in winter.

Time For Second Pea Planting

It is now time for the second pea planting as the first planting of Alaska's, which are a round hardy pea, ought to be showing in the garden. The little marvel, a dwarfish, wrinkled small pea, is one of the very best for this second planting.

These peas should be planted 12 inches apart in two rows with 24 inches between the rows. This will permit easier gathering. The close rows allow the plants to lop together so they will not require training. People generally do not object to the climbing variety, but they do to the task of training them to climb. This is the reason why these peas should be planted in this manner.

WAS REAL HOME TALENT H. S. PLAY

The Senior Class play, "Anne, What's Her Name?" was given to large crowds at the auditorium last Thursday and Friday evenings. The seniors certainly showed excellent talent and coaching. This is, without a doubt, the best home talent play ever given in Klemme, and that is saying a lot as we have had some very good ones here. The characters were well chosen, the parts were all given very good and the make-up showed ral artistic work. Milo Patet was the outstanding character in th play. He had the leading part and he must certainly be given a lot of credit for he had a hard part but the way he gave it showed hehad put in a lot of time and study to master it. Miss Elvira Stille had a very good part and furnished most of the comedy in the play. She kept the house in an uproar with her funny remarks and witty acting. Each member of the cast desires individual praise as the parts were all well given from the central ... ters to the minor parts. ... or, the director is to be ... the play showed that she h... knowledge of amateur plays. ... parts all showed good coaching ... the play went like clock-works. The class took in over a hundred dollars for the two nights.

REAL RIDING!

2,000 Navajos, Young and Old, In Indian Charge in New Paramount Film At Belmond

"When a man can no longer ride he is dead."

In proof of this ancient Navajo belief thirty Indians, each more than 70, and two who have passed 90, rode with 2,000 younger red men in fierce battle charges from early morning until the afternoon light failed, day in and day out, for scenes in "The Vanishing American." The filming of this Zane Grey story took a company of 500 whites from Hollywood to the Navajo reservation in northern Arizona.

One of the riders was Bit-si-... eli, "White Hair," 92, one of the Navajo chieftains who fought ag... Kit Carson when the famous Indian agent, at the head of an American army rabble, conquered the Navajos in 1863.

Richard Dix is the Indian hero of "The Vanishing American." Lois Wilson, Noah Beery and Malcolm McGregor also are featured in the picture, which will be shown at the Belmond Opera House, May 4-5-6.

Soon every town in Hancock county will be connected with hard surfaced roads. Already the county is paved east and west and graveled north and south. Next week contracts will be let to gravel the Hutchins-Woden road and the Hutchins-... with road. This will complete the hard-surfacing of county primary roads The Kanawha-Britt road was graveled about a year ago. Hancock County will have the best roads of any county in this part of the state when these projects are completed.

Annual ConventionO f Federated Clubs To Be Held At Britt Sat. May 1st

The annual convention of Federated Clubs of Hancock County will be held at Zritt, Saturday, May 1, at the Methodist Church beginning at 10:00 a. m., when Mrs. R. R. Roberts,, county chairman will call the meeting to order. A varied program will be given and a luncheon served at noon. The program will be ... tinued throughout the aftern...

The women of Hancock co... coridally invited to attend

You can knock or kick milk c... a cow, but it doesn't hit the pail.

Tho the little marvel is one of the most prolific varieties of peas, they are among the most expensive on the market because they require so much effort in planting and gathering.

Two or three weeks after this first planting of little marvel, another planting of them should be made in order to keep a steady supply of peas from the garden.

WETS-DRYS HEARING BROUGHT TO CLOSE

Three Weeks' Battle Resulted in Bales of Evidence Being Submitted.

Washington.—Opinion that the senate hearing committee will make no report on the merits or demerits of prohibition was expressed by Chairman Harreld.

Emphasizing that the committee is not conducting an investigation, but merely holding a hearing on pending legislation, Senator Harreld declared such a report would be unnecessary.

"Besides, who would prepare it?" he asked. "I doubt that the drys themselves could agree on its structure and wording. Its presentation would open up a Pandora's box.

"We will make a report on whatever legislation is recommended for enactment."

Even the wets themselves have no hope that any of their modification bills will be acted upon favorably. On the other hand, the drys are confident that the committee will report favorably the administration bill for tightening up the Volstead act.

Washington.—As the final outcropping of three weeks of intense fighting, with bales of sensational evidence being produced by wets and drys amid tense scenes absorbing the attention of the country, the wet leaders of the nation decided to concentrate upon a demand for passage by congress of the Edge bill, to permit the manufacture and sale of liquor "nonintoxicating in fact."

To accommodate the vast crowds wishing to witness the last rounds of the hearing the senate judiciary committee held its closing meetings in the Republican caucus room, the biggest assembly place in the senate office building.

One of the most prominent witnesses before the committee at the final session was Mayor Dever of Chicago, who declared porhibition is slowly destroying good government in the United States.

The public welfare is ignored, Dever said, when wets and drys clash over prohibition without any thought for good government. The result has brought "pandemonium" to public life, he added, because prohibition has become a football of politics.

The high point in Mayor Dever's testimony was reached when, in reply to members of the senate committee, he revealed he had been asked a few weeks ago by federal authorities in Chicago to order the police to raid the homes of people for the purpose of seizing stills in use for making liquor for home consumption.

Referring to an assertion before the committee that the police could seize 5,000 stills in Chicago homes in twelve hours after such an order went into effect, the mayor shouted:

"The statement is untrue. We will not violate the law and we should have to violate the law and defy everything history has taught us if we attempted to enter the homes of the people in this manner, without the formality of getting search warrants. We won't do it, and if we tried to do it we should fail."

In answer to a question from Senator Harreld, dry Republican of Oklahoma, the mayor said he believed prohibition could be enforced where local, county, state and federal authorities co-operated to the fullest extent.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

President Coolidge has suggested a compromise on the rivers and harbors bill, which, he believes, will be acceptable to the representatives in congress of Michigan, Ohio, and the other lake states, as well as to Illinois and the valley states. The bill appropriates $1,350,000 for improving the lower Illinois river as recommended by army engineers.

Speaking in support of his bill, providing for the return of the rights and privileges of citizenship to Eugene V. Debs, Representative Berger (Soc., Wis.) criticized the action of the committee on immigration and naturalization in tabling the measure.

Selection of the cruiser Memphis, commanded by Capt. Henry Lackey, as flagship of the European squadron to replace the cruiser Pittsburgh, which will become flagship of the Asiatic fleet, is announced by the Navy department.

Establishment of a big new federal prison in the East, to relieve congestion in existing federal prisons, is under consideration by Attorney General Sargent.

Illinois Mine Closes; 600 Idle

Murphysboro, Ill.—The Kathleen coal mine, the largest producer in Jackson county, is closed. Six hundred men are out of work.

Demand Five-Day Week

Chicago.—Without hedging on their demands for $1.75 an hour and a five-day week, the 1,600 members of the plasters' union voted to remain at work until other building trades have made agreements.

Thousands of Quail Destroyed

New York.—Forest fires near Wyandauch, Long Island, have destroyed thousands of quail and partridges on the preserves of the South Side Sportsmen's club at Great River.

GIVEN ATHENS POST

Gardner Richardson of Woodstock, Conn., has just been appointed United States commercial attache at Athens, Greece, succeeding R. O. Hall, who has been assigned to duty in Washington. Mr. Richardson is a graduate of Yale, formerly served with the American relief commission in Belgium, with the A. E. F., and later was chief of the American relief mission to Hungary and Austria.

JUDGE ENGLISH IS CALLED BY SENATE

Impeachment Charges Are to Be Answered May 3.

Washington.—The senate organized as a court for the purpose of trying the impeachment charges against Judge George W. English of the Eastern Illinois district and adopted an order summoning Judge English to appear before the bar of the senate May 3 at 12:30 p. m.

This order, introduced by Senator Cummins, chairman of the judiciary committee, was offered in the presence of the house managers. Vice President Dawes, in accord with the practice in cases of this character, inquired of the house managers whether the order was agreeable to them.

Representative Michener of Michigan, speaking for the house managers, replied that it was; and the vice president took the oath as presiding officer of the trial court. Mr. Dawes then administered the oath to all the senators present.

In but few cases in the history of the republic has it been necessary for the senate to organize as a court. The scene was witnessed by a large number of spectators in the galleries and many members of the house visited the senate chamber to watch the proceedings.

The organization of the senate court brought up a discussion as to when the case can be tried and whether it is necessary for the senate to be in session while the trial is on. No decesion was reached, and none will be until after Judge English has appeared to answer to the charges and the replication by the house managers has been filed. Important questions of precedent and constitutionality are involved.

Judge English can retain his position and perform his duties as a judge pending the proceedings, Senator Cummins said in answer to a question by Senator Ransdell.

The senator said he doubted whether Judge English, if convicted, would raise any question as to the validity of the proceedings. He thought two or three weeks would be necessary for the trial.

More Strawberries Than Last Year, Report Says

Washington.—Strawberry production in four early shipping states is forecast at 30,000,000 quarts, or two-thirds more than last year, according to a report from the government bureau of agricultural economics. About 11,000,000 of this increase is in Louisiana, where a total of 21,000,000 is expected.

Texas, Alabama and Mississippi make up the remainder of the 30,000,000 quarts. Louisiana reports say strawberries are wholesaling there at $4.20 per 24-pint crate, against $5 a year ago.

Ponzi Draws Sentence

Jacksonville, Fla.—Charles Ponzi, the dapper little money wizard whose $5,000,000 flop in New England in 1020 threw him into focus as the most persistent hatcher of schemes for unrivaled wealth in national history, saw another bubble pricked when Judge Peeler sentenced him to one year at hard labor for violation of the Florida real estate law.

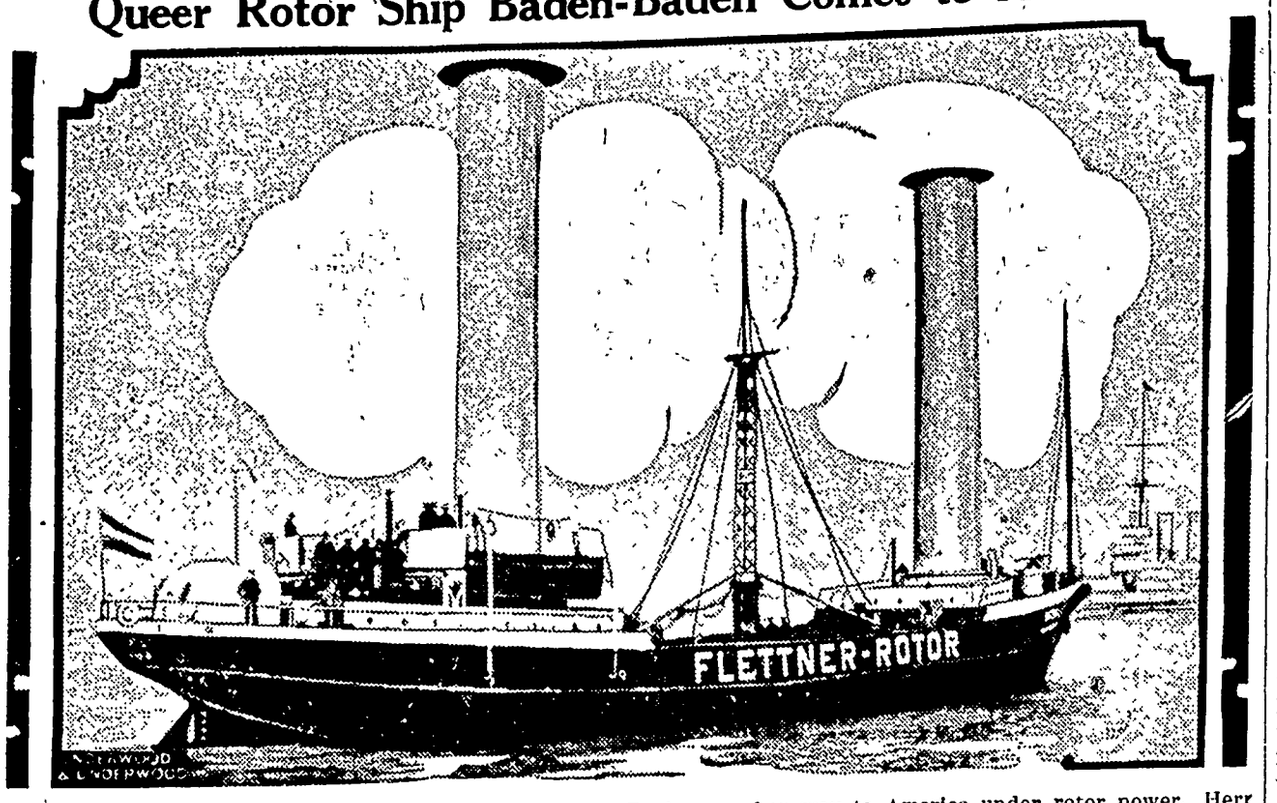
Let States Censor "Movies"

Washington.—President Coolidge does not look with favor upon legislation providing for federal censorship of the "movies." At the White House it was said that the President believes censorship should be left to the states.

Commons Downs Betting Bill

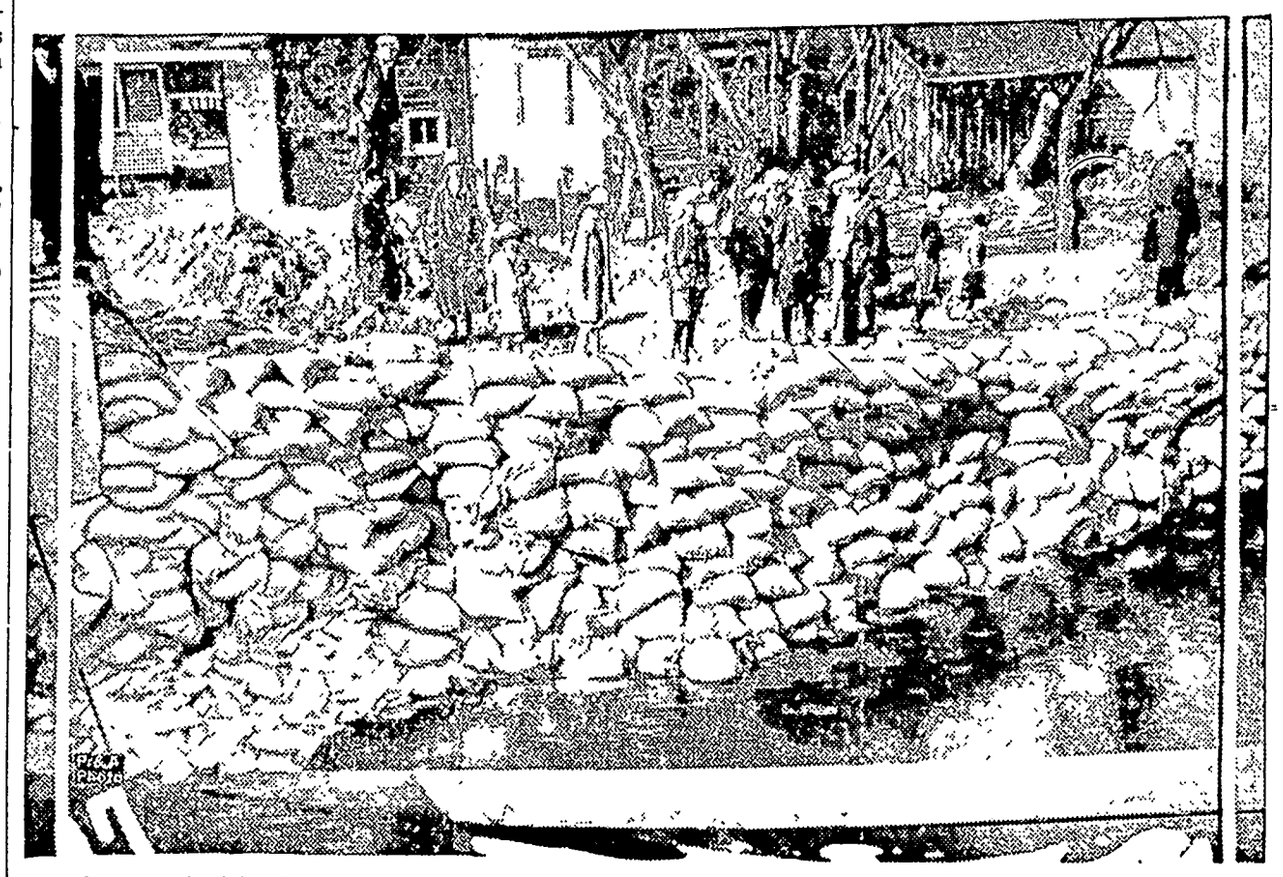
London, England.—The house of commons has rejected the bill intended to legalize betting and license bookmakers, 126 to 94.

Queer Rotor Ship Baden-Baden Comes to America



The Flettner rotor ship, Baden-Baden, formerly the Buckau, on her way to America under rotor power. Herr Anton Flettner, the inventor, also sailed for New York.

Wisconsin Town Saved From Flood by Sandbags



After an all-night fight, residents of Portage, Wis., succeeded in blocking a break in the wall of a canal between the Fox and Wisconsin rivers, and saved the town from an imminent flood. The high waters forced down seventy-five feet of the wall, and weakened the gates at the Wisconsin river end of the canal. Citizens filled the gap with granite and sandbags.

Design for the Irving Memorial

Daniel Chester French, sculptor, with his design of the Washington Irving Memorial to be erected at Irvington-on-Hudson. A campaign is now in progress to raise $30,000, the estimated cost of the memorial.

Booths at Chicago S. A. Congress

General William Bramwell Booth, international head of the Salvation army, and Mrs. Booth attended the territorial congress of the organization in Chicago. They have just completed a tour of Salvation army posts in Europe.

HOLDS MANY OFFICES

Princess Alexandrine Cantacuzene, who is president of the Women's National Society of Rumania, president of the National Council of Women of Rumania, vice president of the international council, and vice president of the Women of the Small Nations. She is a member of the Social Institute of Rumania, and has been decorated with the Grand Cordon of St. Sepulcher, and Grand Cross of the Order of Queen Marie of Rumania, is a grand officer of St. Sava of Yugo-Slavia and an officer of the Croix de Guerre of Italy and Rumania.

E. GIL BORGES

New portrait of E. Gil Borges, assistant director of the Pan-American union in Washington.

ITALY MAY SETTLE ON 28-CENT BASIS

Senate Ratifies Funding of World War Obligation; Vote 54 to 33.

Washington.—France laid its proposal for the settlement of its debt to the United States formally before the American debt commission, the terms a sliding scale of payments ranging from $25,000,000 for the first few years up to $100,000,000 for the last few payments.

Within a few hours after this action the senate, by a vote of 43 to 2[illegible] refused to reconsider the vote by which it approved the Italian debt settlement. As a result, the Italian settlement now needs only President Coolidge's signature to win final approval.

Washington.—By a vote of 54 to 33 the senate ratified the funding of Italy's $2,000,000,000 World war debt to the United States on the basis of 28 cents on the dollar. The overwhelming majority the settlement commanded on the final vote represented one of the most signal victories of the Coolidge administration.

Senator Reed of Missouri moved to reconsider the vote of ratification.

Reed announced his action was taken to allow the senate another opportunity to vote on an amendment by Senator Howell of Nebraska which would write a new provision into the settlement, calling on Italy to issue new tax-free bonds to the United States in exchange for the debt settlement's bonds, which are subject to Italian taxation.

This provision, under Howell's amendment, would be called into action whenever the secretary of the treasury desired. It was defeated by a vote of 24 to 55 and Reed charged half the senators didn't understand it when they voted.

The Italian agreement provides for the funding of a debt of $2,042,000,000, including principal and accrued interest, over a period of 62 years. During the first five years Italy is to pay $5,000,000 annually without interest. After the first five years interest is fixed at one-eighth of 1 per cent for ten years and then increases, for successive ten-year periods, to one-fourth of 1 per cent, one-half of 1 per cent, three-fourths of 1 per cent, 1 per cent, and, for the last seven years, 1½ per cent.

When the agreement is fully carried out, for an original debt of $1,648,000,000 the United States will have received during the period a total of $2,407,000,000, of which $750,000,000 is interest.

The calculation that the Italian funding represents a settlement of 28 cents on the dollar is based on the difference between interest paid by Italy for 62 years and the 4¼ per cent paid by the United States government to Liberty bond holders who furnished the money for the war loans.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon expressed gratification over the approval of the Italian debt agreement.

"The statute creating the American debt commission required us to make just settlements with our debtors," said Secretary Mellon. "I believe that our settlement with Italy is just both to her and to our own people and I am extremely gratified at its ratification."

"I am most happy to hear the news," Premier Mussolini declared.

Serious Floods Cause Distress in Brazil

Rio Janeiro, Brazil.—Summer rains which have been falling steadily since January over the north central plateau of Brazil, have resulted in serious floods, causing much distress to more than 300,000 persons.

Enormous property damage and loss of live stock has resulted, according to information given the Associated Press by the federal meteorological service. All the towns along the San Francisco and Parnahyba rivers have been flooded. Inundation in the lower valleys has extended to a maximum width of thirty miles.

Beetle Menaces Timber

Port Townsend, Wash.—The danger to timber of the west end of Jefferson county through the attack of the bark or engraver beetle will be investigated by the United States forestry service.

Escaped Fourteen Times

Westerly, R. I.—Frank Weedon of Providence, who escaped from the State Hospital for the Insane for the fourteenth successive time, was recaptured here.

A Floating Nursery

New York.—A floating nursery is bound for Hamburg. There are 30 babies aboard a liner.

Has Rare Art Museum

Belvidere, N. J.—The recent acquisition by Dr. George Wycoff Cummins of this town of a number of authentic Revolutionary documents has brought to light the fact that Doctor Cummins has one of the largest private museums in this country.

Grange to Meet in Maine

Portland, Maine.—The 1920 convention of the National Grange will be held in Portland, November 10 to 18, its executive committee has decided.

THE AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

CHENEY'S RECORD LONG AND VARIED

Joseph Young Cheney of Orlando, Florida, public utility owner, manufacturer and "big league" business man has one hobby—the American Legion.

Mr. Cheney was elected national vice commander of the Legion at Omaha in 1925 because Legionnaires had watched him devote seven years of untiring efforts to his hobby in his home town, his state and in the nation.

"I know of no Legionnaire in the country who is more thoroughly and completely a Legionnaire than Joe Cheney," declared a high Legion official recently.

Cheney is one of Florida's busiest business men but he is perhaps the "oldest" Legionnaire in the nation. He has attended every state or national conference or convention of the Legion since the inception of the organization. He believes that men who served in the war together should get together as often as possible and at any Legion gathering of consequence he is among those present.

Mr. Cheney began his World war service early in 1917 as a cadet in the second officers' training school and received a commission as a second lieutenant. He was assigned to the Twenteenth infantry. Later he was transferred to the One Hundred and Fifty-fourth depot brigade at Washington, D. C. He was discharged as a first lieutenant in January, 1919.

Joseph Young Cheney.

His Legion record is long and varied. He has served as post adjutant, vice commander and commander; as department adjutant, alternate national committeeman and in 1924 and 1925 as national committeeman. Then came his elevation in 1925 to national vice commander.

The fun and honor organization of the Legion, the Forty and Eight, is Joe Cheney's second hobby, if he has one. He is a past grand chef de gare, which translated means "the big chief," of the Forty and Eight of Florida.

Joe Cheney's wife doesn't call Joe on the carpet for putting in so much time on Legion affairs, for she has a hobby of her own—the American Legion Auxiliary. She is the president of the department of Florida of the Auxiliary.

Miller Heads Committee on Fidac Scholarships

Thomas W. Miller, member of the national executive committee of the American Legion from Delaware and president in 1925 of Fidac, interallied veterans' federation, was recently appointed by President George Crosfield (Great Britain) as international chairman of the committee on Fidac scholarships.

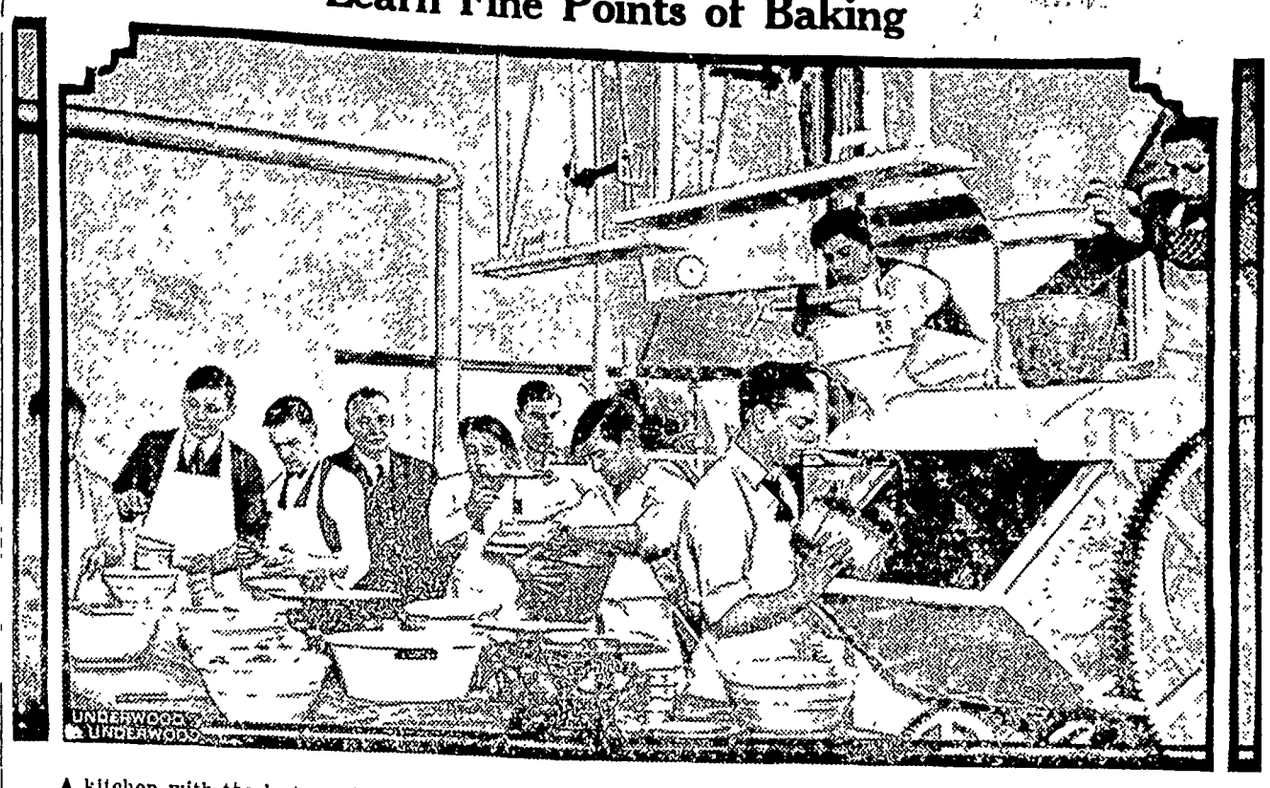
The committee is engaged in working out plans for an interchange of students among the nine allied countries represented in Fidac. The international committee will be assisted by a national committee of fifteen in each country. The American committee will be appointed by National Commander John R. McQuigg in the near future.

Scholarships are being sought in standard colleges and universities in each of the nine countries. It is hoped that at least eight such scholarships will be established in every member country by the opening of school next fall. This will provide one scholarship for each of the other member countries. Scholarships will be awarded on the basis of an essay contest conducted by the associations in their respective countries.

Gift From Upper Egypt

From far-away Egypt on the Nile a gift of $50 for the American Legion endowment fund for disabled veterans and orphans of the World war reached national headquarters at Indianapolis recently. The gift was made by Lois A. Barnes, a missionary, formerly of Pasadena, Cal. "With best wishes for the Legion and their great work, and may God's blessing be upon them," the missionary wrote.

Learn Fine Points of Baking



A kitchen with the last word in baking equipment has been installed at the Washburn Extension school in Chicago. The students furnish the money with which to buy the ingredients and are given the food after they have been taught how to prepare and cook it.

Reviews School Gains in 25 Years

Specialist Cites Advances in Vocational and Scientific Fields.

Washington.—James F. Abel, assistant specialist in foreign education systems of the United States bureau of education, in reviewing the advances made on education in the last quarter of a century, calls attention to the changes brought about by the war resulting in new countries and marked changes in others. He says some of the new constitutions contain virtual educational bills of rights.

It is declared that reforms affecting entire systems of schools were attempted and carried out with more or less success by several of the large nations. The scope of education was almost doubled in breadth by the further inclusion of scientific and vocational training; a training for citizenship and services and its adoption by a number of countries as a matter of national promotion and support. Better care for the physical welfare of mankind through teaching children essential health habits, arranging games and athletics for all rather than a few, erecting finer school buildings to furnish good and pure air and insisting on medical inspection as a directive more than a defensive activity had their practical beginnings.

It is pointed out that on the continent of Europe alone twelve nations adopted new constitutions in the four-and-one-half year period between July, 1918, and December, 1922. "Nine of these were new nations whose people had long been subjected to a kind of denationalization through having their racial customs and traditions ignored," says Mr. Abel, "their religion suppressed and their native tongues more or less outlawed.

Gains in Colonies.

"They wrote into their constitutions a recognition of the right of national minorities to education in the mother tongue and to the development of their own racial literature and culture. Other clauses in another of the new constitutions amount to a veritable educational bill of rights. A uniform school system for all children, with special privileges for no social class, variations being permitted only for different vocational and local interests, is the common ideal.

"Colonial policies in education and their results have stood out in bold relief in this first quarter of the Twentieth century. As a part of the responsibilities which they assumed in consequence of the Spanish-American war, the United States set about the education of their new citizenry and rapidly developed in the Philippines and Porto Rico systems similar in plan to those in the continental states. In the Philippines they undertook to provide some 12,000,000 of people with a common language and through it a training that would mold those people into a self-reliant, self-dependent body. Philippine schools from kindergarten to university grade now enroll more than one and one-quarter millions of students and are maintained at a yearly cost of more than 23,000,000 pesos.

"In Porto Rico the government of the United States found a population at least 80 per cent illiterate, no public school buildings, elementary education provided for less than one-fifth of the school children and no instruction on the island in advanced grades or of quality sufficient to prepare a student for admission to a good college. Out of that situation a complete educational system has been wrought, reaching approximately one-fourth of a million students and costing annually about $4,000,000. Vastly more has been accomplished in 25 years in these two insular areas than was brought about in several centuries under a government neglectful of the place of education in wise colonial policies.

"Directors of education follow closely or accompany the governors general sent out to the colonies by the government of the British empire. Autonomous universities have grown apace in numbers and wealth throughout most of its dominions in recent years. Cambridge and Oxford local examinations are held in many of the colonies as a way of opening to colonials attendance at British universities.

New Organizations Start.

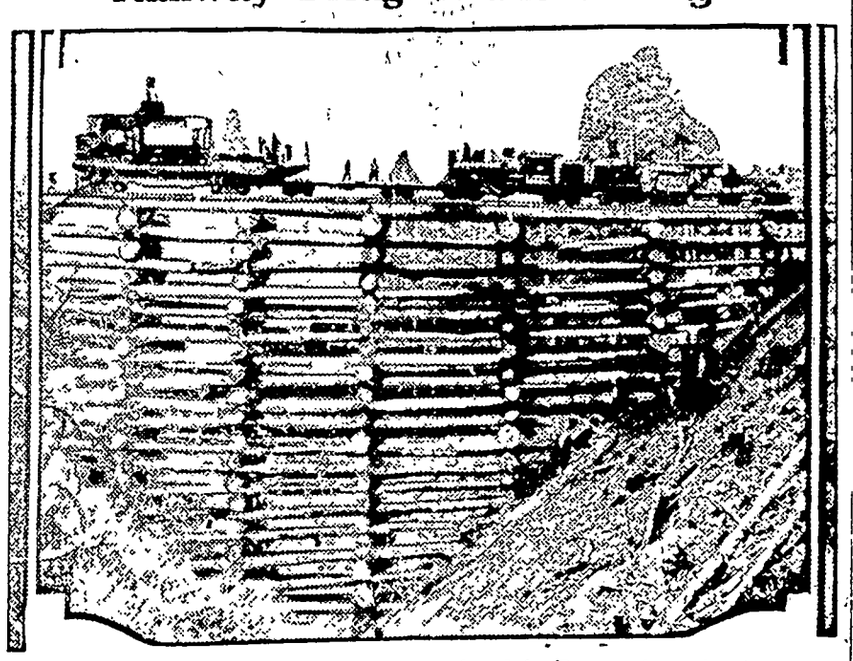
"Engaging in and bringing to an end great military conflicts necessarily created new international contacts. These carried over into education and gave added impetus and force to generous policies such as were initiated by Cecil Rhodes. Considerably more than a hundred private organizations sprang up, most of them in the past decade, and they are carrying out their purposes in the promotion of one or another phase of education in international relationships. Several of these were world associations claiming no less than all nations and all peoples as their field for further mutual understanding of and progress in education. International exchange of students, teachers and research workers in the spirit that science and learning know no political boundaries was established and is growing rapidly.

"The educational revival in Mexico was concerned with improving existing schools and establishing new ones, encouraging industrial and technical education, providing more libraries and books, gathering and conservating the historic and artistic material of the country, aiding poor children and reducing illiteracy. The ministry of public instruction was recreated and reorganized and budgets far in excess of those for previous years were proposed and expended.

"The program of federal participation in and partial direction of vocational education begun in the United States in 1918 now affects some 6,000 schools and more than half a million young people and involves an annual expenditure of approximately $20,000,000.

"The United States began the century with approximately 720,000 pupils in 8,000 public and private secondary schools. For years new schools were opened at a rate equal to at least one each calendar day. More than 16,500 of them now enroll 3,250,000 students and are training 23 per 1,000 of population in secondary subjects as against 9.5 in 1900."

Railway Bridge Built of Logs



A huge log bridge has just been completed in Oregon by a lumber company to span a canyon between the mill and the logging camp. The bridge is 400 feet long and 110 feet high. After the available timber has been sawed off, which will be in about three years, the railroad will be useless and they intend to tear it down and saw the logs into lumber. The bridge contains 375 logs, 80 to 110 feet long.

MYSTERY OF SLEEP SOLVED IN PART BY PSYCHIATRIST

Special Electrodes and Galvanometer Enable Doctor Richter to Test Depth of Unconsciousness.

Baltimore, Md.—A definite step in unraveling the mystery of sleep, which has baffled scientists from earliest times, has been made by Dr. Curt P. Richter of the Henry Phipps Psychiatric clinic of Johns Hopkins university. With a string galvanometer and specially constructed electrodes he has been able to tell how soundly a person is sleeping without awakening him.

His experiments not only have shown that sleep is of two distinctly different kinds, but that there is a great difference between real sleep and conditions in which certain types of mentally ill people appear to be asleep.

His discoveries are reported in a paper entitled "The Significance of Changes in the Electrical Resistance of the Body During Sleep," which appears in the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

His research showed that the resistance to an imperceptible electrical current sent from hand to hand during sleep was localized almost entirely in the skin. This resistance increased in one instance from 50,000 ohms when the subject was awake to 500,000 ohms when asleep.

The current was applied by two electrodes of zinc covered with a thick kaolin paste mixed with saturated zinc sulphate solution. These were attached to the hands and connected to the string galvanometer, designed to measure the smallest currents.

The experiments showed that the intensity of the resistance varied directly with the intensity of sleep. It was discovered, however, that when sleep was not sound the resistance of the skin on the backs of the hands usually decreased. In these cases the subject was not refreshed by sleep.

In the case of patients suffering from catatonic stupors, which so closely resemble sleep that it is impossible to tell by looking at the patient that he is not asleep, a very different condition was found. In these cases it was discovered that the palm-to-palm resistance of the hand was less than normal, indicating an intense consciousness; while the resistance from back to back of the hand was very high, indicating complete muscular relaxation and lack of control.

From these studies it is hoped that new light will be thrown upon nervous conditions, not only of mentally ill patients but of relatively normal people suffering from nervous strain.

Well Named

Hazard, Ky.—Alex Gayheart of Troublesome creek found trouble in court when he was fined $10 under the antigossiping statute.

Community Building

Make Beauty Keynote of Outside of House

A proper choice of varieties of trees to be set out and the appropriate location of each tree should constitute the first job after the laying of the house foundations and the outlining of the paths and driveways, is the opinion of a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger.

Just how many trees you will decide to plant will naturally depend upon the size of your home grounds. If your acre or acres or "lot" will permit you should include a tree or so for shade, large ones such as the Norway maple, buttonwood, oak, or horse chestnut, a few evergreens such as Koster's blue spruce, Austrian pine or a hemlock for their winter beauty and summer coolness, and a few fruit trees for the sake of their spring blossoming as well as their welcome fruit. Several ornamental trees, if well placed, will add much to your place both in charm and elegance. There are a number, such as Tea's weeping mulberry, the catalpa bungei or the tulip tree, any one of which will give a touch of style to the whole garden. The Kilmarnock weeping willow is still another "ornamental" which is exceedingly graceful and beautiful and hardy as well.

No place appears to be quite complete unless it can boast of at least a few shrubs for every season of the year. There should be a few evergreens to cheer us with their glossy leaves or red berries, and to relieve the barren gray of winter time. The forsythia, that gayest harbinger of early spring, should find some nook in every garden.

Point of Importance Is Town's Entrance

A little town may not know what to do to make itself attractive, a matter that has grown highly important to all those on a main automobile highway. Several thousand people of more or less critical and cultured taste are going to pass through it every day and their opinion of it will be spread to the ends of the nation, is the sage comment made by F. H. Collier in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Already a number of villages have begun to consider the question of portals—some kind of a distinguished entrance where the highway departs from the country and joins the "main street." A town in Ohio has set a large fountain at this point and surrounded it with lawns and trees. Another has "zoned" that portion of the village and will allow no sheds or coal bins there.

The least that any village can do is to lay out flower beds and keep them fresh. A plain lawn, jeweled with red geraniums, is better than weeds or tin cans, scattered with the profusion so often shown by the tasteless and the careless. Residents of any community can be stirred up to beautification if earnestly besought. People who are restive under rural monotony may here find something to occupy their idle hours.

Consider Transportation

The general location of the home may depend largely on the part of the city in which the members of the family are most likely to be employed. It should be either within walking distance of the probable place of work or in reach of good transportation. The mere promise that a trolley or bus line will be provided is not enough. Ability to reach shopping centers is important for the housewife.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Fire Prevention Easy

Careful watching of fire and heat in any capacity in which it is used, ordinary precautions with matches, cigarettes and inflammables, and the repairing of defective mechanical additions to building construction and comfort would virtually rout the fire demon from his abode, according to the past year's report of the chief of a large city's fire department.

Industrial Experts

An approved list of industrial experts to advise cities and towns on ways and means of obtaining the type of industries suitable to their location has been started by the National Association of Real Estate Boards at the suggestion of the industrial property division of that body.

Shortsighted Cities

More than 300 of the 1,500 cities in the United States having populations in excess of 5,000 are without building codes or ordinances that effectively regulate new building construction. Many of these cities have populations exceeding 40,000, some reach 80,000.

Public Playgrounds

Public playgrounds and parks for the children and grown-ups are essential public necessities and should be provided with as little delay as possible.—Huntsville Daily Times.

The Right Way

"While you are banking," says the Albany Herald, "don't forget to bank on your town."

MRS. BASSETT ALWAYS TIRED

Now in Good Health by Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lansing, Michigan.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I needed it. When I first used it I was so bad I could hardly walk across the room without crying. I was tired all the time. I think my trouble was coming on me for six months before I realized it. I read of your wonderful medicine in the paper, and * * * my husband bought me a bottle, and after the first few doses I felt better, so kept on taking it until I was well and strong. I take it at times when I feel tired and it helps me. I will always have a good word for your medicine and tell anyone what good it has done me. I recommended it to my neighbor for her girl, who is sixteen years old, and it was just what she needed. She is feeling fine now, and goes to school every day."—Mrs. E. F. Bassett, 216 South Hayford Avenue, Lansing, Michigan.

Do not continue to feel all run-down and half sick when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is sold by druggists everywhere. It is a root and herb medicine and has been used by women for over fifty years.

Keep Stomach and Bowels Right

By giving baby the harmless, purely vegetable, infants' and children's regulator.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

brings astonishing, gratifying results in making baby's stomach digest food and bowels move as they should at teething time. Guaranteed free from narcotics, opiates, alcohol and all harmful ingredients. Safe and satisfactory.

At All Druggists

The physician heals. Nature makes well.—Aristotle.

COLOR IT NEW WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Just Dip to Tint or Boil to Dye.

Each 15-cent package contains directions so simple any woman can tint soft, delicate shades or dye rich, permanent colors in lingerie, silks, ribbons, skirts, waists, dresses, coats, stockings, sweaters, draperies, coverings, hangings—everything!

Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—and tell your druggist whether the material you wish to color is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

Liberty is given by nature to dumb animals.—Tacitus.

"BAYER ASPIRIN" PROVED SAFE

Take without Fear as Told in "Bayer" Package

BAYER

Does not affect the Heart

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-five years for

Colds	Headache
Neuritis	Lumbago
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Each unbroken "Bayer" package contains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100.

Eggs covered with boiling water and allowed to stand for five minutes are more digestible than those allowed to boil for three minutes.

Sure Relief

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

25¢ and 75¢ Pkgs. Sold Everywhere

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON EASY MONEY

"An awfully interesting man came to see me today, Aunt Emmy. He had a list of stocks and bonds that look very favorable to me. Take this." said Helen, handing an alluring looking folder to Aunt Emmy. "This stock is pretty good. The man said it would be quoted at 20 on the exchange a month after it is put out. I can buy shares now at two dollars so I would make eighteen dollars for every two dollars I invest and all inside of four weeks." Helen paused for breath while Aunt Emmy looked at the folder.

"If I were to buy those White Leghorn chickens of yours," remarked Aunt Emmy, "would you promise me their eggs will sell for one dollar and a half a dozen a month from now?"

"Of course not, Aunty," laughed Helen. "The price of eggs depends entirely on the supply and demand in the market."

"Well, how about stocks? Why can this man promise you this stock will be selling for twenty dollars a month from now?"

"Well, I don't know exactly, but the listings on the stock exchange are different, aren't they?"

"The prices of stocks quoted on the stock exchange are influenced by supply and demand, like the prices of eggs. No one can honestly guarantee the future price of any stock. A promoter who urges you to buy stock on any such guarantee is misinforming you. A stock salesman you could trust would never make such a statement. If you are going to listen to such talk you'd better put your money in the savings bank."

"But I wouldn't make so much on it!" objected Helen.

"Big profits mean big risks, and you cannot afford to take risks," said Aunt Emmy. "The house that gets out this booklet is unknown to you. Why don't you find out who you are dealing with?"

"How can I find out about the thousands of stock houses in the United States?"

"Well," said Aunt Emmy, "if you insist on considering making investments, you ought to at least take the trouble to go to your bank and find out about the people you are dealing with."

"I didn't know banks would bother with anything but actual banking," Helen said.

"They are glad to," Aunt Emmy said. "The more people that save and invest money wisely the better it is for the banks."—A. B. Aymes.

RESTRICTING LOANS ON UNECONOMIC FARMING

Bankers in many of the rural sections of the country are realizing as never before that they cannot afford to loan money for the conduct of farming enterprises where the odds are against that enterprise ever becoming a success. The risk is too great, and what is more it is doing the borrower an injury to encourage him in an unwarranted venture.

Some farmers may resent the idea of being questioned in regard to the use they expect to make of borrowed money. A false idea of their independence may lead them to feel that they can do as they please and follow any system of farming they desire; that it is nobody else's business whether that system is economic or not.

Experiences in certain sections during the past few years demonstrate the folly of such a position. The banker is loaning other people's money and he is duty bound to safeguard what has been entrusted to him Further, the law holds him responsible With this obligation resting on his shoulders he has a right to select his customers. If he is convinced that a one-crop system or any other particular type of farming is unsound and is likely to be uneconomic, he is doing an injustice to the borrower as well as the depositor to loan the farmer the money

Best results will accrue when both the lender and the borrower recognize that they are entering into a partnership and if the advantages and the dangers are frankly and carefully discussed the possibilities of success are greatly enhanced.—Banker-Farmer.

A Few Good "Don'ts"

Don't buy securities that are handled by irresponsible persons or unknown firms.

Don't buy mortgage notes on distant property.

Don't buy stock in new enterprises

Don't try to work the stock market If the public were to win, professional operators would soon shut up shop and quit.

Don't buy stock in mines you know nothing about. Many mines are holes where fools dump their money.

Don't buy oil stock.

Don't buy stock in new invention schemes.

Don't buy real estate unless you have seen it. It may be a swamp.

Don't buy from one who says, "Invest now or it will be too late."

Don't buy from one who says, "The price will soon be raised."

Don't buy from one who offers you a discount for cash.

Don't buy anything on "tips."

Have nothing to do with the "bucket shop."

Don't speculate. A rich man can afford to, but you can't.

A splendid rule is, before you buy a security take it to a conservative and disinterested banker and ask him how much he will lend on it alone as security.—Banker-Farmer.

GEO. W. KLUCKHOHN DIED TODAY

Pioneer Resident Of Klemme Passed Away After Long Illness

As the Times goes to press we learn of the sad news that Mr. G. W. Kluckhohn, pioneer resident of this place and long time business man of Klemme, passed away late this forenoon at his home here, after suffering for several months. Mr. Kluckhohn was sixty-six years old on his last birthday this month.

Funeral Probably Sunday

No definite arrangements had yet been made, but relatives informed us that the funeral would probably be held here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Kluckhohn's death will be keenly felt in the community as he was an active man, progressive, and was always striving to boost Klemme and this community. He was closely associated with this community, having lived here for many years and has been in business for many years. He was the senior member of the G. W Kluckhohn & Sons Store.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved family and relatives.

LAST P. T. A. MEETING THIS YEAR TUESDAY NITE

Everybody Urged To Attend Final Meeting

The last meeting of the year of the P. T. A. will be held at the high school next Tuesday night.

Everybody requested to attend this meeting.

As we go to press we learn that Mr and Mrs. G. P. McCullough and Miss Miller returned last night, or early this morning from Florida, where they spent the winter. Welcome home folks!

Air Fight Leader

Representative Randolph Perkins, Republican, of New Jersey, will be one of the leaders in the expected fight over the Mitchell charges and court-martial when congress convenes. Mr. Perkins is a member of the house committee to investigate the air service, and appeared as a witness for Colonel Mitchell at the court-martial proceedings.

Promoter of Big Fight

The photograph shows Floyd Fitzsimmons, who is making strenuous efforts to secure a fight between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills at Michigan City, Ind.

Additional Klemme News

Conrad Quandt has had his restaurant all redecorated. New paper has been hung, the woodwork painted and the fixtures given a shiny coat of varnish. Looks pretty "spiffy" we say.

Mr. M. R. Miller, wife and baby, have moved into the former Frank Gruetzmacher residence. Mr. Miller is in the employ of Mr. L. D. McMichael, of Eldora. Mr. McMichael has six main offices for distributing his Sam-Pi-Co Indian medicines.

The follow up meeting of the Home Furnishing course met at the Elmer Arnold home Tuesday evening. This meeting was of the Avery District No. 3. A delicious lunch was served and all report a fine time. The subject of Wall Decorations and Rugs and Carpets was taken up at this meeting.

Harold Gruetzmacher is teaching and coaching in the Tecamah, Nebr., high school. He had some of his household goods stored in Klemme which he and his wife needed, so he dispatched a truck to Klemme to get them. The truck arrived Sunday night and left Monday morning with a load of goods on the long return trip. A few years ago this would have attracted a lot of attention, but now household goods are trucked a few hundred miles as a every day occurence.

A week from next Tuesday, the first Junior-Senior Banquet will be held in the Klemme high school. A delightful four course banquet has been planned, which will be interspersed with music and toasts. The Ladies Aid Society will prepare and serve the banquet for the Juniors. The Junior-Senior Banquet is the outstanding event in high school life and is an affair of gladness and sorrow. It is an occasion which will be never forgotten. It is then that the Senior Class will begin to realize that their high school days are about to end, the best days in the life of a boy or girl—tomorrow they step into the vast spaces of the wide world. The Junior-Senior Banquet is the last gathering with their fellow classmen. Now, after commencement the graduated classes should organize an Alumni Association that the old classes may meet again once a year.

AROUND KLEMME NEWS ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Harl Tries were callers at the Chas. Fritzell home Thursday evening.

Mr. Fred Hoffman was operated on for appendicitis Thursday morning at the Mercy Hospital at Mason City.

Leaman Twaites and family of Garner spent Sunday at the Clint Stokesbary home.

Harry Gibbs and family and Miss Minnie Lenz spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. C. A. Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dickhues are the parents of a baby boy born to them last Friday.

J. F. Stokesbary is the owner of a Ford Sedan.

Farm Bureau Song Book Ready

A song book has just been published by the Extension Service of Iowa State College which contains the wordso f the 10 standard songs for 1926 which were selected by the Farm Bureau women of Iowa. Many other popular songs for Farm Bureau gatherings and other meetings of like character are included in the new booklet. It will be sent free to anyone who writes to the Extension Service, Ames, and asks for Rural Organization Circular No. 14.

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Recorder, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—Clarissa Peterson Abel tc

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recorder subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Fern Peck Katter, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination to the office of Representative from Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Marion A. Fell, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Representative in the state legislature, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary election in June, 1926. —C. H. Nelson, Garner, Ia. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for representative for Hancock County in the Iowa State Legislature subject to the decision of the voters at the primaries in Juno 1926.—Ole T. Rikansrud, R. R. No. 4, Kanawha, Iowa.

FOR COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock county subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen. c

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby annunce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primaries.—R. W. Sinclair, Garner Ia. *

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primary Election. —H. C. Meyer. c

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election for County Supervisor subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—A. O. Christensen. *

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary election.—F. J. Urich, Garner, Iowa.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for reelection for County Supervisor subject to the Republican voters at the June Primary election 1926.—Fred Oxley, Corwith.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the Republican primary in June, 1926.—G. H. Lade, Garner.

FOR TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—John Suurballe. c

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primaries in June, 1926.—C. A. Halvorson, Miller. Iowa.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primary Election to be held June, 1926.—Herb Gartin.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June 1926 primaries.—E. P. "Peck" Hanson.

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the Republican primary in June. 1926.—Verne C. Grau.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primaries.—V. S. White Britt.

Look Over Our House Plans

In the large assortment of plans we have you will be certain to find a house that exactly fits your needs. And when you have decided upon the plan you like, we can tell you to a dollar just what the materials will cost. Stop in anytime and look them over.

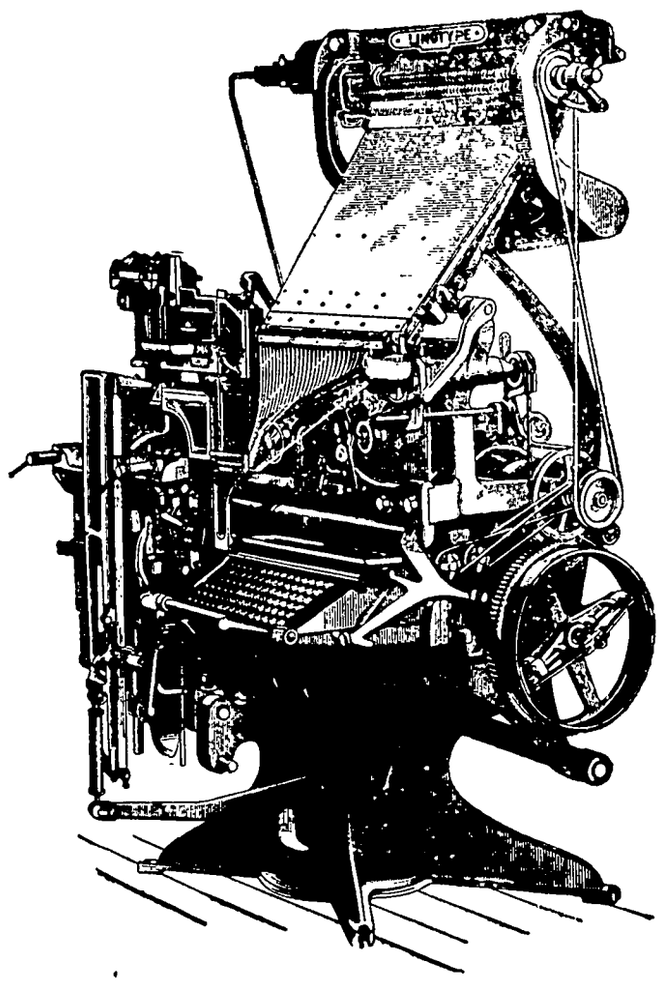
We also have plans for barns, granaries, chicken houses, hog houses, garayes, corn cribs, etc, etc.

Whenever you are in need of building material of any kind we will be glad to serve you.

Northern Lumber Co.

PHONE 34 KLEMME, IOWA

You can get it here--
Printed Better



Our Linotype Is Always READY!

Ask Us For Prices

Times Print Shop

Ford Cars--

Cost More To Build Are Worth More, yet

Sell For Less!

Garner Auto Co.

Phone 77 KLEMME, IA.

Of Course It's Easy

Furniture, especially chairs and kitchen tables, etc. that you had planned on discarding this spring, may, with a small expenditure for BRUSH LACQUER be made to look like new. Brush Lacquer DRYS in 15 minutes; is so easy to apply that you can do the job yourself in a few minutes. Will not chip or crack like enamel. Comes in all colors. Ask for S. W. Rogers Brushing Lacquer. See sample of work in our window.

Full Line Of Sherman-Williams Paints

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Goodell News

(By Special Correspondent)

Miss Grace De Graw, of Mason City, senpt the week end with Fronia Fuller.

The Ball Game which was to be played at Hayfield Friday was postponed on account of the rain.

Miss Thomas and Miss Paine spent the week end at their homes.

Mrs. C. H. Lamer went to Des Moines Friday night to attend the funeral of a coucin. She returned Monday.

Miss Paine attended the Drake Relays at Des Moines Saturday.

Jay Griggs was a Garner caller Saturday.

Clarence Fuller returned to Canton, South Dakota Thursday.

The Goodell High School pupils receiving A's and B's in their scholaristic work the last six weeks are:

Daphne Houghton
Fredrick Schnieder
Doris Schneider
Viola Quigley
Archie Conklin
Iris Sherwood
Wayne Bachman
Effie Clark
Floyd Scott
Margaret Fuller
Lela Griggs
Wayne Wesenberg
Fannie Dorenkamp.

The Juniors have decided to give the Junior-Senior Banquet, Mayy 11, in the U B Church basement.

Mrs Frank Clark returned last Monday from the Mason City Hospital She is much improved

The All Day and Evening Meetings held in the U. B Church basement Tuesday was well attended. Some very interesting speeches were given by out of town and state speakers. These were for the benefit of the Sunday School and Junior Endeavor. Mr Emery of York College, Nevada, gave a very interesting talk before the High School assembly at 1:00 o'clock Another teacher of the same place also gave a talk which was just as interesting.

Mrs. Hemingway of Mason City is visiting her son. Ed.

The High School play "Bashful Mr. Bobbs" will be given May 7th The grades are giving their program April 30th.

The Orchestra and Glee Club will give a program May 14th. Lots of practice is being put on these programs and they are going to be real good. We expect a full house for all of these. Come!

Jake Dorenkamp was taken to the Hampton hospital last Monday for an appendix operation.

TREASURES OF ART BEYOND ALL PRICE

Unrivaled Collection in Metropolitan Museum.

The world's greatest treasure—estimated to be worth between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000—is declared to be the collections housed in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. A bronze horse about a foot high, dating from 470 B. C., and considered the most perfect specimen of equine sculpture in the world, is one of the articles beyond price and for which an offer of $1,000,000, or even $2,000,000, would only provoke a smile.

No insurance is carried on the Metropolitan—against either theft or fire. Its treasures are frankly noninsurable, because if policies could be written at even the approximate valuation, the premiums would be prohibitive.

There is probably no building in the world that is, however, so profusely and carefully guarded. Two hundred watchmen patrol the edifice during the day, and every visitor is covertly but minutely scrutinized. An intricate burglar-alarm system with a hundred alarm boxes and an alert central office adds further protection, which functions so efficiently that no article has ever been stolen.

The repositories for the exhibits and the picture frames are so wired that an alarm is set off the moment they are touched.

At night iron doors are swung on the room that contains the smaller golden objects. Three valuable pieces only are religiously removed to a safe. They are the Cellini cup, a gem of gold and precious jewels called the Rospigliosi coupe; a jeweled Florentine pendant of the Sixteenth century, and a small triptych (or triple picture, which folds together something like a book) from the Baron Selysiongchamps collection. These three are considered the most valuable of the smaller things in the museum.

The cost of maintaining and administering the Metropolitan is, roughly, $4,000,000 a year. New York contributes about $300,000, and the remainder comes through gifts and endowments and from the five hundred perpetual members, the eleven thousand annual members and a thousand sustaining members of the museum association.

To add to its collection the museum spends about $4,000,000 a year. Many of its endowments are for defined purposes or to buy special objects. Many opportunities to secure rich examples of art are lost through lack of funds. —Liberty Magazine.

Servian Village Tragedy

Superstition and tragedy ran hand in hand in a village near Belgrade, Servia. A dog went mad and was killed by a peasant. He threw the body in a ditch outside the village. Another peasant next day passing the ditch saw the body and thought it was a wolf. He took it home for its skin, but seeing the fat he rubbed himself with it, hoping, according to the superstition, to be as strong as the wolf. Other peasants, hearing about it, came to buy the wolf fat and the man did good business. Suddenly it was discovered that the fat came from a mad dog. The whole village will have to go to a Pasteur institute for treatment.

Jap Girl Athlete

Miss Kikuye Hitomi, famous Japanese girl athlete, has now two world records to her credit, the hop-step-jump and standing high jump. At the recent Japan Olympic carnival held at Osaka, she established a new rec-record of 11.625 meters in the hop-high jump event, breaking the previous world record of 1,017 meters held by Miss Williams of America. She had previously established a world record of 11,625 meters in the hop-step-jump event, breaking the world record of 10.323 held by Miss Stein of America. She is coming to America next spring to study general athletic events and physical exercises.

Yale Perfects Lighting

Yale university is now modernizing the electric lighting equipment of its various buildings. Last summer while the recitation halls, lecture rooms, laboratories and dormitories were vacant a lighting expert investigated them all and made recommendations which are now being carried out. While it was found that the newer buildings were already illuminated according to the best modern methods, other buildings were found to have antiquated and inadequate electric lighting

Improved Feeding Spoon

Adolph W. Buchbinder, an executive of Wright, Kay & Company, and for more than 40 years a jeweler in Detroit, is the inventor of a "non-spillable" baby spoon designed to facilitate the feeding of infants. The device is a silver shell attachment for an ordinary teaspoon, but is unique in that it prevents any liquid from spilling. The attachment is removable for sterilization.—Detroit Free Press.

Made Freak Journey

For reasons known to himself a German named Emilio Schierss traveled from Manchester, England, to London mounted on a wooden globe. The globe was a little less than three feet in diameter and weighed but 87 pounds. Schierss successfully accomplished his task, covering the distance between the two cities at an average speed of eight miles an hour.

Stormizing Oil—pumping and motor knocks Stops!

Restores original POWER to motor with never a motor failure

Oil Pumping and Motor Knocks are sure signs of worn, wasteful cylinders. Motors using too much oil (oil pumping) are also excessive gas consumers.

Cylinder wear causes oil to be sucked into the compression chamber during the suction stroke. This causes excessive carbon and carbon knocks. With "oil pumping" come many of the most serious kinds of motor troubles and rapid wear from poor lubrication.

Stop Oil Pumping and Motor Knocks the right way by having the cylinder walls reconditioned—Stormizing will make cylinders as accurate and efficient as when new and restore full power to motor.

Drive in and let us explain the Stormizing process—It may save you the investment in a new car.

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Klemme, Iowa

Decker's IOWANA Brand

HAM & BACON

SALE!

Friday & Sat'day

April 30 and May 1

Skinned Hams Picnis Hams

Whole or half Hams at same price

IOWANA BACON

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES

Klemme Meat Market

Be Sure To Attend Our

Cooking Party

Given By CENTRAL STATES Electric Co.

Under Direction Of MISS MABLE SPAULDING Home Economist

We invite every housewife who is inter ested in making the most of her home advantages to attend our COOKING PARTY, at the Idle Hour Theatre next Thursday afternoon, MAY 6th, at 2:30 o'clock.

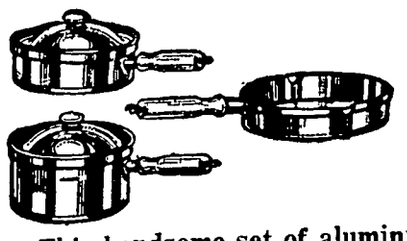
We want every woman in Klemme to attend who has the responsibility of a home. We feel that it will pay.

Moreover our invitation is open to the women residing in towns adjacent to Klemme.

Miss Mable Spaulding is a well known authority and has devoted many years toward accumulation of information that will add materially in lightening the burden of home duties.—COME!

FREE

FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY



This handsome set of aluminum cooking utensils designed especially for the electric Range.

A valuable electric appliance given FR EE at this party.

Central States Electric Co.

Poultry Feeds

We carry a full line of Dickinson's "GLOBE BRAND" of Chicken Feeds, etc., and have on hand:

"GLOBE" CHICK STARTER
"GLOBE" GROWING MASH
"GLOBE" SCRATCH FEED, etc.

CARLOAD OF MINERAL AND FERTILIZER

We are making up orders for a carload of Minerals. Place your order at once to get in on this. Also, if you want to buy Fertilizer, put in your order at once as we are making up a shipment.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

The Wife-Ship Woman

By Hugh Pendexter

Author of "Kings of the Missouri," "Pay Gravel," "A Virginia Scout," etc.

Copyright by Hugh Pendexter—1923-1925.
WNU Service

CHAPTER IX—Continued

—12—

I snatched up my musket from the pirogue and fired at the first man to break through the bushes. I shouted for Narbonne to take the girl along in his pirogue, and then called on Six Fingers to follow me. With a leap I struck the edge of the bank and went down on all fours. A Choctaw tripped on my head and pitched into the water. The darkness served to hamper the red men once I was among them. I discharged one pistol, the second missing fire, and pulled my ax. Somewhere in the background Damoan was shouting encouragement to the Indians, and I tried to get to him, knowing that once he was down his allies would lose heart.

During the first minute of the confusion only Damoan's high voice was to be heard. Then came mademoiselle's voice, crying:

"I wait for monsieur."

And I knew she had refused to put off with Narbonne and leave me. The next moment Narbonne was at my side, and I surmised that Six Fingers had refused to follow me.

"Hein! Good thrust!" cried Narbonne as he placed his back to mine and scored.

"Fall back and throw your axes!" yelled Damoan in Choctaw.

But as the Indians gave ground we pressed forward. I warned Narbonne to drop flat just in time to escape the axes which now whirred over our heads. After the first volley of axes we were up again, and what with the night and our constant shifting of position this mode of attack was not persisted in.

A brave fell against me, one arm still raised and holding a knife. I caught him as he would have slipped to the ground, and holding him before me rushed forward a few yards. Narbonne followed close behind me, his long sword playing on the flanks; and inside of sixty seconds we had advanced a score of feet from the bank and had good clearance room.

"Rush them with your knives!" fumed Damoan.

"Ho. You, Frenchman! Stand out and do your own fighting!" mocked Narbonne.

Back across the bayou Six Fingers was yelping.

"Don't shoot, mademoiselle! I go!"

I came near to braining him as he gained my side, a shriveled, withered spider of a creature. One of his vile pirate oaths identified him before my ax could end his unsavory existence. He came in the nick of time, and if I have belittled him as a man, and if he was loath to risk his hide until compelled, I had to acknowledge his worth as a fighting machine once he entered the fray. Almost under my feet and hard to discern he darted his knife in and out and croaked horrible words. For a bit the Choctaws actually gave ground before our desperate onrush, and I began to fear Damoan would steal around the flanks and capture the girl. It was a relief to hear his voice and to know he was still behind his warriors.

A knife ripped my forearm, and I cracked the fellow's skull. Narbonne was shouting:

"Who wants any Mississippi? Ten thousand shares for eighteen thousand livres! Diamonds overnight, and a heavenly crown!"

He broke off, panting for breath and laughing hysterically.

It was time to rush back to the bayou, for we were surely done for if we advanced farther from the pirogues. Narbonne began coughing and I knew he was wounded although he kept his feet. Six Fingers began a stanza of an evil song, gave a screech and went down between my feet.

"Back to the canoes!" I cried to Narbonne. "Get the girl away if you can while I stand them off."

It was our one opportunity to retreat without being thrust through the back; for either the Choctaws were for the moment dismayed at their lack of success, or else they had sensed Narbonne's madness, and were now drawing off and ignoring Damoan's frantic exhortations to continue the attack.

I scooped up Six Fingers under my arm and minded his weight no more than if he had been a child. Narbonne, still coughing, gave ground and kept at my side.

"Faster!" I urged, as I heard the Indians rallying for a rush.

To my alarm he began wasting his breath by crying:

"Who takes some of Monseigneur L'as' Mississippi? Who takes golden Mississippi, indorsed by Monsieur le Regent? From the Banque Royale to the Indian company and then back to the banque. Va au diable! We will let out some of your selfishness!"

And to my horror he turned and ran back through the darkness to meet the charging enemy, coughing and calling out mad words.

I was now at the bayou, and the girl was screaming in terror. Six Fingers was limp, yet breathing. To go after my poor friend was out of the question, as it was only a matter of seconds before I too should be renewing the fighting. Whether he intended it or not there was great virtue in Narbonne's madness, for the Choctaws yelled loudly when he struck their line, and doubtless they believed the three of us were on them again. He held up their advance for a bit before they could get the truth straight in their minds. A faint voice behind me called:

"Qui est la?"

"Brampton. Get into the canoe."

"Grace a Dieu!" he choked.

I too thanked God to have the mad fellow back. I knew he must be seriously, possibly mortally wounded, by the way he staggered and bumped against me. With Six Fingers in my arms I could not lend him assistance. But what was amazing was the fact that the howling of the Choctaws did not come nearer, nor did Damoan cease his shouting although it was impossible to decipher what he said because of the din. And what were the devils yowling about?

From directly ahead of me came mademoiselle's voice, surprisingly steady for one who had been so busily screaming; and she was demanding:

"Who is it?"

"Brampton. We are all here. Into the pirogue! Can you manage a paddle till we get out of this hell?" I asked Narbonne.

The half-smothered voice answered in the affirmative. I dropped Six Fingers into a canoe and scooped a hatful of water on his head. I turned to join mademoiselle in my pirogue, still wondering why the Choctaws should remain aloof and keep up their hideous yelling, and a splash told me my friend had fallen into the water. I caught him by the shoulder and pulled him to the side of my pirogue and received the surprise of my life to find his arms were tightly drawn behind his back and bound with a thong.

I was no believer in fairy stories, but how could he enter a fight, be trussed up and then escape without his captors giving pursuit? It was beyond my comprehension unless I explained it by magic. As I frantically worked over the rawhide cords mademoiselle attempted to aid me, and she cried:

"God help us! His mouth!"

I finished with his hands and felt of his face and found new cause for astonishment. A cord, like a gag, ran from his mouth to the back of his head, cutting the corners of his mouth, and making speech very difficult.

"Had me gagged, tied," he faintly mumbled. "Got rid of gag. Couldn't slip the cord. Don't you know me?"

"Know you?" I began, sadly shaken at the poor fellow's experience. And I commenced lifting him into the pirogue, for until now he had been standing up to his waist in water. Then from the bush, back where the savages were still yowling, came Narbonne's mad voice shouting:

"Ten thousand shares! Twenty thousand livres! Who wants any Mississippi? Immortality!"

I had my man by the throat as he came over the side of the pirogue, and my ax was over his head, as I gritted:

"Who in the fiend's name are you?"

"Joe Labrador, old friend! Don't you know me?" he gasped. Then the Choctaws raised their scalp-cry, and there was no more sound of fighting.

CHAPTER X

Lifting the Peace Pipe.

We were unmolested in our escape from the cut-off, and although forced to land by another barrier of drift the carry was short, and in the bright sunshine we continued our journey. Damoan, so long as he did not intercept us in the cut-off, would be compelled to return to his pirogues and lose much time in completing the loop. The girl slept much of the morning, and Labrador and I stuck to the paddles till late in the afternoon, when we were forced to give up.

Aided by the Canadian I soon had the pirogues cunningly concealed and had chosen a retired hollow where we could rest and eat. Labrador caught some fish while I examined Six Fingers' wound—a clout over the head which would soon mend. I had had no time for an explanation from Labrador until now.

"Damoan the Fox came to la Nouvelle Orleans in the night," he began. "He had an order from Sieur de Bienville for all to aid him in his search for the White Indian. Damoan selected me to go with him and his Choctaws. The Fox took pirogues and started up the river, leaving orders for more Choctaws to follow him when they arrived from Biloxi. When we passed the Iberville I saw my friend drop in the bush.

"The Indians were busy with their paddling and watching the bank ahead and saw nothing. Damoan thought he saw something, but was not sure. I lied to him and said there was nothing. Afterward he grew suspicious and sent back a canoe. We camped on the big loop, waiting for more Choctaws to come up. Something held them back, for they had not come up when the fight began. Damoan is a devil. He reads men's minds, as a red tracker reads a trail. Without warning, just before the fight at the bayou began, he had me seized, my hands tied and a gag put in my mouth. Then came the arrows and the war-cry of the Natchez. Monsieur knows about the fight. Damoan kept close beside me till toward the end. Then the mad Frenchman charged the Indians. Damoan then had to leave me, for his Indians were saying the madman was led by his manito; and they would have run away from him if not for the Fox. I got rid of the gag but not the cord. I ran away and found monsieur. That is all."

"Poor Monsieur Narbonne!" softly cried mademoiselle. "He was a gallant Frenchman."

"He went down gloriously, mademoiselle," said Labrador.

Narbonne's death affected me strongly. He had made my fight his fight. I could not bring myself to use the friendship of another Frenchman in furthering my schemes; and to Labrador I said:

"Friend Joe, I am an English spy."

"Eh bien! Damoan the Fox is not. I prefer you to him. You'll not hurt France, monsieur. And perhaps I have spied a bit on the English. Who knows? We are even, and our friendship stands. There is but one thing to remember; you are doing mademoiselle a service. I must help."

Six Fingers was sullenly silent. Narbonne's death deprived him of his chance to visit golden Acaanibas. His trend of thought was revealed in his shriveled face as he slowly turned his gaze on the girl. I remembered his talk about a choice between two gold mines. One was Acaanibas. But how could mademoiselle be connected with the second? Friendless and without money how could she attract the cupidity of this old scoundrel?

That night I divided the watch with Labrador, and with the first light had fish cooked and my companions awakened to eat and take to the pirogues. From the shore we could see a long stretch of the lonely waters, and no canoes were in sight.

We worked our fastest until midday, when we paused while Labrador slipped ashore and shot a deer. Then on we went for two weary hours when we landed again and cooked a generous quantity of the meat. I was pleased to see that mademoiselle ate the steak with a relish.

To relieve her of Six Fingers' presence I ordered him to take his ration out on a point of rock and keep watch over the lower river. Labrador was the most care-free of the four of us, and essayed his best to lighten the girl's sad mood. Her thoughts were with Narbonne, however, and the sacrifice he had made for her sake. Once I sought to divert her thoughts by asking why she feared Six Fingers.

She scornfully answered:

"That scum of the earth! Let him beware, or I'll have him whipped."

This was high language.

"Then you do not fear him?" I urged.

"Bah! I only fear for what he—"

She came to a stop and eyed me suspiciously. I believed she had started to say she feared him only for what he knew. She recovered her composure and signified her readiness to continue the journey.

Late that afternoon we landed again, and Labrador climbed a tree. He had startling news. Three pirogues, well filled, were far down the river. We both were satisfied that Damoan had received reinforcements. We had planned to pass through the portage of the Cross, thus avoiding the immense loop of the Three channels, but as night was near and the enemy in sight, and inasmuch as we could not hope to keep ahead of the fresh paddlers Damoan always could supply, we went ashore.

Six Fingers rebelled against leaving the river, but Labrador saved me from using him severely by glibly telling stories about the riches apt to be found among the Indians. Among other lies he solemnly declared the Humas hung golden circlets around their ankles and wrists. Six Fingers made no objections after hearing these absurdities. There was a venomous lusting in his eyes as the Canadian elaborated on his first description of the brass ornaments worn by the savages. We concealed the pirogues most skilfully, and I found a well-trodden Indian trail that led inland and would leave no trace of our passing.

To make good our isolation from any prowling Choctaws we passed that night in the thick woods, the deer meat brought along by Labrador doing us for food. Early in the morning I went a short distance from our camp and killed two wild turkeys with a long stick. I had them dressed and on broiling by the time mademoiselle in her tiny bark house came out and went to a nearby stream to bathe.

She came back with a new expression illuminating her face, something of fresh hope, of a faith in the morrow; the result of getting away from the river, perhaps. When I stole a glance at her piquant face I could only think of the jessamine and the opening magnolia buds back home.

"Labrador," I said, "suppose you scout about us and see if you find any Choctaw signs. We will wait here. Six Fingers, go to the brook and look for a gourd left there by the Indians, and bring me some water."

Six Fingers went willingly enough, his belief in gold to be found in running streams making the errand most welcome. Labrador was loath to depart, but mademoiselle gave him a smile to carry with him, and he plunged into the thicket. Now we two were alone she grew restrained in her manner, almost as if wishing at least Labrador was back with us.

For three years I had followed the river with but few glimpses of white women except as I saw them in Canada or on the gulf. And many of these, especially those on the gulf, were without sex in my eyes, so desperate had been Beau Law's company to secure colonists. Before me sat mademoiselle, cross-legged like an Indian squaw, yet ravishingly enticing in her appeal. Her demure youth held the threat of coquetry, once spontaneous fires were kindled in her heart. Notwithstanding all this, what I proposed saying was in no way meant to take any advantage of her position, but was prompted by an impulse to shield her after she reached Virginia.

Without any preamble I said:

"Mademoiselle, when you reach the English settlements questions will be asked you. You cannot avoid them. You can scarcely escape answering them. Your position will be unpleasant. Do you care to tell me just what you propose doing?"

"I will work," she muttered, staring down at the ground and digging her slim fingers into the forest-mold.

"Work is honorable, but in some English colonies slaves do the work, or indentured servants. Work is honorable for a wife, however."

"I am not a wife," she softly said.

"You shall be, if you care to say the word," I promptly declared. "Nay, do not be alarmed. I shall never bring this matter up again. I make you this offer to relieve your mind of any anxiety. As my wife you will not be questioned, nor will you have to labor with slaves and indentured servants."

Up came her head, her gaze haughtily returning mine. In a low even voice she coldly informed me:

"When I found my faith at the brook, I also found some of my pride. Monsieur has made a great mistake."

"I am afraid I have," I muttered, dazed by the unexpected outcome of what cool reason would tell me was an unwise honor.

But what the devil had pride to do with it? In a rush of memory I saw her standing wan and friendless on the sands of Ship Island. I remembered her misrepresentation of how she came to sail for Louisiana. I recalled my conviction that soft hands and poverty were a poor dower for a girl to bring to one not assured as to her history. And I had actually offered her marriage under the spell of the morning and because of a vagrant impulse to complete her belief in her medicine—her faith.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Human Ruminants Not Unknown to History

The first case of a human ruminant reported in a scientific journal was that of Robert Gill, a cobbler of Dorsetshire, whose death was reported in the British Annual Register under date of October 1, 1767.

In ancient times and in the Middle ages men who chewed the cud were apparently very far from rare, but modern science would be prone to dismiss such tales were they not supported by evidence of more recent time. Roger Gill died after suffering "great tortures" due to the loss of his strange faculty.

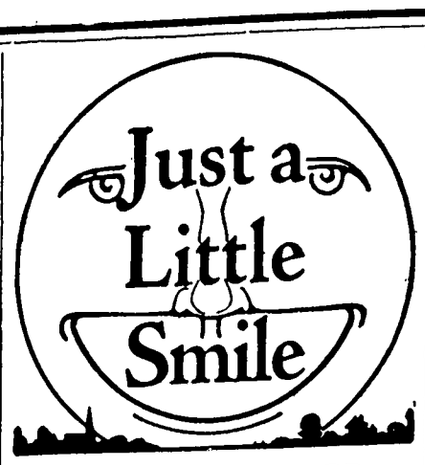
Gill usually began his second chewing a quarter or half an hour, sometimes later, after dinner, when every morsel came up successively sweeter and sweeter to the taste. The chewing continued about an hour or more, and sometimes would leave him for a little while, "in which case he would be sick at his stomach." Many other and later instances might be cited of men who have been "brother to the ox" in the possession of this faculty.—Chicago Journal.

Historic London Church

The Church of St. Michael, one of Wren's churches, which has just been reopened after extensive renovations, is one of the most historic churches in London. It is built on the site of that erected by Dick Whittington, and in which he was buried, but the original was so entirely wiped out in the great fire that no trace of Sir Richard Whittington's grave now remains. The renovation scheme included the painting of the walls and ceiling, and the moving of the heavy altar railing forward to form a choir screen. The representations of Moses and Aaron found in all Wren's churches are in this case exquisite statues which formerly stood on pedestals beside the altar. They have now been accommodated in niches in the walls some few feet above their original location.

Poetry Restored

Let poetry once more be restored to her ancient truth and purity; let her be inspired from heaven, and, in return, her incense ascend thither; let her exchange her low, venal, trifling subjects for such as are fair, useful, and magnificent; and let her execute these so as at once to please, instruct, surprise and astonish; and then, of necessity, the most inveterate ignorance and prejudice shall be struck dumb, and poets yet become the delight and wonder of mankind.—James Thomson.



KEEPING A RECORD

"Was Jack heartbroken when you jilted him?"

"No. He was perfectly horrid."

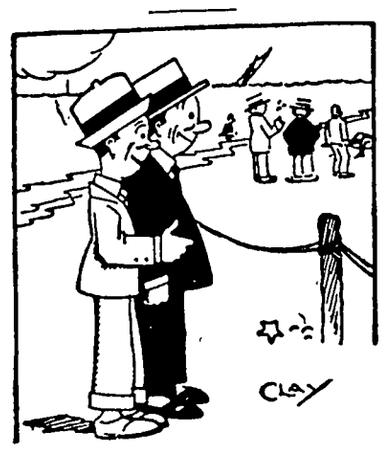
"What did he do?"

"When I gave him back the ring he took a little file out of his pocket and made a notch on the inside."

"What was horrid about that?"

"There were five notches in it already."

STRANGE OCCURRENCE



"How did the accident happen?"

"Mistook a puncture-proof tire for a life preserver—and went down."

With Us Tonight

Around the banquet board we sit
'Mid oratoric glory.
The man who makes the real hit
Just tells a funny story.

His Method

Customer—How is it that I have not received a bill from you?

Grocer—The fact is, Mr. Beck, that I never ask a gentleman for money.

Customer—Is that so? And what do you do if he doesn't pay?

Grocer—If he does not pay, I conclude he is not a gentleman and then I ask him.—Progressive Grocer.

Some Difference

"Yes, I get $80 a week," said the saleslady in the millinery establishment.

"How do you manage to command so large a salary?" asked the country school teacher.

"I know hats."

"Dear me! For $50 a week I have to know everything."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Reckless Age

"I suppose old Jim Tucker is as stingy as ever," remarked the former resident on a flying visit to Dinkyville.

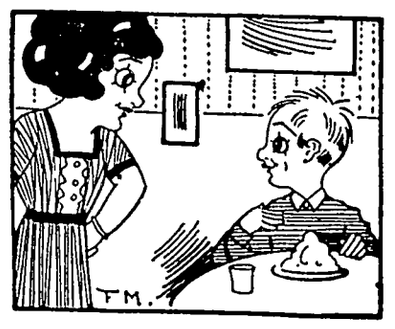
"Gosh, no," exclaimed the native. "Jim's gettin' to be a reg'lar spendthrift. Why, he even gets his hair cut at the barber shop now!"—American Legion Weekly.

Out of Season

"Our boss discharged three pretty stenographers today."

"Isn't it a strange time of the year to be canning peaches?"

COLD HOT STUFF



Bobbie—Gee, that's hot stuff.
Mother—What, Bobbie?
Bobbie—This ice cream.

Casual Observation

Investigations bring
A state of mind intense—
Yet seldom show a thing
That makes much difference.

All His Own Way

"Do you never resent the controversial attitude toward your speeches?"

"Never," answered Senator Sorghum. "The only man I know of who can go on talking without risk to provoking controversy is a radio announcer."

The Art of Selling

Secretary—Mr. Terry said to tell you he is too busy to talk to you today.

Life Insurance Agent—Tell him he won't have to say a word.

Just an Impression

"Did you get the number of the car that hit you?" asked the traffic cop.

"Look at my back, officer," replied the victim weakly. "I think you'll find the number stamped there."—American Legion Weekly.

Best Sport

Bob—What do you consider the best indoor sport?

Bobette—Holding hands—no matter whether you're playing cards or making love.

Nature's own body builder

"I was pulled down through indigestion and loss of appetite. What I ate caused severe pains and my sleep was restless. "Since taking Tanlac my appetite and digestion are fine, I sleep sound and feel fine." P. N. Vance, 622 3rd St., Burlington, Iowa.

Tanlac is Nature's greatest tonic and builder. Made from roots barks and herbs after the Tanlac formula, it revitalizes the blood, tones up the digestive organs and puts the whole system in fighting trim.

Don't go about your work sickly and discouraged. Take the example of millions who have been helped by Tanlac. Stop at your druggist's today and get this wonderful tonic. You'll be surprised how quickly you improve. For constipation take Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

Ends pain in one minute CORNS

One minute—that's how quick Dr Scholl's Zino-pads end the pain of corns. They do it safely. You risk no infection from amateur cutting, no danger from "drops" (acid). Zino-pads remove the cause—pressing or rubbing of shoes. They are thin, medicated, antiseptic, protective, healing. Get a box today at your druggist's or shoe dealer's—35c.

For Free Sample write The Scholl Mfg. Co., Chicago

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads
Put one on—the pain is gone

FOR OVER 200 YEARS

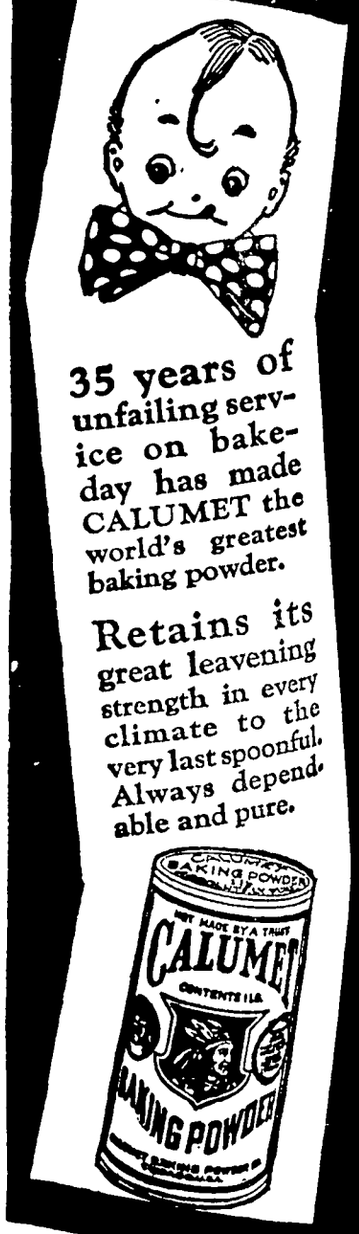
haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions.

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

correct internal troubles, stimulate vital organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine GOLD MEDAL

Cuticura Loveliness
A Clear Healthy Skin
Insured by Every-day Use of Cuticura Soap

CALUMET
THE WORLD'S GREATEST
BAKING POWDER



35 years of unfailing service on bake-day has made CALUMET the world's greatest baking powder.

Retains its great leavening strength in every climate to the very last spoonful. Always dependable and pure.

Sales 2½ times those of any other brand

BEST BY TEST

A Lady of Distinction
nised by the delicate, fascinat-ence of the perfume she uses.
with Cuticura Soap and hot o thoroughly cleanse the pores d by a dusting with Cuticura powder usually means a clear, ealthy skin.—Advertisement.

e is where the heart is.—Pliny.

MPION NATIONAL CHANGE WEEK
MAY 2 TO 9
tall
HAMPIONS
Now!
dreds of thousands of rists will make certain of r engine performance for her year by installing new mpion Spark Plugs during onal Change Week, May
9. They will bring back
ne power and speed, foretinkering and costly re-
; and save their cost many s over in less oil and sed.

Champion X—
exclusively for Fords
—packed in the Red Box 60c
Champion—
for cars other than Fords
—packed in the Blue Box 75c
HAMPION
ndable for Every Engine
Toledo, Ohio

labastine r'me t's easy get perfect walls with labastine. Alabastine is dry powder in white and
nts. Packed in 5-pound ckages, ready for use by xing with cold or warm
ter. Full directions on ery package. Apply with n ordinary wall brush.
ntable for all interior surces—plaster, wall board, ick, cement or canvas. It on't rub off, properly apied. Ask your dealer for olor chart and suggestions
write Miss Ruby Brandon,
e Alabastine Company, and Rapids, Mich.
ave money

25c L-V DUST CLOTH
of especially woven fabric "Crepette" ly 10 cents and
FREE
ers' dusting supply of Liquid Veneer.
u like it for dusting. A few drops on loth removes ALL dust, dirt and blem-
INSTANTLY, and leaves your piano, ure, woodwork spotlessly clean and rally polished. Moreover it preserves the indefinitely. Piano people use it to im-their brand new instruments. Send for RFREE bottle today. You'll be delighted. member, we include a big 25c L-V Dust
If you
15 cts. adds oppor-
dlo
ality
pany
Bldg.
N. Y.
LIQUID VENEER
ondiest thing in the house
FOR FIRST AID
very day on the farm
ings a new need for Vaseline" Jelly. A pure, remedy for burns,
, rashes and minor troubles. Take inter-
ly for coughs and colds.
sbrough Mfg. Company
Ste. (Consolidated) New York
Vaseline
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
PETROLEUM JELLY

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Methought I saw a robin's wing
Among the budding trees!
What need of chilly lingering
Mid winter reveries,
When life is at the edge of spring?
—Florence Converse.

GOOD EVERYDAY FOODS

An attractive salad is always a most welcome addition to a dinner or luncheon.

Sweetbread and Cucumber Salad.—Prepare the sweetbreads by parboiling and removing all the inedible portion, then drop into cold water to make firm again· add a tablespoonful of vinegar to the water. After standing an hour, drain and cut into pieces. Cut into cubes half the amount of cucumbers, mix all together with a highly seasoned mayonnaise which has been mixed with half its bulk in whipped cream. When well blended, heap lightly into nests of tender lettuce. Serve with toasted wafers.

Celery Jelly Salad.—Put two cupfuls of strained tomatoes, a tablespoonful of grated onion, a bay leaf and a pinch of celery seed into a saucepan; bring to the boiling point and set aside for fifteen minutes to keep hot. Add half a package of gelatin which has been soaked in half a cupful of cold water, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and the juice of half a lemon. Stand over boiling water until the gelatin is dissolved; strain, stir in a quantity of finely cut tender celery and set on ice to set, stirring occasionally until it begins to thicken Mold in small cups and chill. Serve on beds of lettuce and mask with a rich mayonnaise.

Apple Lemon Pie.—Take two cupfuls of chopped apple, one cupful of sugar, the juice and rind of a lemon, one egg well beaten, half cupful of water, and the same of cracker crumbs. Bake in a two-crust pie in a moderate oven.

Peas, Pickles, Peanuts Salad.—Take an equal quantity of peas and peanuts with enough chopped sour pickle to add zest. Serve on slices of orange, garnished with parsley. Serve with a highly seasoned boiled dressing.

Tapioca Pears.—Cook tapioca and bake with canned pears, adding grated lemon rind and butter. A little lemon juice added to the sauce which may be made from the pear juice will add to the flavor.

Mock Duck.—Take pork tenderloins and split them lengthwise. Make a dressing as for turkey. Put dressing in the meat, sew it up, season, lard with strips of salt pork, add a little hot water and bake for forty-five minutes.

Luncheon Desserts.

For the noon meal, when dinner is served at night, the dessert should be a very light one. A dish of fruit a small cake or cooky, a gelatin pudding are all desirable desserts for a light meal.

Jelly Fluff.—Take half a glass of jelly and the white of one egg; beat until stiff and the mixture will stand up alone. Heap in sherbet cups and top with a little egg white mixed with sugar or a bit of whipped cream.

Another nice fluff which is well liked is prepared as follows: Grate a medium-sized apple and mix with sugar to taste, add an egg white and whip until stiff. This may be served with a thin custard sauce, ice cold, or the fluff heaped over small cup cakes.

Emergency Desserts.—Steam any leftover cake and serve with marshmallow sauce. Mix one cupful of brown sugar with three tablespoonfuls of flour, add one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water and cook until smooth, add a generous grating of nutmeg and two tablespoonfuls of butter with a dash of lemon juice and rind. Just before serving have the sauce boiling hot and add a few marshmallows cut into quarters.

Caramel Cornstarch Pudding.—Brown one-half cupful of sugar until it forms a sirup in the pan, then add a pint of boiling milk; stir until the caramel is dissolved—this will take time. Add two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch mixed with a little cold milk and cook until the starch is thoroughly cooked. Pour into sherbet glasses and garnish with a spoonful of whipped cream topped with a piece of preserved ginger for each glass.

Chicken Loaf.—Cook a fowl in water until the meat falls from the bones. Strain, put the broth into a saucepan and reduce to three cupfuls by boiling. Add one-half package of gelatin. Separate the meat from the bones and shred fine. Put the chicken into a well-rinsed mold, season the broth and pour over it. Set away to harden and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing. A good imitation for a hurry-up dish is canned chicken with chicken broth or canned soup used instead of the fresh fowl.

Snowballs.—Spread cooked rice an inch thick over squares of coarse muslin wet in cold water. In the center of each place a canned peach or apricot, or pear. Tie carefully and steam ten minutes. Serve with a sauce prepared by thickening the fruit juice from the can, adding a little butter to make it richer.

Nellie Maxwell

MODISH BLACK SATIN COATS; AIRY HATS HERALD SUMMER

LIKE the return of an old friend, rejuvenated and chic—after a long vacation, the black satin coat of this season makes its entry—everywhere there is awaiting it a feast of a thousand welcomes. Black satin coats, following all the modish new ideas of the hour and stressing particularly the use of summer furs in colors and trimmings, have returned in force; whole windows in the big apparel shops are given over to their display, showing them developed in straight lines and flaring models, and with all the variations in collars, the flower-trimmed hats with equal pleasure and confidence. But now stylists have launched the real, summer hat and millinery windows are blossoming out with airy and wide-brimmed models that will cast a grateful shadow when the sun is high.

Many of these midsummer hats are of transparent braids—and many of them are flower-trimmed. They are in keeping with the sheer and dainty summer frocks that are finding universal favor, and they are enchantingly becoming—distinctly midsummer types with crowns somewhat higher than sleeves, fastenings and other details that characterize the fashionable coat of the spring season.

The Flared Silhouette.

Nothing quite equals black satin, in the crepe satin weaves, for the new flared skirt lines in coats and cape and jabot effects which are so graceful and chic; therefore a good proportion of the late models embodies these style points. An example of the flared silhouette is shown in the picture in a coat with deep revers and the popular side fastening. Its fur collar, in light gray squirrel, holds its own with many other collars of similar shape, made of white ermine, but the displays emphasize the distinction of black and white by many models in which ermine is used for collars and—with much restraint—in trimming touches.

Fur collars are not confined to squirrel or white ermine by any means. Summer ermine and furs that imitate it, and dyed squirrel provide a choice of color in the short-haired furs, and white fox contributes its soft becomingness also.

Except in sunny climes the story of millinery so far this season has been told in small, colorful and chic hats that belong to early spring. Flower trims on many of them herald a coming summer—like the songs of cheerfully promising robins—and we have listened to the songs and bought they have been and often revealing picturesque brim lines.

The group of five hats pictured here is representative of this class of headwear and leads off with a moderately wide-brimmed hat covered with georgette. Pastel colors and tan shades are especially well liked in this kind of millinery and they make perfect backgrounds for flowers in natural and pastel colors. The hair braid hat at the left, with high square crown, carries only one huge blossom, posed high and on the right side. A light straw braid provides the graceful hat at the right with brim edge finished with a deep facing of silk and trimming of applique flowers. At the left the perennial and winsome poke shape of transparent braid has a secondary brim and a soft collar of satin and is prettily finished with an applique floral motif at the front of the crown. A picturesque hat of soft straw finishes the group trimmed with ribbon and braid.

Group of Summer Hats.

Between the small, early hat of ribbon, felt, straw or silk, and the large midsummer hat, there are hats of straw or silk, or, more often, of combinations of these, that have narrow or medium brims and are suited to the needs of those who cannot wear very wide brims.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Spring Is Here
Spring is here—birds—butterflies—May flowers—growing buds and blossoms. And an ever-growing preference for Monarch Coffee and Monarch Cocoa—high in quality, low in cost.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago • Boston • Pittsburgh • New York

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 83

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

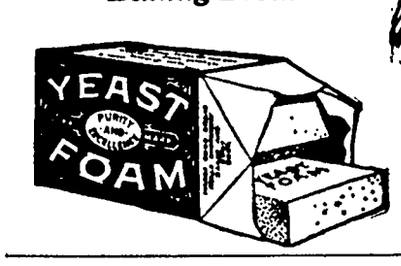
Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

The secret of good bread: Yeast Foam

"I made it all myself"

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"



Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Man wants but little here below—if he thinks there is a possible chance to get up higher.

No humorist picks out his wife because she laughs at his jokes. He might never get one.

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is especially prepared to relieve Infants in arms and Children all ages of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving natural sleep.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
Absolutely Harmless—No Opiates. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

CUTS and SCRATCHES
Stop the smarting and hasten the healing by prompt application of Resinol

OWN A FARM
In Central Montana, corn, wheat, alfalfa, dairy, etc. Crops pay for farm in few years. Expert advice free. Inquiry HOLLAM COMPANY, Great Falls, Mont.

CASH PAID for dental gold, old bridges, old plates, diamonds, discarded jewelry, magneto points. Cash by return mail. Florida Gold Refining Co. 21 Adams, Jacksonville, Fla.

ASK FOR
ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE
for TIRED, ACHING FEET

WANT TO HEAR FROM OWNER GOOD farm or ranch for sale. A. S. Ackerman, Charles Bldg., Denver, Colorado.

HOMESEEKERS—SEND FOR FREE LIST farms and land in any state. Price, owner's names, addresses, simply say what you want, in what state. The Homeseeker, 617 Charles Bldg Denver, Colo.

YOU CAN'T CUT OUT
A Bog Spavin or Thoroughpin but you can clean them off promptly with
ABSORBINE
TRADE MARK REG U.S PAT OFF
and you work the horse same time. Does not blister or remove the hair. $2.50 per bottle, delivered. Will tell you more if you write.
Book 4 A free.
W. F. YOUNG, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

Mrs. Davis, of Mason City, visited at the Freie home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Patet were at Forest City Sunday for a visit.

Mr and Mrs. R. W. Elder were at Mason City on business last Friday.

Miss Esther Jante, of Garner, was visiting in Klemme last Thursday.

Fred Musfelt is painting the Mrs. August Lau house this week.

Miss Edith Haupt finished her school year last Friday.

Start your Chicks on Dr. Hess' Poultry Pan-a-cea. Sold at Wilson's Pharmacy, Klomme. Iowa. 1tc

Mr. Klingaman, of Garner, was in town on business Tuesday morning.

Mrs Worthy Usher spent Sunday visiting at Goodell.

Grandma Fouts is very ill at the Gimer home at this writing.

Sheriff Peck Hanson and Charlie Schoenwetter, of Garner, were business callers in Klemme Tuesday.

Mr. Henry Griewe and Mr. Ortmeyer drove to Garner on business Monday.

Walter Ross and family of Garner were visiting at the Day and Smith homes Sunday.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Dr D. P. Anderson is driving a nice new Buick Six Coach which he purchased Wednesday.

FARM FOR SALE—My 80-acre farm, terms reasonable. Andrew Nelson, Goodell, Iowa. tfc

Mrs. Leslie Ell and Mrs. Housemen, of Mason City, were visiting at the G W. Kluckhohn home Sunday.

Mr and Mrs. F. W. Ortmeyer of Kanawha were visiting at the Henry Griewe home Monday.

DON'T lose your Chickens with Lice—Use Dr. Hess' "Instant Louse Killer." Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

Reva Elder has been quite ill the last few days, suering fromff an ear trouble

Rev and Mrs A W. Gauger and son, Harlan, were visiting at Mason City Wednesday of this week.

Allie White and family spent Sunday visiting with his mother at Goodell.

Mr and Mrs. T. F. Mitchell, of Iowa City, were visiting Klemme relatives Sunday.

Start your Chicks on Dr. Hess' Poultry Pan-a-cea. Sold at Wilson's Pharmacy, Klemme. Iowa 1tc

Mrs. Mabel Cullinan, of Belmond, visited in Klemme Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Mabel Cullinan, of Belmond, visited with her mother, Mrs. Mary Waterman, Sunday.

The regular services of the Methodist church will be held at the church next Sunday. The building has been cleaned up, new paper has been hung and the woodwork painted and varnished

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fouts, of Riceville, came Saturday for a visit with his mother, who is ill at the A.D. Gimer home.

WANTED—to pasture about 25 head of horses or cattle. Good pasture, no swamp. J. H. Dorenkamp, Phone Klemme 5903. 2tp

Jay Griggs informed us the other day that the bull heads were biting good over at Clear Lake and that he caught a nice mess last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Anderson spent Sunday visiting at home of Mr. and Mrs. Verdie Anderson at Goodell.

FOR SALE—S. C. p. b. Reds the highest egg production, pen No. 1 $1.15 for 15 eggs, pen No. 2 50c for 15 eggs. Mrs. John Josten. 1wc

Lester Stille was visiting Klemme relatives and friends Wednesday evening Lester is on the road selling a salt block.

Mrs. Paul Stille and the Misses Loverin, Thompson and Buchan drove to Mason City last Saturday morning.

DON'T lose your Chickens with Lice—Use Dr. Hess' "Instant Louse Killer" Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

The Central States Electric Co. will put on a demonstration here on May 6th. See their ad for particulars.

Mesdames John Day and William Smith were hostesses at the Royal Neighbor meeting Friday afternoon of last week.

Mrs. Clarissa Abel, of Garner, was in Klemme Friday calling on the voters. She is a candidate for Recorder.

Mr J. H Lade, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Tuesday. Mr. Lade is one of the candidates for Supervisor.

Mr and Mrs. Fred Kluckhohn and daughter, Thelma, Donald and Vernon Turgason and Mildred and Gertrude Johnson, drove to Mason City Friday.

Mr. Henry Freie and his daughter, Mrs. Lou Davis, of Mason City, drove to Worthington, Minn., ast Thursday for a few days visit with Mr. Davis who is located there at the present time.

Mrs. Tom Hake and daughter, Miss Maurine, of Belmond, came Friday morning for a visit at the M. O. Barr home, and to attend the Royal Neighbor meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary and baby, Prof. M. F. Penrod, Lawson Hockey and the Misses Stoner and Abel went to Des Moines Saturday to take in the Drake Relays.

Miss Viola Freie and Miss Eunice Braund drove over to Britt Monday evening. Miss Freie payed for the Junior-Senior Banquet there that evening.

The Home Economics Girls held a little birthday party Friday in honor of their teacher, Miss Abel. They presented her with a gift. Ice cream and cake was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Jacobs, of Garner, were here Sunday to help Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs celebrate their wedding anniversary. A fine dinner was served.

The kiddies are all looking forward to May 1st—May Basket night. This is a big event with the kids and they certainly get a lot of fun out of it.

Iowa had the worst dust storm Tuesday that has been known for 30 years. Dust storms are unusual in this state. In some places the fine sand and dirt drifted against the fences five to ten inches deep.

Ralph Elder and daughter, Reva, drove to Vernon Center, Minn., Sunday morning for a visit with Mr. Elder's mother. George Elder and wife of Eagle Bend were also there. George and Ralph are brothers.

Miss Carrie Fouts, accompanied by Mis Clara Keck, braved that awful wind torm Tueday to drive up from Eldora to visit at the A. D. Gimer home. Miss Fouts came here for a visit with Grandma Fouts who is very ill at the Gimer home. Miss Fouts is a niece of Grandma Fouts.

NOTICE FOR BUILDING SCHOOL HOUSE

Notice is hereby given that proposals for the erection of a school house in District No. 6, in the Township of Twin Lake, in the County of Hancock, Iowa, will be received by the undersigned at the Center School House in Twin Lake Township, until 1:30 P. M., May 3, 1926, at which time the contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Plans and specifications may be seen at my place.

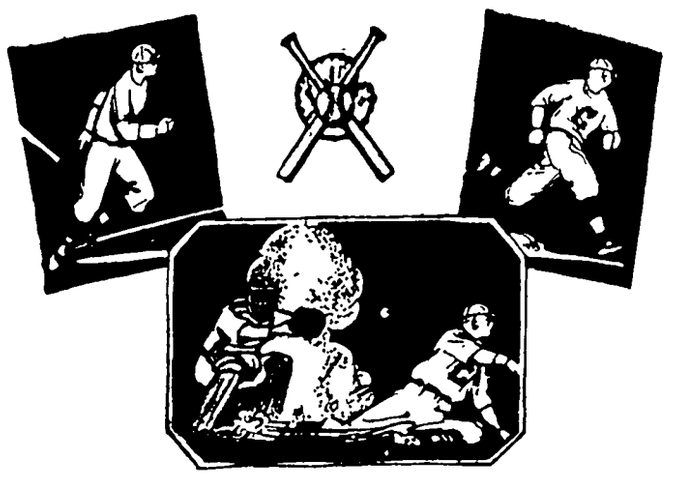
JULIUS PRIEBE, Secretary,
(Pub. April 8-29) Goodell, Iowa.

We had a good rain in this locality Friday, but the weather has been somewhat cool since then.

Repairing
OF ALL KINDS

SHOES half soled, either sewed or tacked, new heels fitted. Tires and Tubes repaired. Bring in your light repair work of any kind.

Chris Blumer's
REPAIR SHOP



A HOME RUN

Did you ever watch the ball player when a home run was in sight? How he put forth every ounce of strength as he threw himself to slide and touch the plate?

It is concentration of one's energy that wins the battle.

Anyone who puts forth this same effort is assured of success.

This bank rejoices in the success of its cutomers and friends. We can be of help to you if you will place your problems before us.

First National Bank,
KLEMME, IOWA.

The BULL'S EYE
Editor and General Manager
WILL ROGERS

Another "Bull" Durham advertisement by Will Rogers, Ziegfeld Follies and screen star, and leading American humorist. More coming. Watch for them.

Congress
No. 2

Statistics have proven that only one-half of one per cent of the speeches made in Congress are listened to. A great many Congressmen speak IN, but not TO, Congress. But every speech is published in the record. They send the records back home to show "What they told 'em up there in Washington." Now the people back home think Congress heard their "Lem" tell 'em this.

Now, here is my scheme to stop speech making. A Bill reading as follows: "Congressional Record must not only contain speech, but number of members, and names who listened to speech, and why." For instance: "Congressman Post Hole arose to a point of information and spoke at length on, 'Is Locarno a town, or is it a Treaty?' Length of speech, without waiting for applause, four hours, thirty-six minutes; attendance, Gout (Rep. N. Y.): 'Unable to get out.' Sixty-forty (Dem. N. J.): 'Case of reciprocity, he listened to mine.' Lowbrow (Rep. Mass.): 'I was asleep, even the good speakers haven't woke me up.'"

Now I claim that will stop some speech making. The minute it gets back home that "Lemmie" is talking to himself up there, "Lemmie" will stop talking.

You know why they won't listen to anybody up there? They have gone out to smoke, that's why, and you know why they've gone out to smoke? Why, "Bull" Durham, of course. IT'S BETTER THAN ANY SPEECH EVER MADE.

Will Rogers

P.S. There will be another piece in this paper soon. Look for it.

"BULL" DURHAM
Guaranteed by
The American Tobacco Co.
INCORPORATED
111 Fifth Avenue, New York City

PAINTS Lowe Brothers VARNISHES

Are You* PROUD *of Your Home?

IF that house of yours doesn't seem to smile back at you anymore—the chances are it needs a coat or two of real good paint.

Maybe a change in the color scheme would improve it, too. We have many beautiful, rich colors from which to choose in LOWE BROTHERSHIGH STANDARD PAINT. You'll be surprised how easily you can make your house "new again". The cost is small compared with the benefit you will get from repainting now. Let us be of real paint service to you.

Before you paint, see us

E. F. Jacobs

Notice!

For the past three months a man known to many as Mr. Walton, of Klemme, Assistant of L. D. McMichael, of Eldora, has had charge of the business in Klemme supplying to many users, my well known Indian Medicines.

Some time ago I found it necessary to call upon Mr. Walton at my Klemme Office, and inform him that his services were no longer desired.

Upon his leaving, for reasons unknown, he chose the darkness of the night, and took with him, many things belonging to others, including medicines, which he will no doubt try to dispose of.

Should he at any time try to sell these medicines, to people of Klemme or vicinity, I will gladly pay the sum of ONE HUNDDRED DOLLARS for information to such transactions.

From this date my Office will be under the management of Mr. M. R. Miller, who has been in my employe for the past two years.

I myself have secured a lease on the property known as the Frank Gruetzmacher house, three blocks south of the First National Bank.

Mr. Miller will be found at the office all day Monday, Friday and Saturday, and after 5:30 P. M. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the larger portion of these days being spent in Britt, Thompson and Clear Lake.

I will be at the Klemme office at different times of each week, and it is the desire of both Mr. Miller and myself to meet all past and present patrons, and extend a welcome to all who contemplate a visitin the future.

An invitation is extended to all in this vicinity to come n and talk your troubles over wth us, and take home with you a medicine compounded from roots, herbs, barks and berries, free from drugs (alcohol and poisons)

These Medicines will take the Dis-Ease from the body, and restore to the users, that which is most desired—

HEALTH

L. D. McMichael,
M. M.

OFFICES LOCATED AT—

KLEMME, IOWA
ELDORA, IOWA
MARSHALLTOWN, IOWA
CENTRAL CITY, IOWA
STEWART, IOWA
ACKLEY, IOWA.

THE KLEMME TIMES

th Year—Number 38. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, MAY 6, 1926. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

MME PIONEER BURIED SUNDAY

OIR OF MR. GEORGE W. KLUCKHOHN

Five Hundred People At- end Funeral Services

(By Rev. A. W. Gauger)

George W. Kluckhohn answer- final summons, as all must, he departed this life for the beyond, on Thursday, April 26, at 10:30 o'clock in the ng. The immediate cause of th being pernicious anemia. ed at the age of 66 years and ys.

was about four months to the hen Mr. Kluckhohn suffered a lete breakdown in his health. gain the same he put forth a battle which lasted well gh the winter It was a battle f gaining, then losing. There time when it would seem that s the conqueror, and those who ed him more closely thought o be on the road to recovery. however, was only apparently r no sooner had this little spark pe flared up when a serious re- shattered all While he and d the medical help fought on, s a losing battle they fought.

orge W. Kluckhohn was born ril 5, 1860, in East Troy, Wis- n, a son of Rev. and Mrs. Carl khohn who was an itinerant r of the Methodist Episcopal ch and one time member of the River Conference.

ing a member of a numerous y, with salaries of pastors but re, and, showing marked busi- ability on his part the deceased ed upon a business career early fe, in fact in his early teens. came shipping clerk for Gordon rguson, of St. Paul.

ring to ill health, his father was elled to retire from the minis- n 1876 He bought a farm in Township, Hancock County, Ia. retirement he moved his family Garner, Iowa This was just years ago when George was 16 s of age was here that Mr. Kluckhohn and married Miss Louise Ell, daughter of a well known pion- of this county, after whom Ell nship was named. Many things terest can be related of this ly along civic, social and religi- lines as goes the life of the er on after their marriage in 1880 deceased and his companion ed onto his father's father where resided for twelve years. In meantime the enterprising vill- of Klemme sprang up and Mr. khohn and family moved here 892, he building the butcher as his first business venture. 894 he built the restaurant, op- ing the same for the next seven- years.

1907 they built their commodi- home which they occupied ever , and which was the place of y happy gatherings. After re- g from the restaurant business, tered the real estate and insur- business which he followed marked success.

the meantime he started his in the merchantile business un- the firm name of G. W. Kluck- n & Sons.

r. Kluckhohn is survived by his pension of many years, by three and two daughters. They are: k, Mrs. Sadie Turgason, Fred, rence and Mrs. W. C. Keraus. r children preceded their father eath. He also leaves ten grand- dren, who voted him the best nddaddie" ever.

is brothers, Edward of Ames, a, and Arthur, of Garner, as well is sister, Mrs. George Washburn, Ventura, besides numerous other lives survive him.

uneral services were held on day afternoon at the residence, front porch and lawn being used. rge concourse of over five hun- d people were in attendance, ch bespoke the esteem in which r townsman and friend was held. ev. Gauger of the Methodist rch conducted the service and assisted by the Rev. Wm. Suck- ow of Forest City, and Rev. F. W. Ortmeyer of Kanawha. The singing comprised a mixed quartette consisting of the Misses Abel and Mildred Johnson and the Messrs. Penrod and Patet. They sang, "Rock Of Ages" A solo was sung by Miss Abel when she rendered "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand.," and a duet by Miss Abel and Mr. Penrod, who sang "Jesus, Lover Of My Soul."

The floral display was profuse and most beautiful.

Interment was made in the Klemme cemetery.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank all those who assisted us in any way during the illness and death of our husband and father.

Mrs. G. W. Kluckhohn and Family.

MAY CONSOLIDATE COUNTY POOR FARMS IN IOWA

Plan Would House All Inmates At One Location

An effort is under way looking toward the consolidation of all of the county poor farms into one state institution. The number of inmates in the county homes of the state is estimated at 2,000 and that would be the equivalent of the number of inmates in the home for the feebleminded at Glenwood It is claimed that such a plan would make a great saving and result in better accomodations for the unfortunate. There are 99 men and the same number of women in charge of the poor houses in the state. If all were in one big institution but a small per cent of that number of people would be required. The cost of heating 99 buildings and all of the other expenses could be materially reduced so that a saving of hundreds of thousands of dollars would result. Under the present laws the insane in county homes are under the supervision of the state board of control.

ELEVEN CLOSED BANKS TO PAY RETURNS

Garner Trust & Savings Bank First Payment Of 25 percent

Eleven banks whose affairs are in the hands of the state banking department will pay returns ranging from 10 to 75 per cent to their depositors within the next thirty days, according to L A Andrew, superintendent of banking. The banks and their payments are as follows: State Bank of Sewal, 75 per cent; Nemaha State Bank, 35 per cent; Garner Trust and Savings Bank, 25 per cent; Mid-West State Bank, Sioux City, 20 per cent; Jesup State Bank, 20 per cent; Farmers and Merchants Bank of Charlotte, 15 per cent; Farmers Savings Bank, Hamburg, fourth payment, 10 per cent; Marne Savings Bank, third payment, 10 per cent; Wiota Savings Bank, third payment, 10 per cent, Central Trust Company, Mason City, 10 per cent. and Yetter State Savings Bank, 10 per cent.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Our White Cross service worked out well last Sunday The money received by these enrollments goes to help the poor that need hospi al care but who are unable to pay for it. Much good has been accomplished thus by the White Cross We appreciate the fine response of those present, and hope that others may come in on this so that we may reach our quota. Liberty will have its turn at it on the coming Sabbath day.

Next Sunday should mean a great day to everyone. It is MOTHERS' DAY! Someone said, "Because God could not be everywhere, He created mothers to be His helpers" How true this is! They are God's real helpers and we should honor them as the best friend that man has—his mother.

We will wear the pink or red flower in her honor if she is still among us, and the white emblem if she is now before God's great white throne.

In our evening service we will speak on a timely subject that should interest all.

LARGE CLASS TO GRADUATE HERE

SEVEN BOYS, SIX GIRLS IN GRADUATING CLASS THIS YEAR

Largest Class In History Of The Klemme High School

Friday evening, May 21 will be date of commencement exercises of the senior class of the Klemme High School, the largest class ever graduated from this school.

There are seven boys and six girls in the record breaking class this year and indications are that a large class will be graduated next year.

Those who will receive diplomas for their four year's high school work are:

Richard Ax
Blanche Hulse
Martin Barz
Ruth Johnson
Russel Bell
Wayne Lemke
Beatrice Busch
Milo Patet
Frank Gibbs
Mabelle Schaefer
Harl Gimer
Elvira Stille
Dora Swanson.

The class colors are Old Rose and Grey. Their flower is the Pink Rose and the class motto is "Out of the Harbor into deep Channels."

The Senior have a busy season before them as the activities of commencement approach. The Junior-Senior Banquet comes soon. Then the baccalaureate sermon, school picnic and last and grandest of all, Commencement!

FLAG SHOULD BE FLOATED NEXT SUNDAY

Gov. Hammill Issues Rules For Mothers' Day In Iowa

Official designation of Sunday, May 9, as Mothers' Day has been made in a proclamation issued by Governor John Hammill. State officials are urged in the proclamation to display the American flag on all state and school buildings, and the people of he state are requested to display the flag at their homes, lodges, churches and other places of business in order that Mothers' Day, 1926, may be made a milestone to mark the way toward better things for American motherhood

PRESENT DROUGHT IS NOT SERIOUS

Iowa Can Stand Dry Weather Rather Than Too Much Rain

DES MOINES, May 8.—Special—Alarm is expressed in some quarters over the deficient rainfall in central and western Iowa. The Weather and Crop Bureau of the Iowa Department of Agriculture calls attention to the fact that he average otal rainfall for the state from January 1 o May 31, 1925, was the least in 35 years, yet it was followed by a corn yield above the average, except in a few counties.

This season, like last, has been dry except in the extreme eastern counties so that farmers could rush spring work without hiring much help, thus reducing the cost of production. It has, also, been cool which contributes to the comfort of men and horses at work. Also, the fruit buds have been beneficially retarded.

Iowa is more frequently hurt by wet springs than dry ones. The only things likely to be injured by a dry spring are hay and pastures. Winter wheat is not benefitted thereby, but the acreage of this crop is relatively small in Iowa.

A beer war has been started in Vienna because the price has been raised from ten to eleven cents a quart—which ought to make the bootleggers in America laugh out loud.

NEW INDUSTRY TO BE STARTED HERE

HATCHERY TO BE BUILT IN KLEMME NEXT YEAR

Garner Man Making Arrangements For Plant Here

Mr. Arley Blickendorfer, of Garner was in Klemme Tuesday looking over the town to find a suitable location to build a baby chick hatchery here next fall. Mr. Blickendorfer has a large hatchery near Garner. He has advertised in the Times this spring with wonderful results and he says he has had a large volume of business in this territory. He says that this territory looks good to him for a hatchery to be located in Klemme.

Mr. Blickendorfer intends to install two Buckeye machines, one of 5,000 egg capacity and another of 10,000 egg capacity to begin with, enarging the plant here as business warrants it.

Mr. Blickendorfer has been in the business several years and has a thorough knowledge of the baby chick business. He will be personally in charge of the plant he will locate here. We will welcome him and this new industry to our business ranks.

IOWA NEEDS TO PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRIES

Too Much Oleomargine Is Sold To Iowa Consumers

The fact that Iowa people buy one pound of oleomargine to every two pounds of butter does not speak well for their manner of supporting home industries, according to the Iowa Department of Agriculture. Records show that approximately 15,000,000 pounds of oleomargine were sold in Iowa last year as compared to 30,000,000 pounds of butter.

The redeeming feature of the situation is the large amount of butter which is consumed in Iowa that does not see a store. The farm butter which is manufactured and sold to special customers or consumed on the farm, plus the creamery butter sold to patrons, raises the total consumption of butter in Iowa to approximately 54,000,000 pounds, according to the department's estimates.

One way to help the Iowa farmer and the home creameries is to refuse to buy oleomargine.

NEW PASTOR AT REFORMED CHURCH BEGAN DUTIES LAST SUNDAY

Rev. Grosshuesch And Family Now Residents Of Klemme

Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch, wife and three children, of Stratford, Wisconsin, moved into the Reformed Parsonage last week Thursday and are now quite comfortably settled in their new home.

Rev. Grosshuesch is a fine young man to meet, and he is well pleased with his location here, and likes the people of his congregation whom he has met. Rev. Grosshuesch served the congregation at Stratford for six years.

The Reformed congregation recently remodeled the parsonage, refinished it and made it modern in every way and Rev. Grosshuesch and family hove an excellent home in which to live. We welcome this new family to Klemme and wish them happiness and success in their new field.

REFORMED CHURCH NOTES

Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor

10:00 A. M. German Service.
11:00 A. M. Sunday School.
German and English Classes.
8:00 P. M. English Service.

You are cordially invited to attend these services.

Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor.

McCULLOUGH SELLS SHOP TO J. C. THOMAS

"Zip" Was In Business Here For Over Eight Years

Tuesday G. P. McCullough closed a deal with Mr. J. C. Thomas who purchased the fixtures and business of Mr. McCullough's barber shop.

Mr. Thomas has been working for several weeks in the former C. A. Bachman barber shop. Mr. Thomas s an experienced barber and is a fine young man.

Mr. McCullough has been in the barber business here for the past eight years. The past winter he leased his shop to Mr. H. Rust, of Decatur, Iowa. Mr. McCullough spent the winter in Florida in order to benefit his health.

We are sorry to lose "Zip" from our business ranks as he is a good fellow and a good booster for Klemme. At the same time we welcome Mr. Thomas to our business circle, wishing him much success. He took possession yeterday.

OVER ONE THOUSAND ACRES ONIONS PLANTED

Vicinity Of St. Ansgar Is Onion Belt Of Iowa

G. M. Carman, of Buffalo Center, says that at St. Ansgar, Mitchell county, the coming season 1300 acres of onions will be planted. This acreage will require 4,550 pounds of seed at $7 per pound, which is about the average cost price this season, an outlay to growers for seed of $31,850.00. For many years Scott county was the larger producer of onions but in recent years Mitchell county has developed a large truck growing industry and onions, cabbage, potatoes and hemp are grown in large quantities. The largest grower of gensing in the world is in that section of the state. The largest tobacco grower in the state is near West Union, Fayette County.

ELL TOWNSHIP LADIES ENJOY MEETING

Miss Ranier Demonstrated Art Of Making Rugs

The second meeting of the Home Furnishings Project was held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Greiman, April 29th.

Miss Ranier demonstrated the Art of Rug Making which was very interesting and instructive. Seven leaders were present. The follow-up meeting in the southern part of the township will be held at the home of Mrs. Art Brouwer, May 14. The ladies in the northern part of the township will meet with Mrs. Earl Quintus May 12th.

All ladies interested are welcome to attend these meetings.

AVERY TOWNSHIP LADIES HAVE INSTRUCTIVE MEETING

Rug Making Art Taken Up At Center School Meeting

The Farm Bureau Ladies of Avery Township held a very successful sewing meeting at the Center School Friday. The lesson was on the Art of Home Made Rugs. Miss Ramer, the Home Economics Demonstrator, of Ames, gave us some very fine ideas of designs and combination of color and how to utilize old material in making rugs. We also learned the art of making some very useful rubber door mats out of old discarded inner tubes. The following ladies who attended this meeting were Mesdames C. A. Arnold, Fred Bachman, Wm. Johnson, W. L. Sherwood, J. J. Cook, J. T. Griggs, W. Gealow, Dr. Snearly Len Wilson and W. Thada. At the noon hour dainty refreshments of ice cream, cake, pickles, sandwiches and coffee were served by Mesdames Arnold, Bachman and Johnson. The meeting adjourned at 4 o'clock and all present considered their time had been well spent. The next lesson will be on Window Decorations.

Wouldn't Captain Kidd have fun with all these rum fleets sailing the Spanish Main?

RECENT CHANGES IN HANCOCK LAND

HANCOCK COUNTY REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

A Record Of Changes In Real Estate The Past Week

Upper Iowa District Camp Meeting Association to Chris Hanson, Jr. W. D., date 5-23-26, $300 00, lots 5-6-7-8 block 7 Garner.

Harley H. Smith to Pearl B. Smith. W. D., date 4-26-26, $1.00, lots 1-2 block 10, Brown and Hills add Britt.

Peter L. Smith wf. to Wallace G. Stevenson. W. D., date 4-24-26, $6,700 00, part of S½ of SW¼ 27-96-25.

H. C. Pinkham wf. et al to R. W. Siemens. W. D. Ddate 4-21-26, $1, E½ of NE¼ & E½ of NW¼ 30-94-25.

Edith Nonnweiler, Administratrix to Theresa Holecek. Admx ... date 2-25-26, $500.00, Und. 1-3 ... in lot 2-3 block 47 Garner.

H. L. Creamer, Admr. to Theresa Holecek. Admr. Deed, date 2-25-26, $1,000.00. Und. 2-3 int. in lot 23 block 47 Garner.

A. W. Noonan wf. to Mrs Alice Mead. W. D., date 3-2-26, $1,200, lot 1-2 block 1 McGraw & Fishes add. Britt.

Chas. N. Kinnay wf. to Delbert R. Lang. W. D., date 3-14-26, $1.00. SE¼ 31 & W* of NE¼ 31-95-24.

COMPULSARY TESTING OF CATTLE INCREASES

Eighteen Counties In Iowa Are Now Accredited

DES MOINES, May 8.—Practically all counties which have been testing cattle for bovine tuberculosis for any length of time will soon go on a compulsory test basis, according to the hearings which are scheduled by the Iowa Department of Agriculture.

"The rapid increase in the work of testing cattle shows that the people in Iowa are earnestly seeking to eradicate this disease from their herds," states M. G. Thornburg, Secretary of Agriculture. "Hearings will be held within a few weeks in Grundy, Jones, Louisa, Iowa, Muscatine, O'Brien and Dallas counties."

"Already eighteen counties have reduced bovine tuberculosis to less than one-half of one per cent and are modified accredited counties. As soon as the hearings are held it is probable that 27 counties will be on an accredited area basis where the testing is compulsory. Seven counties, most of which started the work last winter, will be left in the group where the testing is voluntary."

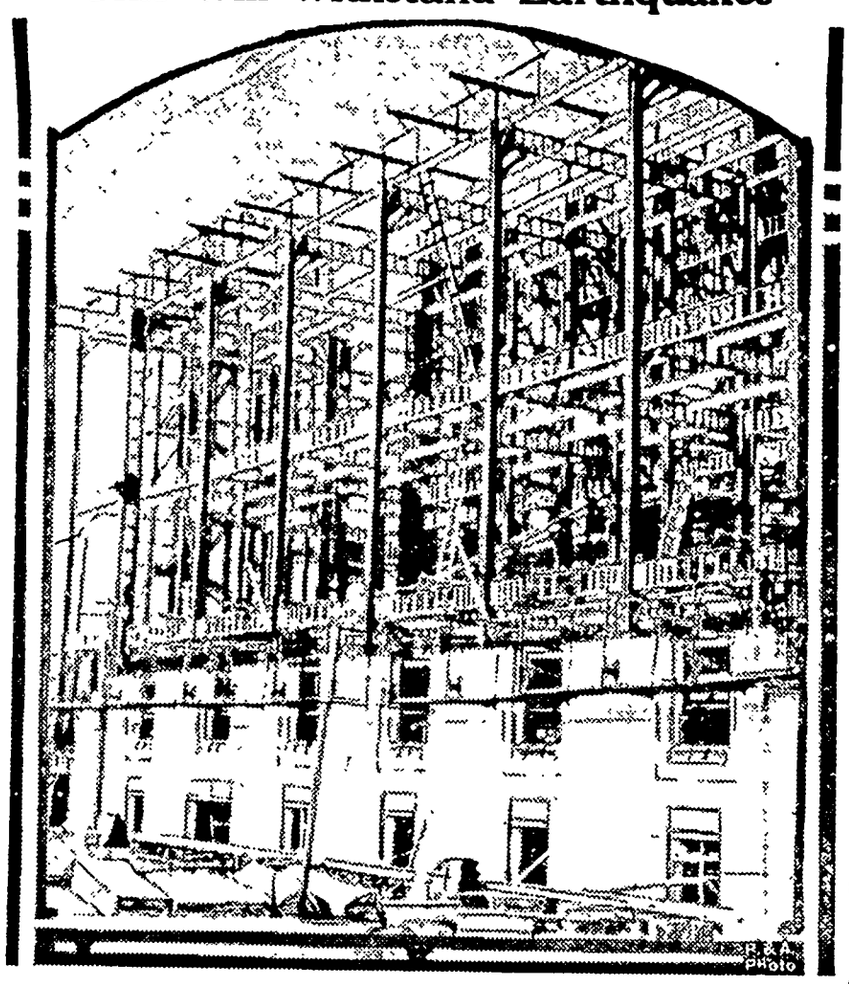
"It seems likely that seven counties which are now on the compulsory testing basis will be able to reduce the bovine tuberculosis in their counties to less than one-half of one per cent, and become modified accredited counties during this coming summer," states Mr. Thornburg. "Fifty-two counties have either completed or are actively engaged in area testing. Accredited herd testing is being done in the remainder of the state."

MAY 17-22 CLEANUP WEEK ON IOWA HIGHWAYS

Advertising Signs Come Down During That Time

AMES, May 8.—The week of 17 to 22 has been designated 'Clean-Up" week along high... the state by the state highway ... mission. In accordance with a law passed by the last general assembly all advertising signs on the right of way will be torn down, unless the owners have removed them before the date set. Signs which are off the right of way, entirely on private property, and which do not interfere with clear vision at turns, corner and railroad crossings, will be permitted to stand. The work of cleaning up will be done by the maintenance forces.

This Will Withstand Earthquakes



Japan is taking no chances with earthquakes in the construction of the new imperial diet building, which was started before the 1923 earthquake and will be completed in three more years. Photograph shows the remarkable amount of steel which is being used to strengthen the building.

Tibet Has Real American Indian

Find Throws Light on Origin of Natives of This Continent.

Washington.—In far-away Tibet, 6,000 miles distant from the nearest point of the American continent, there exist true American Indian types. This conclusion, which throws much important light on the question of the origin of the American Indian, is one of the profoundly significant fruits of a remarkable journey of 50,000 miles, covering half the globe and occupying seven months, which Dr. Ales Hrdlicka made under the joint auspices of the Smithsonian Institution and the Buffalo Society of Natural Science last year, and the first account of which now appears in the annual exploration pamphlet of the Smithsonian Institution.

Doctor Hrdlicka, who is curator of physical anthropology in the United States National museum and who recently published a description of the new type of white American, undertook his journey to survey what has been and what is being done in the study of ancient man and of the fossil apes in France, in India, in Ceylon, Java, Australia and South Africa. Such a world survey of the position of physical anthropology is perhaps unique, and it produced results of great significance.

Of the types found in Tibet (and elsewhere in eastern Asia) Doctor Hrdlicka says that they are so true to that of the American Indian that if they were transplanted into America nobody could possibly take them for anything but Indian. Men, women and children resemble the American aborigines in behavior, in dress and even in the intonations of their language. The importance of the light his discovery throws on the origin of the native Americans is obvious.

After a brief stop in France Doctor Hrdlicka early in April last year took ship to India, stopping to examine some Arab types at Port Said and Aden. Of the pure-blood Arab, the anthropologist says that he shows a lively, intelligent white man's physiognomy (though mostly brown in color), and that the higher class pure Arab is often as light as the southern European.

In India Doctor Hrdlicka visited the Siwalik hills, an area that probably is the richest source of anthropoid ape fossils in existence. Within the last two years five or six new varieties of such fossil anthropoids have been found there.

Migration of Negrito.

At present one of the most interesting problems in anthropology is to explain the presence of the Negrito in the Philippines and Andamans. How did he get to his present homes? His nearest relatives are apparently the pygmies of central Africa, but a great unbridged space has till now separated the two. If he extended from Africa he must have left traces of his passing in Arabia and India. Such traces, so far at least as the Indian coast lands are concerned, Doctor Hrdlicka became satisfied do exist. They occur in Parganas, northwest of Calcutta, in at least one area along the eastern coast, here and there among the Dravidians and in the Malabar hills. These discoveries bring the Negrito a long way farther to the westward and so much nearer Africa, making his derivation from that continent so much the more probable.

With regard to the bulk of the present population of India, Doctor Hrdlicka believes he can say with confidence that it is mainly composed of three ethnic elements—the Semitic, the Mediterranean, and in certain parts the Hamitic, or North African. The Aryans show everywhere either the Semitic or the Mediterranean type. Doctor Hrdlicka saw nothing that could be referred to the types of central or northern Europe. It would seem, therefore, that the Aryans came from Persia and Asia Minor rather than from or through what is now European Russia.

Hears of Wild Men.

Passing through Ceylon, where he reports no definite trace as yet of geologically ancient man, Doctor Hrdlicka proceeded to Java, touching at Sumatra and the Straits Settlements. Of Sumatra, a country not yet perfectly known, he says that "there still prevail in the island, among the whites as well as the natives, beliefs in the existence of wild men. There are said to be two varieties. The Orang Pandak (orang—man, pandak—short) is said to live in the almost impenetrable mountain forests of the central and southern parts of the island. The natives describe him as black, short, long-haired and wild, but not insurmountably shy. The second form is the Orang Sedapak. He is said to live in the unhealthy lowlands of the southern part of Sumatra. He is described as having the body of a child of twelve, with long red hair on head and body. He is very shy and runs but does not climb.

In the mountainous regions of the upper parts of the Malay peninsula according to information given to Doctor Hrdlicka, there still live thousands of negritoid people, and there are many old caves waiting to be explored.

The visit to Java was made chiefly to inspect the site of the Pithecanthropus, but Doctor Hrdlicka also desired to satisfy himself as to any possible cultural traces of early man, and as to the present population.

When the actual site of the Pithecanthropus was reached by Doctor Hrdlicka, a whole gang of natives advised by the police were already waiting there, each bringing a little pile of fossils gathered from the muddy ledges of the river as they were exposed by the receding water. These fossils were eagerly examined and a good selection was made for the National museum, but they included no remains of any primate.

In the eastern portion of Java Doctor Hrdlicka found traces of the pre-Malay Hindoo population which peopled the island in early historic times. In the central part of Java these people evidently reached a rather high degree of culture and left imposing ruins.

Full-blood and otherwise full-colored Australians, but with tow hair, were one of the phenomena observed in a boat journey along the western coast of Australia. Doctor Hrdlicka also attended some of the impressive ceremonies of the native Australians.

Sheds New Light.

"The data obtained in Australia," writes Doctor Hrdlicka, "throw a very interesting and to some extent new light on the moot questions of both the Australian and Tasmanian aborigines. According to these observations, the Australian aborigines deserve truly to be classed as one of the most fundamental and older races of mankind, and yet it is a race which shows close connections with our own ancestral stock—not with the negroes or Melanesians (except through admixture), but with the old white people of postglacial times.

As to the Tasmanians, the indications are that they were but a branch of the Australians, modified perhaps a little in their own country. Both peoples have lived and the Australians of the Northwest live largely to this day, in a paleolithic stage of stone culture. They are still making unpolished stone tools, which in instances resemble the Mousterian implements or later European paleolithic types. But they are also capable of a much higher class of work. Today, about Derby, bottles are used in making beautifully worked spear heads."

From Australia Doctor Hrdlicka's journey led to South Africa, and disembarking at Durban, Natal, the first task was to see as many as possible of the Zulu, about whose exact blood affinities there was some doubt. From an examination of many individuals the anthropologist reached the conclusion that the Zulu is unquestionably a true negro, though now and then, as in other negro tribes, showing a trace of Semetic (Arab) type due probably to old admixtures.

The two main objects of the visit to South Africa were the investigation of the spot of the important find of the Rhodesian skull, and of the recent discovery of the skull of a fossil anthropoid ape at Taungs, which had been reported as being possibly a direct link in the line of man's ascent. The Rhodesian skull, found in 1921 at Broken hill, shows a man so primitive in many of its features that nothing like it has been seen before. Doctor Hrdlicka was able to clear up some of the moot points in connection with this important find, and he collected for study bones of animals from the cave which gave the Rhodesian skull, as well as two additional mineralized bones belonging to two individuals, all of which were deposited with the earlier relics in the British museum.

Land Rich in Material.

The fossil skull of an anthropoid ape, found in Taungs in 1924, belongs, according to Doctor Hrdlicka, to a species of anthropoid ape of about the size of a chimpanzee and evidently related to this form, though there are certain differences, especially in the brain. These differences suggested that this ape may possibly have been somewhat superior to the chimpanzee and nearer to the human. But it is not necessarily a form that stood in the direct line of the human phylum.

FARM VALUES DECREASE 25 PER CENT IN FIVE YEARS

Shrinkage From $66,316,002,602 to $49,546,523,759 Reported After Agricultural Census.

Washington.—A shrinkage in the value of American farms and farm buildings from $66,316,002,602 in 1920 to $49,546,523,759 in 1925 was estimated in the Department of Commerce in a preliminary report on the latest agricultural census. The decrease amounts to a little more than 25 per cent.

Farm acreage in the same period declined from 955,883,715 to 924,889,380 acres, and the department's division of land economics calculated the decline in the average acre value of land and buildings at 22 per cent, and for land alone at 28 per cent. The value of farm buildings, it explained increased 6 per cent.

The 1925 figures, compared with those for 1910, indicated an increase of 35 per cent in the average farm value, but considering the drop in the purchasing power of the dollar during that interval, the economists concluded there was actually a net decline of 10 to 12 per cent during that period.

The decline during the last five years was not general, the department's experts found, the shrinkage in values having been greatest in the range country, the wheat and corn belts, and the eastern cotton states, while a slight increase was recorded in New England and the Middle Atlantic states. In the Mountain states, the decline amounted to 41 per cent, in Iowa 34 per cent, and in Georgia 40 per cent. The increase in New England was 6 per cent and in the Middle Atlantic states 1 per cent. Pacific coast values remained constant.

Collapse of the war land boom, with a fall of corn and hog prices, accounted largely for the decline in Iowa, the experts reported, while the decrease in Georgia was due chiefly to the boll-weevil and the exodus of negro workers. In the range country and mountain states, they said, drought and the collapse of wheat prices were the leading causes.

The increase in farm values in the Northwestern states was attributed to a great extent to the development of the dairy industry, the favorable position respecting markets, and an increased demand for farm land for recreational purposes.

Official Greeter

East Orange, N. J.—Miss Mildred Huntoon, twenty-four and a college graduate, is the city's official greeter. The chamber of commerce has made her municipal hostess.

Bar Collectors

Macy, Neb.—Bill collectors are not permitted on the grounds of the agency here when the government is paying the Omaha Indians.

BRITAIN IN GRIP OF GREAT COAL STRIKE

Walkout of Million Miners May Paralyze Industry of Every Kind.

London.—One million British coal miners have carried out their threat of a strike, and as a result the entire industry is paralyzed. The cessation of coal mining activity constitutes the greatest labor upheaval and precipitates the greatest labor crisis since the chaotic days of readjustment immediately succeeding the World war. It means that one-fifth of Britain's union workers are idle, with the remaining 4,000,000 subject to orders for a general strike in sympathy with the miners' action.

Recognized as a national catastrophe, a calamity as great as another international conflict, the strike comes as a sequel to weeks of futile negotiations between the mine owners and workers. In these parleys the government latterly took an important part and Premier Stanley Baldwin recently stated that there was hope of an agreement being reached.

The premier, in making the announcement that the strike was on, declared that the government stood ready to act under the emergency powers law. In effect this makes the premier a dictator and enables him to call upon the army, navy and air forces to operate industrial plants or to protect them against the strikers.

Police and municipal authorities in all parts of England received instructions from the government to hold themselves in readiness for service. Censorship of the mails, of telephone and telegraphic communications and even of radio are measures being used in preventing disorders from radical elements concerned in the disturbances.

To England, a compact and essentially industrial country, coal is the very breath and blood of industry. Manufacturers of all classes of goods are solely dependent upon coal for motive power because oil and electricity are facilities existing only in limited degree and in scattered districts. Cessation of coal production carries one certainty, the ultimate stagnation of industry of every kind. The revival of activity in the steel and iron foundries of the nation of recent months makes the situation still more gloomy.

As to the possibility of operating the mines with nonunion labor, there is no such element save the unskilled kind. Though soldiers and sailors have been put to operating the mines and the railroads in times of previous strikes, production has always been limited and unsatisfactory.

One of the most menacing aspects of the strike is the possibility that the transport workers too will be called out. This would occur if the railways were called upon to haul coal mined by the men the government might place in the mines. This, it is admitted by Premier Baldwin and his associates, will be one of the immediate and most pressing issues which the government will be called upon to combat.

The collapse of the negotiations was due to the fact that the miners finally and absolutely refused to accept the owners' revised offer of a reduced wage on the basis of a settlement made in 1921, namely, a 20 per cent increase over the standard of wages which prevailed in 1914.

This was conditional on the adoption of an eight-hour day instead of the present seven-hour day. The miners' attitude was that they would not accept such reduction before reorganization of the industry on the lines of the royal commission's recommendations.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

The national crime commission, after investigation covering a period of nine months, has concluded there is no panacea for crime, but that application of remedies rests with individual states and individual citizens.

Dismissal of two complaints charging the Holly Sugar corporation of Denver, Colo., and others, with violation of the Clayton act in the arrangement of their directorates, has been announced by the Federal Trade commission.

As a result of studies just concluded by the army general staff, the War department believes that advanced air bases on the outlying islands of the Hawaiian group are essential to an adequate defense of Hawaii and particularly to the Pacific key fortifications at Oahu.

Four huge shipbuilding concerns have entered bids for construction of one of the two cruisers to be added to the United States navy. All of the bids were around $11,000,000, it was stated.

Gets Diphtheria From Hen

Providence, R. I.—A three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vaney of Cole station, who died of black diphtheria, contracted the disease from a hen more than a month ago.

Woman to Run for Senate

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Mrs. Lamar Looney, state senator from Hollis, has filed her candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States senator.

TO SELL C. M. & ST. P.

Herbert A. Lundahl, attorney, of Chicago, who was appointed by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson as special master in chancery in charge of the sale of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad as ordered by the court. Judge Wilkerson signed a foreclosure order after hearing creditors' claims against the road.

CHICAGO IS ALARMED OVER LAWLESSNESS

Justice Body Is Formed to Investigate All Crime.

Chicago.—A decision to organize immediately "the Chicago Association for Criminal Justice" was reached at a meeting of representatives of 24 civic, educational and business groups as a result of the lawless situation prevailing in Chicago and Cook county.

The decision came at a conference held under the auspices of the president's council of the Association of Commerce, at which representatives of the following organizations were present:

Chicago Board of Trade, Commercial club, Chicago Athletic club, Chicago Association of Credit Men, Employers' association, Hamilton club, Illinois Athletic club, Chicago Bar association, Illinois Manufacturers' association, Chicago Church federation, Chicago Clearing House association, Kiwanis club, Chicago Real Estate board, Northwestern university, University of Chicago, Citizens' association, Rotary club, Civic federation, City club, Traffic club, Union League club, Cook County Real Estate board and the Chicago Association of Commerce.

The action followed the appointment a few months ago of a committee to conduct an inquiry into city and county crime conditions. At that time the committee advocated the appointment of a permanent body to investigate crime and it was decided to carry through the plan.

State's Attorney Crowe also prevailed upon Judge William V. Brothers, acting chief justice of the Criminal court, to summon a special grand jury to investigate crime conditions in Cook county. The jury is now in session. Mr. Crowe appealed to Attorney General Carlstrom to co-operate in the inquiry.

The recent murder of one of the principal assistants to the state's attorney, in addition to almost nightly murders, countless holdups and other kinds of crime, has aroused the city to extreme measures.

In calling for a special grand jury State's Attorney Crowe advised that he had received a warning that his home would be bombed and that his children would be kidnaped.

Iowa Women Will Seek Office; May Change Law

Des Moines, Iowa.—Undaunted by the fact that the Iowa state constitution must first be modified before they can hold office as state representative, two Iowa women have ventured into the primary election campaign. They have confidence that the voters will approve of a change in the constitution in the November election, which will make possible the seating of other woman candidates who may be elected on the same date.

Two Iowa legislatures have adopted a resolution striking out the word "male" in the constitutional provision in regard to qualification of persons for legislative positions. This paved the way for approval by vote.

Women are not barred from any other state office, although candidates have filed only for secretary of state and state superintendent of public instruction—the latter now held by a woman.

$10,600,000 to Tobacco Men

Lexington, Ky.—Checks, totaling more than $10,600,000, has been mailed from headquarters of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative association to 108,000 members who delievered the 1024 crop to the association.

Clemenceau Humiliated

Paris.—Sheriff's seizure of furniture of Georges Clemenceau for failure to pay a tax penalty has aroused the public indignation of Paris.

FRANCE IS TO PAY U. S. $6,847,674,10

Agreement Provides for L of Major World War Debt to America.

Paris.—The French cabinet has proved the terms of the agreement refunding the debt to the United States. The government has nothing before it but preparation for the for ratification, beginning when parliament reconvenes late in May.

Washington.—Funding of French debt to the United States, terms satisfactory to the French government, the American debt commission, and to President Coolidge has been announced.

The agreement provides for a payment over 62 years of a grand total of $6,847,674,104, beginning with annual payments of $30,000,000 during each of the first two years and running up to a maximum beginning with the seventeenth year of $125,000,000. This is an increase of $62,000,000 over the total payments offered in the Caillaux negotiations in September.

Settlements have now been reached on all the large debts to the United States resulting from the World war, only those with Greece and Yugoslavia remaining to be funded.

The total amount of principal to be paid by France was figured as in previous debt agreements, with interest at the rate of 4¼ per cent to December 15, 1922, and at 3 per cent from that date to June 15, 1925. This made the total amount to be funded $4,025,000,000, of which $695,000,000 represents accrued interest to the date of the agreement.

The interest over the 62-year period over which the payments will run amounts to an average of slightly more than 1⅝ per cent, bringing the grand total which France will pay to slightly more than $6,847,000,000.

The present value of these payments on a 4¼ per cent basis was figured by treasury experts to be $3,008,122,624. This, it was stated, is practically 50 per cent of the principal of the debt, as compared with the Italian settlement of 26 per cent.

The French payments start at $30,000,000 during the first two years, then $32,500,000 for each of the next two years; $35,000,000 for the fifth year; $40,000,000 for the sixth; $50,000,000 in the seventh, and increasing by jumps of from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000 in succeeding years until the seventeenth year, when it reaches the maximum of $125,000,000 annually which it maintains through the sixty-first year, with a slight reduction to $117,674,104 in the last year.

A statement issued by the debt funding commission after the agreement was reached asserted that, "In view of the enormous burden of the domestic debt of France, the difficulty of raising by taxation a sufficient revenue to meet the charges of this debt, to carry on the ordinary government operations, and to find the exchange necessary to pay her foreign debt to the United States and to England, the commission believes that this settlement represents substantially France's capacity to pay."

President Coolidge has signed the Italian debt funding bill passed a few days ago by the senate. Bills relating to Belgium, Latvia, Esthonia, Rumania and Czechoslovakia are now awaiting his approval.

Mine Seizure Bill Is O. K.'d by Committee

Washington.—Seizure and operation of the coal mines by the government in national emergencies has been recommended by the senate education and labor committee.

The bill approved was introduced by Senator Copeland of New York. It would apply to both bituminous and anthracite mines.

A constant check on the coal industry would be kept by a bureau of coal industry under the bill. The President would be authorized to appoint an emergency coal commission in the event of strikes.

Should the strike assume the proportions of a national emergency, the government is given the power to take over and operate "any or all coal properties" necessary to maintain production and distribution at "reasonable prices."

Distribution would be supervised by a federal fuel distributor.

There is little likelihood of the bill getting through at this session.

$20,000,000 Theater Plan

Los Angeles, Cal.—A $20,000,000 organization, which will operate theaters in 22 principal cities, is announced by Sid Grauman, Hollywood theater owner.

Noted Writer Dead

Stockholm, Sweden.—Ellen Key, who has had a powerful influence on Swedish literature, is dead here, at the age of seventy-six years.

Back to War-Time Bread

Paris.—France is reverting to war-time measures. It has been decreed that bread flour hereafter must contain 8 per cent rye. The object of the decree is to try and steady the constantly mounting price of bread and to tide over the period until the next harvest.

Woman to Die on Guillotine

Nimes, France.—Antoinette Sierri, who poisoned a dozen persons, was sentenced to die on the guillotine.

New health in Tanlac

"When I worked, the pain in my back was a forture. My energy was low, sleep was broken and I could not eat. Since taking Tanlac my troubles are over. I get a thrill from good health Tanlac gave me." E. E. Torrey, 282 Bryant St., Dubuque, Iowa.

This statement merely backs up what over one hundred thousand grateful users have said about Tanlac. Our files are packed with such testimony.

If your system is run down, if you can't seem to eat or sleep, have lost weight or suffer from trying pain, why not let Tanlac start you back to vigorous strength and health.

No long, wretched wait to get results! Tanlac starts right in to build you up. It cleans the blood, revitalizes digestive organs, fixes up the liver and makes you feel like a new person. For constipation take Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

BLACKHEADS cannot be hidden. Get rid of them now by regular treatments with

Resinol

Initial Error

"How did it happen you never succeeded in business? You had a pretty fair start." "Yes," replied the failure. "I guess that was the trouble. You see, I should have started on a shoestring."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Your shoes feel easy if you use ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE

Stops the pain of Corns and Bunions and you can walk all day in ease and comfort. Nothing gives such relief to hot, tired, aching, inflamed or swollen feet, blisters or calluses. A little ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE sprinkled in each shoe in the morning will make you forget about tight shoes. It takes the friction from the shoe. Always use it for Dancing and to Break in New Shoes. For Free sample and a Foot-Ease Walking Doll, address ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, Le Roy, N. Y.

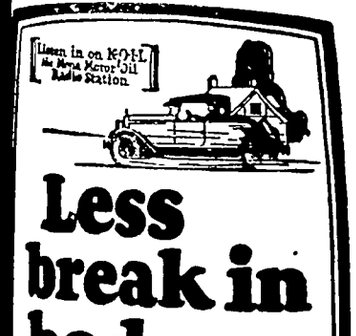
Proves Mother Is Your Closest Friend

Jersey City Mr. J. Pauli writes:—"I awakened each morning with an unpleasant taste and was often reminded by my Mother that my breath was disagreeable. I tried perfumed tablets, mouth washes and other camouflages which gave temporary relief. After consulting my dentist and finding my teeth in good condition, a friend suggested my trouble was constipation. After taking a few doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills my stomach and bowels were relieved, foul and impure gases eliminated."
Druggists, 25 & 75c red packages.



Less break in body as temperatures go up

YOUR MOTOR NEEDS Mona Motor Oil

25c L-V DUST CLOTH

made of especially woven fabric "Crepette" for only 10 cents and two weeks' dusting supply of Liquid Veneer. Nothing like it for dusting. A few drops on your cloth removes ALL dust, dirt and blemishes INSTANTLY, and leaves your piano, furniture, woodwork spotlessly clean and beautifully polished. Moreover it preserves the finish indefinitely. Piano people use it to improve their brand new instruments. Send for your FREE bottle today. You'll be delighted. Remember, we include a big 25c L-V Dust Cloth if you send 10 cts. Don't miss this opportunity.

FREE

Buffalo Specialty Company, 2 Liquid Veneer Bldg., Buffalo, N. Y.

LIQUID VENEER

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

WEST VIRGINIA IS WINNER OF TROPHY

West Virginia department of the American Legion was recently declared the winner of the 1926 Henry D. Lindsley national membership contest after the most dramatic and closely contested finish in the history of the Lindsley race. With a percentage of 124.98 West Virginia nosed out Idaho, second with 110.63 per cent, and Florida, third with 100.98 per cent.

The Lindsley trophy is awarded annually to the department attaining the highest percentage of its preceding year's membership by March 1.

Never in the history of the Lindsley cup competition has the race finished under such dramatic circumstances. During the 48 hours preceding the close of the contest the membership cards of the departments of West Virginia and Idaho were being sped toward national headquarters at Indianapolis by rail and air.

West Virginia's commander, Arthur G. Yates, and adjutant, Roderick G. Merrick, taking no chances of getting their cards in late, personally conveyed 3,000 of them to national headquarters to place them under the wire on February 28. Their action won for West Virginia the Lindsley contest, for other departments, depending on the air-mail and regular mail service, got their cards in too late to beat the mountaineers.

The first ten departments to finish in the Lindsley race were: West Virginia, 124.98; Idaho, 110.63; Florida, 100.98; Oklahoma, 88.55; Wyoming, 85.70; Montana, 80.55; Indiana, 80.39; Arizona, 79.84; North Dakota, 77.07; Kansas, 74.91.

Unprecedented pre-March membership activity has been the experience of the Legion this year throughout the nation and has resulted in many membership records being set up.

Three departments, Idaho, West Virginia and Florida, had surpassed their 1925 membership figure before March 1, 1926. Three departments "over the top" before March 1 is an unprecedented record in the Legion. Idaho led the nation by going over on February 24. Florida and West Virginia went over neck and neck on February 28.

Florida established perhaps the most remarkable membership record by not only going over the top of last year's total, but by exceeding its 1926 quota, considerably higher than the 1025 figure, on March 11. With a quota of 9,089, Florida on that date turned cards in at national headquarters showing a paid-up membership of 10,075.

Appreciation, Thanks, by Certified Check

"Appreciation and thanks by words are received quite often in this office, but thanks by certified check not so often."

Thus did Watson B. Miller, chairman of the American Legion rehabilitation committee at Washington, D. C., express himself recently when he received a check from a disabled veteran who had benefited to the amount of $2,111 through the agency of the Legion rehabilitation service.

"I shall always remember the American Legion and the men who secured my just dues," said Garland F. Carter of Memphis, Mo., the veteran whom the Legion aided.

"As you know," wrote Mr. Miller, "the Legion does not accept pay for service to disabled men. I shall forward the $25 to the Legion's endowment fund that it may be utilized in helping other disabled veterans, their dependents and orphans."

Legion Auxiliary Has First All-Indian Unit

The first all-Indian unit of the American Legion Auxiliary was chartered recently at Bullhead, S. D. The unit, the Auxiliary of Barney Brought post of the Legion, is known as West Wind unit.

The application was signed by 15 Indian women. All of the signers of the application are married to members of Barney Brought post. The acting president of the unit is Mrs. Julia Bullhead. Other charter members are Mrs. Susan Iron Shield, Mrs. Harriet Yellow Earring, Mrs. Lucy Bear Ribs, Mrs. Julia Sees the Bear, Mrs. Julia Brave Crow, Mrs. Joe Iron Thunder, Mrs. Jesse Shoe String, Mrs. Mary Leaf, Mrs. Elizabeth Leaf, Mrs. Lillie Goodeagle, Mrs. Willis Mountain, Mrs. Straight Pine, Mrs. Mary Bald Head and Mrs. Clara One Feather.

Tact Before Truth

"I suppose you want a suitable inscription on the stone?" inquired a tombstone worker of the bereaved husband.

"Hum, n-n-no," was the reply. "Just something conventional."—The American Legion Weekly.

Not the First, Either

"Do you mean to tell me an athlete could ruin himself like that by falling over a little stair?"

"I didn't say he fell over a little stair. I said he fell over a baby stare."—The American Legion Weekly.

DIVERSITY IN HAT STYLES; SPRING FROCKS FOR TOTS

AFTER thinking it over, it appears that many fair heads have decided to dress up a bit this summer, and that their hats must fall in line with the trend of styles in other clothes. To keep in line, hats are less simple than they were, more diverse in styles and more decidedly feminine—otherwise they would not harmonize with the greater elaboration and diversity, that is the keynote of dress and other styles. In fact, heads have been much neglected—the same simple and almost meaningless shapes covered all of them, old and young, sophisticated and simple, imposing and otherwise—and now the absurdity of it has dawned upon us and the reaction is on.

Latest Hat Styles.

Here is a group of pretty street hats that are traveling in the right direction. There are many others in different shapes, with square, high crowns and wider brims, all revealing greater dignity and finer art in millinery modes. These are simple hats that have made a good beginning toward modes that are far more flattering than those that have gone before for several years.

Two important new-style points distinguish the hat at the upper left of the group, the high crown with creases in it and the management of the trimming which includes a sash and ends of wide soft ribbon and a rose. A tailored hat at the right is very simply trimmed by a ribbon collar and a wide bow. It has a bandeau below the upward curving brim. Below it a similar shape in another braid has a wide folded collar of velvet ribbon, graceful loops across the back and a very handsome jeweled ornament at the front. The last and prettiest of this little collection boasts the fashionable creased crown, a becoming, drooping brim, a collar and generous bow of velvet ribbon and a cluster of small blossoms massed across the back. Even to read of this new millinery fills one with enthusiasm and to see it is to rejoice at the return of beauty in headwear.

Wherewithal shall little Miss Two-to-Six be clothed, now that spring brings her the open door to everywhere and the great world on the outside of home waits her with endless allure? Her playtime clothes, and those for little brother, need not give us much concern—the shops are full of them. They must be strong, simple, easy to put on and take off, easy to wash and iron and color-fast. If of a prettiness that will help to develop clothes consciousness in diminutive ladies, before they know it—so much the better.

The old, reliable and familiar fabrics, ginghams, coarse linens, cotton broadcloths and other sturdy cotton weaves are used for both little girls' and little boys' clothes. Styles are not greatly varied—most frocks are one-piece affairs with matching bloomers, whether for play or not. But, by means of variety in patterned fabrics, by combinations of plain and figured fabrics, the management of decorative touches and methods of fastening there is endless variation of the simple styles. Shallow yokes and hems of plain material on printed materials make smart utility dresses. Tucks, shirrings or plaitings, provide for required fullness and very simple embroidery or fancy stitching are the means of introducing amusing finishing touches—as little animals, birds and quaint flowers, that children love.

When the story is of party frocks or other dress-up clothes, it introduces finer and lighter fabrics along with more elaboration in making, more hand sewing and the addition of little furbelows in ribbons, tiny silk posies and narrow laces. Crepe de chine, dotted swiss, fine dimity or voile, georgette crepe and taffeta silk are all approved mediums for little ladies' important dresses and poplin is often chosen for the diminutive boy. The styles are about the same as in utility clothes and garments may be either long or short sleeved, but are brief as to skirt length.

Dressed for the Party.

For little tots the circular cape, with scarf collar, and arm slashes, is an adorable miniature of grown-up styles, entirely practical for the smallest of promenaders. It is made of various woolen cloths—twill, broadcloth, basket weaves or flannel among them.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Away with clocks and sundials!
Time and I
Have made a compact—this to be my boon—
To hear the evening thrush, and know the hour,
Yet feel it noon.
—Jean Dwight Franklin.

GREENS ARE GOOD EATING

The best of spring tonics are found in Mother Nature's own garden in the form of greens which are often weeds, but are much more wholesome than any tonic taken from a bottle.

This craving for green foods is gratified by serving the crisp, raw leaves, which are rich in iron, sulphur, lime and phosphorus, and at the same time because of their fibrous mixture afford a most effectual internal cleanser. If eaten with the snappy French dressing, this, too is a stimulant, exciting the digestive organs, particularly the pancreas. The oil is a lubricant, so, with the acid and greens, it is easy to see how necessary green food is in the diet.

When planting a garden the weeding out for thinning should always be planned as a salad. Such small plants as turnips, cabbage, onions, beets, when very young, are delicious served raw, or later cooked in the form of cooked greens.

Wild mustard, sorrel, dock, cress and milkweed shoots are uncultivated greens which are rich in vitamines. The young shoots of milkweed when cooked taste much like asparagus.

Dandelion Hot Slaw.—Take about three quarts of carefully picked and washed dandelion leaves. Fry out diced bacon in a hot skillet, then lay in the well-drained leaves, cover and simmer until the leaves are well wilted. Mix salt, pepper, a tablespoonful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of cream, adding enough vinegar to add zest to the dressing, add two beaten eggs and stir until well blended—not directly over the heat; pour over the greens and serve hot.

Blanched dandelion leaves found under boards or in sheltered spots are delicious cut up and served with shredded green onion and a French dressing.

Black walnuts, a half cupful coarsely chopped, sprinkled over a custard pie makes a most delicious, rich pie, if one likes the black walnut flavor.

Baked Eggs With Cheese.—Break four eggs into a buttered baking dish and cook in a hot oven until they begin to turn white around the edges. Cover the eggs with a white sauce, and over this a cupful of cheese and over the cheese a cupful of buttered crumbs. Bake until the crumbs are brown.

Sweets From Honey.

Those who "keep a bee" these days will find it most profitable. There are so many delicious dishes which may be prepared from honey. For the children there is no sweet more wholesome. A hive of bees in every back yard will furnish honey for a year. They tell us that the average hive yields 60 pounds of honey.

Honey Candy.—To one quart of strained honey take six tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and boil until it hardens in water. Flavor with a teaspoonful each of almond and lemon extract, add one-half teaspoonful of soda and pour into buttered pans to cool. Mark off into squares before it gets too hard.

Honey Fruit Cake.—Warm one-half cupful of brown sugar and one cupful of honey until it hardens in cold water. Remove from the heat, add one-half teaspoonful of soda, and all the puffed rice, wheat or popcorn that can be stirred into it.

Honey Blanc Mange.—Moisten six tablespoonfuls of cornstarch with one-fourth of a cupful of milk, add two cupfuls of boiling milk, and cook eight minutes; then add a pinch of salt and one cupful of honey. Mold in cups and serve with honey and cream, adding sprinkled nuts over each mold if desired.

Cauliflower Soup.—With a cupful or less or more of cooked cauliflower, a most tasty creamed soup may be prepared. Put the vegetable through a sieve and add to hot milk, season well and bind with two tablespoonfuls of butter and one of flour cooked well in the soup.

Asparagus Rabbit.—Cook diced asparagus until tender. Cover buttered toast with the cooked sliced asparagus, sprinkled with grated cheese, salt, cayenne and a little worcestershire sauce. Place in a hot oven or under the gas flame for a few minutes to melt the cheese. Serve at once with a poached egg in the center if desired.

Lemons will keep for several weeks if put into a dish of fresh water and the water is changed occasionally, washing the lemons.

Honey mixed with orange or any fruit juice with a bit of lemon juice makes a good dressing for a fruit cocktail.

Honey in place of sugar for doughnuts adds to their flavor and they do not dry so rapidly as those made of sugar.

Nellie Maxwell

Lame, Tired, Achy?

Are you tired, lame, achy—worried with backache? Do you suffer sharp pains, headaches, dizziness and disturbing bladder irregularities? Perhaps your kidneys need attention. When the kidneys fail to properly filter the blood, body impurities accumulate and cause poisoning of the whole system. Such a condition may lead to serious sickness. Don't neglect it! If you suspect your kidneys, why not give Doan's Pills a trial? Doan's have been used successfully over thirty-five years—are recommended the world over. Ask your neighbor!

An Iowa Case

Arsh Thomas, carpenter, 926 Harrison St., Davenport, Iowa, says "Hard work told on my kidneys. My back was lame and when I got down I could hardly straighten because of the sharp pains in my back. I also had severe headaches most of the time. After using four boxes of Doan's Pills, the backache left and my kidneys were regulated."

DOAN'S PILLS 60c.
STIMULANT DIURETIC TO THE KIDNEYS
Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

Artificial Fogs

Artificial fogs, developed for military purposes by a Scandinavian scientist, are being put to peace-time use in Norway to protect crops from frost. The vapor forms a blanket over trees, vines and other growths, thus preventing freezing.

Sure Relief

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION
25¢ and 75¢ Pkg's. Sold Everywhere

A Frequent Caller

"It's stilly to say opportunity knocks only once."

"Why?"

"No less than eight men have been here today trying to let me in on the opportunity of a lifetime."—Detroit Free Press.

CORNS

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

"A God-sent Blessing"

is what one mother writes of Mrs. Winslow's Syrup. Thousands of other mothers have found this safe, pleasant, effective remedy a boon when baby's little stomach is upset. For constipation, flatulency, colic and diarrhoea, there is nothing like

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

The Infants' and Children's Regulator

It is especially good at teething time. Complete formula on every label. Guaranteed free from narcotics, opiates, alcohol and all harmful ingredients.

At all Druggists

Write for free booklet of letters from grateful mothers.

ANGLO-AMERICAN DRUG CO.
215-217 Fulton St. New York

STOP THAT COUGH

with Boschee's Syrup—the old reliable family remedy that has been in use for 60 years. Loosens and brings up the phlegm and eases the dryness and irritation. At all druggists. 30c and 90c. If you cannot get it, write to G. G. GREEN, INC., Woodbury, N. J.

Cuticura Soap Is Pure and Sweet Ideal for Children

Sample Soap, Ointment, Talcum free. Address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. M, Malden, Mass.

Perfield Summer Music. Pedagogy, Sight Singing, Musicianship. Teachers Wld. Effa Ellis Perfield, 121 Madison Ave., N. Y. City.

HOW ENDLESS CHAIN SELLING PLANS ARE USED TO ROB SAVERS

W. R. Morehouse Continues His Exposures of Modern "Gold Brick" Schemes—American Bankers Association Official Tells How Life-Time Savings Are Wiped Out.

By W. R. MOREHOUSE,
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

ARTICLE NO. II

I FIRMLY believe that promoters and high-pressure salesmen are becoming more and more crafty. Shrewder ways are being resorted to in order to trap the novice investor. It is deplorable that the investor does not profit by experience and is victimized a second time in his endeavor to recover that which he has already lost. It is the old, old story of trying to recover, but in the attempt losing. This very hour thousands of hard-earned dollars have slipped from the grasp of the calloused hands that earned them into the clutches of unscrupulous skin-game artists. Tomorrow the scenes of today will be re-enacted with a new and larger list of victims. A month from today depositors will still be pouring an ever increasing volume of their savings into the hopper of unwise investments. A year from today the same tragedy will be re-enacted unless our savings bankers come to the rescue and help to stop this nefarious business of defrauding and swindling our savers of the fruits of their labors.

W. R. Morehouse

Here is a typical case. A group of men undertook to promote a vending or self-serving machine. Their plan called for the sale of $37,000,000 worth of leases in the United States. Similar projects previously started throughout the United States had failed. As a matter of fact, the average daily sale of one of these self-service machines was only $3.10, which in itself made it impossible for a machine to produce sufficient revenue to make it profitable. Servicing the machines was another obstacle which had not been successfully overcome. In three months the promoters were successful in selling over $2,500,000 worth of rights to use these machines.

$40,000 in Savings Lost by One Man

I know of one man who withdrew $40,000 from a savings bank and invested it in this promotion. He told me it represented the accumulations of a lifetime. "And now I have lost it all," he said in a trembling voice. "I haven't a cent left and I am past sixty years of age—too old to work!" he added.

Of the more than $2,500,000 invested by savers, over $1,000,000 was taken by these wiley promoters as commission. Think of making a commission of over $1,000,000 on $2,500,000 of sales in about three months' time! Think of what this more than $1,000,000 of commission represents,—think of the struggles and the sacrifices of the men and women who saved it! With some it was saved penny by penny over a period of years. Think of the sorrow it caused,—the heartaches, the misery and the disappointment which followed in the wake of the collapse of this promotion. Think of the old man who lost $40,000—all he had been able to save during his lifetime. Think of the widow's mite, for she lost it also. All that is left today of the original investment is less than 10 cents on every dollar.

Here is an endless chain scheme which relieved working girls of a portion of their savings. The loss ran into many thousands of dollars. The scheme is to sell silk hose to girls by getting them to act as selling agents. A hosiery company rents offices in the shopping district. Soon an attractive offer is made through the local newspapers by cleverly worded advertisements in which it would appear that any young lady can secure five pairs of hose worth $2 a pair for only $1. In other words, $10 worth of silk stockings for only $1! Without stopping to analyze the proposition or to consider how impossible it is for any concern to stay in business and sell $10 worth of silk hose for $1, thousands of young women instantly fall for the scheme.

How Endless Chain Catches Victims

Here is how it catches its victims. Each victim pays $4 and receives three one dollar coupons which she must sell to her friends, and the friends must come in and pay down $4 each, get three coupons each which they must sell to three friends and then these friends must perpetuate the scheme by selling coupons to their friends and so on indefinitely.

Here is where the promoters make a clean-up. One of the conditions which must be met before the young woman who purchased the first coupons receives her $10 worth of hose for $1 is that all three to whom she sold her three coupons must come in, pay down $4 each for three more coupons and then go out and sell them. Before the three have done this, one or perhaps all three get "cold feet" on the proposition and, rather than go out and "soak" three of their friends $1 each, they simply give up the job and charge their loss to experience. But in doing so they also block the girl who purchased the first coupons from completing her contract, and of course she, too, loses the money she invested in the scheme.

At a glance the loss appears to be small, but the truth is the scheme is capable of such great expansion that it soon takes in hundreds and thousands of victims. This is but one of many endless chain schemes in use today in the United States.

(Article III will deal with land swindles and loan shark plans for robbing people of their savings.)

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON SAVING TO INVEST

"You have talked so much about saving, Aunt Emmy," said Hilda to Aunt Emmy, "that I wonder if you will be kind enough to help Jack and me work out a way to save regularly. We do so want to get ahead. As Jack is getting a little more money this year, we plan to save that and keep right on living on what we got last year. Of course, it is hard to do without a lot of things we might have, but then Jack and I both feel that we don't want to be worried about money. If we have a little reserve fund, we can be prepared for emergencies."

"Bless my heart!" exclaimed Aunt Emmy. "It surely does sound good to hear such sensible talk from a youngster these days! I'll tell you what I think is a good plan for you to follow,—open a savings account with a bank that has a thrift department and every week put away a stated sum in your savings account. You will receive interest on this money, you know. Of course you receive only a moderate rate of interest on your savings, so it is a good idea to make a definite investment plan and invest your savings in sound securities that will yield a higher rate of interest.

"Accumulate your money, small sums at a time, in your thrift or savings account. Determine what sum you will use for your initial investment, say, $100 or $500. Save until you have twice that amount. If you decide to begin your investment on $100 save $200, then take $100 and buy a baby bond, or buy a large bond on the installment plan and apply the $100 on the first payment, if you are sure you can save regularly enough to meet the other payments."

"Why not use the $200 and then begin all over again, Aunty?" queried Hilda.

"Because you ought to have some money on hand. You don't want to wipe out your whole savings, even for the best sort of investment."

"But how can we know what to invest in?" asked Hilda.

"Your bank will help you in that, my dear. Bankers are always glad to advise their customers concerning sound investments."—Anne B. Aymes.

A GOOD TIP

Now is the time to buy purebred livestock. A considerable volume of purebred stock originally intended for breeding purposes has been going to the block because prices for purebreds in many instances have declined practically to the level of those paid for slaughter animals. There is need for purebred livestock on farms and it does not seem right to slaughter animals that could be used to improve the quality of farm herds and flocks.

An exceptionally high producing cow is worth many times the price of a slaughter animal. Not only does such an individual produce more actual milk and butterfat, but the superior production characteristics of such individuals may be passed on through several succeeding generations.

The fact should not be overlooked that purebred livestock is a real necessity. Without such stock, milk and butterfat records and weights of fleeces will decline and uniformity of type and quality will be sacrificed. No improvement can be made without them. Now is the time to sell scrub stock and buy purebreds while the prices are low.—Banker-Farmer

TIMELY GARDEN TIPS
— A Weekly Feature —

College Has 184 Iris Varieties

Iowa State College has more varieties of iris in the college flower plot than can be found in any other place in Iowa. There are now 184 different kinds in the iris bed of all sizes and many colors.

They are starting to bloom now and the bed will be a riot of color by Veishea time, May 13, 14 and 15. The Horticultural department is anxious to have Iowa folk drive to Ames during college Veishea exposition and look over the iris plot with the rest of the exhibits.

Many of the most valuable varieties in existence are a part of the college plot. The Ballerine and Leverrier, French stock, and Lieut. A. Williamson and Princess Beatrice, are among the collection.

Of the 184 kinds of iris in the plot, one variety, autumn queen, is a "sport" so to speak for it blooms in the fall instead of in the spring as do the other varieties. Autumn Queen is the fruit of the efforts of Jacob Sass of Omaha, Nebr. It is a purple flower, in full bloom in September.

Iris and peonies are two of the most hardy perennials in existence, flowers which thrive well under Iowa conditions with ordinary care.—E. C. Volz, Iowa State College.

Suggests Planting Okra, Martyni

Two garden plants rarely seen in Iowa gardens are Okra and martynia. Both produce pods which are harvested in the immature stage for food. These crops should be planted immediately and given the same treatment that sweet corn requires.

The okra seed pod picked while green makes very good stews and soups, especially when mixed with some other vegetable. Okra and tomatoes make a wonderful soup in the opinion of some folks.

The martynia pod, which somewhat resembles the pod of milkweed is not used for soup but is pickled similar to cucumbers for winter use. It is a welcome addition to the pickle line for there are few vegetables which make good pickles.

Both these plants are extremely insect and disease free and can be grown easily in the ordinary garden. —Ora Smith, Iowa State College.

Time To Set Out Celery Plants

The celery which has been nursed in hotbeds up to this time is now ready to be transplanted in the garden. In transferring the plants take care to water them well before removing from the hotbed. These suggestions are offered by Iowa State College specialists.

The celery should be planted in rows about two feet apart and four inches apart in rows. Some gardeners set the plants in a little ditch to facilitate the job of covering them in the fall to bleach the stalks out. Each heavy rain usually covers the celery, however, long before it should be, and as a result the plants have to be uncovered after the hard showers.

The best practice to follow is to place the plants in individual holes dug with the hand or a stick. The celery can be covered with boards or the like in the fall and the bleaching process will progress equally well.

Start Sweet Potatoes in Hotbed

To the Iowa folk who like to grow something a little out of the ordinary for the family larder, trying a few sweet potatoes in the garden might prove worth while. Plenty of sweet potatoes will be available for the table later in the season if but a half peck of them are planted in a "spent" hotbed immediately.

A "spent" hotbed is one that has nursed a bedful of plants already this spring; the heat from the manure being almost spent. Choose small potatoes for planting. They can be placed as close as convenient in the hotbed, just so they do not touch each other

The seed should be covered with two inches of dirt well watered and the sash replaced over the bed. In four or five weeks the slips will be ready to set out.—Ora Smith, Iowa State College.

Get Warm Weather Crops Planted

Now is the time to think about the warm season crops, according to vegetable crop specialists at Iowa State College. Sweet corn, string beans, cucumbers and muskmellons should be planted right away so that the plants will be well under way before the hot dry months of summer. Seeding a few days earlier in the spring may mean lots of ripe muskmellons in the fall instead of a plot of immature frost nipped fruit.

Golden bantam is probably the best sweet corn variety for Iowa and giant stringless and bountiful are perhaps the outstanding varieties of string beans.

Farm folk won't go wrong in planting Davis, perfect cucumbers. For a small, nice tasting muskmellon the eden gem is hard to beat; pololck 10-25 is also good.

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Recorder, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—Clarissa Peterson Abel tc

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recordor subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Fern Peck Katter, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination to the office of Representative from Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Marion A. Fell, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Representative in the state legislature, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary election in June, 1926. —C. H. Nelson, Garner, Ia. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for representative for Hancock County in the Iowa State Legislature subject to the decision of the voters at the primaries in Juno 1926.—Ole T. Rikansrud, R. R. No. 4, Kanawha, Iowa.

FOR COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock county subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen. c

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby annunce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primaries.—R. W. Sinclair, Garner Ia. *

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primary Election. —H. C. Meyer. c

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election for County Supervisor subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—A. O. Christensen. *

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary election.—F. J. Urich, Garner, Iowa.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for reelection for County Supervisor subject to the Republican voters at the June Primary election 1926.—Fred Oxley, Corwith.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the Republican primary in June, 1926.—G. H. Lade, Garner.

FOR TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—John Suurballe. c

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primaries in June, 1926.—C. A. Halverson, Miller. Iowa.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primary Election to be held June8, 1926.—Herb Gartin. c

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1926 primaries.—E. P. "Peck" Hanson.

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the Republican primary in June 1926.—Verne C. Grau. c

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primaries.—V S White, Britt.

The Cash Store

We have a nice selection of Mens and Boys Dress Shirts, Fancy Neck Ties, Socks Hat, Caps, Shoes and Oxfords—all in the latest styles and patterns.

See our assortment and make your selection early, while our assortment is good.

SPECIAL EVERY —SATURDAY—

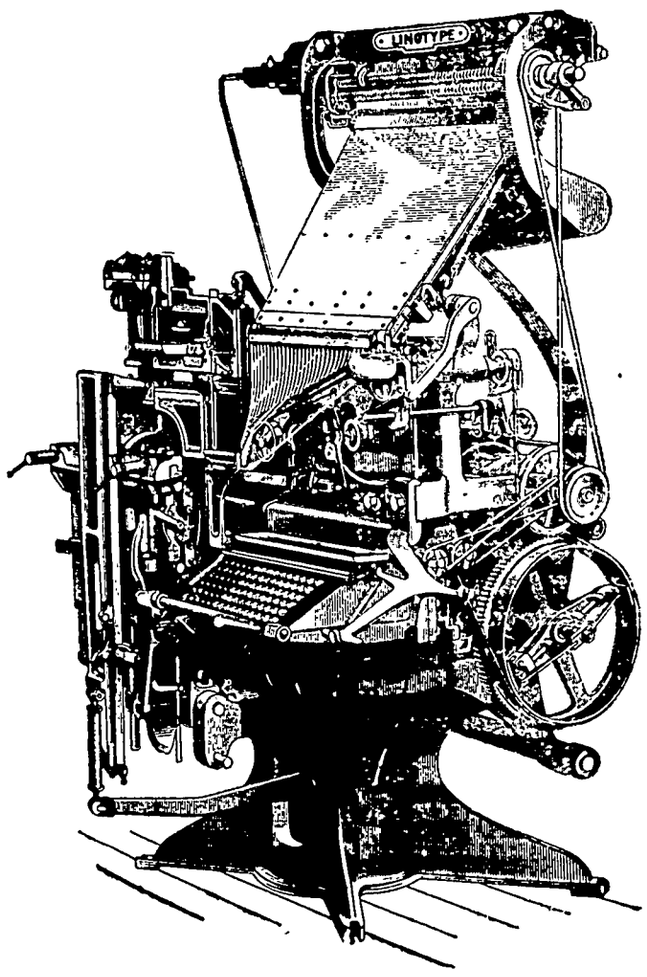
Pay Cash and Pay Less

Jno. N. Day's Cash Store

You can get it here--
Printed Better



Our Linotype Is Always READY!

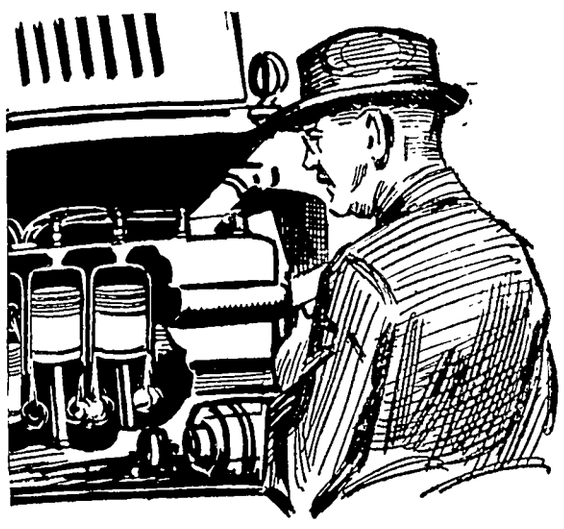
Ask Us For Prices

Times Print Shop

reason they can still call it r liquor is that after you drink battle starts immediately. r in India it is against the law widow to remarry. This prob- nduces the ladies to take migh- d care of their husbands.

A Yale scientist declares that the moon is lop-sided and this seems to be something else which is beyond the power of legislation to mend though doubtless a lot of legislators will be willing to try it.

If Your Motor Walls Were Glass



YOU WOULD SEE THIS LOSS OF

Gas and Power

STORMIZING Stops oil Pumping and MOTOR KNOCKS and restores the original POWER to the motor—

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Klemme, Iowa

Save Money!

ORDER YOUR COAL NOW

We can save you a lot of money and furnish you with better coal if you will give us your order NOW! At this time of the year we can buy the best coal from the mines we select—later we have to take what we can get. Order now—you will get better coal for less money.

That Car Load of Tankage is here now!

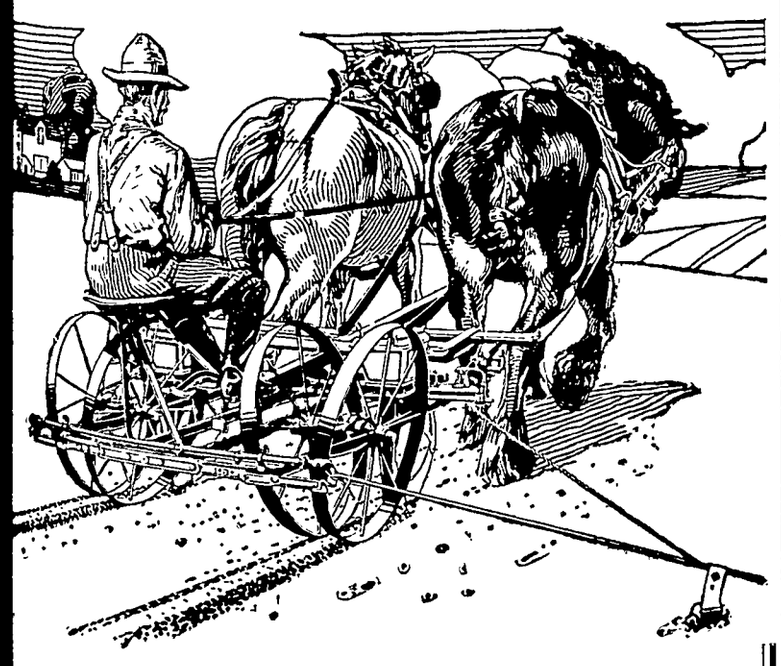
POULTRY FEEDS

We carry a full line of Dickinson's "GLOBE BRAND" of Chicken Feeds, etc., and have on hand:

"GLOBE" CHICK STARTER
"GLOBE" GROWING MASH
"GLOBE" SCRATCH FEED, etc.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"



HAYES

—FOUR WHEEL PLANTER—

"Plants Like Human Hands"

EARLY MAY MEAN BUSHELS AT HARVEST

You can get into the field earlier in May with a Hayes Four-Wheel Planter. The wheels clean themselves; no miring in the mud or waiting for draws to dry. Plants and covers shallow in the cold, wet ground. A Hayes Planter will save its cost the first year in added production.

We are now displaying the Hayes Four-Wheel Planter. Come in and inspect it.

H. LAU SONS

Uncle Sam and His Nephews, the States, Are Collecting Over a Billion Dollars in Yearly Tolls on Motor Vehicles and Fuel

More Than Meets the Nation's Billion Dollar Highway Building Bill—Thomas H. MacDonald, Chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, Tells Striking Details.

BY JUDSON C. WELLIVER

America has reverted to the ancient system of collecting tolls wherewith to build and maintain highways.

In 1925 these tolls amounted to $1,094,000,000, collected through motor licenses, gasoline taxes, property, corporation, income production and other taxes on automobiles, automobile manufactures, the petroleum industry, etc.

In the same year $1,003,000,000 was spent on rural roads. It took near a century to build $20,000,000,000 worth of railroads. A highway system costing that much will be created in twenty years at present rate.

GASOLINE TAXES BY STATES

States	Gas Tax per Gal. 1925	Collections 1925	States	Gas Tax per Gal. 1925	Collections 1925
Ala.	2	$ 2,140,801	N H.	2	$ 700,000
Ark.	4	3,068,995	N J	None
Ariz.	3	848.275	N Mex	3	537,356
Cal.	2	13,869,922	N Y	None
Col.	2	1,864,521	N C.	4	5,272,093
Conn.	2	1,908,808	N D.	1	657,202
Del	2	350,580	Ohio	2	9,129,845
Fla.	4	7,024,308	Okla.	2½	5,143,517
Ga.	4	4,421,314	Ore.	3	2,886,532
Idaho	3	939,873	Penna.	2	10,200,000
Ill	None		R. I.	1	196,684
Ind	3	6,792,481	S. C.	5	3,195,756
Iowa	2	3,215,404	S. D.	2	1,993,112
Kan.	2	2,376,994	Tenn.	3	3,193,453
Ky	3	3,010,000	Tex.	1	3,744,007
La.	2	2,339,542	Utah	2½	975,568
Me.	3	2,000,000	Vt.	2	519,205
Md.	2	2,022,985	Va.	3	3 515,876
Mass.	None		Wash	2	3,000,000
Minn.	2	3,863,940	W Va.	3½	2,155,790
Mich.	2	9,000,000	Wis.	2	2,447 234
Miss.	3	2,439,683	Wyo.	2	460,971
Mo.	2	4,394,260	Dist. of Co.	2	787,656
Mont.	2	735,000
Neb.	2	2,200,000	Total		$142,987,749
Nev.	4	318,216

These are some of the high points presented by Thomas H. MacDonald, Chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, Department of Agriculture, in an interview on highway development.

"The equipment of this continent with modern roads has been the most amazing provision of a public utility that any community ever accomplished in a similar period," said Mr. MacDonald. "Historians say the Roman Empire was held together by its highway system, radiating from Rome to the Provinces. But America has converted a continent into a neighborhood within a few years.

"This accomplishment really represents the inauguration of a new system of taxation; a system of licenses and excises levied against particular privileges or classes of property, the proceeds being dedicated to highway development.

"For 1925 state taxes on gasoline aggregated $143,000,000. Add to that $263,500,000 for automobile registration and licenses, $150,000,000 as property taxes on the 20,000,000 automobiles, $143,430,709 as the Federal excise tax on automobiles, parts and accessories for 1925; $50,000,000 to represent wheelage taxes, special taxes on gasoline or cars, and fines collected from motor drivers. The total reaches approximately $749,930,709.

Nearly $1,100,000,000 Yearly Tolls

"But these figures do not include income and corporation taxes derived from the motor car business. Nor do they include state, local, production, corporation or income taxes of the petroleum industry Yet that industry has a capitalization of about $9,000,000,000. A modest estimate for these, added to the preceding figures, makes a total of $1,094,930,709, which is considerably more than the entire amount spent on country roads.

"You observe that I have not included the government's expenditures of nearly $100,000,000 in Federal aid to road building. In the eight years from 1918 to 1925 inclusive, the Government has contributed $460,000,000 to help the states build roads. That is considerably less than half of what the country spent on roads in either 1924 or 1925. Moreover, in the same eight years, while the Government was distributing that $460,000,000 to the states, it collected $873,000,000 in internal revenue taxes on motor cars, parts and accessories. Other hundreds of millions were collected in income and corporation taxes from motor car manufacturers and dealers Thus it appears that Federal contribution to roads as compared to the contribution of people who make and use the cars and the gasoline has been decidedly modest.

"But, while Federal contribution is only about 10 per cent of highway expense, it has accomplished results altogether out of proportion to its amount. First, it was an incentive to the States. The Government required them to invest as much as it contributed. Then the Government takes part in a general supervision of construction and a share in determining routes. So we have built roads on better standards, and have got them organized into a truly national system instead of forty-eight state systems.

Unifying the Road System

"Some day it will be realized that this was the most valuable contribution. Driving from Boston to New York, a man may pass through four states. Every one might have a splendid highway system; but if these did not articulate at the state lines the trip would be almost impossible. Thanks to the systematization under Federal influence, country roads are as superior to state boundary lines as are railroads.

"The Federal highway act of 1921 required that a complete nation-reaching system of roads be designated within two years, as the roads to which Uncle Sam would give assistance. It was found that there were 2,866,061 miles of highway in the country. Of these 7 per cent, or 200,624 miles, were to be included in the national system, eligible for Federal aid. Nearly every mile of that 2,866,061 was a candidate for designation as a Federal highway. But in the end the system was laid out as a truly national one.

"When the map was published it showed nearly the 200,000 miles of designated routes. Since then 46,485 miles of these roads have been improved, nearly 13,000 more are under construction, and over 2,000 have been approved for early beginning of work In addition to that many states have built, without Federal aid, extensive sections which are included within this national system. In fact, these state contributions aggregate 55,006 miles, so that approximately two-thirds of the 200,000 mile national highway system has already been improved.

Uncle Sam as Road Supervisor

"Along with all of this, there is the Federal supervision over construction and maintenance. When Uncle Sam helps build a road he reserves authority to require its proper maintenance. Then there is the business of uniform marking along highways, which makes it possible for motorists to drive thousands of miles on a designated route whose markings become so familiar that after a few miles he need not ask directions.

"Finally Federal participation has made possible a great number of bridges at strategic points. Some of these have been needed for years, yet state and local authorities have been unable to provido them, partly because of the cost, partly because of competition between routes. When a stream separates two counties, or two states, it is often impossible to get them to agree where to build or how to divide the cost of a bridge. In such cases the Federal authority has repeatedly mediated differences and secured construction. Let me mention some instances.

"Missouri has been a state for over a century Divided east and west by the Missouri river, communication between the two sections has been limited, to the state's disadvantage. Four bridges across the river were required in the national highway program, and Federal co-operation with the state of Missouri has made them possible. Two are completed, the others are under construction. The four will cost a little more than $2,000,000, the Federal contribution being nearly $1,000,000

Getting Bridges Constructed

"Another bridge that has a peculiar importance, both locally and nationally, has been needed for generations across Raritan bay, New Jersey. It is one of the links in the chain of communication between New York city and the country at large. In 1924 New Jersey had some $700,000 of Federal aid allotted to her roads and in 1925 over $1,000,000. So the state agreed that this Raritan bridge should be built, costing about $4,000,000 Federal funds made up about one-third of the amount. The bridge, over a mile and a half long, is now nearly completed.

"Such illustrations might be multiplied indefinitely. National participation has repeatedly made possible the accomplishment of vitally important highway development."

According to the American Petroleum Institute, the gasoline tax was first imposed in 1919 in Oregon. It has now been adopted by all the states except New York, Illinois, New Jersey and Massachusetts. The tendency has been continually to increase the rate of tax per gallon. As late as 1921 gasoline taxes for the entire country were only about $5,000,000; in 1922, $12,000,000; in 1923, almost $37,000,000; in 1924, $79,000,000, and in 1925, $142,987,749.

With good prospects that the "gas" tax will be adopted soon by states which do not have it now and with the gallonage rates being increased in other states, it is calculated that this tax alone will soon raise $200,000,000 a year, quite possibly during 1926.

OLD NEW ORLEANS IS QUAINT SPOT

Perfume and Antique Shops Intrigue Visitors

New Orleans.—The Vieux Carre—Old New Orleans—is known everywhere as one of the quaintest spots in America, but probably nothing else in this historic quarter so intrigues the stranger as the perfume and antique shops.

The tiny establishments are similar to those found through France, but there also are the larger shops. They are scattered throughout the quarter, but most of them are strung along Royal street.

In the antique shops, lovers of old things are in their glory, for unlike New England and other old sections of the country, the New Orleans establishments have not yet been cleared of their treasures.

Priceless pieces, many of them brought to Nouvelle Orleans by the first settlers, are on display, and the spirit of the owners is to welcome the strolling stranger whether he is on a buying mission or "just looking."

Feminine visitors get a real thrill from the perfume shops in which alluring bottles contain even more alluring odors. Many of the shops are operated by descendants of the old settlers and they have real family pride in the products they are offering

In one or two of the places, special attention has been given to typically southern perfumes—magnolia, jasmine and orange blossoms—and the visitor who purchases one of those odors may be sure that when she returns to the "old home town" her hostess at the bridge party will not have "beaten her to it" in the way of perfume.

G. W. RIGHTMIRE

George Washington Rightmire was recently elected president of the Ohio State university. He has been a member of the faculty since 1902.

Woman Seeks Her Kin; Search Begins at 1828

Philadelphia.—In an effort to locate any surviving relatives who may still live in this vicinity, Mrs. Lewis Thorp has set a task for the bureau of missing persons, which dates back just ninety-eight years.

Mrs. Thorp writes that on August 16, 1828, her great grandfather, Samuel Crawshaw, accompanied by his wife and family, set sail from their old home in England, and on October 2, 1828, landed in Philadelphia.

Whether Mrs. Thorp is of the same or of another branch of the family her letter does not state, nor does it indicate why she begins her search with the landing of her great-grandfather in America just a fraction less than a century ago. She does state, however, that she is anxious to locate any relatives or possible heirs who may be living, so that apparently the settlement of some long-standing estate is the basis of the search which the Illinois woman asks.

Only Lord Beatty and Wales Can Tilt Hats

London.—The tilt of Lord Beatty's hat is the copyright of two persons only in England—the prince of Wales and Lord Beatty himself.

Lieut. Gen. Sir William Furse is advising the boys of the Church Lad's brigade, who are to be inspected by the prince in June. to remember to put their hats on straight and keep them straight.

"There are only two officers in the whole of the empire," Sir William said, "who are allowed to wear their uniform hats on one side of their heads. One is the great Admiral Lord Beatty and the other the prince of Wales.

"From the little I know of the prince of Wales, if he sees anybody mimicking him, he will not give them such a nice report as he might otherwise," the speaker added.

Needed Reform

New York.—Will Hays is making progress in ending misleading advertising by movie exhibitors, usually due to ignorance as in the following cases he cited: Special children's matinee for that great animal picture, "Black Oxen"; "A Doll's House"—bring the kiddies; "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse"—another great cowboy drama.

SENATE CONTEST WAS EXPENSIVE AFFAIR

Cost Government $65,000, Contestants Get Expenses Paid

WASHINGTON, May 8 —The Steck Brookhart senatorial contest cost the federal government more than $65,000, not including the salary that Brookhart received as senator and back pay for more than a year that Steck will be allowed, Senator Ernst, chairman of the contest committee has estimated.

Senaor Steck is to receive $15,00[illegible] personal expenses incident t[illegible] contest and Col. Brookhart allowed $10,000 personal expe[illegible] in seeking to retain his seat. The [illegible] penses of the contest committee, including the canvas of Iowa votes, will be $40,000, Ernst said.

BUTTON, BUTTON, WHOSE GOT THE BUTTON?

Button Manufacturer and Land Owner Argue 12 Years

For 12 years, the McKee & Bliven Button Co., of Muscatine, has been in court trying to defend itself from a damage suit brought by Benjamin Gratz, of St. Louis, who sought to collect $28,290 because the Muscatine button factory had used mussel shells taken from the Little river at a point where it flows through his land in southern Missouri. For several years the case was fought on the issue of whether mussels in non-navigable rivers were to be considered the property of the owner of the land. When the supreme court decided this in the affrmative, th[illegible] ton company switched to a [illegible] sue, contending that Gratz h[illegible] feited his right to recovery, [illegible] mitting indiscriminate fishing for shells in the river. Gratz was unable to overth[illegible]ow this contention.

Baby Chix

BIG JUNE REDUCTIONS

Heavy Breeds .. $12.00
Leghorns $10.00
(Per 100)

Custom Hatching .. 3c
(Per Egg)

The Above Price Effective June 1st

Place your orders early to avoid disappointment.

Buckeye EQUIPPED HATCHERY — BIGGER, STRONGER, BETTER CHICKS

Garfield Ridge Hatchery

Garner Iowa

Fishing Tackle—

Wec arry a full line of all kinds of fishing tackle. Come here to equip your tackle box and be ready for the first day of fishing:—

RODS and REELS, at all prices.

LINES, for reels and po[illegible] tests and any pr[illegible] want to pay.

BAITS, all kinds of Spinners, Plugs, etc.

ACCESSORIES — Gaff Hooks, Fish Hooks, all sizes, all kinds of Floats, Sinkers, Stringers, Buckets, etc.

If Its For Fishing You Can Get It At

E. F. Jacobs

The Wife-Ship Woman

By HUGH PENDEXTER

Author of "Kings of the Missouri," "Pay Gravel," "A Virginia Scout," etc.

Copyright by Hugh Pendexter—1923-1925.
WNU Service

CHAPTER X—Continued

—13—

She was coolly saying:

"Monsieur forgot himself. I also will forget. He meant to be kind; so his fault is amiable. I will see that monsieur is well paid for his time and worry and the dangers he encounters. He shall be paid in gold. I am without money just now. I may choose to demean myself by labor. But—but I always pay my debts."

I knew two things as she uttered this preposterous talk—she was adorable, regardless of her past history; and she deserved to be slapped. I rose and bowed, and said:

"It is all forgotten. If in anything I have said or done I have impressed you as one who would help a helpless woman for so many pieces of gold or silver then you shall pay me. If you decide to the contrary you will never mention the pay again. I only ask that during the rest of the trip neither of us be foolish enough to remember this talk to be embarrassed by it."

She frowned, as if puzzled by my words, then gave a little shrug to show she dismissed the whole matter. But in the back of my mind was the amazing fact that I had offered to marry her, to extricate her from a hundred and one humiliations, let alone dangers, and had been coldly refused because of "pride."

Labrador returned and reported:

"If Damoan visited the Tunica village he has not left it. No Choctaws have traveled inland from the river."

Old Six Fingers came cursing his way through the bushes, and snarled at me:

"No gold, no diamonds, and no d—n gourd. So you get no water."

"Then we will move on and find the Huma village. I will scout ahead and see if they will lift the peace calumet. Labrador, hold back with mademoiselle until you get my signal to come on."

"A moment, Monsieur Brampton," she sharply demanded. "We will go together, or not at all. One brave gentleman has lost his life to serve me. Now we will all share alike."

She was as regal as a marquise in hauteur, and the tilt of the small head was suggestive of one used to authority.

"It must be as I say," I told her. "But there will be no danger. Fear nothing because of me."

Instantly her mood changed, and she was clinging to my arm, and tearfully pleading:

"Let me go with you, monsieur. I beg of you to let me go with you."

I glanced sidewise at the lowering Six Fingers and murmured.

"He can harm you none. He is dependent on me for his very life. Besides you will have my friend."

"And you thought I was thinking of myself!" she sadly remarked, turning away.

With an order to Labrador—in Choctaw—to hold her back if I received a hostile welcome, I hurried up the path to the Huma village. Half an hour was sufficient to bring me to the ten-foot stockade surrounding the village. There was loud singing inside the stockade and I remained at the edge of the forest, wondering what could occasion it so early in the morning; for singing meant some ceremony.

Evidently something of importance had happened, or was about to happen, and I would have preferred seeking sanctuary there when the savages were not overrun by their emotions. But to be found lurking outside of the village would place us at a great disadvantage, and, if such be the Humas' whim, classify us as captives. Nor could we retreat to the river where Damoan and his Choctaws would have but little trouble in gobbling us up. So, assuming my best air, I advanced and came face to face with a warrior just inside the gate.

We stared at each other a moment, then his face cracked in a smile, and he extended a hand, and said:

"My white brother is welcome. The White Indian has a red heart when he is with the Humas."

I had been among Indians enough to distinguish them as individuals, just as I would white men, and as I held his hand I remembered him and replied:

"The White Indian comes to renew his red heart with Little Turkey and his people and to smoke the calumet with Strong Bow."

Strong Bow was head chief of the Humas, and a very old man. I had smoked with him the year before and I was anxious to find him.

To my relief Little Turkey said:

"Strong Bow is now in his cabin after seeing the dance. He has smoked the calumet once this morning, but he is never too weary to lift the pipe to the White Indian."

He turned and walked away, and I followed him.

We had an open path to the chief's cabin, which was built of posts, plastered with clay. Split canes formed the roof. Outside the opening was a raised platform on which were piled bearskins and hides. Through the entrance I saw Strong Bow reclining on a couch of skins and cane mats.

A young warrior, a grandson of the chief I later learned, stood at the foot of the couch, his girdle of colored feathers hanging down like a tail. This young man, on beholding me, backed from the couch and, in what was a most indecorous deportment for an Indian, turned and bolted through the door. Little Turkey glared after him reproachfully.

Strong Bow did not seem to notice his grandson's ill manners. He sat up. I squatted on the floor, and the two of us stared at the beaten earth for nearly a minute.

Then the chief said: "The White Indian does not forget the red (Huma) Choctaws. He brings presents to them and he is always welcome."

"On my last visit I brought presents and took nothing but your friendship. That was enough. Today I bring Strong Bow a present and promise more when I come again."

Anxious to receive his gift he motioned for Little Turkey to bring the peace calumet from its peg on a post. Little Turkey brought it and filled and gave it to the chief and then brought a coal from the fire in a split stick. Strong Bow did me the great courtesy of passing the pipe to me and lighting it for me.

"My White Brother Is Welcome. The White Indian Has a Red Heart When He Is With the Humas."

"I smoke for three friends, all white like myself," I stipulated, before taking the first puff. "I was so hungry to meet my red friends I drew ahead of them. They will be along soon." And I waited for him to include my friends in the smoke before putting the stem to my lips.

"The pipe is lifted to the White Indian and his three friends," he gravely agreed.

Then I smoked to the sun and the four winds and the earth and passed the pipe to him, and, not to be outdone in courtesy, held it while he repeated the sacred obligation.

After the pipe had been hung on the post the chief said: "It is the second peace I have smoked since the sun began shining."

Little Turkey had said the same and a faint apprehension of danger disturbed me. I was keen to inquire who his first visitor was, but this would be a grave social blunder. So I produced one of my pistols and placed it on his couch. With a grunt of delight he seized upon the weapon, which was of large bore and generously decorated with silver. Little Turkey touched my arm to intimate the audience was ended. I followed him into the sunshine, and he said:

"My white brother's friends should come now. The smoke of a peace pipe covers those who can see, or smell it."

"They will be here soon," I assured him. "The smoke covers them. It was agreed that I smoked for the three of them."

He remained silent for half a minute staring toward the entrance in the stockade. "They smoked when you smoked," he finally remarked. "But old men sometimes forget. It is easier for them to forget if an evil bird whispers in their ear."

He had given me a friendly warning. To ask him to interpret and go into details would have been useless. I knew he was my friend just as I knew the young warrior seen in the chief's cabin would be my enemy. I observed the slight straightening of his figure and a flash of his eyes in a sidelong glance. I looked to one side and beheld Damoan the Fox and a group of warriors approaching us. The chief's grandson had informed my enemy of my presence, for he stood at Damoan's right hand and was pointing at me.

Among the Humas were several of Damoan's Choctaws; and with his hand on a pistol thrust through his sash the Fox gave a sharp order. The Biloxi Choctaws darted forward, but Little Turkey, already sensing the hostility between the Frenchman and me, leaped before the Choctaws and flung up his right hand, and cried: "They have smoked!"

The Choctaws fell back. Damoan cursed in French and ordered them to seize me. But even his new ally, the chief's grandson, dared not see the peace of the pipe violated. I heard him remind the Fox that the stem of the peace calumet did not extend beyond the stockade; in plain English, once outside the palings we could fight to our heart's desire and the savages would enjoy watching the spectacle. But the village inside the stockade, like the Cherokee "white" towns, was sanctuary, and those who had been received in peace could not be disturbed.

With the first flush of anger succeeded by cold reason Damoan knew the uselessness of opposing this ancient custom of the Humas. With his thumbs hooked in his red sash he swaggered up to me, and quietly greeted:

"So, English spy, I've caught you at last."

"French spy, you mean you have caught up with me," I corrected. "And where are the rest of your red friends—aside from those feeding the catfish in the river?"

He showed his teeth in a thin-lipped grin and informed me:

"Outside, hunting for your friends. No pipes have been smoked out there. I told them not to hurt the woman. I think I shall keep her."

He desired to enrage me into an imprudence, so he might shoot me in the plea of self-defense. I did not rise to the bait. He went on:

"I came here to smoke the calumet and get some red trackers. I never dreamed of this good luck. My manito is very strong. I knew you had landed, for there were scraps of meat and bones on a rock in the river, where your lookout had eaten."

I mentally cursed old Six Fingers for leaving the signs, although I was the more to blame for not looking after him.

"Eh bien, canaille," I said, "when we meet again there will be no calumet stem between us."

"Nothing but red wampum. But wait. Tiens! You would miss the best of it. You will find it droll."

And from the medicine-bag at his girdle he took out a green scalp and shook out the long, blond hair. Switching it close to my face he said: "A souvenir of the crazy Frenchman!"

My heart pumped tumultuously; but my face was frozen in its calm expression.

"Because you took his hair I will lift your scalp some day, Damoan. My manito tells me you will be bald-headed before the Moon of Turkeys (October)."

He laughed, but now his hate showed through his mirth.

"Fool! Bald-head yourself! I will keep the woman till she tires me, and I will decorate her leggings with the hair of the mad Frenchman and with that of the White Indian—one scalp for each legging."

At this grossness my gorge boiled over, and despite the calumet I would have attacked him had I not been confounded by a fresh situation; nothing less than the appearance of Mademoiselle Dahlsgaarde running into the village closely followed by Labrador and Six Fingers. Naturally believing that Damoan's Choctaws had flushed them from their hiding-place and were hot on their trail and that at any moment they would be pouring into the stockade, eager to kill because of their ignorance of the peace smoke, I ran to meet the girl.

Damoan must have also started forward, for I heard Little Turkey's raucous voice proclaiming:

"They are in the peace smoke. Let no one forget the shadow of the peace calumet."

I glanced back and observed the Humas had glided in between Damoan and his Choctaws and me. The next moment the girl had both my hands, and was crying:

"Oh, monsieur! I felt you were in danger. They tried to stop me. When they were not looking I ran up the path. Thank the good God you still live!"

"As mademoiselle is to see much of me, Monsieur Brampton, suppose you present me to her," suavely suggested Damoan at my elbow.

The girl stared at him wonderingly; then began to shrink behind me to escape his evil gaze. She was guessing some of the truth of the climax; and as it was best that she should understand all I bowed to her, and said:

"Mademoiselle Dahlsgaarde, this is the devil."

CHAPTER XI

—

"Good Luck! This Will Be Death!"

I hurried her to a cabin where she could be alone with two Huma women and took up my quarters with Six Fingers and Labrador in an adjacent cabin.

"Scuttle me! But what's to stop these red bullies from boarding us now?" anxiously demanded Six Fingers, referring to the Biloxi Choctaws in the village.

"We will not be molested while in the village," I assured them. "I have smoked for all of you."

"Aye? Then God bless the pipe!" growled Six Fingers with much relief in his voice. "But we're landlocked here. Where's the channel? And when do we up with our hooks and sail?"

"I'll find the channel before night. We must get away tonight if it is possible."

He thrust his scrawny neck out of the opening and became absorbed in watching the men and women passing back and forth.

"Blow me and beach me," I heard him softly exclaim. Then, without turning his head: "Shipmate Labrador, you spoke by the Book. The beggars are loaded with gold!"

Labrador grinned at me because of the fellow's ignorance in mistaking brass and copper for the precious metal. Six Fingers grew bolder and walked outside and toward the girl's cabin.

To Labrador I said:

"There will be a big feast tonight. Mademoiselle will not attend. You and Six Fingers leave the feast when I give the signal and take her to the river and start up-stream in a pirogue. Make for the Natchez village. I will overtake you."

"Ha! That Natchez village! I do not want to go there, my friend. They have promised war against the French."

"As my friend you will be safe. Tell Tattoed Serpent I sent you."

"Bah! I do not caro for their threats of war. There is another reason. It is a woman. She is noble. And she is my wife."

Now the women of the Natchez, while single, were grossly below any standard of morality as measured by the white man's civilization; but once they married they became patterns of virtue. What the white race would consider a demerit was held to be a virtue by the Natchez, as it was by parting with chastity that the Natchez woman accumulated her marriage dower. The nobles could not marry within their order, and many of the women refused to marry the lower class, or commoners. To find a French husband was an excellent way of escaping a union with the inferior class. It would follow that Labrador's wife would be true to him and was waiting for him to return.

I suggested the possibility of my overtaking him before he and mademoiselle reached the village, which would permit him to pass by and wait for me somewhere above Fort Rosalie.

"No, no, monsieur; I will not hide. She is my wife. I have taken no other. I will take mademoiselle to the village and you will follow when you can."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Little Is Understood of Insect Migration

There is, of course, a great deal that we do not know. In the final analysis, "all things go out into mystery," and your most dry-as-dust professor is left at the counter of his laboratory with his mouth open and his short-sighted eyes raised in a childish query. Still, he has detected law and order and reasonableness, and the succession of cause and effect in many branches of biology, including bird migration.

It is not so with insect migration, which may be on a big scale. This remains a thorough-going miracle, still quite unplumbed. In England we entertain quite a considerable number of butterflies from overseas, though their arrival or passage over the sea is rarely observed. But such little flights of a hundred miles or so are as nothing compared with some recent examples.

Butterflies will fly 3,000 miles on occasion. That lovely creature—not so common here as we could wish—the painted lady, has appeared in Iceland at the end of a journey—so it is credibly alleged—from Africa! Quite large groups of white butterflies have settled on ships in the Mediterranean, on their way from south to north. So Africa certainly exchanges insects with Europe.—Sir W. Beach Thomas in the Outlook.

Heard Truth for Once

"I saw a mighty queer fight in town this afternoon," related Farmer Fumblegate, upon his return from the county seat. "A fat young feller and a thin old one fit mighty near all around the public square tumbling down, rolling around getting up and whacking away at each other some more, and so on." "Mercy sakes!" ejaculated his wife, "What was the fight about?" "That was the funny part. Both said they weren't fighting for the principle of the thing, but b'cuz one had cheated the other out of $2." —Kansas City Star

Shave With Cuticura Soap.
And double your razor efficiency as well as promote skin purity, skin comfort and skin health. No mug, no slimy soap, no germs, no waste, no irritation even when shaved twice daily. One soap for all uses—shaving, bathing and shampooing.—Advertisement.

To Electrify Rumania

Delegations of engineers from France, Switzerland and Italy visited Rumania during the summer of 1925 to formulate plans for electrifying the country. These delegates, together with Rumanian engineers, will soon meet again in Bucharest to submit their plans. It is believed that a definite electrification program will be decided upon.

BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Just Dip to Tint or Boil to Dye

Each 15-cent package contains directions so simple any woman can tint soft, delicate shades or dye rich, permanent colors in lingerie, silks, ribbons, skirts, waists, dresses, coats, stockings, sweaters, draperies, coverings, hangings — everything!

Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—and tell your druggist whether the material you wish to color is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

The Reason

"How did Bill happen to miss his train?"

"Well, did you ever see those steps just before you get down to the tracks?"

"Yes."

"Well, he didn't."

We perceive justice very clearly where our interests are not involved.

"BAYER ASPIRIN PROVED SAFE

Take without Fear as Told in "Bayer" Package

BAYER

Does not affect the Heart

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-five years for

Colds	Headache
Neuritis	Lumbago
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Each unbroken "Bayer" package contains proven directions. Handy box of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks., Patchogue, N.Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Calluses, etc., stops all pain, gives comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. By mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N.Y.

Just His Way

Baxter—Thompson tells me he cleared $1,000 on a little business deal yesterday. Suppose he made that much?

Burke—No; if he had he'd have said $10,000.

Growing Things

Watch things grow! Tiny shoots, now. In a few months, sturdy full grown plants. From a tiny beginning, Monarch Coffee and Monarch Cocoa, too, have grown. An amazing development, due to high quality and low cost.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago · Boston · Pittsburgh · New York

Hard to Be Footloose

"So you are going to Brazil next week. It must be very hard for you to leave the dear homeland and all the tender associations it has for you?"

"Oh, that doesn't trouble me—but I'm awfully sorry I have to break off the serial now running in our daily paper!"—Fliegende Blaetter, Munich.

Ancient Eastern City

Iconium was in Asia Minor and here St. Paul and St. Barnabas preached in the year 58 A. D. Soliman, the Seljuk, founded a kingdom here in 1074, which lasted until 1307, when it was conquered by the Turks. The place was held by the Crusaders from 1097 to 1190. This part of Asia Minor is still in possession of the Turks.

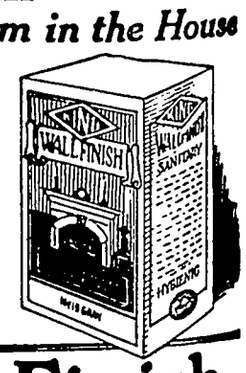
The Ideal Wall Finish
—for every Room in the House

Living room, bedroom—kitchen or pantry—upstairs or down—every room in the house can be made bright and attractive—clean and sanitary with King Wall Finish.

Easy to mix—easy to apply—and so economical that a dollar's worth is usually more than enough to decorate the average-sized room.

Don't spend a single penny for decorating until you know more about this remarkable wall finish. Write today for Color Chart showing 19 beautiful colors to choose from and name of dealer nearest you.

THE CHICAGO WHITE LEAD & OIL CO.
15th St. and S. Western Ave., Chicago, Ill.



KING Wall Finish

Self-Service Now

Joe—Find any difference in married life?

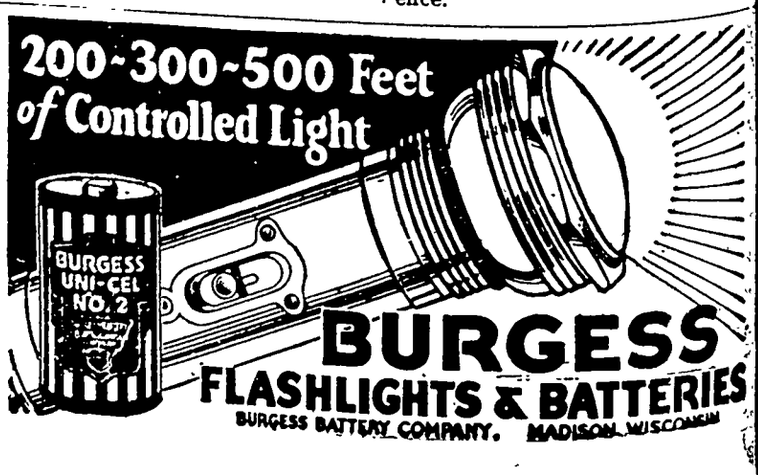
Moe—Sure. I used to get my meals in a restaurant. Now I get them at home—myself.—Allston Recorder.

Why is it that when we are informed of how "others see us," it is frequently unpleasant?

Costliest Real Estate

The costliest real estate lot in the world is at No. 1 Wall street, opposite Trinity church, New York city. It fronts 29.10 feet on Broadway and 39.10 feet on Wall street.

A young doctor can often make up in sympathy what he lacks in experience.



O WOMAN CAN KEEP HOUSE EFFICIENTLY

Without Good Health

MRS. FRANK DINDORE
PIERCE AVENUE, LANCASTER, OHIO

ur Walls Can Make a ouse, but it takes a Woman to Make a Home

o be a successful homemaker, a man must guard her health. When her is not well, the home is up- Women everywhere are learning through their own personal experiences, as these women did, the rit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

ancaster, Ohio.—"For ten years r my marriage, I had poor health. I was on a visit to my sister in Utica, Michigan, and she had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Her husband got me a bottle and I took it and felt so much better that I got a second one. Now, whenever I feel run-down I take the Vegetable Compound and soon feel all right again. I have had three little girls in the last six years and do all my housework, sewing, washing, and ironing My time is pretty well taken up, but I will answer any letters I receive."—Mrs Frank Dindore, 823 Pierve Avenue, Lancaster, Ohio.

Sturgis, Michigan.—"I am very thankful for what your medicine has done for me and have recommended it to others. I took it to give me strength before my baby was born. I would have to stop work and lie down sometimes all the afternoon. I felt as if I did not care whether anything was done or not. I got tired out so easily. One day I found a little book on my porch and that night I showed it to my husband and he went down town and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The medicine has helped me so much that I was soon able to do my work, and when my baby was born, my nurse, Mrs. Forbes, said it was the easiest birth she had ever attended. I will be more than pleased if I am helping someone else by giving my testimonial."—Mrs. Edward Persing, 208 Surprise Ave., Sturgis, Michigan.

You Tell 'Em

e—"Great men often rise from beginnings." Tattle—"Well, certainly started off right."

Irritating

"That fellow owes me $500."
"And won't pay it?"
"Won't even worry about it."

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

t men and women past fifty must the bowels some occasional help ey suffer from constipation. One as well refuse to aid weak eyes lasses as to neglect a gentle aid k bowels.

our present laxative, in whatform, promoting natural bowel arity"—or must you purge and c" every day or two to avoid eadache, dizziness, biliousness, or sour, gassy stomach?

Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps tablish natural, regular bowel ent even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

Correct Guess

lo't you use to work for that ad Rittmans?"
, still do. I'm Rittmans."

Mud-Turtle

Diner—Say, waiter, this soup tastes like mud.
Waiter—Well, it's turtle soup.

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

OTHER:— Fletcher's storia is a pleasant, harms Substitute for Castor Oil, regoric, Teething Drops d Soothing Syrups, especially prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher ren directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Conquer Constipation with Yeast Foam!

For constipation try this: drop a cake of Yeast Foam in a glass of water; let stand for five minutes; stir with spoon; let settle and drink the milky water, including the white precipitate.

Do this regularly and your constipation—no matter of how long standing—will be a thing of the past! Yeast Foam is equally effective for indigestion, boils, pimples, lack of weight and strength. Or, if you prefer, eat the yeast with a cracker or a piece of butter.

SAMPLE CAKE FREE

NORTHWESTERN YEAST CO.
1750 North Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Send me FREE and POSTPAID your book "Dry Yeast as an Aid to Health", also a Sample of Yeast Foam without obligation.

Name _____

Address _____ W. N. U.

Community Building

Conditions That Make for Successful City

What must the progressive city possess to insure success? What important factors are known by experience to enter into the development of the modern community?

Here are some essentials as suggested by Ralph Hellman, dean of the Northwestern University school of commerce.

Factories, offices, mercantile and industrial and business establishments in proper number, to provide regular and profitable employment, merchandise, commodities, and personal service.

A city government which is honest and alert, which operates for service and not for "graft," which provides a competent and efficient administration of all departments of municipal government.

A modern and progressive system of grade and high schools, with adequate plant and equipment, and providing equal opportunity for all children.

Well located and properly equipped parks and playgrounds for out-of-door sports and wholesome recreation.

Churches with intelligent leadership, well supported by the public; providing opportunity for each to worship in accordance with his own conscience.

Citizens characterized by a strong spirit of civic interest and local pride, who believe in their city's present and future, and in "progress" through "service."

Thrifty citizens, who realize that saving is the source of all capital, who spend less than they earn, who consume less than they produce, who thus accumulate a surplus for sound investment.

Growth Not Possible if City Lacks Homes

This editorial from the Bogalusa (Ala.) Enterprise may be read with profit by other communities:

"Bogalusa is certain to maintain her growth during the present year, if not exceed that of the past three years, but unless there is some relief in the housing situation, Bogalusa cannot grow as it should. There are few, if any, vacant houses in Bogalusa. New industries are being contemplated, which will mean that new families will want to move here, and if they cannot find houses, the head of the family will come here and work and most of his money will be spent where his family resides. It also means that the best citizens and workmen will not remain here, for no man wants to be separated from his family. Home building has always been profitable in Bogalusa, and there have been very few who have taken a loss when they built a home. On the contrary, hundreds have made a nice profit. If you want to invest some money, which will pay a nice dividend and at the same time assist in upbuilding the city, the thing to do is to build some houses."

Danger From Lightning

In the course of a study to ascertain the origin of fires of proven electrical origin, the records of several hundred such fires in one of the southern states were examined by the Society for Electrical Development, and it was found that the chief cause was lightning or electrical burnouts due to lightning disturbances. There is not a single record during the 15 years of a building which was properly rodded being struck by lightning, all fires resulting from a building being struck by lightning occurring in buildings not provided with lightning rods or in buildings where the rods were defective or not properly grounded.

Proper Care of Lawn

One of the best methods of smothering the weeds in your lawn is through excessive cutting of the grass. Two of three cuttings a week will aid the growth of the lawn and result in a very close stand of grass, which will strangle the weeds and drive them out. It also will help through keeping the weeds from running to seed. It is a mistake to let the grass grow too long before cutting, and many new lawns have been spoiled through this neglect. Cut often and give the lawn plenty of water and you will be surprised at the result.

For Better Citizenship

As part of the education extension movement in Pennsylvania, 26,615 legally employed minors last year attended classes in night elementary and high schools and in English and citizenship schools in the state. The enrollment of adults was 33,347. A definite program has been planned this year to reach immigrant women, and arrangements have been made for home classes for them in 64 cities and boroughs.

Plant More Trees

More trees in our cities and towns would produce cooler summers and warmer winters. The temperature of a tree is 54 degrees at every season of the year, so it cools the air on hot days and warms it on cold ones.

In summer time trees cool the atmosphere by absorbing water from the earth and emitting it through their leaves.

LIFE'S LITTLE JESTS

TOOFUS

"Toofus," says Post Trader, "I hear you were a witness in the case of Chief Cut plug against Chief Asparagus Tip."

"Yes."

"What you know about the case?"

"Nothing."

"Then why were you on the stand three days?"

"Under the rules of law," say Toofus, "it took three days to bring that out."

IN THE FIELD

Young Sport—Do you think I can become a good golfer?

Old Sport—Sure—if you aim to be.

Interference

The radio's erratic,
And yet it's not all wrong,
For life is full of "static"
That serves to spoil the song.

The Wrong Question

Miss Fortee—Yes, dear, we have been engaged for a long time, but what has prevented me from taking the irrevocable step has always been the fateful question: "Will he love me when I grow old?"

Miss Tenny—Don't worry, darling. You'll soon know now.—Scarsborough Post.

Their Object

"What is the idea of that procession just going by?" asked a recently arrived guest.

"Aw, it is composed of twenty-year-old girls going to the office of the Plaindealer to persuade the editor to quit publishing his column of thirty-year-ago items," replied the landlord of the Petunia tavern.

Due for a Stepmother

"Better keep away from that stage door, Freddie."

"But I am hoping to marry Dottie."

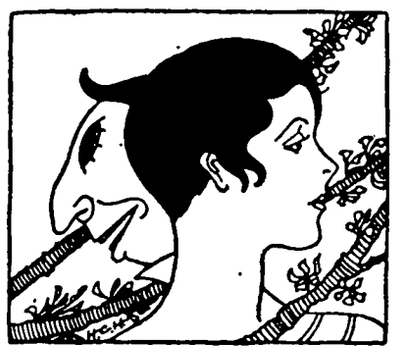
"So's your old man."

Is She Convinced?

"Rastus, does yu love me?"

"Mandy, you is one woman I don't like none other better than."—Whitman Blue Moon.

HE DROVE A CAR



She—Thirty days mean a month don't they?

He—Yes—when they don't mean a jail.

Easy Terms

Algy's acquiring a mustache
'Neath his patrician beak;
Getting it on the installment plan,
A little down per week.

The Message

Her Father (at telephone)—Mabel is not at home. Can I take any message?

Young Male Voice (nervously)—Er—yes. Just say—er—"Toodle-oo—sweety-eetums'"—from Cyril!

A Satisfied Customer

Salesman—This is the type of washing machine that pays for itself, sir.

Prospect—Well, as soon as it has done that you can have it delivered at my home.

Alas No!

Wife—John, this article says there are sounds that the human ear can't hear.

John (trying to read)—Yes, my love; but unfortunately none made by the human tongue.

Misunderstood

Doctor—Change is what you need and you need it badly.

Patient—I know it, doctor, but I guess I can raise enough to pay your bill.

A car for every purse and purpose

IN THE automobile industry several distinct price classes have developed. General Motors is represented in each.

The General Motors line of passenger cars comprises 52 different models. They include every open and closed body type and range in price-at-the-factory as follows:

CHEVROLET
6 Models—$510 to $765

PONTIAC
2 Models—$825

OLDSMOBILE
9 Models—$875 to $1115

OAKLAND
6 Models—$975 to $1295

BUICK
16 Models—$1125 to $1995

CADILLAC
13 Models—$2995 to $4485

Quality is the first law of General Motors; and sweeping economies, possible to an institution with the resources of General Motors, are reflected in the prices of General Motors cars.

Select the car that suits you from the General Motors line. You may buy it out of income on General Motors' time payment plan (GMAC), which assures fair terms and low rates.

GENERAL MOTORS

CHEVROLET · PONTIAC · BUICK
OLDSMOBILE · OAKLAND
CADILLAC · GMC TRUCKS

"A car for every purse and purpose"

Ambition

It happened on the small-time floor of a vaudeville booking office. A team which came from the Midwest six months ago to "show them a real act" had been canceled after the first performance in seven different theaters, but could not be licked.

"We've got some new gags," timidly chirped the woman of the combination. "Give us another chance."

"Good Lord!" ejaculated a booker. "Are you still stage-struck?"—New York Graphic.

Every human heart is human.—Longfellow.

More Buying Bird Cages

Four carloads of bird cages, believed to be the largest single order ever shipped of this commodity, passed through New York en route from New Haven, Conn., to Philadelphia. The use of canaries and cages has increased markedly lately, due, it is stated, to the increasing value of new varieties of enameled cages for interior decoration purposes. Easter and Christmas are the canary seasons.

We all think if people can be affluent enough, happiness will find a way.

A BRUSH A PAIL and

Just mix Alabastine with water cold or hot and apply to any interior surface. The sure result is beautifully tinted walls in exactly the color you wish.

Alabastine comes in all standard colors and these intermix to form countless others so that your decorating taste may be accurately followed.

None genuine without the Cross and Circle printed in red.

Alabastine

Instead of Kalsomine or Wall Paper

Dr R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

WANTED—Anyone wanting blasting done see F W. Smock, Klemme.p

The Junior-Senior Banquet will be held next Tuesday evening.

SEED CORN for sale, home grown, ear tested. Lee Bros., Britt, Ia. 2p

Mr E P Hanson, of Garner, was a Klemme visitor Sunday.

Jay Griggs, of Goodell, was here on business Monday.

C A Larsen is the owner of a new Buick Six, enclosed job.

The Times is always glad to receive items of news. Please phone your items or mail them. Thanks.

Mr V S. White, of Britt, was a business caller in Klemme Tuesday. Mr White is a candidate for the office of county attorney.

Tires! Tires! Tires

WE CAN MEET MAIL ORDER PRICES

ON OUR TIRES.

Come in and let us show them to you—

Garner Auto Co.

Phone 77 KLEMME, IA.

Graduation Time Will Soon Be Here

Have you thought about your new suit for the big event? There is really no use waiting until the last minute to select one.

We're offering clothes made strictly for young men. The smartest models—the most un-usual patterns of the season. Distinctive but not expensive.

Spring Suits in the New Light Shades of Tan and Gray

$35 $40 $45

Patton Brothers Co.

MASON CITY, IOWA

The North Elevator Klemme, Iowa

Central States Electric Company

Needs No Introduction

--To You--

You are either a Customer of the Company, and therefore acquainted with it, or you know that this Company is one of the large successful Public Utility Companies of IOWA. Whether a customer or not you have no doubt read about the Newspaper concerning the territory it serves, the extent and kind of its property, and the various classes of Public Service it furnished to meet the daily necessities of thousands of people living in more than Sixty Iowa communities, so you know how well established and necessary the business is.

Considering these facts and the past record of the Company in the up-building of its property and in the payment of many Dividends on Its Capital Stocks how can this 7% Preferred investment be other than Safe. This is one investment that has proven itself Safe for Hundreds of Stockholders, and will prove itself Safe to you.

Why hesitate—see our representative, or any othr employee today and place your order for one or more of the 7% Preferred shares while you can get them at $100 each, and begin getting 7% Net Income on your money.

We will be glad to send you without any obligation a Circular fully describing this Preferred investment.

Address the Securities Department, 215 South Second St., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, or ask any employee.

Central States Electric Co.

General Offices

CEDAR RAPIDS IOWA

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Start your Chicks on Dr. Hess' Poultry Pan-a-cea. Sold at Wilson's Pharmacy, Klemme. Iowa. 1tc

Fred Mecstroth, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Monday evening.

FOR SALE—Get home grown Soy Beans at Farmers Elevator. Geo. Grosz. 3wp.

Will Barz and family, of Garner, visited at the home of Mrs. Lena Schroeder Sunday.

Start your Chicks on Dr. Hess' Poultry Pan-a-cea. Sold at Wilson's Pharmacy, Klemme. Iowa 1tc

Fred Ridder has purchased a fine new Nash sedan which he got the fore part of the week.

Standard size Screen Doors at the Northern Lumber Co., $2.25 and up. Get them early. 1tc

Don't forget the Cooking Party at the Idle Hour Theatre this afternoon put on by Central States Electric Co.

FARM FOR SALE—My 80 acre farm, terms reasonable. Andrew Nelson, Goodell, Iowa. tfc

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Rev. and Mrs. Schmidt, of Reinbeck, Iowa, came Monday evening and spent the night visiting at the Rev A. W. Gauger home.

Standard size Screen Doors at the Northern Lumber Co., $2.25 and up. Ge them early. 1tc

Mrs Sarah Behringer, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wiles and baby, and Miss Adella Schroeder, of Ames, visited in Klemme Sunday.

The regular summer school session will open June 1 and 8. The Hamilton University, Mason City, Iowa. 1tcF

Mr and Mrs. Tom Hake and daughter, Maurine, of Belmond, were visiting at the M. O. Barr home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hites and son John, of Vinton, Iowa, visited at the P M. Wilson home, Sunday.

DON'T lose your Chickens with Lice—Use Dr. Hess' "Instant Louse Killer" Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

Mr and Mrs. Sumner Trumbell drove to Conrad, Iowa, Saturday afternoon, for a visit over Sunday at he Dr. J L. Hesselhuus home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ibec, of White South Dakota, were visiting at the A. D. Gimer home Sunday. Mrs. Gimer and Mrs. Ibec are sisters.

WANTED—to pasture about 25 head of horses or cattle. Good pasture, no swamp. J. H. Dorenkamp, Phone Klemme 5903. 2tp

"Abe" Lauritsen, of Renwick, was a Klemme visitor Sunday. "Abe" will coach at the Renwick high school again next year.

The Camp Fire Girls held their meeting at the Park Tuesday evening. Their next meeting will be on May 28.

DON'T lose your Chickens with Lice—Use Dr. Hess' "Instant Louse Killer." Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

Ralph Elder spent Tuesday at Mason City, visiting Mrs. Elder who is helping care for Reva at the Mercy hospital. Reva was not quite so well Tuesday.

FOR SALE—S. C. p. b. Reds the highest egg production, pen No. 1 $1.15 for 15 eggs, pen No. 2 50c for 15 eggs. Mrs. John Josten. 1wc

The Ladies Aid Society meet at the Parish House next Thursday afternoon, with Mesdames Walter Johnson and P. M. Wilson, hostesses.

The fire alarm was sounded yesterday morning at about 8:00 o'clock when a small building at the rear of the meat market was found to be on fire. A few buckets of water squelched the flames. A high wind was blowing from the south which would soon have fanned the flames to nearby buildings and caused a serious fire.

Quite a number from here took in the Harold Lloyd comedy, "For Heaven's Sakes!" at Garner Friday evening. The picture was good but did not come up to his other pictures.

The Senior class wishes to publicly thank Mr. Wellemeyer for the use of furniture from his store for the Class Play. He furnished the stage props without cost.

Jay Griggs, of Goodell, was a caller at the Times Office. Jay and Ye Editor were hatching up a date to go fishing. We will tell you about the "big one that got away" next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tomy Mitchell came from Swea City Saturday evening and visited at the C. G. Waterman home and with other Klemme relatives over Sunday, returning home Monday.

You can make summer months worth $300.00 to $400.00. Walter Anguish did it, so did Ruth Kelly and hundreds of others. Special outline of plan sent on request. The Hamilton University, Mason City, Iowa. 1tcF

Ed. G Ell and family, of Mankato, acompanied by Mrs. Albert Yahnke, of Garden City, Minnesota, came Saturday evening for a visit with Klemme relatives and to attend the funeral of Mr. Kluckhohn Sunday.

Reva Elder was rushed to the Mercy Hospital at Mason City last Thursday evening where she underwent a mastoid operation that night. At this writing she is getting along nicely, news which her many friends will be glad to learn.

Clarence Elder came home from Ames Saturday, to visit his sister, Reva, who is a patient at Mercy Hospital Mason City. Clarence was accompanied back to Ames Sunday afternoon by Fred Arnold who will again enter school after his recent illness which caused him to miss a few weeks of school work.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Blank and daughter, Marie, Gracka Quandt, and Mr.a nd Mrs. Worthy Usher, all of this place, Mr. and Mrs. Casey Blank, of Dysart, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blank, of Morrison, Iowa, all drove to Estherville, Sunday for a visit with the Ralph Blank family.

This vicinity was visited by a good rain Saturday night and Sunday morning that will be a great benefit to the crops. A frost Sunday night did but little damage. Again Tuesday of this week we had another big dust storm about as bad as the one we had last week Tuesday This state of Iowa is getting as windy as South Dakota and western Nebraska. A little wind seems to go a long way. It's so windy here that a boy on his way to school the other day had difficulty in navigating. He was late to school The teacher called him down for it. He said it blew so hard that every time he took one step forward, the wind blew him back two steps. He had to walk backwards to make it.

"Zip" Likes Florida

As we stated in The Times last week Mr. and Mrs. G. P. McCullough had returned from their winter's stay in Florida. "Zip" says he likes the Florida climate and that he was greatly benefited in health by his stay at Jacksonville. "Zip" had a good job with a steamship company at Jacksonville and had charge of a number of men in their shipping department, taking care of incoming freight. The work was all outdoor and Zip gained some in weight. He says that he and Mrs. McCullough will probably go to California this fall to test out that climate, and if they are not suited there they will go back to Florida and make their home in that state.

NEW SPRAYING BULLETIN ISSUED AT AMES

Gives Instructions For Apples And Other Fruits

A new spraying bulletin entitled, "Spraying Iowa Orchards," has just been issued by the Iowa State College Extension Service, which gives the latest spray calendar for the apple, pear, plum, cherry and peach, together with a brief description of some of the more important insects and dieases that work on these fruits.

This bulletin recommends five general sprays for winter varieties of apples while in the past, only four were recommended. "The increased seriousness of the second brood of the apple worm," says H.E. Nichols, author of the bulletin, "has made it neccessary to increase the number of sprays. Many commercial growers here have been applying five and even six sprays profitably during the past few years. The owner of smaller home orchards can profitably follow their example."

This bulletin may be obtained free by writing to the Agricultural Extension Service, Iowa State College, Ames Iowa.

Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings

DR. E. H. PHILLIPS

Osteopathic Physician

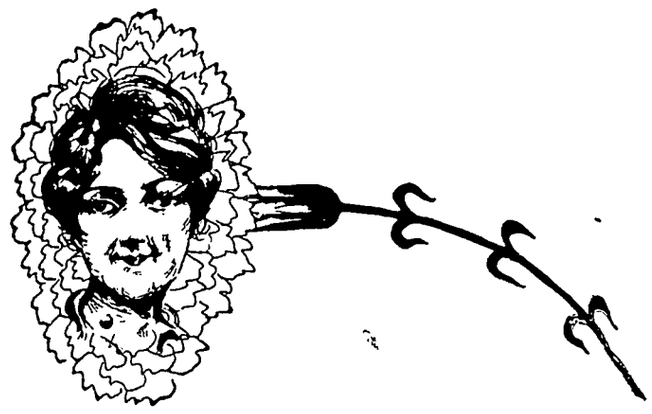
Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa.

Liberty Township Items

Amil and Karl Krause hauled hogs to market in their trucks for Emil Blumer Saturday.

The farmers received a car load of commercial fertilizer in this community.

The sand storm here was the worst seen for years in the northwest part of the township. The land here is quite rolling.



Our Homage To Mothers

The National observance of Mothers' Day each year brings us a fresh realization of what we owe to Mother. This Bank is indeed glad to pay homage where homage is due.

One of our ambitions is to inspire young boys and girls to repay part of their Mother's loyalty and devotion by developing habits of thriftiness. This will help their lives to be a monument to her deals.

First National Bank.

KLEMME, IOWA.

Few of us can see all of our country's scenic beauties and points of interest, but by careful planning, it is possible to visit the most famous.

Whether it be Colorado, Yellowstone, Pacific Coast, Great Lakes Region, St. Lawrence River Resorts, the Atlantic Seaboard or other vacation spots, our Travel Bureau can advise you how to travel most economically and with the greatest comfort and convenience.

The Rock Island will operate this season "Personally Conducted-All-Expense" planned trips to the Colorado Rockies including, not only railroad fare, but hotel and sight-seeing expense from the time you leave home until you return. "All-Expense-Go-As-You-Please" excursions will also be available for those not desiring the "Personally Conducted" plan.

Ask Rock Island ticket agent for complete details or

Fill Out and Mail the Coupon

ROCK ISLAND VACATION TRAVEL SERVICE BUREAU,
614 Valley Nat'l. Bank Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa

I am interested in a Summer vacation trip to _____ (Destination)

Please mail me free descriptive booklets and complete information.

Name _____

Address _____

THE KLEMME TIMES

ntieth Year—Number 30. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1926. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

HE JUNIOR-SENIOR HELD TUESDAY EVE

ST JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET WAS ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Ladies Aid Served Well Planned Banuct Tuesday Evening

The Junior-Senior Banquet on last sday evening was a very success- affair. It meant a lot of work for Ladies Aid who prepared the l, and also for the Juniors and s Abel who planned the affair decorated the gymnasium. We more could have seen the room the table as decorated for the sion The class was again the ient of Mr. Wellemeyer's good toward the school as he furnish- some good furniture for the af- and music. A new Edison was ed together with many good re- ds.

—Menu—

Fruit Cocktail

ken a la King Mashed Potatoes

Peas and Carrots

uttered Rolls Jelly

Olives

d Lettuce Thousand Isle Dressing

Wafers

Ice Roses Cakes

Coffee

Nuts Candies

—Toast Program—

oastmaster—Vernon Turgason

st to Seniors Asa Arnold

nonse Frank Gibbs

no Solo Ruth Bailey

ss P ay" Myrtle Irving

ccalaureate" Ethel Wellemeyer ss Day" Luther Tanner

ss Flower" Fern Stille

tto" Ruth Johnson

aduation" Hallie Greiman

no Solo Elvira Stille

osters and Books" Mr. Penrod niors and Seniors" Mr. Gary al Duet Gertrude Johnson and Beatrice Busch

CCALAUREATE SERMON NEXT SUNDAY EVENING

. Bushnell Of Algona Will Be The Speaker

ev. Bushnell of Algona, our hodist District Superintendent, give the Baccalaureate Sermon Sunday We feel fortunate in ing Rev. Bushnell for this oc- on. Rev Sunderlin of Emmets- g has been ngaged to deliver the mencement address on Friday t of next week, May 21.

—Baccalaureate Program—

cessional Mrs. Gary ocation Rev. Gauger

g Congregation

pture Reading

al Duet Miss Abel, Mr. Penrod

mon Rev. Bushnell

g High School Girls Chorus

ediction

RK OF MANUAL TRAINING BOYS TO BE PLACED ON EXHIBIT SATURDAY

ne Economics Department Will Exhibit Work Also

n Saturday of this week the ual arts and home economics de- ments of our school will have an bit at the stores in Klemme who e offered window space for the lay of the exhibits. We solicit public's attention to the articles e in these two departments. We it will convince many that our ols are doing some things worth le.

E MORE NEW TEACHERS SIGN CONTRACTS

Teachers Have Been Secured To Fill Vacancies

iss Elizabeth Kidder, of Des nes has been signed to take Miss l's place in high school next . She comes very highly recom- ded as to ability in school work music. Miss Marie Gauger s Miss Thompson's place in the des 5 and 6. Miss Gauger has two years of normal school train- in Morningside College at Sioux and has had one year of experi- e in the country school. Besides took the normal training course Garner High School.

We regret to see the old teachers e who have served us so well this year but we understand they have positions elsewhere and will do others as much good as they have us.

BOYS HAVE TOUGH LUCK IN B. B. TOURNAMENT

Have Had To Play Champs in Every Tourny This Year

Our boys lost their first game at the baseball tournament on last Friday to Sheffield who later won the tournament. Our boys lots to them by but one score. Our boys have in every tournament this year been compelled to play champions. But they have not in any instance lost by large scores, usually by just a narrow margin

SOME HIGHWAY FACTS

No county in the state has all f its primary roads paved, but Polk, Black Hawk, Scott, Clinton and Woodbury have only small reaches left bare. The longest single stretch of pavement in tho state, according to the rcent map of the highway commission, is on road No 19, reaching from Algona in Kosuth county across Hancock and Cerro Gordo to Charles City in Floyd county. South of Polk county there is no paving except a little near Burlington, and very little gravel. Of the 99 county seats, 46 can be reached from Des Moines on graveled or paved roads. Since the federal aid road law was passed, $17,425,000 have been allotted to Iowa, but only $13,500,000 have been paid so the state still has a credit balance of nearly $4,000,000 with the government. Another allotment gives us $2,000,000, so we will have nearly $6,000,000 of government money, if we meet the requirements of the general government, which we would be foolish not to do The last survey of the primary road system shows there to be 6,671 1 miles of it in Iowa The cost of maintaining a mile of dirt road last year was $403, gravel $519, and paved road $199. You see it costs a quarter more to maintain gravel than dirt and for pavement a little less than half.

Offer Window Box Suggestions

It won't be long now before the Iowa housewife can turn her attention to window boxes if she expects to grow flowers in them during the summer Many housewives get in too big a hurry with their window boxes and as a result the tender plants which are ordinarily planted in these boxes, such as geraniums, are often nipped by the frost The latter part of May is plenty early to be fixing up the boxes and even then the flower plants will still run a chance of being heavily nipped by Jack Frost.

A good window box should be about 6 inches deep, 8 to 12 inches wide and as long as desired. If a very long space is to be filled, however, it is best that the boxes be constructed in six foot units. Cypress is the most durable wood for this kind of construction. It can be painted any color to harmonize with the surroundings, ordinarily green.

Ample drainage should be assured by the boring of several half inch holes in the bottom. Pieces of broken crockery or stone should be placed in the bottom as the first layer. A mixture of three parts garden loam one part leaf loam, one part sand and one part well rotted manure makes a real good soil for the box, one that will push the plants to the limit.

In choosing the kind of plant for the box, the position of the box relative to the sunlight should be considered as many plants do better in sunlight than in the shade and vice versa. Geraniums, heliotrope, nasturtiums and petunias are all good flowering plants which like lots of sunlight. The Coleus and Croton are good foliage plants needing plenty of sun. English, German or Kenilworth ivy are suitable varieties of trailing plants and also demand a sunny exposure.

Boston ferns, cordyline, silk oak, small palms, rex and tuberous begonias are plants which do very well in shaded places.

Pillows may be washed just as blankets. However, they may need more rinsing. They require longer to dry and ought to be shaken and turned several times each day.

Out Fishin'

A feller isn't thinkin' mean—out fishin';
His thoughts are mostly good and clean—out fishin'.
He doesn't knock his fellowmen, or harbor any grudges then
A feller's at his finest when—out fishin'.

A feller's glad to be a friend,—out fishin'.
A helpin' hand he'll always lend,—out fishin'.
The brotherhood of rod and line
An' sky and stream is always fine,
Men come real close to God's design,—out fishin'.

A feller isn't plotting schemes,—out fishin'.
He's only busy with his dreams,—out fishin'.
His livery is a coat of tan; his creed—to do the best he can;
A feller's always mostly man,—out fishin'.

REAL ESTATE DEALS OF THE PAST WEEK

Wm. Elder to Mary E. Elder. W. D, date 5-4-26, $1.00, NE¼ 17-95-26.

H L. Treloar wf to Citizens State Bank of Postville W. D., date 4-28-26, $1.00, lots 1-2-3-4-5 block 7, Grandview add. Kanawha.

Articles of Incorporation of the South Woden Telephone Co. Capital stock $900 00, divided into shares of $45 00 each. President, C. A. Missman, Vice-Pres. John Lindberg, Secretary, T. J Ormsby and Palmer Durby, Treasurer Directors, O. E. McCall, D J. Spieker and John Hussinger.

Fred J Hunsley wf. to Jacob Rohrbach W D, date 4-27-26, $1.00, SW¼ 4-95-25.

E P Hanson, Sheriff to Hans Rohwer. Certificate of Sheriff's Sale date 3-22-26, $15,929.69, NE¼ 34-97-26.

C. B James wf. to Peoples Finance C W D., date 4-3-246, $1.00, lot 5 block 1, Andersons 1st add Britt

E P. Hanson, Sheriff, to First National Bank, Ft Dodge. Sheriff's Deed date 4-30-26, $13,206.07, NW ¼ 24 & N½ SW¼ 24-94-23.

Fred W. Jurgens wf. to Adeline Jurgens. Q C. D., date 4-29-26, $1 00, lot 21 block 11 Kanawha and NE¼ 19-94-25.

CHICKS DEMAND MENU CHANGE

If to Be Used as Breeders, Cracked Corn May Replace Oats

Many chicks in Iowa are now nearing the age of 6 weeks and their fast changing appetites are about ready for a change in menu. An ideal ration for the chicks up to 6 weeks, as far as grain is concerned, is composed of equal parts of fine cracked corn, steel cut oats and whole wheat.

At 6 weeks the chicks are about ready to dispense with the cut oats and cracked corn may be substituted, provided the chicks are to be used for breeding purposes. If they are to be kept as broilers the same ration as fed before should be used in order to get the greatest gain in the shortest time.

The mash ingredients for the breeding stock are also due for a little change at this time. The amount of meat scraps or dried buttermilk can be reduced a little now and a small amount of salt substituted for a portion of the charcoal. The mash recipe outlined by H. A. Bittenbender of Iowa State College is as follows: 25 parts standard midlings, 25 parts corn meal, 25 parts oat flour, 10 parts meat scraps or dried buttermilk, 4 parts ground limestone, 2 parts bone meal, 2 parts charcoal, 1 part salt.

This change should be made gradually, as chicks notice a change in the menu and sometimes are thrown off feed. From 6 weeks on the chicks should be given access to either milk or water to drink as their appetite dictates.

BERTHA LOOCK BURIED MONDAY

MISS BERTHA LOOCK PASSED AWAY SATURDAY NIGHT

Funeral Services Were Conducted Monday Afternoon

(By Rev. A. W. Gauger)

Miss Bertha Loock, who lived with her two brothers and one sister on the Loock farm about seven miles southwest of Klemme. died quite suddenly Saturday night. Up to recently she had been in her usual health but several days before her death she suffered a stroke of apoplexy. She died on May the eighth, 1926.

She was born in Pommern, Germany, on September 10, 1861, and remained there until she was twenty-one years of age when she and her brother, Frank, came to America, leaving the remainder of the family in the old country They located in Cincinnati, Ohio, where she went into employment and remained for ten years. Her brother, Frank, came to Iowa after staying there one year.

After serving as a domestic for many years she finally broke in health and thereafter was not as keen of mind nor as rugged of body as she once had been. She therefore remained at home from that time on. Her parents and one brother died many years ago, leaving her and two brothers and the only sister. They are: Frank and Robert and Miss Mary.

Funeal services were conducted on Monday afternoon at the home by Rev. A. W. Gauger. A number of the neighbors were in attendance and thereby showed their interest and sympathy. Burial took place in the Liberty Cemetery.

WHO WILL GET THE FIRST PAVED ROAD ACROSS IOWA?

The time is not far distant when a paved road entirely across Iowa will be completed, and the various routes are laying their good points before the highway commission, seeking selection as the first one—showing their beauty. There are very few states with the mileage of federal roads that Iowa has as her position puts her in the place where roads cross. It is considered that the Lincoln Highway, state road No. 6, to become federal road No. 30, has the greatest amount of traffic, while the Grant Highway, state roads No. 5 and 23, to become federal road No 20, is the shortest route across the state east and west. It is probable that one or the other of the east and west roads will be the first one paved. The A. Y. .P., northern road, has the advantage of being in a gravel country, seems to have the edge on the others. However, it is quite a qustion of hustle, and its activity will be watched with interest by the whole state. The A. Y. P. has the greatest stretch of continuous paving of any road in the state, and its trail is a scenic beauty, winding along Iowa's lakes and wooded land.

DO WE WANT TO GO BACK TO THE "GOOD OLD DAYS?"

Would you like to go back to the good old days before prices went so high? Would you? In 1876, fifty years ago, the year of the great centennial fair in Philadelphia, men worked for a dollar a day. Their beef steak cost ten cents a pound, o those items balanced about as they do now. Corn sold for 20 to 25 cents a bushel, and the farmer hired his helper for ten dollars a month. There were no automobiles, telephones, free mail delivery, electric lights, radios, electric motors or gasoline engines. Railroads were crude, traveling was dangerous, telegraphs were of short range, and very few people outside the cities read daily papers. Women folks washed and ironed by hand, farmers walked behind their field implements, and many townspeople would not use kerosene lamps because they blew up so frequently. Would you like to go back?

Yes, it costs more to live, but the profits of working are in proportion.

By the way, do you know what a great country this is for pleasant living? Let us give you a few figures, taken from one of Iowa's great dailies.

Remember there are 110,000,000 people in the United States and 1,600,000,000 in the rest of the world—about sixteen times as many as we have. We have about six per cent of the world's population.

Of each 100 pounds of sugar consumed in the world, 25 pounds are used in America. The average consumption in America is 105 pounds each per year. In the rest of the world it is only five pounds.

We have about 21,000,000 autos, while all the rest of the world has only about 3,500,000. In other words we have a car for each five people, while the average of the rest of the world is only one to five hundred.

Do you want to go back to the old days of ox teams and stage coaches?

We heard an old justice of the peace tell of a couple coming to him in a sled drawn by oxen, to be married. How would your young folks like to go back to those days?

And the men of those days, grown old now, will tell you of the poverty of those times, not their wealth

No, we do not want to go back. We like this time just as it is, and we like Iowa, and we hope the next fifty years will bring us more comforts. Iowa, as Will Rogers says in his tobacco advertising, "is not perfect, but it is the best there is."

BRITT MAN IS OUT FOR OFFICE OF SHERIFF

Mr Burt Leutzinger, of Britt, was a business caller in Klemme Monday and stopped at the Times office to place his announcement in this paper Mr Leutzinger is a candidate for Sheriff

The time s rather short, but Mr. Leutzinger says he will make a complete canvass of the county and he hopes to see every voter before the primaries He has been a resident of Britt for th past eight years, is an auctioneer by trade and for the past two years he has been secretary of the creamery at Britt, which position he still holds. He appears to be a fine man and will prove to be a strong candidate for the office. He believes himself to be well qualified and is for law enforcement. He is a staunch Republican and is appealing to that party for support.

ANNUAL VEISHEA OPENS MAY 13

Work and Life of College at Ames to Be Displayed

All Iowa is invited to Ames, May 13, 14 and 15, to attend the annual Veishea Exposition, when the work and student life of Iowa State College are to be displayed to the public. Special invitations are extended to high school students who are considering college careers.

Each department of the college will exhibit its work and ample opportunity will be given to visitors to see the work of the institution. Friday and Saturday nights, May 14 and 15, the students will present a musical comedy entitled, "Monkey Business" Over 100 will take part in this entertainment feature.

A high school baseball tournament is one of the features to be held in connection with the Veishea Exposition. Finals of the tournament will be concluded Saturday afternoon.

BACCALAUREATE AT METHODIST CHURCH

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

J. W. Gauger, Pastor

Our Mothers' Day services were well attended and inspiring. In Klemme a mixed quartette sang a beautiful song which helped to inspire. In Liberty a class of girls rendered a like service. We thank all for their ministrations. It all means service for the lord.

Liberty had its turn at the White Cross and responded in a fine way, while Klemme raised the money for the much needed repairs and renovation of the interior of our church. Here too the response was splendid with others still to be seen. When these have added their share the final count will show a clean This is most gratifying.

Next Sunday is full of sp. Our District Superintendent, Dr. Bushnell, will spend the day with us. He will preach at the morning service and thereafter the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. A baptismal service will be interspersed.

The special on Sunday evening is the Baccalaureate Service., Again Dr. Bushnell will be the speaker. Music will be furnished by the high school This service begins at 8:00 o'clock. To all these services the public is most cordially invited!

The Quarterly Conference will be held in connection with the services of the week at a time to be announced later.

Mesdames C. A. Arnold, John Tanner, Albert Lange and A. W Gauger drove to Emmetsburg Tuesday afternoon to attend the Algona District Convention of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society.

MEMORIAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED HERE SUNDAY, MAY 30

Rev. W. J. Suckow, Of Forest City Will Give The Address

The Memorial Day services will be held in Klemme on Sunday afternoon, May 30 th at the Park beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

About the same form of program will be held as in former years. Rev. W. J. Suckow, of Forest City will give the address of the day. The Klemme Legion has charge of all arrangements on the program

A complete program will lished in the Times next week

KLEMME REFORMED CHURCH

The services will be held as follows Sunday, May 16th.

10:00 A. M. English Service.
11:00 A. M. Sunday School.
8:00 P. M. German Service.

Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor.

STUTTERING CURED BY FOSTERING USE OF LEFT HAND

IOWA CITY, Iowa, May 13.—Eighty-five percent of the persons who stutter are right-handed by practice but nature intended tehm to be left-handed. This was one of he findings of Lee Travis, an S. U. I. psychologist who has made a study of stutterers.

One of the simpler experiments he used to determine which hand nature mant for a person to use, was to find out which hand led when the two hands made a certain simple movement. It is possible, according to Mr. Travis to determine wit a thousandth of a second which h begins the movement first. Stutterers are found to lead with the left hand while right-handed persons who do not stutter lead with the right hand.

Dr. S. T. Orton, director of the mobile clinic for mental diseases, has had among his patients at various clinics, children who by being forced to change from left to right-handedness in writing had in so doing developed a stutter. When these children resumed their normal left-hand writing the stuttering disappeared.

The right side of the stutterer's brain seems o be dominant and the most used, Mr. Travis explained, whereas the person is required in the majority of situations to lead with the left. This, it is thought, might give rise to a conflict in cerebral dominance which in turn might be responsible for stuttering during attempted speech.

The American Legion

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

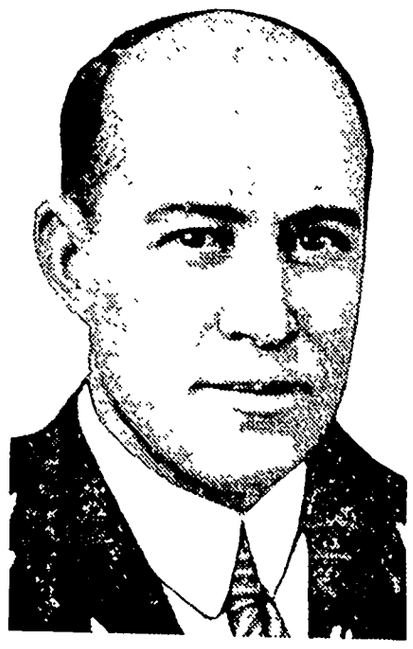
NO ILLITERACY IN 1930, DAVIS' MOTTO

The United States stands eleventh in illiteracy among the enlightened nations of the world, according to the federal census of 1920. Hughes B. Davis of Duncan, Okla., who was elected national vice commander of the American Legion for the year 1925-26 at the national convention at Omaha in 1925, thinks that condition should be eradicated and he is taking a big part in a nation-wide move to eradicate it.

Mr. Davis' work in connection with the elimination of illiteracy in the United States, and in Oklahoma especialy, brought his name before the national Legion convention. He was elected unanimously national vice commander.

As head of the Oklahoma Americanism commission of the Legion and chairman of the affiliated organizations endeavoring to stamp out illiteracy in that state, Mr. Davis hopes to launch a movement in co-operation with the United States bureau of education that will result in "No Illiteracy in 1930."

As chairman of the adult education committee of Oklahoma, Mr Davis plans to eradicate illiteracy in Oklahoma by reaching 5,000 illiterates annually. Adult schools sponsored by Mr. Davis' committee are called "moonlight schools and opportunity schools." These schools sponsored by the Legion are for adults who want some education or more education, and are not for illiterates alone. An effort is being made to establish the "moonlight schools" in every community or school district in Oklahoma where there are adult illiterates or adults who need such schools.



Hughes B. Davis.

Mr. Davis began his World war service as a private at Camp Travis, Texas, on October 3, 1917. He was assigned to Company A, Three Hundred Fifty-seventh infantry. Then followed steady promotions until captain's bars glittered on his shoulders. He commanded Company C, Three Hundred Thirty-fifth battalion tank corps, overseas and until his discharge in May, 1919.

His Legion record is long and impressive and ranges from post commander to national vice commander. He was department commander of Oklahoma in 1921-22 and was alternate national executive committeeman in 1922-23

Largest Claim Awarded to a Disabled Veteran

The largest claim ever awarded a disabled veteran by the United States Veterans' bureau was received by Perry L. Desch of Lincoln, Neb. He was recently awarded $10,772.50 in insurance and compensation and, in addition, was allowed compensation of $157.50 each month as long as he lives.

The payment of the claim represents a seven-year fight in his behalf waged by department American Legion officials and Mrs. J. P. Jensen of Blair, Neb., Legion war service secretary in Nebraska. Desch is afflicted with muscular atrophy, known as "creeping paralysis," as the result of his service in the chemical warfare division during the war. There is no hope of cure, doctors say.

War Record Necessary

"Within a few years no man will be nominated for President of the United States unless he has a World war record," predicted Harry C. Wilder, New York state commander of the American Legion, in a recent address at Rochester, N. Y. A like prediction was made by the late President Harding, who based his statement on political history.

Matthews Honored

Col. C. S. Matthews, commander of Aviators' post of the American Legion, New York City, was recently elected vice president of the newly organized International League of Aviators. The American unit of the Aviators' league will be Post No. 4 of the Legion and will be located at New York City.

HAUGEN MEASURE IS DOOMED TO DEFEAT

Tincher Farm Relief Bill Is Meet Likely to Obtain Final Approval.

Washington.—The Haugen bill providing a $350,000,000 subsidy for the farmers is regarded as killed, according to a canvass of house members. In addition to this President Coolidge told Representative Vestal of Indiana, Republican whip, that he would sign the Tincher farm relief measure if it was passed by the house.

Mr. Vestal called at the White House to obtain a definite answer from the President regarding his stand on farm relief. The President had already let it be known that he favored the so-called administration bill, drawn by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine and Representative J. N. Tincher of Kansas, and he repeated his views.

The death of the Haugen bill, indicated by the recent canvass, comes largely as a result of defection among southern Democrats who had been expected to support it on account of the $100,000,000 subsidy it contained for cotton. The bill has also been abandoned by representatives from metropolitan districts in the North Central states who joined the Republicans of the East in condemning government subsidy of any special group.

The eleven North Central states most vitally interested in the Haugen bill would, according to theory, cast 124 votes for the Haugen bill. It is believed now, however, that this will be cut to 90 and that the total Republican vote for the bill will not be over 110.

The defection of the southern Democrats is ascribed to several factors, among which is the fact that under the terms of the Haugen bill the first equalization fee would be levied in 1928—at the time of the Presidential campaign—and this would not be, it is believed, popular.

Another factor is that many southern Democrats believe that the cotton growers do not need a subsidy, given the fact that 60 per cent of their crop is marketed abroad. Still another point against southern adherence to the Haugen bill was made by Representative Edward W. Pou, Democrat, of North Carolina, who denounced the bill as typical Republican special interest legislation, entirely inconsistent with the principles of the Democratic party.

Now that the Haugen bill is believed to be a dead letter it is regarded as probable that the Tincher bill will be adopted. In the senate, however, the situation is more uncertain. The senate has pending before it the co-operative marketing bill passed by the house early in the session, which has been amended by the senate agricultural committee so as to include the principles of the Haugen bill.

This has been reported and the possibility of its being passed is being discussed, although for a long while the chances of its ever seeing the light seemed to be slim. If the senate should pass this bill, and it went into conference, the house conferees would be in the unusual position of having to pass on a measure which the house itself had not actually passed on.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

Thirty-two additional officers commissioned prior to 1913 have been ordered by the Navy department to take the course in aviation at the Pensacola school.

Vivisection of dogs is cruel, inhuman and unnecessary, witnesses declared before a senate committee considering a measure to prohibit it in the District of Columbia.

On the spacious green that slopes away from the capitol, where the Volstead law was written and passed, dandelion pickers have been busily at work for several days.

Over vigorous protests by Senators Borah, Johnson, Norris, Wheeler and Blease the United States senate granted Judge George Washington English of the eastern district of Illinois six months' respite in the trial of his impeachment for misbehavior and misdemeanors in office.

Silk Mills to Close

Sunbury, Pa. — Susquehanna Silk Mills corporation announced that all its plants would close May 15, due to poor condition of the silk trade. Four thousand employees in Sunbury, Northumberland, Lewistown, Milton, Jersey Shore and Lockhaven, Pa., and Marion, Ohio, will be affected.

Must Die by Lethal Gas

Reno, Nev.—Stanko Jukich, sentenced to die by lethal gas the week of May 10, has been denied a writ of habeas corpus in Federal District court here.

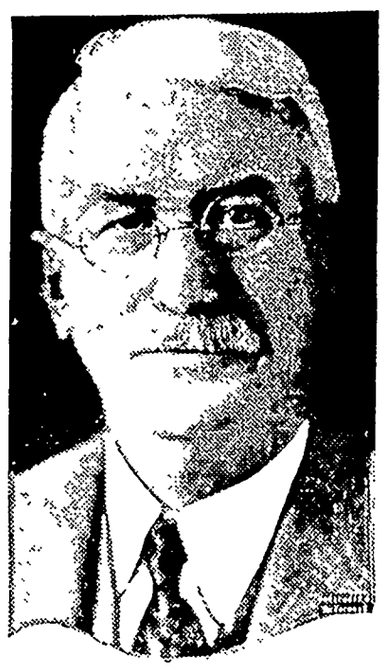
Two Years for Mail Fraud

Kansas City, Mo.—Albert C. Johnson, sixty-one year-old promoter, whose companies victimized hundreds of persons through promises of untold wealth in Mexican land, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Harding Memorial Begun

Marion, Ohio.—Ground has been broken for the memorial to be erected in honor of President and Mrs. Harding. The memorial will cost $800,000 and will be completed next fall.

HAS BIG PROJECTS



R. E. Shepherd, one of the best known irrigation experts in the West, is manager of the Twin Falls (Idaho) North Side project, and of the American Falls (Idaho) project. A dam now being constructed across the Snake river will flood the site of the Idaho city of American Falls.

TO AID U. S. IN WAR ON RUM SMUGGLING

Great Britain Offers to Help Stop Illicit Traffic

Washington.—British aid in stamping out the illicit rum traffic between England and the United States is offered in official memoranda made public by the State department.

The department announced that in response to an invitation from Great Britain Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, chief prohibition enforcement officer, and other American officials, will go to England May 22 for a conference with British officials.

It is understood that General Andrews hopes to strengthen the rum treaty between Great Britain and this government so as to effectually stop all liquor smuggling from that source into the United States. In making its offer, the British government asserted it would render the United States "such assistance as lies in its power" in the fight to stop smuggling.

In their memoranda the British government announced it would grant United States coast guard cutters right to enter islands in the Bahamas and obtain information there concerning rum ships. It was also announced that the British government was prepared to remove liquor smuggling ships from British registry upon production of reasonably good evidence that the vessel concerned is really owned or controlled in America.

The British government has also called upon registrars of shipping in the West Indies to take especial care to prevent transfers to the British flag of vessels intended for the smuggling trade.

All co-operative actions taken by the British government are not binding arrangements and will run for only one year.

Daugherty Indicted in Metal Case Plot

New York.—A federal grand jury indicted Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general of the United States, for conspiracy in connection with the American Metal company case now before the courts. Thomas W. Miller, former custodian of alien property, and John T. King, former Republican national committeeman, were indicted on the same charge.

In the indictment, the three defendants are accused of having conspired to prevent the government from receiving "honest and unbiased judgment" from Miller and Daugherty as to the turning over of the metal corporation's assets and securities. Both were acting in an official capacity for the federal administration.

In the indictment the three defendants and the late Jesse W. Smith, one-time aid to Mr. Daugherty, were to share $391,000 in Liberty bonds for arranging the deal. King is charged with receiving that sum in the specified bonds October 1, 1925; also, with accepting a $50,000 check in July, 1925, in connection with the same deal.

It is stated in the indictment that the three defendants and Smith entered into the conspiracy at least two months before Colonel Miller or Dougherty took office in 1921; and that these four men "conspired to defraud the government continuously throughout that period of time beginning January 1, 1921, and ending December 1, 1921."

Penny Postcard to Return

Washington.—Agreement has been reached by the joint congressional postal committee for a restoration of the one-cent rate on postcards.

Chicago Plasterers Strike

Chicago.—Journeymen plasterers in Chicago walked out on strike to enforce their demands for an increase of $2 in their daily wage, and a five-day week, bringing the basic daily earnings to $14.

Pass Nurses' Bill

Washington.—The house has passed a senate bill to provide for retirement of army and navy nurses who have served 20 years and reached the age of fifty.

BRITISH STRIKERS RECEIVING SUPPORT

General Tieup Is Being Augmented by Friendly Labor Organizations.

Washington.—Officials of the American Federation of Labor declined to make any statement concerning an appeal for financial assistance received from British trade unions now staging the general strike.

London.—Threat by the Trades Union congress to call out another 2,000,000 men; intervention of troops to prevent destruction of property and danger to life at the East India docks on the Thames; a prospective visit by labor leaders to Belgium for the purpose of enlisting the support of the Miners' International federation there and widespread rowdyism throughout Scotland by elements not connected with organized labor, are the outstanding features of the British general strike.

Another important incident is the news that British unions have made an appeal for funds to organized workers in the United States.

In Wales wholesale and retail grocers issued a proclamation that beyond strictly normal amounts, credit could not be extended to people in the strike areas. These two factors, when considered together, are taken as indicative of the weak financial position of the strikers.

In the meantime reports have trickled into London from various parts of the world showing that support is being given by other labor to the strikers.

From Copenhagen came a report that Danish labor unions had decided to declare a general strike and had sent preliminary notices to their employers. Great Britain gets the major part of its butter and eggs from Denmark.

Approximately 2,000,000 rubles, the second installment of a fund voted for their relief, has been transferred to the British Trades Union congress by Soviet labor unions.

In France the administrative committee of the general labor federation announced that it had approved steps taken by unions there to hinder the exportation of material to England.

Dock workers in Antwerp have decided to quit handling coal shipments for Great Britain. The crew of the Canadian Pacific steamer Melita held up its departure for several hours, awaiting authorization from the British Seamen's union.

In Mexico City it is announced that British steamers will be refused coal at Mexican ports. One thousand dollars has been wired from Mexico City for the strikers.

If the strike lasts another week unions in Canada will send out an appeal for funds to aid the British, it was announced in Ottawa.

Formal declaration of war on rioters is declared in a message published by the government in the British Gazette and broadcast by radio. It states:

"All ranks of the armed forces of the British crown are hereby informed that any action they may find necessary to take in an honest endeavor to aid civil authorities will receive both now and afterwards the full support of his majesty's government."

The effect of the government's ukase is that unless disorders in England, Scotland and Wales cease immediately, might will be invoked. It is the first time in the history of the world that such a challenge has been broadcast by radio—and to 5,000,000 or more men, strikers and strike sympathizers.

The government further announced that London's special police force will be increased if need be to 50,000 in addition to the Metropolitan force of 20,000.

O. K.'s $75,000,000 for New U. S. War Planes

Washington. — Development of an army air corps in accordance with the five-year program, recommended by its military affairs committee, was approved by the house, without serious opposition.

The expenditure of $75,000,000 for new airplanes, two 6,000,000 cubic foot capacity dirigibles, and a number of training balloons, is expected to make available 1,728 airplanes for active flying units of the regular army and 371 for allocation to National Guard and organized reserve flying units.

Opposes Aid to U. S. in War

Manila.—The Philippines labor congress passed a resolution recommending that labor remain neutral in a war between the United States and any Pacific power.

Steal $10 but Miss $10,000

Thorp, Wis.—Robbers who attempted to enter the vault of the People's State bank here obtained $10, but overlooked $10,000 when they were frightened away as the burglar alarm sounded.

Grandstand Builder Sentenced

Los Angeles, Cal.—Paul G. Mahoney, contractor, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the New Year's day grandstand crash at the Pasadena rose tournament, has been sentenced to San Quentin penitentiary for from one to ten years.

Five Coal Miners Killed

Pottsville, Pa.—Five miners were killed and four injured by an explosion of gas in the South Penn colliery.

Community Building

Unkempt City Shows Lack of Enterprise

If cities allow themselves to become slouchy, unkempt, and dirty, they are certain to lose in self-respect and pride, and from that loss they suffer materially, industrially, and commercially, as well as esthetically, morally and spiritually. Strangers are not far wrong in inferring that a dirty town is an unenterprising town, inhabited by unenterprising people, people "who do not care," and are unwilling to take pains. A worse advertisement there could hardly be. It would be a wonderful thing — wonderful even from the business point of view—if the advertising men could portray Indianapolis to the world as the city of pure air, clean skies, and brilliant sunshine. It is in such towns that people are seeking residence, for reasons both of comfort and health. It is possible for Indianapolis to make just that sort of appeal. Under the aggressive leadership which it is now creating it should, and we trust will, be possible for it to make that appeal. Everything within reason should be done to make the town handsome and beautiful—and clean. There are many cities in America that are abundantly endowed with factories, but there are few that are clean, and very few that are beautiful. Here, then, is a chance for real distinction, and the sort of distinction that we can advertise legitimately, and with excellent effect.—Indianapolis News.

Home Ownership Shows Pride in Citizenship

"There is no question that while one is in possession of health, sanity and cool judgment, he should decide to put a little of his earnings away for a certain wise, loving and practical purpose, the finest of which is the acquiring of a good home." C. P. Goodson told interested home-builders who attended his lecture at Detroit.

"When a man owns his own home, he has title in one of the world's best possessions. Figuratively speaking, a home owner has hammered a stake into the ground and tied his heartstrings to it. His pride in his own accomplishment is translated into civic pride in his community, which he has helped to grow and prosper.

"The acquiring of a home is now an everyday affair," he pointed out, "and rightly so, for today it is a decidedly easier undertaking than formerly. Reliable builders, bankers, trust companies and building and loan societies are willing to aid the home builder in financing his home."

Love of Home Town

This is your Andalusia. You who live here constitute the town. All its future greatness depends in a large measure upon your ability to shape the trend of thought and action so as to insure greater growth. Those who lived and planned for the city and passed on left us a heritage which we are honor bound to improve upon and pass on to the next generation with conditions much improved and with her growth and progress unimpaired. May we not think always of Andalusia as our town; as a thing of which we are a part and that whatever is good for Andalusia reflects creditably upon us? People who live long in a town learn to love the town and those who love their home town always stand ready to work and sacrifice for their town.—Adalusia (Ala.) Star.

House That "Fits"

The house which you buy comes to you like a second-hand garment—made, fitted and ornamented for some one else. Living in it always will be a matter of putting up with conditions which you only half like. And life is far too short for that kind of living. On the other hand the house built by yourself is essentially and in every respect yours—built after your own ideas, to fit your needs and to satisfy your desires.—New York Herald-Tribune.

The Town Forest

The town forest is a handy local picture of the value of the forest. It is the property of the members of the community. They own it and protect it. They will be quick to punish those who endanger it with fire. They will actively oppose unwarranted trespass upon it. Thus the citizens of the community come to have the view of all forests. As an example and lesson alone, the value of the community forest is great.

Home as Anchorage

Communities that are better than other communities generally will be found to be those in which the custom of families owning the houses they occupy is rooted strongly. Such ownership tends to preserve the best features of social order and prevent the intrusion of evil.

Light From the Earth

Earthshine is the faint light that is visible on one portion of the moon which is not directly illuminated by the sun. It is due to the light which the earth reflects on the moon, and is most conspicuous soon after new moon, when the sun-illuminated part of the moon's disk is smallest.

WOMAN COULD NOT SLEEP

Her Mother-in-Law Knew A Remedy

Mrs. Belle Thompson was in a very weak and run-down condition for four years. She had great difficulty in getting to sleep at night and even then did not sleep soundly. She would wake up again and again. Besides this her appetite was poor. "My mother-in-law told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash," she writes. "I took six bottles of the Vegetable Compound and I was not the same woman at all. I could sleep and would get up in the morning singing and feeling fine. I am the mother of three children and always after the babies came I had to take treatments, but I can truly say that this last time I have only used the Sanative Wash. It does me more good than the treatments. It keeps me on my feet to care for my children and I do most of my work. I feel it my duty to let you know how both of the medicines have helped me." —Mrs. Belle Thompson, R. 2, Rossville, Georgia.

Are you on the Sunlit Road to Better Health? If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped others, why shouldn't it help you?

FOR OVER 200 YEARS

haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions.

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

correct internal troubles, stimulate vital organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine Gold Medal.

ECZEMA

Relieve that itching, burning torment and start the healing with

Resinol

Teak Has High Place

Famous throughout the world for its amazing durability, teak wood is said to be the most useful of all woods. In the old cave temples of western India, says the National Geographic Magazine, teak beams have been found solid and sound, which must have been put in place 2,000 years ago. Once seasoned, it does not warp or split.

Unlike oak, teak will not decay when it comes in contact with nails, and the white ants, enemies of most other woods, will not eat holes in the teak beams. Teak is raised on many plantations of the Malay peninsula to produce lumber for use in railway coaches, the interior finish of steamers, in furniture and wherever a hard, durable wood capable of taking a brilliant polish is desired.

Patience is a necessary ingredient of genius.—Disraeli.

Young vigor to old folks

"Flu left me sickly and weak. Could not sleep or digest food normally; lost 25 lbs. Tanlac brought back my strength, I gained 49 lbs. and have clear healthy complexion." Mrs. M. Jepsen, 1303 So. 15th St., Burlington, Iowa

One of Tanlac's greatest blessings is the new life and vigor it brings to old folks. Every day men and women up in the seventies and eighties thank us for Tanlac's wondrous benefits.

Tanlac is a natural tonic, made from roots, barks and rare herbs. Harmless to man or child. It cleans the blood, stirs up the liver and puts digestive organs in working order.

If your body is weak and run-down, if you lack ambition, can't eat or sleep, you'll be delighted with Tanlac's results. Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation.

CORNS

In one minute the pain is Gone!

Gets at the cause of corns

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads work like magic, because they remove the cause—pressing or rubbing of shoes. The pain goes instantly. Amateur paring or burning with "drops" (acid) is dangerous—and doesn't stop the cause. Zino-pads are safe, sure, antiseptic, healing. They protect while they heal. Get a box at your druggist's or shoe dealer's—35c.

For Free Sample write The Scholl Mfg. Co., Chicago

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads

Put one on—the pain is gone

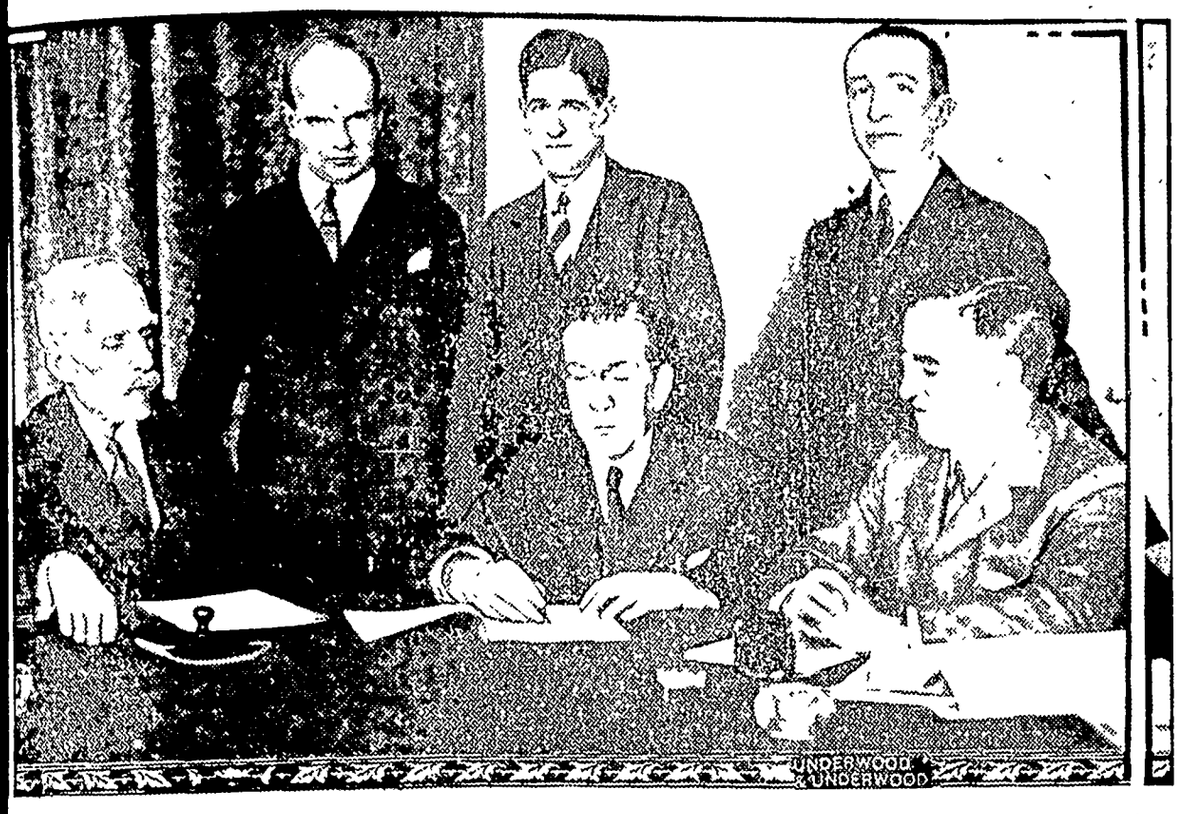
California Freshmen Are Put in the Stocks

The stocks, so familiar a sight in village squares when America was young, returned to the campus of the ersity of Southern California, Los Angeles, as a method of correcting the delinquencies of the fresh- The photograph shows the stocks, erected by the sophomores, populated by freshmen who have trans- ed the rules of conduct laid down for them by the upper-class men.

Planting the Tree of Pan-American Journalism

Walter Williams, president of the First Pan-American Congress of Journalists, puts the first spadeful of dirt about the tree which was planted in the grounds of the Pan-American union to commemorate the meeting held in Washington.

French Debt Funding Agreement Is Signed



After many months of negotiation an agreement for funding the French debt to the United States has been ned in Washington. The picture of the signing shows, left to right, around the table: Secretary Mellon, Ambas- dor Berenger and Undersecretary of the Treasury Garrard B. Winston. Standing: E. Haguenin, inspector finance; F. G. Blair of the war loans division, and R. Lacour-Gayet, financial attache of the French embassy.

Uncle Sam as Woman's Boss

Not Recognized Before Civil War as Government Employees.

Washington.—A woman was recently elected mayor of Seattle. Another announced her intention of accepting the candidacy to succeed her husband as governor. The mandate committee of the League of Nations included a woman delegate. In Washington, D. C., a woman is in general charge of applying the law to bootleggers.

Yet only little more than 50 years ago a woman, to procure employment from the government, had to conceal her sex. She had to apply for her work, the copying of land warrants for the general land office, in the name of a male relative. It was done at home and she received $1,200 a year, the salary received by men for that service.

In 1862 a woman was allowed a clerk's desk in the Treasury department—to substitute for a man. She was accorded the privilege of replacing her husband, who had fallen ill, in order that the family might be supported. She did her husband's work and received his salary—not because she was as competent as he, but because she registered as a man.

To the Treasury department also belongs the distinction of first employing women in their own right. Gen. Francis Elias Spinner, appointed United States treasurer by President Lincoln, conceived the idea as a means of saving the government money in those expensive war times.

"A woman can use scissors better than a man," he told Salmon P. Chase, secretary of the treasury, "and she will do it cheaper. I want to employ women to cut the treasury notes."

Women Flocked In.

Following the consent of the treasury chief, scores of needy women, whom the war had left bereft of supporters, flocked to General Spinner's little room in the nation's bank. Here he slept, to be within call in case of trouble. Here every woman was sure of a hearing.

She did not receive an official appointment nor had she any official existence. She was merely handed a pair of scissors and paid $600 a year out of the fund provided by congress for temporary clerks. Cutting treasury notes into quarters was considered "light work," but, as each note trimmer discovered, a few hours of it wearied the shoulders and blistered the fingers.

Appreciating this opportunity to support themselves, however, more and more women beset the general for jobs. Believing that the nimbleness of their fingers and their patience would be assets in the manipulation of fractional currency, he opened this field to them and also the detection of counterfeits.

The results pleased him. Speaking of women as counterfeit detectors, he said: "A man will examine a note systematically and deduce logically from the imperfect engraving, blurred vignette or indistinct signature that it is counterfeit—and be wrong four cases out of ten. A woman picks up a note, looks at it in a desultory fashion of her own and says, 'That's counterfeit.' 'Why?' 'Because it is,' she answers promptly—and is right eleven cases out of twelve."

Many Criticisms Heard.

Notwithstanding the satisfaction of the employer, criticisms were received from indignant persons all over the country, individuals shocked by the radical action of the treasurer. Even at home he encountered opposition. Hugh McCulloch, successor to Secretary Chase, scorned the presence of a tea pot on each window ledge. "There are too many tea pots in the treasury of the nation," he complained—after which remark the innocent kettle became the universal emblem of woman's unfitness for government service.

"Nobody ever heard that the costly cigars and tobacco which filled the man clerk's 'nooning,' to the exhilaration of body and soul, was a like sign of his inability to perform prolonged service without the aid of stimulants," said Mary Clemmer Ames in her book, "Ten Years in Washington," "but the tea pots were ridiculed out and ceased to distill the gentle beverage for the woman worker at her noonday lunch."

Congressmen, necessarily concerned with increasing their constituency, vented their eloquence in the deprecation of women workers, so that the males might be favored. Arguing that a woman was not a clerk but an employee, they decreed she could never, regardless of her services, earn more than $900 a year. On the other hand, no man, were he only a messenger executing the instructions of a woman, could receive less than $1,200.

Defenseless, women dared not complain. As one worthy official told them, they "were only here by sufferance and could all be turned out tomorrow."

A few appealed to the secretary of the treasury, but his retort that "$400 is enough for any woman to receive for her work" soon silenced them. In the Department of the Interior the secretary constantly demoted women workers to make place for the men.

Ball Continued to Roll.

Even the women's friend in congress, Representative H. L. Dawes of Massachusetts, opposed all projects to raise their pay because, by making their humble positions desirable to men, they would be compelled to leave the government service altogether.

Despite antagonism, their first friend, General Spinner, remained their ally.

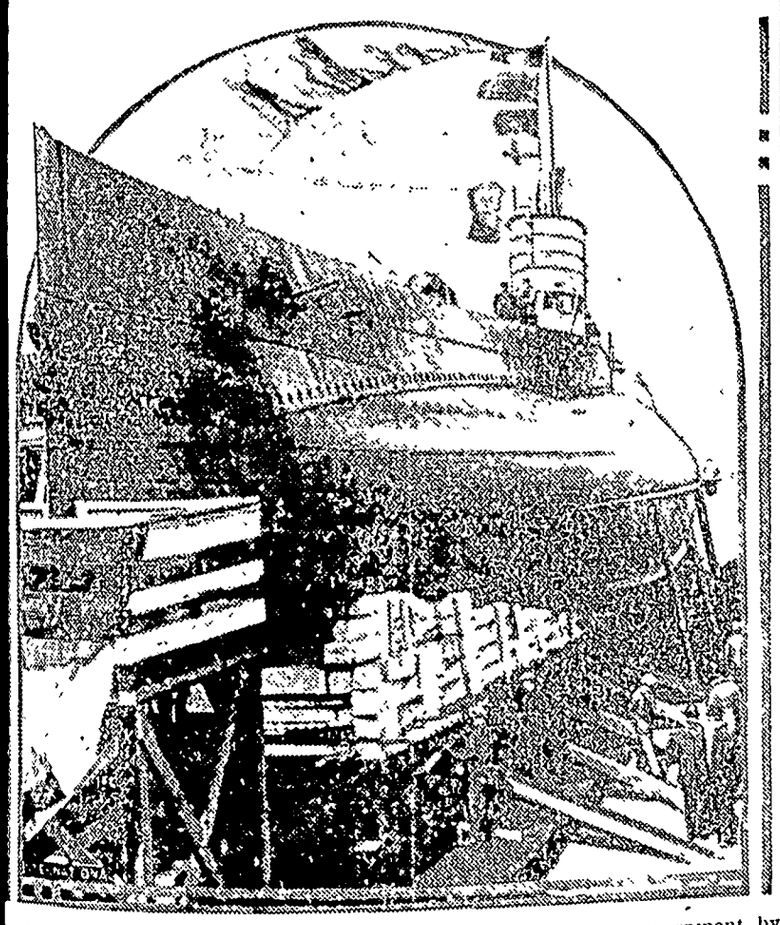
"The experiment of employing females as clerks," he wrote in his report of 1868, "has been, so far as this office is concerned, a complete success. The truth is that many of the female clerks now do as much work, if not more, and do it as well, if not better, for $900 per annum, than some of the male clerks are able to do who receive a yearly salary of twice that amount.

"The female clerks, with but few exceptions, are subject to greater risks of loss by reason of miscounts or by passing counterfeits, for which each one is pecuniarily liable and responsible, than nine-tenths of the male clerks, whose principal occupations are books and accounts. Right and fair dealing, therefore, demand that their pay should be assimilated more nearly than it now is to that of the other sex for like services and responsibilities."

A generation later, when the woman's movement was progressing, General Spinner wrote: "The fact that I was instrumental in introducing women to employment in the offices of the government gives me more real satisfaction than all the other deeds of my life."

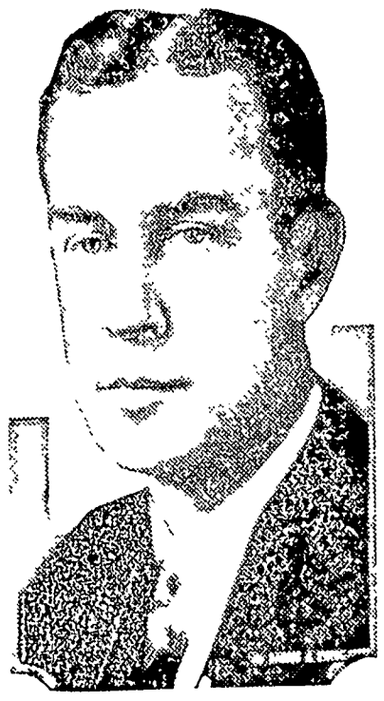
General Spinner had started a fertile movement indeed. Today there are 7,993 women in the storehouse of the nation's billions, 500 more than the male number. From the harsh employer of a handful of unrecognized women, Uncle Sam has developed, in little more than half a century, into the bountiful boss of 79,575 women, and the chief of a woman's public service that includes two governors, three congresswomen, an assistant attorney general, a state Supreme court judge, many minor judges, three state secretaries, about 150 state legislators, two diplomats and two state superintendents of public instruction.—New York Times.

Peru Has Subs Built in U. S.



Launching of the R-2, submarine built for the Peruvian government by he New London Ship company at Groton, Conn. A sister vessel is being nished there and they will go to Callao, Peru, under their own power some ime this summer.

DORSEY RICHARDSON



New photograph of Dorsey Richardson of the Department of State, who was appointed by President Coolidge as a member of the American mission to attend the preliminary arms conference in Geneva, Switzerland.

CASS GILBERT

Cass Gilbert has just been elected president of the National Academy of Design, succeeding Edwin Howland Blashfield. Mr. Gilbert designed the Woolworth building and other structures in New York, the state capitols of Minnesota, West Virginia and Arkansas, the public libraries of Detroit and St. Louis, and the general plans for the Universities of Texas and Minnesota.

MEMORIAL OF A THEFT

This sign has been erected to the memory of the thief that stole a tree from one of the pots that ornament the walk in front of a dairy in Los Angeles.

Laundries Boom

Fresno, Cal.—The laundries are busy as the result of black rain. Soot from the San Luis Obispo oil fire, 90 miles away, fell with the rain, soiling light clothing.

Winners of the Balloon Race

Ward T. Van Orman (left) and his aide, W. M. Martin (right), who won the national elimination balloon race and set a new record for distance. Starting from Little Rock, their balloon, the Goodyear IV, traveled 815 miles, landing near Petersburg, Va.

THREE ARE GIVEN MEDALS FOR DEEDS OF HEROISM

Rescues From Fire, Snow and Water Basis for De Molay Life-Saving Awards.

Kansas City, Mo.—Heroism medals for saving lives have been awarded to three members of the Order of De Molay by the grand council of that organization. Those honored are William H. Elkins of Baltimore, Md.; Arthur F. Whitehead, Norfolk Downs, Mass., and Samuel Pierce, Alameda, Cal. Announcement was made by Frank S. Land of this city, founder and grand scribe.

Elkins saved the life of Mrs. Barbara Wagoner, Baltimore, when the excursion steamer Three Rivers burned in Chesapeake bay, July 4, 1924. With the fire raging on all sides, he lowered himself from the top deck of the steamer to the lower deck, hand-over-hand down a rope, with Mrs. Wagoner clinging to his waist. On the lower deck life preservers were secured and they jumped into the water, where he supported her until picked up by boats from the Allegheny.

Whitehead and a companion, Joe Dodge, rescued Max Englehardt, keeper of Tip Top House, Mount Washington, in New Hampshire, when he was overcome in a blizzard, October 13, 1925. Englehardt, fearing the house would be blown down, wrote a short note saying he was starting for the bottom of the mountain and left in the raging storm. Several hours later Whitehead and Dodge arrived at Tip Top House, found the note and, fearing for the keeper's life, started out to find him. After a search of several hours they found him in a snowbank with just his head and one hand protruding. Dodge went for aid, while Whitehead, half carrying and half dragging the old man, started down the mountain. He kept Engelhardt from freezing to death through physical exertion until met by the rescue party led by Dodge.

Pierce saved the lives of Mrs. Anna Cushing and six-year-old Frances Haworth of Alameda, February 26, 1926. The girl had fallen from a sea wall into San Francisco bay and Mrs. Cushing went to her aid. Both were struggling in the water when Pierce, attracted by the screams of Frances' playmates, plunged in, brought the child to safety and then Mrs. Cushing.

The De Molay heroism award was recently created by the grand council.

Tip to Flappers

Egham, England.—Miss Selina Furnival, who is one hundred years old, attributes the lack of wrinkles in her face to abstention from cosmetics. She looks like her mother, "the belle of Bath," one of the famous beauties of her time.

The last January eclipse of the sun was the first total eclipse to be seen in the British Isles since 1734.

The Junior class and their class teacher, Miss Abel, certainly used their heads in planning the Junior-Senior banquet, in keeping the cost down and "living within their income" we might say. The banquet, decorations, flowers and the entire bill amounted to a few cents over $52. The Junior class had earned and put in the treasury $50.99, so they have to raise about a dollar to square accounts. We think that is mighty fine. They had as good a banquet as one good wish for, their decorations were certainlp beautiful and we want to give Miss Abel due credit for planning and managing the affair. Miss Abel has been with the school for two years, has been an excellent teacher, has taken part in community affairs when ever she was asked to sing or otherwise take part. She will be greatly missed in our schools next year.

The BULL'S EYE

Editor and General Manager
WILL ROGERS,

Another "Bull" Durham advertisement by Will Rogers, Ziegfeld Follies and screen star, and leading American humorist. More coming. Watch for them.

The BULL'S EYE is a publication that goes to print. When does it go to print? It goes to print when ever there is something to print. A lot of papers, in fact to be exact, all of them, have a certain time to be issued, regardless of the news. If nothing has happened that day or that week they have to come out just the same. They want you to pay for them whether they are any good to you or not. Why should a paper be printed if there is nothing new to print?

Sing Sing don't electrocute a man at a certain hour every day. They wait until they get a good man and then electrocute him They don't have a set time or custom, and that is the way the BULL'S EYE is operated. We don't go to press at ten o'clock tonight just because we went to press at ten last night. No, sir! We wait until we have something that is worth while to our myriads of readers. We get them accustomed to the fact that when they see the BULL'S EYE, they say to themselves, "The BULL has seen something worth while," and that is why the Paper is out today. Because it has news for you.

We saw a man smoking a sack of "BULL" DURHAM and he was getting so much satisfaction out of it that we feel it our duty to tell those that never used "BULL" DURHAM just how they too can get satisfaction.

Will Rogers

P S. Remember, you won't see us again until we have something worth while.

P. P. S. There is going to be another piece in this paper soon. Look for it.

"BULL" DURHAM
Guaranteed by
The American Tobacco Co.
INCORPORATED
111 Fifth Avenue, New York City

Additional Klemme News

Supt. Peters, of Burt, Iowa, was a visitor in Klemme one day this past week. He was formerly superintendent of the Goodell school.

We are agents for the Modern Cleaners, Garner. Bring us your cleaning and pressing work. J. C. Thomas Barber Shop. 1tc

Max Barz enjoye a visit from his uncle and aunts Wednesday when Mr and Mrs. Ira Thomas, and Mrs. Raven and son of Waterloo came for a visit at the Mrs. Lena Scheorder home.

You can make the summer months worth $300 to $400. Walter Anguish did it, so did Ruth Kelly and hundreds of others. Special outline of plan sent on request.—The Hamilton University, Mason City, Iowa. 1

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Trumbell attended a county mail carrier's party at Britt last week one evening. The mail carriers in the county get together quit often and have a good time.

Mrs Ben Karter and Mrs. Clarence Larsen visited at Mason City last Ahursday Mrs. R. W. Elder, who was staying with her daughter Reva at the hospital returned home with them until the next day.

Mr. and Mrs Paul Grange and son Derance, and Paul's father, Mr. S S Grange, drove to Ruthven Saturday for a visit with relatives. Paul and family returned to Klemme S. S. remained for a longer visit.

Mesdames, Walt Pritchard, Clarence Barnes, Charles Frisbee and Charles Merten, all of Garner, were Klemme visitors yesterday morning They were out on a "political spree" we might say, drumming up votes for Cummins.

Mr L D. McMichael, of Eldora, was in town Monday on matters of business. Mr. McMichael informed us that he was contemplating on moving to Klemme in the near future. He says Klemme is quite centrally located for new territory that he expects to open.

Some of the ladies in Klemme have asked us whether or not they have to take out a license to fish. According to the Iowa Fish and Game Laws, women do not require a license to fish Section 1719 says: "No male person over the age of eighteen years shall fish in the stocked lakes of the state without first procuing a fishing license, nor shall any non-resident fish in any state waters without first procuring a fishing license" Go ahead ladies, fish all you want to.

The "cooking party" given by the Central States Electric Co., at the Idle Hour theatre last Thursday afternoon was quite well attended. A demonstrator was in charge who showed the ladies the many advantages of using electricity in the home as a time and money saver. The ladies who attended were given free tickets, the stub of which was placed in a box and later drawn out. Mrs. W F Lau received the electric iron, and Mrs Porter of Garner was given six light bulbs. In all the meeting was quite interesting and instructive to the ladies.

Ralph Blank, a former Klemme boy, a son of T. Blank of this city, is somewhat of an inventor. Ralph is with the Rock Island and is motor car inspector at Estherville. He recently constructed an automobile to run on rails He built it with a Mitchell engine and a Buick body, fitted it with flanged wheels and cow-catcher in front and a big tail light behind. Friday morning he took some of the "high hat boys" for a ride and came through Klemme. Ralph can do sixty per with the car and has it fitted with a shrill whistle so you can hear it coming.

The fishing season for the northern zone of Iowa opens Saturday, May 15th. The season is open on such game fish as pike, crappie, catfish pickerel, and perch and other game fish except black bass, which cannot be taken until June 15th. Pike and pickerel must be not less than twelve inches in length, rock or silver bass not less than seven inches, crappie not less than eight inches, perch less than seven inches nor sunfish less than four inches. The catch limit is not more than 25 of said kinds of fish in the aggregate of which total not more than ten may be pike or bass. It is well for the fisheman to get a copy of the laws and read up a bit on what you can and cannot do.

Goodell News

(By Special Correspondent)

Fernon and Mae Griggs were shopping in Clear Lake Saturday.

Miss Paine spent the week end with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Boiler visited at Goodell Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kahrs visited at the Lamer home Sunday night.

Jay Griggs was transacting business in Crystal Lake Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker, of Belmond, spent a few days with their son here last week.

Class Day was post poned from Wednesday, May 12th, to Wednesday, May 1th9.

Chas. Conklin returned home Tuesday after having spent several months with his parents in Ohio.

The Junior-Senior Banquet, "An Old Fashioned Garden," was held in the U. B. Church basement, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Mary Dennis returned home Friday night after spending two months with her son in Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Don't forget the Glee Club and Orchestra program given in the Opera House Friday evening, May 14th. Admission will be 10 and 25 cents.

The Goodell town base ball team played the high school team Monday afternoon. The high school was victorious; the score stood 18 to 6.

Miss Avis Wilson, who is in the Hampton hospital suffering from diabetis and rheumatism was given a blood transfusion Monday.

Edith Halfpop closed a very successful term of school at District No. 8 of Avery Township Friday, May 7. The patrons enjoyed a picnic there the last day.

The play, "Bashful Mr. Bobbs," was given Friday night. The play drew a full house and the seniors were given many compliments on their fine acting of parts.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griggs, of Iowa Falls, and Misses Della and Jeanne Grub, of Dickens, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sherwood and family and John Griggs ate Sunday dinner at the J. J. Cook home.

Ten thousand miles of high voltage lines connect and interconnect Iowa cities and towns, the state leading the country in this respect. These lines extend into every county and nearly every township of the state. This is a development of recent years as 12 years ago there was scarcely a hundred miles of such lines. Iowa cities and towns are more completely electrified than those of any other state in the union. A recent survey showed that 99.4 per cent of the urban population of the state is located in cities and towns that have electric service available. There is no town of more than 300 population that does not have electric service. Iowa farms are gradually being linked up with electricity.

Cougars have been exceptionally active during the winter in killing mule deer in the Murderers Creek section of Grant County, Ore. Government Hunter Edgar Watkins, on February 24, after finding the well-snowed-in tracks of three of these animals, tracked them all one dap and part of another until he found the big cats eating a freshly killed mule deer. After some fast work on the part of his dogs he shot all three cougars, and ended the depredations on deer in that section.

"SHE ALLUS HAS"

The rain it poured;
The sea it roared
The sky was draped in black.
The old ship rolled—
She pitched and bowled—
And lost her charted track.
"Oh, dear,, oh, dear,
Sir, will it clear?"
Loud wailed a dame on deck;
The skipper said,
As they hove ahead,
"She allus HAS, by heck."

Alfalfa produces about three times as much feed per acre as timothy and each pound of it is worth about three of timothy. Alfalfa can be grown anywhere in Iowa.

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of Cpunty Recorder, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—Clarissa Peterson Abel tc

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recordor subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Fern Peck Katter, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination to the office of Representative from Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Marion A. Fell, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Representative in the state legislature, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary election in June, 1926. —C. H. Nelson, Garner, Ia. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for representative for Hancock County in the Iowa State Legislature subject to the decision of the voters at the primaries in June 1926.—Ole T. Rikansrud, R. R. No. 4, Kanawha, Iowa.

FOR COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock county subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen. c

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby annunce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primaries.—R. W. Sinclair, Garner Ia. *

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primary Election. —H. C. Meyer. c

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election for County Supervisor subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—A. O. Christensen. *

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary election.—F. J. Urich, Garner, Iowa.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for reelection for County Supervisor subject to the Republican voters at the June Primary election 1926.—Fred Oxley, Corwith.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters a the Republican primary in June, 1926.—G. H. Lade, Garner.

FOR TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—John Suurballe. c

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primaries in June, 1926.—C. A. Halverson, Miller. Iowa.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary Election to be held June 1926.—Herb Gartin.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June 1926 primaries.—E P. "Peck" Johnson.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 1926 Primary.—Bert Leutzinger Britt.

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney, Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the Republican primary in June 1926.—Verne Grau.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primaries.—V. S. White Britt.

The Cash Store

We have a nice selection of Mens and Boys Dress Shirts, Fancy Neck Ties, Socks Hat, Caps, Shoes and Oxfords—all in the latest styles and patterns.

See our assortment and make your selection early, while our assortment is good.

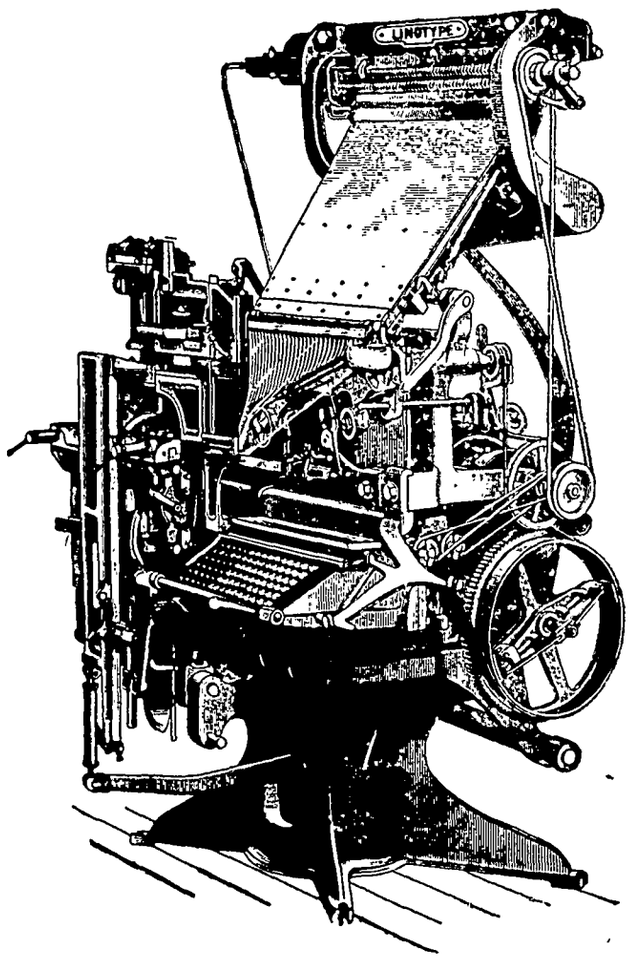
Special

25 percent discount on Jewelry
Nice for Graduation Gifts

Pay Cash and Pay Less

Jno. N. Day's Cash Store

You can get it here--
Printed Better



Our Linotype Is Always READY!

Ask Us For Prices

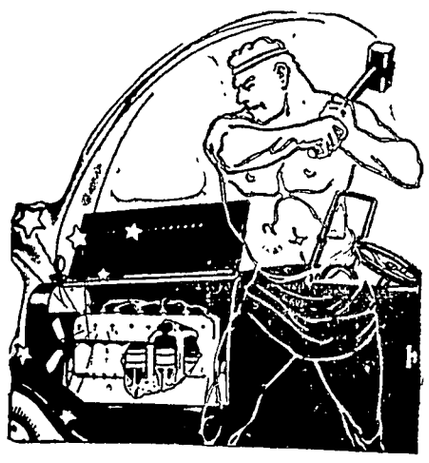
Times Print Shop

Marvin Weigman of Garner, was Klemme last Wednesday introduc- his friend, Mr. Vernon R. Scerger, of Des Moines, who is a didate for Attorney General of Iowa Mr. Seeburger is a fine man to meet He is well qualified for the office he seeks and has a good record back of him The Times acknowledges a pleasant call from the gentlemen mentioned

Stormizing Oil—pumping and motor knocks! Stops

STOP

the Knocks--



that Rob Your Motor of its Life and Power

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Klemme, Iowa

Save Money!

ORDER YOUR COAL NOW

We can save you a lot of money and furnish you with better coal if you will give us your order NOW! At this time of the year we can buy the best coal from the mines we select—later we have to take what we can get. Order now—you will get better coal for less money.

That Car Load of Tankage is here now!

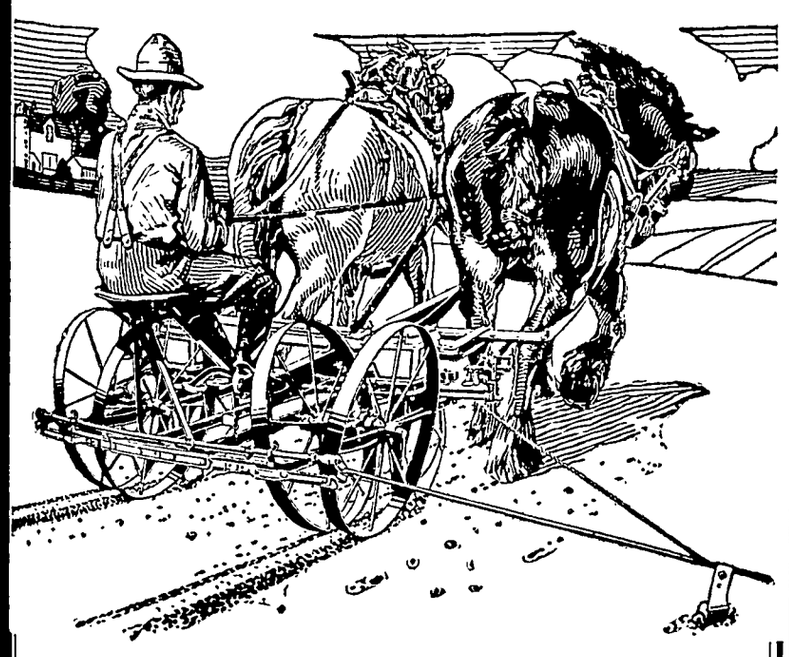
POULTRY FEEDS

We carry a full line of Dickinson's "GLOBE BRAND" of Chicken Feeds, etc., and have on hand:

"GLOBE" CHICK STARTER
"GLOBE" GROWING MASH
"GLOBE" SCRATCH FEED, etc.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"



HAYES

—FOUR WHEEL PLANTER—

"Plants Like Human Hands"

EARLY MAY MEAN BUSHELS AT HARVEST

You can get into the field earlier in May with a Hayes Four-Wheel Planter. The wheels clean themselves; no miring in the mud or waiting for draws to dry. Plants and covers shallow in the cold, wet ground. A Hayes Planter will save its cost the first year in added production.

We are now displaying the Hayes Four-Wheel Planter. Come in and inspect it.

H. LAU SONS

SANITATION SAVES LIVES OF CHILDREN

United States Aids Great Work in Santiago.

Washington.—Should a fire sweep through a children's hospital in Santiago, Chile, and snuff out the lives of 789 little children, millions would feel keenest sympathy and presidents and kings would send messages of condolence.

Less spectacular, but far more cheering, is the actual news that 789 lives of children under one year old have been saved in a six months' period in that one city.

And the United States had an important part in this magic boon of modern medicine.

The circumstances emerge into the news because of the announcement of the new sanitary code regulations and the decision of the United States public health service to permit Dr. J. D. Long of its staff to remain in Santiago as technical adviser to the Chilean ministry of hygiene.

Repaying Medicinal Favors.

"It seems only a bit of poetic justice that the United States should minister to the land whose deserts make the world's gardens grow, bind the sores and wounds of mankind, and alleviate the pain of intense suffering in hospitals from New York to Singapore—for those are the effects of the nitrates, the iodine and the cocaine that Chile exports," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society.

"Medicine has wrought powerful changes in the geography of the world," the bulletin continues. "Quinine, for example, has been man's chief ally in conquering the tropics. And recent applications of medical science have been estimated to have saved more lives among the allied nations since the World war than were lost in that titanic struggle.

"Now Chile, by the creation of its national health service, with the assistance of the expert from our country, has embarked upon a program which she believes, at a conservative estimate, will save her nearly 30,000 lives a year.

"Such a program, through the length of her 2,700 miles, from the nitrate beds of Tarapaca to the forests of Tierra del Fuego, and her rich intermediate belts of copper, iron, fruits and the only sizable coal deposits in South America, will have an important bearing upon her future geography and upon the world supply of the raw materials and resources she possesses.

"An official resume of the work performed by the national health service since its inception last year, just received at the headquarters of the National Geographic society, tells how a fly elimination campaign, through refuse removal, and certain other sanitary provisions resulted in cutting down the infant mortality rate during the last six months of 1925 by 45.4 per cent over the deaths of 1923; and showed a falling of 31.4 per cent in the number of deaths in 1925 over those of 1924.

What Chile Has Done.

"The elongated republic, with its one-fourth area of islands, has been divided into ten sanitary zones, a corps of health officers has been created, quarantine regulations have been put into effect, physicians licensed and compelled to report communicable diseases, sewage disposal plants installed in small communities, municipal sanitary codes drafted and physical examinations of school children are being gradually provided.

"Infant mortality in Chile has been approximately one-third the total mortality. Of those babies that die under one year of age about 60 per cent die under one month old. Therefore, the report states, a great saving of life, perhaps from 80 to 90 per cent of these deaths, will be prevented by proper hospital maternity provision for mothers.

"Four cities, Santiago, Los Leones, San Antonio and Talca, henceforth are to have their water supplies sterilized with chlorine. Certain cities which have had inadequate water for domestic purposes, including Valparaiso, are being surveyed for an augmented supply.

"In the water shortage, many towns suffer from a condition which makes for Chile's prosperity Northern Chile is the one arid region of the world which doesn't want more rain. If the climate changed and heavy rains fell periodically the water would gradually dissolve the nitrate and wash away the country's unique reservoir of wealth."

Clock Gives Up After Running 400 Years

East Hendren, Berkshire, Eng.—Day in and day out for more than 400 years the church clock of this village has told the correct time, but at last it has been stopped for repairs, much to the inconvenience of villagers.

There is an ancient clock at Windsor Castle which, according to history, was given by Henry VIII to Anne Boleyn on the day they were married in 1533. It is still going. The oldest public clock now in service with its original mechanism is said by the Horological Journal to be one in the Rye parish church, which was set up in 1515.

SIOUX DEMAND MANY MILLIONS FROM U. S.

Tribal Claims Are Based on Treaty Rights.

Pierre, S. D.—Millions of dollars would come to the Sioux of the Dakotas if they can establish all their claims against the government in the action now before the court of claims on the showings they make.

This action started on the demand of the Sioux for compensation for the Black Hills, a territory which they allege was taken from them in violation of treaty rights and on the signatures of the heads of a few bands of the Sioux, instead of a general agreement. The value they put upon this tract is $156,543,750, with interest from 1876.

Go Back to 1851.

Besides the claim for the Black Hills the action carries with it claims which have been made by the Sioux under different treaty regulations, dating back to 1851, with interest running back that far on some of the claims. The direct claims without interest amount to approximately $217,000,000 for the general tribal funds and approximately $5,000,000 for various bands, and the interest charge will more than double this. The government will present offsets which will wipe out a portion of this claim, and just how much ever will come to the Indians is a problem.

These claims are the result of a demand made by the Sioux for pay for the Black Hills section. When the issue came up an agreement was reached by which they were to gather up all the old claims they made and put them into one action.

Claims for Hay.

Several claims are made for hundred thousand dollars each for hay cut upon the reservations for forage for teams used by the early military expeditions in the upper Missouri river country, and another good-sized bill for wood cut for building forts and for fuel by these expeditions.

Still another item is an estimated amount which should have been spent for education of the roving tribes between the years 1868 and 1898, under a treaty of 1868. Then there is a charge for farming implements and teams which were to be supplied under another treaty of the distant past, estimating the number of Sioux who were ready and willing to farm but could not do so on account of lack of the proper equipment.

Irishman, 125 Years Old, Walks Mile for Pension

London.—Ireland, famous breeding ground of hale and hearty old men, has produced a supercentenarian. He is William Smith of Dromara, County Down, who has celebrated his one hundred and twenty-fifth birthday. He was middle aged, according to ordinary standards, when he went off to fight in the Crimean war. His most strenuous exercise nowadays is walking a mile each Friday to receive his pension.

Ireland has produced many long-lived persons, but women in the British Isles as a whole are much longer-lived than men. There are about ten times as many female centenarians as male. Clergymen and peers seem to live longest in these modern times of rush and stress, but even the oldest of them are young compared to Thomas Carn, a Londoner, who died on January 18, 1588, at the venerable age of two hundred and seven. At least, this is a record said to have been inscribed in the parish register of St. Leonard's church, Shoreditch which was destroyed by fire.

Students of longevity say centenarians come from long-lived families, where the thing is a habit. They discount the many pet modes of living, the prejudices for or against tobacco, alcohol, tea, or this food or that, to which old persons often attribute their achievements in piling up birthdays.

Fear, Love, and Cow in Drama of Prison Escape

Ossining, N. Y.—Fear, love and a cow figured in the drama of Lawrence Hawthorne's escape from Sing Sing prison and his return to serve a sentence of 39 years.

Hawthorne fled from the prison because he feared another convict, he explained. The cow furnished him with food while he hid in a woods for ten days.

The convict went to Hollywood, Cal., where he got a job in the "movies." He fell in love with a girl who jilted him. Then he returned to prison to complete his term.

To Save Church

Burgos, — Spain's most beautiful church, the Burgos cathedral, built in 1221, is falling to pieces, but the government has voted funds to save it.

300 Clocks to Replace Noon Gun at Rome

Rome.—One of the most picturesque institutions of Rome, dating back several centuries, the firing of a noon gun on top of the Janiculum hill each day, will disappear soon.

Governor Cremonesi of Rome has decided to institute in its stead a system of 300 electrically controlled clocks through the city.

RECITES STORY OF FIRST U. S. HIKER

Explorations of De Vaca Told in Ancient Book.

Claremont, Cal.—A rare volume containing the story of what purports to be the first transcontinental foot journey for a white man in the conquest of North America, is the latest addition to the William S. Mason collection of Western Americans in Pomona college library.

The book tells of the adventures of Cabeca de Vaca, Spanish explorer, in journeying through the southern section of the United States between the years 1528 and 1536, and of his explorations in the River Plata countries of South America after his appointment as governor of the region in 1540.

An expedition, of which Vaca was a member, left Spain in 1527 headed for Florida and Louisiana. It was wrecked on the Florida coast. Fifty survivors drifted to the coast of Texas in rudely constructed boats and made shore November 6, 1628. All but 15 died of disease or starvation and these became slaves of the Indians.

By a stroke of good luck, Vaca staved off threatened death for himself and companions by posing to the Indians as a divine healer, usually being able to cure minor maladies.

After six years, Vaca, with two companions, escaped. They reached the coast of California and turned southward, arriving at Mexico City, July 24, 1536.

As a reward for his exploring services Vaca was appointed governor of the provinces of the Rio de La Plata in South America. Here he incurred the jealousy of his compatriots and was sent back to Spain in irons, remaining in prison six years awaiting trial. Eventually, he was exiled to Africa.

Two editions of the first portion of the book are known to be in existence—one in the New York public library and the other in the British museum at London.

ON LONG TRIP

Richard A. Granville, eighteen, has started out with a dollar in his pocket to travel around the world. He intends to earn his way.

Centenarians Will Be Common in Next Century

London.—Men and women one hundred years old will be active in business and social affairs by 2026, it is predicted by Sir Kingsley Wood, parliamentary secretary to the British ministry of health.

"In the next century there is no doubt in my mind that the average expectation of life will be one hundred years, and a person of seventy-five will be regarded as comparatively young," said Sir Kingsley, who has recommended more physical exercise for members of the house of commons.

"Good health and good temper go together," he continued, "and if the members of parliament took more exercise fewer members would be suspended, and wild and excited scenes in the house would disappear."

Announce New Method of Painless Childbirth

New York.—A method which it is claimed will make childbirth painless and is in no way followed by nausea was described by Dr. James T. Gwathney of this city. Doctor Gwathmey spoke at the convention of the Medical society of New York state

Whereas twilight sleep depended on amnesia to bring about insensibility, the new method accomplished its ends by the actual elimination of pain, he said

This method, Doctor Gwathmey continued, consists of three injections, two of magnesium sulphate and one of a mixture of the sulphate with small quantities of morphine and quinine. The combination of drugs was new, said Doctor Gwathmey, and the danger element less than in twilight sleep.

Latest From Paris

Paris.—Arms are concealed just as much as legs are revealed in the latest modes as displayed at the Longchamps race track's grand opening. Whatever cloth is saved in the skirt is used in the rest of the frock.

Insures Road Roller

Revere, Mass.—This city, named for Paul Revere, has insured its steam road roller against fire and theft. It vanished for four days last year.

The Times Print Shop delivered the new 1926-7 telephone books to the Koerner Telephone Company Saturday evening. The new books should now be in the hands of all subscribers. Along with the books was enclosed a circular letter which you should read carefully. We have a fine telephone system here and the subscribers can help to keep it good by callin for numbers, instead of persons, as some are in the habit of doing. This was one of the points brought out in the letter. Also, you should read the ads in the uew book. You wil find the message of live Klemme business men and concerns located here.

Plant Sale

On a bitter, cold night in February, fire broke out in the Greenhouse at Forest City. Some of the plants were destroyed by heat, and the others were frozen before the building could be repaired—a total loss of all their plants and flowers.

For many years this Greenhouse has furnished us with Garden Plants and Potted Flowers for our Annual May Plant Sale, but this year our supply from this source will be very short.

However, we have arranged with three other Greenhouses, and we now have a full assortment of Plants and Flowers in the Store and can supply your every need as usual

The plants are brought to Kemme by truck, yes, even sometimes at night, while our Customers are tucked away snug in their beds, Wellemeyer's truck is gliding along the road to some far away Greenhouse for a load of Plants—no wonder you dream of flowers and plants.

There is one nice thing about buying from Greenhouses. We have more varied assortment to offer our Customers; for instance we now have on hand the following eight kinds of Tomatoe Plants:—

Earlianna
Chalks Early Jewel
Bonny Best
Dwarf Champion
New Stone
John Baer
Ponderosa
Cream City

We also offer three kinds of Cabbage Plants; also Celery, Cauliflower, Peppers and the like, and a full assortment of Potted Plants

Wellemeyer's

KLEMME, IOWA

Baby Chix

BIG JUNE REDUCTIONS

Heavy Breeds .. $12.00
Leghorns $10.00
(Per 100)
Custom Hatching .. 3c
(Per Egg)

The Above Price Effective June 1st

Place your orders early to avoid disappointment.

Garfield Ridge Hatchery

Garner Iowa

The Wife-Ship Woman

W.N.U. SERVICE

By Hugh Pendexter

AUTHOR OF KINGS OF THE MISSOURI, PAY GRAVEL, A VIRGINIA SCOUT, ETC.

COPYRIGHT BY HUGH PENDEXTER-1923-1925.

CHAPTER XI—Continued

—14—

Then he was inspired to add:

"But why not let me stay here while you take mademoiselle. She would wish you for her guide. She was a young wildcat when we tried to stop her from entering the village before you gave the word."

"I am the one Damoan must capture or kill. Every one else, even mademoiselle, comes second in his plans. He will not leave the feast so long as I am there. It must be as I say. Wander about the village and use your wits in looking for a loophole. I will talk with mademoiselle."

To the girl I briefly repeated the orders I had given to Labrador and Six Fingers and told her I would work out the details during the day. As I had anticipated she immediately interposed objections. She would go nowhere with Six Fingers unless I was present. Labrador's company made no difference. She would not leave the village unless in my company.

"But I will overtake you," I insisted. "It is most important that I reach Virginia with the least possible delay. I shall not waste any time in following you."

"And if not for me you would already be well on your way there," she murmured. "Oh, monsieur, you are very brave! I wish I could have told you different when you spoke to me of your heart!"

Her naivete in bringing up what I supposed to be most strongly forbidden caused my mind to swirl in confusion. I could only mumble:

"We were not to speak of that again."

She further bewildered me, as, with the innocence of a child, she corrected me:

"Not for you to speak of, of course. But surely it is for me to speak of when I wish." Then sympathetically, "And does it hurt monsieur too much if I speak of it?"

"I think it does," I promptly answered, beginning to feel very uneasy. "Yes; I am quite sure."

"Then it must not be mentioned," she sighed. "I did not fully understand. I only wanted monsieur to know I regretted."

"It is all ended. You will be ready to go with my friend?"

"Yes, I will go."

I bowed and backed from the opening. She followed me a few paces, and I was disturbed to see she was fighting to control some violent emotion.

"Monsieur."

"Yes, Mademoiselle Dahlsgaarde."

"If I knew I was never to see you again there is something."

"Yes? Something?"

"Something I think I should say."

My curiosity prickled; for she was such a mixture of enigmas that one could never guess where her words would land. I had seen her as haughty as a marquise. Now she typed extreme youth and an entire lack of worldly wisdom. So conscience stifled curiosity, and I declared:

"But you will see me again. Tonight. On the river. My leaving this place is nothing. There will be a feast. Damoan will be there to watch me. His Indians will be there to help him. That gives you a free road. When I decide you have made a good start I shall laugh at them and leave."

"Merci, monsieur," she stiffly said. "You have saved me from an indiscretion. I have all confidence in your confidence."

And yet, as I walked away, there was the temptation to go back and ask her to tell what she had withheld. I tried to blame my interest in her shifting moods to my long withdrawal from civilization and its types of dainty womanhood. This, in defense of my peace of mind. The sight of Damoan leaving the stockade in company with the chief's grandson helped me to tear my thoughts from the girl and concentrate on the grim problem of the night. For, notwithstanding my assurance in talking with mademoiselle, I had no idea just how I was to escape that night.

On reaching the cabin I found Labrador waiting for me. His dark face was anxious, and he asked:

"Where is that old pirate?"

"I thought he was with you."

He shrugged his shoulders helplessly.

"Ah, that old pirate! He was with me. At my heels. Then, pouf! He was gone. Hell snatch him! I have walked and walked around this cursed death-trap, peeping into every cabin, and he is not."

I resigned myself philosophically to Six Fingers' disappearance. If he was gone then that was an end of one of mademoiselle's worries. I remembered seeing Damoan leaving the village. I began to suspect his going was a part of the game to catch Six Fingers out of bounds and do him to death. It was while I was explaining this to Labrador that Six Fingers entered the cabin and stood grinning at us in a peculiar manner.

"Back again? Where have you been?"

"Adrift," he coolly answered. "I grew tired of this devil's cage. The women interested me for a bit, but they blacken their teeth, and when they smiled I ran. I went outside."

"You are lucky to be back alive. What is the matter with you? Your legs and arms are wet."

"I went to a brook and washed."

"How did you go without my seeing you, little spider?" asked Labrador.

Six Fingers chuckled.

"It was as simple as sailing into the wind. In the fence back of mademoiselle's cabin is a hole. It is covered from sight by vines. I saw a fowl enter the vines. She did not come back. I cruised inshore and cast the lead. I found the hole. Labrador, the big pig, was sailing before the wind. I slipped through the hole and went to the brook. And here I am, all safe and sound."

"Yet you are lucky," I warned. "Damoan and his Choctaws have been outside all the morning."

This washed the grin from his wrinkled face.

I was not satisfied with Six Fingers' explanation of his excursion outside the stockade. How could I know that he had not met Damoan outside the village and had made a compact with him? Narbonne was dead, and there was no possible chance to continue the quest for Acaanibas. I warned Labrador:

"Say nothing to Six Fingers about tonight's plans. There was a look in his eyes that tells me he is trying to hide something from us," I said.

"When I start with mademoiselle tonight I shall give him no chance to spoil the plan. Of course we shall go through the hole in the stockade?"

"Of course. And I will keep Six Fingers with me. He frightens the girl."

At midday I went to mademoiselle's cabin and called her out and informed her of the hole in the palings and warned her to be ready to leave by means of it.

"You are determined not to go with me?" she asked.

"If I planned that way none of us could go. I shall be right behind you. I shall keep Six Fingers with me."

She was relieved to know Six Fingers was not to accompany her.

"I will not fail you, monsieur," she whispered.

There remained nothing now but to wait until evening. Owing to the brief time allowed for preparations the hunters could not roam very far, and some of these were returning continually, usually with strings of small game. I tried to get some rest against the exertions of the night, but each returning hunter was greeted with much shouting, and sleep was impossible.

It was twilight when Damoan returned to the village. He went out of his way to pass within a rod of me, and the look his dark eyes gave me was one of triumph. Yet I could not comprehend any immediate danger. The peace smoke would not blow away without some warning, plus an announcement as to when it could be renewed.

With the going down of the sun the Huma women began running about the village, cackling excitedly. Fires were started in the opening before the chief's cabin. Kettles were hung over the fires and the various kinds of game were dumped in, the contributions ranging from squirrels and water-fowl to deer meat. Damoan kept to the other side of the village and had his Choctaws posted about the exit. He believed he had us bottled up until the protection of the calumet had ended.

When it grew so dark there was no danger of being closely observed I walked to the girl's cabin, and was pleased to find the Indian women had succumbed to the temptation of the twinkling fires and had left mademoiselle unattended. I instructed her:

"After I have gone back I want you to steal behind the cabin and see if the hole is there as Six Fingers described."

"It is there. I saw him when he came through it."

"Then be ready for Labrador to call for you. When he comes you must act swiftly. Do as he says."

"The other?"

"I've told you he stays with me. He is acting queer. He's been up to some mischief. He may have bargained to sell us out."

To my astonishment she instantly denied this possibility, declaring:

"He would never sell me. No, no, monsieur. He is evil, but he wants me to escape from this village and from the man you call the Fox."

More of the mystery! I made no comment, but repeated my request that she be in constant readiness to go with Labrador. Then I wished her a stout heart and good luck.

She came to me and took one hand in both of hers and held it to her heart, and without a word retreated inside the cabin. I began to realize how horrible the whole situation must be for her. She was denied the tonic of action and must dully wait, always fearing the worst. I was back at my cabin in time to meet Little Turkey and six warriors, who, as an escort of honor, came to lead Labrador, Six Fingers and me to the feast. As we walked between them and entered the firelight I beheld the chief's grandson and a delegation of warriors performing the same courtesy for Damoan the Fox. Behind Damoan came all of his Choctaws except four left to guard the exit.

The chief gave the sign for the feasting to begin. Minute portions were tossed over the shoulders for the ghosts, and the peace calumet was hung up on a pole by the side of the chief and was made the recipient of scraps of meat and rations of beans. Strong Bow looked up and down the double line of men, bolting the meat like dogs, and asked me why the white woman was not standing among the Indian women to watch the feast. I told him she was a queen in her own country and not used to standing while men ate, and that she preferred remaining in her cabin until the dancing began, when she would appear. Damoan grinned widely and murmured:

"She will stand while I eat, my friend."

I pretended not to hear, and Damoan stared at me curiously, trying to fathom my mind. Like the fox he feared a trap, but so long as I and my male companions were within immediate reach he could not reason out where we had a single chance. Six Fingers never raised his eyes from his food, and yet he was not hungry. Labrador devoured huge portions of underdone meat with the philosophy of one who makes the most of the hour which is his. In a short space of time the kettles were emptied except what was reserved for the women, and the warriors retired to paint for their dance. I called to Labrador in French and requested him to wait on mademoiselle and ask her to come and see the dancing.

It Was as Simple as Sailing in the Wind. In the Fence Back of Mademoiselle's Cabin Is a Hole.

Damoan demanded my attention by asking:

"So we renew the peace smoke in two sleeps, eh?"

There was so much exultation in his tone, so much diablerie in his grinning face, that I knew he was up to some new trick, something I had not dreamed of. I guessed frantically and could not imagine what it was; yet I knew he had his plans all laid before the feast began, and that he was not dependent upon the interval between the end of the first smoke and the beginning of the second.

"Much may happen in two days," I carelessly replied.

"As true as heaven," he mocked. "And much may happen in one day—before another sun."

"What are you planning to try tonight?" I bluntly asked.

He laughed merrily, and protested:

"I try? Pardieu! Think I would break the law of the Humas? But if you should break it, eh? Come now; would the peace smoke hover over your English head for two days if it was known that you had broken the law?"

There was no guessing his meaning, although he meant death. I scoured my brains, but could find no signs which would lead me to his hidden trail. I was still pondering on this new attitude of his when the freshly painted warriors, armed with axes and bows and arrows, leaped in between the fires and began their war dance. Damoan suddenly turned his head and fiercely demanded:

"Where is my woman?"

I eased my ire by reminding him:

"Your scalp shall pay the whole price."

He leaped to his feet and spoke to the chief's grandson, who was reluctant to do what was asked. Damoan then spoke to me, saying:

"If the woman does not come the Humas will bring her."

As Labrador and the girl had had time to get far down the river trail I knew this would be some task for the Humas to accomplish. Yet I fought for more time by appealing to the chief's sense of justice, urging him to declare the white woman need not show herself at all unless she so desired.

Only the fear of Bienville, whose "word-bearer" he knew Damoan was, caused him to hesitate. He would hunt with the French and run with the English; and he suggested: "It would make the hearts of the Humas very light if the white woman would come and watch them dance."

"So be it," I said. "I will go and ask her."

I do not believe Damoan would have suspected any ruse had it not been for Six Fingers' frantic haste to follow at my heels.

"Let them stay here!" shouted the Fox. "The Iron Hand will fall and crush the Humas if they do not stay here."

"Stop," cried the chief, now in panic at the threat of the Fox, word-bearer of Bienville. "The eyes of the Humas would be made glad at sight of the white woman. I, Strong Bow, chief of the Humas, will go and ask her to come."

Damoan chuckled contentedly, and said to the chief: "We will wait a moment. There is a present the white man has prepared for his woman. He had it hid in the woods but my Choctaws found it. We will have it ready when she comes to see the dance."

He whistled shrilly, and very soon two Choctaws came trotting from the exit with a long object carried between them. As it was carefully deposited on the ground I noticed the blanket was one of those taken from Narbonne's pirogue by Six Fingers when we came ashore to hide in the Indian village.

"Veer off. Hell's to pay! It was hid at the brook! The cursed scum found it!" huskily whispered Six Fingers, his deep-set eyes glaring at the two Choctaws as they took hold of the blanket. "There a black spot on my luck!"

Damoan motioned his Indians back, and because of his love of the dramatic assumed full charge of the proceedings. Striking an attitude and pointing a finger at me he harshly cried out to the bewildered Humas:

"The present of the English spy to his woman!"

And he snatched a fold of the blanket away and revealed to our horrified gaze the body of a dead Huma woman. And what was more terrible she had died by violence and her two arms had been cut off below the elbow. We were stupefied by the fearful exhibit; then with the hiss of a thousand serpents came the breath of the Humas. Damoan had opened a smaller parcel and was exposing the two severed members of the poor creature, still decorated with their bracelets of brass.

"You frog-eating fool!" madly shrieked Six Fingers at Damoan. "They are gold and you could have had half if you'd kept your meat-trap shut!"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Various Heating Methods

The ancients used stoves which concealed the fire, as the German stoves yet do. Rooms were also warmed by portable braziers. In England heating was secured by fire in an open grate and this method is still in common use, although it results in a great waste of fuel.

First Clasp Knives

Clasp or spring knives became common about 1650. They first came from Flanders, which was the seat of many and varied industries even many years before this time. A knife-cleaning machine was invented in 1844 by George Kent of England.

Not an Easy Job to Get Python to Eat

When kept in captivity, pythons often refuse food and go on a prolonged "hunger-strike," which frequently results in death.

To obviate this it is necessary to feed the big snakes by forcible means, and a writer in the Wide World Magazine gives a very interesting description of how this is done.

"It is a very simple process," he says. "Our python was carried out to a sunlit grassy lawn. One man held the snake's tail, a second bestrode its middle, while a third gripped its head and forced open its jaws. Inyorka squatted in front and, taking a pound of meat, gently thrust it into the snake's capacious throat, and with a smooth, round stick, about a foot in length, pressed the meat into the reptile's gullet. It was now the second man's job to caress the meat and massage it a yard down the long red lane. No. 3 then took charge and carefully worked the lump down to the pocket where the stomach is located."

Real Frigidity

Johnny was in the habit of swearing mildly when anything did not please him. One day the minister heard him and said:

"Johnny, don't you know you must not swear. It is naughty of you to do so. Why, every time I hear you swear a cold chill runs down my back."

"That's nothing," said Johnny. "If you'd been at my house the other day when my dad caught his nose in the clothes wringer, you'd have froze to death."

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is especially prepared to relieve Infants in arms and Children all ages of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Absolutely Harmless—No Opiates. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Seeks Pearl in an Egg

Hens' eggs, rather than oysters, are being carefully scrutinized by Edgar L. Jensen of San Diego, Cal., for a pearl, and he is not without hope of finding one soon.

Jensen, while repairing one of his chicken coops, stooped to pet one of the hens. The hen, resenting the display of familiarity, assaulted one of Jensen's cuff links, and swallowed the pearl setting. Now he is waiting for the hen to return the pearl, but his friends who know the working of an egg factory are wagering he will never find it in an egg.

"DIAMOND DYES" COLOR THINGS NEW

Just Dip to Tint or Boil to Dye

Each 15-cent package contains directions so simple any woman can tint soft, delicate shades or dye rich, permanent colors in lingerie, silks, ribbons, skirts, waists, dresses, coats, stockings, sweaters, draperies, coverings, hangings—everything!

Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—and tell your druggist whether the material you wish to color is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

Wheat Products for Food

It has been calculated that wheat flour bread and crackers, pastry and similar products constitute 19 per cent of the total food of the average American family, furnishing about 27 per cent of the total protein, 6 per cent of the total fat and 46 per cent of the total carbohydrates. They contain a high percentage of starch and may be profitably combined with materials rich in protein, meat, eggs, etc., to form a well-balanced diet.

Cuticura for Sore Hands.

Soak hands on retiring in the hot suds of Cuticura Soap, dry and rub in Cuticura Ointment. Remove surplus Ointment with tissue paper. This is only one of the things Cuticura will do if Soap, Ointment and Talcum are used for all toilet purposes.—Advertisement.

Novel California Race

An annual "snow-to-surf" race is held in California from Lake Arrowhead to Newport-Balboa. Starting in the snow the participants go through several snow stunts, then by auto to the sea, and finally change their winter raiment for bathing suits and dive overboard from their canoes. All contestants must carry full equipment from the time they take off on the ski jump to the time they jump into the briny deep.

Memories

"Did yer ever work, Raggs?"

"Soitinly; I sold balloons once at a picnic."

Helicopter Airplane

A professor at the Japanese Naval academy—Matsunaga by name—has invented an airplane with a helicopter attachment which he thinks will do much toward making aviation safe. Sixteen wings, eight long ones and eight short ones, are attached to a rotating mast which, according to the announcement, will make it possible for the plane to rise without moving forward. Once in the air at the altitude desired, it can be directed horizontally in any direction merely by two rudders on a rotating pole. The inventor predicts that his machine will be as popular and common in Japan in ten years as the automobile is today.—Pathfinder Magazine

Sure Relief

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

25¢ and 75¢ Pkg's. Sold Everywhere

Kill All Flies! THEY SPREAD DISEASE

Placed anywhere, DAISY FLY KILLER attracts and kills all flies. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient and cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over, will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed. Insist upon DAISY FLY KILLER from your dealer.

HAROLD SOMERS Brooklyn N.Y.

DON'T BE GRAY

Darken your gray hair gradually, surely and safely in privacy of your home. Used over 50 years by millions. Money back guarantee. BOOKLET FREE.

Q-ban Hair Color Restorer

At your Druggist 75¢

MESSIC-ELLIS, CHEMISTS, Dept. W, MEMPHIS, TENN.

FARMS WANTED BY CASH BUYERS—Sell your farm direct to buyer. Describe give price. J. Stiever, Dept. G, Wabasha, Minn.

Special Offer—Kodak film (6 ex) developed, 6 High Gloss Prints, one Large Art Print all for 25c cash. ELECTRIC STUDIO, Dept. D, Decorah, Iowa.

Perfield Summer Music. Pedagogy, Sight Singing, Musicianship. Teachers Wtd. Edna Ellis Perfield, 121 Madison Ave. N.Y. City.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 20-1926.

British Easy to Cartoon

British public men have peculiarities that lend themselves readily to the offices of the cartoonist. For instance: Stanley Baldwin and his pipe; Lloyd George, long hair; Lord Birkenhead, cynical sneer and 45-degree cigar; Austen Chamberlain, monocle; Sir Alfred Mond's prominent nose; Viscount Cecil's gaunt asceticism; Winston Churchill, funny hats; Ramsey MacDonald, fierce beard-dit mustachio, and Lord Balfour's drooping languor.

Moderately Lucky

Wife—How many fish did you catch?

Husband—Oh, enough so I don't have to lie.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sicktens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just try it for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

YER ASPIRIN" PROVED SAFE

without Fear as Told
"Bayer" Package

BAYER

es not affect the Heart

you see the "Bayer Cross" ge or on tablets you are not the genuine Bayer Aspirin fe by millions and prescribed lians over twenty-five years for lds — Headache

urlitis — Lumbago othache — Rheumatism
uralgia — Pain, Pain

nbroken "Bayer" package con-oven directions. Handy boxes tablets cost few cents. Drug-o sell bottles of 24 and 100.

Queer Look

ssioner McLaughlin of New s talking about certain inves-

of it has a queer look," he Yes, in its queerness some of ds me of the Maori millionaire.
Maoris are great gamblers and d of horse racing. Well, this re set up a racing stable and One day, though, just after of his had won a race, he up to the judges' stand and otest! I protest!'

your horse won,' said the ow it,' said the Maori million-

That's why I protest. I didn't n to win!'"

tagonist is a helper.

EFERENCE

all the cars you see the streets, twords are equipped h Champions. This tstanding prefer-ceisverydefiniteevince that Champion
hebetter spark plug.

Champion X—
exclusively for Fords
—packed in the Red Box 60c

Champion—
for cars other than Fords
—packed in the Blue Box 75c

HAMPION
dable for Every Engine
Toledo, Ohio

Have Good Hair
And Clean Scalp
Cuticura
Soap and Ointment
Work Wonders
Our New Shaving Stick

EN'S FOOT-EASE

Stops the pain of Corns,
Bunions and Calluses.

Before putting on your shoes, sprinkle into them some Allen's Foot-Ease and walk all day or dance all evening without the nerve-wracking pain of hot, tired, aching, swollen feet. It gives immediate relief. Allen's Foot-Ease the Antiseptic, Healing Powder for the Feet, takes the friction from the shoes and gives rest and comfort. Always use it for breaking in new or tight shoes. Sold by all drug and department stores. Trial Package and Last Walking Doll sent Free. Address: FOOT-EASE, Le Roy, N. Y.

BABIES LOVE
MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

The Infants' and Children's Regulator
Pleasant to give—pleasant to take. Guaranteed purely vegetable and absolutely harmless. It quickly overcomes colic, diarrhoea, flatulency and other like disorders. The open published formula appears on every label.
At All Druggists

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

A widespreading, hopeful disposition is your only true umbrella in this vale of tears.

Do the work you have to do
With a purpose strong and true,
Every day.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

The simplest foods well cooked and served are the most satisfying to the majority of people for every day.

Claridge Beef Heart.—Wash and remove the arteries from the heart, wipe dry and fill with a good stuffing, tie up securely and roast in a moderate oven for three hours. Remove the strings before serving, and also pour a hot gravy around the heart.

Stuffing: Chop one ounce of suet fine, add two cupfuls of bread crumbs, one chopped onion, season with parsley, thyme, pepper, salt, and a grating of nutmeg. Mix well and add one beaten egg to bind it.

Spring Salad.—Grate or put through the fine knife of the food chopper enough carrots to make a cupful, add a little minced celery, a seasoning of onion and enough good salad dressing to season well. Serve on lettuce, dotted with spoonfuls of the dressing.

Rhubarb and raisins make a good combination for a pie.

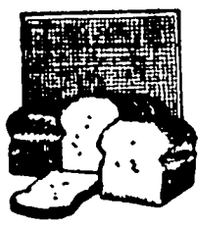
Plain Custard Pie.—It would seem that any cook might make a most acceptable custard pie, but the proof of the pudding being in the eating, we know they can't. Line a pie tin with a good rich crust having the rim stand up well above the edge of the tin. Fill with a custard mixture, using for an ordinary pie two eggs, one-third of a cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt, and two cupfuls of milk, adding a generous grating of nutmeg or cinnamon if preferred. Set into a hot oven to bake the crust quickly—this avoids soaking it—then lower the heat to bake the custard, as that should not be cooked at a high temperature. Too hot an oven will make the custard whey, and become coarse grained. A perfect pie should be well baked on the bottom and have a filling of rich, creamy consistency. A custard is well baked when a knife thrust into the center comes out clean.

Tapioca well cooked and mixed with any bits of canned or fresh fruit, topped with whipped cream, makes a most delightful dessert.

Dumplings.—Delicious fluffy dumplings may be prepared as follows: Take one beaten egg, one cupful of buttermilk, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt; sift in flour enough to make a drop batter. Drop from a teaspoon into a kettle of hot meat with plenty of bones to hold up the dumplings, cover tightly and cook eight minutes. Do not uncover during the cooking.

Everyday Good Things.

If one desires a large quantity of sandwich filling for company, the following recipe will be a good one to follow. For small amounts it may be divided.



Cheese Sandwich Filling.—Mix together one cupful of sour cream, three eggs, one tablespoonful each of butter and sugar, a few grains of cayenne, one teaspoonful of mustard, and one teaspoonful of salt. Beat all together until the eggs are broken, set over hot water and stir until it begins to thicken, then add three tablespoonfuls of vinegar (hot) to the cream mixture. Cook until it coats the spoon, add one and one-half pounds of finely cut cheese, two green peppers put through the meat chopper and two red peppers also chopped. Add the peppers after the mixture is slightly cool. Use on slices of buttered bread. The cheese and peppers may be used, adding enough dressing to make the right consistency; in this way the amount may be varied to suit the need.

Carrot, Pineapple and Nut Salad.—Put a carrot or two through the meat chopper; to one cupful of the carrot add a slice of finely minced pineapple and a tablespoonful of chopped nuts. Mix with a good salad dressing and serve on lettuce.

Curry of Mutton.—Fry one large onion, chopped fine, in two tablespoonfuls of butter. Mix one tablespoonful of curry powder, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of flour, and stir into the onion and butter. Pour over slowly one and one-half cupfuls of stock. Cut two pounds of lean mutton into small pieces and brown them in hot fat; add them to the sauce and simmer until tender. Place the meat on a hot dish and arrange a border of hot cooked rice around it.

Liver Patties.—Scald a pound of liver and grind it with one-fourth of a pound of bacon and an onion through the meat chopper. Season well, form into small cakes and cook in a little hot bacon fat, browning on both sides.

Medley Sandwich.—Take two-thirds of a cupful of minced chicken, one-third of a cupful of minced ham and tongue; add cayenne and enough mayonnaise to make a smooth mixture to spread and spread on buttered brown and white bread made into ribbon sandwiches.

Nellie Maxwell

ARRAYED FOR JUNE WEDDING; TROUSSEAU AFTERNOON FROCKS

IN THE imagination of girlhood, throughout its brief, bright years, vague pictures of brides and bridals float. Occasionally in them, each maiden sees herself the center of interest as a bride; but there are so many interests and distractions in this complex age, that even Prince Charming, before his actual arrival, occupies only a small space on the horizon of youth. Then, almost before she knows it, along comes this particular June and finds many a fair girl (fully as many as usual) face to face with her wedding.

Picturesque Bridal Costume.

Most important of all is the matter of the bride's wedding gown. She has a wide choice of beautiful and graceful styles at her disposal—all of them dignified. She may be simple and ingenious, splendid or picturesque and her maids never had better opportunities to look like pictures. What with sheer fabrics, lovely colors, floating lines and fluttering draperies a bevy of June bridesmaids look more like personified flowers than anything else. But here comes a little procession of wedding gowns, for the inspection of the bride, each created by a great name in the world of stylists. The first is a gown of white crepe satin with long molded bodice, very long, close-fitting sleeves, reaching to the knuckles; round neck, skirt widening into ripples with a scalloped hemline and no vestige of trimming. But the back portion is lengthened into a wide train and over all is a veil of tulle.

Much is expected of afternoon frocks in the trousseau—it goes without saying that they should be beautiful and it is not difficult to find plenty of them that fill this requirement. But every bride desires that hers should be unusual, as well as beautiful, also more or less dignified and, above all, suited to her personality. Afternoon gowns are the observed of all observers and if they prove the envy of many, they have played their part perfectly.

Beginning with informal afternoon frocks of taffeta or georgette in plain colors and simple decorations, afternoon frocks progress along the path of more elaboration until the dinner gown is reached. It includes combinations of taffeta and lace, plain georgette and lace, figured georgette or chiffon over plain slips, and the reverse of this. There are many pretty soft taffeta frocks in navy blue or black with collars and sleeve trimmings of ecru lace, and sometimes bandings or ecru lace, that are dignified and very useful. Navy or black in georgette, brightened with colored embroidery in silk, and posed over a slip to match the embroidery, or over self color, affords a choice of many conservative gowns which may be varied by slips in different colors worn under them. Scalloped hem lines, tunic flounces and cascading draperies, with ripples, godets and plaits, help to vary them. Plain, light colors in georgette, made up with lace dyed to match, are very effective, especially in the tan and gray tones. The procession of flowered chiffons and combinations of plain and figured fabrics is endless and lands us in the realm of lovely dinner gowns where we shall come across superb examples of embroidery used as the decorative feature. In this class are short-sleeved models.

Bride's Afternoon Gown.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Ask Your Dealer

ASK your local dealer to recommend a practical decorator. If you are unable to secure one you can do the work yourself, tinting and stenciling your walls to give beautiful results.

Alabastine

Instead of Kalsomine or Wall Paper

Buy Alabastine from your local dealer, white and a variety of tints, ready to mix with cold water and apply with a suitable brush. Each package has the cross and circle printed in red. By intermixing Alabastine tints you can accurately match draperies and rugs and obtain individual treatment of each room.

Write for special suggestions and latest color combinations

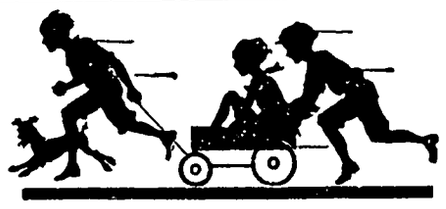
ALABASTINE COMPANY
1647 Grandville Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.

"Nothing but the Truth"

Frank Beuch was filling out an application for a fellow the other day and asked the young man what his father did. Imagine Frank's surprise when the applicant replied, "Whatever mother tells him to do."—Equiowa.

Face Shows Character

What a man is, what his character, is generally read in his face, hence the expression an "honest face." One may be ever so homely yet in goodness be most beautiful. Very true is the saying "the face is the mirror of the soul."—Grit.



Rolling Along

Rolling along the highway of popularity—holding old friends and winning new ones—Monarch is rapidly gaining first place as America's favorite brand of Coffee and Cocoa. High quality and low cost are the reasons.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago · Boston · Pittsburgh New York

Question of Color

Fair Customer—Have you any hose?

New Clerk—What shade? Flesh, nude, brown or black?—Good Hardware.

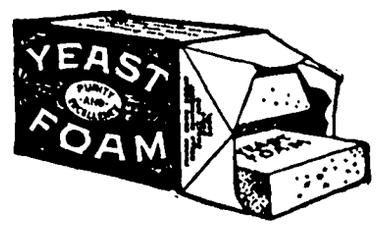
All Seasons Are Theirs

Good manners and cheerful greetings are cards of invitation that circulate in all seasons.—Modern Brotherhood.

Yeast Foam makes bread that tastes better

Nothing has such hunger-satisfying flavor as the home loaf made with Yeast Foam.

Send for free booklet
"The Art of Baking Bread"



"No wonder the men folks eat twice as much of it"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Our Progressive Age

The pioneer woman, who had to chop ice out of the well at 6 a. m. to get water, has an intrepid granddaughter who goes around with her galoshes unlatched.—Detroit News.

One can be so glad to be alive that he doesn't care who knows how old he is.

After the Lecture

Latecomer—Give me the gist of his remarks.

Survivor—They were gist terrible.—Life.

He had such a gentle method of reproving their faults that they were not so much afraid as ashamed to repeat them.—Atterbury.

Just for Curiosity

If you are curious about the results of using Calumet—bake a cake and use some other baking powder, then use the same recipe and employ

CALUMET
THE WORLD'S GREATEST
BAKING POWDER

Compare the texture of the two cakes—the way they look—the way they taste. The difference will make you join the millions who use Calumet daily.

Sales 2½ Times Those of Any Other Brand

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR CALUMET

Dr R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

Ben Katter was a business caller at Mason City last Wednesday.

WANTED—Anyone wanting blasting done see F W. Smock, Klemme.p

The school picnic will be held in Koerner's grove Friday, May 21st.

SEED CORN for sale, home grown, ear tested Lee Bros., Britt, Ia. 2p

Al Koerner and family were at the Lake Saturday cleaning up their cottage and getting it ready for summer.

MAN WANTED

Middle aged man wanted at once who has car and in position to work full time.

Fine opportunity for right man to build up a real business for himself with no money invested whatever, and is paid every week.

Write qualifications at once to Territory Field Manager

J. W. Basham

OELWEIN, IOWA

Pe e Peterson, of Goodell, was a Klemme caller last Thursday.

Mrs. P. M. Wilson and Mrs. R A. Jorgenson and son Buster, were at Mason City last Ahursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Poort were at Mason City on business last week Thursday.

The Times is always glad to receive items of news Please phone our items or mail them. Thanks.

Dr W F. Missman was a professional visitor at Mason City last week Thursday.

Mrs. Sumner Trumbell attended the funeral of her cousin at Garner, Wednesday of this week.

Joe Knadler and Peek Hanson, of Garner, were Klemme visitors Wednesday evening of this week.

Mr. and Mrs Arthur Wellemeyer were at Mason City on business last week Wednesday.

Mr and Mrs. Klingeman, of Garner, called on Klemme friends last Friday evening.

FOR SALE—Get home grown Soy Beans at Farmers Elevator. Geo. Grosz. 3wp.

Miss Madeline Richter, nurse, is at the A D Gimer home helping care for Mrs Fouts, mother of Mrs. A D Gimer.

Tires! Tires! Tires

WE CAN MEET MAIL ORDER PRICES

ON OUR TIRES.

Come in and let us show them to you—

Garner Auto Co.

Phone 77 KLEMME, IA.

PAINTS Lowe Brothers VARNISHES

SAVE YOUR BARN from this

BEATING rains, pelting hailstorms, sleet, snow and a burning sun, all quickly bring decay to the unprotected surface of your barn.

Paint now!

Put a tough, lasting film of LOWE BROTHERS STANDARD BARN PAINT between your barn and the weather.

STANDARD BARN PAINT is easy to apply, covers a large area per gallon and gives you the economy of a long-lasting job.

Before you paint, see us

E. F. JACOBS

News of Klemme and Vicinity

A number of the teachers accompanied Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Lau to Mason City Saturday.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

The M. E. Ladies Aid served the Junior-Senior Banquet Tuesday evening.

Standard size Screen Doors at the Northern Lumber Co., $2.25 and up. Get them early. 1tc

Ed. Jacobs and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chris Jacobs at Garner.

"Swede" Carlson is joy-riding around in a new Buick sedan which he purchased recently.

Standard size Screen Doors at the Northern Lumber Co., $2.25 and up. Get them early. 1tc

Marvin Weigman, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme yesterday.

Dr. G. A. Bemis and Frank Hanson, of Garner, were business callers in Klemme Monday afternoon.

PASTURE—Have room for ten more cattle in river bottom pasture —E. J. Arnold. 1wc

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines. tfc

Mr R. W. Sinclair, of Garner, was in Klemme and vicinity Tuesday. Roy, you know, is a candidate for County Auditor this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs attended the funeral of Mrs. Jacobs' grandmother at Clear Lake last Thursday afternoon.

A number from here took in the senior class play at Garner last week Thursday evening. The title of the play was, "And Home Came Ted."

Mrs. Aaron Greiman is at Belmond where she went last Thursday to assist in caring for her mother, who is ill.

The Ladies Aid society are meeting this afternoon at the Parish House with Mesdames Walter Johnson and Pete Wilson hostesses.

Only one more week of school! The school picnic will be held next week Friday, the wind-up for the school year.

"Abe" Lauritsen, and a Mr. Peterson, of Renwick, drove over last Friday evening for a visit with relatives and friends here.

Mr and Mrs. P. M. Wilson, and daughter Gladys, visited with Mrs Wilson's father at Perry, Iowa, last Sunady.

Rev Ortmeyer and family, came over from Kanawha Saturday evening for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Griewe.

FARM FOR SALE

155 acres adjoining town, land is all well drained, fenced, good buildings. For information and price call Albert S. Johnson, Klemme, Ia. 1tp

Twin Lake School District No. 1 had a picnic last Friday to wind up the school affairs for the year. Miss Pearl Johnson is the teacher of this school.

Summer school will open June 1 and 8. Special courses in Accounting, Stenography and Secretarial work, etc. The Hamilton University, Mason City, Iowa. 1tc

A fine baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Mart Bachman last Wednesday night. They now have a fine family of three boys and three girls.

Mr. Isaac Sweigard and Mrs. Harvey Sweigard, of Garner, were visiting with Klemme friends last Wednesday evening. The Times acknowledges a pleasant call.

Our devil "Bill" Gauger received a 25 percent check from the Garner Trust and Savings Bank last week one day. This was the first payment of the defunct bank. We understand the bank expects to issue other checks again soon in closing up the affairs and depositors will no doubt be returned a large portion of their money.

Mr. and Mrs. Ash Keever and their grandchildren were at Clarion Sunday visiting friends. Mr. Keever says it rained hard there for about an hour and a half.

Mr. Henry Freie and daughter, Viola, Miss Eunice Braund and Mr. George Lawhorn spent Sunday visiting the the Lou Davis home at Mason City.

NOTICE

From this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife. J. A. Wade, Klemme, Iowa, May 12, 1926. 2tp.

Mesdames A. W. Gauger, C. A. Arnold, John Tanner and Albert Lange drove to Emmetsburg Tuesday to attend a W. F. M. S. convention there that day and Wednesday.

Miss Edna Sharlock and brother, Bill, of Corwith, were visiting at the Arthur Wellemeyer home Sunday. Miss Sharlock was a teacher in our schools a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Suckow took their little six year old son, Dale, to the hospital at Mason City last Thursday where the little boy had a mastoid operation performed.

Miss Reva Elder returned from the Mason City hospital Sunday, where she had been for over a week following a mastoid operation. She is getting along fine at this time.

Mr. G. H. Lade, of Garner, was calling on Klemme voters Monday. He is a candidate for supervisor, to succeed G. B. Lawhorn, retiring member of the Board.

The farmers in this community began planting corn this week. The ground is in fine shape and a few warm days will send the sprouts up through the ground. We have had a few local showers the past few weeks and there is plenty of moisture in the ground.

Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings

DR. E. H. PHILLIPS

Osteopathic Physician

Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa.

Jay Griggs and Ye Editor went to Ventura last Thursday evening to try our luck at fishing. We had fairly good luck as we adorned our buckets with twenty-one bullheads, all big fellows, too. Nope, the biggest one didn't get away—Jay landed him.

The Junior class and their teacher Miss Abel have planned a picnic as a celebration this evening at the Lake. The Juniors have worked hard the past week prparing for the Junior-Senior banquet and this picnic is a sort of celebration as a reward for time well spent.

The Reward Of Perserverance

The successful fisherman does not expect a big catch every time he casts his line. He knows, however, that if he is persistent, he will be rewarded.

We are all fishermen upon the voyage of life. The persistency we show in our labor, and in the determination to succeed will measure our financial standing as our boat nears the port on the western shore in the eventide of life.

First National Bank

KLEMME, IOWA.

Old School House

To Be Sold At

PUBLIC SALE

THURSDAY, MAY 20

At 1:00 o'clock P. M.

On the above date the old School House in Liberty Twp. District No. 3 will be sold at Public Auction to the highest bidder. Sale will be held at the school house described above.

Joseph Schuldt, Sec'y.

THE KLEMME TIMES

ntieth Year—Number 40. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, MAY 20, 1926. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

TIMELY GARDEN TIPS — A Weekly Feature —

eony Is Popular Lawn Flower

t won't be long before the peony, een" of the spring flowers, will st out in full bloom, transforming trial peony garden at Iowa State lege into a riot of flashing colors. garden contains 93 varieties. he peony, because of its great scaping value, is probably one of most popular flowers in the farm ns today. The flower blends well most any kind of shrubbery. It hardy plant, standing anp wea- that the apple tree will. It is very resistant to insects and dis- s.

planting peonies most satisfac- is gained by placing them in ps or borders rather than sepa- ly. The Le Cyne and Mlle. Jules ert are considered about the varieties. Both have a French in. The Le Cyne is ivory white olor and the Mlle. Jules Dessert hite, tinted with straw color, the er petals carrying waves of red. he Frankie Curtiss and Florence Beth, domestic varieties, are al- ood. The Curtiss strain is white a pink tint, while the MacBeth ht pink, which deepens toward center of the flower.

he best time to set out peonies is eptember or October.—E. C. , Iowa State College.

t Tomatoes, Peppers Out Now

omatoes and peppers can now be ted in the garden in central and hern Iowa without much fear of ing. But before they are dug up taken out they should be gradu- "hardened off" to the colder her and lack of moisture.

e amount of water given the ts should be decreased the last or three days also to accustom hoots to garden conditions.

the tomatoes have been planted so the stems are long and slen- about half of the stem should be ed with earth in setting them so they won' lop over.

one wants green stuff thruout ummer, now is the time to make ond planting of sweet corn and g beans, which will be ready to uce about the time the first ing has given out.

atermelons, too, should be ted right away Kleckley Sweet, Watson and Sweetheart are 3 e best varieties as far as quali- concerned —Ora Smith, Iowa College

GARDEN PEST IN IOWA

Asparagus Beetle—Injures The Young Shoots

wa has a newcomer in the list of en pests which is commanding hare of attention of late, say the mologists at Iowa Stae College. the asparagus beetle, an insect has been quite troublesome to gardeners of the east and which recently has appeared in Iowa. th the adult, a slender, blue- beetle with a red thorax, and rvae cause injury to the young s as they appear in the spring. they devour the high growing s, especially the seedlings. The e are sometimes so abundant the black, molasses like fluid exudes from their mouths s a lot of trouble in bunching talks for market.

small beds, hand picking is a control measure. Chickens and find the insect very good eat- nd the constitute a very good s of battling the pest as they ot harm the plants. The aspara- an also be sprinkled with air d lime and calcium arsenate, 10 to 1, in the early morning the dew is still on. This pois- ould not be used on young s ready for the table.

practice in favor among asparagus rowers is the cutting back of all plants, thus forcing the beetle its eggs on the young shoots, are harvested before the eggs a chance to hatch. This pract- ually keeps the pest in check the active growing season.

CH FOR CABBAGE PEST y Also Ruin Radish Crop Unless Kept In Check of the early season garden which threatens the peace of of the gardener is the cabbage root maggot, which may also ruin the radish crop by boring into the fleshy part and creating a honeycomb effect. So says B B Fulton, entomologist at Iowa State College.

Two methods of combating this pest are available. Since the adult insect lays her eggs at the base of the plant, the plants can be protected by a screen frame placed over them. A wood frame covered with cheese cloth is satisfactory Bv banking up the bottom of the frame with dirt, there is little probability of he insecs getting in to lay their eggs.

The other method of fighting the maggot is to use corrosive sublimate. The plants should be watered with a corrosive sublimate solution, 1 ounce to 10 gallons of water. The dirt immediately surrounding the radishes should be wet with the solution on the third seventh and tenth day after the seedlings have come up. The cabbage plants need three treatments 8 to 10 days apart after they are set out, using a teacupful to each plant. Corrosive sublimate is a deadly poison if taken internally, so care should be exercised if the solution is stored It must be mixed in wooden, earthen or glass vessels, as it corrodes metal

HANCOCK COUNTY REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

From The County Daily Records Of The Past Week

F. M. Hanson, Adm to Dennie F. Collins Admr. Deed, date 5-12-26, $1250 00 lots 9-10 block 3 Driving Park add Garner.

Trade Name: Valley Service Station. Owner, Elwin Valley, Britt, Iowa.

E. P Hanson, Sheriff, to First Trust Jt. St Ld Bank. Certificate of Sheriff's Sale date 4-3-26, $6675.61. Part of NE¼ 15-97-24

Trade Name: Crystal Cafe. Owner, Robert Lloyd, Crystal Lake, Ia.

August Haberkamp wf to Alma E Lau. W. D, date 5-7-26, $1.00, N½ of NW¼ 6-94-23.

Emil W Lau wf to August Haberkamp W. D., date 5-7-26, $1 00, N½ of NW¼ 6-94-23.

Electa Phelps hus. to Mary Castle. W. D, date 5-8-26, $1500.00, N 88 ft. of W½ lots 1-2 block 10 Andersons add Britt.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

A W. Gauger, Pastor

Last Sabbatn was a day full of good things for the people of Klemme.

Dr. Bushnell performed his task very admirably

In our Church Calendar next Sunday reminds us of the day of Pentecost when the Holy Spirit was sent as the Executor of the work so splendidly established by Christ. We shall follow this thought on the coming Sunday.

If our plans carry we hope to put on on illustrated lecture on Sabbath evening, along the line of "Kingdom Building," the first of a series.

TWO WOMEN STRUGGLE FOR SUPREMACY IN IOWA

Miss Mae Frances, who has been in the office of state superintendent for the past four years desires the term for another four years This is longer than any other state superintendent has held office and friends of Miss Agnes Samuelson, formerly of Page countp, are boosting her candidacy. They contend that Miss Frances has lost the confidence of many people engaged in school work of the state and that it is therefore impossible for her to secure the cooperation of many teachers and superintendents They feel that since Iowa has fallen from seventh to fifteenth place during Miss Frances' administration she is not entitled to a longer term than men of such distinction as Henry Sabin, John F Riggs, or more recently of A. M Deyoe.

Miss Samuelson is represented as a woman of considerable leadership and untainted with politics. She seems to have had much experience in school work that will fit her for the office and acquaint her with the work there.

Weeds are most easily killed while they are small. Now's the time to knock them.

Memorial Program

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 30, 1926

Beginning at 2:30 O'clock

At The Klemme Park

PROGRAM AT THE PARK

Music ..... The Klemme Band
March—"Apollo"
"Darling Nellie Gray," "Old Black Joe."
Invocation ..... Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch
Song ..... "AMERICA"
Audience, Band Accompaniment
Memorial Address ..... Rev. W. J. Suckow
Music ..... The Klemme Band
"Tramp, Tramp Through Georgia"
Benediction ..... Rev. A. W. Gauger

FORMATION

Procession will form at the southwest corner of the Park in the following order and march to the cemetery:—

Colors and Guard, Civil War Veterans, Speaker, Band, Firing Squad, American Legion, Auxiliary, Lodges, Camp Fire Girls, School Children, City Officials, Citizens and all patriotic bodies.

PROGRAM AT CEMETERY

Decoration of Graves by the Camp Fire Girls
Ritual ..... American Legion
Salute ..... Firing Squad
Taps

Raising Flag To Full Mast At Park

PIONEER GARNER RESIDENT DIED SUNDAY NIGHT

George Schuler, Furniture Dealer, Died After Brief Illness

George F Schuler, for fifty years a prominent citizen of Garner, passed away at his home Sunday evening, after an illness of only about three hours. He is said to have been about as usual, and in his usual health, and was taken sick after going to bed. He died before a doctor could be called.

Mr. Schuler had been a resident of Hancock County for over fifty years. Quite a number of years ago he was a painter and paper-hanger, and about twenty years ago he entered the furniture business and conducted this business until the time of his death. He built and owned the store in which he was in business. Funeral services were held Tuesday.

MAY CONTROL CHICKEN LICE

One Dipping In Sodium Fluoride Solution Is Sufficient

When "biddy" takes a bath in sodium fluoride solution, it means good bye chicken lice for the year. At least that's what J. H. Bardsley, poultry extension specialist of Iowa State College, says.

The sodium fluoride treatment is not costly, either. The product can be purchased from a drug store at about 40 cents per pound, and only one ounce of the sodium fluoride to each gallon of water is required.

These precautions should be observed in dipping the poultry, Mr. Bardsley warns: Pick a warm, still day and take the chill off the water; pull the birds through the water feet first and ruffle the feathers so that the solution reaches the skin. After the body has been well soaked, place the hand over the nostrils and beak and submorge the head.

Last year a number of flocks were treated in this manner at the time they were culled. Several of these have been examined since and no trace of lice has been found. If the old hens are treated now, the young chickens should not be bothered, Mr. Bardsley says, and one treatment can be depended on to last at least a season if properly done.

MRS. H. F. LUDEKE DIED EARLY TUESDAY MORNING AT GARNER

Funeral To Be Held In Klemme On Friday Afternoon

Mrs. H F Ludeke passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carl Suckow, at Garner, early Tuesday morning after a brief illness of only a couple of daps.

The funeral services will be held in Klemme Friday afternoon. The service at the old home place, where her son Elmer resides, will be held from there at 2:00 o'clock and the body will then be brought to town and services held at the Methodist Church at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Ludeke was one of the old residents of Hancock County. She was born in Illinois and came to this county many years ago. He husband preceded her in death a year or two ago.

The obituary will be published in next week's Times.

KLEMME REFORMED CHURCH

Sunday, May 23

10:00 A. M. German-English service. Celebration of Lord's Supper. Offering for Missions.

A mistake was made in the announcements last Sunday, which I wish to correct.

We will not have two separate services as announced, but one service, with two sermons, German and English.

Those wishing to attend communion will please give their names to the consistory.

No evening srvice Sunday.

The Bible School will commence Monday the 24th, at 9:00 A. M. All members are requested to send their children regularly.

Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor.

SHE FOOLED 'EM

The girl about to travel alone was warned not to talk to strange men. At the station, the conductor asked, "Where are you going?"

"To Deroit," she answered, so he put her on the Detroit train.

As the train pulled out she looked back and said, "Ha, ha, I fooled him that time. I'm going to Chicago."

KLEMME HIGH LOST TO SWALEDALE IN FAST GAME FRIDAY

Swaledale Boy Clouts Out Homer; Gimer Does Great Pitching

The Klemme High School baseball team cameh ome Friday with the small end of the score when they met defeat at Swaledale in one of the fastest games of the season, the score being 5 to 4.

Gimer pitched a fine game for Klemme and held the Swaledalers down for only five hits. Tanner, behind the home sack worked well with our star pitcher, Krause, of Swaledale, pitcher, also put up quite an exhibition on the mound and it was a hurling duel from start to finish.

NORTH SIDERS TRIM SOUTHERS 18 TO 6 IN SOFT BALL GAME

The North Siders carried away all honors Monday night when they took the South Siders for a cleaning in the soft ball game, 18 to 6 in favor of the Eskimos.

Now the South Siders claim the umpire was crooked as he lives on the other side of the fence and he kept one eye shut and didn't see half with the other. Fred Ridder took an awful hance to try to keep the scores balanced. But then the boys on the south had the edge on us as Mr. Smock held the official score board, a piece of wood on which he marked 'em off.

The next official game will be any time. Shake a leg if you hear a lot of noise coming from the school house—a game will be on.

ELECTRICTY CUTS BONDS OF THE AMERICAN HOUSEWIFE

Electricity in the home gives the modern woman more freedom than half a dozen housemaids, or servants, asserts Frances Richmond, a Kansas woman, whose experience in directing welfare work in New York, Boston and other cities of the east gives weight to her convictions.

"Electricity," she says, "has revolutionized housekeeping and done away with drudgery in the modest home of ordinary circumstances."

Electrical appliances have done more to elevate living standards and bring about better home conditions than any other single agency. The woman of todap has shown her gratitude by her increasing use of electricity and labor-saving appliances which it has made possible.

NEW HIGHWAY MARKERS TO BE IN PLACE BY JULY 1

Officials of the state highway commission announce thep expect to have the new markers in place by the first of July on the main traveled highways of the state.

The federal system of numbering the roads has been adopted by the commission and the new signs contracted for with the Hart-Parr Co, of Charles City. The new markers will be uniform with those in use in other states on federal roads and will bear the United States shield and the number of the road.

Protests from various associations, sponsoring certain trails or highways have been ironed out, it is said. On many of the named highways the markers will be permitted to remain, supplementing the federal number of the road.

DRIEST APRIL ON RECORD

Des Moines, May 20.—April, 1926 with an average rainfall of .91 inch for the state of Iowa, is the driest of the 54 Aprils on record, according to the Weather and Crop Bureau of he Iowa Department of Agriculture.

The next driest April on record was in 1879 when the average rainfall at ninetp stations averaged 1.13 inches. That April, like 1926, was very dry in the northwest counties, while fairly large amounts occurred in other portions of the state. The yield of corn that year averaged 40 bushels per acre, according to the Iowa Year Book.

The weather during the past two weeks has been excellent for preparing the seed bed for corn. It has been a little too dry to germinate the early planted corn, although some of the extremely early plantings are coming up. The soil is warm and with suitable rains, it is likely that the corn will come rapidly.

1,363,000 FRENCH KILLED IN BATTLE

Statistics Are Striking Appeal Against Wars.

Paris.—The most striking appeal against future war is contained in statistics finally worked out regarding the lasting records of France's war losses. M. Gaston Cadoux, former president of the Paris Statistical society, now has made reckonings which peace organizations in every country might well keep in mind for future propaganda.

The population of France at the outbreak of the war was 39,600,000. From these the government mobilized for the army and navy 8,355,000. Of this number 1,363,000 lost their lives. This figure represents one-sixth of the mobilized effectives, one-seventh of the masculine population of the country and one-twentieth of the whole.

If the dead alone might be drawn up in a serried line it would require the Twentieth Century Limited, traveling without stop at sixty miles an hour, some nine hours to reach the end. The entire mobilization of human material by France would have reached from San Francisco to New York if placed shoulder to shoulder.

Comparing the percentage of losses suffered by the principal belligerents, M. Cadoux reckons that his country had one dead or missing per 28 inhabitants, as against 35 in Germany, 50 in Austria-Hungary, 66 in Great Britain, 79 in Italy, 107 in Russia and 2,000 in the United States.

France's agricultural male population of 5,608,971 lost 691,000; 1,327,156 engaged in commerce results, 155,977 were lost. Of 91,000 artisans of the building trades, 168,747 did not return. There were 235,320 men of liberal professions mobilized and 40,432 died. Transport workers numbering 60,972 failed to return of 665,029 who went to war. There were 21,426 civil servants, 2,712 ecclesiastics, 80,190 students and 9,493 persons of independent means without profession killed.

The statistician's reckoning shows that the return of Alsace-Loraine did not compensate for the ghastly hole torn in the populace by war. Whereas the population of France was 39,600,000 in 1914, it has fallen to 39,209,000 after these provinces returned to the fold.

Records Show German Soldiers Were Sold

Berlin.—Investigation into the manner in which some of the fortunes of Germany's former royal houses were acquired, in connection with the question of indemnification by the republic, has disclosed that German princelings up to the Nineteenth century had sold 296,166 of their subjects for $3,750,000 to England for army service against the American colonies, the French and other enemies.

Duke Karl Wilhelm Ferdinand of Braunschweig sent 4,300 men to England for $38 a head, it is disclosed with an additional indemnity of $22 a head for each man killed in action three wounded men to be counted as one dead one.

Landgrave Frederick of Hesse "sold" 12,000 Hessians at $75 a head, with an annual "rental" fee of $500,000.

There has been produced a letter from the Landgrave of Hessen-Cassel to Baron Hohendorf, his commanding officer in the American colonies, in which the writer commended the bar on "for seeing to it that of 1,950 of the landgrave's peons in the battle of Trenton only 300 escaped alive."

"Be sure to send an itemized statement of the losses to London," the letter continues. "as the English minister wants to pay me for only 1,455 killed. I am entirely dissatisfied with Major Mindorf, who, according to dispatches, succeeded in saving his battalion of Hessians."

Tokyo Girls Object to Marriage Customs

Tokyo.—The modern Japanese girl—a canvass at a girls' high school disclosed—does not favor the present-day system under which most of the marriages are "arranged."

In opposition to the prevailing mode, fifty-three girls in one school said that to marry men of whom they had no previous knowledge was dangerous. Sixteen were opposed because the custom ignores the sentiments of the to be married. Ten objected to the use of a go-between to make arrangements and all agreed that the marriage question should be more seriously considered.

Ranking preferences for husbands were, government officials first and then, in order, business men, educators, farmers, physicians and army officers.

If you massage a cow's back, do it with a curry comb or brush—not a pitch fork or milk stool.

GENERAL STRIKE TO AID POLISH REVOLT

Labor Gives Aid to Pilsudski Insurrection; Government Troops Deserting.

Warsaw.—Labor has declared a general strike in support of Gen. Joseph Pilsudski's insurrection. This new development was followed by reports from many sections of the country, notably Lodz, that military units are deserting their loyal national officers and are flocking to his banner.

Pilsudski, now in complete control of Warsaw, is stated to have two-thirds of the country's artillery and munitions of war and almost the entime commercial and military air service at his disposal.

The situation in the capital is that President Stanislaw Wojciechowsky and several government officials are still occupying the President's official residence, Belvedere palace. This point, which marked the last stand of the government troops in the capital, was captured by Pilsudski's men a few days ago after Premier Witos and members of his cabinet had fled to Posen. The President and his companions are allowed to remain with General Pilsudski's guarantee of safety providing they remain neutral in the conflict.

At Posen, Witos issued a proclamation declaring Pilsudski an outlaw and calling upon all loyal Poles to rally to the side of the government.

The toll of dead in Warsaw during the last few days is estimated at about 400 and 1,500 have been admitted to hospitals suffering from wounds.

Pilsudski made no changes in the administrative offices when he found officials were willing to continue their duties under his rule. Foreign Minister Knoll is carrying on at Warsaw and at Lodz Governor Darowski is still administering affairs in the municipal area.

Labor's support of Pilsudski's cause is counted as immensely important. Organized civilian groups are operating trains and other transport services, facilitating the movement of troops and supplies to Pilsudski's army bases along the Vistula near Warsaw.

Pilsudski issued a manifesto, published in newspapers favorable to his cause. The statement of policy contains the following points:

1. Establishment of a government for restoration of the state's authority.

2. Surrender by the sejm—the Polish house of representatives—of complete powers, including legislative powers, to the government.

3.—Dissolution of the sejm.

4. An immediate general election.

5. Administrative reforms including a fight against corruption in public office.

6.—Continuance of the present Polish foreign policy.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

At least $100,000,000 will have to be chopped off the army $250,000,000 air bill before it will be acceptable to President Coolidge.

The senate passed a bill to create Mammoth Cave National park in Kentucky. It now goes to the house.

The Department of Agriculture issued a quarantine against sections of southeastern Mexico infested with the cattle hoof-and-mouth disease.

Zlang Sun Wan, student, must stand trial a fourth time for the murder of three members of a Chinese educational mission in this city in 1919.

The Interior department appropriation bill has been signed by President Coolidge.

Announcement that President Coolidge has decided to establish the summer White House in the heart of the Adirondacks on the estate of Irwin R. Kirkwood, publisher of the Kansas City Star, was made by Everett Sanders, the President's secretary.

King, Political Leader, Dies in Connecticut

New York.—John T. King, long a power in Connecticut and national Republican politics and at one time a leader in the Bull Moose movement, died in Bridgeport, Conn., just as the federal government was moving for his trial on charges of conspiracy and fraud along with others, including former Attorney General Harry Daugherty.

Still Blast Kills Five

Wilkes-Barre, Pa. — Five young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatz Shadlowski were burned to death in their home at Plymouth, following an explosion of a still.

Unable to Form Cabinet

Brussels, Belgium.—M. Brunet, Socialistic president of the chamber of deputies, has announced that he is unable to form a cabinet and has renounced the mission entrusted to him by King Albert.

Negro Lynched in Florida

Labelle, Fla.—Henry Patterson, negro, was taken from a road gang by a band of white men and shot and hanged. He was accused of attacking a white woman.

COMING TO U. S.

Cardinal Dubois, archbishop of Paris, will come to the United States to participate in the Eucharistic congress in Chicago, and will later visit Washington, Baltimore, Boston and other large cities in this country, according to announcement made in Paris. Cardinal Dubois will be accompanied by a suite of French Catholic dignitaries.

DRY BILL HAS BEEN OFFERED TO SENATE

Committee, Disregarding Andrews, O. K.'s Measure.

Washington.—Having drawn some of its teeth, in spite of the warning of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, that he was depending on them to strengthen liquor-law enforcement, the senate judiciary committee voted to recommend passage of the Goff bill, embodying amendments to the national prohibition act.

The bill goes to the senate floor without the provisions which, as originally drafted by Senator Goff (Rep., W. Va.), in accord with General Andrews' program, would have authorized District of Columbia police to extend their prohibition operations into neighboring states. It also would have permitted them to use search warrants issued in the District of Columbia to make captures in the nearby states.

The judiciary committee also modified that portion of the bill authorizing the seizure of vessels on which liquor is found to require evidence that the master of the vessel was aware that passengers or members of his crew were violating the law.

Another amendment limits the issuance of search warrants for private dwellings to cases where evidence indicates that a still is in use for manufacturing liquor for sale or exchange. The clause "or other disposition," which might have been interpreted to include personal consumption, was eliminated.

Representative La Guardia (Soc., N. Y.) made public a letter to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon on the eve of Mellon's departure to attend a meeting in Pittsburgh. It is known in Pittsburgh, according to La Guardia's letter, that the Hazelwood Brewing company is "running full blast and that real beer is flowing from the vats as fast as mature brewing and the law of gravitation will permit."

Money Is Allowed for Fight on Tuberculosis

Washington.—Allotments to states of funds for cattle tuberculosis eradication from the $750,000 emergency appropriation were announced as follows:

Illinois, $150,000; New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Wisconsin, each $100,000; Massachusetts, $40,000; Kansas, $5,000.

The remaining $155,000 is divided among eleven states.

The money is available for use before July 1, when an appropriation of more than $3,500,000 for tuberculosis eradication becomes available.

Beef Grading Marks Destroyed, Is Charge

Chicago.—The federal grand jury's indictment of the Chicago Packing company and its president, Ignatz Katz, on charges of destroying government inspectors' grading marks on beef, are declared to be but the first of a series of moves which may expose wholesale irregularities at the Union stock yards.

Indictments also were returned against George Parmenter and John P. Reilly, stock buyers at the yards. The charge against them is "conspiracy to violate the stock-yards act of 1907."

Gypsy King Dies in East

Springfield, Mass.—Steve John, seventy-five, king of one of the greatest tribes of gypsies in America, died of heart failure at his camp at Red House Crossing.

Girl Friend of Lincoln Dead

Worcester, Mass.—Mrs. William J. Rees, in her girlhood a personal friend of Abraham Lincoln, is dead at the home of her daughter here, in her ninety-third year. She was born in Gettysburg, Pa.

Norge Carries Amundsen Expedition Over the Pole

Wireless messages from Captain Amundsen said the airship Norge, carrying his expedition, sailed over the North pole at 1 a. m., Wednesday, May 12, Norwegian time. Next day it reached Alaska. Our illustration shows the Norge with Captain Amundsen (left) and Lincoln Ellsworth (right), his American companion.

Tear Gas Used in Hunt of Escaped Convict

When it was reported that James Price, one of the seven convicts who escaped from the Illinois penitentiary at Stateville, was hiding in a cave near Ottawa the sheriff of La Salle county and his posse drenched the cavern with tear gas before venturing within it. The man was not found there, however.

President Gets His Buddy Poppy

President Coolidge received the first "Buddy Poppy" from the hands of little Beverly Moffett, daughter of Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, in the presence of officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who are sponsoring the sale of the poppies for the veterans' benefit.

In Memory of Founder of Esperanto

Scene at the unveiling in Warsaw, Poland, of a memorial to Dr. Ludovic Zamenhof, the founder of Esperanto, which he hoped to make the universal language.

MRS ELLA HAMLIN

Mrs. Ella Bushnell Hamlin, Davenport, Iowa, who has announced her candidacy for congress from the Second district of that state. Her platform is of a radical nature and is attracting national attention. Mrs. Hamlin says: "I am in favor of eliminating the sex line and abolishing all of the women's clubs. The women themselves are raising up barriers between women and men. If the women are desirous of entering politics, let them go in with the men. I am utterly opposed to the idea of the United States joining the League of Nations and the World court. I am in favor of developing our internal waterways to the limit." Mrs. Smith is a journalist.

HOST OF PRESIDENT

It is announced in Washington that the summer White House will be located on Rainbow lake, near the village of Gabriels, N. Y., in the heart of the Adirondacks. The camp which the President will occupy is a part of the immense estate in the fir, pine and birch woods owned by Irwin R. Kirkwood, Kansas City publisher, shown above.

BRITAIN'S PLAN TO END MINE DISPUTE

Subsidy of 3,000,000 Pounds Financial Aid to Extra Miners; Provide Wage Board.

London.—The process of liquidating the British general strike, brought to an end a few days ago, has proceeded rapidly and the country's industrial life once more is headed toward normal conditions. The railway companies and their employees have reached an agreement over the terms of resumption of work. Members of the transport unions and their employers are well on the way toward understanding.

The government offers to have bills passed at the present session of parliament embodying the changes in the coal industry recommended by the Samuel commission. It also offers a further subsidy to the industry of approximately £3,000,000, in addition to giving financial assistance to superfluous miners displaced from the pits.

These offers, however, are conditional on both sides accepting all the terms of the government memorandum. The miners will be obliged to accept a reduction in minimum wages, the cut to be determined later. The government's memorandum provides for a national board of three members for the owners and three representatives of the miners, with a neutral chairman, to frame a national wages and hours agreement governing the principles on which general wage rates should be ascertained in each district.

This board shall also decide the minimum percentage on the basis of taking into consideration the state and the prospects of the coal industry, the reorganization proposals of the commission and "other relevant factors." In a letter to Evans Williams, negotiator for the owners, and Herbert Smith, president of the miners, Prime Minister Baldwin outlined the government proposals.

The government also proposes that the national wages board shall issue its decision within three weeks, and in the event of a disagreement, the independent chairman shall have the final decision. The wages of the poorer paid miners, however, are safeguarded by a provision that men getting 45 shillings weekly or less shall not have their pay reduced. A loophole is left for the miners to accept longer hours if they so desire, by a provision that if the parties agree on a modification of hours the government at once will propose the necessary legislation and help its passage.

The terms of the railway settlement provide that the strikers be reinstated as soon as traffic offers and work can be found for them, the principle of seniority being followed. The unions admitted that in the general strike they committed a wrongful act against the companies and agree that the companies now will not surrender the legal right to claim for damages arising from the strike. The unions further undertake (1) not to strike again without previous negotiations with the companies, (2) not to support members taking unauthorized action; (3) not again to encourage supervisory employees to take part in a strike.

Soviet Engineers to Inspect U. S. Plan

Montreal, Que.—A commission of four hydroelectric engineers from the Soviet union will tour the American continent for three months in preparation for the construction, on the Dnieper river in the Ukraine, of the largest hydroelectrical development in Europe, gathering technical material. They will study the largest Canadian and American power plants from coast to coast.

The Dnieper project, which is a unit in the huge superpower development planned by the Soviet government, includes large inland navigation and irrigation plans as well, will cost $75,000,000. The power plant will have an initial capacity of 210,000 kilowatts and an ultimate capacity of 455,000 kilowatts.

Americans Plan to Win Flight Across Atlantic

Newark, N. J.—Announcement was made that the Aeronautical Club of New Jersey would attempt to fly from a nonstop airplane flight from New York to Paris some time before June 15. The early start is proposed in an endeavor to beat Rene Fonck, French ace, who is expected to take off from Mitchel field on that date in an effort to win the Raymond Orteig prize of $25,000 offered in 1924 for the first nonstop flight from continent to continent.

Lieut.-Commander Noel Davis, United States naval reserves, and Lieut. Frank H. Conant, United States navy, are preparing a three-engine plane for the proposed flight.

Banker Sent to Prison

St. Paul, Minn.—Frank C. Wilbur, former assistant cashier of the Austin (Minn.) National bank, accused of embezzling $23,000, pleaded guilty to false entries and was sentenced to three years in Leavenworth prison.

Life for Robbing Bank

Anoka, Minn.—Clarence Eaton of Des Moines, Iowa, was found guilty of robbing the Anoka National bank and sentenced to life imprisonment in the state prison at Stillwater.

Community Building

Beauty of Evergreens Spoiled by Crowding

Throughout the year there is nothing more pleasing or ornamental around the base of the house than a foundation planting of evergreens, but in a good many instances it is overdone by crowding. In a year or two the shrubs grow together and only their tops and faces can be seen. If better judgment were used and the plants set more widely apart, so that each plant could be seen separately, a much finer effect would be attained. Put the taller varieties at the back, but not too close to the base of the house, with dwarf varieties at the front interspersed with some upright snipers to take away any stiffness in appearance. The knife or shears should be employed freely, for evergreens can stand considerable cutting. Many people do not like colors immediately about the house, but the varied greens of evergreens are restful and at the same time they add a touch of brightness to the home surroundings. There are especially beautiful shades to be found in the fall and winter, from dark green to light green, yellow, golden and bronze, purple blue, silver and white. One who intends to have a foundation planting about his home should visit the nurseries to observe the various tones and shades before he makes his selection of evergreen plants. It is really wonderful to watch the changes, for, like human beings, evergreens become tanned in summer, and in winter return to their natural color.

Insulation of Walls an All-Year Benefit

Home owners often overlook two things about insulation. They may insulate their houses to reduce their winter fuel bills without realizing that they also get another benefit, greater comfort in summer. For insulating materials prevent the passage of heat through walls, roofs, ceilings and other parts of the home. They prevent it from passing out of warm rooms in winter and from entering cool rooms in the torrid days of summer. So insulation is a hot-weather proposition, too.

Many owners think that a home can be insulated only when it is first built. They do not realize that a simple remodeling job will lay a cooling blanket over rooms that tend to get too warm in summer.

This applies especially to the bungalow or small two-story house with unfinished attic. The whole roof is exposed to the sun so the attic becomes hot and this heats the living quarters below.

Careless of Repairs

It is indeed curious that, while we uphold, in so far as we can, any depreciation of our other investments, many of us do not adequately protect our home investment. We are constantly paying "neglect taxes" on our properties, which may be greater some years than the government taxes.

Some idea of the extent of our carelessness may be gained from the knowledge that repairs to property, due entirely to neglect, cost American property owners about $1,800,000,000 a year. This truly appalling figure indicates a very deplorable condition. It is a sum nearly four times as great as the annual fire loss.

This condition is due to utter carelessness on the part of home owners. The man who raises an awful "howl" if he thinks he is being "done" out of a little money, often does not realize that necessary repairs on his property may soon cause him really big losses.

Playground Competition

One hundred and seventy-eight cities have entered 311 playgrounds and athletic fields in the national playground beautification contest announced by the Playground and Recreation Association of America.

Forty-one states and Canada are represented by the cities competing for the $5,650 in cash prizes and nursery stock to be awarded by the Harmon foundation.

New York is the most populous competitor, and Antreville and Coward, S. C., are the smallest, each boasting 300 persons. However, the metropolis will not compete directly against the villages, as all entering cities are divided into three population groups.

The Home Town

Man loved not Athens in her golden days
More tenderly than these the tree-lined town,
Which, lacking muses for a wilder praise,
Lives in their hearts in still and sweet renown.

The market square, the wagons in the dawn,
The streets like music when their names are said,
The Sunday spire, the green, untrammeled lawn—
These be the things on which their hearts are fed.

—David Morton, in "The Town."

Roof of High Importance

From both architectural and decorative standpoints, the roof treatment is the keynote of the house. No matter whether the roof is flat or sloping, the handling of its color will be one of the greatest factors in adding to or taking from the attractiveness of the dwelling.

Shoe Styles Demand Attention; Lacy Frocks Are the Latest

EVEN the oldest fashion reporter cannot recall a time when styles in shoes received so much attention and thought as this season's footwear is getting. For several years women have been growing more and more discriminating and exacting in the matter of shoes, and the element of style in footwear has mounted in importance until what is chic for the feet takes as much consideration and money as what is smart for the head.

For the street the eyes of fashion linger on oxfords and pumps—taking note of the tendency to light colors and becoming cut, for shoes as well as hats must be flattering. This year's oxford is cut a little lower than last year's, and is made of kid, patent leather, or reptile skins. Alligator, lizards and numerous snake skins, or imitations of them, are a dominating note in the fashions and very often reptile skins are combined with plain leathers. In the spring and summer displays of footwear the usual browns and black are less numerous than many light tones of brown and neutral shades, as beige, gray, parchment and the natural shades of snake skin. In choosing the walking shoe one may consider the low Cuban heel or a higher heel—but not too high, for a walking shoe is supposed to be sturdy. Stockings made of interwoven strips of leather.

High colors, except among evening slippers, where they appear in metallic brocades, are conspicuous by their absence from fashionable footwear, but emphasis is placed on daintiness and on soft and neutral shades that harmonize with all colors.

Leaving all responsibility of comfort to luxurious wraps, or steam heat and other practical things—gay, sheer frocks keep a summer mind all the year round and refuse to recognize a chill anywhere. All climes are genial to them and it is just a question of more or less airiness for every season of the year. And now comes midsummer, revealing to just what to match in color are approved and gloves and hat of the same color as the footwear, to be worn with tailored clothes, flourish in the smile of fashion.

Some Modes in Shoes.

Evening slippers of metallic brocade may be selected with assurance and the black satin slipper, with rhinestone buckle, has lost none of its prestige for wear with formal gowns in black. The silver or gold kid slippers or sandals are displayed among evening shoes and also beautiful new modes combining metallic kid with metallic brocade.

For real sports wear it is necessary to own the proper shoes but the average woman will make out very well with a pair of white shoes in canvas, linen or kid which are classed as semi-sports shoes or with sandals lengths or heights or degrees of sheerness the gay and frivolous mode will go as a climax to its riotous career.

It appears that, with the advance of spring, fashion grew more and more fond of lace. The new season came in leading frocks of taffeta combined with georgette before the eyes of admiring throngs, followed by others of taffeta and lace, then georgette and lace, next chiffon and more lace—and finally comes the all-lace gown in company with mere wisps of frocks with lace skirts and printed chiffon bodices—in which often the lace is dyed to match the color dominating in the bodice. But the all-lace gown has a dignity that will make it the choice of many a bride, many a matron of honor and many other matrons. Very close to it, in this particular, are frocks of georgette and lace combined, in which lace motifs are carefully set in the georgette in graceful godets and emplacements. In the tan, gray, black or white frocks this method of combining the two fabrics is most effective.

Lacy Frock for Summer.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

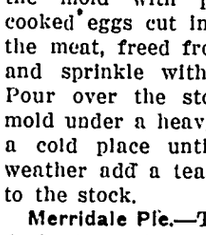
THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

People have to live first before they can see, and they don't think until they are fed, and one needs always to have had enough turnips to see in them anything except food.—Mrs. Wilkins.

FOOD FOR THE DAY

The French are wonderful cooks, but they look with dismay upon our huge, juicy roasts and steaks. Mark Twain said: "There is here and there an American who will say he can remember rising from a European table d'hote perfectly satisfied; but we must not overlook the fact that there is here and there an American who will lie."



Onion Soup With Eggs and Cream.—Cut up six white onions thin and fry in a tablespoonful of butter until a light brown. Add a quart of water and a pint of milk. Season with a teaspoonful each of salt and sugar, a dash of red pepper and a pinch of mace. Cook slowly for an hour and strain; beat four eggs until light, add a cupful of cream and a tablespoonful of cornstarch, mixed with a little cold water; cook until the starch is well cooked before adding the eggs, as the soup must not be boiled after adding the eggs or it will curdle.

Jellied Chicken.—Dress, clean and cut up a four-pound fowl. Put in a saucepan with two slices of onion; cover with boiling water and cook slowly until the meat falls from the bones. When partly cooked add half a teaspoonful of salt. Remove the chicken, reduce the stock to three-fourths of a cupful, strain and skim off the fat. Decorate the bottom of the mold with parsley and hard-cooked eggs cut into slices. Pack in the meat, freed from skin and bones, and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour over the stock and place the mold under a heavy weight. Keep in a cold place until firm. In warm weather add a teaspoonful of gelatin to the stock.

Merridale Pie.—Take two cupfuls of drained crushed pineapple, one-half cupful of red currant jelly, one tablespoonful of confectioner's sugar, and one stiffly beaten egg white. Mix the pineapple, jelly and sugar and beat vigorously with an egg beater, then fold in the beaten egg white and turn into a baked pastry shell. Sprinkle with one-half cupful of grated cocoanut and place in the oven until brown.

Baked Chicken With Bananas.—Melt one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one large onion thinly sliced, cut two young chickens into pieces for serving, cover and cook slowly, turning often; after cooking ten minutes add one cupful of chicken stock and cook until the meat is tender. Remove the chicken, put stock and cook until the meat is tender. Remove the chicken, put stock and onion through a sieve and add one and one-half tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour cooked together until smooth. Season with salt, pepper and a bit of cayenne. Arrange the chicken on a platter, pour the sauce around it and garnish the rim of the platter with sliced bananas which have been fried in butter. A teaspoonful of lemon juice and one-half teaspoonful of sugar may be used to baste the bananas while cooking.

Choice Cakes.

Wise mixing and careful baking are important points in successful cake making. If the cake is to bake an hour, watch the oven the first quarter or twenty-five minutes to see that it begins to rise; the second quarter it should finish rising and begin to brown; the third quarter it should finish browning and begin to shrink from the sides of the pan; the last quarter finishes the baking. If the cake begins to brown in the first quarter, it will not rise sufficiently, so careful following of this rule will insure a good cake, provided it has been well prepared.

A cake filled with large holes has too much of the rising agency—baking powder or soda and cream of tartar—or it has not been well blended. Careful mixing to thoroughly blend all the ingredients is vital in good cake-making. If a cake cracks open in the middle, humping itself up into an unsightly shaped loaf, it may be caused from too hot an oven or too much flour. The first five minutes in the oven a cake may be turned and shifted without injury, but after that leave it until it has fully risen before moving it.

Wedding Cake.—Take one cupful each of white sugar, brown sugar, molasses, coffee and butter. Six eggs, one teaspoonful of soda, two pounds of raisins, one pound of currants, one-half pound each of finely sliced citron and chopped dates, the same of figs, one pound of walnut meats chopped, one-half ounce each of orange and lemon extract, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful each of cloves, nutmeg and allspice. Two cupfuls of chopped apples and salt to taste. Add four cupfuls of flour and steam three hours, then bake one. This fruit cake will keep for months and is better made at least two months before it will be served. Steaming the cake first insures a moist, good-flavored cake.

Nellie Maxwell

Fishing

FISHING from the banks of a sunny stream in springtime! Delightful. Fully comparable to catching, for the first time, the fragrant aroma of a cup of Monarch Coffee or Monarch Cocoa. High in quality — low in cost.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago · Boston · Pittsburgh New York

Primitive Ice Skates

The oldest ice skates in the world have been discovered in a museum in Prague. They date back to the Fifth century, B. C., and are fashioned from the bones of cattle, the bone being flattened off on one side along its length and perforated at each end to admit ankle thongs.

Diplomas They Can Read

Diplomas hereafter given Mercer college graduates will be written in English, the faculty of the Macon (Ga.) institution decided, acting on a petition from the students, who said that they wanted to read what was written on them. Previously they had been written in Latin.

Don't wait!

Plan now to redecorate your home. Surprise your friends and neighbors with its new beauty. Read about a new method that transforms every room—from cellar to garret—at a cost of less than $1.00!

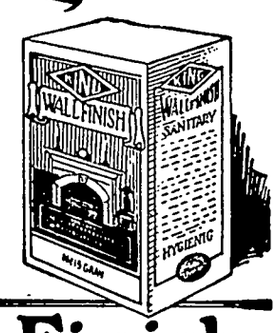
It's time to get rid of winter's smoke and soot on walls and ceilings and make your home prettier and more inviting. It's so easy now to make each room clean and bright and colorful—over-night transformation that changes dull, drab rooms into cheerful, friendly, livable ones.

And all at a cost of less than $1.00 a room!

This method is so inexpensive you can afford to redecorate your entire house. All you need is a little King Wall Finish that you can get at almost any paint store. This finish is so easy to use that it's fun to work with it. Just mix with water and apply. It never spots, laps or streaks. Even an amateur who has never held a paint brush can get beautiful results with King Wall Finish.

Make up your mind now to investigate this new and inexpensive decorating method. Write today for name of dealer nearest you and for FREE Color Chart showing 19 beautiful colors to choose from.

THE CHICAGO WHITE LEAD & OIL CO.
15th St. and S. Western Ave., Chicago, Ill.



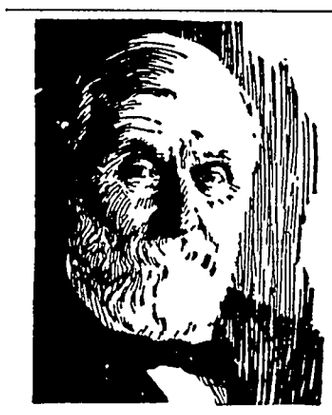
KING Wall Finish

First English Woman Flyer

Mrs. Elliott-Lyon is the first English woman aviator to fly commercially. Under the rules of international law she is not allowed to take paying passengers, so for the present her work will be confined to carrying merchandise.

Up to the People

When people evince public interest, parliamentary government is probably the best for them. When considerable numbers of them are more concerned about their private affairs than they are about public, popular government may be the worst.—Grit.



DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

A Child's Laxative Which Mothers Can Rely On

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mothers to give only a harmless laxative which would help to establish natural bowel "regularity."

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin mothers have a regulating laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is constipated, bilious, feverish or sick from a cold, indigestion or sour stomach. All children love its pleasant taste.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself how perfectly it cleanses and regulates the bowels of infants and children.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

Never Introduced

"Why do you persist in despising wealth?"

"Perhaps it's because I never got well enough acquainted with it to know its good qualities."

History is threaded through with movements to compulsorily "improve," the souls of others.

Mrs. Duren's Quick Start

Mrs. Henrietta Ducan Duren, Boston woman lawyer, has the distinction of trying a case in court less than an hour after she was admitted to the Massachusetts bar.

Which would you rather? Be bored by your own company or some one else's?

Eat Yeast Foam this easy way

Drop a cake of Yeast Foam in a glass of water; let it stand for 5 minutes; stir with spoon; let settle and drink the milky water, including the white precipitate.

Nothing could be easier or more palatable than this way of eating Yeast Foam. Yet you get its full tonic value.

Eat Yeast Foam for constipation, indigestion, lack of weight and strength, boils, pimples and run down condition.

SAMPLE CAKE FREE

NORTHWESTERN YEAST CO.
1750 North Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Send me FREE and POSTPAID your book "Dry Yeast as an Aid to Health", also a Sample of Yeast Foam, without obligation.

Name _____

Address _____

W. N. U.

Additional Klemme News

Mrs. M. O. Barr was a visitor at Mason City Tuesday.

W. F. Pavey and family spent Sunday at the Henry Buseman home.

Dr. Missman is driving a new Buick closed car.

Mr and Mrs. Worthy Usher visited at Clear Lake Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludeke were Garner visitors yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lau were visitors at Mason City yesterday.

Mrs. Florence Smith was visiting at Garner Sunday.

H. Harberts of Goodell was a business caller here last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Buss and two children visited at Goodell Sunday.

Ben Swalve was at Garner on business Saturday.

The W. F. M. S. will meet next Thursday, May 27 at the home of Mrs J E Stille.

Mr White, of Estherville, was a visitor at the Paul Grange home yesterday.

Mrs A. Ahrenkeil and son, Taalkaus, of Goodell, were visiting here yesterday.

Oscar Carlson and family spent Sunday at the Walt Mason home at Goodell

Garner will celebrate Memorial on Monday, May 31st this year, as the holiday falls on Sunday.

Bert Leutzinger, of Britt, was a Klemme caller yesterday. He is a candidate for Sheriff.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs Charles Lenz, of Spooner, Wisconsin, Saturday.

Dr and Mrs. W. F. Missman were Garner callers Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Sinclair, of Garner, were Klemme visitors Wednesday evening. Roy is a candidate for County Auditor.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Jacobs, of Garner, spent Wednesday evening visiting their grandson, Elwyn Jacobs.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Edmundson and children had dinner Sunday at the hom of Mrs. Lena Edmundson at Ventura.

Levi Klotzbach and family leave Friday for Clayton county to enjoy a week's vacation visiting relatives and friends.

The Ventura band, under the direction of Ed. Kahrs, will give the first concert Wednesday evening, June 2nd.

The Juniors and Seniors enjoyed a party at the Gym Tuesday after school where they had a picnic and then all went to Bayside to spend the evening roller skating.

G W. Kluckhohn & Sons store has a pretty window this week in which they feature the Senior Class. It is decorated in the Senior colors and is very attractivo.

LAND FOR SALE

Have 158 acre farm, 3 miles from Garner, all level ground and tiled, improvements are fair. Price, if taken soon $120 per acre. Also have a number of other real good buys If interested call on Ash Keever, Klemme, Iowa. tfp

About the only result of the Senate Volstead investigation was to leave the dries drier and the wets wetter than they were before.

A Columbia University professor says that the twentieth century man is "ethically upset." Now you know what is the matter with you.

KLEMME SCHOOL CLOSES FRIDAY WITH PICNIC

School The Past Year Has Been Very Satisfactory To All

This week ends the school year 1925-'26. We hope there has been a reasonable degree of satisfaction on the part of pupil and parents and those intersted in public education. As teachers and faculty members we have our regrets and on is that not all can be promoted but it seems impossible to expect such a thing. Not all folks succeed outside of school and in mature years and it is not to be expected that children will be much more perfect in industry and general ability.

There will be the usual number of failures, due to one cause or another. Sometimes pupils have been previously promoted to a grade involving work bepond their ability. We have often pupils poorly prepared both as to ability and previous preparation.

Not all pupils have the same industry and application. Some escape duties at home and shirk work that is hard and instead of doubling their efforts when they get behind they are ready to quit and "the jig is up."

With report cards sent to parents once each six weeks parents have had a chance to know how the children were progressing and in some cases possibly have been able to get more work done and to get their children through the grade. School work is no easy task. We have pupils in high school with less ability than some in the sixth grade, Juniors in high school who could not possibly do as well at eighth grade work as some now in the eighth grade.

We have done the best we could with what you parents have provided us and hope next year to do more for you. We cannot create native ability and sometimes are unable to make some work attractive for some children. They are often not attracted to work assigned to them in the home.

A big picnic has been planned for Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Koerner have been getting their premises ready for the occasion, the Lumber Yard has agreed to donate the lumber for tables and seats; Mr. Wellemeper the coffee; and the Board the ice cream and lemons. Parents and friends are furnishing cakes, buns, salads and other eatables for the big dinner and in the afternoon a ball game with Renwick, "Abe's" team, will be here to cross bats with our high school team. Bring a little change as we must pay the expenses of these visitors.

Friday night the last event of the school year. All are welcome and we believe Rev. Sunderlin's address will be enjoyed. There will be a good program. The graduates will be looking their best and many should come and congratulate them on their sticking to it to the end.

Most of the teachers will leave Saturday.

Pastel-Colored Wool Jersey for Tots' Bloomer Frocks

If grownups have a flare to their frocks, why not those of little folks as well? That is exactly what the designer of the little bloomer dress in the picture must have been thinking, too. For, sure enough, here it is, a circular flare cut, and isn't it just as cunning as cunning can be? Such a simple little bloomer frock it is, for the mother who sews a bit, to make for her child.

What this wee spring dress lacks in ornamentation it makes up for in color, for it is fashioned of wool jersey in oh! such a bright carrot shade.

Rose-blush, carrot, peppermint, nile, pencil, and Italian blue, flamingo, peach, oatmeal, maize and phantom red, and yet the list is not all told of colorings in which wool jersey is making its spring appearance. Those who create the mode are all enthusiasm over this fabric for coats and dresses for little folks.

Goodell News

(By Special Correspondent)

Mr. and Mrs. Baker entertained relatives of Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thada were Mason City callers Friday.

Carl Sandberg, of Ames, is spending a few days at home.

Play Day was postponed on account of rain.

Class Day will be held in the U. B. Church, Friday evening, May 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hughes of Belmond were Goodell visitors Sunday.

Fronia Fuller visited with friends at Mason City this week.

Mrs. Thora Treese, of Belmond, visited at the A. C. Carpenter home Monday.

The Rosary Ladies held a Food Sale in the Opera House Saturday. They realized about $20.00.

Mildred Remer returned to Adel last Monday after spending a week with her folks.

Mrs. Wilmur Burke and Mrs. Frank Quigley, Jr. were Klemme callers Friday.

The G. H. S. boys played baseball at Thornton Friday. Goodell was victorious. The score stood 3 to 1.

Frank Quigley, Sr. traded his Buick touring car for a Buick sedan.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Quigley are the parents of a baby boy born May 12th.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and two children of Spirit Lake are visiting at the Ahrenkeil and White homes.

Commencement Exercises will be held in the U. B. Church Thursday evening, May 27th.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Griggs attended the Class Play, "Safety First," at Meservey Friday night.

Jay Griggs and Fernon were trans acting business in Clear Lake last Thursday evening.

J. J. Cook and W. L. Sherwood attended the funeral of Mr. Fitz at Belmond Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Grosnell, of Ft. Dodge spent Sunday at the Lamer home.

Miss Paine attended the Alumni Picnic at Eagle Grove Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Houghton and Mrs. Conlan were having dental work done in Forest City Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J Schneider and family and Miss Thomas and Mr. Nelson attended the "Big Day" at Ames Saturday.

The Baccalaureate address will be held in the U. B. Church Sunday evening, May 23rd. Rev. J. D. O'Connor, of Belmond will speak for Commencement, May 28.

The Glee Club and Orchestra program held in the Opera House Friday night was well attended and enjoyed by everybody. The pupils deserve much praise for their accomplishment in Orchestra and Glee Club work.

Eunice Wesenberg entertained her class, being the eighth grade, and Miss Thomas, Thursdap night. A very nice supper was prepared by Mrs. Wesenberg and Clara Kirkwood. The young folks all spent a very enjoyable evening.

Mr. Matson and Mr. Avery were out in the country in Matson's car. They overturned the car when turning a corner. Mr. Avery managed to crawl out though one of the windows and get help. Mr. Matson had several bruises and cuts and the car was badly damaged.

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Recorder, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—Clarissa Peterson Abel tc

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recordor subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Fern Peck Katter, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination to the office of Representative from Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Marion A. Fell, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Representative in the state legislature, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary election in June, 1926. —C. H. Nelson, Garner, Ia. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for representative for Hancock County in the Iowa State Legislature subject to the decision of the voters at the primaries in Juno 1926.—Ole T. Rikansrud, R. R. No. 4, Kanawha, Iowa.

FOR COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock county subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen. c

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby annunce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primaries.—R. W. Sinclair, Garner Ia. *

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primary Election. —H. C. Meyer. c

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election for County Supervisor subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—A. O. Christensen. *

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary election.—F. J. Urich, Garner, Iowa.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for reelection for County Supervisor subject to the Republican voters at the June Primary election 1926.—Fred Oxley, Corwith.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters a the Republican primary in June, 1926.—G. H. Lade, Garner.

FOR TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—John Suurballe. c

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primaries in June, 1926.—C. A. Halverson, Miller. Iowa.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 8, 1926.—Herb Gartin. c

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—E. P. "Peck" Hanson.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—Bert Leutzinger, Britt.

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the Republican primary in June. 1926.—Verna C. Grau. c

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primaries.—V. S White, Britt.

Dress Up For Memorial--

MEMORIAL DAY is the opening day for "Dress Up For Summer." You will find a complete line of Summer Goods here for every member of the family. Dress Up For Memorial and start the Summer right.

HERE ARE SOME GOOD SUGGESTIONS

For The Ladies—	For The Men—
Summer Dress Goods	Oxfords and Shoes
Silk Hosiery	Silk Hosiery
Dainty Lingerie	Straw and Soft Felt Hats
Oxfords and Slippers	Ties, Soft Collars
Silk Dress Material	Silk and Dress Shirts
Toilet Articles	Athletic Underwear
Hankerchiefs, etc.	Belts, Ties, Etc.

For The Children

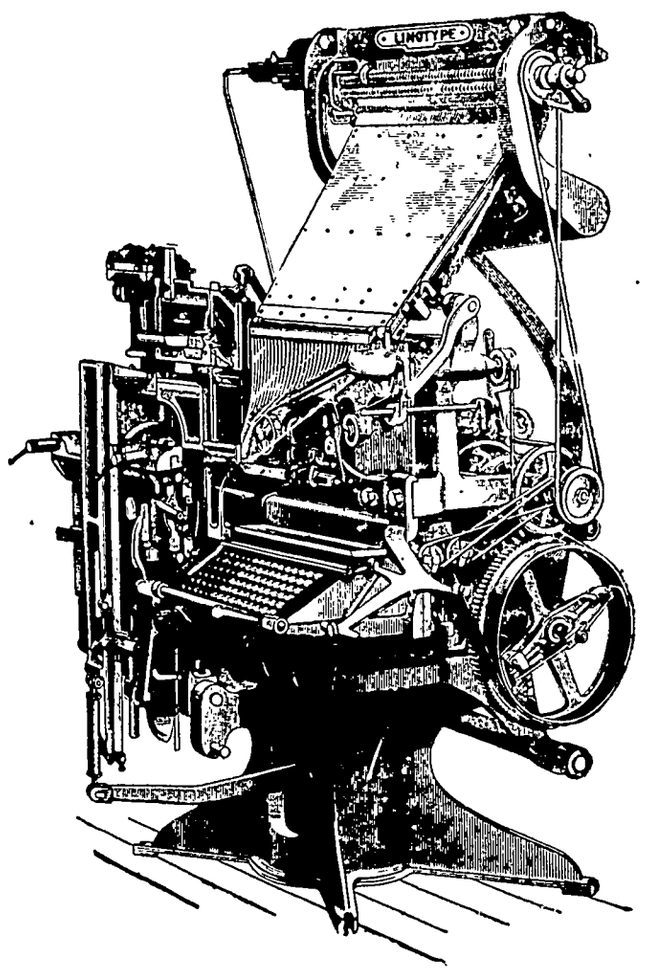
We carry a complete line of Shoes, Oxfords, Stockings, Caps, Hats, Play Suits, etc. for the Boys and Girls. Fit them out here with shoes and clothing that gives good wear at reasonable prices.

Groceries

We will have many specials for Memorial in Fruits, Vegetables and Groceries. Our Grocery prices are always right—

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

You can get it here-- Printed Better



Our Linotype Is Always READY!

Ask Us For Prices

Times Print Shop

r Supply Under Pressure Helps

wo good reasons may be found the farmer should have his watpply under pressure," says A. Turner of the Agricultural Enring Deaprtment, Iowa State ge. "The first reason is that a system insures a sufficient y of water for the livestock, ble at all times. The second reais the great convenience it afthe home Running water in ouse raises the housewife from plane of a slave to the plane of use manager"

If human ears were as long as jackass ears and they wagged out every time they listened to something they wasn't supposed to, most people would have to wear halters to keep from getting them snagged on the passing traffic.

A HOT ONE!

Lady (to guide in the Yellowstone Park) "Do these hot springs ever freeze over?"

Guide "Oh, yes. Once last winter a lady stepped through the ice here and burned her foot"

Why! take 60% to 70% depreciation on your car because your MOTOR is out of condition

Stormizing will restore full power and give you a "new" motor to run.

Stormizing is a mechanically accurate process that restores cylinders to their original accuracy. The Process is so accurate it can be repeated several times as cylinders wear.

The Stormizing Process will keep motor at Full Power for 75,000 to 200,000 miles of use. It's the economic way.

The SAVINGS in gas and oil will pay the small cost and you have continuous full powered motor service during the life of your car.

Drive in and let us look over your car. This will cost you nothing. We will show you the advantages and economy of Stormizing and how it pays for itself.

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Klemme, Iowa

Save Money!

ORDER YOUR COAL NOW

We can save you a lot of money and furnish you with better coal if you will give us your order NOW! At this time of the year we can buy the best coal from the mines we select—later we have to take what we can get. Order now—you will get better coal for less money.

That Car Load of Tankage is here now!

POULTRY FEEDS

We carry a full line of Dickinson's "GLOBE BRAND" of Chicken Feeds, etc., and have on hand:

"GLOBE" CHICK STARTER
"GLOBE" GROWING MASH
"GLOBE" SCRATCH FEED, etc.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

Johnson Lawn Mowers

It will certainly pay you to look over a JOHNSON ALL STEEL lawn mower before you buy. We have sold a lot of these mowers and they are giving excellent s and best satisfaction. The Johnson is self-sharpening. Runs so easy a child can push it through tall grass that couldn't be cut with any other mower. The Johnson mower is made to stand hard use—made of only the best high grade steel thru-out. Take one home and compare it with any other make—you be the judge.

ALSO—

We carry a full line of Spray pumps of all kinds, Arsenate of Lead and LimeSulfur spray; Garden Hose, Lawn Rakes, Sprinklers, etc.

E. F. Jacobs

"THE FARM SERVICE STORE"

JEWS OF RUSSIA IN PITIABLE CONDITION

Ruined and Starving, Reports Investigator.

New York.—The wracking experience of a three-months' "nightmare" journey through a gray, huddled Twentieth-century inferno of misery, want and helplessness was recounted by Miss Irma May of New York city, who returned on the steamship Paris direct from a tour of the "hunger region" of Poland, Galicia and Bessarabia, where hundreds of thousands of Jewish families, after a ten-years' struggle against the impoverishment of the war, are now crushed in a final tragedy of industrial ruin, destitution and starvation as a result of the latest economic collapse in eastern Europe

Miss May, who was abroad on a visit when the first reports of the new Jewish disaster in Europe reached this country, was commissioned by cable by David A. Brown, national chairman of the United Jewish campaign for a $15,000,000 overseas chest to complete the reconstruction tasks undertaken by the American Jewish joint distribution committee in Russia and the eastern European countries, to obtain first-hand information of actual conditions and the extent of the breakdown of trade and industry affecting the Jews of these countries.

Inquiry Begun in January.

She started on her mission early in January and in the last three months has journeyed from city to city, from village to village in all the large Jewish sections of Poland, Galicia and Bessarabia.

Her reports by radio and letter to Mr. Brown, based on authenticated statistical information, make up a day-by-day chronicle of human ruin and despair, crowded with intimate detail of the suffering of workers broken by months and years of unemployment, of merchants stripped of their last resources, of proud and poor alike leveled to bread-lines and soup-kitchens, of women and children starving and freezing and waiting in piteous resignation for death.

More than a million Jews of Poland—one-third the entire Jewish population of the country—are at present absolutely without any means of support, and their only hope of being saved from extinction, Miss May declares, rests on the early arrival of relief funds from America.

The Jewish cities of Bessarabia, Miss May found, present a repetition of the Polish picture of impoverishment, stagnation and helpless misery. Due to a two years' crop failure, the historic Jewish agricultural communities of this region are shattered by want, famine and disease.

Child mortality in Bessarabia has reached 100 per cent as a result of severe malnutrition and lack of medical aid, and favus and hunger-typhus are spreading ominously. The food allowance of Jewish families in this section of Bessarabia—all available food supplies are rationed by local "hunger committees"—is a few ounces of corn meal and a fraction of a pound of potatoes a day.

Frenzied Struggle for Bread.

Miss May's final experiences in Poland represent a peak of the appalling panorama of physical and moral breakdown in which a piteous, frenzied struggle for bread, hopeless submission to squalor and disease, and a panic of self-destruction as an escape from unbearable suffering and degradation bespeak the utter collapse of the ancient communal structure of Jewish life in Poland, and threaten the extinction of millions of lives of men, women and children.

In Brest-Litovsk Miss May found the poorest of the poor, mostly war widows, still living in the ruins of the synagogues in which they took shelter when they returned as refugees and exiles of siege and evacuation after the razing of the city in the last withdrawal of the Russian armies from the fortress.

Utterly depleted by the destruction of the military occupations and counter-occupations, scarcity of work and food and the struggle against broken-down, rudimentary living conditions, the local community is incapable of relieving the plight of these people.

War orphans and children born in the years of famine and internal turmoil are growing up as waifs, with weakened constitutions and no outlook for a normal adjustment to orderly productive life.

Nice Doggie Hates Bad Bill Collectors

Milwaukee. Wis.—Spider is only an Airedale pup, but as a watch dog he is more efficient than a full-grown hound.

Loyalty to his mistress landed her in Civil Judge Thomas Mahon's court here recently, for so close did Spider guard the premises that when Louis Swarze, a collection agent, tried to approach the place, Spider refused to yield and Louis got no farther than the front gate.

But Louis was persistent and when he appeared again he found the dog still more aggressive and Louis went away minus part of his trousers.

Spider's mistress promised to chain the dog and invited Louis to come for his money.

HOW LAND SWINDLERS AND LOAN SHARKS DEFRAUD THEIR PREY

W. R. Morehouse Reveals Further Schemes by Which Poor Widows Are Bereft of Their Savings—Unbelievable Frauds Are Worked on the Uninformed.

By W. R. MOREHOUSE,
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

ARTICLE NO. III

LAND swindles are almost as common as sand on the seashore. Here is one. A widow was left alone in the world with but $6,000. She was urged to take a free ride into the country to look over a new town site. Just a pleasure ride, she was told. No obligation on her part. She accepted the invitation with no intention of parting with her precious $6,000, but she fell among high-pressure salesmen and in an unguarded moment she affixed her signature to a contract to purchase a vacant lot for the $6,000 cash she had in a savings bank.

W. R. Morehouse

Thirty days after she drew out her account for what she supposed was a business lot she received a notice that her monthly instalment of $6,000 was due, being a $1,000 payment on each of six $6,000 lots. Strange as it may seem, not until she received this notice did she read the contract she had signed. Instead of buying one $6,000 lot and paying for it, as she meant to do, she had signed a contract to buy six $6,000 business lots and the $6,000 she drew from the bank had been applied as a first payment of $1,000 each on the six lots.

Had she gone to her bankor she would have saved herself the loss of her inheritance, but doubtless the reason she had not consulted her bank was because sho was not aware that bankers render such a service.

this same shylock for assistance and this is how he handled the case. He led the woman to expect that he would lend her the money but kept deferring making the loan from day to day Finally, on the day she must make her payment or lose her furniture, he

From American Bankers Association Journal

A Widow Fell Among High Pressure Land Salesmen

Sad is the lot of the savings depositor who, after losing his savings through wild-cat speculation, is driven to desperation for funds and finds it necessary to borrow money to meet an emergency such as sickness or unpaid rent. Let me give the facts about two cases of the many with which I have come in contact.

The Loan Shark at Work

The principal characters in the first case are a man, who must borrow $350 to place his wife in a hospital to save her life, and a loan shark, who demands every ounce of blood. In desperation the borrower applies to this loan shark for the loan of $350.

This is what it costs him—the amount is almost unbelievable but I obtained the exact figures first hand and I can vouch for their correctness—this man was obliged to give his note for $925 for a loan of $350! The day he got the note the shark sold it to an innocent holder and it became an obligation binding upon the borrower. Think of paying $925 for a loan of $350!

Here is another. This time there is a woman in the case. The woman needed $165 to meet a payment on her furniture or lose it. She turned to telephoned her to call. It was now too late for her to make any other arrangements for borrowing the funds The shylock had planned it so that she would be at his mercy and would have to accept his terms. He charged her $650 for a loan of $165!

How the Shark Does It

Doubtless your curiosity is aroused as to how this shylock can get away with such a deal. Here are the facts He charged a large commission for making the loan and also included a wide range in fees such as for drawing up papers and notarial fees On top of this he required the borrowers to buy stock in his company which was worthless. Then he required them to take out through him life insurance to about one hundred times the amount of the loan for which he received a liberal commission. In fact, he resorted to every imaginable scheme in order to bleed them of the last drop of blood they had to give. And the unfortunate thing about it all is that the borrowers in these two cases found it necessary to meet such exorbitant terms because they had already lost their savings through ill-advised investments.

(Article IV will give methods by which people can be protected from fraudulent operations.)

FUTURE BECKONS YOUNG AMERICANS

Achievements of Past Only Show Great Opportunity Ahead.

Great events of the past quarter century which lead some young men to complain that all the big things have been done, leaving no opportunity for them, as a matter of fact only go to show that even greater opportunity today lies ahead of them, F. N. Shepherd, Executive Manager of the American Bankers Association, recently told members of the American Institute of Banking in New York. After reviewing the outstanding accomplishments in science, industry and finance during the last twenty-five years, Mr Shepherd emphasized the reward given men of achievement in America, especially in the financial field.

"The achievements of the past are the groundwork for the opportunities of today and tomorrow," he said "There never was a time when so great were the potentialities of the individual. The world was never so ready and able to pay well for what it wants. For superior service to society under competitive conditions, whether through invention or production or organization or distribution of useful articles, no reward is begrudged, particularly here in America.

"Adding to human comfort and human needs, these things make life finer and better. The world has shared; but it is in America that they have reached their highest development and utilization. The American spirit of useful enterprise, however, does not confine itself within our own borders. It permeates the entire world and renders great service to peoples other than our own.

"Let us pass over America's service to humanity in the war and consider what is being done now Largely to rebuild the economic life of a world shattered by the war and its devastating after effects, America has, since the war, loaned other peoples over ten billion dollars. Last year alone a billion and a half in foreign financing was consummated in the United States. American financial genius has so far readjusted our banking machinery to meet enlarged international obligations that stupendous foreign loans, such as the $100,000,000 Dawes plan credit to Germany, are concluded and the books closed after being open to public subscription only a few minutes.

"With our new world viewpoints we in America have many great things yet to do These things are typical of the broadminded world viewpoint of American finance. It shows the vision necessary to the men who guide our business affairs today. Certainly there is an inspiration in this and the great opportunities which await us."

Bankers and business men of the leading towns of Taylor county, Texas, employed a county agent last spring, and requested that he vigorously promote boys' and girls' club activities. As a result of his work over 300 club members were enrolled Work is being concentrated this year on poultry culling and grain sorghum seed selection This fall there will be exhibits and contests, for which the business men are contributing generous prizes.

COAST CITIES OF WEST FADE AWAY

Once Prosperous Towns Dying of Dry Rot.

Denver.—The "Cousin Jacks," the prospectors after gold are passing Hardly a week now goes by but word comes down that another has been found dead in a rotting cabin in the "ghost cities" that dot the high country of Colorado and the mining west.

The towns, many of them, are dying, too. Once well-worn streets are grass grown, and pack rats haunt the buildings.

Central City is perhaps the most striking example of the change. Thirty years ago it boasted a population of 12,000. Today there are approximately 500 persons there.

President Grant and his daughter visited Central City and the residents paved the sidewalk from the street to the old Teller house with gold.

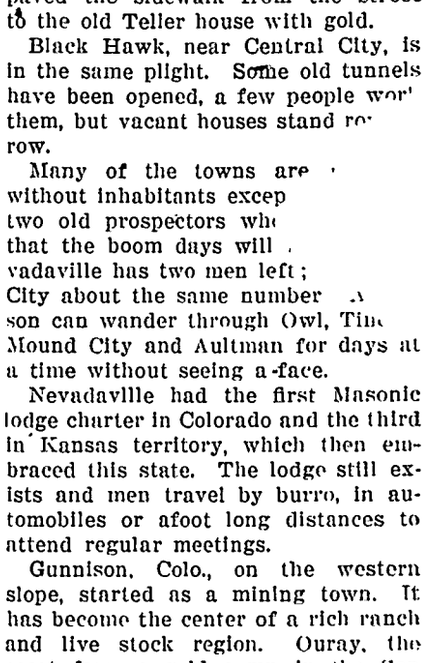
Black Hawk, near Central City, is in the same plight. Some old tunnels have been opened, a few people wor them, but vacant houses stand ro row.

Many of the towns are without inhabitants excep two old prospectors wh that the boom days will vadaville has two men left; City about the same number son can wander through Owl, Tin Mound City and Aultman for days at a time without seeing a face.

Nevadaville had the first Masonic lodge charter in Colorado and the third in Kansas territory, which then embraced this state. The lodge still exists and men travel by burro, in automobiles or afoot long distances to attend regular meetings.

Gunnison, Colo., on the western slope, started as a mining town. It has become the center of a rich ranch and live stock region. Ouray, the most famous gold camp in the San Juan district in southwestern Colorado, is still existent, but only as a country town. Tom Walsh discovered the Camp Bird mine outside Ouray and sold it to British interests for millions of dollars.

QUEEN OF FLORIDA



Virginia Herbsman, a Seattle (Wash.) girl, and a blond, as a newcomer surprised everyone by being elected as Spanish queen of the annual Ponce de Leon celebration in St. Augustine, Fla. She works for a real estate firm there.

Asks Pay for 34 Years as Man's Housekeeper

Ludlow, Ill.—Alleging breach of contract, Miss Lydia Summit of Ludlow has filed suit against William Lateer, executor of the estate of the late Carl Spoerrle of this place, an uncle of the complainant.

She asserts that in 1889 her relative persuaded her to give up her profession of graduate nurse to live upon his farm and be his housekeeper. In turn she was to receive all of h erty upon his death. She ag this and was in his employ years. She helped him to har crops, and during his last served as nurse. When his will probated she learned that he had left her but $2,700 and the income from the farm for life, while upon her death the property was to go to relatives in Germany.

This, she maintains, was a breach of faith and a violation of contract, and she asks the court to set aside the will and award her the property or give her its equivalent in wages for a period of 34 years.

Drastic War on Opium to Be Made by Japan

Tokyo.—The Japanese government has appointed a commission with Foreign Minister Shidehara as chairman for the purpose of an inquiry and to originate new laws for the complete abolition of opium derivatives in Japan and its possessions.

The commission, which consists of representatives of all ministries, hopes to go even further than the Geneva convention in prosecuting all Japanese engaging in the traffic abroad organize a government mono Japan, Korea and Kwangtung ince in Tokyo, as was done in mosa.

The commission intends to take the most stringent measures to obliterate illegal traffic in opium.

"BAYER ASPIRIN" PROVED SAFE

Take without Fear as Told in "Bayer" Package

BAYER

Does not affect the Heart

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-five years for

Colds	Headache
Neuritis	Lumbago
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Each unbroken "Bayer" package contains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100.

Use Cuticura Soap And Ointment To Heal Sore Hands

Comparison Resented

Feminists are much annoyed because the English press is inclined to commend any woman who does anything well as having a "masculine mind."

The Evening Standard praised the duchess of Athol for her fluent speeches in the house and suggested that "it seems unnecessary for her to read her speeches, as she always has a very clear idea what she wants to say, wherein she is masculine, and quite unlike Lady Astor." It also suggested that "she is not the least bit excitable, in striking contrast to Miss Wilkinson."

Sure Relief

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION
25¢ and 75¢ Pkg's. Sold Everywhere

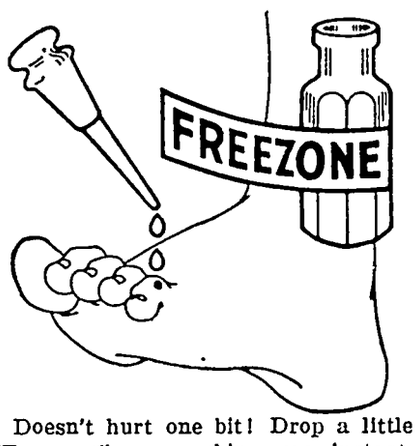
Wins the Brown Derby

Our free verse prize for realism goes to the catch-as-catch-can bard who penned these immortal lines: "There once was a guy who saved his rocks, even as you and I; but they got him to open his old strong box and purchase some pretty wildcat stocks, and they trimmed this bimbo down to his sox, even as you and I." —Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Some men go to bed too late ever to wake up famous.

CORNS

Lift Off—No Pain!



Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

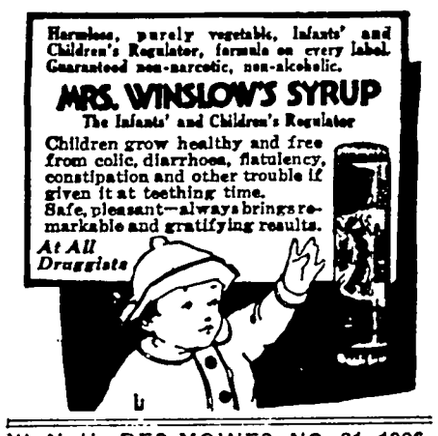
Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Harmless, purely vegetable, Infants' and Children's Regulator, formula on every label. Guaranteed non-narcotic, non-alcoholic.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP
The Infants' and Children's Regulator

Children grow healthy and free from colic, diarrhoea, flatulency, constipation and other trouble if given it at teething time.
Safe, pleasant—always brings remarkable and gratifying results.

At All Druggists



W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 21—1926.

THE WIFE-SHIP WOMAN

By Hugh Pendexter

Author of
"Kings of the Missouri" "Pay Gravel" "A Virginia Scout," etc.

Copyright by Hugh Pendexter—1923-1926, WNU Service

CHAPTER XI—Continued
—15—

His outburst broke the spell. With insane howls the Humas crowded in from all sides. I leaped toward the point I had selected when the circle first formed, and bowled over two men and was running toward my cabin where I had left my musket. With the squeal of a cornered rat the murderer attempted to follow me; and he must have used his knife to some profit, for I heard a death howl. Damoan was yelling for his Choctaws to chase me, but the bulk of them were back at the exit and the others were tardy in taking up the pursuit.

As for the Humas, they paused to tie Six Fingers' hands behind his back. By the time they were pounding after me I had secured my musket and was at the patch of vines behind the girl's cabin. While the entire mass of infuriated savages were sweeping down on my cabin I risked calling the girl's name. The silence and the failure of Labrador to make an appearance satisfied me they were well on their way to the river. I cautiously worked in behind the vines and found the hole, scarcely large enough for my bulk to pass through.

Thrusting my feet through I was clear except my shoulders when the wild mob passed the cabin and surrounded the one I had occupied. The women had snatched burning brands from the fires, and these illuminated the scene. Through the mesh of vines I saw Six Fingers being dragged between two warriors; and as the savages came to a halt I heard him scream:

"Good luck! This will be death!"

Pirate and murderer that he was I could not help the wish that he might find a quick death, rather than to roast slowly on the bed of torture. Utterly bad as he was he was born an Englishman, and if it had not been for narrowing the girl's chances of escape I should have been tempted to shoot him because once he had been an English lad.

The chief's grandson, bolder than the others, ran forward with ax and torch and thrust his head inside the cabin. Turning back he shouted that I was gone. Almost the same moment Damoan ran into the cabin in front of me and yelled to the red men that Labrador and the woman were gone. When he appeared in the torch-light he was insane with rage, and catching a glimpse of Six Fingers' writhing figure he screeched like a panther and fell upon him as if intending to tear him to pieces with his bare hands.

"I can tell their plans!" screamed Six Fingers in English as Damoan's fingers began ripping his face.

"Tell them! Tell them! Or I'll pick you joint from joint!" howled Damoan, bending over the craven, his outstretched hands hooked like claws.

"Save me! Save me!" gasped Six Fingers. "Take me with you. I'll lead you to them!"

"Speak!" yelled Damoan, hunching his shoulders and wriggling his long fingers before the murderer's bleeding face.

"They planned for Labrador and the woman to get away while we was eating!" panted Six Fingers. "They planned—"

But now it was purely a question of the girl's safety and not of this snake's suffering; and I fired an ounce ball through his wicked skull, and slipped through the hole and away into the black forest.

CHAPTER XII

The Proud One's Sister Dies.

I led the chase that night toward the east; and so long as I traveled in that direction I took pains occasionally to betray my position. This procedure gave the girl and Labrador more time to escape, for I knew Damoan would bend every endeavor to overtake me. Toward morning I swung back in a wide circle, planning to strike the Mississippi near the Tunica village at the upper end of the Portage of the Cross. There I was sure to find a canoe in which to push on after my friends.

That night I skirted the Tunica village and stole some corn from an outlying village and was fortunate enough to find a small canoe containing a fish net made of linden-bark fiber and some lines equipped with hooks and fishbone. I made excellent progress that night, nor did I observe anything to indicate my foes had discovered my return to the river.

It was not until I reached the cliffs of Natchez and was reconnitering the mouth of Little river that I made two important discoveries—one brought great joy, the other impelled me to paddle with desperate haste into the tributary. Ahead of me, some distance up Little river, was a pirogue containing two persons. One of the couple looked like a boy and was not using a paddle. In the next moment I had glimpsed a long pirogue turning a bend of the big river below me. It held at least a dozen Indians and their six-foot paddles were flashing rapidly. I did not believe I had been seen as I was disappearing into the tributary when this strange craft showed its nose around the bend.

The canoe ahead now discovered me and the slim figure vanished by dropping flat, and the other abandoned the paddle to pick up a musket. I waved my cap and Labrador turned about and began paddling to meet me. I violently gestured for him to go back, and in pantomime announced the peril behind me. As he swung his pirogue about to head up-stream again he must have told the girl, for she reappeared and stretched out both hands to me.

We were within three miles of White Apple, the principal town of the Natchez, which in turn was within three miles of Fort Rosalie. Let us but get inside the village and I would have no fear of either the French at the fort, or of Damoan and the Choctaws pursuing me. The Natchez were on the eve of war with the French. They were a very haughty people; there would be no subtle evasion of their laws to please Bienville even if the red warrior's post did not stand between them. The three of us would have full measure of protection from the Great Sun and his brother and war chief, Tattooed Serpent. So my heart was light when I drew up alongside Labrador's pirogue and was greeted by his amiable grin and a tremulous handclasp from the girl.

They noticed the absence of Six Fingers, and both began asking questions.

"He was shot and killed while escaping from the village," I said. "If he had obeyed orders he could have escaped with me."

As He Swung His Pirogue About to Head Upstream Again He Must Have Told the Girl, for She Reappeared and Stretched Out Her Hands to Me.

The girl's face was sober at hearing such violent news, and yet I fancied there was relief in her bearing. We dragged the canoes under some bushes, and, being in familiar country, took the shortest cut to White Apple—sometimes called White Earth.

When we had all but come to the village we heard a peculiar howl, which startled Labrador and me because we knew what it meant, and which frightened the girl because she could imagine it to mean almost anything unwholesome. I motioned for Labrador to make a detour, but before we knew it we were through the bushes and in an opening close to the village, and the girl was staring with wide eyes at the strange scene. Some of the Natchez were rehearsing for a funeral ceremony. I whispered as much to her, and she became quiet and curiously watched the peculiar proceedings.

There were five victims, three women and two men, and forty executioners, the grim office being eagerly sought because it ennobled. All the executioners had their hands painted red and had red feathers thrust through the long braids of hair hanging down the left side of the head. The five victims had their hair painted red. The girl saw no significance in the red hands, the red hair, the rope and red ax, but the gestures of the man with the weapon frightened her.

"It is all make-believe," I whispered, trying to hurry her on. "We will go to the village. If Damoan did not see me enter the river he will learn from the fort that none of us have passed."

So we walked toward the village, and, the rehearsal being finished, the Natchez came after us. But such was their courtesy that they would not pass us; and those who desired to reach the village quickly swung far to one side as if taking an entirely different course.

Labrador was frowning heavily and in Choctaw said:

"Friend; there was no word-bearer, nor any medicine man among those to be sacrificed. The dead must be a woman. The three old women were her kinswomen. The two men were her servants. If it was La Glorieuse there would be many more servants."

He named a woman of noble rank, called "The Proud" by the French because of her aristocratic bearing, her contempt for commoners, and her ignorement of any Frenchman unless he possessed rank. It was known that Tattooed Serpent was enamored of her, but both being nobles marriage between them was impossible. No; the funeral procession was scarcely worthy of a woman who enjoyed the favor of Olabalkebiche, head war chief, as well as a brother of the Great Sun.

"It is not La Glorieuse," I said.

Labrador sighed.

"Ah, that grande dame! Why couldn't it be her!"

"That is queer talk," I rebuked. "How has the Proud One ever harmed you?"

"It is I who harmed her—as she thinks. I married her sister. She never forgave her sister for marrying beneath her. Never forgave me for looking so high!"

We entered the village, a collection of square huts made of timbers plastered with mud, moss and sand, with the roofs of reeds and grass, woven so as to be weather-proof.

The Natchez were much different from any Indian tribe I ever encountered, or heard of. The practice of human sacrifices on the death of the elect smacked of ancient Eastern civilizations; and the worship of the sun reminded one of the stories brought back from Central and South America. And yet their language was linked up with the dialects of the Choctaws, Chickasaws and Creeks.

I accosted an "ancient" warrior—so called to distinguish him from "young" warriors and "apprentice" warriors, and referring to skill rather than to age—and asked if I could secure an audience with the Great Sun. He told me the Great Sun was absent inspecting the temple and sacred fire in a neighboring village. He believed I could see Tattooed Serpent, however.

I told Labrador to take the girl to the edge of the village and wait while I paid our respects to my old acquaintance, the war chief. She was glad to do this; nor did Labrador regret escaping an audience with the great chief, whose mistress' sister he had married and deserted.

I went to the cabin next to the temple and informed an aged man, the Serpent's word-bearer, that I wished to see the chief. He disappeared through the low doorway and very soon returned and motioned for me to enter.

As the door furnished the only light, and as the room was thirty feet square, I could not make out the interior until the sun-glare left my eyes. Then I saw the Serpent and La Glorieuse, "The Proud." As I entered she swept by me with barely a flicker of recognition in her cold face. Olabalkebiche came forward and cordially greeted me, finding me a stool while he seated himself on the edge of his bed. He clapped his hands, and a servant brought a pipe, which the chief lighted for me to smoke ceremoniously. After he had done likewise, he said:

"The Proud One is grieving for the dead woman. She was the Proud One's sister."

Had the wild war-whoop of the Choctaw's filled the cabin I could not have been taken more by surprise. Then came dismay. Outside was La Glorieuse, who had been demeaned when her sister had married a titleless Frenchman; and outside was simple Joe Labrador and the dainty French girl. What a clash of eyes there would be should red meet white, and the red behold her dead sister's careless spouse daring to return to White Apple in company with a white woman.

"It is many moons since the White Indian was here," the Serpent remarked, eyeing me sharply.

"Olabalkebiche, I should have waited until I could bring gifts for the Great Sun and his brother, but Choctaw dogs have chased me up the river, and I come here to be among friends."

"The Choctaws hunt so far as this?" he cried, his hand closing on a big war-ax, a gift from the French.

"The man known as Damoan the Fox leads them," I replied. "He may come now."

"The whole Choctaw nation cannot harm you here. My white brother is safe."

"There is a white woman with me, neither English nor French, but kin to the English. I am taking her to the English towns far in the east, beyond the country of the Cherokees."

"It is well," he said absent-mindedly. "She will be safe here."

Now came the hardest portion of my task. I said:

"And there is a white man with me, a Frenchman, but my brother. He is Labrador."

The Serpent's form elongated although he did not move from the bed, and his head swung back and forth nervously.

"Your friend took a Natchez woman as his wife," he softly informed me. "That woman is dead."

"He will be heavy of heart to learn it."

"He must prove himself worthy of mating with a noble, a sister of the Proud One."

"Undoubtedly," I promptly assured him, frantic to get outside and have a talk with Labrador and agree upon some plan for immediate flight.

I managed to close the interview without sacrificing ceremony and politeness and hastened to find my friends. When I came to the edge of the village my roving gaze halted on a dramatic scene. Labrador sat on a log tearing at his long hair while La Glorieuse and mademoiselle faced each other, both declaiming in French.

I heard La Glorieuse jeering:

"He was unworthy to marry a Natchez woman; yet you take him for a husband."

"He is not my husband!" cried mademoiselle. "Mon Dieu! What a terrible creature you are! Why do you talk to me? I would be alone. Have you no corn to pound; no man's work to do?"

"You will soon be alone so far as this French runaway is to be counted," hissed the Proud One, throwing up her head and stalking away.

I stepped forward. Labrador groaned.

"You know who the dead woman is?" I asked him in Choctaw.

"The furious one has told me. Mon Dieu! She says they wait for me to paint my hair and be strangled by four men at each end of the rope!"

"Speak in French, and be careful," I warned, observing that mademoiselle was about to break bounds, her taste for battle whetted by her talk with the Natchez woman. In French I remarked:

"There is to be a funeral tomorrow. I think we better start away before then. Let us go aside and talk it over."

We shifted our position to the shade of some trees. The Natchez were watching us furtively. They had witnessed the scene between the two women, and they were curious, of course. They also knew that Labrador's return was likely to lend new interest to the funeral. I felt no concern for my personal safety; nor did the matter of the girl's escape press for my immediate attention. Labrador's predicament, however, demanded prompt action.

In Choctaw I told him:

"They do not intend that you shall escape."

Before he could reply the girl passionately broke in with: "If I am to be treated as a child I will withdraw. I was taught it was not courteous to converse in an unknown tongue before a friend."

Taking a sudden resolve, I told her: "You speak with much sense. You are not a child. I will not keep it from you. The ancient custom of the Natchez demands that when a noble dies the surviving husband or wife shall die during the funeral ceremony. Our friend was the husband of the woman who is to be buried tomorrow. The dead woman was the sister of La Glorieuse, the woman you had words with."

"Ciel! What a horrible people! I felt it in the air. That procession of painted men and women! Mon Dieu! Poor Monsieur Labrador! Behold the forest, monsieur. Fly! Hide yourself! Now! Voila tout!"

And she stamped a small moccasin imperiously and gestured for him to run.

"Mademoiselle forgets it would be hard for our friend to hide from the savages except in the night. We must plan cunningly and not be impatient," I told her. "There is plenty of time. Perhaps some time during the day. If not, then during the night. There is no danger for you, or me."

"I was thinking only of him," she dully replied.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Delicious Humor of Nye Fooled English

On the seventy-fifth anniversary of Bill Nye's birth, a tablet, a memorial window and a granite monument were unveiled at Fletcher, near Asheville, showing his quaint humor and lovable personality have not been forgotten.

At one time he served as postmaster at Laramie, Wyo., an appointment which incidentally brought forth his famous letter addressed to President Arthur and containing his resignation.

In the letter he directed the President where to find everything, explaining that the postal cards he had read were carefully pigeonholed apart from the unread ones. He continued: "If Deacon Hayford does not pay up his box rent you might as well put his letters in the general delivery, and when Bob Head gets drunk and insists on a letter from one of his wives every day in the week, you can salute him through the box delivery window with an old Queen Anne tomahawk that you will find near the Etruscan water pail."

So tickled were the officials at Washington with this letter that they published it far and wide. To Nye's huge delight an English paper editorially commented in shocked amazement on the ways of American postmasters.

Wouldn't Bear Out Theory

Theoretically, a head-on collision between two freely moving bodies of the same weight and type would result in an equal shock to both, regardless of their speeds. The forces of impact act equally on both bodies, and in the case of two automobiles would tend to throw all occupants forward in their respective cars with equal violence. However, in an actual collision between autos involving speeds as high as 50 miles per hour, so many unevaluated factors would enter that it is probable that results would seldom, if ever, be exactly as expected from the ideal theoretical case.

Tired, Lame, Achy?

Are you dragging around with a constant backache? Feel weak, worn out, achy; so miserable you can't enjoy a moment's comfort? How about your kidneys? Well kidneys filter off body poisons. But when the kidneys slow up, poisons accumulate and upset the system. Backache is apt to follow, with sharp pains, dizziness and annoying kidney irregularities. Don't delay. If you suspect faulty kidney action, use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands—are recommended the world over. Ask your neighbor!

An Iowa Case

Mrs. Martha Everitt, 925 S. 4th St., Clear Lake, Iowa, says: "My back ached and pained so I could hardly keep going to do my housework. I had spells every once in a while that almost laid me up. My head ached and I ached all over, too. My kidneys didn't act regularly and at times my feet swelled. I used Doan's Pills and they relieved me."

DOAN'S PILLS 60c
STIMULANT DIURETIC TO THE KIDNEYS
Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

Explained

"Angela, why are you so cold to me today?"

"Because you haven't given me those furs I asked you for."—London Mail.

"DIAMOND DYE" ANY GARMENT, DRAPERY

Just Dip to Tint or Boil to Dye

Each 15-cent package contains directions so simple any woman can tint soft, delicate shades or dye rich, permanent colors in lingerie, silks, ribbons, skirts, waists, dresses, coats, stockings, sweaters, draperies, coverings, hangings, everything!

Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—and tell your druggist whether the material you wish to color is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

No Hunting Fan

"Yes, sir, we followed that moose seven hours."

"What a nuisance, when you're out for an enjoyable camping trip."

Cuticura Soothes Baby Rashes

That itch and burn, by hot baths of Cuticura Soap followed by gentle anointings of Cuticura Ointment. Nothing better, purer, sweeter, especially if a little of the fragrant Cuticura Talcum is dusted on at the finish. 25c each.—Advertisement.

Shocked

M. D.—You look sick, all right. What's the trouble with you?

C. O. D.—I came in to pay my wife's bill.

Because of traffic congestion in the large cities of France, many firms are reinstating horse-drawn delivery service.

Builds up weak bodies

"General breakdown forced me to quit work. Tanlac toned up my whole system, banished the nervous strain and gave me back the health of twenty years ago. I strongly recommend Tanlac." F. J. Messmer, 254 So. Ninth Ave., Burlington, Iowa.

From Mother Nature's storehouse we have gathered the roots, barks and herbs which are compounded under the famous Tanlac formula to make Tanlac.

If your body is weak and undernourished, if you can't sleep or eat, have stomach trouble or burning rheumatism, just you see how quickly Tanlac can help you back to health and strength.

Don't delay taking Tanlac another day. Stop at your druggist now and get a bottle of this, the greatest of all tonics. Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation.

Says He Felt Drunk Most of the Time

Brooklyn. Mr. Fred G. Marquardt writes:—"I felt drunk most of the time. My head was dizzy. I couldn't think clearly. One day I dropped a coin and when I stooped to get it I got so dizzy I almost fell. I later found out that the cause of this condition was constipation. This was overcome by a short course of Carter's Little Liver Pills. My appetite has doubled, and my dizziness has entirely left me. Carter's Little Liver Pills move the bowels and relieve the system of its poisonous matter. Druggists, 25 & 75c red package.

Use But Few Words

British experts have found through investigation that about half the daily conversation of the average person involves the use of but 43 words.

ES ON FARM N OKLAHOMA

Woman Praises Lydia E. am's Vegetable Compound

sunny pasture in Oklahoma, a sleek cows was grazing. They made a pretty picture. But the thin woman in the blue checked apron sighed as she looked at them. She was tired of cows, tired of her tedious work in the dairy. She was tired of cooking for a houseful of boarders, besides caring for her own family. The s of life seemed too heavy for ling health. She had lost con- in herself.

day she began taking Lydia E. m's Vegetable Compound and neral health began to improve. ok it faithfully. Now she can do rk without any trouble, sleeps d is no longer blue and timid. woman, Mrs. Cora Short, R. R. 396, Oklahoma City, Okla., "Everybody now says: 'Mrs. what are you doing to yourself?' h 135 and my weight before I t was 115. I have taken seven of the Vegetable Compound." r women who have to work hard eep things going may find the o better health as Mrs. Short did, h the faithful use of Lydia E. am's Vegetable Compound. your neighbor.

Handiest thing in the house

PROTECTS BRUISES

Cover bumps, bruises and other broken skin with "Vaseline" Jelly. Quickly soothes and heals. Takes away the hurt. Get some today.

Chesebrough Mfg. Company (Consolidated) State St. New York

Vaseline

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. PETROLEUM JELLY

OMACH TROUBLES

ly leave. Green's August Flower stomachic corrective, has been for 60 years and has given re- o thousands suffering with indi- on, dyspepsia, constipation, etc. ll druggists. 80c and 90c. If cannot get it, write GREEN, INC., Woodbury, N. J.

Also Represented People

ngressman Sol Bloom was forci- Impressed with the fact that a lic official is the servant of the le at a recent gathering in New k city

r. Bloom was scheduled as princi- speaker, but when he arrived a ing crowd blocked the path to the ance of the building. The repre- ntative gently asked the nearest lder if he could get through.

Who're you?" asked the owner of shoulder represent the people and am sup- d to speak here tonight," ex- med Mr Bloom.

What of it?" growled the would-be mber of Mr. Bloom's audience. "I the people."—New York Evening t.

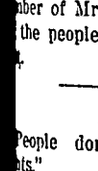
Agreed

People don't get enough sleep nts."

No, we have a radio, too."

Listen to KOIL the Mona Motor Oil Radio Station

The secret of long life for Your Motor use Mona Motor Oil



PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair 50c and $1.00 at Druggists Hiscox Chem. Wks., Patchogue, N.Y.

INDERCORNS Removes Corns, Cal- , etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the makes walking easy. 15c by mail or at Drug- Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

CLEAR YOUR SKIN of disfiguring blotches and irritations. Use Resinol

ROAD BUILDING

SURFACED ROADS BEING EXTENDED

Motorists will have about fifty-nine hundred more miles of hard surfaced road to travel over during 1926 than they had in 1925. Added to the 31,700 miles built in previous years, there are now approximately thirty-seven thousand six hundred miles of concrete on the highways in the United States outside the limits of incorporated cities and villages.

The building of 5,900 miles of concrete highway in a single year establishes a new record and along with the improvement of many other miles of gravel and grading was no small job for the road builders. It involved the use of tremendous quantities of materials and the employment of a great army of workers.

The tendency has been to close the gaps in pavement along the heavily traveled routes in practically every state. Many unpaved sections of important highways were covered with concrete last year and the motorist now will find long stretches of perfect road all the way between the beginning and the end of his trip.

Another feature of the 1925 road construction season was the great amount of highway widening undertaken. Every motorist knows of the congestion of the highways in the vicinity of every large city. A large portion of the work during 1925 was aimed at relieving this condition by widening existing highways or by building new wide roads. Much more work of this nature has been planned for the coming year. It is now the avowed policy of many highway departments to concentrate their efforts at relieving the impossible traffic conditions near our larger cities. The building of four-track and even eight-track roads between some of the larger centers of population is already under way and the time is not far off when traffic will demand wider roads on a great many of the heavily traveled main rural highways.

Every state in the Union contributed to the new mileage of improved roads. Pennsylvania led them all with about eleven hundred miles of new pavement, Illinois lived up to her reputation of being a leader in highway development by completing about eight hundred and fifty miles of concrete.

In the southwest road improvement was exceptionally active. North Carolina has long been known for its highway activities, but the last year has seen practically every other state in Dixie come to the fore with real highway programs.

The East and the Middle west have continued with their progressive highway activities. Missouri and Oklahoma came forward during last year with larger programs than they had ever attempted before.

In the Rocky mountain states and on the Pacific coast highway improvement has proceeded steadily.

Up to County to Obtain Right of Way for Roads

According to state highway officials, there is a distinct tendency of late years for counties to shift the burden of road building and maintenance to the state.

The severance never can be complete because there are certain duties in connection with road creation which counties must perform. It is for the counties to furnish right of way for roads. This is becoming more and more a complicated task because the movement to build highways along the shortest possible line between points is gaining headway.

A third factor in creating new roads is the government. Federal aid will not be given in interstate highway projects where the right of way is not at least sixty feet wide.

Good Roads Notes

Uncle Sam is delivering mail each day on nearly one and a quarter million miles of these highways.

* * *

Paved roads are an index to a community's degree of progressive spirit and bespeak active, wideawake and energetic citizenship.

* * *

Utah will build 116 miles of road in 1926, according to the state road commission. This construction will cost nearly $1,600,000. The money is largely from the counties supplemented by federal aid.

* * *

Maryland's highway signs are regarded by tourists as among the best in the country. Their clarity and simplicity are in marked contrast to those of some states, which resemble medieval maps.

* * *

With lower flivver prices the problem of widening the highways becomes even more pressing.

* * *

The road bond question may be in politics as charged and it would be the first thing that didn't get there, if it wasn't.

* * *

More than $26,000,000 was spent on state highway work in Missouri during 1925. Reports show that 332 miles of road were hard surfaced and 388 miles were graded.

Wit and Humor

NO SUCH ANIMAL

On a shelf in the home of a local nature lover is a stuffed owl. Beside the owl, a few days ago, one of the children placed a small toy cow.

A visitor at the home looked at the two for some time, and then he said to the man of the house:

"I believe the owl, all right, but that little cow is a doggone lie."—Youngstown Telegram.

Jogs Wife's Memory

Smiff was always complaining of his wife's memory. "She can never remember anything," he said. "It's awful!"

"My wife was just as bad," said Bjones, "till I found a capital recipe."

"What was it?" asked Smiff, eagerly.

"Why," said Bjones, "whenever there's anything particular I want her to remember, I write it on a slip of paper and keep it in my trousers pocket."

CROWNING ACHIEVEMENT

"What do you think is the most notable achievement of modern chemistry?"

"The blonde."

The Valued Sex

The hen's a hearty feminist,
And so with praise we boost 'er.
In laying eggs she will persist;
We therefore eat the rooster.

Writes His Thoughts

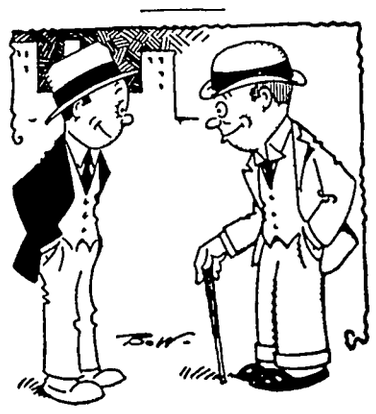
Knobrayne—Every evening before I go to bed I write down my thoughts in my diary. Interesting, don't you think?

Nina—Oh, most. How long have you been doing it?

"About a couple of years."

"Then you must have the first page nearly full."

HARPS WERE LYRES



"What wonderful tales of true love the harps of the old poets told."

"Oh, I don't know—those harps were lyres."

It Rained on Just

The rain it raineth every day
Upon the just and unjust fellow,
But chiefly on the just because
The unjust has the just's umbrella.

Minister Married Her

Seeing his mother nod pleasantly to the minister who went by, Archie inquired: "Who's that, mamma?"

"That's the man who married me, dear," she replied.

"Then if that's the man who married you," said Archie, "what's dad doing at our house?"

His Fault in Golfing

"Caddie, I've discovered what I've been doing wrong. I've been standing too near the ball as I strike it."

Two minutes later the caddie said: "I don't think that's what's wrong, sir. You're too near the ball after you've struck it."

Careful Maid

"Have you touched the radio, Mary Ann?"

"No, mum, oi just took some old wires out an' put 'em in the ash can."

Beyond Doubt

Brown—Ethel and Jack are still very much in love with each other.

His Wife—Are they?

Brown—Yes. When he's away she writes letters to him whether she needs money or not.

By Comparison

"Can you remember when you proposed to me? I was so overcome that I couldn't speak a word for an hour!"

"Yes, it was the happiest hour of my life!"

The Party by Candle-Light

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

(Copyright.)

LARDNER came home to his boarding house that night with weary steps. He was wishing with all his soul that he were approaching his own little house, with its dainty mistress, who would, of course, be also the mistress of his heart.

It was a cold, bleak night and a warm fireside, rosy lamps and the sunny-haired girl there, would have made even that weary trip from the office seem like heaven.

Lardner sighed as he went up to the unhomelike boarding-house room. The shadeless gas flickered in pale greeting and cast its not too flattering brilliance on the barren surroundings.

However, Lardner went down to dinner to sit as he had been sitting for two full years, at the long boarding-house table with its odd assortment of humanity. They were a more or less congenial crowd who chatted impersonally about things in general, but Lardner had never reached a more intimate acquaintance with any of them. There was a Miss Drake, who was employed by the government as an analytical chemist, a Miss Roydon, clerk in a big dairy office, one or two clerks, both male and female, and then there was Miss Bennet.

She had attracted him by her quiet, gentle manner, but he always wished she might show some spark of human warmth.

So he entered the dining room and stood among the guests. They were all fluttering about and laughing good humoredly with candles in their hands. The gas, for the first time in two years, had gone on strike and simply wouldn't light up.

"Something's happened to the main," apologized the worried landlady, Mrs. Warren. "Can you manage with candle-light?"

"Of course we can," they shouted in chorus and went about lighting and placing candles.

They were chatting and breathless and highly enjoying a simple chance to dine by candle-light rather than under the blatant glare of gas.

His thoughts were interrupted by Miss Bennet who stood close beside him holding forward an unlit candle.

"I wonder if you would give me a light?" she asked softly.

Lardner pulled out his matches swiftly. He also caught a quick breath. Had Miss Bennet's eyelashes always curled upward in that shadowy way and had the eyes beneath them always held that mischievous spark in their quiet depths?

He managed to light her candle, but not without another satisfying look into her eyes. Yes, the lure was there, plenty of it.

She turned from him then, but not without a lovely thanks from lips that —well, Lardner didn't dare think just at the moment anything further about those lips. They were all sitting down at the big dining table which was suddenly transformed from an ordinary second-class boarding-house table to one flickering with the fairy-like laughter and romance of bygone ages.

More than one couple at the table were casting shy glances. Lardner found himself hating the young clerk sitting beside Miss Bennet and leaning much nearer to her shoulder than there was the slightest necessity for.

"I propose," said Miss Bennet, "that we all go up to my room after dinner and have coffee and music. You can sit on the floor or any place you find room. Everyone who plays anything must contribute. I have a guitar and Mr. Johnstone has a mouth organ. We shall have quite a time by candle-light. Those who can't sing or play must tell a story."

They must have all gone mad in that boarding house, Lardner included, for they all dashed upstairs, each clutching a flickering candle to attend the first party they, as a unit, had indulged in.

Miss Bennet's room occupied the same position in the house as Lardner's, save that it was up one more flight of stairs. As he stood on the threshold he drew a sharp breath. Surely this was not a room in the boarding house. The bed had been turned into a sofa divan, draped with blue velvet and holding an armful of blue and gold and petunia cushions. There were yellow shades on the candles and a white fur rug in front of the gas fire. A bit of statuary adorned the chest of drawers, instead of an untidy tray of toilet articles. It was a home. There was nothing expensive, but everything was artistic.

The cool brown of Miss Bennet's business frock had taken on a coppery warmth and in her golden hair a hint of red glistened.

Lardner wanted again to kick himself—this time more soundly.

"Two whole years wasted," he told himself. "I might have known she was THE GIRL."

The party was tremendously successful and the candles were flickering low in their sockets before there was a move to disband.

Lardner contrived to be the last to leave.

He held Miss Bennet's hand warmly in one hand and his candle in the other. The little flame leaped up between them and looking into it and into the eyes above, Lardner said softly, "That little light has been more illuminating than all the gas of two whole years." He lifted her hand gently to his lips and the candle sputtered joyfully—even triumphantly.

If you want to buy a car on time

IT is to your advantage to buy the car that you can comfortably afford, on a payment plan that gives you a sure margin of safety.

General Motors has its own finance company, the General Motors Acceptance Corporation, operating the GMAC Plan. Through its service more than 1,000,000 families have purchased cars comfortably out of income.

On August 1 last, the price of this service, which had always been low, was further reduced. And the automobile-buying public is now saving millions of dollars annually as a result of this reduction and the influence of General Motors' leadership.

The purchase of automobiles on time is a universally accepted practice. The car is a utility and it is sound business to conserve capital and use credit. But buy on sound terms and at low rates. Any General Motors dealer will explain the advantages of the GMAC Plan.

GENERAL MOTORS

CHEVROLET · PONTIAC · BUICK
OLDSMOBILE · OAKLAND
CADILLAC · GMC TRUCKS
YELLOW CABS, BUSES AND TRUCKS

"A car for every purse and purpose"

Business

"Some girls are mercenary," said Countess Pierre de Falleau, at a Miami luncheon. "I overheard two girls talking on the beach this morning. The first girl said:

"'Susan tripped purposely so that young Coppers, the Montana millionaire, would rush forward and save her from falling.'

"'I see,' said the second girl. 'Yes, I see what you mean. A business trip.'"

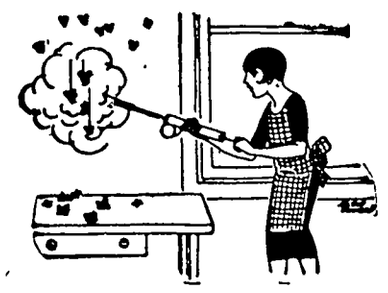
It is almost as hard to pay back as it is to borrow.

Keep Going

When some one stops advertising
Some one stops buying.
When some one stops buying
Some one stops selling.
When some one stops selling
Some one stops making.
When some one stops making
Some one stops earning.
When every one stops earning
Everybody stops buying.
Keep going.—Western Druggist.

No man can be provident of his time who is not prudent in the choice of his company.—Taylor.

© 1926 S. O. Co. (N. J.)



Fly-Flit-Flop!

FLIES breed in filth, feed on filth and bring filth into your home.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

Kills All Household Insects

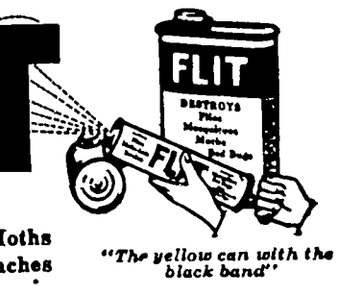
Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Get a Flit can and sprayer today. For sale everywhere.

STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)

FLIT



DESTROYS
Flies Mosquitoes Moths
Ants Bed Bugs Roaches

"The yellow can with the black band"

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

G. H. Lade, of Garner, was a business caller here Monday.

WANTED—Anyone wanting blasting done see F.W. Smock, Klemme.p

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wenig drove to Mason City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gram were Mason City visitors Sunday.

IT'S GOING TO RAIN! Get your shoes fixed today at C. L. Blumer's. c

FOR SALE—Silver King Seed Corn. Charles Ax. tfc

Ben Katter is having his house repainted this week.

Seed Corn for sale, home grown, ear tested. Lee Bros., Britt. 1tp

The Times is always glad to receive items of news. Please phone your items or mail them. Thanks.

MAN WANTED

Middle aged man wanted at once who has car and in position to work full time.

Fine opportunity for right man to build up a real business for himself with no money invested whatever, and is paid every week.

Write qualifications at once to Territory Field Manager

J. W. Basham

OELWEIN, IOWA

R. A. Jorgenson and family visited at Mason City Sunday.

Mesdames Ed. Jacobs and Paul Stille were hostesses to the R. N. A. lodge last Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Day and son, Dorance, drove to Dows Friday evening on business.

FOR SALE—Get home grown Soy Beans at Farmers Elevator. Geo. Grosz. 3wp.

W. J. Barz and family, of Garner were visiting Klemme relatives last Sunday.

Mr and Mrs. Pete Peterson, of Goodell were shopping in Klemme Monday.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines. fc

Dr. D. P. Anderson took part in a poultry clinic held at Blue Earth, Minnesota one day last week.

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons store front was given a new coat of paint the first of the week.

Cherry 300 acre farm must be sold at once. See Marion A. Fell, Garner, Iowa. tf4p

Art Wellemeyer and daughter, Clarice, drove to Forest City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Jost and son, and Kenneth and Franklin Kluckhohn, drove to Clear Lake Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Kudje and Mr. nd Mrs Joe Johnson were visiting t Clear Lake Sunday.

Come In And See Our

Guaranteed Used Fords

(1) 1924 Coupe

(5) 1917 Touring, Regular.

(4) 1918 Touring, Regular

(3) 1921 Touring, Regular

(6) 1917 Roadster, Regular.

(2) 1922 Touring Starter, Dem,

Garner Auto Co.

Phone 77 KLEMME, IA.

They're Great Values

TWO-PANT SUITS

$35 $40

Every man has his price, and if your price is $35 or $40 you're missing something if you don't see these new suits. They are pleasing a lot of men—they will please you—too. Models and patterns to suit every taste—fancy weaves in the popular shades of blue, tan and gray. Single and double-breasted coats.

Patton Brothers Co.

"Where A Dollar Does Its Duty"
MASON CITY, IOWA

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Mr. Henry Freie and daughter, Viola, Miss Eunice Braund and Mr. George Lawhorn visited at Mason City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman and daughter, Marian, visited with Mrs. Mabel Cullinan at Belmond last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Elder and family, and J. J. Poort and family enjoyed a picnic at Goodell woods Sunday.

A light frost was noticed here last Thursday night. We doubt if it did any damage to crops or garden truck.

Mrs. Mary Waterman accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Cullinan to Belmond Saturday for an over Sunday visit.

Mrs. F. A. Arnold and son, Asa, drove to Ames Saturday morning to take in the Veishea and for a visit with Fred.

Ruth Bailey, Ethel Wellemeyer, and the Misses Stoner and Abel, drove to Ames Friday afternoon to take in the Veishea doings.

Harry Bonwell from Renwick was visiting Klemme friends Saturday afternoon. Harry is a rural mail carrier at Renwick.

Dr. Missman enjoyed a visit of several days the latter part of the week from his father and mother, of Clear Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pannhoff and children were Sunday visitors at the Charles Mikesh home at Forest City.

Fred Ridder and family, Sam Harvey and family and Miss Dolores Koerner enjoyed a picnic dinner at Bayside Park Sunday.

Dr. Missman, accompanied by Mrs. R. W. Elder and daughter, Reva, were Mason City visitors Tuesday.

FARM FOR SALE

155 acres adjoining town, land is all well drained; fenced, good buildings. For information and price call Albert S. Johnson, Klemme, Ia. 1tp

Mr. and Mrs. John Day and son, Dorance, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith and daughter, Mabel, enjoyed a picnic dinner south of the State Park at Clear Lake Sunday.

NOTICE

From this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife. J. A. Wade, Klemme, Iowa, May 12, 1926. 2tp.

All the railroad men along this line attended the funeral of Mr. Fitz at Belmond Sunday. Mr. Fitz had been depot agent for the Rock Island for quite a number of years.

Vernon Turgason, Harl Gimer, Wayne Lemke, Jack Wellemeyer, and E. C. Gary made up a load to go to Ames to take in the Veishea Saturday.

The Misses Iris Trumbell and Sadie Frohling, of Belmond, and Mr Floyd Foster, of Kanawha, were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Trumbell, Sunday.

Billy Keraus sold his Ford sedan he other day to the Kluckhohn Bros. and then bought the Hudson coach formerly driven by Lou Davis, of Mason City.

Art Wellemeyer says his plant sale is going great this year. He spends a lot of time to get only the best of plants for his annual sale. Those needing plants should hurry as his plants are going fast.

This vicinity had a good, soaking rain which lasted nearly all day Tuesday. Crops and pastures were greatly benefited by the steady rain, one of the best this season.

Quite a number of people from here drove to Ames last Friday to take in the Veishea, at which time all departments of the college were open to the public. The crowd was made up principally of high school students.

Learn stenography this summer, you can use it either to obtain a good paying position or to help you through college. Summer term opens June 1 and 8. The Hamilton University, Mason City, Iowa. 1tcF

You can make the summer months worth $300.00 to $400.00. Walter Anguish did it, so did Ruth Kelly and hundreds of others. Special outline of plan sent on request. The Hamilton University, Mason City, Iowa. 1tcF.

Eckard Zeidler is usually the first one in Klemme to have early radishes. However, this year the honor should go to the Times Shop. We have had radishes out of our garden for nearly two weeks. What's the matter Eck?

Marie Gauger's school, which she taught near Kanawha the past year, was dismissed for the summer vacation Friday when a picnic was enjoyed by the pupils and patrons of the school. Miss Gauger will teach in the Klemme grades next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stille and family, Miss Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Johnson and daughter Shirley, Miss Buchan, Miss Lovrein, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludeke and children all enjoyed a picnic at Goodell woods Sunday.

The Baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening was preached by Rev. Bushnell of Algona. The church was filled to capacity. There are thirteen students in the graduating class this year.

Rev. John Mohr, of Pearl City, Illinois, visited Tuesday night at the home of Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch. Rev. Mohr was on his way to Stratford, Wisconsin, where he will take the charge formerly held by Rev. Grosshuesch.

Sheriff Peck Hanson and County Attorney Verne Grau were in Klemme on business Saturday morning. The old barber, Mr. Stevenson, seems to have taken too freely of some dope pills and he was sailing under a stormy wind for a few days. The old boy has left town and C. A. Bachman took over the shop again. We understand Clarence has again sold his shop to a young man.

Marian Fell and Isaac Sweigard, both of Garner, were in Klemme Saturday on business. Marian is a candidate for Representative from this county. He was telling us about the early days around Klemme. The first store in Klemme was the old building just west of the Swift station. Marian said the first article of merchandise stocked in the store was a sack of beans, and they came from his farm.

Colorful Ribbon Hats Smart for Immediate Use

A new idol is set up in the realm of millinery for the world of fashion to adore. It is the little soft, lovely colored hat of wide belting ribbon. To its glory modernistic art is contributing its highest genius, especially in the matter of achieving subtlest color effects. Blending and contrasting of pastel shades, which at present are the chief topic of the mode, makes the modern belting ribbon hat a theme of colorful tailored perfection.

The French imports are setting a standard of sophisticated color blending in these skillfully designed close-fitting chapeaux. Many of these newly arrived models show the ribbon folded in clever squares and diamonds and other novel manipulation, accenting the use of several colors. The blending of two or more shades of one color is also featured.

Very smart, also is the all-black belting ribbon hat, two very fashionable exponents of which are shown in this picture.

Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings
DR. E. H. PHILLIPS
Osteopathic Physician
Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa

Fishing season officially in northern Iowa last Saturday, May 15th. The day was far from ideal and but a few good catches were made. The weather has been too cool for good fishing this spring.

Jack Wellemeyer said he had a real "blow-out" the other night. We thought he was perhaps referring to a party but he said no. The blow-out turned out to be that he got himself all messed up with 1,500 volts of electricity at his broadcasting station and along with all the fireworks he popped out his transmitting tube. We bet Jack said, "darn."—and may-be more as we noticed a lot of that night.

Doc Zinn says he read in his about the Battle of Bull Run, last week he was a main partic in the "Battle of Cow Run." It happened when Doc was rambling round in a pasture on his farm a lady cow perhaps didn't like looks of his whiskers and she after him. Doc won the half sprint and broke the world's re for fence hurdling and ditch jo ing. He came out of the "bat with a sprained anklo and pants.

TO THE GRADUATES OF KLEMME HIGH SCHOOL

GRADUATION time is here. For the young folks, it is one of the great events of their lives. This is the time when they must stand erect and face the future, realizing that is is now up to them to make good.

Advice at this time from older experienced people may mean a great deal.

Bankers have a wide experience that can prove valuable, and our officers especially invite the members of the Class of 1926 to come to them for counsel and advice at any time.

First National Bank,
KLEMME, IOWA.

Few of us can see all of our country's scenic beauties and points of interest, but by careful planning, it is possible to visit the most famous.

Whether it be Colorado, Yellowstone, Pacific Coast, Great Lakes Region, St. Lawrence River Resorts, the Atlantic Seaboard or other vacation spots, our Travel Bureau can advise you how to travel most economically and with the greatest comfort and convenience.

The Rock Island will operate this season "Personally Conducted-All-Expense" planned trips to the Colorado Rockies including, not only railroad fare, but hotel and sight-seeing expense from the time you leave home until you return. "All-Expense-Go-As-You-Please" excursions will also be available for those not desiring the "Personally Conducted" plan.

Ask Rock Island ticket agent for complete details or

Fill Out and Mail the Coupon

ROCK ISLAND VACATION TRAVEL SERVICE BUREAU,
614 Valley Nat'l. Bank Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa

I am interested in a Summer vacation trip to_____ (Destination)

Please mail me free descriptive booklets and complete information.

Name_____

Address_____

THE KLEMME TIMES

ntieth Year—Number 41. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, MAY 20, 1926. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

OODELL PIONEER BURIED SUNDAY

ITUARY OF MR. J. W. GRIGGS OF GOODELL, IOWA

y Old Friends Attend Funeral At Goodell Sunday

The following is a sketch of the of J. W. Griggs, who was buried Goodell Sunday.

Mr. Griggs was born November 6, 51, at Cassville, Wisconsin, where resided until he was ten years when he moved to Iowa Falls h his parents where the family ed for two years when they moved a farm in that vicinity where the eased grew to manhood.

On December 10, 1873, he was un- in marriage to Emily Sharp, o preceded him in death on Janu- 23, 1908. To this union were n three boys, George W., Jay T., one son who died in infancy; o three girls, Mrs. W. L. Sher- od, Mrs. A C Carpenter and Mrs. J Cook, all of whom reside near odell, except Mrs. Carpenter who s in town Besides his children leaves one sister, Mrs. J. Abbott Red Oak, Iowa, and two brothers, llace Griggs of Britt, Iowa, and sley Griggs, of Denver, Colorado, o twelve grandchildren are left mourn his passing and a large t of other relatives and friends.

Mr. Griggs passed away while fish- near his summer home at Ven- a, Iowa, at 7:30 o'clock Friday ning, May 21, 1926, at the age 75 years, 8 months and 15 days.

Mr. Griggs moved from Iowa Falls his farm 6 miles northeast of odell 41 years ago this spring, ng one of Avery Township's earli- settlers who passed through all the hardships of that early time. e years ago he moved to Goodell, ich place has since been his per- nent home.

From boyhood he was a lover of outdoor life and all things pre- ning to nature and he was very tive in preserving natural bodies water where fish and game might proprigated, and no efforts or rifices were too great for him to ke in bringing about these results. his observation of nature he nev- forgot the Creator of all.

He was a charter member of the rst United Brethern Church of odell and circulated the subscrip- n list for its building. With the sing of Mr. Griggs our communi- has lost a true friend and a unch moral character.

Father has gone to another place here rest and peace doth reign, Remember his counsel and life of grace hile we live to meet him again.

The funeral services were held m the U. B. Church at two o'clock nday aftrnoon, Rev. F. S. Scott ficiating. A quartette consisting Mesdames Scott and Thada and ssrs. Nowgard and Graber sang a mber of beautiful selections. In- ment was made in the family lot Amsterdam Cemetery east of wn. The casket was banked with autiful floral offerings and one of e largest crowds ever witnessed at e church attended the funeral, owing the high esteem and re- ect in which they regarded Mr. J. Griggs.

The out of town relatives who at- nded the funeral were Mrs. E. M. iggs, Iowa Falls; Mrs. Garnet own, Iowa Falls; Mr. and Mrs. F. Griggs, Iowa Falls; Mr. F. Fisher d daughter, Clarksville, Iowa; Mr. d Mrs. Wallace Griggs, Britt, Ia.; r. Elmer Griggs, Crystal Lake, Ia., s. E. Stockdale and son, Hampton, wa; Mr. and Mrs. T. Phelpott, of mpton; Mr. Geo. Sherwood, Iowa lls; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Johnson, wa Falls; Mr. and Mrs. D. Winter- d, Radcliff, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Newberger, Ventura, Iowa; Mr. d Mrs. Presley Griggs, Forest City, wa; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stockdale, ws, Iowa; Mr. Chas. Stockdale, wa Falls; Mr. Nelson Meyers and r. Louis Meyers of Thornton, Iowa.

TIMELY GARDEN TIPS — A Weekly Feature —

Tells How to Keep Cut Flowers Fresh

By just a little additional care the cut flowers on the dining room table can be kept fresh much longer than is ordinarily the case.

When flowers are cut, they should be placed in water immediately, for if they lay in the dry air just a few minutes they will wilt long before they should. Blooms thrive the best in clean, cold water If the housewife would trouble herself to the blooms into thecool of the basement each evening she would find days added to the span of life. The water should be changed at least once a day.

The early morning, even before breakfast, is the best time to cut the flowers from the beds, for the cool air of the night and the dew on the petals puts the bloom in prime condition for cutting. If the flowers have started to wilt, a good way to add new life to them is to dip the stems in hot water for a few seconds and then place them back in cold water. Removal of a small portion of the stem will freshen the water absorbing surface and keep the petals full of life.

Chemicals have little effect on the keeping qualities of flowers. Many of them are harmless, but none of them are of much value.

Deep vases and bowls are better than the shallow types for they allow more water to come in contact with the stem and the lower foliage —E. C. Volz, Iowa State College.

KEEP LIGHT FUSES ON HAND

Lightning Likely to Put Electric Lights on "Hummer"

A flash of lightning. A deafening crash of thunder, that seems to shake the very nails out of the house. Then no lights.

This little set of incidents is apt to occur almost any spring when showers and thunder storms are common, so why not be prepared? Keep a few extra fuses on hand. So suggests Iowa State College specialists Pennies are copper pieces to be used as money and NOT as fuses. Unfortunately, a penny just fits into a plug fuse socket and closes the circuit, if it has been opened by the blowing of a fuse. Fuses are the safety valves of an electric circuit just as the automatic blow-off is a safety valve for a steam boiler.

When a penny is put into a plug socket it has just the same effect as hanging a wrench on the safety valve of a boiler—the "safety" element is eliminated. Then, if a big surge of current, such as would come from an extra heavy load, comes on, the wire will break down or burn up at its weakest point, and anything of an inflammable nature near the spot will be burned "Coppered" fuses are a great fire hazzard.

Plug fuses, which are the type generally used in house installations may be purchased in cartons containing either four or ten fuses, and in sizes from 10 to 30 amperes capacity, at a cost of about 6 cents each. The sizes commonly used are 15 and 30 amperes; the 30 ampere size being used in the main fuse block between the line and the distribution box and the 15 ampere size in the separate circuits.

If an extra supply of fuses is kept on hand, it is a matter of only a few minutes time to take a flashlight and see which fuse is blown, replace it, and have light again, instead of waiting hours in the dark for the trouble man to appear.

The butter consumed during 1925 required more than 40 billion pounds of milk produced by American farmers. If placed in 10 gallon milk cans side by side, this milk would have extended four times around the earth, according to the National Dairy Council.

Card of Thans

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation for the kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Griggs.
Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Griggs
Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sherwood
Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Carpenter
Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cook.

FARM BUREAU PICNIC JUNE 9

HEAD OF FARM BUREAU WILL VISIT HANCOCK COUNTY

Unusual Program Outlined For Big Annual Farm Bureau Picnic At Crystal Lake June 9

The annual picnic of the Hancock County Farm Bureau which will be held at Crystal Lake, June 9, will be of unusual interest this year owing to the fact that the president of tho American Farm Bureau Federaion Sam H. Thompson of Quincy, Ill., will be the principal speaker.

Mrs. Henry Wood, of Moville, Iowa will also be one of the speakers. Community singing conducted by Rev. Calkins, of Britt, will be a feature of the program. The Duncan Band has been secured to furnish music for the day.

A picnic dinner, all kinds of sports including horseshoe pitching, and a ball game will furnish part of the amusement.

A refreshment stand conducted by the Farm Bureau will be on the grounds for the accomodation of the picnickers. It is beleived this will be one of the largest gatherings in the county this year.

Make your plans now so that you and your family can attend this big event at Crystal Lake, June 9th.

FAIR ASSOCIATION TO PUT ON FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

The Hancock County Fair Association is making plans to put on a Fourth of July Celebration at the Fair Grounds at Britt on Saturday, July 3rd, and possibly an entertainment for Sunday, July 4th. The Saturday program will be horse racing, ball games, etc. If the program is put on Sunday, it will consist of a musical program of some kind.

Grease and oil are cheaper than horse or man labor.

FARM BUREAU AGAIN TO TOUR TO AMES ON JUNE 24th

The annual tour of the Hancock County Farm Bureau to the Iowa State College at Ames will be taken on Thursday, June 24th. Arrangements will be made this year to meet at the College and not try to go in a body. Plans have been made with the authorities of the college that no other county will make the trip on that date.

Approximately 500 people enjoyed this trip last year and the Bureau hopes to be able to increase the number this year. Mark the date and plan to go, you will be sure to enjoy it.

HANCOCK COUNTY FAIR

Plans are being made to hold the Hancock County Fair on September 14, 15, 16 and 17. One of the features this year will be the big exhibits by the boys and girls clubs of the county. The Hazel M. Cass shows have been contracted with for the night entertainment.

HAMMILL APPOINTS MABEN

O K. Maben of Garner has been appointed by Governor Hammill to represent Iowa at the National Farm School conference to be held in New York City June 2 to 7. The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint boys and girls of the city with agriculture and farm life.

CAPTURE LIVE FOXES AT ROLAND

Seventeen half-grown foxes were dug out of their hole on the Evnas Bros. farm two miles south and a half mile west of Roland, Monday and captured alive by Ed. Quam, Milton and Cyrus Thompson. The men had heard reports that a number of young foxes had been seen in the pasture so they took spades with them in the forenoon and worked all day digging about six feet deep and covered a wide piece of ground before getting to the end of the hole, where they found sixteen of the little fellows huddled together. They brot them to town and now have the entire crew in captivity. They did not see any of the old foxes. —Roland Record.

CLIP THIS PROGRAM AND BRING IT WITH YOU SUNDAY

Memorial Program

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 30, 1926

Beginning at 2:30 O'clock

At The Klemme Park

PROGRAM AT THE PARK

Music ..... The Klemme Band
March—"Apollo"
"Darling Nellie Gray," "Old Black Joe."
Invocation ..... Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch
Song ..... "AMERICA"
Audience, Band Accompaniment
Memorial Address ..... Rev. W. J. Suckow
Music ..... The Klemme Band
"Tramp, Tramp Through Georgia"
Benediction ..... Rev. A. W. Gauger

FORMATION

Procession will form at the southwest corner of the Park in the following order and march to the cemetery:—

Colors and Guard, Civil War Veterans, Speaker, Band, Firing Squad, American Legion, Auxiliary, Lodges, Camp Fire Girls, School Children, City Officials, Citizens and all patriotic bodies.

PROGRAM AT CEMETERY

Decoration of Graves by the Camp Fire Girls
Ritual ..... American Legion
Salute ..... Firing Squad
Taps
Raising Flag To Full Mast At Park

HAD LIVED HERE OVER FORTY YEARS

MRS. HERMAN LUDEKE CALLED TO HER REWARD

Funeral Services Were Held Here Last Friday Afternoon

Early Monday morning, May 17, 1926, Mrs. Herman Ludeke was called to her heavenly home. Thus we chronicle the passing of one of the early settlers of Hancock County. For nearly a half century she and her family lived in this community, and her passing on brings a sense of sadness to the entire countryside, for she was truly one of God's Noblewomen. She had merits of real worth, such as one learned to value as one learned to know her more intimately.

Mrs. Martha Venekolt Ludeke was born July 8, 1854, near Freeport, Illinois. Growing to womanhood she was united in marriage to Mr. Herman Ludeke on March 12, 1874. Soon after their marriage they moved to Rockford, Iowa, where her husband entered business as a shoe dealer. They remained there for a number of years. About forty-one years ago they came to Hancock County, taking up a homestead which is now occupied by their son Elmer. They remained on this farm until twelve years ago when they retired and moved to Klemme.

Ten children were born to their union, of these all but one survive the parents. One son, Fred, died thirty years ago. The surviving are: Mrs. Art Schoenwetter, Mrs. William Ax, Mrs. Fred Schlicting, Mrs. Geo. Schoenwetter, Mrs. Elmer Weisbrod, of Fenton, Mrs. Carl Suckow, of Garner. The sons are Henry, Elmer and Ralph. All live in the vicinity of Klemme.

Her husband departed this life three years and one week before her departure.

She is also survived by 24 grandchildren and by one brother, Henry Venekolt of California, by one half-brother, Herman Karter, of Freeport Illinois. The latter attended the funeral.

Mrs. Ludeke was a fine Christian character who served her Master to the best of her ability. To her, religion meant not only a profession, but a consistent life. She was loved and respected by all who knew her and in her quiet way she wielded a wholesome influence which made itself felt to all with whom she came in contact. The latter is especially true toward her children who sincerely loved her with a genuine love and who were ever solicitous about her well being. It was commonplace for them to plan a gathering where Mother was at the center of it all. Only on Mother's Day was a last of such gatherings planned and carried out when she was taken to the home of her youngest daughter, Mrs. Carl Suckow in Garner where all cherished and enjoyed mother once more. Little did she or they realize that she would be called home so soon after.

According to her own testimony, she received Jesus into her heart when very young. At that time she joined the Methodist church and remained a faithful member of the same through life.

Funeral services were held on Friday afternoon from the old home and at the Methodist church, conducted by Rev. A. W. Gauger, assisted by Rev. Wessel. Interment was made in the Klemme Cemetery.

SPEAKERS FOR CLARKE WILL BE IN KLEMME SATURDAY

Des Moines, May 27—Senator Joe H. Allen and M. W. Fitz will head a party of Howard Clark workers on an auto tour of northwestern Iowa, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The schedule for this vicinity follows:

Saturday, May 29, Forest City at 11:50 a.m.; Garner 1:00 p. m.; Britt 1:35 p. m.; Corwith 3:40 p. m.; KLEMME at 4:35 p. m.; Benlmond at 5:10 p. m. The party stops at Fort Dodge for the evening, speaking there at 8:00 o'clock.

KLEMME SCHOOLS CLOSED WITH PICNIC LAST FRIDAY

Thirteen In Graduating Class For Final School Activity

The Klemme grade and high school came to a close Friday with a big community picnic, which has become an annual affair here and observed as a town and comunity holiday.

The weather man was somewhat unkind this year as he brought a rainy day for the picnic and plans could not be carried out as had been hoped. The picnic was to have been held at Koerner's grove where tables and seats had been built and where all sorts of play ground equipment, swings, slides, teeter-toters, etc. are enjoyed by the kids.

However, a big dinner was enjoyed at the high school gymnasium where a large crowd had gathered and made merry despite the weather.

The closing act of the school year was the commencement exercises in the evening when the 1926 Senior Class of thirteen received diplomas for their high school work.

Thus the Klemme schools came to a close for this school year.

The teachers have all departed for their respective homes and most of them left Saturday. Some of the teachers will attend summer school, some have positions for the summer, others will spend part of the time in travel, and one, if we are correctly informed will take up housekeeping.

Supt. M. F. Penrod left Tuesday for Sebeka, Minn.,, northwest of the Cities, where he will spend the summer on his farm. The last two weeks in August he plans to spend with his mother at Pulaski, Iowa.

The past school year seems to have been quite successful, both from the standpoint of teachers, pupils and parents and we have heard but a very little dissatisfaction expressed. On the whole school has been conducted very smoothly the past year.

WHO SAYS HANCOCK COUNTY IS NOT PROSPEROUS?

Chattel Mortgages On Cars Shown In Hancock County Daily Record Would Indicate Money Is Plentiful

From the Hancock County Daily Report of the past week we found an item of interest in the number of cars purchased on installments. The past week there were recorded 38 chattel mortgages on installments due on cars, some new and the others used cars. However, these cars were not all purchased the past week; a few in January, some in February, March and April, but the majority were bought this month, the papers being recorded the past week.

The balance due on these thirty-eight cars totalled up to $14,267.33. Usually about one-third is paid on the car in cash or trade-in value of an old car. This would add another $4,755.77 to the above amount, or a total investment of $19,023.10 for the thirty-eight cars.

Then there are many new cars, a few used cars and other trade-in propositions which were cash deals, which probably exceed the above amount by a large sum and which does not show up on the records. Add an equal amount for cash transactions, say $20,000.00 to the above for the past month's car business and we have approximately $40,000.00 invested the past month.

Does that look like hard times?

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

A beautiful day, fine audiences and inspiring services were the prominent features of last Sabbath day.

Next Sunday's service will be featured by a Memorial Service in keeping with the occasion. We extend a most cordial invitation to all veterans of the several wars as well as to all other patriotic organizations to attend and to participate in this service. Reserved seats will be held for all such organizations who will be our guests of honor.

On Sunday afternoon we expect to join them in the regular Memorial exercises in the city park. We omit our evening service because of this.

HOUSE KNOCKS OUT HAUGEN FARM BILL

Rival Measures Are Withdrawn; Still Have Hopes of Action During Session.

Washington. — The Haugen farm subsidy bill went down to defeat in the house by a vote of 212 to 167 on one of the most strikingly nonpartisan divisions on record, indicated by the fact that both Democrats and Republicans voted to defeat the bill by the identical majority of 23 votes.

Realizing that any plan containing a subsidy or an equilization fee cannot be passed by the house, farm leaders, headed by Representative Dickinson, Republican, of Iowa, later met to agree on some legislation embodying the plan, advocated by President Coolidge, of increased co-operation among the farmers in the matter of marketing machinery, based on the theory that the farmers' greatest aid must come from himself, free from governmental interference.

Mr. Dickinson, after the vote, said that as far as the farmer was concerned it had all along been a question of "the Haugen bill, or nothing," and that the Republican party had missed a great opportunity. Nevertheless, he, along with other farm representatives, have hopes of enacting legislation at this session which, while avoiding the subsidy and the equalization fee, will establish machinery for disposal of the farmers' surplus.

Representatives Tincher, Republican, of Kansas, and Aswell, Democrat, of Louisiana, both sponsors of rival farm measures, asked unanimous consent to withdraw their bills, which they had offered as amendments to the Haugen bill. Unanimous consent was obtained, and then Representative Haugen, Republican of Iowa, amid cheers from the farm bloc, moved that the house sitting as the committee of the whole, recommend his bill to the house for passage.

Representative Madden, Republican, of Illinois, then threw the house in a tumult by offering a motion recommiting the Haugen bill to the committee on agriculture, thus killing it. A viva voce vote favored this measure, 197 to 176, and a vote by tellers confirmed this action by 171 to 165. The biggest surprise came when a roll call on the motion to recommit was ordered, and the house went into the face of its two previous decisions and defeated the motion, 182 to 200.

Mr. Tincher, spokesman for the administration farm relief plan, said:

"The Aswell and Tincher bills are both on the calendar. All this propaganda out of Washington has been used to poison the farmer against the Tincher bill and Secretary of Agriculture Jardine. Let the matter rest a while and see if the farmers really want legislation. If they do we'll give them something—without anything like the Haugen subsidy."

"I haven't given up hope," Mr. Dickinson said. "The senate may send over the co-operative bill with the Norris amendment."

This amendment contains the same features as the Haugen bill, except that the subsidy is $350,000,000, and a deferment on the equalization fee is provided, pending definite permission from congress every time a fee is to be levied.

The news of the defeat of the Haugen bill was so sudden that definite plans have not yet been drawn up by farm relief advocates in either branch. It seems improbable that the senate would pass the farm bill just outlined containing the very features which the house killed.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

News of the defeat of Senator George Wharton Pepper, in Pennsylvania, was hailed by Washington wets as a victory and a forecast for early modifiction of the national prohibition law.

The policy of examining and selecting immigrants to this country at the source has been extended to include Germany, Norway and Denmark. The system already is in effect in Great Britain, Irish Free State, and is regarded by officials here as a success.

"Gobs" will no longer be deprived of their chewing gum ration while away from port, it was announced at the Navy department. Under a new ruling chewing gum, which has been barred from sale on the navy's ships since 1911, has been again restored to good standing.

Legislative regulation or control of the coal industry was vigorously opposed in resolutions adopted by the National Retail Coal Dealers' association in convention at Washington.

Slayer Dies in Gas Chamber

Carson City, Nev.—Stanko Jukich, twenty-eight, miner of Ruth, Nev., died with a smile in Nevada's lethal gas chamber for the slaying last year of Jennie Madek, his sixteen-year-old sweetheart. It was Nevada's second gas execution.

Sir Hugh Denison for U. S.

Melbourne, Australia.—Sir Hugh Denison has been appointed as Australian high commissioner to the United States.

SECRET SERVICE CHIEF

Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, formerly in charge of the federal secret service at Providence, R. I., who has been appointed to succeed Capt. Thomas I. Porter, who was withdrawn from the service in Chicago. Captain Callaghan has been in Chicago since February 1 acquainting himself with the situation there.

LATEST ORDER ADDS 10,000 DRY SLEUTHS

Both Factions Declare President's Action Illegal.

Washington.—An executive order authorizing the appointment of state, county or municipal officers as federal prohibition officers signed by President Coolidge, and made public by the treasury, means the addition of an estimated 10,000 of "dollar a year" volunteers and amateur "snoopers" to the already enlarged enforcement army of Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, prohibition enforcement chief.

This move, which was made at the request of General Andrews and which reverses the position taken by President Grant during his administration, was met by immediate and bitter opposition by both wets and drys in the senate.

It means, according to Prohibition Commissioner Jones, that an Iowa or a Michigan constable or sheriff can cross the state lines and raid violators of the prohibition laws in any other state. State lines are wiped out for the local and state enforcement officer.

Wets predict that the country will be overrun by Anti-Saloon league zealots, who, in their eagerness to see the law enforced, will obtain local appointments as peace officers, justices or constables, and run rampant over the country.

The order, which is inoperative in states that have satutory provisions forbidding state officers from holding federal jobs, reads as follows:

"In order that they may more efficiently function in the enforcement of the national prohibition act, any state, county, or municipal officer may be appointed, at a normal rate of compensation, as prohibition officer of the Treasury department to enforce the provisions of the national prohibition act and acts supplemental thereto in states and territories, except in those states having constitutional or statutory provision against state officers holding office under the federal government."

Prohibition Referendum in N. Y. O. K'd by Smith

Albany, N. Y.—Governor Smith wound up his work on the final grist of measures sent to him by the legislature when it adjourned, by giving his approval to the Karle-Phelps bill providing for a prohibition referendum at the general election in November. Under the bill, the people will decide whether they desire the Volstead act amended to permit the states to determine the amount of alcoholic content which is "in fact, intoxicating." That the drys will use the injunction process in an attempt to stave off a popular verdict is certain.

Governor Smith, in explaining his favorable action on the measure said:

"The fanatics on both sides of the question view the situation through the blurred glasses of prejudice. The bill will settle for the present the attitude of the people of this state on this whole question. If the voice of the people means aiything in democratic government any vehicle through which it can be ascertained is to my mind desirable."

County Farm Fire Loss $10,000

Muscatine, Iowa.—Three large barns at the county farm near Muscatine were destroyed by fire. Sixteen head of the live stock were saved by inmates at the farm. The loss was estimated at $10,000.

Consolidation of Railroads

Washington.—Consolidation of the nation's railroads into a few great systems was given new impetus when the interstate commerce commission authorized the Illinois Central to take over indirectly two southern roads.

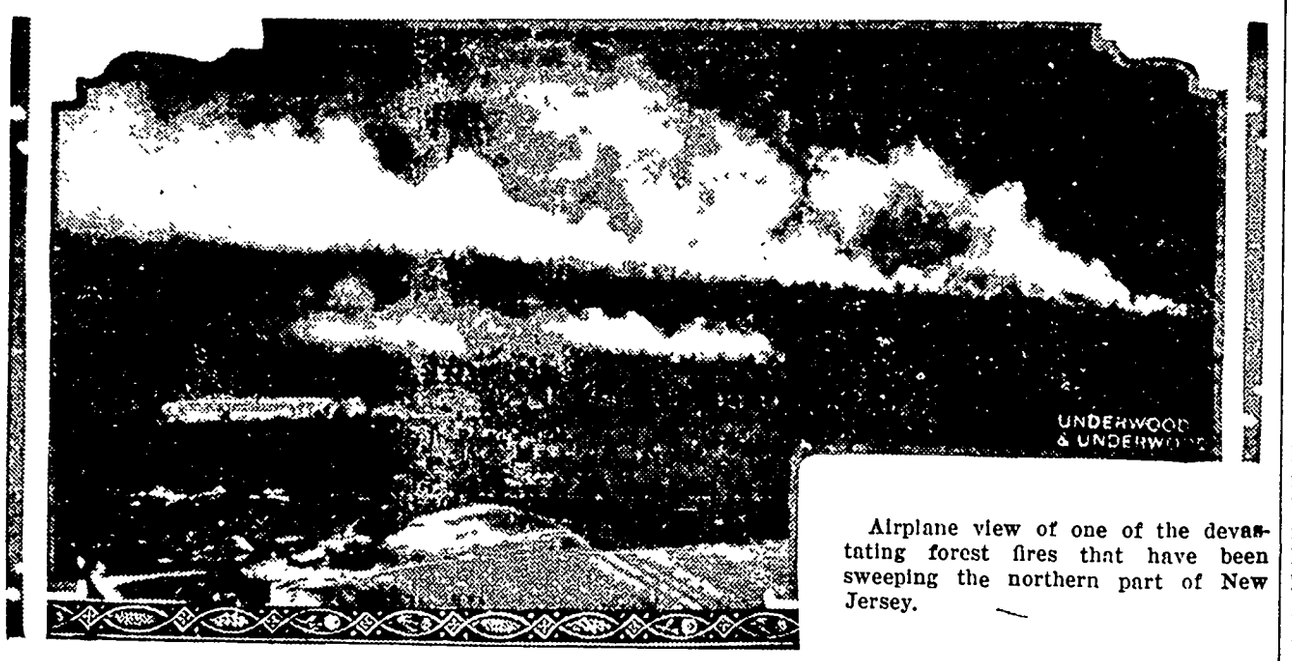
Railroad Labor Board Expires

Washington.—Abolition of the railroad labor board, with headquarters in Chicago, became effective when President Coolidge signed the Watson-Parker railroad labor act.

Coolidge Meets Highway Contest Winners

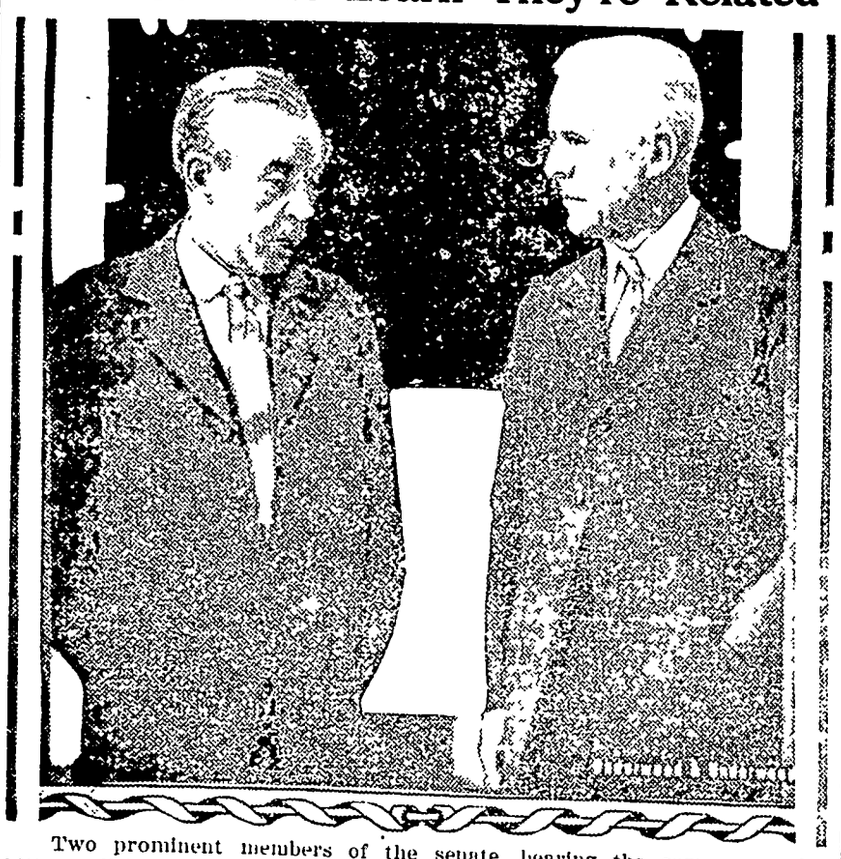
Winners in the contests conducted by the highway education board were congratulated by President Coolidge when they called at the White House and were presented by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker. In the group, left to right: Senator Shipstead of Minnesota; Miss Elsie Green, school teacher, whose safety lesson was the best of 60,000 submitted; Dorothy Jean Utley of Bemidji, Minn., winner of the school children's essay contest; President Coolidge; Harold Haswell of Hoosick Falls, N. Y., winner of the contest among children of members of the National grange, and Captain Rickenbacker.

Airview of New Jersey Forest Fires



Airplane view of one of the devastating forest fires that have been sweeping the northern part of New Jersey.

Two Senators Learn They're Related



Two prominent members of the senate, bearing the same name but bitter political opponents, have just discovered that they are cousins. They are David A. Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania (left) and James A. Reed, Democrat, of Missouri (right). They are both descended from David Reed of Washington county, Pennsylvania, a friend of George Washington.

Part of Great Estate Is Theirs

Mrs. Amanda Mosher Layton Williams, seventy-one years old, of Trenton, N. J., and her son, Joseph Layton, a motorman, have just learned that they are to inherit a part of a $32,000,000 estate left by Ezekiel Mosher, who died recently in England.

BYRD'S MOTHER

Perhaps the happiest mother in America recently was Mrs. Richard E. Byrd, Sr., whose son, Lieut. Commander Byrd, made the first successful airplane flight to the North pole.

SMART CHIMPANZEE

Mary, the remarkable chimpanzee owned by the explorer and naturalist, Cherry Kearton, has never been taught anything, but copies everything that she sees her owner do. Here she is at one of his old tricks—cleaning the pipe.

SENATE VOTES QUIZ ON BIG VOTE FUND

Committee to Investigate Illinois and Pennsylvania Expenditures.

Washington.—The refusal of the of five senators named to sit on special committee authorized to investigate charges that large sums were spent in Pennsylvania and Illinois primaries made necessary the reorganization of the committee.

Vice President Dawes announced that Senators Fernald (Rep., Maine), Goff (Rep., W. Va.), and King (Dem., Utah) would sit with Senators La Follette (Rep., Wis) and Reed (Dem., Mo.), originally named as members of the committee.

Anti-Saloon league expenditures in campaigns also will be among the matters sifted.

The new investigating committee will at once map out sketchy plans, but nothing vital will be done now, as Senator Reed of Missouri, the author of the resolution, is going away for a few days. When he returns a program will be arranged.

Washington.—Amid feverish excitement and passionate denunciation the United States senate voted, by a majority of 46 in a total of 72 votes cast, to investigate expenditures of money in the Pennsylvania senatorial primaries which ended in the defeat of Senator Pepper (Rep.) for Congressman Vare (Rep.)

The McKinley-Smith senatorial contest in Illinois also will be investigated if the probable chairman of the investigators—Reed of Missouri—has his way, for Senator Reed in a blistering speech in the senate said:

"We had a senatorial primary election in Illinois a few week ago. It has been charged by many people—I do not assert the truth of the charge—I want to know as to its truth or as to its falsity—that one of the candidates expended from a million to a million and a half dollars in the primary and even then went down in his defeat.

"If that charge is true, then the country ought to know it. If the charge is true, then a condition of corruptness and of rottenness exists in this country which ought to arouse to extreme vigilance every man who loves his country and adores its flag."

Frantic maneuvering changes of heart of almost miraculous suddenness, and swift flights from the chamber by senators who had no stomach for the test vote marked the three hours of strategy and oratory that led up to the decision to investigate immediately the charges of slush funds of from two to five million dollars in Pennsylvania's primaries and of from one to one and a half million in Illinois.

The committee is empowered to act during the senate's summer recess, thus keeping the fear of the Lord heavily in the hearts of the 34 sitting Republican and Democratic senators who come up for re-election next November.

The committee has power to investigate not only the expenditure of money in senatorial primaries already held, but also such expenditures as may be made in senatorial primaries still to be held and in the impending election campaigns of all the 34 senators who go to the people in November.

It will thus be the official recipient and investigator of all the financial campaign scandal that may break between now and November.

Germany Asks Ban on Planes, Gas and Tanks

Geneva, Switzerland.—Concrete proposals to forbid the use of airplanes and poison gas in warfare and suppress heavy artillery and tanks were put forward by Germany at the session of the preparatory disarmament commission. The proposals were presented by Count von Bernstorff, former ambassador to the United States.

Naval Reserve Enrolls 1,100 as Radio Operators

Washington.—Letters to 1,600 members of the American Radio Relay league have brought the navy 1,100 candidates for the naval reserve force. Secretary Wilbur announces. The 1,100 will be enrolled in the naval reserve and given advantage of special instructions in naval communications.

Byrd, First Over North Pole to Try South Pole

Oslo, Norway.—A telegram to the Aftenposten from Spitzbergen says Lieut. Com. Richard Byrd, U. S. N., first man to fly over the North pole, plans to undertake an expedition to the South pole as soon as possible. The lieutenant and the members of his expedition have left King's Bay for London.

Buy New Oil Tanks

San Luis Obispo, Calif.—Four 80,000-barrel tanks, costing a total of $128,000, were ordered by the Union Tank Oil company of California to start replacement at the tank farm destroyed by fire April 7.

May Avert Irish Rail Strike

Dublin.—Hopes are now entertained that the strike of 17,000 Irish railway men scheduled for June 1, in protest against a reduction of wages will be avoided.

PAYS OFFICIAL TRIBUTE OF NATION

The plain white stone that marks the grave of America's Unknown Soldier, lost in the World war, receives, each year, a wreath from the President of the United States. As the President pays this tribute, Mrs. Coolidge, the First Lady of the Land, and the military and naval aides stand at attention, while the whole world remembers and adds its homage.

War Heroes' Graves in France Are Spots of Beauty

United States Cemeteries the Best Cared For in the World.

Relatives and "buddies" of the 30,000 American World war heroes who are buried in Europe can find some need of comfort in the assurances of Representative Guy U. Hardy of Colorado that "no graves anywhere and no cemeteries in the world are better cared for than these."

Relating in the National Republic, his impressions of a tour of the American war cemeteries abroad, Mr. Hardy gave an interesting description of the hallowed territory which forms the last resting place of American war dead.

"The American cemeteries are beauty spots in Europe and will be hallowed grounds to Americans for centuries to come," Mr. Hardy said. "I have seen hundreds of cemeteries where millions of the soldiers of the World war are buried. The English cemeteries are fairly well kept up. The French and German cemeteries have a sadly neglected appearance. The American cemeteries are in tip-top condition and the best cared for of all.

"We have in Europe now eight American cemeteries—six in France, one in Belgium and one in England."

Soissons

A Marine

July 18 1918

Fate called him, and he would not wait
for place,
But fell in ranks of those who aped their way
To where they met the Trumpeter's grim face
Within the dusk of Villers Cotterets.

Death called him, and within eternal deeps
He found the quiet ways of youth
again,
Now all time is his own the while he sleeps
Under a cross beside the winding Aisne.

Mr. Hardy continued. "The permanent cemeteries in France are located in picturesque spots near the great battlefields in which most of the men died lost their lives. No two of the cemeteries are alike but all are uniformly beautiful, well arranged and now being given excellent care. They are all covered with blue grass and are as green as any Washington lawn. Trees and shrubbery have been planted, beauty spots laid out and developed. At the entrance gate of each is a caretaker's home and hostess house where relatives may find quarters. In the center is a tall flag pole from which an American flag flies always in the daytime.

Generals Beside Privates.

"The graves are marked by white crosses. At present the crosses are wood painted white. The names and organization numbers are painted in black. Once a year or oftener the crosses are washed, repainted white and the names restenciled. One thing that impressed me as I walked around reading the names on the crosses was the fact that there is no distinction as to rank or prominence. I found a brigadier general laid in an inconspicuous spot with a private on each of the four sides.

"The rows and rows of crosses stand in the green field clean and prominent. From miles away over the rolling fields of France you can pick out an American cemetery with its flag flying and its field of even rows of snowy-white crosses. In the near future white marble crosses will take the place of the wooden crosses. Congress has now appropriated some money for the start and the change is well under way.

"The most important, so far as number of graves goes, is the Meuse-Argonne cemetery. In it are 14,026 graves. The name indicates the battle in which those buried there lost their lives. It covers 128½ acres. The graves are on a sloping hillside and the arrangement is in the shape of a great shield. Down at the bottom of the slope is a fountain and a lily pond. You can hardly imagine a more picturesque situation than this cemetery presents from the caretaker's home and its beauty will grow as the shrubbery and trees, so artistically arranged around the edges, develop with age."

The St. Mihiel cemetery, 180 miles from Paris, near Thiaucourt, with 4,138 graves; the Aisne-Marne cemetery, near Chateau-Thierry, with 2,202 graves; the Oise-Aisne cemetery near Fere-en-Tardenois, with 5,03[illegible] graves, also are beautifully cared for, Mr. Hardy said.

Thousands Visit Suresnes.

"Only seven miles distant from Paris is Suresnes cemetery which will naturally, because of its convenient location, be the most frequently visited of all. Already thousands of Americans who visit Paris have come here to pay their homage to America's dead. It has a beautiful location on a little hillside under the protecting shade of the historic old Fort Valerien. From the grounds one looks out over the River Seine and the Bois de Boulogne into the city of Paris—a magnificent view indeed. This cemetery lends itself especially well to decoration and, being one of the first located on a permanent basis, is the best developed.

"In Belgium there is Flanders Field cemetery, 35 miles from Brussels, containing 364 graves, and in England we have the Brookwood cemetery, 28 miles from London." The latter embraces about five acres of ground and contains the graves of 437 persons, some of whom died while in England on their way to France, Mr. Hardy explained.

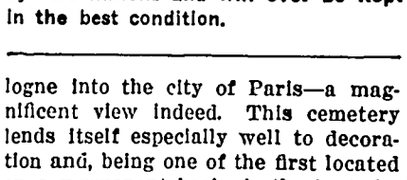
In conclusion, Mr. Hardy paid tribute to the work of the graves registration service of the army. Under the supervision of Lieut. Col. William O. Smith every possible courtesy is shown relatives of American soldiers buried in these cemeteries, he said.

"Both in the Washington and Paris offices of the service a complete record is kept of each grave. By inquiry it is easy to ascertain in what cemetery is any grave and its exact location—row and number. Where accommodations cannot be found easily near the cemetery the service is taking care of relatives who wish to visit the grave, at a moderate cost. Any mother can have a photograph taken of her son's grave without cost by asking for it, and relatives can arrange with Colonel Smith, whose office is located at 20 Rue Molitor, Paris, to have any grave decorated at special times or stated dates by providing the funds for the expenditures desired."

In Eternal Honor

By Lieut. Col. Thomas J. Dickson, Chaplains Corps, U. S. Army, retired, delivered at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier last year.

The history of the First division is a closed book.
I am not worthy to loose the seals thereof!
In the Chancery of Heaven, known to God alone,
Is the record of those whose dust we cover with flowers,
Ours is a pilgrimage of love and reverence—
A pilgrimage safely guarded by unseen legions,
We see forms and faces from that place we call home;
Anxious for loved ones through long days and longer nights.
The dark Shadow fell on almost our every home.
Our homage to Woman who suffered most of all!
This is neither time nor place for us to acclaim.
Leave that to others! Leave it to pious pilgrims—
To those who dwell on mountains capped with emotion—
To those who smelleth the raging battles afar off.
Children will here clasp hands in prayer.
Silence! Profound veneration attend this presence!
Attend all from the valley of the shadow of death.
Attend the dim shadow of a once mighty substance.
Since all of Earth will come, will pause, will read—
It is well to speak the language God first gave man.
Oh, leaves of oak! Come from our winding sheet.
Leaves of strength! Come from the oak that defies the storm!
Come, rose leaves. See the place where dauntless valor sleeps.
Come, leaves of beauty. Leaves of beauty rest on Beauty's breast.
Come, leaves of laurel. Mount high this Unknown Soldier's brow!
Soldier! You rose from these ranks! Receive our homage vow.
Come, emblem of every hope. Come, light painted flowers.
Come, those who first told man there is a God.
Come, flowers of Easter. Come immortal Spring,
Come! Tell again the old, old story of His love.
Come, bless our leaning crosses. Come to our veiled Calvary.
Come! Tell loud the story. Let the earth rejoice!
Come! Oh welcome night. Cover us with the star cloth.
Catch every tear that falls—those beautiful bugles of Reveille.



"They never came back." But in this cemetery at Romagne, France, 25,000 American soldiers were buried with honor, and in their beautiful resting place their graves are honored by two nations and will ever be kept in the best condition.

Battlefields Give Up Bones of "Missing"

Eight years have passed since the armistice was signed, but the blood-stained soil of France still covers the mystery of thousands of soldiers carried on the rolls of the French ministry of war as "missing in action."

A large part of the old battle zone has been reclaimed and the fields upon which men fought for four years have been returned to crops. In the process, the farmers of France have covered thousands of miles of trenches, wound tens of thousands of miles of rusted and torn barbed wire, filled in shell craters and removed with care the unexploded engines of war which, unfortunately, only too frequently explode in the hands of these brave peasants and add more names to the death toll of the war.

These farmers have also succeeded in finding the bodies of thousands of French, American, British and Germans, who fell in conflict and were covered by a scattering of earth by their comrades or by an exploding shell or who, badly wounded, crawled by instinct into a copse where death overtook them and they remained hidden from the squads who searched the battlefields after each engagement.

Within the past few days, a farmer and his son set about cleaning out the underbrush in a wooded ravine on their farm along the road to Tracy-le-Mont, which the American troops traveled in the final months of the war. There, under a tangled mass of weeds they found the remains of 13 French and one German soldier. The identification of the German was made possible by his metal tag, but the naming of the French was impossible and only the peculiar manner in which their boots were soled enabled their identification as French.

FOR TRAVEL AND SPORTS; NEW HEADWEAR ATTRACTS

AN ATTRACTIVE company of summer coats, the latest (and last) offerings of the current season, are making their entry. These new arrivals have "travel," "pastimes" and "vacation" expressed in their designing as plainly as if they bore placards with the printed words and they include some novel, semiformal types that are unusually interesting.

For midsummer there are unlined cape-coats of light-colored flannels and similar coats of crepe-satin in light colors. A little heavier than these are the sleeveless coats, with capes that wrap about the arms at the front. These are made of lightweight materials and lined with thin silk; polka-dot silks or other printed patterns, used for lining, also serve to make a long scarf to be wrapped about the throat. These may be classed as semi-sports styles and are all attractive and practical. But cheerful colors are not confined to pastime coats; they appear, in deeper tones, in tweeds and homespuns, among the usual mixtures and neutral colors. This innovation in color, with short detachable capes that are buttoned about small, high collars, on some models, and hoods attached at the back on others, are outstanding new features in midseason styles.

Tweeds in fancy weaves, sometimes introducing lively colors, appeared in coats and suits early in the season and have been well received. A coat made of this new type of tweed mixture is shown at the right of the two models illustrated and is a smart garment for travel and general wear. It has emplacements of smooth-surfaced cloth on the collar, pockets and sleeves. For those who like mannish types the coat at the left is shown. It is a swagger affair, in blue and gray, or other mixtures, and is as plain as possible.

The pendulum of fashion which finally swung to the extreme of simple and unimportant styles in winter millinery started in an opposite direction this spring. It is rapidly traveling now away from uniform and uninteresting headwear in the direction of individual and more complicated style in hats that express personality as well as cover heads. It is remarkable that the most important item in the costume should ever have been so neglected, and when we finally arrived at the place where women of all types and ages wore exactly the same kinds of hats we woke to the meaninglessness of our headwear.

In the group of five hats pictured here we have examples of real millinery art as it flourishes today. Each hat differs from the others and each reveals the work of an artist—a French artist of acknowledged genius for designing. From them we can gather the high-lights of the new modes—the higher crowns, the introduction of wide brims, the combinations of straw braid and millinery fabrics in the construction of shapes, the revival of flower and feather trimmings. This millinery is worthy to be worn by women of importance.

The group does not include some prominent additional shapes and styles brought out for midsummer. Among these the square-crowned Spanish sailor, with either straight or drooping brim, narrower at the back, seems destined to be a great favorite. Wide-brimmed milan hats, ballibuntis, bangkoks and hair braids are shown in quantities and in varied shapes. Crocheted straw hats in the smaller, close-fitting shapes are favorites for the street and for traveling and combinations of straw and silk, so soft that they can be conveniently carried in a suitcase are in a class by themselves and are called "luggage hats." The two more important developments of the modes in millinery are the increased demand for straw hats and hair braids and the ever widening brims. In the latter particular indications are that fashion will go to extremes by the time midsummer arrives.

Two Midseason Coats.

Some of the New Millinery.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1928, Western Newspaper Union.)

COLOR IT NEW WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Just Dip to Tint or Boil to Dye.

Each 15-cent package contains directions so simple any woman can tint soft, delicate shades or dye rich, permanent colors in lingerie, silks, ribbons, skirts, waists, dresses, coats, stockings, sweaters, draperies, coverings, hangings—everything!

Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—and tell your druggist whether the material you wish to color is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

Italians Play Basket Ball

Basket ball, unknown in Italy before the war, bids fair to become the national game of the country, says Samuel Ybargoyen, physical director of the Turin Y. M. C. A., on leave in this country. A national basket-ball federation of 50 clubs, corresponding to the A. A. U., has been formed. Last year 2,000 members received cards entitling them to participate in the national championship games.

Cuticura Soap for the Complexion. Nothing better than Cuticura Soap daily and Ointment now and then as needed to make the complexion clear, scalp clean and hands soft and white. Add to this the fascinating, fragrant Cuticura Talcum, and you have the Cuticura Toilet Trio.—Advertisement.

Farms Given Names

It is estimated that at least 3,000 farms have been named. The Department of Agriculture favors the plan. Farms that have been given names are usually progressive and products bearing farm names are usually those that the farmer is proud to claim.

It is not enough to will, we must also do.—Goethe.

ATWATER KENT IGNITION

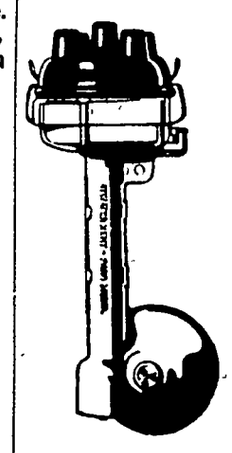
for Fords

Don't give up your Ford

The Atwater Kent Type LA Ignition System for Fords is the best tonic for cars, old or new.

It makes motors run smoother, starting easier, and gives more power, and it is everlastingly dependable.

In general design, material and equipment it is the same as Atwater Kent Ignition Systems furnished as a standard equipment on many of America's foremost cars, and as carefully made as an Atwater Kent Radio Set.



It will last as long as your Ford, can be installed in less than an hour, and sells for only $10.80.

Type LA
Price
$10.80
Including Cable and Fittings

ATWATER KENT MFG. CO.
A. Atwater Kent, President
4839 Wissahickon Ave. • Philadelphia, Pa.
Makers of Atwater Kent Receiving Sets and Radio Speakers

ABSORBINE

Reduces Strained, Puffy Ankles, Lymphangitis, Poll Evil, Fistula, Boils, Swellings; Stops Lameness and allays pain. Heals Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Boot Chafes. It is a

Safe Antiseptic and Germicide

Does not blister or remove the hair and horse can be worked. Pleasant to use. $2.50 a bottle, delivered. Describe your case for special instructions and Book 5 A free.

W. F. Young, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

Theatrical and Fancy COSTUMES for school plays and masquerades. Masks, wigs, beards, make-up. College and high school caps and gowns to rent. The Wingate Company, 548 5th Ave., Des Moines, Iowa.

CHEAP LAND
+ organized farming + co-operative community = sure success. If homeseeker, come—if capitalist, invest. UNITED INDUSTRIES, Audubon Bldg., New Orleans, Louisiana.

HOTEL ELLIOTT
219 Fourth Street - Des Moines, Iowa
A Pleasant, Home-like Hotel
Rates: $1.25 to $2.00. Centrally Located.

CREAM WANTED
Ship Direct for Best Prices
If we have no buying station in your town, ship direct—You get all the profit. Cans furnished at wholesale prices. Write for tags and further information.
DES MOINES CREAMERY CO.
105 S. W. 3rd St. Des Moines, Iowa

Club Cheese Is Easily Made

Club cheese which can be easily made by mixing well ripened American cheese with butter is becoming quite popular according to E. F. Goss of the Dairy Department, Iowa State College.

He says that the cheese used must be well cured and must possess a pronounced flavor or the result will be disappointing. The rind should be removed from the American cheese and the cheese cut into pieces of a convenient size. The cheese should then be passed thru the food chopper at the same time mixing with it one part of butter to six parts of cheese. The mixture should then be well worked with a paddle and a little cayenne pepper added. It should then be passed thrrough the chopper a second time and it will be ready for consumption.

The BULL'S EYE

Editor and General Manager
WILL ROGERS

Another "Bull" Durham advertisement by Will Rogers, Ziegfeld Follies and screen star, and leading American humorist. More coming. Watch for them.

No Governorship For Mine

My good old friend the Governor of Oklahoma was in to see me at the theatre the other night. I had just had humorous mention as a candidate for that position, as they wanted to revive the Populist Party with me as the Standard Bearer.

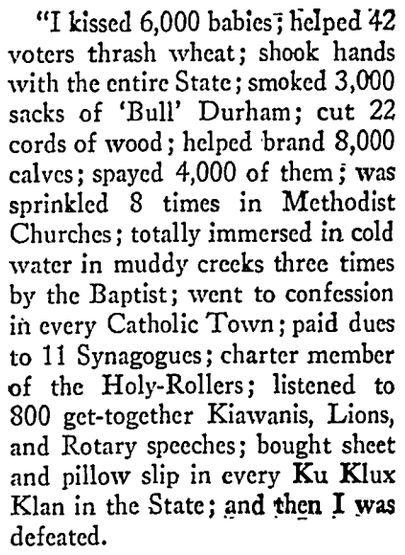
Well, the Governor showed me what had happened to a friend of his who had been defeated for Governor in our state, so he discouraged me. I won't accuse him of doing it purposely, but he did. His friend's campaign expenditures were as follows:

"I kissed 6,000 babies; helped 42 voters thrash wheat; shook hands with the entire State; smoked 3,000 sacks of 'Bull' Durham; cut 22 cords of wood; helped brand 8,000 calves; spayed 4,000 of them; was sprinkled 8 times in Methodist Churches; totally immersed in cold water in muddy creeks three times by the Baptist; went to confession in every Catholic Town; paid dues to 11 Synagogues; charter member of the Holy-Rollers; listened to 800 get-together Kiawanis, Lions, and Rotary speeches; bought sheet and pillow slip in every Ku Klux Klan in the State; and then I was defeated.

"'Bull' Durham was my sole satisfaction not only during, but after election. It is the only thing that stayed with me."

Will Rogers

P.S. There will be another piece in this paper soon. Look for it.



"BULL" DURHAM
Guaranteed by
The American Tobacco Co.
INCORPORATED
111 Fifth Avenue, New York City

Additional Klemme News

IDLE HOUR THEATRE TO OPEN FOR SHOW SATURDAY NIGHT

Frank Livermore Of Garner Has Leased Theatre Here

Frank Livermore, of Garner, proprieto of the Lyic Theatre at that place has leased the Idle Hour show house in Klemme and will put on a movie this Saturday night.

Mr. Livermore is an experienced man in the show business and will run only first class pictures here.

He has been running a good show at Garner and we asure you that he will give Klemme a good show.

We presume the shows will be run every Wednesday and Saturday night as formerly.

DON'T throw away that tire just because of a small hole. Bring it here, I can at least make a good spare for you. C. L. Blumer. 1tc

---

Mr and Mrs. Wm. Greene returned to their home in Boscobel, Wis., Wednesday of this week. They came to attend the funeral of Mrs. Herman Ludeke and visit their daughters, Miss Esther Greene, and Mrs. Henry Ludeke and family. They made the trip in their new Buick sedan.

The Klemme teachers have all departed for their respective homes The Misses Thompson and Lovrein left Friday, Miss Buchan left Saturday as did Mr. Hockey and the Misses Stoner and Abel. Mr. Gary and family also left Saturday. Prof. Penrod did not leave until yesterday for his farm in Minnesota.

Jacob Jensen and family of Lidderdale, Iowa, visited over the week end at the H. Jost home.

Art Wellemeyer reports that he shipped plants as far as La Bolt, So. Dak. this year and the other day sold a quantity of plants to some people from Carrol County who were visiting here.

See the New Puritan Oil Stove at E. F. Jacobs. You need an oil stove for hot weather cooking. 1tc

The bullheads have been biting good at Eagle Lake the past few days. The other morning Clark Bredbenner brought in about 175 he had caught. Othr Klemme people have been getting large strings at the little lake.

On May 15th Ye Editor's car caught fire from a short circuit in the battery lead and before we could get the fire extinguisher on the job some damage was done. We reported the loss to F. A. Arnold with whom we have it insured. Last week the claim was made out and sent in and Tuesday Mr. Arnold delivered a check for the amount of the claim That's quick service and no arguing about it either.

LAND FOR SALE

Have 158 acre farm, 3 miles from Garner, all level ground and tiled, improvements are fair. Price, if taken soon $120 per acre. Also have a number of other real good buys. If interested call on Ash Keever, Klemme, Iowa. tfp

---

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Klemme, Iowa,
April 19, 1926.

Regular meeting of the Town Council held at the Town Hall. C. A Larsen member of Council absent.

Upon motion the following bills were ordered paid:

Benr J. Coobs, Parts for Tractor	$ 11.15
Garner Auto Company, Overhauling Tractor	35.70
Albert A. Schmidt, Refund Corporation Tax	130.56

Bills allowed.

W. C. Keraus appeared before the Council in the interests of the Klemme Band. The Council agreed to pay Twenty Dollars for each street concert as long as the money exists provided by the band tax.

Meeting adjourned.

A. J. KUDJE,
Clerk.

A cow testing association will not make a dairyman out of a man who does not have the potential requirements. The tester furnishes a business record of the hord and helps the men to help themselves.

About nine percent less dairy heifer calves were raised in 1025 than in 1924.

Goodell News

(By Special Correspondent)

Miss Payne spent Sunday at the Harberts home.

Edith Halfpop visited in Meservey Monday.

Miss Thomas spent the week end with her parents.

The Goodell High School pupils went to Meservey to play baseball Monday but could not finish the game on account of rain. Wayne Wesenberg was quite badly injured when he was struck with a bat just above the eye. Two stitches were taken when the doctor dressed the wound.

"Class Day" given by the Eighth Grade pupils in the U. B. Church Friday night was very interesting and greatly enjoyed by those attending. Paul Halfpop read a Class Will and Class History. Forest Boren played a trombone solo, "There's A Long, Long Trail," with Viola Quigley at the piano.

The rain Monday was greatly needed but not quite so much. The lightning did quite a bit of damage. Four barns were burned, Redge Houghton being the only one close to Goodell. Luckily there was no stock in the barn, but quite a lot of hay and oats burned and one chicken. Insurance will perhaps cover the loss.

Relatives from a distance who attended the funeral of John Griggs were Mrs. Ed. Griggs, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griggs and Mrs. Hary Brown of Iowa Falls; Frank Fishel and daughter, Marvel of Clarksville; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wilson of Rockwell; Elizabeth Stockdale and son, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Philipot, Ted and Charles Stockdale of Hampton; Elmer Griggs and son Lloyd of Crystal Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Griggs of Britt; Nels and Louis Meyers of Thornton. Another brother, Wosley Griggs, of Denver, Colo., and one sister, Mrs. Rose Abbott of Red Oak, Iowa, could not be present.

BAYSIDE AMUSEMENT PARK TO OPEN NEXT SUNDAY

Season Will Be Opened With Special Big Program Of Events

The Bayside Amusement Park at Clear Lake, Iowa, will be opened for the 1926 season on Memorial Day, Sunday, May 30th. Two free attractions are scheduled to appear at Bayside next Sunday. One is the 3rd District American Legion band of forty pieces. Concerts will be played at two and five in the afternoon and seven-thirty in the evening. Nagel and His Dogs, is the other free attraction. All concessions at Bayside will be open on Memorial Day The baseball ground is being used to park cars this season and a policeman will be in charge. There is a good bathing beach at Bayside and 500 new wool bathing suits have been added to the bath house equipment for this season. Also boats, picnic grounds and tables attract amuse ment seekers to the park on Clear Lake.

A report from Washington says that the Argentine corn crop of the present season is more than 92 million bushels larger than that of a year ago. The estimated yield per acre is 26.3 bushels.

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Recorder, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—Clarissa Peterson Abel tc

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recordor subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Fern Peck Katter, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination to the office of Representative from Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Marion A. Fell, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Representative in the state legislature, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary election in June, 1926. —C. H. Nelson, Garner, Ia. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for representative for Hancock County in the Iowa State Legislature subject to the decision of the voters at the primaries in June 1926.—Ole T. Rikansrud, R. R. No. 4, Kanawha, Iowa.

FOR COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock county subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen. c

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby annunce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primaries.—R. W. Sinclair, Garner Ia. *

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primary Election. —H. C. Meyer. c

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election for County Supervisor subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—A. O. Christensen. *

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary election.—F. J. Urich, Garner, Iowa.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for reelection for County Supervisor subject to the Republican voters at the June Primary election 1926.—Fred Oxley, Corwith.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters a the Republican primary in June, 1926.—G. H. Lade, Garner.

FOR TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—John Suurballe. c

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primaries in June, 1926.—C. A. Halverson, Miller. Iowa.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June 8, 1926 Primary.—Herb Gartin. c

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Hancock, County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1926 primaries.—E. P. "Peck" Hanson.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—Bert Leutzinger, Britt.

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters at the Republican primary in June. 1926.—Verne C. Grau.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of County Attorney, of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primaries.—V. S White, Britt.

It's Picnic Time!

Hot weather is here, and with it comes plans for Picnics and other hot weather lunches. We are prepared to meet your wants along this line. When you are planning a Picnic come here—you will find everything you need from our nice fresh line of goods:—

HERE ARE SOME SUGGESTIONS

For Sandwiches:—
Pimento Cheese, Cream Cheese, Brick Cheese
Limburger Cheese, Longhorn Cheese
Cold Slice Meats of All Kinds Veal Loaf
Dried Beef Peanut Butter
Sandwich Spread

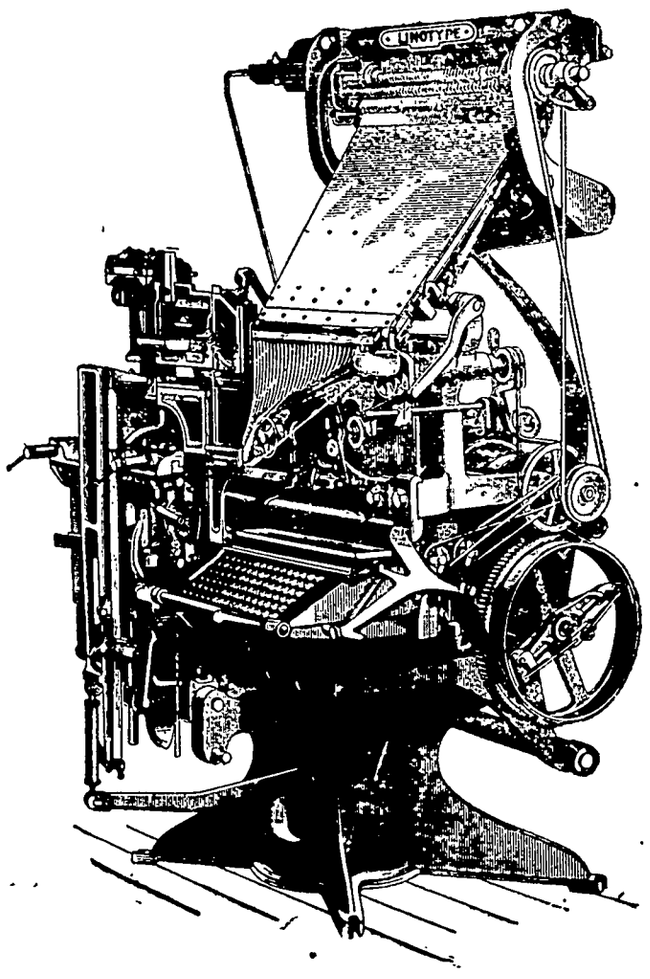
Some Tasty Dishes:—
Herring Spiced or Salted Mackerel . .
Sardines Salmon, Etc.

And You Need These:—
Pickles—Sweet and Dill, all kinds and varieties of Pickles to suit your taste.
Olives in Bulk or Bottled, plain and stuffed—Jelly, Ketchup, Mustard, Pork & Beans, Pickled Meats, Etc.

—FULL LINE OF BACON AND HAM—

Klemme Meat Market

You can get it here-- Printed Better



Our Linotype Is Always READY!

Ask Us For Prices

Times Print Shop

EN LETTER FROM MARION A. FELL

following letter was received e Times from Mr. Fell with quest that we publish it. It py of the letter which he sent Mr. Nelson and Mr. Rickens- so candidates for representa- Mr. Fell invites the public to the debate at Duncan, May The letter follows:

Garner, Iowa, May 24, 1926.

Friends:

H. Nelson on the East and Rikansrud, Southwest.

men:

you meet me in a joint de- t the Community Hall in Dun- can, May 27th, at 8 o'clock?

I will give you each thirty-five minutes of the time to define your positions on the issues of the day, then I will answer you both in fifty minutes of time. Roberts Rules of Order to govern the debate.

If you are Congressional timber and the mental giants that the foreign silver tongued orator would have us believe, meet me and discuss the Farm Situation before a jury of our neighbors and friends.

I will pay for the Hall and furnish the music, also help with the talk.

Sincere'y yours,

MARION A. FELL.

(Political Advertisement)

AL REPORT OF HANCOCK 3 COW TEST ASSOCIATION

following is the annual report Hancock County No. 3 Cow- ssociation for the year ending 31, 1926.

cows were on test during the Of this number 45 cows were unprofitable and sold for 34 were sold for milk, and 11

7 cows completed the year, ng over nine months. These averaged: Milk 6955 pounds, fat 264 pounds.

All members of this association marketed their product in the form of butterfat through either the Klemme or the Garner Creamery. However, the Klemme market price was used in figuring the value of the product. During the year the average cow made $105 76 worth of butterfat, returning a profit of $61.-85 above the cost of her feed. The feed cost per pound of fat was 19.-9 cents.

The Following Seven Herds Averaged Over 300 Pounds Of Fat

	Post Office	No. Cows	Av. Milk	Av. Fat
r Kothenbeutel	Ventura	11	8163.9	398.9
Weaver	Garner	6	9799.5	356 5
Goll	Garner	6	9154.3	341.6
Beier	Garner	10	9815.4	325.4
Bock	Klemme	8	8724.8	324.4
Hueneman	Garner	7	8171.0	317.0
Hacs	Garner	7	8610.7	306.9

ows Produced Over 300 Pounds Of Fat, Here Are The 10 High Cows

Owner	Cow's Name	Milk	Fat	Profit Above Feed Cost	Feed Cost
Kothenbeutel	Whitechin	11557.4	576.8	$93.24	$174.92
Kothenbeutel	Scarecrow	10850.6	512.0	92.28	149.13
Kothenbeutel	Dolly	8780.7	509.5	89 32	153.05
Kothenbeutel	Mary	10654.3	499.0	89.23	159 40
or Hueneman	Lizzie	10947.8	466.3	65.37	157.72
Goll	Steenie	11324.5	458.2	59.33	157.06
Bock	Dutch	10676.5	436.4	79.79	129.33
Bock	Molly	11412.4	413.6	75.86	121.51
Weaver	Blacky	11118.5	412 9	66 03	132.13
Beier	Queen	12523.5	385 2	74.69	115.85

ere is how the ten high cows and the ten low cows compare:

	Averages Milk	Fat	Feed Cost	Profit
HIGH	10984.6	467.0	$78.58	$145 01
LOW	3741.4	139.7	$35.93	$ 32 12

ue to the low cost of grain and the good price of Butterfat, even the producers paid for their feed. However, the high cows produced ee times more milk and fat on twice the feed cost. And they made times more profit.

JAS. STRITAR, Tester.

Save Money!

ORDER YOUR COAL NOW

We can save you a lot of money and furnish you with better coal if you will give us your order NOW! At this time of the year we can buy the best coal from the mines we select—later we have to take what we can get. Order now—you will get better coal for less money.

That Car Load of Tankage is here now!

POULTRY FEEDS

We carry a full line of Dickinson's "GLOBE BRAND" of Chicken Feeds, etc., and have on hand:

"GLOBE" CHICK STARTER
"GLOBE" GROWING MASH
"GLOBE" SCRATCH FEED, etc.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

BAYSIDE Clear Lake Iowa
AmusementPark

OPENS FOR THE 1926 SEASON

MEMORIAL DAY, Sunday, May 30th

FREE ATTRACTIONS

3rd District American Legion Band—40 Pieces!
Concerts 2 P. M., 5 P. M., 7:30 P. M.
NAGEL And His DOGS
ALL CONCESSIONS WILL BE OPEN—The Aeroplane, Little Train, Merry Go Round, Coaster, Bath House with 500 New Wool Bathing Suits, Fine Bathing Beach, Boats, Picnic Grounds and Tables.
—POLICED PARKING GROUNDS FOR CARS, 15c—
FUN FOR ALL AND ALL FOR FUN
Admission to Bayside Park 10c. Children Free.

Foolish Parents

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I HAVE no doubt that if I had ever had a son I should have been as foolish a parent as any whom I have known. Nancy says she is sure of it. I can understand how it happens that fathers and mothers give their children what they cry for because it is hard for me to deny a young person not my child, anything it wants that it is possible for me to give.

Sheldon senior has as much money as he needs and almost as much as he wants, so that it is no sacrifice for him to gratify the desires of his son who has just entered college. When the boy was pledged to the fraternity that Sheldon had himself belonged to when he was in college, the older man was so pleased that he gave the boy a sporty-looking roadster to carry him to classes.

"I've seldom known an automobile to be either a moral or an intellectual advantage to a boy in college," I said to Sheldon.

"I know it's not good for the boy to have the car," he replied, "but I just cannot bring myself to deny him anything I can afford to give him, if it brings him pleasure."

Sheldon is a successful man; he holds a position of prominence and trust in the community in which he lives, but he has gotten where he is through hard work and sacrifice, and the doing without many things which would have given him pleasure. He does not want his son to reach success by the same methods as he has done. He wants him, in fact, to have none of the benefits which come from doing without things. Foolish parent!

McCready has worked for everything he has. He went no farther in school than the eighth grade, and he does not understand why his son should want more knowledge of books than he has had.

If he wants an education, let him work for it then," he says. "He'll appreciate it more if he knows how much it costs."

So, though McCready is quite able to send his son to college, he is unwilling to give the boy any help. Young McCready is fighting his own educational battles. He spends considerable time washing dishes and waiting on tables and raking leaves from lawns which might be employed in something far more useful and educative. He doesn't mind the work, excepting that when he has learned his lessons and earned his living he has no time for social pleasure, no time to play, no time for general reading. His foolish father is unnecessarily depriving him of a good part of a college education.

It is a serious matter being a parent. It requires more judgment and self-restraint than I should myself, perhaps, have had. The most foolish as I see them are those who make their children weak and selfish by allowing them no sacrifices and giving them no responsibilities, and those who rob their children of many of the pleasures of youth by giving them no help and no sympathy.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

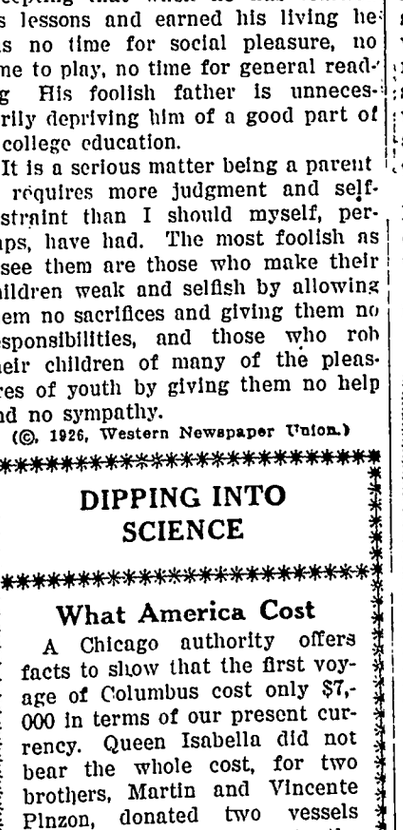
DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

What America Cost

A Chicago authority offers facts to show that the first voyage of Columbus cost only $7,000 in terms of our present currency. Queen Isabella did not bear the whole cost, for two brothers, Martin and Vincente Pinzon, donated two vessels and considerable money to the expedition. Columbus drew a salary of 1500 pesetas, or $300 a year.

(©, Western Newspaper Union.)

CHARLOTTE WHITTON



Miss Charlotte Whitton of Canada has been made chairman of the child welfare committee of the League of Nations. She is associated with Mlle. Helene Burnlaux of Belgium, Don Ismael Valdez of Chile and Miss Julia Lathrop of the United States. Miss Whitton has long been prominent in charitable work in Canada.

MOTHERS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

GREGORY was brought in by the campus policeman a few days ago for smoking in one of the buildings, or driving by the stop light near the agricultural building, or for some minor dereliction. He was a trifle high-hatted at first, but before he went out saw his error and admitted it. He came back in a few minutes rather shyly and a little embarrassed.

"Well?" I inquired.

"Are you going to write my mother about this?" he asked.

"Why?" I asked.

"It didn't amount to much," he said, "but mother thinks I'm perfect, and she would be hurt and would worry if she knew I had got into any kind of difficulty."

"I have no thought of writing anyone," I said, "but if I were you I shouldn't get into any difficulty that would worry her if she knew of it."

There had been stealing in one of the university buildings and all the evidence pointed toward Williams. I called him in, but he was sullen and did not want to talk at all. All that he would say was that he knew nothing about any of the circumstances. It was quite plain that he was hedging.

"I wish you would tell me the truth," I said finally. "It will be better for everyone concerned if you do so, and you must see that the evidence is quite convincingly against you."

He dropped his head upon his hands for a few minutes, thinking.

"If I'll tell you the truth," he asked, "will my mother have to know?"

"Why shouldn't she know?"

"I'm willing to take any penalty for what I have done," he explained, "but I can't bear to think that she may suffer."

I scarcely ever see a boy who has been drunken or dishonest or dissipated who, when he is detected and disgrace and the publicity of it stares him in the face, does not first think of his mother and try to devise some way in which he may pay the penalty alone so that she may be spared the humiliation and the disgrace attached to his irregularity. Even the worst boy I have ever known has always wanted to appear well in the eyes of his mother, and to have her think him worthy of respect.

The mother does not always realize, I am sure, what an anchorage she is to her boy, no matter how widely separated they may be. No matter how nearly men may lose respect for other women, there is always in their hearts a regard for her, a desire to keep her love and her confidence and her respect.

"What would your mother think?" I ask the boy who seems stubborn or indifferent or headstrong. "What would she want you to do?"

There is only one answer. The boy is pretty far gone who will not be appealed to for his mother's sake.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Playing Cards

A Chinese dictionary of 1678 claims that cards were invented in the reign of Emperor Seunho, 1120 A. D., for the amusement of his concubines. One authority says cards evolved from the game of chess. Cards were manufactured in France as early as 1302, Italy 1425, and England 1463.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

To Enter Movies

Considered by many to be the most beautiful society girl in the national capital, Miss Betty Byrne, daughter of Mrs. Stanton Peele, wife of Justice Peele, is planning to forsake afternoon teas and bridge parties to seek a career in the movies, according to a recent announcement. Miss Byrne, a leader in the younger set of Washington, was chosen by President Coolidge as a typical beauty to represent the national capital at a convention in Texas a few years ago.

1ST AMERICAN YOUTH ENTRY

Edith May Adams, eighteen-year-old Barrington, N. J., girl, presenting her entry blank to Mayor Kendrick in his office at City Hall, Philadelphia. The American Youth and Teacher Award was established as a tribute to American youth and teachers by the Board of Directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, through which the people of the United States and the world at large will celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence. The exposition will run from June 1 to December 1. Miss Adams' entry blank cited her for heroism displayed recently when she remained inside a burning building helping doctors render first aid to injured firemen. She is a candidate for the Golden Eaglette, the highest gift within the hands of the Girl Scouts. Each state will elect a girl and boy and one teacher to represent them and the successful candidates will be the guest of the Sesqui officials from June 28 to July 5 at the exposition. This will also include a trip to Washington where they will be received by President Coolidge and presented with medals.

AID TO BEAUTY

Under this young woman's skillful hands the front of the Administration Building of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition Association quickly takes on a delightful aspect. She directs gardeners where to place the small trees and shrubs about the great stucco building. She is doing her share to make the big celebration of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence a success.

AMERICAN YOUTH

Elizabeth ("Betty") Clark, 13, of Cedars, Delaware, is one of that state's girl candidates for the American Youth Award, established by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, to be held at Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 in observance of 150 years of American Independence. If "Betty" is finally chosen to represent Delaware she will be given a week's trip to the Exposition and to Washington and the White House, where she will receive a medal from the hands of President Coolidge.

Corn Sugar Champion

Representative Cyrenus Cole of Iowa introduced in the house a bill designed to remove the restrictive conditions that lead makers of candy and preserves to use cane or beet sugar in preference to sugar made from corn. Mr. Cole is a Republican and a member of the house committee on foreign affairs.

Taffeta and Woolen Plaids Enliven the Tailored Mode

Now that the cheering influence of gay plaids manifests itself so conspicuously throughout the mode, the strictly tailored cloth suit need not necessarily present a somber, conventional aspect. The picture tells the story more eloquently than words.

One of the cleverest fashions of the hour is the plaid blouse or long tunic worn with a plaited or flared satin, crepe or velvet skirt. Sometimes the idea is reversed, as is instanced in a jumper suit which proclaims a coming spring vogue. The blouse of this frock is of heavy navy crepe satin, while the full circular skirt, the kerchief tie and the banded bows at the wrist are of plaid taffeta.

Should fancy run to an all-plaid effect, choose a jumper frock of fine plaided rayon and wool mixture. Let the belt, collar and cuffs be of gilded leather.

Admiral L. E. Gregory

Four more years of hard work fa- Rear Admiral L. E. Gregory, U. S who has recently been appointed of yards and docks of the Unit States navy.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Floral Business

There are about 7,500 florist establishments in the United States. At least $2,500 worth of flowers are produced by each a year, the total production being estimated at $35,000,000. There are 115,000,000 square feet of land in hothouses. The general use of the advertising slogan: "Say It With Flowers" has greatly increased business the past several years.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

The Wife-Ship Woman

WNU SERVICE

By Hugh Pendexter

AUTHOR OF KINGS OF THE MISSOURI, BAY GRAVEL, A VIRGINIA SCOUT, ETC.

COPYRIGHT BY HUGH PENDEXTER-1923-1925

CHAPTER XII—Continued

—16—

Our conference was not leading us anywhere except into despondency, and I was relieved to witness a bustling activity down the creek, where a group of Natchez men seemed vitally interested in something. The group parted and I was gazing at the grandson of Strong Bow, the Huma chief. The young Huma carried a long calumet, which was decorated with the feathers of a white eagle, making it a pipe of peace. The word-bearer took the pipe from him and started with it toward the cabin of the Serpent. At that moment La Glorieuse came on the scene, barbaric and insolent, and with a glance read the situation. The Humas, allies of both the French and the Gulf Choctaws, were sending a peace pipe to the Natchez. The woman questioned the Huma rapidly; then swiftly ran after the aged word-bearer.

Both Labrador and I were considering the same questions: Where was Damoan? What pipe would Tattooed Serpent return?

The minutes passed and I wondered what part La Glorieuse was playing in the drama inside the war-chief's cabin. Suddenly I realized I was doing wrong to remain aloof when I knew her influence would be hostile to me and Labrador. With a few hurried words to my friends I rose and made for the Serpent's cabin. As I reached the door the word-bearer came out, importantly holding before him a Natchez white pipe. Behind him walked the woman, her dark face lively with triumph. I had hoped the Serpent would return a pipe ablaze with flamingo feathers.

The Serpent from his couch cordially invited me to enter.

"You send peace to the Humas, who are nothing but red Choctaws, and the friends of the French," I said.

He stared at me thoughtfully, and after a minute calmly replied:

"I do not ask white men what pipes I shall send to red men. I was about to send back the flamingo pipe. But La Glorieuse opened my eyes. Why send a war-pipe to men of my own color, who want only peace? It would be foolish. It is time enough to send them a red ax when they begin to help the French."

"Damoan the Fox sent the Huma with the pipe. Can my red brother tell me where the Fox is? He is my enemy."

"He is near," was the evasive answer. "I have told him he may come in safety. That was the talk I sent with the pipe."

"He is word-bearer for the Iron Hand," I reminded; and the Serpent had excellent cause to remember Bienville and his masterful ways and his law of "an eye for an eye."

"I do not fear the Iron Hand, because I do not fear death. And yet I tell the White Indian that this war against the French is not to my liking. My brother, the Great Sun, wishes it. I love my brother and must, as warchief, take the path. But I do not like it. The Chickasaws promised the Great Sun much and made him see things in a dream. The man you call the Fox sends a strong talk through the white pipe. I shall have him tell it to the Great Sun tomorrow after the woman has been buried."

"And if his talk sounds good in the ears of the Great Sun there will be no war?"

"Then the war-sticks will be taken back from all our villages and from the Chickasaws."

"What if the Iron Hand demands my head?"

"He cannot have it."

"What if he asks that the woman be sent to Biloxi?"

"He cannot have her. She is your woman."

"Can Iron Hand have the man Labrador?"

"No!" It was explosive. Then almost gently, although there was no gentleness in his dark eyes: "His face will show no fear."

I interpreted his cryptic words to mean my friend would die as a part of the funeral ceremony.

I retired and walked slowly about the village, trying to straighten out my thoughts before rejoining my friends. English influence, working through the Chickasaws, had brought on the threat of war against the French. It would be most important news to carry East should the Natchez back away from their bargain. More insistent was the fact that Damoan with all his cunning would be free within twenty-four hours to walk around the village and ply his arts on the Great Sun.

Although I trusted implicitly the Serpent's assurances that the girl and I were safe I was most anxious to get away from the village before the Great Sun could be induced to recall the war-sticks from the Chickasaws. I depended upon the latter's friendship for the English to help me along my journey to the English settlements, and their hatred for Bienville would sorely prejudice them against my French friends, especially if he told them the Natchez refused to break away from their allegiance with the French.

In returning to my friends my attention was attracted to a medicine-man seated before his cabin. He was busy mixing vermilion as I paused to give him greeting. As the vermilion was not for war I knew it must be for the funeral ceremony.

"Who is to wear the new red?" I asked, after a respectful silence.

"It is to brighten the face of him who may be afraid to die. His face shall show no fear," he mumbled, bending low over his task as a hint he would talk no more with me.

The new paint was intended to cover any pallor in Labrador's dark countenance. It was a custom of the Natchez, this painting a victim's face, so that none could say a coward's death disgraced the noble dead.

The girl had fallen asleep in the warm sun. Labrador was staring at her most worshipfully. Without arousing her I hurriedly informed him of the new paint, whereat he made a grimace. I told him of the Natchez' strong inclination to take back their war-pipe from the Chickasaws and bury the ax they had promised to raise up against the French. In detail I spoke of escape and announced my preference for the overland trip from the Bluffs to Long Town. He readily agreed we did better to trust to the Chickasaws to stand between us and any pursuit, provided they were not enraged by the withdrawal of the Natchez to a point where they must shed white blood.

"The start must be tonight," he whispered. "Anything to save mademoiselle. Ah, that Fox! If I could only meet him when his Choctaws are not at his back! Well, the good God may send that happy day before this is finished. I have made my plan. I will go into the village as if to visit the Serpent, and pass on into the forest—and keep on traveling. I will leave my musket with you and take only my ax, knife and pistol. They will think I am coming back so long as you two are here. And they will never look for me to leave unless I go down the way we came. When it is dark you and mademoiselle take the trail to Fort Rosalie, keep clear of the fort and make the river north of it. There you will find pirogues. You will also find me waiting for you if all goes well. Adieu!"

The Young Huma Carried a Long Calumet Which Was Decorated With the Feathers of a White Eagle, Making It a Pipe of Peace.

Without waiting to hear my opinion on his planning he laid aside his musket and strolled into the village. He had thought it out very wisely. The Natchez would not suspect Labrador of planning to escape in the daytime and without his gun.

CHAPTER XIII

Farewell to the River.

Labrador was waiting for us above Fort Rosalie, and we started on our long journey in a stolen pirogue. We saw nothing of Damoan and his men; and as the days passed I began to hope he had abandoned the pursuit.

So, with no daily crisis to keep us alert, we three subsided and dwelt within ourselves. With danger left behind I had expected mademoiselle to become buoyant and more girlish. To the contrary she seemed to be more mature, more thoughtful. At times I almost thought she regretted leaving New Orleans and her countrymen, that she already felt the chill of our more rugged northern clime and was perhaps interpreting it as a symbol of the welcome awaiting her beyond the Appalachians.

Her bearing was less surprising than Labrador's. He was preoccupied, often depressed, and seldom spoke unless one of us addressed him. Even answering the girl he first had to tear his mind free from some gloomy obsession.

Instead of the excellent companions we had been to each other in the stress of danger we were three taciturn, solemn individuals, each wrapped in a blanket of introspection.

One night Labrador left our fire and walked to the river bank and stared out over the water. Mademoiselle timidly asked me:

"Those English? Will they look on me as a queer woman?"

"They will think you a most wonderful little woman."

"But alone with two men? And dressed like a savage?"

"They would think you mad to travel up this river without men to protect you, or if you wore the flimsy gowns of the old country."

"Yet they will not receive me as an equal?"

"We have some social distinctions," I admitted. "The landowner naturally lives on a different plane from the landless. Yet there is nothing to prevent the first from degenerating to the lowest plane, or the latter from climbing into the dignity of an estate."

Of course this was false, as there were certain types who never would be socially received, no matter how much worldly gear they might accumulate.

After a few minutes of silence she said:

"Monsieur, that other matter you mentioned as a way to help me. You understand how impossible that would be?"

"So long as you say so, it is most impossible. You should not trouble yourself by thinking of it."

"The river makes one forget. I always think of it stretching around the world. Last night I dreamed I was dead; that the three of us here were dead, and that we must forever work our way up this ferocious stream. I awoke, and for a bit believed we three were dead. I tried to remember just when we died, or were killed. Monsieur Labrador is no longer droll. He thinks of a woman. Of the Indian woman who died," she softly explained.

"Ridiculous!" I cried.

She lifted her head and stared at me icily, as a well-bred woman rebukes one guilty of an incivility. I was blundering around in the midst of apologies when Labrador returned to the fire. His forehead wore a frown. He did not seem to see us.

"Old friend, you are held by little devils," I said. "Of what are you thinking?"

"I was thinking of a woman, monsieur."

The girl glanced at me in haughty triumph. Labrador twisted his cap into smaller compass and sadly added:

"Of the Natchez woman. She was very fond of me."

He had no more to confide, and my respect for the girl's reasoning suddenly became exaggerated. It was the last explanation of Labrador's mood I would have arrived it. Once I knew it, however, there was nothing to be gained by meditating on it. But the girl's reference to my offer of marriage was an entirely different matter. That contained endless room for speculation.

The next day opened with rain. The storm blew down the river and was very disagreeable to face, as the rain blurred the vision. Yet I was determined to make the Bluffs that day, and once for all have done with the Mississippi.

When we landed at Chickasaw bluffs she gave voice to a fervent, "Thank God!"

"From now on it will be overland travel, mademoiselle," I told her. "You may find it hard at first, although the trail is good. We will go slowly until you are used to it."

"Go fast! Go fast!" she urged. "The farther we draw from the river—the miserable—the better I shall feel."

We gained the top of the bluffs, and I led the way into the Chickasaw trail. I explained to the girl how we must follow it for more than a hundred and sixty miles to reach Long Town. Labrador, as if bidding farewell to the river forever, went to the brink of a bluff and stared gloomily at the leaden waters below.

I saw him lift his hands, as if in adieu, then leave the gesture unfinished and lean forward and peer intently down-stream. I called and after a bit of hesitation he turned and swaggered back to us. He smiled at the girl, and gave me a look that made me examine the flint in my gun.

"Forty-foot pirogue coming upstream. Filled with Indians. I think there is one white man in it," he told me in Choctaw, with a flash of his white teeth.

The girl was not to be deceived by his cheery manner, and fiercely demanded:

"What it is? Where are they?"

"There is a canoe down the river, heading this way. We don't know who is in it. There is nothing to fear. If mademoiselle will put her best foot forward for a few miles we will laugh at them. Remember, there is no danger. We shall be far up the trail before they can even land."

I meant this assurance only in part. Mademoiselle at her best could make but slow progress. Not used to forest travel and long confined to the pirogue she made me groan inwardly. She believed she was doing famously, and as the Choctaws would hunt us silently, not daring to proclaim their presence by their usual cries of discovery I expected any minute to behold them bounding from the bushes.

I Raced Along at His Side and When He Tired He Passed Her to Me.

Labrador, too, was very uneasy and wished to drop back and guard the trail. I would not listen to his proposition, and muttering under his breath he suddenly caught the girl up and ran with her. She protested and struggled, but he paid no heed. She quickly quieted when she saw it was useless to resist. I raced along at his side and when he tired he passed her to me. And in this fashion we ran, taking turns in carrying her, and making excellent progress. I believed we were beyond all danger.

Our awakening came when the girl happened to glance back. She gave a shrill scream. Before she had finished Labrador had her behind a tree and I was under cover on the other side of the trail. I could see nothing to cause alarm.

"What was it, mademoiselle?" I asked, my voice betraying my impatience, I fear.

"A painted face close to the ground," she huskily replied, and pointing a trembling finger at a sycamore half way down our field of vision.

"You imagined it," I told her as she walked beside me up the trail with Labrador bringing up the rear.

"I tell you I saw it! A horrible face, with white and yellow stripes running up and down—"

With a low exclamation that was more a bark than any spoken word Labrador swept the girl from my side and darted with her into a clump of oaks. I did not pause to look back, but followed him. A long arrow slithered against a tree within a few inches of my head as I joined my friends.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Little Need to Fear Bite of Brown Spider

Though spider bites may often be painful, especially to certain individuals, they do not justify the fear many persons exhibit for the eight-legged creatures, as most spiders are harmless; few of them are dangerously poisonous. All of the 400 or 500 species that a persistent seeker may find within easy reach of most American communities have poison glands, but none are so poisonous as they are reputed to be. Such poisons as they have are intended for defense against others in the spider's world of miniature life and for killing or rendering harmless the tiny creatures which supply her diet. Man's organism is so great that it will not succumb to this dose of poison that suffices to kill an insect. The bites of a few species, nevertheless, do cause severe pain. The danger of their being inflicted, however, is offset to some extent by the color warning given to most of us by this class of arachnida. The more dangerous species display brilliant and sometimes very beautiful colors which at once attract attention; but of the ordinary little brown spiders we need have no fear.

When a Leaf Falls

I would like very much to find a word or sound which would bring to mind the fall of a leaf upon leaves. I know it perfectly—the generic timber—the composite echo etched into my mind by a thousand conscious listenings. But it will not get past my consciousness to my lips, and utterly refuses to descend my arm and pen.—William Beebe.

Musical Trees

In Barbados there is a whistling tree. It has a peculiar shaped leaf, and all its pods have a split edge. The wind passing through the pods causes them to emit the sounds that have given the tree its name. There is a long valley packed with these trees, and when the trade winds blow across the island a continuous deep-toned whistle comes from the valley, the effect being extremely weird. In the Sudan there is a species of acacia also known as the whistling tree.—Grit.

Community Building

America's Long Lead in Home Ownership

As a home-building nation, the United States unquestionably leads all others just at present, according to the Common Brick Manufacturers' association.

The proportion of residential building to all other types of construction is growing in America each year. The statement often is made that one-half of America's building expenditure goes into homes, but an accurate check of the different classifications of construction shows that in 1925 nearly 62 per cent of the building in the United States was residential, based upon floor space area. The proportion in 1920 was 34 per cent; in 1921, 52 per cent; in 1922, 54 per cent; in 1923, 59 per cent, and in 1924, 61 per cent.

As a home-building nation the United States unquestionably exceeds all others at the present time. Dividing the various classes of construction into four, namely, residential, commercial, industrial and educational, in 1925 we find that the second largest volume was commercial, being 16 per cent of the total. The next largest, industrial, being 7½ per cent, and the next, educational, 6½ per cent.

Owners of Property Must Work Together

Improvement associations afford an inspiration and a medium for the study of conditions, remedies and possibilities. They make possible the formulation and application of definite, progressive policies. Without such policies there is only limited incentive for the individual property owner to keep his holdings in first-class shape or to make new or additional improvements. But when there are definite standards applicable to a whole street and observed by all the owners of frontage, each property owner not only enhances the value of his ground or building, but gains this additional value through the desirability of the street as a whole. Progress is slow at best if it depends on a few enterprising property owners; yet there has been a disposition on the part of many property owners in the past to do nothing, to wait merely for the improvements made by others to increase their own values. This is a slow game—too slow. Whatever the cost of a general improvement policy recommended by any of these associations, it would be a good investment for the property holders.—Chicago Post.

Good Building Rules

When you build you will want to build well so that, like the descendants of the Colonists, future generations can point with pride to the work of your head and hands. This thought adds a new pleasure and a new sense of responsibility to your efforts.

In advising you to build well we do not necessarily mean that you should build expensively, although we do believe that if it is ever advisable to stretch a point, here is the place to do it.

Your success will depend primarily upon your plans, your choice of materials and the honesty and skill of the workmanship employed. A good residence is simple and dignified rather than fancy and fussy. A modest home, well planned, is far more desirable than a poorly planned mansion.—Boston Herald.

Decorative Values

Paint and stain, besides being invaluable as means of protection and conservation, are the best decorative mediums we have. Before choosing a color scheme for a house, one simple rule should be heeded, a roof should be in perfect harmony with its surroundings or in definite contrast to them. This involves a study of the style of architecture, the character of the setting, and the geographical location of the house. Every roof is an individual problem. Among trees, hard roof-lines, developed in strong colors, will contrast pleasingly with the softness of the leaves. But against a sharp horizon, a color which will soften the silhouette is desirable.

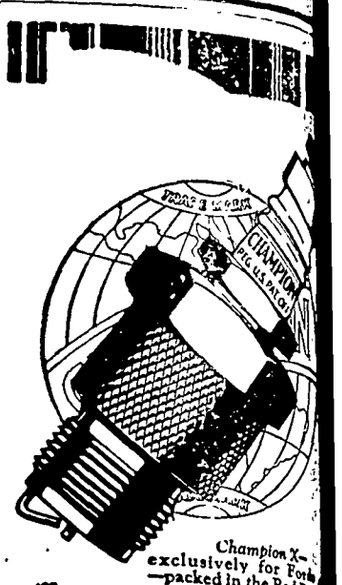
Clean-Up Committees

The Kansas City Real Estate board has appointed five committees to take charge of an improvement campaign, each committee to be appointed to a definite section of the downtown retail district. It is planned to eliminate unsightly conditions on vacant property, to clean up vacant storerooms, to banish overhead signs and to remove the sidewalk display of merchandise.

The campaign follows an appeal for greater orderliness and beauty in the business sections of American cities made at the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate boards in Detroit in June of last year by H. R. Ennis of Kansas City, former president of the association.

Iris Ideal Flower

The United States Department of Agriculture advocates the iris for home flower gardens, as it is resistant to diseases and insects, and because some kind of iris can be found to suit almost any soil and climate in this country.



Champion X—exclusively for Fords—packed in the Red Box
Champion—for cars other than Fords—packed in the Blue Box

POWER

If your motor lacks power in rough going, install a complete set of dependable Champion Spark Plugs and note the improvement. Your car will have new power, speed and acceleration

CHAMPION

Dependable for Every Engine

Toledo, Ohio

Humming Bird's Food

A humming bird will fly miles to find a gladiolus, as its flowers contain the minute insects which the bird craves. Perhaps it would be more poetic to be able to tell the little one that the bird is "getting honey," but the fact is that it eats insects. According to authorities, the bright color of the "glads" is what attracts the humming bird, the creature knows through generations of instinct or thought (if we may so call it) that where it finds such colors it will recover its favorite food.

Shake into your Shoes

And Sprinkle in the Foot-Bath

ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE

The Antiseptic, Healing Powder for tired, swollen, smarting, sweating feet. It takes the friction from the shoe, prevents blisters and sore spots and takes the sting out of corns and bunions. Always use Allen's Foot-Ease for Dancing and to Break in New Shoes. Sold everywhere.

Perpetual Motion?

A Cape Town inventor claims to have produced a working model of a machine that is capable of running a commercial engine or any kind of pump for an indefinite time without outside fuel for driving purposes.

It is quite a new application of existing mechanical laws, and runs entirely by its own volition. The only cost to its user will be for the replacement of worn parts, a practically negligible point. It will continue working until stopped voluntarily.

No epigram gains by more words.

"BAYER ASPIRIN" PROVED SAFE

Take without Fear as Told in "Bayer" Package

Does not affect the Heart

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-five years for

Colds	Headache
Neuritis	Lumbago
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Each unbroken "Bayer" package contains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100.

SKIN IRRITATIONS

For their immediate relief and healing doctors prescribe

Resinol

Artistic Cleaning & Dyeing Co.

9th and Keosauqua Way, Des Moines, Iowa

We live up to our name — "Iowa's Largest Cleaners and Dyers." It will be to our mutual interest by giving us your cleaning and dyeing. Our prices are moderate. A trial order will convince you.

TRACTED BY BOOKLET

ead of Other Women Who Found Health

oklyn, New York.—Mrs. G. Heg- of 35 Central Ave., was in a run- down condition and could not do her housework. She could not sleep at night. Her story is not an unusual one. Thousands of women find themselves in a similar condition at some time in their lives. "I found your advertisement in my letter box," wrote Hegmann, "and took Lydia E. am's Vegetable Compound and elief." Mrs. Hegmann also took E. Pinkham's Herb Medicine and E. Pinkham's Pills for Constipa- with good results. She says, "I ecommending your medicines to know who have symptoms the as mine, and to others whom I it will help. You may use my ment as a testimonial, and I will r any letters sent to me by women would like information regarding medicines."

re are women in your state— ps in your town—who have writ- etters similar to this one telling much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vege- Compound has helped them. Pinkham Medicine Company, Mass., will gladly furnish other n with these names upon request.

et Cuticura Soap Keep Your Skin resh and Youthful Soap, Ointment, Talcum free. Address: rn Laboratories, Dept. M, Malden, Mass.

l All Flies! THEY SPREAD DISEASE anywhere, DAISY FLY KILLER attracts and Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient and cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed. Insist upon

DAISY FLY KILLER

from your dealer

LD SOMERS Brooklyn N. Y.

nted Out Advantage of Road That Twisted

ile not denying that a straight s the shortest distance between oints and not offering objection e government's road policy of ing aid only on state roads that eliminated all possible sharp , Frank N. Wallace, state ento- ist, says he is inclined to agree the sentiments of a small-town opher whom he encountered re- .

Inquiring for a new route back e city, Mr. Wallace was informed e philosopher that there was "a ng road back that was longer in ee, but was the shortest way to lty" When asked for an expla- n of his "longest but shorter theory," the philosopher said: ell, the way you've come is ht and you keep going without g anywhere, but my route has s and bends in it, so you've al- got some place to drive to ou get some place all the time." ianapolis News.

ure Relief

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief

BELL-ANS
OR INDIGESTION
and 75¢ Pkg's. Sold Everywhere

Wrong Number hat is free love, father?" ere's no such thing, sonny."— rst Lord Jeff.

Quick Safe Relief

CORNS

ne minute your misery from corns is ed. That's what Dr. Scholl's Zino- s do safely by removing the cause— sing or rubbing of shoes. You risk no ction from amateur cutting, no danger m "drops" (acid). Zino-pads are thin, dicated, antiseptic, protective, heal- Get a box at your druggist's or shoe ler's today—35c.

Free Sample write The Scholl Mfg. Co., Chicago

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads

Put one on—the pain is gone

Stomach and Bowels Right giving baby the harmless, purely etable, infants' and children's regulator.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

astonishing, gratifying results making baby's stomach digest food and bowels move as they should at teething time. Guaranteed free from narcotics, opiates, alcohol and all harmful ingredients. Safe and satisfactory.

At All Druggists

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

HONOR PADEREWSKI WITH D. S. C. MEDAL

Ignace Jan Paderewski, world renowned and honored as the master of the piano and former Polish premier, recently was the proud recipient of honors in other fields.

National tribute by the American Legion was accorded the great pianist in New York, when he was presented with the American Legion Distinguished Service Medal, held by only eight persons in addition to Paderewski.

National Commander John R. McQuigg in conferring the medal, declared:

"The Legion honors Paderewski because having reached supreme rank as an artist, he left the concert hall and entered the assemblies of statesmen and potentates and carved out a place for a new Poland among the nations of the earth. We honor him also because, having amassed a fortune, he spent it all that hospitals might be built, armies might be financed and all things needful might be done to build again the country which he loved and restore it to more than its ancient glory. And we honor him above all because, all this accomplished, he gave freely of his music that through the American Legion the orphaned and dependent children of America's World war veterans and the sick and disabled among those veterans might be cared for.

"In recognition of these supreme contributions to the advancement of humanity in the three spheres of statesmanship, art and philanthropy, the American Legion Distinguished Service Medal is bestowed upon him."

Those holding the Legion Distinguished Service Medal are Marshal Ferdinand Foch of France; Admiral Beatty of Great Britain; Gen. Baron Jacques of Belgium; General Diaz of Italy; Charles Bertrand of France, founder-president of Fidac, interallied veterans' federation; Gen. John J. Pershing; Admiral R. E. Coontz and Gen. Josef Haller of Poland.

Ignace Jan Paderewski.

Paderewski gave the proceeds from four concerts to the American Legion endowment fund for disabled veterans and orphans of the World war. His gift was the largest individual contribution made to the fund and totaled approximately $30,000.

Seeking Information on Effects of War Gassing

Views of physicians with actual front-line experience on the question of the after-effects of wartime gassing on the respiratory tracts and internal organs of the men affected are being sought by the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion.

Director Frank T. Hines of the United States veterans' bureau has promised to send out a questionnaire to all of the bureau's medical experts who served overseas. The chemical warfare service of the War department is also assisting the Legion in the work.

Very little is known on the subject, according to the committee. What little has been written about it has been the work of men who taught medicine in the colleges during the war, rather than of men who had actual experience with such cases.

World's Record, Raising Money for Legion Fund

A world's record in raising funds for The American Legion's endowment fund for disabled veterans and orphans of the World war is claimed by Williamson post of the Legion at Williamson, New York.

With an endowment quota of $600 the village of Williamson, population 650 persons, subscribed a total of $2,400. This sum was raised by 750 contributions ranging in amounts from $.25 to $25 each. The average subscription approached $4 per person. The post has only forty-six members. The solicitation was accomplished in three days by twenty-five post members.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Give me no light, great heaven, but such as turns
To energy of human fellowship;
No powers save the growing heritage
That makes completer manhood.
—Elliot.

FOOD FOR THE SICK

Food is so often more important than medicine in illness that the study of invalid cookery should be a part of every girl's education.

To know how to make a good broth, beef tea and tasty gruel and a well-toasted piece of toast is knowledge which is invaluable.

For a convalescing patient who needs to be coaxed to eat, a tempting tray with the prettiest china and the daintiest linen should be used. When the invalid tray cannot be provided, use a large tray and support it on each side with books to hold its weight from the patient, and keep it from tipping.

Gruels are such important foods that it is fitting that proper thought be given to their preparation. Use two to three tablespoonfuls of cereal to a quart of water and cook for at least three hours, strain before serving; this is used in the liquid diet.

Chicken Broth.—A good broth may be prepared from the neck, wing tips and feet of the chicken. Scald the feet, removing the skin. Cover the meat with cold water, adding a stalk of celery for flavor; simmer for two to three hours. Season, strain. Often no pepper and very little salt is allowed.

Lemon Jelly.—Soak a tablespoonful of gelatin in three tablespoonfuls of water, add three-fourths of a cupful of boiling water, four tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and five tablespoonfuls of sugar. Stir until dissolved. Pour into a wet mold and put on ice to harden. This will make two servings. With the prepared gelatins of different flavor one may, with little labor, have a dish of jelly always ready.

Baked Custard.—Beat lightly two eggs, add a pint of good rich milk, and flavor with nutmeg, adding three to four tablespoonfuls of sugar. Pour into custard cups, set in hot water and bake just long enough to set. Thrust a knife into the center of the cup; if it comes out clean the custard is done.

Summer Salads.

Skill in garnishing and arranging colors is as important in salad-making as in arranging bouquets. Bright splashes of red, green or yellow give zest to the appetite by appealing to the eye.

Pimentoes, chives, and hard-cooked eggs, thinly sliced, make attractive garnishing, as do olives (stuffed, green or ripe), shaved, chopped or in halves. Capers, green peppers, tomatoes, chives, all add to the appearance and flavor of salads.

Lemon sliced in various shapes, sprinkled with minced parsley, makes most attractive garnishing for fish.

Beet and Potato Salad.—Take six beets and six potatoes, one cupful of chopped olives and chives with mayonnaise dressing. Cut the cooked beets into small balls with potato cutter, also the potatoes. Cover with mayonnaise dressing to which has been added the chives and olives. Dip the beets into vinegar and serve in mounds on lettuce.

Poinsettia Salad.—Take six tomatoes, a stalk of celery, a sweet green pepper, three apples, one-half cupful of nut meats, and one-half cupful of mayonnaise dressing. Scald the tomatoes, chill them and with a sharp knife mark five divisions from the top center over half way to the base. Carefully turn back the skin to form the petals, scoop out the pulp and fill with the apple, celery and nuts. Heap a little extra dressing on each and garnish with a ring of green pepper.

Jellied Egg Salad.—Take one quart of chicken jelly—this may be prepared from half a dozen pairs of chicken feet, or from the bones of a roasted fowl. If the feet are used, scald them, and the skin will peel easily; cover with cold water and simmer in a quart of water until the flesh falls from the bones. Slice the eggs—using six—and stir them gently into the cooling jelly, so they will be evenly distributed. When cold serve on lettuce garnished with mayonnaise and water cress.

Joe's Dressing—Take one teaspoonful of salt and mustard, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a dash of cayenne, one whole egg, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls of corn oil, one-half cupful of evaporated milk, one-fourth cupful each of vinegar and water. Mix the dry ingredients and cook all together in a double boiler.

If the farm woman would realize that nine-tenths of her friends who come from small cities or large, would appreciate a farm dinner of fresh eggs, cream, butter and the vegetables that are so plentiful, fresh and delicious, and not try to prepare some fancy foods, both she and her guests would be happier. Such things as pickles, preserves, jellies and conserves are usually found in the fruit cellar of most housekeepers.

Nellie Maxwell

GOOD ROADS

BILLION DOLLARS FOR RURAL ROADS

Highway construction and maintenance in 1926 will equal and possibly exceed the progress made in any other year, according to estimates from the various states compiled by the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. A total of $1,030,280,948 is available for the construction and maintenance of all rural roads.

Fifty-eight per cent, or $598,590,948, is to be available to the state highway department, of which $401,515,400 is for construction and $137,075,548 for maintenance. Those funds will provide for the construction of 0,751 miles of asphalt, concrete and brick paving, 14,320 miles of sand-clay, gravel and macadam and 8,145 miles of improved earth road. The states also plan to maintain 234,582 miles of road.

The total expenditure by counties and local units for both maintenance and construction is estimated at $431,696,000, which is less than the similar estimate made one year ago by about $31,000,000. This reduction is more than offset, however, by the increase of more than $58,000,000 in funds estimated as available to the state highway departments. For a number of years there has been a trend toward placing control of all important state roads in the hands of the state highway departments.

The funds available as reported by the various states and the portion of the state funds derived from federal aid are as follows:

	Probable Expenditure by State Highway Departments	Federal-Aid Funds Available to States*	Probable Expenditures by Local Authorities
Ala.	$ 9,900,000	$ 8,547,911.69	$ 12,000,000
Ariz.	4,200,000	3,084,742.68	630,000
Ark.	6,500,000	1,534,751 77	9,000,000
Calif.	14 000,00	4,248,299 76	23,000,000
Colo.	4,550,000	2,285,270 65	5,000,000
Conn.	7.785 289	1,611,062 57	2,500,000
Del.	2,930,000	367,537 65	900,000
Fla.	14 000,152	1,400,910.74	18,000,000
Ga.	7 324 750	1,931,087 02	13,000,000
Idaho	2,687 000	1,271,409 28	1,500,000
Ill.	46,200 000	6,674,248 74	20,000,000
Ind.	13,200 000	2,382,667 87	40,000,000
Iowa	13 584,108	4,028,631 46	16,000,000
Kan.	9,072.000	3,073,831.15	10,000,000
Ky.	12,000,000	2,486,349 23	10,000,000
La.	9 250,000	1,856,850 57	7,000,000
Maine	8,983,400	1,513,472.28	8,900,000
Md.	7,116,398	654,830 74	3,200,000
Mass.	13,000,000	2,673,200.94	12,000,000
Mich.	11,500,000	4,503,378 63	22,000,000
Minn.	21,500,000	2,111,863 44	6,500,000
Miss.	6,250 000	1,698,458 08	6,000,000
Mo.	28,076 000	2,600,235 10	12,000,000
Mont.	1,350,000	5,714,746.27	1,000,000
Neb.	6,500,000	3,041,841 00	8,500,000
Nevada	1,670 000	1,049,593 49	400,000
N. H.	3,550 000	511,347 83	1,500,000
N. J.	22,900,000	985 680 83	8,300,000
N. M.	8,555,553	2,750 373.17	200,000
N Y.	35 750 000	6,938,224 26	26,041,000
N. C.	16,000,000	1,715,137 99	10,000,000
N D.	5 450 000	2,506,152 20	3,500,000
Ohio	25 500,000	4,502,826 16	20,000,000
Okla.	10 000 000	1,894,063.61	12,000,000
Oregon	7,000,000	1,319,943 74	7,000,000
Pa.	63,550 000	3,699,149 10	12,500,000
R. I.	3,790,000	675,753 65	875,000
S. C.	5,540,000	892,385 46	2,500,000
S. D.	3,350,000	1,282,672.87	5,250,000
Tenn.	18,000,000	2,874,596 79	9,000,000
Texas	28,000,000	4,979,640.84	16,000,000
Utah	3,640,798	1,502,010.18	500,000
Vt.	3,530,000	801,796.98	700,000
Va.	10,285,500	1,481,535 84	2,600,000
Wash.	9,000,000	1,527,002.22	11,000,000
W Va.	18,750,000	912,454.24	6,000,000
Wis.	20,970,000	5,148,634 95	10,700,000
Wyo.	2,200,000	1,024,811.51	900,000
Tot.	$598,590,948	$118,768,488.42	$431,696,000

*Included in total probable expenditure by state highway departments.

Eastern 36-Foot Road Cost $100,000 a Mile

An instance of the excessive cost of paved highways is a road in Connecticut fifty miles long connecting with a famous New York route. The last link in it was completed recently. It is thirty-six feet wide and cost $100,000 a mile.

The average cost of the best type of highway in Ohio half that width is about $40,000 a mile. A gravel road upon a natural bed, eighteen feet wide, costs between $2,000 and $5,000 a mile. The differential is according to whether the gravel has to be hauled far or near. In some sections there are gravel beds within easy haul of roads to be built; while in others both rail and wagon haulage are to be figured.

Twelve-Mile Stretch of Brick Road to Be Model

A stretch of twelve miles of road is being built near Galesburg, Ill., which is intended to be the best brick road structure practical within the limits of rural trunk line expenditure.

The pavement is three-inch lugless brick, with sand cushion and asphalt filler, on concrete base, and it is in the finish of the base and in the cushion construction that perfection is being exhibited particularly.

The purpose is to prepare base and cushion so accurately that the brick wearing course will have to take care of no irregularities of surface or bearing. Structurally also the base is being made unusually strong and rigid.

Postal Savings Aid Roads

"It is a matter of record that increased services at lower cost in rural mail and parcels post has already made savings which go far toward paying the interest on every dollar of federal aid spent for highway construction." This is one of the answers given the critics of federal aid by A. M. Loomis of the National Grange. With the introduction of rural delivery mail service, the use of the highways by the government was greatly increased.

Teeter-Totter

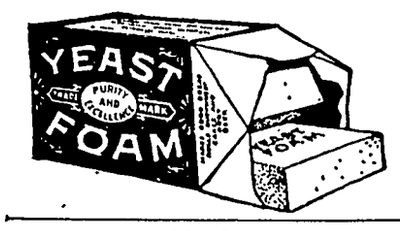
Teeter-Totter—up and down, high and low. Some brands of coffee and cocoa are like that. Constantly fluctuating in quality and price. Monarch is different. The quality is always high. The price is always low.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago · Boston · Pittsburgh · New York

Yeast Foam makes good bread

Bread making is easy to learn and is an education in other cooking.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"



Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Clothes

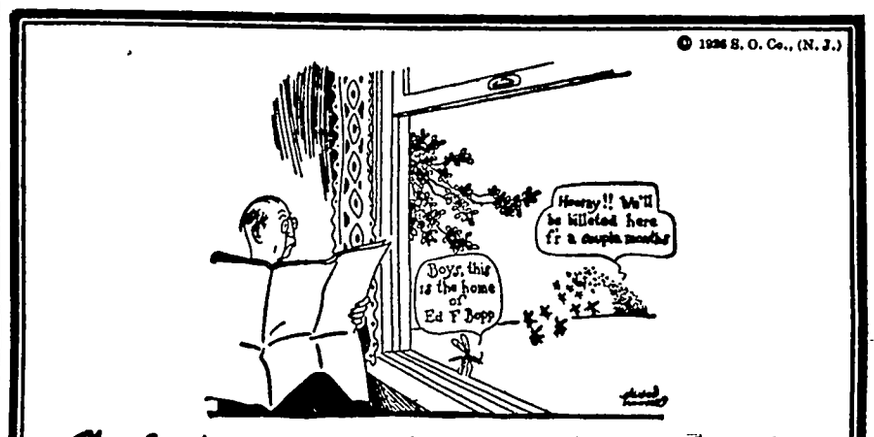
"Say, sonny, you know what your clothes are made of?"

"Sure I do; pop's old blue ones."

Modern Flaming Youth

"That's a fine dress suit, Harold."

"Yes, I don't rent from the same people now."



The first mosquito discovers Bopp Family

DON'T let mosquitoes spoil your summer. Spray them with Flit.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

Kills All Household Insects

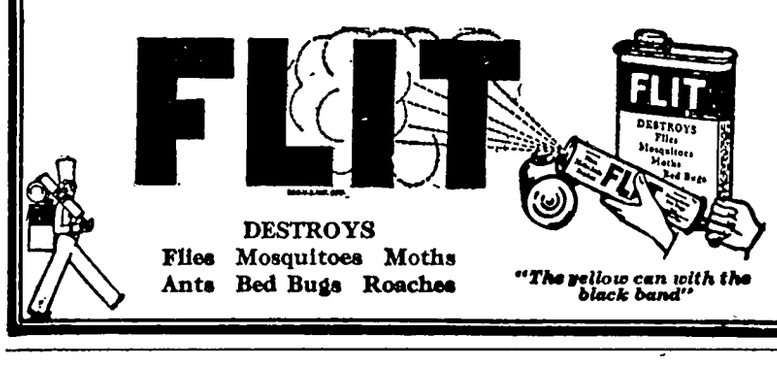
Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Get a Flit can and sprayer today. For sale everywhere.

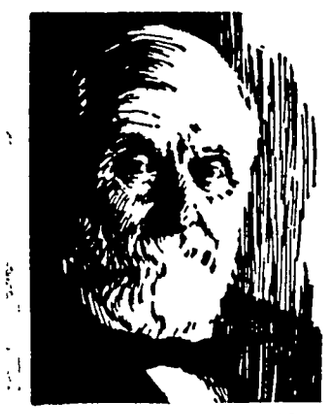
STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)

FLIT



DESTROYS
Flies Mosquitoes Moths
Ants Bed Bugs Roaches

"The yellow can with the black band"



DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

"Purges" and "Physics" Bad for Old Folks

While Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, knew that constipation was the curse of advancing age, he did not believe that a "purge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

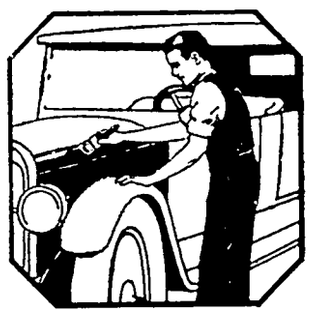
To him, it seemed cruel that so many constipated old people had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to "regulate" the bowels of old folks. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but each dose helps to strengthen the bowel muscles, shortly establishing natural "regularity." It never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

If past fifty, buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

Lowe Brothers
PAINTS - VARNISHES



A little paint—a new car

Just a bit of LOWE BROTHERS AUTO ENAMEL, just a bit of time you'd loaf away, just a bit of work you'd be better for—and the old car will look like new again. Come in and see the colors from which you can choose. Make your selection of AUTO ENAMEL now and start painting. You can get your brush here, too.

E. F. Jacobs

Full line of oil stoves at Jacobs. 1c

Elmer Schaefer had a horse killed by lightning Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson and son were visitors at Garner Sunday.

Mesdames Henry Buseman and Edwin Josten were visiting at Britt yesterday afternoon.

The Times is always glad to receive items of news. Please phone your items or mail them. Thanks.

Miss Ethel Wollemeyer is back on her regular summer job at the store in charge of the dry goods counter.

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Trumbell were visiting relatives at Mason City Sunday.

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines 1c

Mr. Wm. Smith and daughter, Mrs. J. N. Day drove to Mason City on business Tuesday morning.

The Misses Viloa Freie and Eunice Braund were Garner visitors Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman were at Garner Tuesday evening having dental work done.

Cherry 300 acre farm must be sold at once. See Marion A. Fell, Garner, Iowa. tf4p

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Day and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith attended the funeral of Mr. J. W. Griggs at Goodell Sunday afternoon

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

Miss Esther Jante, of Garner, was visiting Klemme friends Wednesday evening of this week.

Miss Gladys Wilson went to Vinton, Iowa, Monday for a visit with friends.

W. F. Lau went to Cedar Rapids Wednesday of this week where he has a job.

George Lawhorn has been at Mason City most of this week where he has a big job of painting.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Griggs and children, of Goodell, were shopping in Klemme last night.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Mrs. Worthy Usher, of Goodell, was visiting in Klemme Wednesday of this week.

The Commencement Exercises of the Goodell High School will be held Friday evening of this week.

The New Perfection Oil Stove is just the thing for hot weather cooking. Sold by E. F. Jacobs. 1tc

Mrs. Tom Hake, of Belmond, was visiting at the M. O. Barr home last Thursday.

FOR SALE—Get home grown Soy Beans at Farmers Elevator. Geo. Grosz. 3wp.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kudje drove to Britt Tuesday evening to attend the Britt High School alumni banquet. Art is a graduate of Britt.

Mrs. Elmer Schlei entertained the the Reformed Ladies Society at her home Wednesday afternoon. A fine meeting was reported.

Levi Klotzbach and family left last Friday morning for Monona and other southeastern points for a visit of a week with relatives and friends.

Quite a number of people from Klemme and vicinity took in the circus at Mason City last Thursday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Fred Shipley, of Belmond, was a visitor at the home of Grandma Schroeder last Thursday afternoon.

George Schaffer, formerly of Garner and who resides at Webster City now, was calling on old Klemme friends Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Keraus and son Verl and Mr. and Mrs. C.F. Keraus were Clear Lake visitors Sunday.

The Commencement Exercises at the school house Friday evening was well attended and the program and address were much enjoyed.

Dr. R. M. Thomas, of Ames, was visiting old Klemme friends Saturday. Doc. is doing testing work for the state and this work brought him up to this part of the state.

Miss Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ross, underwent a serious operation at a Mason City hospital Tuesday. Her many Klemme friends hope for her speedy recovery.

Martin Barz nd Marvin Barz drove to Ames and Des Moines Monday. They spent most of the time at Ames going over the college. Martin may attend Ames this fall.

Donald Nissen and wife of Sioux City, accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke of Okoboji Park were visiting at the J. N. Day home Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Fred Shipley, of Belmond, accompanied by her father and mother of Illinois, were visiting at the home of Grandma Schroeder last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Schuler and daughter, of Garner, visited with Mrs. John Gruetzmacher and Mrs. P. M. Greisemer Wednesday evening of this week.

Mr. Conrad Quandt and daughter, Gracka drove to Estherville the first of the week. Gracka will stay for a visit of a week or more. Conrad says the heavy rain here extended only to Forest City and that north of that place the roads were dusty.

IT'S GOING TO RAIN! Get your shoes fixed today at C. L. Blumer's. c

Fred Wagner and family, of Whittemore were here last Friday evening to attend the Commencement Exercises of the Klemme High School.

Clarence Elder drove home from Ames last Saturday afternoon for a visit at home over the week end. His school will be out about the 11th of June he stated.

Don't forget the Memorial Day Services will be held in Klemme on Sunday afternoon at the Park at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Suckow, of Forest City will deliver the address.

Mrs. Minnie Josten, who is staying at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Gauger, visited at the home of Miss Freda Schuldt Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lakore, of Forest City came Friday for an over Sunday visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Patet, and also to be present at the commencement exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blue and family of Goodell will go to Cedar Falls next week where Mr. Blue will attend summer school. Mr. Blue expects to qualify for the Master's Degree this summer.

Rev. A. W. Gauger and family drove to Rudd Tuesday morning and visited with relatives until evening. Carlyle will stay with his uncle during the summer on the farm, a job which he thinks is just the thing.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman and daughter, Marian, drove to Swea City Saturday evening for a visit at the T. F. Mitchell home Sunday. They returned to Klemme Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus drove over to Clear Lake Monday on business. They will remain at the Lake for a time and are residing in the A. G. Koerner cottage, as their own two cottages are rented.

C. H. Nelson, candidate for representative was in Klemme last evening interviewing the voters and gave a "stump" speech expressing his views on some of the important problems of the day. He brought out a number of good points.

Arley Blickendorfer, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Tuesday. Mr. Blickendorfer is the proprietor of the Garfield Ridge Hatchery at Garner, and who is going to build a chick hatchery here next fall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Braund and daughter, of Williams, Iowa, came Saturday evening for an over Sunday visit at the Henry Freie home. Mr. and Mrs. Braund are the parents of Miss Eunice, who conducts the beauty shop here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Woods and daughter, Arlene, of near Cedar Rapids, drove here Saturday afternoon for a week end visit with relatives and friends. Jack has been farming there for a couple of years now and likes it fine.

Reva Elder was taken to the hospital at Mason City Tuesday where she underwent an operation for nose trouble and also had a tonsil operation. Reports are that she is getting along fine. Mrs. Elder is with her at the hospital.

Miss Mae Griggs leaves Sunday for Cedar Falls where she will attend summer school. She has a position teaching in the Gilmore City schools this fall. She has just completed a successful year of teaching in the Meservey schools.

This community was visited by a heavy rain which began falling Monday afternoon and continued all day and most of the night. Ditches and streams are overflooded and many cellars in town had several inches of water in them. It is reported that several barns, houses and other buildings in this part of the state were struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Some live stock in this community was killed by lightning. However, the rain was very beneficial and the ground now has plenty of moisture for growing the crops. Some hail fell with the rain Monday afternoon, but no serious damage was caused in this vicinity.

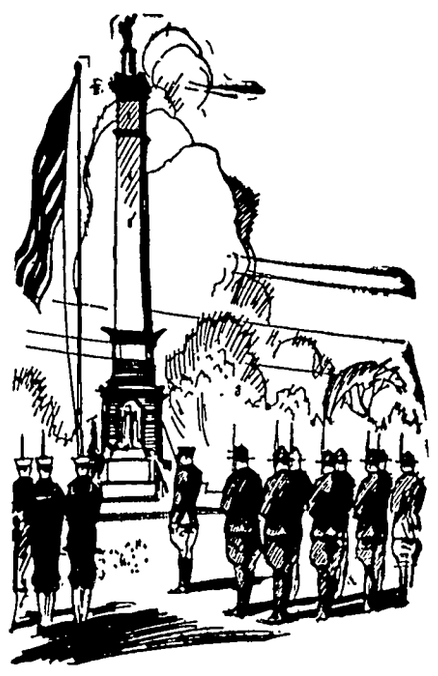
Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings
DR. E. H. PHILLIPS
Osteopathic Physician
Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa.

A Few Causes of Oil Pumping and Compression Leakage..

1. Worn or out-of-round cylinders.
2. Scored cylinders or pistons.
3. Warped or worn ring grooves.
4. Poorly fitted pistons and rings.
5. Piston pin hole out-of-round.
6. Poorly aligned rod and piston assembly.
7. Sprung connecting rods.
8. Crankshaft warped or out-of-true.
9. Worn bearings.
10. Warped or sticking valves.
11. Improper timing.
12. Leaky cylinder head gasket.

ONLY Cure--Stormizing

Pavey's Stormizing Shop



A TRUE MEMORIAL SPIRIT

Each year as we observe Memorial Day, our thoughts are mostly for the ones who silently sleep in the last resting place of the departed.

But to the true American, it should mean more. It should recall and revive the Spirit of Patriotism which caused the slumbering heroes so valiently to fight and win.

First National Bank
KLEMME, IOWA.

Gargoyle MOBILOIL

For Cars, Trucks and Tractors--

SEALED QUART CANS!
SEALED GALLON CANS!
5 GAL. TIPPER CANS!
10 GAL. DRUMS!
30 GAL. DRUMS!
55 GAL. DRUMS.

We can supply you with the correct grade of MOBIL-OIL for your car, truck or tractor in any quantity you desire.

Garner Auto Co.

Phone 77 KLEMME, IA.

Notice--

We have coming a carload of each of the following:—

Hard Coal
Coke

Coming about June 15th. Place your order NOW to be sure of your Coal.

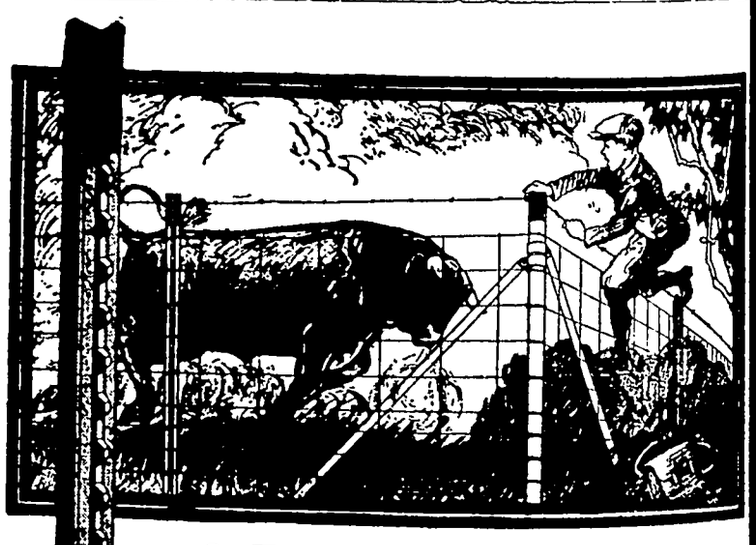
WE ALSO HAVE—

Feed Of All Kinds

Coming by the CARLOAD, at a very LOW PRICE, delivered off the car.
Place your order now and get in on these Bargains. ....

North Iowa Grain Co.

The North Elevator Klemme, Iowa



A Real Post Bargain

Every Red Top Steel Fence Post you drive saves money for you. In more ways than one. The Red Top actually costs less installed than most wood posts due to big time and labor savings in driving.

Then there's the money you save every year on fence repairs. The Red Top holds the fencing so well that constant restapling, restretching and upkeep are not necessary. The extra long life of the Red Top makes another big saving by putting off post replacement and fence rebuilding for many years.

While these savings are being made you are getting satisfactory service from your Red Tops and freedom from fencing worries. Your fences posted with Red Tops are sturdy, tight and always in shape to turn stock thus protecting both your own and your neighbors crops and stock.

Every year we sell more Red Tops than the year before. We aim always to pick out lines of merchandise like the Red Top that make satisfied customers. We know that the way for us to prosper is for our customers to get extra value for every penny they spend with us. This old fashioned policy is working out pretty well—our list of steady customers grows bigger all the time. Perhaps you, too, will like us and the lines we sell. See us the next time you are in town.

Red Top GUARANTEED Steel Fence Posts

Sold In Klemme By

Northern Lbr. Co

THE KLEMME TIMES

h Year—Number 42. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, JUNE 3, 1926. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

TH IOWA'S BEST EAMERY IS HERE

EQUIPMENT SPEEDS UP VICE AT THE KLEMME CO-OP. CREAMERY

To The Creamery Will Show u The Busiest Place In Northern Iowa

me has one of the largest ongest Co-Operative Cream- Northern Iowa. That's tak- a big territory, but a visit to mme Co-Operative Creamery rning before noon will prove visitor that this statement is You should make your visit he truck drivers are coming unloading cream.

speaking of cream, we might t Monday was the "banner o far this spring for the a- of cream received at the local n any one day when 1,600 of cream was taken in and weighed 12,800 pounds. This mount of cream made four churnings of butter of fifty- ubs, each weighing sixty-five This was a single day's

A. D. Gimer, the buttermaker, efficient in handling rush ke the large run on Monday. had a lifetime of exprience s gained a lot of knowledge mery work He started when with his father who was also reamery work for many years rent places

Automatic Scale Installed

Creamery here is well prepar- give the utmost in service. he cream is hauled in to the ng platform it is dumped in- eigh can and automatically d on the new Toledo Automa- le, which the Board has just sed. This scale is the last n a creamery for speed and cy After the cream is pour- o the weigh can the can then er the cream saver where a mount of steam is injected in- can and the balance of the is weighed up to the patron's In handling the cream this e patron receives full credit ery ounce of cream sold to emme Creamery.

The Cream Is Pasteurized

r the cream has been weighed onducted into the large pas- g vats where it is heated to pera ure of 145 degrees F., held at that point for 25 min- It is then gradually cooled to g temperature of 52 degrees is held at this cool point over nd is then churned next day. time the cream is in the vats heated, and later cooled, re- thermometers give an ac- reading of temperatures, thus away with all guess work and g a high grade butter.

Pump Installed For Cooling And Water Supply

Creamery has also installed the latest Meyer Working Heads, which has a twelve troke and pumps water both up and down strokes. The is entirely self-oiling and the and working parts run in a f oil at all times, and oil is t to every working part and bearing continuously lubri- An enormous amount of is used each day, especially for the pasteurizing vats. The ump replaces the old one that earing out and was too small dle the water needed.

me Has Fine Butter Market In The East

butter made at the Klemme ery is all shipped and sold to lantic & Pacific Tea Company ey City, N. J., who are, by e largest receivers of butter concern in this country. They om only the best creameries oduce a high grade product. mpany operates over 15,000 scattered throughout the east ddle west. Being connected uch an outlet the Creamery s the very highest prices for butter and in return are able to pay the very best prices for cream here.

Klemme Creamery Now Reaches Patrons Over Ten Routes

The local plant strives to be of real service to the patrons of this community and have expanded until there are now ten cream routes radiating out from Klemme. This fleet of trucks and truck drivers are on the job six days a week to give the farmers service Einar Sailing has three large routes, Clifford Swartz takes care of three large routes and Emil Kaus has a like number of large routes. One route is taken care of by Fred Osborne.

The Creamery extends a special invitation to people living along these ten routes, or near them, who are not now patrons to give the Klemme Creamery a chance to serve you, to do the utmost to please you at all times You will be pleased with the Creamery here, we are sure.

Three Men Employed At The Plant

The creamery gives regular employment to three men in the plant itself, and to four truck drivers outside. Then there is Mr. Val. Josten, the Secretary of the Creamery Val is a sort of Santa Claus for a great many in this community. He is the man who gets your cream check to you in time, and besides this he often takes upon himself to visit the patrons and to interview dairymen in new territory

The local creamery is also fortunate in having a fine board of directors, men who are among the best in this community and who stand for the right at all times in conducting the business of the creamery.

In operating such a large concern as the Klemme Creamery and where nearly five hundred patrons are on th payroll, it is sometimes hard for the buttermaker to please all. Mr Gimer says that anytime you have a complaint to make on anything that does not seem right, come direct to the creamery where adjustments will be made.

And then we might add that the creamery is well located in a good dairying community The farmers in this locality are good dairymen and they are making it pay—that is evidenced by the large cream checks they receive every two weeks.

TRANSACTIONS IN REAL ESTATE THE PAST WEEK

As Shown By The Hancock County Daily Record

W. W. Boutilier wf to C. W. Boutilier. W. D., date 5-15-26, $5000, lots 1-2 blk. 6 Lattimers add Britt.

Kanawha Farmers Mutual Co-Operative Creamery Co to Kanawha Farmers Mutual Co-operative Creamery Co W. D., date 5-17-26, $1.00, lots 1-2-3 blk. 10 Orig Kanawha & S½ lot 5 & all lot 6 blk. 21 Calls add to Kanawha.

Kate R. Weston to E. F. King et al Q C. D., date 5-21-26, $1.00, S½ 16-94-24.

Henry L Suckow, Admr. to Nora Creamer Admrs Deed, date 5-19-26, $1,500 00, lot 1 blk. 31 Garner

John Baack wf. to Herman Helm W D, date 5-8-26, $2,100.00, lots 14-15-16 blk. 6, Woden.

Gustave Kahler wf to Glen C Morrison. Q. C. D., date 5-20-26, $1.00, W½ SE¼ 15-95-24.

Wm. Quintus wf. to Ray Ford. W D, date 5-24-26, $17,532.00, part of E½ of NE¼ & NE¼ of SE¼ 6-95-23.

E. H. Townsend wf. to W. H. Miller. Q. C. D., date 4-13-26, $1.00, S½ of SE¼, 12-94-23

E H. Townsend wf. to John Liebenstein Q C. D., date 5-6-26, $1 00, N½ of SE¼ 12-94-23.

Joe Wheeler wf. et al to John Liebenstein. Q C. D., date 4-28-26, $1, N½ of SE¼ 12-94-23.

Geo Sutcliff wf. to R. J. Galloway, trustee. W. D. date 5-27-26, $1.00, lots 2-4 block 2, Sapps add Corwith

E. H. Townsend wf. to C. C Green. Q. C. D, date 5-6-26, $1.00, N½ of NE¼ 12-94-23

Joe Wheeler wf. et al to C. C. Green. Q. C. D., date 4-28-26, $1.00, N½ NE¼ 12-94-23.

Joe Wheeler wf. et al to W. E. Miller. Q. C. D., date 4-13-26, $1.00, S½ of SE¼ 12-94-23.

Trade Name: Frank Kouba & Son Owners, Frank and Joe Kouba of Corwith, Iowa.

ANNUAL PICNIC NEXT WEDNESDAY

BIG FARM BUREAU PICNIC TO BE HELD AT CRYSTAL LAKE WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9th

Program For Hancock County Farm Bureau Picnic Completed

Arrangements have been practically completed for the big Farm Bureau Picnic to be held at Crystal Lake, Wednesday, June 9th. Word has been eceived from Mr. Sam H. Thompson, Quincy, Illinois, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation, th he will be here. The prospects are that this will be the biggest picnic ever held Many farmers of Hancock County and adjoining counties will be there to hear the National President.

The program will be as follows:

10 30 Community singing, led by Rev Calkins of Britt.
Address of welcome, W. L Lawhorn, president of Hancock County Farm Bureau.
Address by Mrs. Henry Wood of Moville, District Farm Bureau Committee Woman.

12 00 Picnic Dinner.

1 00 Community singing led by Rev. Calkins.
Music by Male Quartette.
Reading.
Irish songs and old time fiddling by Mike Barrett of Crystal Lake.
Address Sam. H. Thompson
Band Music will be furnish- thruout the day by the Duncan band

A refreshment stand will be operated by the Farm Bureau where refreshments can be purchased at a easonable price

Sports of all kinds are being arranged by the Sports Committee

There will be plenty of fun and entertainment for everyone

EARL JOSTEN ONE OF SEVEN HONOR STUDENTS AT SIOUX CITY

Sioux City, June 3.—(Special to he Times) Earl Josten, of Klemme, a member of the June graduating class of Morningside college, has been announced as one of the seven honor students of his class in scholastic averages for the four-year course The highest possible scholastic average a student could maintain on the basis used is four. Josten's average was 3 320. Josten will re eive his diploma Monday, June 7, following a week of commencement activities. Dr John Timoth Stone of Chicago will deliver the commencement address.

A FIRST LADY

Mrs. W. Freeland Kendrick, wife of the Mayor of Philadelphia, who also is president of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition Association, organized to stage a great celebration to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Mrs. Kendrick is shown beside the historic Liberty Bell, which she tapped at a recent broadcasting event when the world was told of completion of plans for the big exposition.

MRS. FOUTS DIED HERE SUNDAY EVE

GRANDMA FOUTS CALLED TO HER REWARD

Last Sunday, Memorial Day, witnessed the end of a perfect day and along with it in Klemme witnessed the end of a beautiful life—rich in years, rich in the finer things that life may aspire to, and full of hope of life eternal As the shadows of evening of that beautiful day, long to be remembered, began to draw near and when by the very atmosphere of the Memorial Services, just concluded, our thoughts were led to the very borderland of the unseen, it was then that Grandma Fouts responded to the summons to come higher and to enter the land of eternal joy and bliss. She died at the ripe age of 83 years, 7 months and 4 days

Mrs Mary Elizabeth Miller Fouts was born on October 26, 1842, at Aurora, Fance county, Illinois. Soon after her father and mother moved onto a farm near a small town called York in Dupage county, and where her mother died when she was a little more than two years old. She had three brothers and two sisters. All have preceded her in death.

She lived with her father and stepmother until she was eighteen years old when she was married to Mr. George W. Fouts and lived on a farm near her old home until June in 1865, when they moved to Eldora, Iowa, where they lived for many years

To their union twelve children were born, eight sons and four daughters. Two sons died in infancy. She is survived by ten children who "arise up, and call her blessed!" Those left to mourn a loving mother's death are: John H. of Robertson, Iowa; Mrs. Kate E. Ibach, of White, South Dakota; Allen of Dysart, Iowa; George W., of Ackley, Iowa; Fred E. of Sheridan, Ark.; Mrs Mamie Christensen, of Boise, Idaho; Hayes R. of Riceville, Iowa; Elmer M. of Brooks, Minn.; Mrs. Emeline Gimer of Klemme, Iowa; and Mrs. Belle Gile of Escondido, California. She is also survived by a number of grandchildren and greatgrandchildren.

Her husband died September 2, 1903 Not long after that she broke up housekeeping and for more than twenty years made her home with her daughter, Mrs. A. D. Gimer of Klemme, where she received the kindest attention and the most loving care from the several members of the Gimer home. Grandma was truly loved and cherished by the entire family.

We cannot close this sketch without referring to the fine surprise carried out for her on her 83rd birthday, planned by the thoughtfulness of her daughter, Mrs. Gimer, and when all the older people of Klemme were invited in to surprise her and help her celebrate, an event enjoyed by all but by no one more than by the celebrant herself. How her eye sparkled with youthful glee while her shoulders stooped under the load of years! Not soon to be forgotten is the testimony that she gave that day of her trust in and her companionship with a loving Saviour, for like the saint of old "she walked with God and was not for God took her!"

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning from the home and at 9:30 at the Methodist Church of which she had been a life-long member. After the service the funeral procession proceeded to Eldora, Iowa where she was laid to rest in the family lot.

METHODIST CURCH NOTES

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

All services are regular next Sunday with preaching service and Sunday school thereafter in the morning.

At the evening service we will continue to show stereoptican views, "The Six O'clock Whistle the World Around," being the subject.

These pictures will show how close the world has been brought together by modern inventions and how great the opportunities are that await us in this day.

A glad welcome awaits all at these services.

KLEMME REFORMED CHURCH

Sunday, June 6th

10:00 A. M. English Srvice.
11:00 A. M. Sunday School.
8:00 P. M. German Service.

Bible School from 9:00 A. M. to 3:00 P. M. daily, except Saturday and Sunday.

—Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor.

ANOTHER LIFE LOST FROM KEROSENE

Crescent, Iowa, June 3.—Another life was recently added to the toll of careless handling of kerosene in starting fires. Recently Mrs. William Kief of Crescent, Iowa, spilled kerosene on her clothes as she was attempting to start a fire in the yard. Her clothes became ignited and she was fatally burned, dying ten hours after the accident occurred.

Tests were made by an inspector of the Iowa Department of Agriculture showed that the kerosene was of good quality. Figures of the department show that a large proportion of the deaths from starting fires is due to the careless handling Where kerosene is used it should never be poured on the fire.

TOWN JAIL AT BODE COLLAPSED LAST WEEK

When John Lomea of Bode went on the roof of the Bode town jail to repair it, it suddenly gave away under him. The side wall caved in and the entire mass collapesd with a crash. Mr. Lomea fell to the ground in the midst of it. It is a mystery how the man escaped injury, but in some miraculous way he escaped with only bruises. However, the town council has ordered the building repair d at once so that they will be ready to take care of all the law breakers.

THIRTY PIECE BAND WILL PLAY AT BAYSIDE NEXT SUNDAY

Many Other Free Attractions On Sunday Program

Next Sunday, June 6th, Bayside Amusement Park at Clear Lake, Iowa, will offer its visitors notable free attractions. A thirty piece band will entertain afternoon and evening. The Harrisons, world's greatest cyclists direct from St. Louis, will appear in two acts. Nagle and his ten trained dogs will perform in two complete acts both afternoon and evening. The policed parking grounds is a new feature at Bayside this season. You may park your car there all day and know that it will be watched.

MEMORIAL SERVICE DREW BIG CROWD

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD IN KLEMME SUNDAY

Two Civil War Veterans Took Part In Impressive Service

The Memorial Day services were followed out here Sunday in accordance with the program as outlined and a large crowd turned out to pay tribute to our soldier dead. The day was warm and beautiful and was ideal for an outdoor observance of this great day.

The program was held from the band stand at the city park and was opened by the band who played several selections of a patriotic nature.

Special places of honor were set apart on the speakers platform for Civil War Veterans and Gold Star Mothers. The assembly was honored by the presence of two Civil War Veterans, Mr. Lew Lewis and Mr. Sam Eckman, both of Klemme.

The address of the day was given by Rev. W. J. Suckow, of Forest City who spoke on "Christian Patriotism" which he gave in an impresive manner. His address was full of interest and good patriotic advice.

After the service at the park the procession formed in order and marched to the cemetery where the graves soldier dead were beautifull decorated by the Camp Fire Girls who placed a "Flander's Cross" and poppies on each grave. The Legion ritual was given and three volleys fired over the unknown hero's grave by the firing squad after which Taps was sounded.

The program of the day was closed when the Color Guard, firing squad and band returned to the park where the Flag was raised to full mast as the band played "Star Spangled Banner."

TIMELY GARDEN TIPS — A Weekly Feature —

Should Tomatoes and Peas Be Trellised?

Does it pay to train the tomatoes and peas on trellises? Is the practice worth the bother? These questions the gardner must soon answer for the tomatoes and peas are reaching the stage where a trellis must be constructed if the plants are to be trained.

It doesn't pay as a rule, to train the dwarf or medium growing peas on a trellis, but it may prove a profitable practice for the family which likes fresh peas late in the season and grows the late maturing varieties. The most convenient and satisfactory way of training the plants is to lay brush in the row.

If the tomato caretaker wishes some extra large fruit for show or some similar purpose, he should fasten some of the plants to a trellis for trained tomatoes produce larger and nicer fruit than untrained. But the trained tomatoes will not yield as much per plant and they are more susceptible to sunburn than the plants that are allowed to spread out. It is much easier to weed a trained tomato bed and the fruit is much less liable to rot.

Most families look forward to the day when the first sliced tomatoes will appear on the table. This realization will come a week to ten days earlier if some of the plnats are trellised for trained tomatoes bear ripe fruit earlier than the untrained.

Brush placed in the row makes a satisfactory trellis for tomatoes too. A wire or stake support is also good but it necessitates more time and labor to install. There are two good ways of training tomatoes. One consists of pruning the sideshoots and sending up one central stem. In the second method two or three shoots are allowed to grow, the rest being pruned off. These main stems are trained to a two or three wire trellis in a fan shaped arrangement which tends to give greater yields than the one stem plants.—Ora Smith, Iowa State College.

Walter Chystler says that within five years drivers of automobiles will be regularly making from 75 to 100 miles an hour on country roads. Those who survive the experiment perhaps may.

What Radio Means to the Farmer

A. ATWATER KENT

WHERE RADIO MEANS BUSINESS

By A. ATWATER KENT

PICKING dollars out of the air was one trick of the old-time sleight-of-hand artist that never failed to give his audience a thrill. While it was recognized as a trick, the mere suggestion that dollars might, somehow, be plucked from the ether stirred the interest of the average spectator more than many other feats of legerdemain requiring much greater skill. It touched his money sense—and the "pocket nerve" has long been recognized as one of the most sensitive in the human makeup.

Today, however, government experts hold that the illusion of the magician has been changed into the fact of actual accomplishment. Dollars are being taken from the air. Official investigation, in fact, reveals the air as a potential source of wealth for the farmers of this country to an extent rivaled only by the productivity of the soil itself.

This transformation is being brought about by the development and extension of radio facilities and services to fit the special needs of agriculture. For it is in agriculture that radio seems certain to find its greatest development as a utility with a direct dollar and cents value to its users.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, who has given much study to the use or radio as an aid to agriculture, recently said:

"Radio is already a vital factor in the economic and intellectual life of the farmer. It is easy to foresee millions upon millions of dollars added to the value of agriculture through services provided the farmer by radio."

Folks on the farms and in the country towns where general prosperity depends on the prosperity of agriculture are particularly favored by radio. To the city man or woman, the use of radio is limited to recreation and the reception of general information. They enjoy the concerts, the dance programs, the lectures and other features that come to them by day and night over the air, but their pleasure and enjoyment is the principal recompense for their investment in radio equipment.

The same programs that entertain the city listener are received also by listeners-in on the farm, where they are received with equal pleasure and satisfaction. But in addition to the programs of entertainment and general information, of interest alike to city and country, radio is being used more and more to carry to the farmer special information of direct assistance to him in the production and marketing of his crops, the breeding and care of his live stock and the prevention of loss and damage from storms, pests and other emergency conditions.

It is this service that raises radio, for the farmer, out of the class of a mere instrumentality for pleasure and recreation alone, and makes of it a utility as helpful in the business of farming as the stock ticker and the telephone are to the broker or business man in the city.

The greater emphasis on radio as a practical dollars-and-cents investment for the farmer does not come from radio manufacturers or broadcasters or from any group primarily interested in the radio industry. It comes, instead, from the United States Department of Agriculture, whose prime interest is in the progress and prosperity of the American farmer.

The department began an experimental radio market news service in December, 1020. A laboratory transmitter at the United States bureau of standards was used to broadcast, on a 400-meter wave length, by radio telegraph from Washington, a radio marketgram and turn it over to the newspapers in their own towns, or give copies to the banks or stores to be posted on bulletin boards.

ASSEMBLING RADIO SETS ©National Photo

RADIO IN THE HILLS OF WEST VIRGINIA

The practical results of this first experiment, I am told, encouraged government authorities to broaden the service, and in April, 1921, through arrangements with the Post Office department, wireless market reports were broadcast several times a day from air mail radio stations in half a dozen different cities. By January, 1022, these market reports were being relayed and broadcast by radio telegraph through a chain of stations reaching from coast to coast.

Then came the era of radio telephone broadcasting and with it the government's radio service for farmers grew by leaps and bounds. Well-established schedules of weather, crop and market reports are now broadcast from more than 100 stations in all parts of the country and no agricultural community is out of reach of Uncle Sam's farm radio service.

A recent study by the department, through its 2,500 county agents, of the extent to which farmers are finding this service of direct help in their business brought what the government experts regard as convincing proof that a radio receiving set is now definitely recognized as a part of the agricultural plant of the up-to-date farmer. Typical of this view, as expressed by these farm experts, is one I have seen from Earl S. Miles, county agent for Washington county, Indiana.

"Farmers in this county," Mr. Miles reported, "now think of radio in terms of an investment that will return a profit through more intelligent selling of live stock. The most encouraging thing today is to see farmers, located 15 or 20 miles from a railroad, equipped with a radio and a truck. The radio keeps them informed as to the market, and when prices are right they can put their stock on the market within two or three hours. Before the day of farm radio they had to take chances on what the market would be when they reached the yards."

Gardner C. Norcross, county agent for Plymouth county, Mass., reported still another angle of advantage for the farmer equipped with radio. "Radio," he says, "has proved one of the most effective methods of teaching better farm practices and thereby appreciably increasing farm profits."

As a result of the thorough endorsement by county agents of the benefits being bestowed by radio and the appreciation voiced directly by the farmers themselves, four new farm features were recently put on the air by the Department of Agriculture, all designed to be of direct material advantage to the farm family. These are: A farm news digest, consisting of short items of agricultural news not accessible to the average farm reader; "Fifty Farm Flashes," a daily service of 50 timely, practical questions put by farmers and answered by agricultural authorities; the housekeeper's half hour, an informal program designed to supply both information and inspiration to housewives, putting at their disposal the great fund of facts interesting to homemakers which are developed by the government bureau of home economics and similar research agencies and the Radio Order of Junior Gardeners, a program especially for boys and girls but helpful also to grown-ups.

The latter, it seems to me, gives an authoritative discussion of timely gardening subjects. Boys and girls who enroll in the order are later furnished the talks and supplementary gardening material in printed form.

In addition to these programs, broadcast by the government for the direct benefit of farmers, I am told that agricultural information of a sort that returns dividends in dollars and cents is being distributed by radio through more than a score of state agricultural colleges. Many of these colleges are now using radio in broadcasting their college extension courses. One fine thing about this is that boys and girls financially unable to attend college are, through radio, enabled to enroll for these courses, take their examinations and receive college credit therefor. Radio owes a great deal to Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, formerly head of the Kansas State Agricultural college at Manhattan, Kan., who was the pioneer in the broadcasting of college extension courses. As a result of the extensive use by this institution of radio as an aid to agriculture, under Mr. Jardine's direction, Kansas claims a larger percentage of farms radio equipped than any other large agricultural state.

Of necessity, the dollars-and-cents side of radio on the farm is often the deciding factor as to whether or not a farmer can afford to equip his home with a radio. But, despite any direct financial return, it is to be doubted, after all, whether the money profit that the farmer receives through his radio, however great, respresents its greatest value to him.

Fire Pockets in Volanoes

The modern theory of volcanoes imagines that the reservoirs of molten lava which feed the fire peaks are small and superficial. Instead of communicating with the earth's supposed interior fires, the two volcanoes of Hawaii probably posses, not far below the earth's surface, some kind of local pocket of fluid and highly heated lava. Similar pockets exist, it is believed, beneath the other active volcanoes, such as Vesuvius and Etna, on the shores of the Mediterranean; Popocatepetl, in Mexico; the several volcanoes of Japan; Mount Erebus, in the Antarctic continent, and all of the rest.

Tea Table Talk

In contrast to the story that the earl of Arlington was the first to drink tea in England about the year 1658, a correspondent quotes from a news sheet of that year the advertisement "That excellent, and by all physicians approved, China drink, called by the Chineans 'Icha,' by other nations 'Tay,' alias Tee, is sold at the Sultaness Head Coffee-House, in Sweetin's Rents, by the Royal Exchange, London." "In 1660 (he adds) an act of parliament imposed a duty of eight pence per gallon on all tea made for sale, and it is reasonable to suppose that the beverage would be very popular when this was done."

Oysters are now being hatched in incubators.

SCARRED SCIENTIST RENEWS X-RAY FIGHT

Survivor of 72 Operations Taunts Old Enemy.

Baltimore, Md.—Dr. Frederick Henry Baetjer, professor of roentgenology at Johns Hopkins medical school, is back at his big game of tag with the vengeful slave he is taming.

The "last of the old guard"—with the scars of the latest of more than three score and ten amputations and skin-grafting operations scarcely healed—is rounding out a quarter century of duelling with the dragon that lurks in Roentgen's ray. He plans to stay in the fight until the ray's searing thrusts finally break down the defense of modern surgery.

Burns Eat Body.

Insidious X-ray burns slowly are eating his body away. They have taken seven of his fingers and one of his thumbs, and the glands from his right arm and shoulder. Seventy-two times he has been burned and as many times has Doctor Baetjer's medical colleagues succeeded in staying the attack. But each burn has left its mark.

Doctor Baetjer is daring a demon that has slain many of his early coworkers in roentgenology. One of the last to die was Prof. J. Bergonie, an outstanding authority whose work had been contemporary with Doctor Baetjer's. Surgeons see a like fate awaiting the Johns Hopkins professor—but he goes on, displaying his contempt for the X-ray's death threat in writing whimsical rimes and jingles.

In common with his associates Doctor Baetjer engaged in roentgenological research when knowledge of the ray and its potency was in its infancy. It was some time after the discovery of the X-ray that its effect on the human body began to be understood, and in those pioneer days neither the screens which today protect X-ray operators, nor the need for them was known. While a patient undergoing X-ray treatment would be exposed to the ray for only a fraction of a second, the early-day operators were subjected to the ray's full power for long periods. They suffered severely or paid with their lives for the knowledge that has contributed much to the present-day safety of X-ray control.

Began Experiments in 1901.

Doctor Baetjer began his experiments in 1901, immediately after his graduation from Johns Hopkins medical school. In a few months the ray had started a train of destructive burns. In its incipiency the effect of prolonged exposure to the Roentgen ray resembles sunburn. If exposure is repeated, as it was in the pioneer days, ulcers form and shriveling of the exposed parts sets in. Physicians say that most of Doctor Baetjer's present sufferings are due to early infections.

By 1909 he had lost four fingers—now only one finger and one thumb remain. In 1914 the glands at the junction of the right arm and shoulder were removed to save the arm from advancing infection.

In the seventy-second operation, performed in March, skin was grafted in one more attempt to save the remainder of the hands.

Find Cancer Withers With Oxygen Removed

Berlin.—That the growth of a cancer is fostered by oxygen is the belief advanced by Prof. Otto Warburg, head of the Kaiser Wilhelm Biological institute here.

A sensation has been created among scientists by an article written by Professor Warburg, in which he describes how cancerous growth transplanted in rats withered and died within forty-eight hours when the oxygen inside the glass cage confining the rodents was reduced to the minimum atmospheric ratio capable of sustaining life. During the treatment, he says, the rats refused food, but they immediately regained their normal vitality when the oxygen supply was increased.

Professor Warburg says he is not yet ready to believe this treatment is applicable to human beings, but other scientists regard his experiments as an advancement toward the cure of cancer.

English Geese Guard Stables Like Watch Dogs

London.—A man visiting a sick horse in some stables at Canning Town recently found his way barred by two large geese which guarded the approach. All his efforts to pass were unavailable and the two "sentries" ultimately chased the man away, beating him on the legs as he fled.

When the owner of the geese was called the geese became as quiet as a pair of turtle doves. "I've had them for 17 years," she explained, "and they have saved me the price of many a dog license. Billy and Biddy are much more efficient than a dog, and it is never necessary for my stables to be locked at night with these two geese as watchmen. Moreover, Biddy still goes on laying—and you couldn't get eggs from a bulldog."

She Gets 'Em

New York.—Ruth O'Shaughnessy, a nineteen-year-old blind girl from Asheville, N. C., can play the piano in a way that stirs hard-boiled business men to tears. They did so when she gave her first metropolitan recital under the auspices of the Kiwanis club, which is sponsoring her musical career.

STUDYING PERILS FACED BY HERRING

Scientists Conduct Investigation in Orkneys.

Kirkwall, Orkney Islands.—An expedition of naturalists is investigating from here the greatest of natural mysteries—how a herring ever gets to the dinner table.

Millions of herring are caught, eaten and relished every year. But scientists know that many more millions rarely ever pass the spawn age, and equal millions never get to adolescence, yet they travel in such numbers that they have been known to stop a steamship.

They are the prey of all other fish and human beings from the cradle to the stomach, and yet they are the pests of their own world.

The expedition has devoted two years investigating the baits and trials of the herring in their "alma water," the Orkney islands and adjacent wet spaces. The scientists have learned there are enough father and mother herrings to lay billions of spawn each year. This spawn is awaited by millions of fish, mostly greedy codfish, who fatten and bloat themselves on the choice caviar thus provided.

The codfish, jellyfish, and many other varieties get their substance for weeks by sucking the herring spawn from the rocks and other places in which they nestle.

Despite these marauders, the adhesive eggs survive the incubation period and produce teeming masses of tiny thread-like fishes.

All things work against the herring. It becomes the prey of the trawler more easily than any other fish, for the trawler is led directly to the herring shoals by the other and larger fish.

KICKS CAUSE A SUIT

Kicks on $200,000 legs are the basis of a suit started in the Supreme court, New York city, by Thais La Pe, dancer, who charges she was ejected from a New York hotel and that private detectives injured the legs she is showing in this photograph. The legs are insured for $200,000, and Thais is suing for $500,000.

Performs Operation With Kitchen Knife

Auckland, N. Z.—Dr. Walter Bremmer sailed for London recently.

A few days out of Auckland, William Torrington, member of the crew, was stricken with appendicitis. Dr. Bremmer treated him medically, but when the trouble became acute it was apparent an operation would be necessary.

Doctor Bremmer had few surgical instruments with him. But he did have resourcefulness. So he had some of the kitchen knives sharpened and sterilized.

He had a table in the ship's dining room cleared and with chloroform for an anesthetic he set about his task.

Among the passengers were Miss Alison Barnett and Miss Eugenie Jurouhaic, trained nurses, of Boston.

They assisted Chief Steward Charles Edwards in applying the anesthetic. First Officer J. S. Hooker, who had sharpened and sterilized the kitchen knives, acted in the capacity of instrument assistant.

Show Glutton Fish of 7,000,000 B. C.

Washington.—Seven or eight million years ago or thereabouts, when the present State of Kansas was an inland sea, a giant fish turned cannibal and swallowed what might easily have been one of his own progeny—head first, fins, tail and all. In all probability, however, he paid the price for his gluttony, for he died immediately after. Today scientists of the National museum, under direction of the Smithsonian institution, are preparing his fossilized skeleton, inclosing that of his undigested last meal, for exhibition at the sesquicentennial exposition at Philadelphia this summer. Portheus is the name of the giant fish and of the fish it swallowed, and they belong to a group which has long since been extinct. The present specimen measured about twelve feet from tip to tail. The smaller fish reached nearly six feet.

PIGMY EXPEDITION OFF FOR INTERIO

Smithsonian Party Seek New Guinea Mountains.

Washington.—An airplane expe tion backed by the Smithsonian ins tution has started to explore wh the Smithsonian describes as "t world's greatest unknown land a its pigmy inhabitants." According word received by the Smithsonia from Dr. Matthew W Stirling, wh heads it, the expedition, with its ai plane backed by between 300 and 4 men, has started up the Memberam river for the snowy mountains o Dutch New Guinea in the Dutch Ea Indies, said to be the largest islan in the world.

"For the 400 years since what now Dutch New Guinea was fir seen by Europeans, the mountainou backbone of the country has resiste the attempts of civilized man to pen trate its secrets," says a statemen issued by the Smithsonian. "Th coastal jungle has interposed its ma and thickets, its fevers and poiso and many who have tried have di or have come away baffled."

The expedition is sponsored, in a dition to the Smithsonian, by th Dutch East Indian government.

Most of those in the party are nativ carriers, soldiers and convicts. The main function is to transport and pr tect food supplies. Except for a fe wild pig, wallaby, cassowary and sca game birds, the jungle of New Guine offers practically no animal food.

Supply Bases Established.

The mouth of the Memberamo riv is on the north coast of Cape d'Urvil The expedition is working south u the river to the junction of the Rou far, by which it hopes to gain acce to the mountains. It is establishin various bases, from one of which th transport plane will operate.

The airplane will reconnoiter th jungle to determine the best approac to the mountains, attempt to find th hidden villages of the pigmy people known to dwell in the mountains, ca ry cartographers to make maps o this virgin land, and, if possible mak landings in isolated spots for natura history collections.

Doctor Stirling has 70 Dyak carrier from central Borneo and more tha 200 native Javanese and Amboine soldiers and Malay convicts. A Dutc captain and two lieutenants comman the military detachment. A medica officer and two medical assistants ar with the expedition.

Home of Primitive Races.

Since the party plans to explore a area of many thousand square mile on which no white man has set foo it includes specialists in several field so that as little as possible may b missed.

Doctor Stirling will take care of th collection of data on the mountai pigmies he hopes to find, and the Pa puans who inhabit the coastal plain Both pigmies and Papuans are amon the most primitive races of mankind The former, a distinct people livin in the mountainous interior, seem le developed mentally. From the ra few that an English expedition saw 1911, the pigmies appear to be abou four feet nine inches in height. The are yellowish black in color, wit short, woolly black hair. They a naked, except for a loin covering.

Doctor Van Leeuwen, director the Botanical gardens at Buitenzor accompanies the expedition to mak collections of the New Guinea plant

New Guinea is 1,400 miles long b 400 miles across, with an area of 30 000 square miles. The mountainou backbone of Dutch New Guinea ha been the goal of many expeditions, th results of which were limited to sick ness and disappointment.

U. S. Auto Production 4,157,830 Cars in 192

Washington.—Production of mot vehicles of all classes last year to taled 4,157,830, with a wholesale fa tory value of $2,934,488,639. This w an increase, the Commerce depar ment reported, of 6.9 per cent in nu ber and 12.4 per cent in value as co pared with 1923, when the last cens was taken.

Total production by establishmen engaged primarily in the manufa ture of motor vehicles, exclusive body, parts and accessory maker reached $3,371,855,805 in 1925, inclu ing 3,655,048 passenger vehicl valued at $2,527,366,148, 13,627 publ conveyances worth $39,454,025, 1,1 government and municipal vehicl worth $10,183,227, 487,970 business v hicles worth $357,485,239, 85 trailers worth $3,449,017, and oth products worth $433,918,149.

Keep Off Styles

Washington. — Congressmen ha plenty of warning not to interfe with the matter of styles. Opposi a bill for copyrights on dress design Ida M. Tarbell and others said wom would dress the way they liked a they had a divine right to expre their beauty in their own way.

To Sell Royal Coach

New York.—A coach represented the one in which Wilhelm Hohenz lern drove to have put on him t crown that the war knocked off to be sold at auction for an unp bill.

Best Orchid

Philadelphia. — Of 40,000 orch valued at more than $1,000,000 Be ish Queen is the best. It won the pr of the American Orchid society.

ROAD BUILDING

JOB DONE ON MINNESOTA ROADS

transport the surfacing materials by the Minnesota department of ways during the years 1921 to inclusive—beginning when the state highway program took full ct—would require 3,228 trains of hopper cars extending a distance ,541 miles. Charles M. Babcock, f of the department, in a recent ement, said that the department built 3,575 miles of gravel surfac- and 575 miles of paving in addi- to extensive bridge construction replacement and maintenance op- ions over the entire 7,000-mile hway system.

aterial involved in the state high- department's surfacing activities ing the five-year period mentioned led 6,704,000 cubic yards of dry erials, or 9,684,000 tons. To trans- t this vast quantity would have re- red 193,680 steel hopper cars of a acity of 50 tons each.

The department built 575 miles of ement and there entered into it 47,000 cubic yards of material, or quantity sufficient to construct a ll 472 miles long, 10 feet high and eet thick. This wall would extend m St. Paul to Winnipeg.

The department has used for vari- s purposes 352,963 tons of cement, 1,428 tons of sand and 1,335,086 tons aggregate—gravel or crushed rock. e cement, gravel and crushed rock tered not only into paving but con- uction of bridges and culverts. Al- gether there were 82,581,000 cubic et of dry materials, and these made 62,000 cubic yards of concrete.

All this work was on the state-wide stem of trunk highways serving by e or more routes all county seats d nearly all towns of more than 00 population. Placed end to end ese routes would make an oval line ound the outside of the entire Unit- States and the improved mileages ould cross it once on both its short- t and longest diameters.

ridges Very Important in Any Highway System

Bridges are a necessity to the high- ay system of the world. But bridges ay be detrimental to a degree, as ell as helpful, says Good Roads. ridges may be classed in several roups; the long and the multi-span ridge over rivers; the single span hort bridge over creeks and drainage ystems; the small single span bridges ver culverts; all bridges, but of vary- g construction and design.

Very little criticism may be found n the long multi-span bridges, such s are found over our larger streams. The motorist will naturally slow up hen approaching such a structure, s he can see it and will take the nec- ssary precautions to pass over it safe- y Such mechanical details as ap- roaches, road width, visibility on ap- roach are, as a general rule, pretty ell taken care of. There are fewer ccidents by far on a bridge of this ype than on the small, half-hidden, arrow bridge, such as lines our high- ay system at intervals of every few undred feet.

The small creek bridge and the cul- ert bridge both offer hazards to the raveler that are both unnecessary and reventable, many of these small ridges, being of a width much too arrow for the modern highway. The abutments, or bridge rails, will extend s much as two and often three feet nto the road right of way.

Highway to Science

An important new development in highway engineering is the certain- ty with which it can be determined just when traffic reaches the point where a paved road will be more economical than a dirt or gravel road. It is now even possible to determine even the type of pavement and the design which will give the taxpayers and the highway users the best value.

Good Roads Facts

Good roads bring rich returns.

* * *

A bad road is a big handicap to a good community.

* * *

Utah will build 116 miles of road in 1926, according to the state road commission. This construction will cost nearly $1,600,000. The money is largely from the counties supplemented by federal aid.

* * *

Highway construction and maintenance in 1920 will equal and possibly exceed the progress made in any other year, according to estimates from the various states compiled by the United States bureau of public roads.

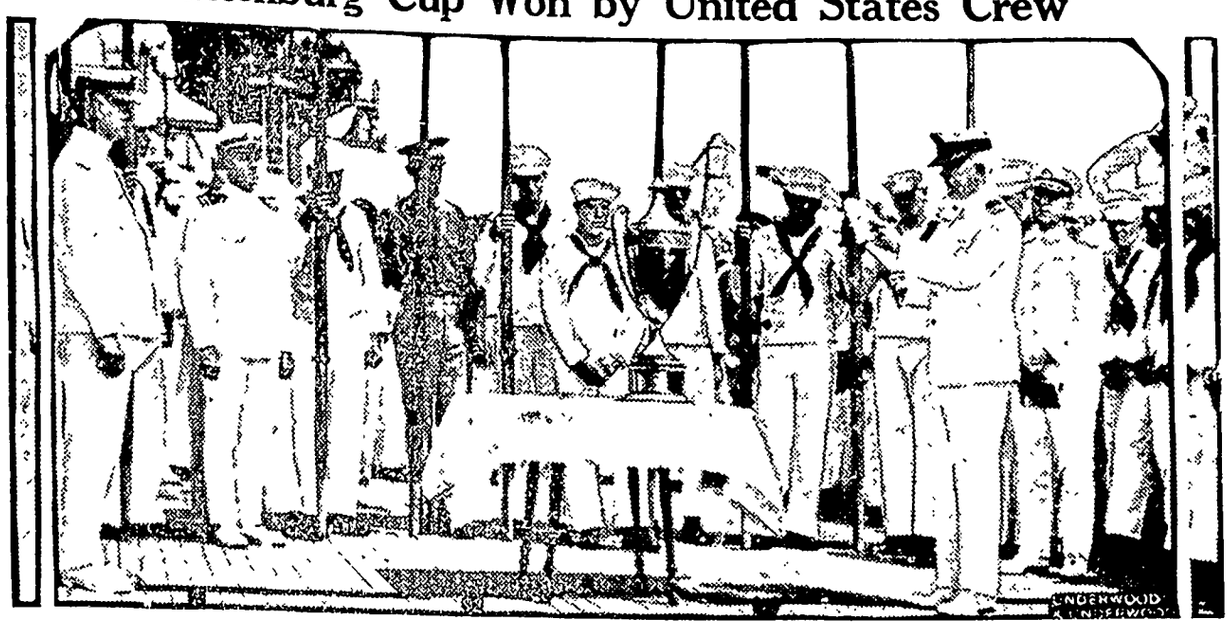
* * *

The Nevada department of highways has issued a report on the present condition of the Lincoln highway in that state. It shows that 194 miles of the route, practically 50 per cent of the mileage, are complete.

* * *

Boston is planning an extensive system to relieve traffic congestion in the busy downtown district. The plan is to construct several main highways 100 feet wide to take care of the principal automobile traffic. Such a plan would cost the city $50,000,000.

Battenburg Cup Won by United States Crew



The Battenburg cup, presented years ago by Lord Battenburg of England for the fastest boat's crew in the American or British navy, was won this year at Guantanamo bay by the United States crew of the New York, here seen being congratulated by Commander Gordon W. Haines.

North Carolina's New Industries

Steadily Shifting From Cotton Fields to Mill Centers.

Washington.—"North Carolina is passing through a renaissance. Due to her steadily intensifying shift from cotton fields to mill centers, and from once-idle streams to throbbing dynamos, she has suddenly rediscovered herself on the threshold of industrial power."

With this introduction Melville Chater tells what he saw on a motor tour of North Carolina's industry, development, historic scenes and interesting people, in a communication to the National Geographic society, from which the following is extracted:

"For centuries wild horses have been roaming on the Cape Hatteras banks, and current tradition has it that they are descended from Barbary ponies which were brought over by Sir Walter Raleigh's colonists.

"Our quest landed us on a naked, sun-baked spit where men were driving the so-called 'banker ponies' along the beach and into a corral made of timbers from old wrecks. Perched on the pen's top rail, with the beach-pounding surf along one edge of the narrow spit and the sound, with its rough sailboats, on the other, we took lens shots at the inclosed jam of 200 horses, as they reared and kicked each other into a state of bloodied noses and wildly rolling eyes.

"Some of the herders lassoed and cut out colts for branding or sale. Others yelled out their branding marks, recognized on mares, and claimed the accompanying foals.

"A few years ago these putative descendants of Raleigh's 'little Barbary ponies' were bringing $50 to $125. The auctioneer, in explanation, complained, 'Tew much gasoline abaout naowadays!'

"The legendary North Carolinian who in the '60s called his three daughters Rosin, Tar, and Turpentine would today be naming them after cigarette brands, furniture trade-marks, and cotton goods patterns.

Charlotte Spindle Center.

"Charlotte, situated between the big hydroelectric developments along the Catawba and Yadkin rivers, is a plexus of this new industrialism. In the last 25 years the number of textile mills operating within a 100-mile radius of that city has increased fivefold, with a present spindleage of 10,000,000.

"An hour's ride beyond Charlotte we entered Gastonia, one of the largest textile centers in the United States. Of its 20,000 people, about three-fourths are workers in the 42 mills whose tall stacks cut the sky. Yet, in the town's broad, tree-shaded streets, lined with neat cottages on well-kept, flower-fringed plots, one felt no oppressive sense of concentrated industry, but rather the restfulness of some model suburb, wide-spread to sun, air, and surrounding countryside.

"With mill workers' cottages rentable at $3 a month, with water and electric light free, and a mild climate, necessitating little fuel, which is obtainable at cost, it is not uncommon for mountain families to work at Gastonia long enough to pay off their farm mortgage and then return to the Blue Ridge.

"Gaston county contains 98 textile mills, which represent one-sixth of the state's total spindleage and consume almost one-third of her cotton crop.

"A few hours' drive from Chimney Rock further into the mountains brought us to Asheville, the gateway to what North Carolinians have well named the Land of the Sky. Never was an altitude of half a mile above sea level so unobvious, in all the tonic atmosphere. Set in a vast bowl, Asheville is encircled by mountains whose 20 highest peaks top all altitudes in the Eastern states. Could the Titans return, they might appropriately seat themselves as spectators of one of Asheville's big golf or tennis meets.

"It was on the Biltmore estate, near Asheville, that, with the founding of a forestry school, the first steps in American forest conservation were taken.

Turning Back Time.

"Surrounded by the modishness of Asheville, one scarcely realizes that only 50 miles away mountaineers are living a ruggedly simple existence behind hand-hewn timbers and on small 'switchback' farms, with Revolutionary looms and spinning wheels alongside their chimney pieces of native rock.

"It was a farseeing woman from among the 'boiled-shirt' life of Asheville who persuaded these remote, almost forgotten, mountain folk to set their long-idle looms going again. Today there are half a dozen handicraft centers scattered through western North Carolina.

"Back in 1912, when only one North Carolinian in 380 owned a motor vehicle, the then-existing roads answered the needs of the day—answered that is, in the sense that the single log across a North Carolina mountain stream then answered as a footbridge. They got you somewhere, no matter how.

"In 1021 the state legislature authorized $50,000,000 worth of road bonds. Today the bond issues total $85,000,000.

"Carmen, with a hand on her hip and a rose between her lips is a world away from Winston-Salem's methods of cigarette manufacture. One machine shreds and feeds out the 'makings.' Another rolls them into a never-ending length of cigarette, which, as it oozes forth, is slipped into multiples as rapidly as a machine gun sprays bullets.

"Other machines make containers, affix revenue stamps, imprint and record serialized numbers—in fact, do everything for the smoker except to hand him a match. It is the machine that plays the title role of Carmen, while the girl inspectors are merely understudies.

"Winston-Salem's stamp-sticking machines consume annually the most expensive meal in the world—a matter of $100,000,000 worth of Uncle Sam's familiar blue imprints. That is the sum of her federal taxes, which represent one-half of those paid by North Carolina."

High Living Kills Deer After Month's Fancy Diet

Hancock, N. Y.—High living and lack of exercise resulted in the untimely death of a buck deer on the Baxter farm at Horton, N. Y., a few miles from here.

Four weeks ago, during a snowfall, a deer stalled in a snow bank on the Baxter farm and when rescued was exhausted. Taken to the barn, he seemed too weak to eat until Mrs. Baxter tried some hot buckwheat cakes with butter and sugar on them, and for these he "fell," and soon became himself again.

His presence and odd diet attracted visitors, who tried all sorts of dainties on him, improving his spirits and enlarging his girth. After four weeks of high living in the Baxter barn he was about the handsomest buck ever seen in these parts. After a four-course dinner, with fudge and bonbons for dessert, he spent a restless night, and died at daybreak.

Unclaimed Medals for Heroism

Gold medals awarded to three American seamen by the British government for "gallantry and humanity" in the rescue of the British brigantine Thames by the crew of the Springfield in December, 1924, still remain unclaimed. Photograph shows D. B. Carson, commissioner of navigation, who is trying to find John Madison, J. Maxim and A. A. Vanderlip, to whom the medals were awarded.

EMILIE GOURD IS MOST EMINENT OF SWISS WOMEN

Leader of Feminist Movement in Little Republic and Head of Most Activities of Women.

Geneva.—If women voted in Switzerland and were asked to cast their ballot for the most eminent in their confederation, there doubtless would be a flood of votes for Emilie Gourd, who personifies dynamic activity in all movements for the public welfare.

Miss Gourd of Geneva is editor of the Feminist Movement, the official organ of the national alliance of Swiss feminist societies. Women of Switzerland are permitted to vote only in certain municipalities on questions touching religion and education. Hence they are waging a persistent campaign to obtain the general franchise right.

The leader in this movement does not expect the new Swiss parliament to play an important role in suffragist history, but the struggle will go on.

"Our tactics are to win over to the cause of woman's suffrage first one canton and then another canton," Miss Gourd said. "Which canton will come to us first I know not. The big test will come when the voters as a whole as a federal body will be asked to decide whether women are to vote in Switzerland."

Miss Gourd was born in Geneva in 1879, the daughter of J. J. Gourd, well-known philosopher and professor at the University of Geneva. At an early age she herself became a professor in the private high schools and later was made secretary and then vice president of the Union of Women of Geneva. In 1914 she founded and personally directed a sewing circle for women whom the World war rendered homeless and workless—a circle which continues its usefulness to this day by providing employment for needy women.

Miss Gourd has directed several investigations into social problems affecting the welfare of women, presided over the Geneva exposition, which was devoted to showing what Geneva women are achieving in practical production, and was foremost in insisting that two women should be appointed as assistant police officials at Geneva.

In 1908 she became secretary of the National Alliance of Swiss Women Societies and later, as president of the Geneva Association for Woman Suffrage, launched a popular movement in favor of extending the franchise to women. Then followed election as secretary of the International Alliance for Woman Suffrage, and for it organized at Geneva the eighth international woman suffrage congress. She is now the representative of this organization to the League of Nations.

Despite this activity, Miss Gourd has written several worth-while volumes in addition to her daily journalistic output.

LIFE'S LITTLE JESTS

MARRED, NOT MARRIED

Rastus was looking for work and the employer was asking him the usual questions.

"What's your name?"

"Erastus Jackson, suh."

"How old are you?"

"Ah is twenty-nine yeahs, suh."

"Are you married?"

"No, suh. Dat scar on ma head is where a mule done kicked me."—New York Central Lines Magazine.

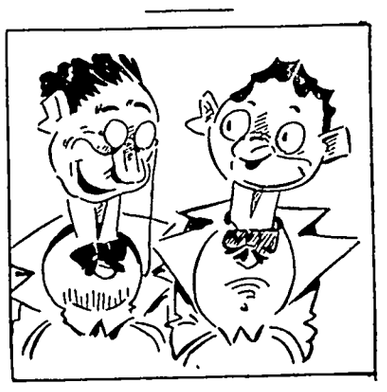
Hip! Hip!

How the hippopotamus got its name—A couple of other guys, way back in the dark ages, saw a hippo and one of them said, "Say, that thing looks more like a hippopotamus than any hippopotamus I have ever seen."

"I think so, too," came the reply.

And it's been called a hippopotamus ever since.

SO TIS SAID



"It's hades, ain't it?"

"What?"

"If you miss going to heaven."

Turks Do Work

Fig-eating is the only work
The Turk pursues with vigor;
And that's the reason why the Turk
Has such a bulging figger.

Whew!

Her Little Brother—Yes, sister has a box with lots of funny things in it. There's a rolling-pin, a revolver, two flatirons, some long hairpins, 'n' everything.

Sister's Beau—Dear me! What does she call that?

Her Little Brother—Her hope chest.

This Rapid Age

"Is that a genuine antique?"

"Yes," replied the dealer.

"Why, here's a mark that indicates it was made only twenty years ago."

"We are living in a very rapid age, madam. It doesn't take nearly as long to make an antique as it used to."

TUT-TUT!

Egg—Mr. Sausage looks very gloomy and sorrowful.

Oyster—Yes, a "sad dog"!

In Noah's Ark

There was a rooster that could crow
By daylight or by dark
So loud each living soul could hear—
He lived in Noah's ark.

Very Fortunate

"Did you hear that a man was murdered in the street last night for his money?"

"Yes, but luckily he had no money on him at the time."

Confirming His Fears

Mother—Yes, Doris has been learning to play the violin for six months. We were trying to keep it a secret!

Suffering Member of the Audience—I thought somebody had let the cat out of the bag!—The Humorist (London).

As Usual

Hill—What time is it?

Dale—Five-thirty.

Hill—By George. I've got to rush out and meet my wife at four o'clock!

A Pessimist

"Your little girl is fearfully knock-kneed, isn't she," remarked the caller.

"Yes," sighed the mother, "and I suppose when she grows up, the charleston wil be passe, and the popular dances will be the only one bow-legged girls can dance."

Yes, Why?

"You cad! I—I c-can't find words to express my indignation."

"Then why get wild when I say you are ignorant?"

HIGHER THAN WOOLWORTH BUILDING

The Yearly Sales of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Woolworth Building in New York City, which towers 792 feet above the street, is our highest building.

If all the bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound sold in one year could be placed end to end, they would make a column as high as the Woolworth Building. And there would be enough left over to extend from Lynn, Massachusetts to Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have lots of work to do and I am not very strong, but I was getting worse all the time until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used to lose my appetite completely at certain times, but I feel very well since I began taking this medicine. I think so much of it that I would go before a notary and swear to its merits. You could step into my home any time and you will find a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Frank M. Casey, 220 South 11th Ave., Mount Vernon, N. Y.

IRRITATING RASHES

For quick, lasting relief from itching and burning, doctors prescribe

Resinol

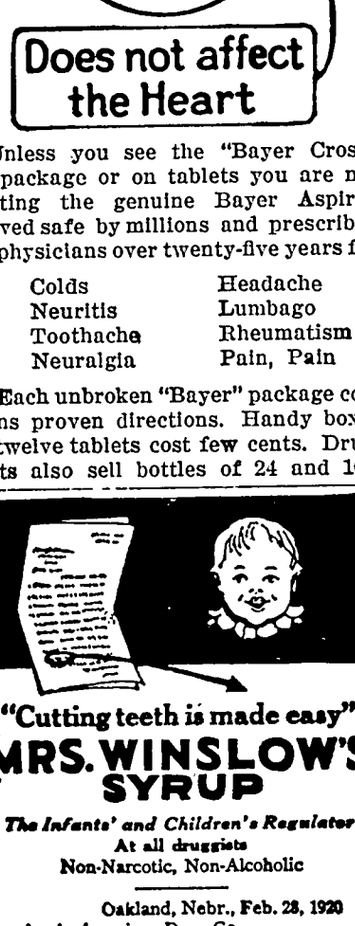
A Stinger

Prof.—"What are the habits of a wasp?" Frosh—"Very bad, I assure you."—West Point Pointer.

It is better to be on the fence than to have too much faith or too much doubt.

"BAYER ASPIRIN" PROVED SAFE

Take without Fear as Told in "Bayer" Package



Does not affect the Heart

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-five years for

Colds	Headache
Neuritis	Lumbago
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Each unbroken "Bayer" package contains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100.

"Cutting teeth is made easy"

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

The Infants' and Children's Regulator

At all druggists

Non-Narcotic, Non-Alcoholic

Oakland, Nebr., Feb. 28, 1920

Anglo-American Drug Co.,

Gentlemen:

I am more than glad to tell you of the experience and result obtained from your wonderful Baby Medicine. Our second baby is now seven months old and has never given us a moment's trouble. The first and only thing she has ever taken was Mrs. Winslow's Syrup. She has four teeth and is always smiling and playing. Cutting teeth is made easy by the use of Mrs. Winslow's Syrup. Most sincerely,

(Name on request)

ANGLO-AMERICAN DRUG CO.

215-217 Fulton Street, New York

STOP THAT COUGH

with Boschee's Syrup—the old reliable family remedy that has been in use for 60 years. Loosens and brings up the phlegm and eases the dryness and irritation. At all druggists. 30c and 90c. If you cannot get it, write to G. G. GREEN, INC., Woodbury, N. J.

Baby Loves A Bath With Cuticura Soap

Bland and Soothing to Tender Skins.

FIRST KLEMME BAND CONCERT FRI. JUNE 11

Concerts Will Be Given In Park On Friday Evenings

The first band concert of the season by the Klemme Band will be played in the Park on Friday evening, June 11th.

It is planned to have band concerts each Friday evening at the Park. The concerts will begin at 8:00 o'clock.

The band is financed this year by the special band tax levied last year and the Council has allowed twenty dollars for each concert.

The concerts are being given on "closed" nights this year instead of the usual Wednesday night concerts because a number of the band members have business interests to attend to on open nights. The band otherwise would have to hire several outside players if they are to play on open nights.

BLANCHE HULSE MARRIED AT MASON CITY TUESDAY

As we are about to go to press we learn that Miss Blanche Hulse of this place and Mr. Cecil Payne of Kanawha were married at Mason City Tuesday afternoon at 1:30.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Chris Mayne of this city. She graduated from the Klemme high school this spring and is a fine young lady.

Mr. Payne, we understand, is a young farmer from near Kanawha.

The Times extends congratulations.

IOWA'S 1925 CORN CROP WAS LARGER THAN ESTIMATED

Des Moines, June 3.—Iowa's corn acreage of 1925 was 104,317 acres larger than the estimates, according to the summary of the assesor's reports that have just been completed by the Weather and Crop Service of the Iowa Department of Agriculture. However, this is an error of only nine-tenths of one per cent.

The corn crop of 1925 was 61 per cent larger than the crop of 1924. The total yield in 1925 was 492,647,590 bushels, which is a new record The second largest yield was in 1922 when the total yield was 465,915,000 bushels.

Eighty-six per cent of Iowa's corn crop was harvested by shucking or snapping A trifle over two per cent was used for silage, while approximately six per cent was used for fodder and the remaining six per cent was hogged down or grazed off.

Iowa's oat crop also set a new record last year with a total yield of 243,647,413 bushels. The next largest crop was in 1918 when the total yield was 229,238,000 bushels.

SAFETY

INCOME

MARKETABILITY

ARE

THE THREE

REASONS

WHY

YOU CAN

SAFELY

INVEST IN

THE SEVEN PERCENT

PREFERRED SHARES

OF

CETNRAL STATES

ELECTRIC COMPANY

Ask Us

FOR A CIRCULAR

Address:

SECURITIES DEPT.

CENTRAL STATES

ELECTRIC COMPANY

215 South 2nd St.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IA.

Goodell News

(By Special Correspondent)

Verner Hamilton is working at Savogue's restaurant this week.

Fronia Fuller entertained company from Iowa Falls Sunday.

Dorothy Allaben will start work at Ahrenkiel's store June 1st.

Viola Quigley returned from Belmond Saturday night.

Crystal Lake high school also held their picnic at West Lake Friday.

Mr. Blue is enjoying a visit from his parents of Le Mars.

Jay Griggs was a business caller at Ventura Friday.

Eliza Cashman spent a few days on the farm with Mrs. Clifford Chase

Eric Williams of Humbolt was a Goodell business caller Saturday.

Mrs Kepner has been visiting at the Sandberg home.

Jay Griggs was transacting business at Lone Rock Friday.

Viola Rust and Chloe Thomas also returned home from Cedar Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Kahrs of Ventura were Goodell callers Thursday nigh .

Mrs Monaghen has been quite sick the past week. Agnes Fuller is staying with her.

Leo Finn will start work at Thada's store June 1st. Mr. Usher will continue work there also

Mrs. Goodrich of Cedar Falls, visited at the Houghton and Conlan homes the past week.

Mrs Houghton and "Speck" left for Denver, Col., Monday to visit Mr. and Mrs Joe Houghton.

Mr and Mrs. C. F. Peters and baby of Burt spent Sunday with Goodell friends.

Emmet Kearney, of Williams, is spending a few days at the Kearney and Halfpop homes.

Mr and Mrs. Nolan and two children, of Graettinger are visiting at the Arthur Lowenberg home.

Quite a few from Goodell attended the Memorial Day Exercises at Belmond Saturday morning.

Mrs. Thada, of Thornton is visiting at the home of her son, Walter Thada.

Elsie and Isabelle Knoll, of Ventura visited school friends Friday.

Mae Griggs and Myrtle Cooper of Meservey were transacting business in Buffalo Center Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Blue and Donald went to Cedar Falls Tuesday. Mr. Blue will attend summer school.

Viola Quigley went to Belmond Friday night to go with her grandmother and aunts to Fort Dodge.

Helma Burgess returned home Tuesday after spending a year in college at Cedar Falls.

Mrs. Geo. Hall, of Charles City, spent Sunday with relatives near Goodell.

John Savogue and son, Harold, have gone to Spirit Lake for a weeks fishing trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Allie and children spent the week end at Boone.

Mae Griggs left for Cedar Falls Sunday where she will attend summer school Fernon and Lela took her as far as Iowa Falls

Mrs. Galbriath and La Vonne, of Cedar Falls, came Saturday morning for a short visit with Mrs. Christensen.

The children are all glad that school is out and expect to spend a very pleasant vacation. Some of the teachers will attend summer school.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Wesenberg and family spent a few days at Clear Lake fishing. They enjoyed themselves greatly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Baker and family, Paul Baker and Carl Teiman returned Tuesday after a two days visit with relatives in Minnesota.

Martin Grover of Leland, Ill., came Sunday for a visit at the White home. Marjorie Grover who has attended school here for the past year will return to her home with him.

Marie and Viola Hood of Des Moines are visiting at the Hood and Bielefeld homes. A dance was given in the hall, in their honor, Wednesday night. Those present report a nice time.

The annual school picnic held Friday at West Lake was well attended. Everyone enjoyed themselves immensely. A ball game was played by the high school vs. the town team. The score was 12 to 10 in the town's favor

The Memorial Day program was held in the Amsterdam Cemetery Sunday at 2:00 o'clock near the Unknown Grave. Rev. Scott delivered a very interesting address. The Legion Boys were present. Several selections of songs were sung and a number of pieces spoken by the town people.

Commencement was held in the U. B. Church Thursday night. A nice crowd attended. Rev. J. D. O'Connor of Belmond delivered the address, "The Game of Life," which was very interesting. Paul Halfpop, the only graduate received many gifts and congratulations. Father Malloy, who was to take part in the program was unable to be present. Margaret Fuller and Lela Griggs were ushers. Goodell will have six seniors next year. They are: Effie Clark, Margaret Fuller, Lela Griggs, Forest Boren, Raymond Chelsvig and Wayne Bachman. We are proud of the fact that there were none who failed in their work this year

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank all those who expressed their sympathy in various ways in our recent bereavement. We also wish to extend thanks for he floral contributions

The Ludeke Children

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Recorder, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—Clarissa Peterson Abel tc

FOR RECORDER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Recordor subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Fern Peck Katter, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination to the office of Representative from Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Marion A. Fell, Garner, Iowa. c

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Representative in the state legislature, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary election in June, 1926. —C. H. Nelson, Garner, Ia. *

I hereby announce myself a candidate for representative for Hancock County in the Iowa State Legislature subject to the decision of the voters at the primaries in Juno 1926.—Ole T. Rikansrud, R. R. No. 4, Kanawha, Iowa.

FOR COUNTY CLERK

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination of Clerk of Courts of Hancock county subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primaries.—Chris J. Johansen. c

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby annuhce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primaries.—R. W. Sinclair, Garner Ia. *

FOR AUDITOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination to the office of County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926, Primary Election. —H. C. Meyer. c

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election for County Supervisor subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—A. O. Christensen. *

FOR SUPERVISOR

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the June Primary election.—F. J. Urich, Garner, Iowa.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for reelection for County Supervisor subject to the Republican voters at the June Primary election 1926.—Fred Oxley, Corwith.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of supervisor of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the voters a the Republican primary in June, 1926.—G. H. Lade, Garner.

FOR TREASURER

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the voters at the June, 1926 Primary.—John Suurballe. c

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of treasurer of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primaries in June, 1926.—C. A. Halverson, Miller, Iowa.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the Primary Election to be held June8, 1926.—Herb Gartin. c

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the republican voters at the June, 1926 primaries.—E. P. "Peck" Hanson.

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Office of Sheriff of Hancock County, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the 1926 Primary.—Bert Leuthi Britt.

COUNTY ATTORNEY

I hereby announce my candi for the office of County Attorney Hancock County, subject to the cision of the voters at the Republ primary in June 1926.—Verne Grau.

I hereby announce myself a can date for the office of County At ney, of Hancock County, subject the decision of the Republican vo at the June Primaries.—V. S. Wh Britt.

—SPECIAL—

SATURDAY ONLY

REGULAR 75c STATIONERY FOR 59 cents

WATCH OUR WINDOW

Wilson's Pharmacy

It's Picnic Time!

Hot weather is here, and with it comes plans for Picnics and other hot weather lunches. We are prepared to meet your wants along this line. When you are planning a Picnic come here—you will find everything you need from our nice fresh line of goods:—

HERE ARE SOME SUGGESTIONS

For Sandwiches:—

Pimento Cheese, Cream Cheese, Brick Cheese
Limburger Cheese, Longhorn Cheese
Cold Slice Meats of All Kinds Veal Loaf
Dried Beef Peanut Butter
Sandwich Spread

Some Tasty Dishes:—

Herring Spiced or Salted Mackerel ..
Sardines Salmon, Etc.

And You Need These:—

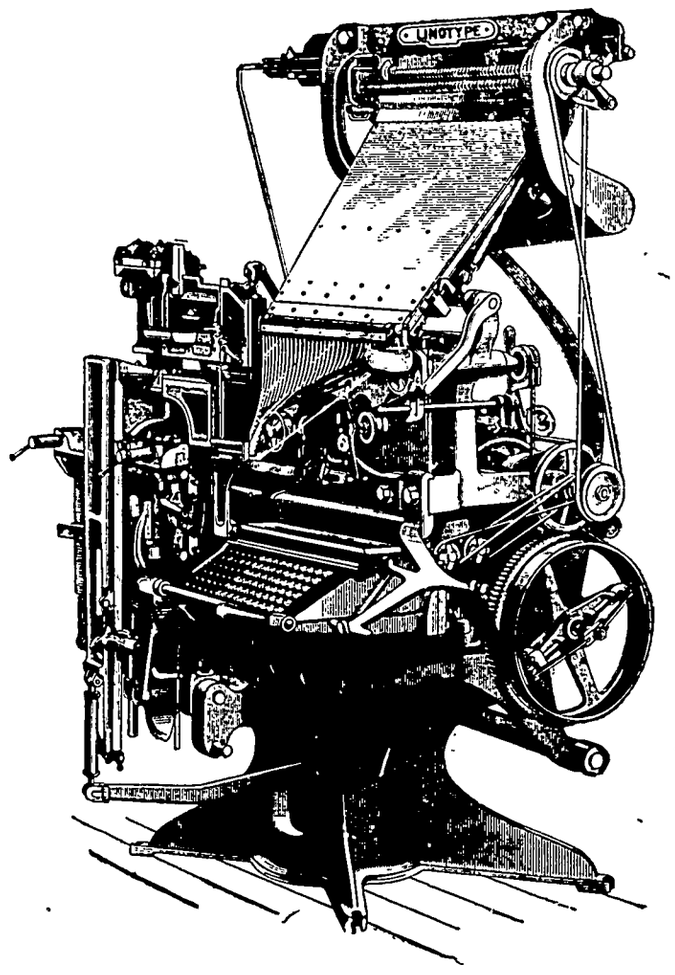
Pickles—Sweet and Dill, all kinds and varieties of Pickles to suit your taste.
Olives in Bulk or Bottled, plain and stuffed—Jelly, Ketchup, Mustard, Pork & Beans, Pickled Meats, Etc.

—FULL LINE OF BACON AND HAM—

Klemme Meat Market

You can get it here--

Printed Better



Our Linotype Is Always READY!

Ask Us For Prices

Times Print Shop

BAYSIDE Clear Lake Iowa

AmusementPark

WONDERFUL FREE ATTRACTIONS FOR

SUNDAY, JUNE 6th

—30 PIECE CONCERT BAND—

THE HARRISONS in Two Acts—World's Greatest Cyclists Direct from St. Louis.

NAGEL AND HIS DOGS—10 Trained Dogs in 2 Big Acts.

——MANY OTHER ATTRACTIONS——

Little Train, Aeroplane, Merry Go Round, Coaster, Fun House, Dance Pavillion, Bath House, Fine Bathing Beach, Boats, Free Picnic Grounds and Tables

FUN FOR ALL AND ALL FOR FUN

—POLICED PARKING GROUNDS FOR CARS, 15c—

Admission to Bayside Park 10c. Children Free.

Threshing Coal

Put in your order now for Threshing Coal, so you will be sure to have it on time.

ORDER YOUR COAL NOW

We can save you a lot of money and furnish you with better coal if you will give us your order NOW! At this time of the year we can buy the best coal from the mines we select—later we have to take what we can get. Order now—you will get better coal for less money.

POULTRY FEEDS

We carry a full line of Dickinson's "GLOBE BRAND" of Chicken Feeds, etc., and have on hand:

"GLOBE" CHICK STARTER
"GLOBE" GROWING MASH
"GLOBE" SCRATCH FEED, etc.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

VOTE FOR

H. C. MEYER

for County Auditor

I am now serving as County Auditor and the duties of the office make it impossible for me to see more than a very small percentage of the voters. I am therefore asking for your support at the Primary Election through the columns of your home paper. Your support will be appreciated and in return I will give you real service in the Auditor's office.

VOTE FOR

H. C. MEYER

for County Auditor

VOTE FOR

Frank J. Urich

For Supervisor

I am a candidate for Supervisor of Hancock County to take office on January 1, 1926, and respectfully solicit your votes.

I have lived continuously in Hancock County for the past thirty six years, during all of which time I have been actively engaged in farming.

During this time I have raised and educated a large family all of whom I hope and believe have been a credit to the community.

At the present time I own and pay taxes on over four hundred acres of Hancock County land and have been a heavy contributor to the drainage funds of the county.

Have had considerabe experience in drainage and assessment matters and feel that I am entirely capable to handle anything in this line that may come up in the futture

If nominated and elected I promise the people of Hancock County an honest and economical admministration.

FRANK J. URICH

POLAR EXPEDITIONS WELL WORTH WHILE

Organizer of Arctic Parties Defends Projects.

New York.—Justification for the risk and expenditure of money involved in three American Arctic expeditions last summer was given by Robert Anderson Pope, organizer of the All-American Alumni Arctic expedition. His outfit will be commanded by Lieut. Leigh Wade, assisted by Lieut. H. H. Ogden, both of whom are round-the-world flyers.

All three expeditions will attempt to locate and claim for the United States a large body of land believed to lie north of Alaska and eastern Siberia, spoken of by the explorers as "a new polar continent." The National Geographic society estimates that this land comprises about 1,000,000 square miles.

Natives of the northern Alaskan and Siberian coasts long have been convinced that land lay to the northward, explains Mr. Pope. They base their belief chiefly upon the northerly flight of birds in the spring, just before nesting season. Some scientists think the birds fly clear across the pole to Spitzbergen and Franz Joseph land, hut the majority think they would not be likely to attempt such a long flight at the beginning of the nesting season.

Resting Place Near By.

E. W. Nelson, chief of the bureau of biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, recalled the evidence of Captain Hooker of the Corwin, in 1881, who found innumerable fresh tracks of wild geese on Wrangell island, but not a sign of the geese themselves, indicating a temporary stopping place.

Capt. John Keenan of Troy, N. Y., cruising the Beautiful sea, north of the Alaskan shore, in search of whales in the seventies, offered more substantial evidence. After taking several whales the weather became thick and he stood to the north. When the fog lifted land to the north was seen distinctly by him and all the members of his crew.

Peary, on his unsuccessful attempt to reach the pole In 1906, reported that he sighted land to the northwest of Grant Land. Observing from an elevation of about 2,000 feet, he could see land at a great distance, which he named Crocker Land. Further north between latitudes 85½ and 87 degrees, almost at the pole, he found bear and fox tracks, indicating that land was not a great distance away.

Tidal Movement.

The late R. A. Harris of the United States coast and geodetic survey offered what the explorers believe to be far more substantial information. Mr. Harris claimed that virtually all the tidal movement at the pole depends upon pressure from the tides of the north Atlantic ocean entering the circumpolar seas between Greenland and Spitzbergen.

If there were no obstruction the tides at Bennett island, north of the Siberian coast, would be the same as at Point Barrow, he said. But the tides off Bennett island rise and fall 2½ feet, while off Point Barrow there is a tide of only 0.4 foot. Mr. Harris held this to be proof positive that there is some great obstruction around which the tides must flow. Further evidence of land was furnished by indications that the Beaufort sea virtually is closed in to the north and eastward. Ice does not drift freely to the northward. It seems to be caught in a pocket, and is of remarkable thickness and age. Northeast winds will drive the ice to the westward, but there is little or no movement of the ice when the wind blows from the west.

Scientist Makes Glass Eyes That Can Be Moved

Berlin.—Moveable glass eyes which are hard to distinguish from normal eyes because they are subject to the control of optic muscles have been successfully fitted by Dr. Carl Mueller of Jena, noted artificial eye specialist.

Doctor Mueller found that in 90 out of 100 cases of the loss of an eye the muscles and nerves controlling the movement of the eye were unimpaired.

He said he fastens connective muscle tissue of animals to a glass eye and grafts these tissues onto the remnants of the human eye muscles. The extremely delicate operation requires about an hour, and he has been successful in from 80 to 90 per cent of his cases. Success depends to a large extent, he asserted, upon the condition of the eye socket after the loss of the eye.

Picks Good Name

New Haven, Conn.—Emanuel Hasheesh would become one of Uncle Sam's citizens, but under the name of Emanuel H. Adil, which, he explains, in Syrian means justice.

Parents Call on City to Bar Santa Claus

Vancouver, B. C.—The Vancouver city council and the Vancouver Retail Merchants' association are confronted by the Vancouver Parent-Teachers' association asking that impersonations of Santa Claus be discontinued. Disillusionment of children, when promises made by the jolly saint in department stores remain unfilled on Christmas day, was given as the reason.

KEEP EYE OPEN FOR PESTS

Serious Outbreak of Army and Cut Worms Warns Iowa

A serious outbreak of the army worm and variegated cut worms in Texas during the past two weeks may indicate that conditions this year are particularly favorable for these two pests. Their repredations elsewhere may be taken as a warning to look out for them in Iowa where farmers have had many unpleasant experiences with the same pests before. Two years ago the worms did a great deal of damage to wheat, rye, corn, alfalfa, clover and other plants. The variegated cut worm is particularly destructive to alfalfa.

A number of different species of cut worms are already active in Iowa according to the Entomology Department of Iowa State College. Cut worms may form the army worm habit if they become over-abundant and travel thru fields in large numbers

Army worms and cut worms belong to the same family so the same treatment will control both. The poisoned bran method is the best. Mix 20 to 25 pounds of wheat bran with 1 pound of paris green, 2 quarts of low grade molasses and 2½ gallons of water. This mash should be sprinkled around each hill, a handful being enough for five or six hills. The best way is to walk between two rows sprinkling the hills on each side.

Watch For Green Worms On Cabbage

While making the daily rounds of the garden, one should scrutinize the cabbage plants closely now because it's time for the little green worms to appear for their annual feast on the cabbage leaves, As soon as they appear, dust the plants lightly with one part of lead arsenate mixed with 10 parts of hydrated lime. A cheese cloth bag makes a very good sifter. The lime application should be repeated after rains.

If worms appear on the currents or gooseberry bushes, a lead arsenate spray will get rid of the pests. Mix 1 pound of lead arsenate to 50 gallons of water, or any fraction of this amount if desired, keeping the ratio the same.—B. B. Fulton, Iowa State College.

Get Sweet Potatoes, Egg Plants Out

Sweet potatoes and egg plants, the last addition to the garden this spring should be transplanted from the hotbeds immediately. From now on the only vegetable plantings to be made are successive seedings of radishes and the like to insure fresh green stuff throughout the summer.

Egg plants thrive best if planted three feet between rows and two feet apart in rows.

Sweet potatoes can be set out n hills or in rows. If one plans to set them out on high ground, planting in rows 12 to 14 inches apart probably would prove the best, for this method is much more satisfactory in dry weather such as Iowa has experienced this spring

If the sweet potato bed is down in a swale where the soil is heavy, the hill method of planting is the best. Two and a half to three feet should be allowed between rows.—Ora Smith, Iowa State College.

Fight the weeds now. Later they won't be so easy to whip.

NOTICE To The Voters!

The Board of Supervisors of Hancock County wishes to call the attention of the Voters to the Special Election to be held in connection with the regular June Primary on Monday, June 7, 1926. The proposition to be submitted is that the Board is asking the voters to be allowed to spend more han $5,000 to construct a barn at the County Home.

In order to comply with the law it is necessary to submit this to a vote. However, this WILL NOT RAISE THE TAXES one cent as the money is already ON HAND for the above purpose. The building will cost $6,000 to construct, but as the law states that where the cost exceeds $5,000 a special elecion shall be held.

Bear in mind that the money IS ON HAND and the voting must be done to comply with the law in this case. It is to the interest of everyone to vote favorably.

—By Order of the Board.

OIL STOVES

Although you have a good range in your kitchen you should also have a Good Oil Cook Stove. Nothing in your kitchen will lighten your work in warm weather than one of our Oil Stoves. You will use it for Canning, Baking and Cooking in hot weather. No dust, dirt, ashes, kindling or coal to dirty up your kitchen. Come in today and look over our large assortment—we have a stove to suit your needs:

NEW PERFECTION OIL STOVES
NEW PURITAN OIL STOVES—
(One To Four Burner Styles)

New Perfection and New Puritan Oil Stoves are simple in operation, burn ordinary kerosene, are absolutely safe and there is nothing to go wrong with them. They will last for years.

ALBERT LEA GAS. STOVES—

We carry a full line of Ovens in all sizes. Ask to see the new one-hole round oven for small baking.

E. F. Jacobs

"THE FARM SERVICE STORE"

To the Voters of Hancock County:

I TAKE THIS PRIVILGE OF INTRODUCING MY CANDIDACY AS COUNTY TREASURER OF HANCOCK COUNTY ON THE REPUBLICAN TICKET

I will not be able to see all the voters, but I would like to solicit the support of all the voters, that is why I am publishing this.

I was born and raised in Hancock County, my folks were of the earliest settlers.

I am qualified to take charge of the office I seek which will be vouched for by all who know he.

After I left school I have been and am now farming in Ellington Township. I would ask all to look up my qualification and ability, and give my candidacy due consideration.

The present incumbant is now seeking his fourth term as County Treasurer; he also held the Sheriff's office three terms.

The old rule of two terms to county officers is beleived in by many and I beleive you will agree with me that when I ask your consideration for the first time you will give me your support, I assure you it will be appreciated.

Yours truly,

C. A. Halverson

CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY TREASURER OF HANCOCK COUNTY

The Wife-Ship Woman

By HUGH PENDEXTER

Author of "Kings of the Missouri," "Pay Gravel," "A Virginia Scout," etc.

Copyright by Hugh Pendexter—1923-1925.
WNU Service

CHAPTER XIII—Continued

—17—

"Only a scout," he whispered in my ear. "I'll swing off to the left to stop them from coming through the woods."

Away he glided on the south side of the trail and taking a course parallel to it. Until the enemy passed him he controlled the strip between his line of advance and the trail.

For several minutes the forest was quiet except for some droning bees in the open trail; then sounded a whistle.

"Why don't you answer him?" asked the girl.

I knew it was none of Labrador's signals, and motioned for her to be still. A musket shattered the silence. Labrador was exultantly shouting:

"I got a good one!"

"Mon Dieu!" moaned the girl, pressing both hands to her head.

I peeped from behind the tree and beheld a hideously striped face, white and yellow even as the girl had described it. I sent a ball crashing through the fellow's head and he made a grewsome business of dying, kicking about and expiring with his two legs showing through the bush. I heard Labrador's musket again, quickly followed by a pistol-shot. Then Damoan's high voice howled:

"Now you have him!"

I picked up the girl and tossed her high into the forked branches of the oak and warned her to remain perfectly still, and darted after Labrador. I came upon him as he gave ground, his face toward the invisible enemy.

"The woman?" he growled as we came together.

"Hidden in the tree. Fall back!"

He passed on, and I remained to cover his retreat and give him time to load. Damoan yelled again, and a Choctaw brave came bounding through the woods, flourishing ax and knife, and I sent a ball through his painted chest just as he was springing over a log

Then I gave ground, passing Labrador, who was ready for the next onslaught.

"Get the girl and make up the trail!" he muttered.

I ran to the oaks and reloaded and said something reassuring to the girl. The dead man in the trail would hold others back, as they could not know I had left my post to reinforce my friend. I decided we stood a better chance of escaping if we stood our ground and did not make a running fight of it. Off to my left sounded a whistle and the crack of a gun, followed by another which I took to be Labrador's. Damoan was shouting orders. There was no danger of an attack up the trail so long as the Fox led the fighting against the Canadian. Repeating my warning to the girl, I ran the second time to help my friend.

I softly called my name, that he might not shoot me for a Choctaw and joined him. He was wiping blood from his forehead and I had a shaft through the flesh of the lower leg. Breaking off the feathered end, I pushed the barbed head through and straightened up in time to nick a brawny warrior who was creeping in on my right.

With a scream of rage Damoan betrayed his hiding-place. The next moment he was urging four savages at us; and I said to Labrador: "Now for some good work."

My musket was empty and my pistol missed fire. I hurled the pistol into a savage's face and grappled with Damoan. I heard Joe's pistol explode, so close it deafened me; and in the first gyration with Damoan I nearly tripped over the beggar Joe had shot. He was now clubbing his musket and two Choctaws were trying to get inside his guard with their knives. The man I had knocked down with my pistol now slashed at my legs with his knife. I sent the heel of my moccasin into his face, but lost my grip on Damoan, who leaped to help his men finish Labrador, thinking to do this and have the help of the two in a last struggle with me.

I jumped after him just as one of the savages received Labrador's ironshod musket butt between the eyes, his head caving in like an eggshell. But the other lunged in with his knife and left it sticking between poor Joe's ribs. I had raised my ax to do for Damoan, but even as it started to descend I shifted my aim and caught Labrador's slayer fair on the scalplock so that he fell beside his victim. And then Damoan was on my back.

The sight of poor Labrador, watching our struggle with dying gaze, gave me the strength of several men. I must finish with Damoan and receive my friend's last words. My left arm was behind the fellow's neck. He was trying to get at his knife. I gave him a chance for the sake of getting my right wrist under his chin. He grunted with joy as he pulled his blade free, and I gave a pull and push and snapped his neck in a most tidy fashion before he could even send his point through my shirt. Labrador stared to one side and I wheeled in time to behold the savage I had twice knocked down raise on one knee to hurl an ax. I dropped and came up with a dead man's ax and chopped him to the chin. There was a gleam of applause in Labrador's eyes as I gained his side.

"Red rings on a red pole," he muttered, referring to the Natchez style of counting coups. "Get the girl away. Don't stop to bury me. There may be more of them."

"You shall be buried if there were a million," I panted.

I thought he was gone, but he rallied and whispered:

"My wife was a better woman than I was man. She will understand. She was very wise for a red woman. Ah, those Natchez!"

I scalped Damoan, as I had promised him I should do, and stuck his hair to a tree with his own knife. Then I went back and comforted the girl and told her she must remain in the tree for a bit longer; this last that she might not discover the bloody plight I was in. Returning to the scene of the fight I dug a grave with my knife and buried Joe.

Mademoiselle wept bitterly when I rescued her from the tree and told her that Labrador had gone away. Narbonne, Six Fingers, Labrador and Damoan, not to mention the Choctaws, the Huma woman and the Netchez word-bearer. Taking mademoiselle north had cost much blood.

I bandaged my leg and shoulder with her assistance and we covered a quarter of a mile when we ran into a band of Chickasaws, who had been attracted by the gunfire. I told them of the battle and gave Joe all the credit except for the men in the trail. They hastened on to gather the scalps and to leave a hieroglyphic picture carved on a tree by Joe's grave which would keep his resting-place undisturbed for all time so far as the red men were concerned.

The Man I Had Knocked Down With My Pistol Now Slashed at My Legs With My Knife.

CHAPTER XIV

One Line From Mademoiselle.

Something of peace came to the girl as, after a brief stop at Chukafalaya, we followed the windings of the Cherokee. While in the Indian town mademoiselle secured new garments of soft deerskin. Our travel was slow, and we were a long time in following the eccentric river through its meanderings. But so far as I was concerned there was no need of hurry. The governors of Virginia and the Carolinas would be very impatient to receive my reports; yet if I were tardy in finishing my journey so, also, would Bienville wait over-long to hear from Damoan the Fox.

The Chickasaws provided an escort until we were well within the Cherokee country. Mademoiselle never spoke of the past, of the time when we first met on Ship island, or of her life in France. Whatever half-formed impressions I had entertained regarding her life overseas were washed away by the murmuring current of the Cherokee. Sometimes she was a child, sometimes a woman, and whichever her mood there was a satisfaction that amounted to happiness in seeing her before the evening campfire and in knowing she was behind me in the light bark canoe. This feeling of contentment in her presence grew upon me amazingly as we finally drew toward the end of the journey.

One night, with the Cherokee escort chanting some medicine-songs in their nearby camp, I gave way to an impulse, and, bending forward to watch her thoughtful face through the smoke of the fire, I said:

"Once down the river I asked you something, Mademoiselle Dahlsgaarde. I wish to repeat that offer when we reach home."

"Home?" she whispered, lifting her head and staring at me strangely.

"I wish to make it home for you," I awkwardly explained.

She smiled sadly and lifted a hand to prevent further talk of the kind, and firmly said:

"That is all finished, my friend. We will not speak of it more."

This second refusal left me feeling entirely different than had the first. It dawned on me that my proprietorship was about to end; that the days of my arranging for her comfort were soon over. If I had been prompted by an exaggerated sense of chivalrous duty when I first asked her to take my name at least I had not been downcast by her refusal. Her tears had forced the offer from me. This, my reentrance into the forbidden subject, had no such unselfish incitement. My face must have grown very long, or else my trick of pulling at my beard gave her the suggestion. For she said:

"In leaving it once for all I will say this to monsieur, even though it is not maidenly to speak of it further. You pitied a poor girl who was entirely unknown to you. You heeded her plea to be taken North when you had all you could do to save your own life. Her company has forced you into many dangers and has cost you a dear friend. It has greatly delayed your arrival home. In addition to all this, through your sense of duty, you offered marriage to this waif, who has no family, no history. Monsieur, you have exhausted all the sacrifice that the most tender of heart could be called upon to make. I won't try to thank you with words: but my heart will always thank you."

"I don't ask for any thanks," I glumly replied. "That other time, you spoke of your pride, of pride standing between us."

"A pride that forbids me allowing anyone to make every sacrifice for me," she evasively corrected.

"I did not read your belts that way," I doggedly retorted.

"Belts?" And her hands flew to her girdle.

"Your talk," I interrupted. "The pride you meant was that which one feels when thinking an inferior is making advances."

Her face was as scarlet as the northern maples when the frost lays on the vermilion. She tried to be angry, and there was a flash in her eye that bespoke a shrewd temper.

"Claire Dahlsgaarde, a nobody, so proud she feels hurt when an honest gentleman offers her marriage? Oh, la, la! Surely some English as well as all the French believe in fairy stories!"

"It is what I believed then," I insisted, refusing to be laughed out of the notion.

She sighed and said:

"If such an impossible could be, then the woman must be crazy."

"I believe it. I can now see you as you looked then. There was no mistaking your mood. You felt almost insulted—"

"Mon Dieu, monsieur!" she wailed.

"I say it."

"Stop!" she commanded, rising and standing in the smoke of the fire to stare into my disgruntled eyes. "If you really believe such madness, monsieur, and really wish me, for your wife—"

"I am crazy," I cried, rising and backing from the fire. "I am a fool, and am making the finish of your journey very unpleasant."

"If you believe what you said I shall be proud to marry you to prove my gratitude," she murmured.

"That would wrong both of us. I love, and must have love in return, or nothing. I am a very foolish man, mademoiselle. Big men often are. Give me Indians to fight each day and I am normal. Leave me to amuse myself, and I am a fool. You will try to forgive me and forget it all. I walk over to question the Cherokees about the mountain pass we enter tomorrow."

"Just a moment, monsieur," she hurriedly said. "If some time—after this is all over—you feel the same as you seem to feel now you may tell me."

With an unconscious return of the grande dame air she lifted her head high, and gravely added:

"You have my permission."

Pride? She was made up of pride, from her toes to her braided yellow hair. Why? Who could say? Certainly not I. Her lapses into the imperious were both irritating and fascinating. Such a high bearing was an absurdity, and yet it placed an air upon her which would make men covet her. As I retreated to the Cherokee fires I knew my dreams were ended, and that the quicker I submitted my reports and returned to my work the better it would be for my peace of mind.

* * * * * * *

I took her to Charles Town, as all the planters were there, or on the neighboring islands for the hot season to escape the fever, and presented her to some family friends as a French refugee. While trying to relieve her of money worries without offending her quick spirit she told me she had a few jewels on which she could realize and get along until she heard from France. Then I left her, our parting being in public and on the surface showing nothing, and I was off for the North to finish my business and get acquainted with my own people.

What with official business in North Carolina and Virginia, and a request that I go to Pennsylvania and tell the Quakers all I had learned, it was several months before I could relax in the home of my people. New Year's day found me moping about the plantation, trying to avoid intruding on a young squire who was frantically in love with my little sister. A black boy brought me a sealed message from town, which bore my full name on the outside. Opening it I read:

"Monsieur le Sauvage Blanc. It may be I shall soon be sailing for France.

C. D."

The note bore no date and there was no knowing how long it had been on the way. I ran to the stables, bowling over the young idiot who was daft about my sister, and secured my horse. I have no clear recollection of the days which followed. The time it required to reach Charles Town I estimate in horses. I used up seven by the time I quit the saddle in King street. I was informed by the black town butler that Mademoiselle Dahlsgaarde and the family were at the plantation on the Santee, having gone there after the first frost had ended the fever season. I breathed a bit easier. I was between her and the seacoast.

As I was making the last stretch along the river road—for I went by horse, a barge on the river being too slow—I was wildly accosted by a man who spoke French. There was something familiar about the fellow's voice but I was in no mood to renew acquaintances; and I galloped on with his meaningless, "Monsieur! Monsieur!" ringing in ears which heard nothing. Before making the plantation I reined down to a walk and recovered some of my composure. On my way up the winding drive I saw a young woman at one side, standing by a hedge. She softly called to me, and a closer glance revealed her to be mademoiselle.

She was dressed in the mode, and most wonderful to gaze upon; a severe little person, withal, for a travel-stained man to approach. I turned my horse loose for a black boy to catch and stable and hurried across the lawn and stood beside her.

"Mademoiselle, some time ago, I do not know how long, I received your message. I started immediately. I have tarried none along the way," I said.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Saw Nothing Pretty in Hopi Snake Dance

The only ceremonial Indian dance of which I know the date, or approximately the date, is the Hopi snake dance, which comes in August, near the last of the month, Mr. Harriman writes in Adventure Magazine. The Hopi themselves never know the exact date until near the time, as it is fixed by the time when a shadow hits a certain point on the mesa. The priests watch and when a certain shadow touches this particular spot, then they know the dance must be held a certain number of days later.

This makes it vary from year to year, by a few days.

This dance is held either at Oraibi, Hotevilla or Walpi, though at times it occurs at Shumgopavi or Mishongnovi. It is the closing number of a nine-day ceremonial, which they believe brings rain. The snakes are caught and brought in after much mummery. The whole ceremony is a disgusting pagan rite, where men hold live snakes in their jaws and go dancing around the plaza. They drink an emetic of strong potency and all stand in a row and vomit violently over a cliff. Bah!

Savage Recipe

Cut one-half a pound of salt pork in small pieces and cook until browned. Add one quart of boiling water. Chop six medium-sized bees, one carrot, and two onions and add them.—Household item in the Washington Star.

Tungsten of Great Value

Tungsten or wolfram is a metallic element isolated by the brothers d'Elhujart in 1783, after Scheele had, in 1771, isolated tungstic acid. Tungsten is not found native, but occurs as the tungstate of iron and manganese in the mineral wolframite, as the calcium tungstate or scheelite, as the trioxide or wolfram ochre, and in small quantities in other minerals. Tungsten minerals are almost invariably found in tin ores. It is used to increase the hardness and tenacity of steel and thus improve it as a material for hard tools. Coolidge has succeeded in rendering tungsten malleable and ductile, and at present tungsten wire is widely used for making incandescent lamp filaments.

Blind Man's Buff

Blind man's buff — a delightful game for the children. But grown-ups prefer to shop with their eyes open. That's why so many are turning to Monarch Coffee and Monarch Cocoa — high in quality, low in cost.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago • Boston • Pittsburgh • New York

Question of Altitude

Lawyer—Then I understand you to swear, witness, that the parties came to high words?

Witness—No, sir; the words were particularly low.—Stray Stories.

All Right, in That Case

"They say Blank is two-faced."

"Maybe, but they're both handsome."

Friendship is a sheltering tree.

CHILDREN CRY FOR

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, especially prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Women Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headaches, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even cross, feverish, bilious, sick chil gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at a store that sells medicine and just s for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

© 1926 S. C. Co. (N. J.)

Do flies like your cooking?

REMEMBER, flies are more than troublesome. They come from filth to food. Get rid of them with Flit.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Get a Flit can and sprayer today. For sale everywhere.

STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)

ommunity Building

al Lines Best for Small Gardens

the furor of informal garden- lowing the deadly formality of bedding, gardening seems to ettled down into an amicable tractive combination of the two. t formal design with formal or al planting as suits the fancy, n informal border of shrubbery, trees and tall-growing perenni- thin formal lines as a boundary he finest effect. The mania for ngless curves designed to give g but informality has subsided. not desirable to try to give the of the wildwood or stretch of in a 50-foot lot, because it be done. It is so formally in- by fences and divided so dis- by a walk that formality is ynote. The garden may be laid ther in beds or straight lines or ds of circular design. The cir- design gives a surprising appear- of spaciousness to a small lot. is difficult to maintain the out- of the beds without permanent g after it is laid out.

ding the center of the lot and ng a stake from which to draw s to outline the beds is a simple r. They can be cut with a turf , a hoe with a blade in the same e as the handle and not at right es as in the usual tool. The cen- circle is surrounded in a design ils sort with beds which are seg- ts of circles, paths cutting the cir- at right angles.

he center may be left an open s plot, a circular bed, a pool, a dial, or a bird bath.

oper Building of Chimney Big Factor he matter of flashings is one that ds careful attention when a person uilding a house in which he hopes e comfortable and free from petty ubles. A most important place for per flashing is about the chim- s. On a stucco home the chimneys ally are finished in stucco to har- nize with the rest of the house, are of masonry construction, lined conform with the rules of fire fety.

The stucco should be applied only er the chimney has been carefully ered with metal lath. Such a chim- always should have a cap of ne, cast concrete or other masonry hich will overhang the metal lath d stucco and provide protection ainst water seeping in at the joint. ually this is accomplished by pro- ing the underside of the chimney p well away from the stucco, so at the water will be carried to the rtical and unbroken portions of e chimney where it can do no dam- e.

Paint as Fire Protection

All property owners find roofing serious problem. A roof can make mar the character of a house, and ecause of its position, it must take unishment from all the elements; he sun blisters it, the wind and rost pull and twist its substance, ain and melting snow soak it with oisture. A roof needs protection. aint and stain are the only insur- nce that can be bought which will rotect the roof against the destruc- re action of the weather.

Paint is very durable, and in re- ent years has established itself firm- in popular favor as a roof finish. oreover, paint has the added ad- antage of being fire retardant. When hingles curl at the corners, become uzzy or take on a coat of moss, they afford lodgment for any burning em- ers that may fall upon them. hingles coated with a specially made re-retardant paint will not "cup" nor develop "fuzzy" and the paint ill resist a great deal of heat.

Too Little Individuality

Dream homes too often take sub- stance as "rubber-stamp homes," Lio- nel Robertson, authority on interior decoration, declared at the "Own Your Home" exposition at Chicago.

"Home builders invariably ape standard designs. The result is that our streets throughout the country are lined with houses as alike as though they had been turned out of the same mold. People often undergo severe sacrifices and save for many years in order to be able to buy or build their homes, and yet they buy rubber-stamp houses that in no way represent their dream homes or ex- press their individuality," he added.

Architectural design, Robertson said, should reflect the owner's char- acter and tastes as do one's clothes.

Home Gives Social Prestige

The advantages of owning the house in which you live are many. In the first place, a home can be built for what is paid in rent. The home owner is looked upon in his community as a stable, substantial citizen. He has business opportunities that the renter does not have, while his family are accepted socially in many circles that are denied to those who live in rented houses.

Good Workmanship First

Dollars' and dollars' worth of good interior trim and good wallboard are desecrated in finishing every year by unworthy workmanship and materials

HEADWEAR NOTABLE FOR STYLE; TAILORED SUITS NOW POPULAR

EVERY once in a while a tidal wave in fashion seems to roll, with the dawn, across the country and all the women, from Maine to California, wake up wanting the same thing on the same day. Once it was fanciful shoes, again it was the straightline dress, last season the call was for the little felt hat, as like other felt hats as peas in a pod, and now it is for headwear of exactly the opposite type. Yes, we have been asleep at the switch in millinery matters, overlooking the importance of the most flattering of all our belongings. But with spring came an awakening and now women are firmly and unanimously calling for variety and beauty in their hats and more than all, for an essential but not important part in the season's style drama. Stellar roles were given to softly feminine types of apparel and no one foresaw that mannish tailored suits would come anywhere near rivaling them, but they have. New versions of tailored types are coming in for the midseason; they are very summery and of a captivating prettiness with all their tailored lines.

The tailored mode begins with tweed or homespun utility suits in boyish or sports types. These have short, hip-length jackets, single or double breasted, patch or slit pockets. Then come the most popular of all suits made of twill or charmeen in plain colors or black, with navy blue most for the element of style—that is, artistic value.

Showing Particular Style Value.

This revival of interest in diversified styles is a joy to the creators of millinery, and after a famine we have a feast of varied shapes of which several familiar types are shown in the illustration. There are numbers of mushroom brims and creased crowns in the displays and the Spanish sailor is a new arrival that promises to become very popular. The fine Italian crocheted hats, that came out in small, close-fitting shapes, are developed now in larger sizes.

This diversity in shapes is matched by variety of mediums used for making them. Besides straw and hair braids, belting ribbon, taffeta, silk, satin and velvet serve to fashion many hats and lace and georgette are used as well. Combinations of straws with fabrics, and of two different fabrics, as belting ribbon and satin or taffeta and velvet, inspire designers to turn out something new every day. Some lovely new shades have been added to the list of beautiful colors featured this season. The latest are coral sand, geranium pink, June rose and a pale gold called "sunni." In ornaments crystal and rhinestone pins are scheduled for midsummer wear and small silver buckles or slides have reappeared on tailored hats.

New Version of the Tailored Suit.

Once more Lady Fashion has treated us to one of those surprises which have earned her reputation for fickleness. This surprise is the growing vogue of tailored suits, which, early in the spring, were cast popular. These are demanded in mannish and in dressier styles. Hair line stripes and checks are usually plain and severely tailored and there are many smart combinations of checks with plain materials. Cape suits and ensembles answer the call for dressier tailleurs. Innovations in the tailored mode appear in the introduction of livelier colors and new patterns in weaving. Tweeds are varied by fancy and tapestry patterns and by the introduction of new colors, as rosy tan, lavender or green, and homespun may be had in high colors. Twill and charmeen are displayed in light green, white, pale beige, warm tan, and for midsummer we will have soft tones of blue, rose or mauve as well. By the introduction of these new, light colors, and by clever designing and finishing touches the tailored modes reflect the predominance of feminine styles.

But stylists are going a step farther for midsummer; they are interpreting the tailleur in satin and in taffeta silk. The simple model pictured here is made of white satin with vestee and pipings in pale green. A green and white hat, white footwear, white gloves and green-flowered parasols complete a costume that looks as cool as a glacier.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

The men who are not satisfied
Are they who set the pace—
The men who do not meet defeat
With calm, contented face.

The men who labor on and on
With minds and fingers skilled,
They are the great unsatisfied
Who plan and fight and build.

SUNDAY NIGHT SUPPER

Dishes which may be prepared beforehand, or better, served from the chafing dish, are always popular for the Sunday night meal.

Scrambled Eggs.—If limited in the number of eggs and oversupplied with those who are to be served, to make a dish of scrambled eggs extend to meet the appetites, add to the frying pan a half cupful of rice that has been well washed and drained, add enough butter to cook it, stirring until the rice is a good color, then add water or milk or a mixture of both and cook the rice until perfectly well done. Now add three to four eggs, more if more rice is used, and with the usual milk or cream and butter with seasonings one has a most satisfying dish, saving one-half of the eggs ordinarily used for such a dish.

Jellied Chicken Salad.—Put into a saucepan three cupfuls of highly seasoned chicken stock, the whites of two eggs, three tablespoonfuls of gelatin and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Boil two minutes, stirring constantly. Place on the back of the range for thirty minutes then strain through a double cheesecloth.

Cover the bottom of individual molds with liquid jelly and set on ice. When firm, decorate with red and green peppers cut into fancy shapes; cover with the jelly mixture. Moisten one cupful of cooked fowl with one-half cupful of mayonnaise dressing to which a teaspoonful of dissolved gelatin has been added. Shape into balls and put a ball in each mold; fill with the jelly. Chill, unfold on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

English Monkey.—Soak one cupful of stale bread crumbs in one cupful of milk until soft. Melt one tablespoonful of butter, add a cupful of soft cheese and when the cheese is melted add the soaked crumbs, one egg slightly beaten, salt and cayenne to taste. Cook three minutes and pour over toasted crackers or toasted bread and sprinkle with paprika.

Onion Sandwiches—Chop fine a few slices of southern onion, add salt, pepper, a little olive oil or salad dressing, a dash of lemon juice, mix and spread on well-buttered bread, add a leaf of lettuce and cover with another slice of buttered bread.

Rice With Bananas.—Peel and scrape three well ripened bananas and mash them with a fork until creamy, add a few drops of lemon juice, stir lightly into one cupful of cooked rice and serve with cream and sugar.

Treasured Recipes.

A French preparation for soup seasoning which is considered very choice is this: Two ounces each of sweet marjoram, parsley and savory, thyme and lemon peel, and one ounce of sweet basil. The herbs are dried and ground, then all are sifted together until well mixed. This powder, if carefully bottled and corked, will keep for years. Use it sparingly.

Ever-Lasting Yeast.—Tie three dry yeast cakes in a cheese cloth, add one quart of potato water, three tablespoonfuls of sugar and let stand twelve hours. Remove the yeast and place in a glass jar well covered but not sealed. Use one cupful of the yeast for six loaves of bread. Once or twice a week fill the jar with cooled potato water, using the same amount of liquid as the amount of yeast removed each time. If not enough yeast is used each time take out some each time the potato water is added. This will keep for years as the potato water keeps nourishing new yeast buds.

Olive Oil Pickles. — Cucumber pickles are a bit early yet but it is well to have the recipes ready when the time comes. Take one hundred small cucumbers, three pints of small onions, one pint of olive oil, one ounce each of celery seed and white pepper, one-fourth pound of white mustard seed. Slice the unpeeled cucumbers, cover with one and two-thirds cupfuls of salt, let stand three hours. Slice onions, let stand in cold water to cover, drain and mix all together with spices and oil, pack in jars and fill the jars with good vinegar. Seal and keep very cold.

Mustard Pickles.—To a gallon of vinegar add one-half cupful of mustard, one cupful of salt, and two cupfuls of brown sugar. Drop the young cucumbers into the jar as they are gathered and washed each day. When the jar is full cover with horseradish leaves. They will be good to eat in two weeks.

A half cupful of cooked oat meal added to a small beef loaf improves it and adds bulk. When making oatmeal cookies or rocks, brown and grind the oatmeal; it makes a very different flavor and texture.

Nellie Maxwell

Freshen a Heavy Skin

With the antiseptic, fascinating Cuticura Talcum Powder, an exquisitely scented, economical face, skin, baby and dusting powder and perfume. Renders other perfumes superfluous. One of the Cuticura Toilet Trio (Soap, Ointment, Talcum).—Advertisement.

Mistletoe Misses

Dora and Violet, both sweet seventeen, were confiding to each other their views on life in general and flirting in particular.

"Really," said Dora, "I think parents are sometimes most inconsiderate and unreasonable."

"Of course they are!" agreed Violet, who remembered her mother's recent lecture on flirting. "But to what are you particularly referring?"

"Why, everybody is unreasonable about kissing. They only begin to think it's wrong for a girl to allow herself to be kissed under the mistletoe when she is just old enough for it to be interesting!"—Grit.

CORNS

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Good Wishes

L. S. O'Keefe, the Boston florist who composed the phrase "Say It With Flowers," can say it also very gracefully with words.

A business man, buying some roses the other morning at the O'Keefe shop, remarked:

"Today's my birthday. Congratulate me."

Mr. O'Keefe beamed on him and said:

"May this be the best birthday you've ever seen, and the worst you'll ever see."

Help That Achy Back!

Are you dragging around, day after day, with a dull, unceasing backache? Are you lame in the morning, bothered with headaches, dizziness and urinary disorders? Feel tired, irritable and discouraged? Then there's surely something wrong, and likely it's kidney weakness. Don't neglect it! Get back your health while you can. Use Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's have helped thousands, and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

An Iowa Case

D. R. Watts, retired farmer, 262 North Davis St., Ottumwa, Iowa, says: "I had steady pains in my back and at times I could hardly move. It was hard to do a day's work, and by night I was tired out. I had dizzy spells, too. My kidneys acted freely. Doan's Pills corrected the trouble."

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

STIMULANT DIURETIC TO THE KIDNEYS

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

Stamps Across the Sea

The Stamp Collectors' club of Worcester, Mass., is preparing a collection for presentation to the Philatelic society of Worcester, England, to cement further the ties of friendship between the two cities.

There is a period in every girl's life when she dislikes her surname.

25c L-V DUST CLOTH

made of especially woven fabric "Crepetto" for only 10 cents and two weeks' dusting supply of Liquid Veneer. Nothing like it for dusting. A few drops on your cloth removes ALL dust, dirt and blemishes INSTANTLY, and leaves your piano, furniture, woodwork spotlessly clean and beautifully polished. Moreover it preserves the finish indefinitely. Piano people use it to improve their brand new instruments. Send for your FREE bottle today. You'll be delighted. Remember, we include a big 25c L-V Dust Cloth if you send 10 cts. Don't miss this opportunity.

FREE

Buffalo Specialty Company
3 Liquid Veneer Bldg.
Buffalo, N. Y.

LIQUID VENEER

You'll Enjoy K-O-I-L, the Mona Motor Oil Radio Station

The Oil that stands the gaff use Mona Motor Oil

Got 'Em All at Once

"I tuned in twenty stations within half an hour last night."

"That's nothing. I had that many at one time."

Sure Relief

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

25¢ and 75¢ Pkgs. Sold Everywhere

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks., Patchogue, N.Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works. Patchogue, N. Y.

CASH PAID for dental gold, old bridges, old plates, diamonds, discarded jewelry, magneto points. Cash by return mail. Florida Gold Refining Co., 21 Adams, Jacksonville, Fla.

FOR OVER 200 YEARS

haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions.

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

correct internal troubles, stimulate vital organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine GOLD MEDAL.

KREMOLA FACE BLEACH

Positively eradicates from the skin all tan, moth patches, sallow complexion, pimples, eczema, etc. At drug and dept. stores or by mail. Price $1.25. BEAUTY BOOKLET FREE.
DR. C. H. BERRY CO.
2973 Michigan Ave. - Chicago, Ill.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 23--1926.

Strength and Energy this easy way

Simply drop a cake of Yeast Foam in a glass of water; let stand for five minutes; stir; let settle and drink the milky water, including the white precipitate. Or if you prefer, eat the cake with a cracker or a piece of butter.

Easy, simple, palatable. Yet you get the full tonic value of the marvelous yeast plant.

If you suffer from constipation, anaemia, boils, pimples, indigestion—don't fail to eat Yeast Foam regularly. Its beneficial effects will amaze you!

SAMPLE CAKE FREE

NORTHWESTERN YEAST CO.
1750 North Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Send me FREE and POSTPAID your book, "Dry Yeast as an Aid to Health," also a Sample of Yeast Foam, without obligation.

Name_____

Address_____ W. N. U.

Vote for Frank J. Urich. 1tc

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wille spent Sunday at the E. G. Beier home.

J J. Poort and family were Mason Ci y visitors Saturday afternoon

VOTE for R. W. Sinclair, Monday June 7th 1tc

Mrs Mabel Cullinan, of Belmond, was visiting in Klemme Monday.

Vote for Frank J. Urich for Supervisor. 1tc

VOTE for R. W. Sinclair, Monday June 7th 1tc

Paris Green and Arsenate of Lead for Potato Bugs—at Wilson's Pharmacy, Klemme, Iowa 1tc

Early Seed Corn for late planting or re-planting, also fodder corn. Lee Bros Britt, Iowa. 1tp.

Mr. B. H. Brackett, of Estherville was visiting at the John Day home Sunday.

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines. fc

Mr and Mrs H R Fouts, of Riceville, Iowa. came Tuesday, being called here by the death of Mr. Fouts' mother.

Mr and Mrs Will Barz, of Garner, accompanied by Mrs Lena Schroeder of this place, drove to Ames Sunday for a visit with Miss Adella Schroeder Miss Norma Barz. who had been visiting at Ames for a few days returned home with them.

VOTE FOR Frank J. Urich for Supervisor to take office on term beginning Jan 1, 1926. 1tc

Ames school will be out about the 7th of June, according to Klemme udents who are attending college here

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Mrs H A. Richter, of Garner, and Mr. and Mrs Hammes, of Emmetsburg, were calling on Klemme friends Sunday evening.

Mr and Mrs Ed G Ell, of Mankato, Minn. visited with Reva Elder at the hospital at Mason City last Thursday.

Mrs Worthy Usher, of Goodell, as here Saturday to clerk in Wellemeyer's store. She will clerk there every Saturday all summer.

Frank Urich, of Garner, was in Klemme Tuesday interviewing the voters Mr. Urich is a candidate for supervisor.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Liebendorfer and son, Robert of Mason City, visited from Saturday night until Monday night at the R. A. Jorgenson home.

Cherry 300 acre farm must be sold at once See Marion A. Fell, Garner, Iowa. tf4p

Mrs W. P. Johnson enjoyed a visit from her sister and husband and son who drove in from Ohio Saturday evening and spent Sunday in Klemme

Gargoyle MOBILOIL

For Cars, Trucks and Tractors--

SEALED QUART CANS!
SEALED GALLON CANS!
5 GAL. TIPPER CASES!
10 GAL. DRUMS!
30 GAL. DRUMS!
55 GAL. DRUMS.

We can supply you with the correct grade of MOBIL-OIL for your car, truck or tractor in any quantity you desire.

Garner Auto Co.

Phone 77 KLEMME, IA.

Notice--

lowing:—
We have coming a carload of each of the fol-

Hard Coal Coke

Coming about June 15th. Place your order NOW to be sure of your Coal.

WE ALSO HAVE—

Feed Of All Kinds

Coming by the CARLOAD, at a very LOW PRICE, delivered off the car.
Place your order now and get in on these Bargains. ....

North Iowa Grain Co.

The North Elevator Klemme, Iowa

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

Mrs. W. P Johnson and daughter, Shirley Rae, left Tuesday for Spencer for a week's visit with Mrs. Johnson's parents and relatives.

Dr. W. F. Missman and family, and J. N. Day and family visited at the Ely home at Belmond Tuesday evening.

R. A. Jorgenson and family drove to Mason City last Friday afternoon o visit Reva Elder at the Mercy Hospital.

Paris Green and Arsenate of Lead for Potato Bugs—at Wilson's Pharmacy, Klemme, Iowa. 1tc

DON'T throw away that tire just because of a small hole. Bring it here, I can at least make a good spare for you. C. L. Blumer. 1tc

Rev. A. W. Gauger and daughter Marie, were at Mason City Friday on business and were also visiting friends at the Mercy Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schaefer and two children were at Mason City last Friday where the children had a tonsil operation performed.

Mr and Mrs. Joe Liebendorfer and Mrs. Perry, of Fon du lac, Wisconsin, visited at the R. A. Jorgenson home Monday. They were on their way to Lincoln, Nebr.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Pringnitz and two children were at Mason City last Friday where the children had their tonsils removed at the Mercy Hospital.

Mr and Mrs Hiltman, of Clear Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. Miller, of Mason City, visited at the R. A. Jorgenson home Monday afternoon.

Mr. S W. Ibach, of White, South Dakota, came Tuesday to attend the funeral of Grandma Fouts. Mrs. Ibach had been here for about three weeks

Monday Nora Wellemeyer was 6 years old, and in honor of the event she entertained a number of her little friends at a party. All had a fine time they report.

The Times is always glad to receive items of news. Please phone your items or mail them. Thanks.

Al Emerson came from Burt Sunday for a few days visit in Klemme. He has been working in a harness shop at Burt for some time, but he began work at Britt yesterday.

Elvira Stille and Bernice Tanner both left Tuesday for Cedar Falls where they will attend summer school Both young ladies will teach near Klemme next year.

The W. F M. S. met at the home of Mrs. J. E. Stille last Thursday afternoon. A fine time was enjoyed by the ladies.

"Abe" Lauritsen came home from Renwick Saturday, where he has been coaching in the high school the past year. "Abe" will put in the summer working with his brother in the carpenter trade.

Mrs A. A. Ridder and children, Mrs Oliver Fredin, Dwayne and Gayle, of Watertown, South Dakota, came Monday evening for a visit with Klemme relatives and friends.

Two sisters of Mrs Mayne came Saturday evening to visit her as she has been quite sick the past week. One sister was from Omaha and the other from Fort Dodge. They returned home Monday.

The Young Ladies Class of the Methodist Sunday School are planning to have a picnic supper at Clarion Thursday evening, after which they will spend the evening roller skating.

Treasurer John Suurballe was in Klemme Tuesday morning looking up the voters. John has been real busy at his office and has not had an opportunity to call on very many voters.

Mr. H. C. Meyer, county auditor, was a visitor at The Times office Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Meyer is a candidate for the second term in the auditor's office. He said this was his first trip out as his duties at the office did not give him much time for campaigning.

Mesdames Wallace Pavey and A. Kirkwood will be hostesses to the Ladies Aid Society at the Parish House Thursday, June 10th. All members are requested to be present.

Levi Klotzbach and family, with the exception of the three older children, returned from their visit in south-eastern Iowa, Monday. The children there will remain for a longer visit.

Gerald Koerner and Milo Patet started out Sunday in the former's car bound for the Black Hills, the Yellowstone and other points in the west The boys plan on having a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keraus and children and Mrs. J. J. Poort drove to Joice last Friday evening to take in a celebration there. Mr. Poort drove up the evening before to instruct the band. Mr. Poort directs the Joice band this year.

Mr. and Mrs Clark, of Okoboji, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nissen, of Sioux City, drove in Sunday noon to spend a short time visiting at the J. N Day home. They left again Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Tomy Mitchell drove down from Swea City Saturday evening and visited over Memorial day with Klemme relatives and friends. Tommy brought his clarinet along and played with the band Memorial Day The band is always glad to have him with them.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs Alvin Stokesbary Sunday. The little Miss has been named Ardith Eliene and weighs 7 pounds. She arrived in time to celebrate Memorial Day. Thanks for the cigar, Alvin!

Reva Elder came home from the Mercy Hospital at Mason City Tuesday afternoon, where she had been for a tonsil operation and also an operation for nose trouble. She had a rather serious time of it for a few days last week, but now she is feeling fine again.

Twenty-two students placed in good positions within the past five weeks; nineteen calls during that period that we could not fill. There's a position waiting for you, if you will make the preparation. Enroll next Monday, June 7. THE HAMILTON UNIVERSITY, Mason City, Iowa. 1tcF

A farewell party was given on Mr. and Mrs. George Gruetzmacher Friday evening at the Elmer Arnold home by the Sunday school class of which they are members. A fine time was enjoyed and a large crowd was present. Mr. and Mrs. Gruetzmacher were presented with a gift from the class. They expect to move to Garner about the 15th of June.

Aaron Greiman and Roy Smock should be given the leather medal for fish stories this year. They were at the lake one day last week and had a fine string of fish, but lost the whole works when their boat tipped over and all the fish swam away! Aaron was tall enough to wade in but Roy had to drink enough lake water to lower it before he made the shore. This may be a fish story.

We had another big dust storm Tuesday this week Tuesdays seem to be the most popular days for this caper of the weather man. It's getting as bad as South Dakota or Kansas for wind around here. Monday we had a heavy rain, but somehow or other the dust seems to have lost its sticking qualities and a wind will stir it up in no time.

Manager Henry Jost of the North Iowa Grain Company says they are about through with improvements around the elevator for a while now. Carpenters have been working at the elevator for several weeks getting the building in shape. The elevator has been practically all remodeled on the interior. A new automatic air dump was installed, new hoppers and automatic weighing hopper, the bins were all changed about and respouted; a new steel roof was put on the entire structure. The carpenters are just completing the new warehouse this week. This building is 20x50 feet, is divided into three storage bins and will handle three carloads of feed.

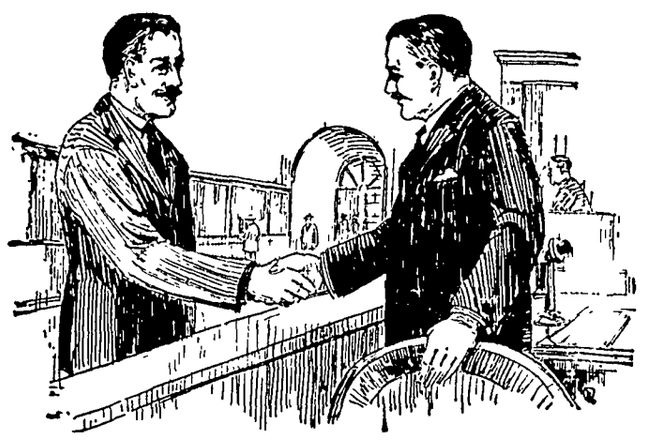
Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings
DR. E. H. PHILLIPS
Osteopathic Physician
Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa.

A Few Causes of Oil Pumping and Compression Leakage--

1. Worn or out-of-round cylinders.
2. Scored cylinders or pistons.
3. Warped or worn ring grooves.
4. Poorly fitted pistons and rings.
5. Piston pin hole out-of-round.
6. Poorly aligned rod and piston assembly.
7. Sprung connecting rods.
8. Crankshaft warped or out-of-true.
9. Worn bearings.
10. Warped or sticking valves.
11. Improper timing.
12. Leaky cylinder head gasket.

ONLY Cure-- Stormizing

Pavey's Stormizing Shop



OUR BANKING SPIRIT

There prevails at this bank, an air of welcome and hospitality that one cannot help but notice.

This Institution knows that it has a mission to be fulfilled in the community. It takes pleasure n rendering every service possible that will make the people feel that it is here for them. A service of this kind is always appreciated and reciprocated by the loyalty of the people.

First National Bank
KLEMME, IOWA.

How This?

Let's Have A Picnic!

With the coming of warm weather makes the ideal time for Picnic Dinners and Suppers, and when you are planning a Picnic remember that you can get your supplies here:—

HERE'S A LIST—
Paper Plates and Paper Dishes
Paper Napkins, Paper Table Cloths
Sanitary Paper Spoons and Forks
Picnic Lunch Sets, Cups, Etc.
Picnic Lunch Baskets
Thermo Jugs and Thermo Bottles

PICNIC "EATS" FROM OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

We always carry very appetizing items in our Grocery Department especially suited for Picnics, such as—
Pork & Beans Ketchup Mustard
Salad Dressing Pickles
—all of which are choice, fresh stock; then we have Pop and Malt for your cold drinks, buy it by the bottle or by the case here. And for making sandwiches try our Cheese, all kinds, Veal Loaf or Sandwich Spread.

Plan your picnic lunch and then come here where Quality and Low Prices prevail.
Fresh Bread and Bakery Goods—
Fresh Fruits In Season—

—THIS WEEK ONLY—
TISSUE GINGHAMS And OTHER PIECES values up to $1.00 a yard.
SPECIAL Per Yard, only 39c

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

THE KLEMME TIMES

Thirtieth Year—Number 43. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, JUNE 10, 1926. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

BROOKHART CARRIES STATE IN SENATE RACE

HANCOCK COUNTY STRONG FOR HIM

FORMER JUNIOR SENATOR IS READY FOR RETURN TO WASHINGTON

Kimball, Samuelson, Fletcher And Long Nominated For State Offices

N. NELSON OF GARNER WINS REPRESENTATIVE RACE

H. C. Meyer, John Suurballe, Peck Hanson, Fern Katter, V. S. White, Frank Urich, Fred Oxley, A. O. Christensen Get County Offices Opposed

In summing up the results of the primary Election Monday held over the state Smith W. Brookhart won it by over 50,0000 votes in a field of five for United States Senator The big fight in the primary was centered about Brookhart and Albert Cummins for the senate seat. Brookhart has made plans to return to Washington soon to help take up the fight for farm releif.

Gov John Hammill had no opposition for his office and Kimball will be retained for Lieut. Governor Likewise, Walter Ramsay will again be Secretary of State.

J W Long goes in for Auditor of State and John Fletcher for Attorney General Ray Johnson, for Treasurer had no opposition. Thornburg will continue as Secretary of Agriculture

Miss Agnes Samuelson was nominated for Superintendent of Public Instruction over May Francis, who fought the office very much against the wish of school teachers and other school officers School men and women are rejoicing today over this victory.

Of interest in Hancock County was the close battle for Representative N. H. Nelson, of Garner, defeated Ole T Rikansrud, of Kanawha by 4 votes. Fell of Garner finished third in the running.

H. C Meyer, present County Auditor was nominated over R. W. Sinclair with over five hundred votes to the good

For County Treasurer John Suurballe defeated Halverson by 536 votes.

Chris Johansen for Clerk had no opposition on the ballot and is running for his second term.

Peck Hanson defeated Bert Leutzinger for Sheriff by 460 votes. Herb Gartten, of Garner, finished a weak third in this ace.

Fern Peck Katter, of Garner, defeated Clarissa Abel, present officer, in the race for Recorder. Mrs. Katter finished with 606 votes to the good

The biggest vote polled in the County went to V. S. White of Britt, for County Attorney, who polled 1285 votes against 1197 for Verne C. Grau, present County Attorney. Mr White had a lead of 1,088 votes.

The race for the Supervisor's office to succeed G. B. Lawhorn, was too close to be comfortable. In the final wind-up Frank J. Urich received 1121 votes, J. C. Hanson 1070 and G H. Lade 1021 votes. All men are from Garner.

In the other division for Supervisor for the term beginning Jan. 2, 1928 Fred Oxley and A. O. Christenson were given the second term. E W. Burgitt, of Britt was in the ace and made a good showing.

Township officers elected for Ell were H. L. Suckow for Justice of the Peace, John Bock for Trustee, and Pete Josten for Township Clerk.

HERE'S HOW THEY VOTED IN HANCOCK COUNTY

STATE OFFICES

United States Senator

SMITH W. BROOKHART . . . 2144
Albert Cummins 721; Howard J. Clark 716; L. E. Eickelberg 46; Dan E. Reardon 12.

For Lieutenant Governor

CLEM F. KIMBALL 1474
John R Price 572; W. E. Edson 453
Ray P. Scott 304

For Auditor of State

J W. LONG 1138
J C. McClune 933

For Attorney General

VERNON SEEBURGER 973
Walter A Newport 585; John Fletcher 530

For Superintentent of Public Instruction

AGNES SAMUELSON 1602
May E Francis, 823.

For Railroad Comm.

DWIGHT LEWIS 858
WILLIAM R BLAKE 836
Charles Webster 719; E B Arnold 545.

FOR STATE REP.

C H NELSON 1279
Ole Rikansrud 1235, M A Fell 782.

COUNTY OFFICES

For Auditor

H. C. MEYER 1902
R W. Sinclair, 1351.

For Treasurer

JOHN SUURBALLE 2104
C A Halverson, 1568.

For Sheriff

PECK HANSON 1790
Bert Leutzinger 1330, H Gartin 668

For Recorder

FERN PECK KATTER 2093
Clarissa Abel 1487.

For County Attorney

V S WHITE 2285
Verne C Grau, 1197

For Supervisor Jan. 2, 1927.

FRANK J. URICH 1121
J C Hanson 1070; G. H. Lade 1021.

For Supervisor, Jan. 2, 1928.

FRED OXLEY 1995
A. O. CHRISTENSON . . . . . 1794.
E W. Burgitt 1468.

HOW THEY VOTED IN ELL TOWNSHIP

For U. S Senator

Smith W. Brookhart 144, Howard J. Clark 48; Albert B Cummins 46, L. E. Eickelberg 4.

For Lieut. Governor

Clem F. Kimball 78, John R. Price 44, W. C. Edson 21, Ray Scott 20.

For Auditor of State

J. W. Long 88; J C McClune 67.

For Attorney General

Vernon Seeburger 89, Walter A. Newport 43, John Fletcher 38.

For Supt. Public Instruction

Agnes Samuelson 110; May E Francis 65

For Railroad Comm.

Dwight Lewis 60, William R Blake 59; E B. Arnold 50; Charles Webster 40.

For State Representative

C H. Nelson 115; Ole T. Rikansrud 61, Marion A Fell 42.

COUNTY OFFICES

For Auditor

H C. Meyer 121, R W Sinclair 100

For County Treasurer

C. A. Halverson 148; John Suurballe 92

For Sheriff

Bert Leutzinger 109; Peck Hanson 92; Herb Gartin 54.

For County Recorder

Fern Peck Katter 209; Clarissa Abel 43.

For County Attorney

V. S White 166; Verne C. Grau 78

Supervisor, Jan. 2, 1927 Term

G. H. Lade 96, Frank J Urich 86, J. C. Hanson 36.

Supervisor, Jan. 2, 1928 Term

Fred Oxley 119; A O Christenson 119; E W. Burgitt 59.

There were 266 ballots cast here at the Primary Election, which was more than one hundred less than voted at the last General Election when there were about 374 ballots cast

We did not give the number of votes cast for candidates that had no opposition and who are running for second term. They were all nominated.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS IN HANCOCK COUNTY

Henry S. Herrick wf. to Virgil A Cook et al. W. D, date 3-1-26 $15,000.00, SE¼ of NE¼ 22 and S½ NW¼ 23-94-23.

O. I. Cook wf to Tom Johnson et al W. D, date 5-18-26, $38,400.00 NE¼ & E½ NW¼ 33-95-25.

FORMER CIRCUS ACROBATS WILL PERFORM AT BAYSIDE SUNDAY

Noted Cyclists, Nagle And His Dogs On Program

Bayside Amusement Park at Clear Lake will entertain visitors next Sunday with an extra large program.

A famous concert band of thirty pieces will give concerts afternoon and night on the free act stage. The park management is bringing a good band to Bayside every Sunday

The Aerial Cowdens, sensational stunt artists in the air, will appear in two feature acts This company presents a double trapez act thirty feet above the stage The Cowdens were formerly with the Barnum and Bailey circus Two acts will be offered by the Harrisons, noted cyclists. They do tricks, fancy and difficult riding on specially built bicycles.

Nagle's Dogs Are Popular

Another free attraction is Nagle and his ten intelligent dogs They will perform again in two acts Sunday, by special request All the free attractions will be seen afternoon and night. Bayside is said to have one of the best bathing beaches on Clear Lake and is enjoyed by many of the park visitors

"COUNTRY PLUGS" TRIM LOCAL BEAN PEDDLERS 7 TO 1

The Klemme Bean Peddlers met their Waterloo on the Klemme battle field when the "Farm Plugs" hoofed their way to victory in a one sided swat contest

The Bean Peddlers were made up of local business men who at one time could tell the difference between a baseball and a can of Campbell's tomato soup They had lost the fine art of properly expectorating on the horsehide sphere and every time a pill was tossed over the pan the Plugs began running around the bases while the Bean boys hunted for the ball.

The Farm Plugs must be related to Spark Plug as they are inclined to race away with the long end of the slate

A casualty was reported in the Bean camp when Buck Kluckhohn stuck his finger on the end of a ball coming his way. Buck didn't use good judgment, he should have turned around and run. It was not the speed of the ball, but the sudden stop that busted Buck's finger

If the entire team don't get all bunged up the Bean Peddlers are going to pull the horse shoes right off the Farm Plugs' hoofs next time

FIRST BAND CONCERT AT PARK FRIDAY NIGHT

Concerts Will Be Played In Park This Summer

As announced last week the first band concert of the season here will be played Friday evening, June 11 by the Klemme Band in the Park.

The Band has been rehearsing for the past few weeks preparing for the summer concerts, under the direction of J. J. Poort

This year the band is financed by the special tax levied for that purpose There should be enough money from this source to pay expenses for seven or eight concerts, as the town council have agreed to allow twenty dollars for each concert. This amount is not much to pay expenses and to divide among the members of the band for their work

Program

The Outlook March	Jewel
Evening Shadows Serenade	King
Love Me Waltz	Mackie-Beyer
Royal Pageant Overture	Barnard
Blue Eyed Sally	Bernard & Robinson
Flower Girl Intermezzo	Wenrich
Intermission
Fidelity March	King
Simple Simon Schottische	Brown
Elves Overture	Kiefer
Old Kentucky Home	Southwell
De Molay Commandery	Hall

Come out to the first concert at the park where you can listen to music in comfort—plenty of seats, no cars chugging by to disturb you or the band—you will enjoy this concert.

4H CLUB HAS FINE MEETING AT HOME OF ESTHER HENDRIX

The 4H Club met at the home of Miss Esther Hendrix, June 2nd. The meeting was called to order by the president and six members responded to the roll call; the leader, Mrs. Jennings Anderson being present.

A Rally Day will be held at Eagle Lake on Friday, June 18th and the Club plans to be present. They discussed a stunt for that day and at the conclusion of the meeting a stunt was put on in good form.

Demonstrations for the following meeting was planned. Two new members are now working on the club uniform.

After the meeting had adjourned a delightful lunch was served by the hostess.

Iowa ranks fourth among the states of the Union in number of cow testing associations.

HERBERT HOOVER TURNS SPADEMAN

The Secretary of Commerce turns up first spadeful of dirt at ground breaking ceremonies for emergency hospital on the grounds of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia. The exposition will commemorate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of American Independence. At the cabinet member's right is Mayor Kendrick of Philadelphia. The hospital will be conducted by physicians and nurses from the Philadelphia General Hospital.

ANTS ARE INVADING MANY IOWA DWELLINGS

Ames Experts Tell How To Get Rid of the Pest

Ants, often a pest in dwellings during the summer, are especially troublesome this year, reports from various parts of the state indicate. Here's a number of suggestions for combating these pests.

To rid the kitchen of the small creatures, sprinkle a small amount of finely powdered sodium flouride on the back of pantry shelves and around the edges of the room where the ants are likely to pass. The ants are thus poisoned by licking the sodium flouride off their feet.

The size of the colonies can be materially lessened by placing small piles of borax and powdered sugar mixed thoroly in equal parts, where the adult ants can carry it to their nests This mixture will kill off most of the young.

Placing the legs of the kitchen table and icebox in small pans of water covered with a thin film of kerosene will keep the pests off the table and out of the icebox until they can be driven from the house.

Some folks put barriers across the window and door sills. Flake naphalene, or a painted line of sassafras oil, or a saturated solution of corrosive sublimate are good for this purpose The corrosive sublimate may be painted on strips of cloth, allowed to dry and then tacked across the openings.

It is good policy to hunt for the source of the ants, for many times they come from two or three huge ant hills which can be easily destroyed. Carbon disulphide or granulated calcium cyanide works well for this purpose. Poke a couple of holes in the mound with a stick and pour about two tablespoonsful of carbon disulphide or an ounce of calcium cyanide in the openings. Close up the holes with earth and the ant hill will soon become an aunt cemetery.

TELLS HOW TO MAKE HOT WEATHER COOKING EASY

Cook Most of Supper While The Dinner Is On the Stove

With the coming of the hot summer days most farm wives cultivate a decided aversion to the kitchen range In order to reduce the time spent over the hot cook stove, the home economics workers at Iowa State College suggest cooking most of the supper while the dinner meal is on the stove.

For instance, suppose the housewife is preparing hamburger steak for dinner. She could buy a pound or two more and cook a small meat loaf in the oven to be served cold at the evening meal. Rhubarb sauce can just as well be baked as cooked on top of the stove, in fact, baking retains the color of the stalks much more than open cooking.

The radishes, onions or lettuce can also be cleaned before noontime. Potatoes may be warmed over, either fried or creamed. Thus the essentials of a correct evening meal may be met, including one warm dish (the potatoes), one "staying" dish (the cold meat) one or two vegetables and a dash of swet to top off the repast.

Numerous menus such as this can be planned which will save the house wife many a disagreeable hot hour in the course of a summer.

NOTICE TO KLEMME SHIPPING ASSOCIATION

As I am going away next week you will please list your stock with Arthur Johnson, Phone 514. Joe E Johnson, Manager. 1tp.

Edison's Radio Debut

Thomas A. Edison, inventor, spoke over the radio for the first time in his life. It was at Atlantic City. All he said was: "I have never spoken over the radio before—good night." He once announced that he would never speak via the air.

TIMELY GARDEN TIPS — A Weekly Feature —

Mites Attack Flowers and Shrubs

Plant feeding mites are doing a great deal of damage to the shrubbery and flower beds around dwellings. They are even invading the houses and making themselves a nuisance to housewives who are asking how to get rid of the pests.

These mites hibernate close to the foundation of the house, among the dead leaves and then come out in the spring to attack the foliage of the flower beds and bushes close by. The pest, which is a dark brown insect about one-thirtv-second of an inch long, makes tiny white streaks on the leaves and finally causes the leaves to turn entirely white.

Now is the time to get rid of these mites before they lay their eggs. Spraying of the foundation and all of the ground two or three feet out from the house with a two percent miscible oil solution has been found the most effective way of combating the pest. As the summer ages the mites work farther and farther away from the house, infesting other shrubs and sometimes reaching the clover and alfalfa fields. For this reason all shrubs should be examined and sprayed if they are found infested.

A miscible oil is a commercial product of mineral oil mixed with an emulsifier which can be mixed with water. In preparing a two percent solution, pour a small amount of water into the oil at first and mix thoroly before adding the remainder of the water. If the oil does not mix well with the water it probably is worthless and a different product should be used.—B. B. Fulton, Iowa State College.

Out Of Town Relatives At Funeral Of Mrs. Fouts

Out of town relatives in attendance at the funeral of Grandma Fouts were: Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Ibach, of White, South Dakota; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fouts, of Riceville, Iowa; Mr and Mrs. R. H. Fouts, of Sioux City, Iowa; and besides these quite a number of relatives and old friends of the family gathered at the cemetery in Eldora to witness the last services and laying a Dear Mother To Rest in that beautiful spot in the family lot.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Next Sunday is Children's Day and will be generally observed as such. On this day children and flowers will be in evidence. What a fine combination! For children as truly as flowers are God's very own.

We shall listen to the children as they speak and sing, while flowers will be used to decorate the house of worship. The program begins at 10:00 o'clock.

Christian education comes in for recognition on his day. The several denominations of the Christian Church early realized how important it was to have thorough trained leaders and thus established institutions for higher oducation to help the youth to get such training for leadership in church and state As usual a collection will be taken to help such that are worthy but too poor to go to school. All flowers that can be furnished will be appreciated.

As heretofore we will follow the fine practice of holding a Memorial service for the fallen "Heroes of the Cross," pastors and pastor's wives who are buried in local cemeteries. There are six such graves in Klemme and two in the Liberty Township cemetery. The flowers furnished for the children's day will be used to decorate these graves.

The service at the local cemetery will be at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon with a general invitation to the public and those interested.

No evening service next Sunday.

Our vacation Bible School is on in Liberty with splendid response on the part of parents and pupils.

One unprofitable cow in a herd eats feed in one year valued at more than the cost of having the entire herd tested in a cow testing association. "Test—don't guess," say the Ames dairy specialists.

DAWES SEES SENATE KILL RULE REFORM

Leaders Unite in Assault on Change Championed by Vice President.

Washington.—A grim scowl settled on the features of Vice President Dawes as he saw his campaign for change in senate rules shattered under a smashing attack on the gag rule proposal.

All legislation was thrust aside for a day as senators joined in a fiery denunciation of the proposal by Senator Underwood of Alabama to apply cloture by majority vote to appropriation and revenue measures—one step in the Dawes rules revision plan.

The effect of an extended plea for the cloture rule made by Underwood and starting the fireworks, was nullified by reminders that he led the famous filibuster that killed the Dyer anti-lynching bill.

The debate reached a climax when Senator Reed of Missouri assailed the gag-rule proposal as an attempt to throttle free speech and as the "last resort of the legislative scoundrel."

Shaking his fist at the vice president, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, declared:

"Nothing worse could happen to the American people than adoption of the Underwood proposal. A majority gag-rule would be an intolerable tryanny in the greatest legislative body on earth."

Robinson challenged Underwood to bring his proposal to a vote, but the Alabama senator did not accept.

Underwood was scathingly arraigned by Robinson for "desecrating his brilliant career in congress" with an attack on the "integrity and efficiency" of the senate

Referring to the use of cloture by the administration forces to cut off debate on the world court, Senator Reed said:

"There isn't a senator here who does not wish that he had not voted so precipitously on that question."

Declaring that the majority had no "sacred rights" in America, Reed said that the Constitution was written "in a large part to prevent majority rule," and added that the majority "has been wrong oftener down through the pages of history than it has been right."

Reed declared that the Underwood proposal, if adopted, would give the majority the power to "enact wicked and sinister measures without the country being informed of their evil provisions."

U. S. World War Dead in Army and Navy 126,935

Washington.—Figures made public disclosed that 121,614 enlisted men, 5,045 officers, and 276 army nurses were killed while serving in the United States' army and navy during the World war.

A total of 110,568 individuals lost their lives while serving in the army. Of those 114,685 were elisted men and 4,807 officers.

Of the army casualties 35,191 enlisted men and 1,824 officers were killed in action, 66,557 enlisted men and 2,384 officers died of disease or other causes, and 12,937 enlisted men and 599 officers died of wounds received in action.

Navy figures disclose that disease caused the death of 5,352 enlisted men and 284 officers. Accidents and other causes accounted for the death of 1,193 enlisted men, and 116 officers. Enemy action resulted in the killing of 884 enlisted men and 38 officers.

The army figures cover the period from April 6, 1917, to July 2, 1921, while the navy figures are for only the period between April 6 and the armistice.

Recommends Shelving Modification Measures

Washington.—Shelving of all prohibition modification measures was recommended by the senate judiciary subcommittee which held the recent public hearings participated in by wets and drys.

Taking final action on all proposals affecting relaxation of prohibition laws, the subcommittee adopted a brief report to the full committee recommending that further consideration of the various joint resolutions and bills be indefinitely postponed. The report declared that bills authorizing the manufacture of light wine and beer are "contrary to the spirit and intent of the eighteenth amendment."

Ford Co. 7-Year Profit Is Put at $526,441,951

Detroit, Mich.—A suit against the Ford Motor company for alleged infringement of patent rights brought to light the fact that the Ford Motor company made a net profit of $526,441,501 from 1917 to 1924. The company had its biggest year in 1922 when it made a net profit of $115,797,361.

Doctor Wakefield Sentenced

Los Angeles, Calif.—Dr. Orin R. Wakefield, Hollywood physician and former head of the government hospital at Camp Grant, Ill., has been sentenced to serve four years in the county jail for illegal sale of narcotics.

Seven Seniors Expelled

Williamsburg, Va.—"Unethical conduct" in their final examinations resulted in the expulsion of seven members of the graduating class of William and Mary college.

NEW CHIEF NAMED

The Department of Commerce has announced the appointment of Everett G. Holt of Clinton, Maine, as chief of the rubber division of the department. Mr. Holt will have general supervision of liaison work between the government and rubber growers, manufacturers and users in the general development of the rubber industry.

O. K.'S RIVERS AND HARBORS MEASURE

Omnibus Waterways Bill Gets Vote of 219 to 127.

Washington. — After a somewhat stormy session in the house the omnibus rivers and harbors bill was passed by a 219 to 127 vote. Previously the representatives had refused, 195 to 97, to permit deletion of the Illinois river approriation. Still earlier Representative Sosnowski's (Republican of Michigan) motion to eliminate authorization for a survey of the New York State canal was defeated 166 to 68.

Sections to authorize surveys of the following projects were approved:

Menominee harbor and river, Michigan and Wisconsin; South Haven harbor, Michigan, with view to extending breakwater; Black river at Port Huron, Mich.

Great Lakes, with view to providing ship channel with sufficient depth and width to accommodate present and prospective commerce at low-water datum from Great Lakes and their connecting waters and their principal harbor and river channels.

Saginaw river, Michigan, and entrance thereto.

Harbor at Mackinaw bay and Muskellonge bay, Black river, Michigan.

Illinois and Mississippi canal in the vicinity of Mud creek, Illinois.

Galena river, in Illinois, with a view to straightening the channel near Galena.

The Mississippi river between the Missouri river and Minneapolis, with a view to providing a nine-foot-deep channel at low water, with suitable widths.

Headwaters of the Mississippi, with a view to maintaining a minimum fixed head of water in all channels of this system at all times.

The Mississippi river from the upper end of Quindaro bend to the mouth, with a view to providing a channel nine feet deep at low water, with suitable widths.

The Ohio at and in the vicinity of Shawneetown, Ill.

One Year in Prison and $2,000 Fine for Carroll

New York.—Earl Carroll, the guiding genius of Broadway's celebrated "bathtub episode," was sentenced to serve a year and a day in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., and to pay a $2,000 fine as a result of the perjury which he committed before the grand jury which investigated the alleged "wine party" given in the Earl Carroll theater on the night of Washington's birthday.

Prison for Life for Man Who Killed Three

Muskegon, Mich.—Asa Bartlett, Ku Klux klansman and township constable, was sent to Marquette prison to begin his life sentence for the Three Lakes tavern bomb murders.

He was sentenced after a hearing lasting only a few minutes and within five days of the deaths of his victims, August Krubaech, Krubaech's daughter, Jeanette, and the latter's fiancee, William Franke of Chicago.

Heads Heroes of '76

Philadelphia, Pa.—Col. Charles C. Vandeventer of Chicago, was elected national commander of the Heroes of '76.

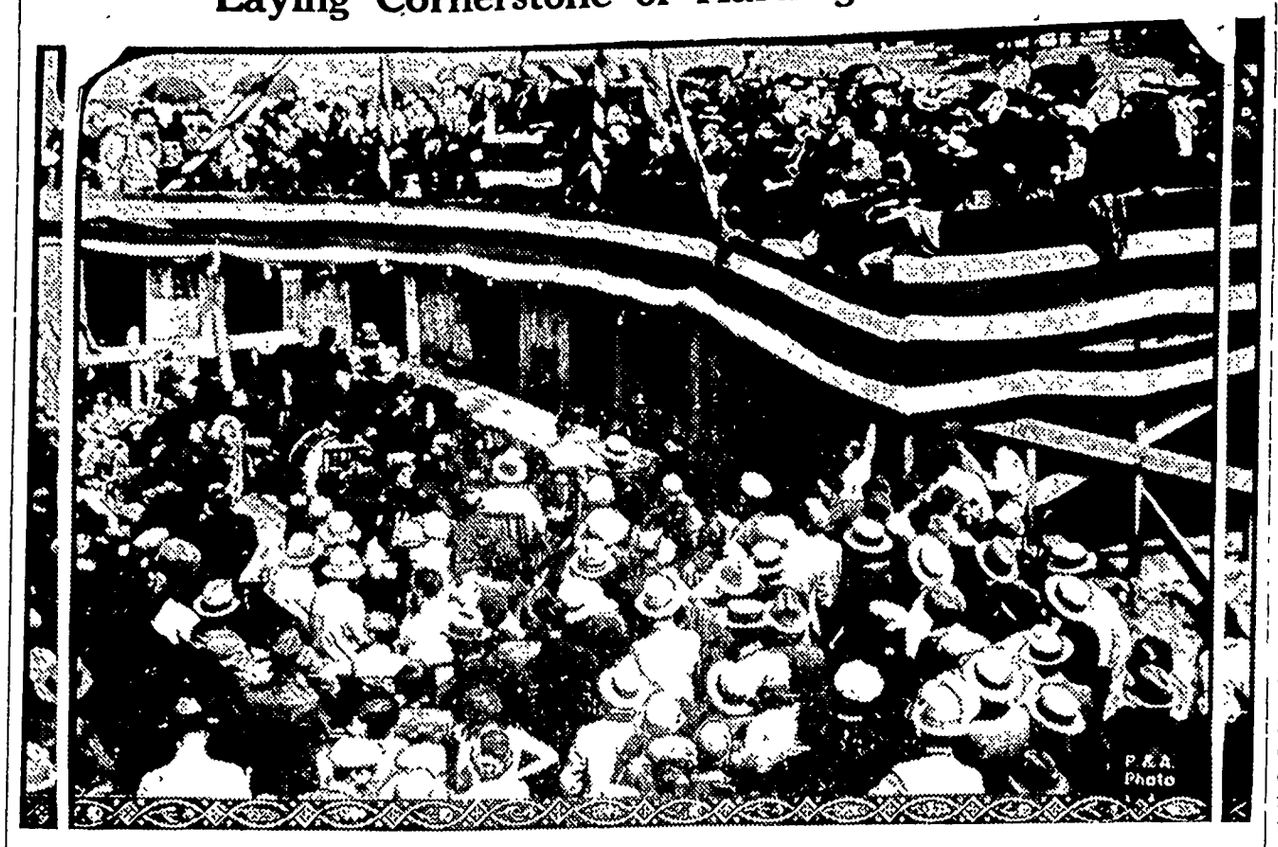
Hopes to Stop Interference

Madison, Wis.—The Mutual Church and Home Insurance company has appealed to the Wisconsin Supreme court for an injunction to prevent the state insurance department from interfering with it.

Extends War Risk Insurance

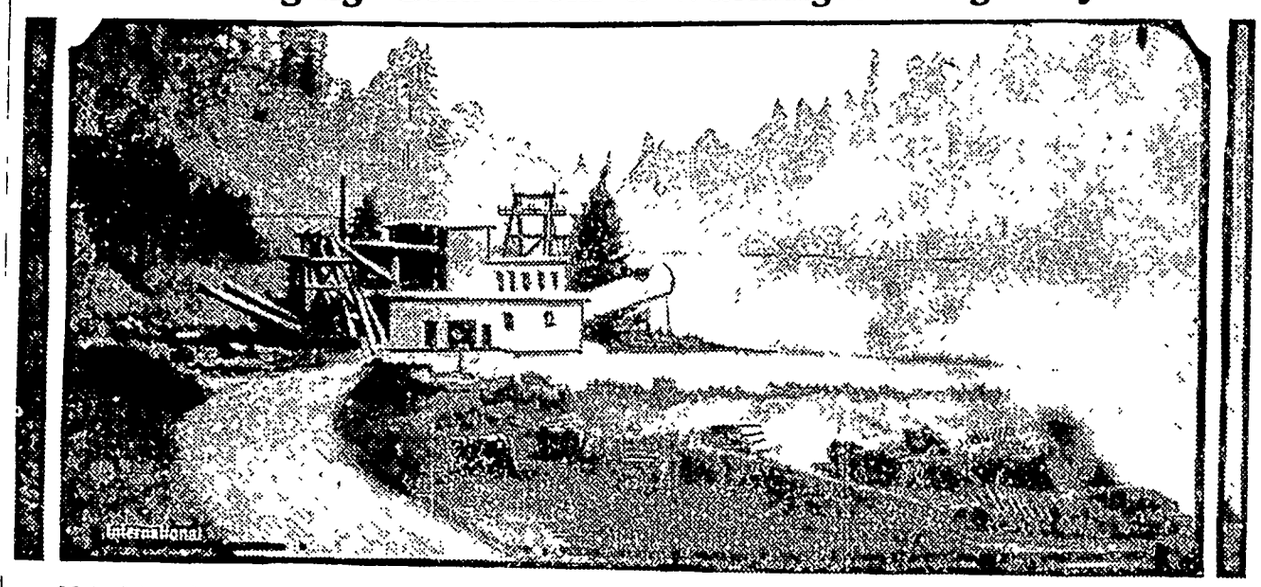
Washington. — President Coolidge signed the bill extending for one year the time for converting war-risk-term insurance into government life insurance.

Laying Cornerstone of Harding Memorial



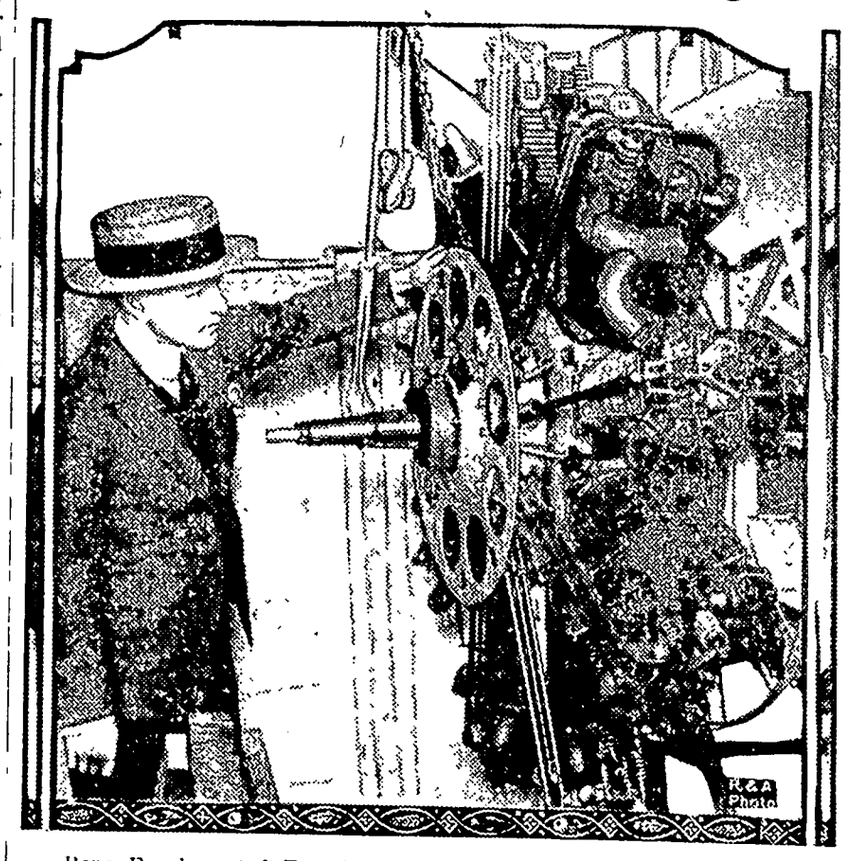
Over forty thousand persons paid homage to late President Warren G. Harding and his wife, Florence, when the cornerstone of the Harding memorial, at Marion, Ohio was laid. Vice President Charles G. Dawes laid the cornerstone and made the dedicating speech.

Dredging Gold From a Washington Highway



Motorists who use the Yellowstone Trail highway, fourteen miles north of Cle Elum, in the state of Washington, are forced to make a detour when they find a huge gold dredger at work in the middle of the road. The highway runs over what was the bed of the old Swauk creek. The gold-bearing gravel was worked by white and Chinese miners many years ago, who stopped work there when the big strikes were made in the Klondike. Recently a group of men in eastern Washington incorporated and put the dredger to work, as they hold the mining rights to the land the highway runs over. The dredge is taking out over a thousand dollars a day.

Getting Ready for Atlantic Flight



Rene Fonck, noted French aviator, at Roosevelt field, Long Island, N. Y., inspecting his uncompleted plane in which he will try the New York-Paris flight.

Summer Brings Seals to Avalon Bay

Here's a sure sign of summer. The world famous seals of Santa Catalina island, off the southern California coast, have migrated to the waters of Avalon bay ready for the handouts from the thousands of summer visitors. No one knows what they use for a calendar, but they're punctual to the day, when the summer season opens. Many of the seals are known by name.

HEROINE OF WAR

Dame Rachel Crowdy of England, who was awarded the Mons Star, the Royal Red Cross and was made a Dame of the British Empire for the heroic work she performed as a nurse on the battle front during the World war, came to the United States to visit in Washington and to attend the National Conference of Social Work in Cleveland, Ohio.

WINS YALE PRIZE

Paul Mellon, son of the secretary of the treasury, who was awarded the McLaughlin prize for excellence in English composition, for which members of the Yale freshman class are eligible to compete. Young Mellon's essay was entitled "Donn Byrne, His Place in Literature."

$100,000,000 NAVY AIR BILL GETS O. K.

Measure Has Passed House; Goes to Conference for Final Action.

Washington.—Naval aviation received a tremendous boost when the senate passed the navy air expansion bill authorizing the expenditure of close to $100,000,000 in the purchase of aircraft during the next five years. The measure with certain changes has already passed the house and will now go to conference.

Senate approval of the navy measure marks the passage of the last of the three air expansion measures introduced this year. The civil air bill has already been signed by President Coolidge; an army air expansion bill authorizing the construction of 1,800 airplanes was passed by the senate after receiving house approval. It was sent to conference.

The navy bill provides for the construction of two 6,000,000 cubic feet capacity airships and the building up of the seaplane strength of the navy to 1,600 planes. It also provides for the purchase of a small metal-clad airship for experimental purposes.

The purpose of the bill is to establish an aircraft program for the navy, to fix the number of available useful planes, and to provide a five-year building program to furnish these planes.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has stated that his department will be able to finance the construction of the additional planes without asking for more funds next year than were appropriated for the uses of the navy this year.

To meet the program laid down, the number of aircraft on hand will be increased from 638 to 1,600 planes and maintained at that figure.

The plans outlined call for the construction of 235 airplanes at a cost of $12,285,000 before June 30, 1927; 313 planes at a cost of $16,223,750 before June 30, 1928; 335 planes at a cost of $17,582,500 before June 30, 1929; 357 planes at a cost of $18,941,250 before June 30, 1929, and 374 planes at a cost of $20,046,250 before June 30, 1931. Thereafter 333 planes are to be constructed annually at a cost not to exceed $17,476,250.

It is estimated the five-year program for airplanes alone will cost around $85,000,000.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

The house veteran's committee has reported the Thatcher bill to authorize an appropriation of $1,125,000 for the erection of a veterans' bureau hospital in Kentucky with accommodations for 250 patients.

Thomas B. Brown, forty-six-year-old Washington real-estate operator, was arrested, charged with murder, following the fatal shooting of Miss Frances Voegele, thirty-five-year-old treasury department clerk.

Purchase of the Brodie barge line by the Inland Waterways corporation for service on the upper Mississippi river between St. Louis and Minneapolis and St. Paul has been approved by Secretary of War Davis.

Conditions in the Amazon valley are suitable for the growing of enough rubber to supply the world, provided proper measures are taken to protect the crop against diseases, says James R. Weir, pathologist of the Department of Agriculture.

Totally blind for many years, but carried on the pension roll as merely disabled, Benjamin Garnett, seventy-nine-year-old Civil war veteran of Salem, Ky., has just been awarded back-pension money amounting to $7,435.

French Debt Now Up to Senate for Action

Washington. — The $6,847,674,000 French debt funding agreement is now up to the senate, with a bitter fight against ratification in prospect.

Without waiting for action by the French parliament, the house approved the settlement by a vote of 236 to 112. Previously it had refused, 202 to 40, to send it back to the ways and means committee pending action at Paris.

As in the house, the opponents are expected to base their objections in the liberality of the terms, which spreads the payments over 62 years in annual installments graduating upward from $30,000,000 until the full amount, which includes interest, is paid.

Finger-Print Expert Dies

Washington.—Walter S. Kaye, chief clerk of the identity section of the War department and one of the greatest finger-print experts in the country, is dead at his home in Occoquan, Va.

Woman 117 Dies

Lexington, Ky.—Mrs. Celia Carter, believed to be the oldest white woman in Kentucky, is dead at Ringos Mill, Fleming county, 50 miles north of here, aged 117, according to relatives. She was a native of West Virginia.

Five Sent Back to Cells

Atchison, Kan.—Five of six prisoners who escaped from the disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth have been captured and returned to authorities at the fort.

BAYSIDE
---AMUSEMENT PARK---
Clear Lake, Iowa

NEXT SUNDAY, JUNE 13th

—FREE ATTRACTIONS AFTERNOON AND NIGHT—
FAMOUS CONCERT BAND—30 PIECES.
THE AERIAL COWDENS IN 2 ACTS—
Sensational Stunt Artists in The Air.
THE HARRISONS IN 2 BIG ACTS—
Tricks and Difficult Riding on Bicycles.
NAGLE AND HIS 10 TRAINED DOGS—
Will perform Sunday by Special Request.
AT BAYSIDE—Shady Picnic Grounds, Tables, Children's Playgrounds, Best Bathing Beach on Lake, Toboggan Slide, Roller Coaster, Swinging Aeroplane, Merry Go Round, Little Train, Roller Skating.

——Policed Parking Grounds For Cars——

FUN FOR ALL! ALL FOR FUN!

Threshing Coal

Put in your order now for Threshing Coal, so you will be sure to have it on time.

ORDER YOUR COAL NOW

We can save you a lot of money and furnish you with better coal if you will give us your order NOW! At this time of the year we can buy the best coal from the mines we select—later we have to take what we can get. Order now—you will get better coal for less money.

POULTRY FEEDS

We carry a full line of Dickinson's "GLOBE BRAND" of Chicken Feeds, etc., and have on hand:

"GLOBE" CHICK STARTER
"GLOBE" GROWING MASH
"GLOBE" SCRATCH FEED, etc.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

"COME AGAIN"

This business is built up on the "Come Again" basis.

Our whole idea is to give you goods and service so satisfactory that the casual customer soon becomes a friend—glad to recommend us to his friends.

You'll need cool apparel for warm weather —shirts, hose, straw hats, underwear. You'll enjoy choosing from our large stock. Come in and compare values.

Patton Brothers Co.

"Where A Dollar Does Its Duty"
MASON CITY, IOWA

PIANOS

Cash or Payments

WRITE FOR LIST OF BARGAINS FOR JUNE

Used Player Piano $175
Slightly Used Piano $85

SALE

Chambers Music House

East State St.
Mason City, Iowa

DAWN-DUSK WORLD FLIGHT HIS DREAM

815 Miles an Hour Needed, Says Scientist.

New York.—Around the world in seventeen hours, the length of the daylight period on a long summer day, is the dream of Dr. Charles H. T. Townsend of Itaquaquecetuba, Brazil, writing in the Scientific Monthly. To do this at the latitude of New York would require a constant speed of 815 miles an hour, nearly three times the highest speed yet attained by airplanes over even short distances.

Even at that, however, Doctor Townsend does not think his dream outside the limits of possibility. Man began flying only a short time ago, after studying the flights of birds for many centuries, and he has already far outdone the birds in speed, in altitude and in weights carried, though he has not yet proved himself the equal of the best of them in long-distance, nonstop flights.

To reach the terrific speed necessary for a dawn-to-dusk flight around the world, however, a different animal model will have to be studied, in the opinion of Doctor Townsend. He has made observations on the flight of a certain genus of large flies, known to scientists as Cephenemyia, which have flying speeds of about 400 yards a second, or over 800 miles an hour. This does not equal the velocity of a modern rifle bullet, but is faster than an old-fashioned musket ball and as fast as the prejectiles of certain kinds of artillery. If such a velocity could be reached by a flying machine it would easily accomplish the feat dreamed of by Doctor Townsend.

It is admitted that this would not be easy to accomplish by any flight mechanism known at present, but the fact remains that the flies do it. Their analogy to a long-flight airplane is the stronger, Doctor Townsend points out, in that the flies eat nothing whatever during their several weeks of adult life, living and flying entirely on energy stored up in the reserve food material laid up in their bodies during their prolonged feeding period as grubs. That is to say, they carry fuel and rations for all the flying that they ever do.

BEGUM OF BHOPAL

Her Highness Nawab Sultan Jehan, begum of Bhopal, only woman ruler of an independent Indian state, photographed in her royal robes on her visit to London.

Ice-Bound Five Weeks, Ship Crosses Sea in 12

Boston.—Nearly three months since it first sailed from Stockholm, Sweden, a voyage that usually takes less than three weeks, the steamer Baltic, Capt. O. Lodin, warped into dock at Charlestown with a story of having been trapped in the ice of the Baltic sea for five weeks.

The steamer left Stockholm with a cargo of wood pulp, polished granite and other merchandise. It made the passage to the Finnish port of Hango, where it finished loading. The five succeeding weeks were passed frozen in the ice of the northern sea, and it was only through persistent efforts to open a path with the assistance of two ice-breaking boats sent out by the Swedish government that it was extricated.

With provisions low and coal nearly exhausted, the steamer limped back to Stockholm, where its bunkers were replenished. It next went into drydock for minor repairs. Through the unusually long voyage, Captain Lodin said the health of his crew was excellent. In addition to its regular cargo, the Baltic brought a case of books from Stockholm, consigned to Harvard university.

Translation of Letter Starts Treasure Hunt

Leningrad.—Professors Denike and Massalski have discovered in the library of the late khan of Kiva, a manuscript containing a translation from Greek into Arabic of a letter sent by the great Macedonian prince, Alexander the Great, to one of his generals.

The letter gives a full inventory of the hero's treasury, consisting of a pile of gold bars on which are engraved treatises on medicine and morals. The government will make excavations on the spots mentioned in the letter.

Goodell News

(By Special Correspondent)

Dorothy Lackore visited at the Chase home in Garner last week.

Iola Chase is visiting Dorothy Lackore this week.

Nettie and Louisa Mason are visiting relatives in Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Avery are entertaining company from Missouri.

Mr. Matson and son Tauge are in Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Avery drove to Iowa Falls Sunday.

John Kearney of Williams visited relatives at Goodell Sunday.

Avis Wilson is recovering quite rapidly.

Eddie Boller returned home from Chicago Monday for a two weeks visit with his folks.

Mrs. Wilmur Burke and Mrs. Frank Quigley, Jr., were Klemme shoppers Saturday.

Mrs. Jim Christie has been quite sick the past week. Her daughter of Minnesota is here visiting.

Mrs. Dave Finn went to Kansas Saturday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Donahue.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Allie and children visited Mrs. Allie's parents at Rowan Saturday.

Veronica Finn and Billy Butts came from Iowa City Wednesday to spond their summer vacation.

Mr. McNulty is able to be down town again. His friends are glad to see his improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Barger of Meservey were Goodell callers Monday.

Nettie and Jesse Chase of Garner are visiting at the Clifford Chase home this week.

Mrs. Geo. Zeilie and Mrs. Dan Miller were Mason City callers Saturday.

Mrs. Hubbard and Harvey returned from Oregon where they have spent the winter with relatives.

A dance was given in the Opera House Saturday night. Another one will be given two weeks from Saturday night, or June 19th.

Lewis Johnson returned from a week's visit with his daughters at New Richmond, Minnesota. His grandson came back with him.

Ed. Hemingway and Winifred Tisor went to Mason City Saturday to get Mrs. Hemingway who is going to visit her son a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Herrick, of California, have come to spend the summer with their daughter, Mrs. Virgil Cook.

The Children's Day Program held at the U. B. Church June 6th was very good and well attended by both Goodell people and many out of the town visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Griggs, Mrs. J. J. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sherwood and Mrs. A C Carpenter attended the funeral of Mrs Jess Wilson held at Hampton Thursday.

Mr. Burton Smith of Mason City visited at the Johnson home Sunday. Mrs. Smith will go to Mason City and start house keeping in a few days.

John and Harold Savogue, T. M. Hamilton and W. L. Thada returned from their fishing trip at Spirit Lake Friday. They brought back quite a number of fish and reported great luck all the while they were there.

Mrs. Wesenberg took the following Eighth Grade pupils to Britt to attend their commencement exercises last Wednesday: Dale Conklin, Cholin Houghton, Eunice Wesenberg and Gage Lackore.

Get Your Fresh Groceries Here

During the hot weather it is quite important and necessary to have GOOD, FRESH FOOD.

You will find our GROCERY DEPARTMENT well equipped with all articles of Food which arrive daily.

As most housewives' supply of canned goods is getting low, we can supply your needs in GALLON or SMALL CANS of a variety of Fruits.

Fresh Fruits and Berries also.

"PAY CASH AND PAY LESS"

A BIG SPECIAL EVERY —SATURDAY—

Jno. N. Day's Cash Store

Kill Flies and Bugs NOW!

Here's Real Protection-

SWAT THE FLY now and get rid of the pest! We carry a full line of everything to control Flies and Bugs:—

HOME PROTECTION

Screen your winodws and doors now. We carry allkinds of screen, also full line of screen doors; Fly Swatters, Fly Spray, etc.

FOR GARDEN BUGS

Spray with Arsenate of Lead to kill all kinds of Bugs. We sell real sprayers, in both hand and pump styles.

PROTECT THE ANIMALS

Get a Nose Basket for every horse you own—see our window, we sells hundreds of them each year. Spray your barns with Fly Chaser and keep out the flys. See us for anything you need.

E. F. Jacobs

"THE FARM SERVICE STORE"

12,500 CUSTOMERS TO PAY YOU

This is exactly what you have when you invest in——

Central States Electric Company 7 per cent Preferred Stock

Because EVERY ONE of these 12,500 Customers (Yourself included) probably receive and pay for Service EEVRY MONTH, and it is from these payments that the DIVIDEND ARE PAID.

12 TIMES A YEAR we receive pay for our Service, and 4 TIMES A YEAR we pay the Stockholders their Dividends, and have been doing this for a long time.

It is reasonable to believe that we will continue to do so right along regularly because hardly anyone wants to get along without Electric Light, and Power, or Gas Service that they have been using, and so that makes 12,500 Customers we can 'Bank On' plus the new ones that are continually joining us.

It would be difficult to find a better investment than these 7% Preferred shares backed as they are by the absolute necessities of thousands of people, and especially when this investment can be had in your HOME COMPANY.

THINK IT OVER, and then let us give you some particulars.

A line will bring a Circular. Address:

SECURITIES DEPARTMENT

Central States Electric Company

215 So. 2nd Street

CEDAR RAPIDS IOWA

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Life is not so complex if we do not persist in making it so. We need faith, we need to be brave; we need chronically to keep the corners of the mouth turned up and not down. And, after all, it is only a step at a time.—Ralph Waldo Trine.

SEASONABLE FOODS

Those acquainted with only the cultivated and canned mushrooms, do not realize the rare flavor of the fried variety. They are found in abundance now and up to the time of frosts which kill them. It is better to buy them in the market, if you have no knowledge of the edible varieties, than to risk being poisoned. The field mushroom, if brushed and peeled, the cap dressed with a spoonful of butter and broiled over coals or under gas, is delicious. Served alone on buttered toast, the mushroom is at its best, as many food flavors confuse its delicate taste. Cooked in butter for five minutes, cream added and served as a supper dish, it is unsurpassed as a dainty.

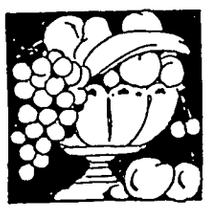
Hash.—Take chopped beef either cooked or raw, add butter and a chopped onion to a hot frying pan, now add twice as much chopped cooked potato as meat, a teaspoonful of grated horseradish, or less, and salt and pepper to season. Add cream from time to time to moisten and cook until well blended. Serve like an omelet, rolled out on a hot platter and garnished with parsley.

Cheese and Olives Canape.—Cut stale bread into one-quarter inch slices. Shape with a small oblong cutter with rounded corners. Cream, butter and add an equal quantity of soft rich cheese; season with salt. Spread the bread and garnish with one-quarter inch border of finely chopped olives and pieces of red and green pepper cut into fancy shapes in the center of each.

Moravian Apple Pie.—Core and peel six even-sized apples. Place in a covered pan with a teaspoonful of lemon juice, a little of the grated rind, a cupful of sugar and water enough to cover the bottom of the dish. Stew until tender. Line a deep pastry plate with rich pastry, place the apples in it, fill the center with peach marmalade and cover with latticed strips of pastry. Bake in a hot oven and serve with cream.

Berry Cake.—Sift together a teaspoonful of soda with two cupfuls of flour. In another bowl put one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of shortening and warm it enough to cream it easily; add the yolk of one egg, one whole egg, beat well, add one teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-half teaspoonful of cloves. Mix well and add one cupful of canned berries, juice and fruit, stir well. Now mix with the flour mixture and bake in a loaf. Ice with the egg white left, using one cupful of sugar, one-fourth cupful of water and boil until it hairs, pour over the beaten white and continue beating until cool and stiff enough to spread over the cake.

Soups of Summer Fruits.



With those who are used to serving fruit soups they are considered a very important part of the menu. They are not much used in America, but we are beginning to like and appreciate them. In the Old world the prince and peasant enjoy them summer and winter. Chilled with shaved ice they appeal to our taste, and serve an attractive beginning to a summer meal. With fruit soups the ingredients used with the fruit juice make them more or less nourishing.

Strawberry and Orange Soup.—Sprinkle a pint of strawberries with sugar and let stand on ice for an hour. Make a sirup with one and one-half quarts of water and a pound of sugar with a quart of fresh berries and the juice of a lemon. Mash and strain, add a cupful of orange juice and the prepared berries and serve ice cold.

Apple and Rice Soup.—Core and slice very thin eight unpeeled apples. Cook them with a half cupful of rice in two quarts of boiling water until both rice and fruit are soft. Put through a sieve, add spice and one-half cupful of orange or grapefruit marmalade. Serve hot.

Prune and Peach Soup.—Take one-third of a pound of dried prunes and two-thirds of a pound of dried peaches, soak over night. In the morning add a pint of cold water and let them cook until boiling, add two tablespoonfuls of sago and cook until the sago is clear. Add a cupful of cherry, cranberry or other tart juice. Serve hot or cold.

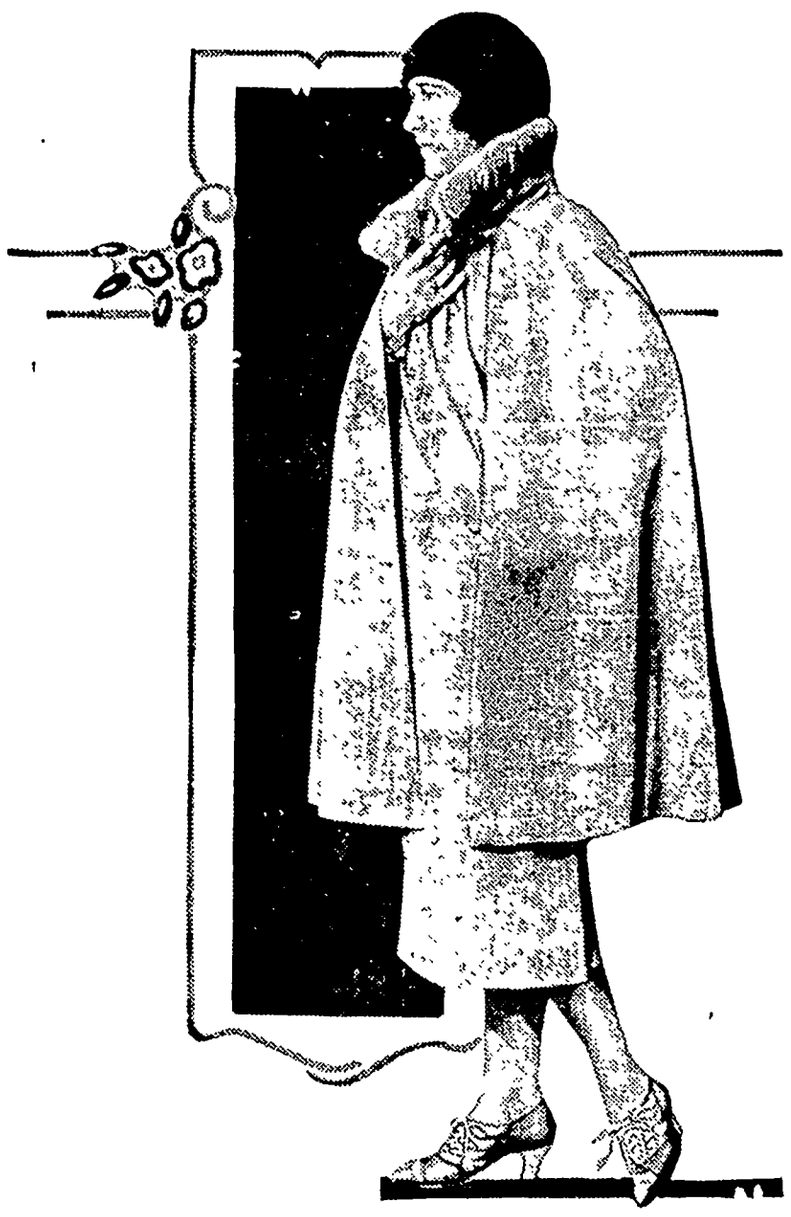
Cherry and Quince Soup.—Stem and stone a pint of deep-red cherries; place them in a saucepan with the juice and rind of a lemon, half a cupful of quince juice and a pint of water. Cook until the cherries are tender, then thicken slightly with cornstarch and cook until the starch is well cooked. Serve hot.

Wafers, sweet crackers and various small pastries may be served with such soups

Nellie Maxwell

WRAPS HAVE FLOWING LINES; PARIS SENDS SPORTS CLOTHES

THE current of the styles in outer garments flows toward graceful lines—partly influenced by the success of the cape. This adaptable wrap began its wayward, but charming, career in the smart winter resorts and caused even coats to follow its alluring ways—hence the fad for wearing coats flung about the shoulders with the sleeves hanging loose. Then the cape-coat, combining grace and comfort, began to grow important and now the latest word from stylists tells of cape-coats and dolmans that resemble them, with the cape-coat flourishing in all types.



A Graceful Summer Wrap.

Coats with regulation capes, for summer wear, like the model pictured, are made of rep, flannel, crepe, georgette and lame, but in the sheer fabrics for warm summer days the cape portion is shorter and more fanciful. Rep and the heavier crepes are the choice for coats that must provide some measure of warmth. The model shown here, if made up in navy blue rep and lined with bright red crepe, or shantung, will prove dashing and useful. In black or gray crepe it will serve almost every purpose for day or evening wear.

Everyone who appreciated the charm of last summer's georgette coats will welcome this year's cape coats made of the same exquisite material. They are most useful in black and are made usually with rounded capes of varied lengths, single, double or triple, and sometimes scalloped at the edges. Their only rivals in sheer beauty are those large georgette scarf shawls, made of a square of georgette, surrounded by a deep border in black or other contrasting color.

For sports wear or travel, tweeds in new weaves and new patterns are the first choice.

Perhaps women have come to regard the summer time itself as a sporting event and mere living as a pastime. Anyway, when the good old summer time comes, they seem inclined to get into sports clothes, morning, noon and night, and summer brings along so many types of these that they are well dressed for almost anything the day may bring. Comparatively few sports clothes are designed for actual sports wear—most of them seem destined for the gallery and for pastimes not at all strenuous. For instance, here are two rather dainty outfits which Paris sends over labeled "Robes de sport"—they might be as appropriately called two-piece daytime dresses or even informal afternoon frocks. Therefore we will discuss sports clothes by leaving out actual sports wear and talking of informal clothes instead.

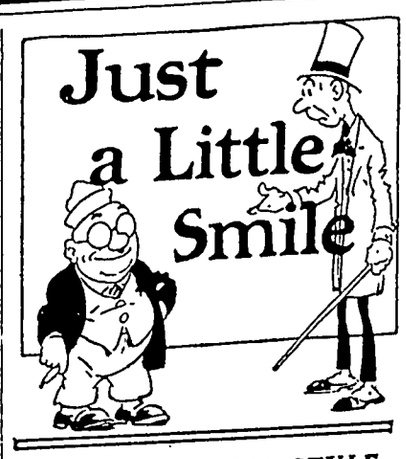
Pastel colors in flannel, jersey, kasha or rayon mixtures, or in crepe de chine, might be chosen for either of these frocks and the plaited skirt goes without saying—it is taken as a matter of course that a sports dress has a plaited skirt. In the dress at the left the jumper is decorated with bands piped with silk in a contrasting color and has an odd shaped belt fastened with a buckle. The embroidered medallion in the same color might enclose one's monogram, as an elegant finishing touch. For the frock at the right, crepe de chine will prove a good medium and buckles play a conspicuous part in its adornment.

The Paris Idea of Sports Clothes.

One can hardly say "sports dress", without being understood to mean jumper dress, just now, two-piece costumes are so far in the lead of others. Jersey is the most popular material, but kasha, flannel, rayon mixtures, crepe de chine, radium silk and marocain are all in the running. Among the silks are some gay, striped patterns and costumes with skirts of a striped fabric and overgarment of a plain one—or the reverse of this order—are more fashionable than matched pieces.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)



COPYING ROYAL STYLE

An owner's recently engaged jockey was the subject of conversation between the owner and a friend.

"Do you think, then," asked the latter, "that Blank has improved his riding since he entered your service?"

"On the contrary," was the reply, "I would say he has fallen off quite a lot."—Stray Stories.

Her Memory

She (after the proposal)—I'm sorry, Teddy. Maybe some other girl will make you forget me.

He—I can never forget you!

She (sweetly)—Oh, yes, you can. You did it very nicely my last birthday.—Country Gentleman.

CAN'T TELL BY THE JAW

"She's a girl of strong character—look at her jaw."

"Don't you know she chews gum?"

Funker's Epitaph

Here he sleeps,
One Johnny Funker;
He rounded a turn
Without a honker.

The Great Undressed

"A dress designer says that women should dress in keeping with their personality."

"It would bring down a storm of blue laws?"

"Just think of those who haven't any!"—Stanford Chaparral.

Too Sensitive

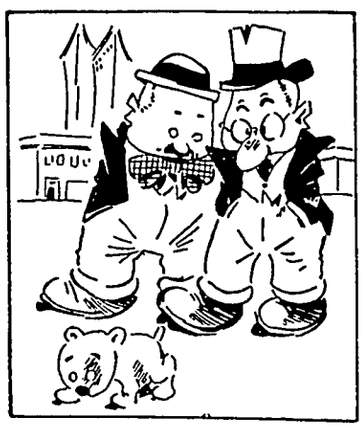
Magistrate—Why did you assault this man?

Organ Grinder—He abusa da monk.

Magistrate—What did he do?

Organ Grinder—He talka rough to da monk; he tella heem he looka like me.

EXTRAORDINARY DOG



"He's an extraordinary dog, eh? Knows the value of money?"

"Yea—he picks up a scent almost every time I take him out."

Early—in the Morn'

Late hours for young folks
Old folks oft' do condemn—
And so the youngsters come
Home long 'bout 4 a. m.

In Open Court

Wealthy Judge (lecturing prisoner)—A clear conscience, my man, is more to be desired than riches.

Prisoner—All right, sir. I'll swap with you.

Struck Is Right

I was struck by the beauty of her hand.

I tried to kiss her.

As I say.

I was struck by the beauty of her hand.—Wisconsin Octopus.

Happy All Around

"I envy that fat woman when she laughs."

"Why?"

"There seems to be so much of her having a good time."

The Bargain

Ada—Why is that Mr. Taylor eating so much lately?

Archie—I understand he bought a bargain suit of clothes that was several sizes too large and he's trying to fit it.

The Servant Problem

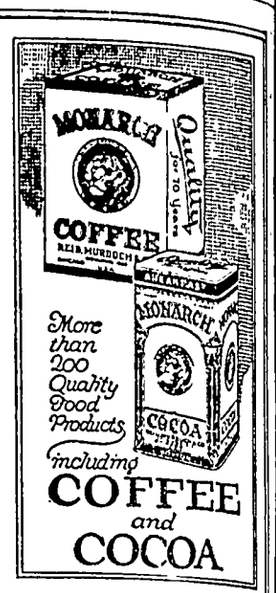
Census Taker—How many servants do you keep?

Suburban Lady—Well, we've never been able to keep any very long; could you offer any suggestions?

Summer Showers

Like some brands of food products, they appear suddenly—out of nowhere. A flurry of excitement—and they are gone and forgotten. The Monarch Trademark has been making friends for three generations.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
Never Sold Through Chain Stores.
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago • Boston Pittsburgh • New York



Potency of Deadly Sound Waves Shown

A "death-noise" instead of a "death-ray," was the phenomenon discussed recently before the National Academy of Science, by Prof. R. A. Wood and Alfred L. Loomis of the Johns Hopkins university. The "death-noise" would have been inaudible to human ears, but it consisted of sound waves, just the same, and it killed small fishes and other aquatic animals in vessels of water, in less than a minute. The two researchers generated exceedingly high-frequency sound waves by means of electrical apparatus. The waves were produced at a rate of from 100,000 to 400,000 to the second. The upper limit of audibility to human ears is between 20,000 and 30,000. If a beam of these sound waves is directed toward the surface of the water, Professor Wood said, the surface is heaped up in a mound. The vibrations heat the water, a rise of nearly 10 degrees Fahrenheit in one minute having been recorded.

Women and Business

A man who is making money never runs away. It seems to be the rule that no matter how much a man thinks of a woman he will not run away with her if he has to give up a job or business that is very profitable.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

"BAYER ASPIRIN" PROVED SAFE

Take without Fear as Told in "Bayer" Package

BAYER

Does not affect the Heart

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-five years for

Colds	Headache
Neuritis	Lumbago
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Each unbroken "Bayer" package contains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100.

Putting It Delicately

Young Man—Those your parents sitting over there?

Young Woman—No; they're my godparents. They brought me up.

Young Man—I see. So you're a sort of cuckoo.—London Punch.

Every time the bottom drops out of the market another class graduates at the school of experience, says the Detroit News.

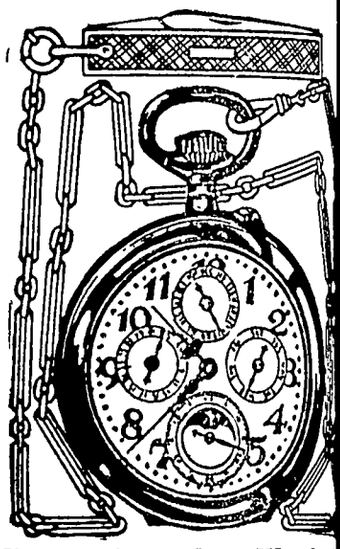
STOP THAT ITCHING

You won't have to wait—relief follows the first comforting touch of

Resinol

Wonderful Watch Just Invented

Has 6 hands and shows not only Hours, Minutes and Seconds, but the days of the week, the days of month, the months of the year and variations of the moon



This Is Something Wonderful

Anyone who has a watch like needs no calendar. All he has to do to take a glance at this wonderful watch, and he will know at once only what hour, minute and second is, but also what day of the week, day of the month, what month of year it is, and the variations of moon. With a watch like this you surprise all your friends and neighbors. Everyone who sees this watch wants to have one. This newly invented watch has a beautiful, strong case, size 16, keeps correct time and is guaranteed for 20 years. It is worth at least $16 but for a certain length of time will sell it for only $9.75 and in addition to the watch we will include entirely FREE a beautiful watch-chain, a pocket knife with 2 blades and a compass showing all directions of the world. To get this wonderful watch you don't have to send any money in advance, not even a cent. Just cut out this advertisement and send it together with your name and address, and the small amount of $9.75 you can pay on delivery. We guarantee satisfaction or refund your money. Send in your order now to:

UNION MAIL ORDER COMPANY
4111 Nelson St., Dept. A, Chicago.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 24—

New Cancer Theory

T. P. Van Calcar, professor of teriology, hygiene and public he at the Leyden university, has made an announcement of the re of his researches concerning origin of cancer. He claims tha has discovered the cancer parasite the causative organism of cancer protozoan of a type discovered in cer cells has been isolated and fro culture subsequently prepared the ease has been produced in dogs. theory is that cancer cells send offshoots and thus devour other Professor Van Calcar has succeede cultivating the so-called protozoa then making decisive experiment dogs fed with the protozoa, the r being the appearance of cancer i dogs' stomachs.

Evidence

"Your husband has filed a cross tition about this bill."

"You see. He has always had a temper."—Louisville Courier-Jour

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Chil

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of never gripes, sickens or upse most delicate system. Besides, it solutely harmless, and so pleasa even a cross, feverish, bilious child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle store that sells medicine and jo for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

ULD SBANDS DO OUSE WORK?

Mrs. Dyer Solved the Problem.

ildred Dyer was lucky. She d-natured husband who helped her with much of her housework. Because she was in ill health for five years, it was often necessary for him to do this. But it bothered Mrs. Dyer. She felt that he had to work hard enough anyway. The time he spent in doing her work was needed for his own. She ed to find the road to better ites: "I think Lydia E. Pinkegetable Compound is simply l. My health is better than it been. I am getting stronger ing in weight."

s solved her problem and her d is happier. The Dyers live nds, Calif., Route A, Box 183. ften does your husband have ir housework? No matter how e is, no woman feels comfortut it. Perhaps you, too, will er health through the faithful Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable nd.

Old Order Changed

ssador Houghton said at a dinWashington:
old order changeth in Engelsewhere. The English don't duke as they once did.
late duke of Sutherland, who e largest landowner in the had a little private railway Dunrobin castle and used to engine himself.
day he knocked over an old She wasn't badly hurt, and e or ten minutes she came to. t words were these:
he duke very angry?'"

oth always looks on the bright the flame.

nds in in one inute

ORNS

inute—that's how quick Dr. Scholl's ads end the pain of corns. They safely. You risk no infection from ur cutting, no danger from "drops"). Zino-pads remove the cause—ing or rubbing of shoes. They are medicated, antiseptic, protective, g. Get a box today at your drug- or shoe dealer's—35c.
r Sample write The Scholl Mfg. Co., Chicago

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads
t one on—the pain is gone

DONT BE GRAY!
Darken your gray hair, gradually, surely and safely in privacy of your home. Used over 50 years by millions. Money-back guarantee. BOOKLET FREE.
ban Hair Color Restorer
At your Druggist 75¢
LLS, CHEMISTS, Dept. W, MEMPHIS, TENN.

Purity of Cuticura Makes It Unexcelled for All Toilet Purposes

BABIES LOVE MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP
The Infants' and Children's Regulator
Pleasant to give—pleasant to take. Guaranteed purely vegetable and absolutely harmless. It quickly overcomes colic, diarrhoea, flatulency and other like disorders. The open published formula appears on every label.
At All Druggists

All Flies! THEY SPREAD DISEASE
DAISY FLY KILLER attracts and kills. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient and cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed. Insist upon
DAISY FLY KILLER
from your dealer.
LD SOMERS Brooklyn N. Y.

Handiest thing in the house

For Cuts
e at once with "Vaseline" Jelly. vents soreness. Shuts out air and Heals quickly. Keep it handy every emergency.
SEBROUGH MFG. COMPANY (Consolidated) New York
e Street
Vaseline
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF
PETROLEUM JELLY

The Wife-Ship Woman

By HUGH PENDEXTER

Author of "Kings of the Missouri," "Pay Gravel," "A Virginia Scout," etc.

Copyright by Hugh Pendexter—1923-1925. WNU Service

CHAPTER XIV—Continued

—18—

She had difficulty in adjusting some twigs of the hedge to her liking, and her voice was so low I could scarcely hear it as she said:

"I told you once that should you feel the same as you did that time on the river—that second time on the second river—there could be no harm— Ah, I put shame on myself to speak more."

"And I repeat I am a very foolish man and must have love where I love," I stammered.

"Such a hard man!" she sighed, with a quick uplift of her eyes; and I could swear she was laughing at me.

"You broght me here to have me propose marriage to you?" I bluntly demanded.

"It is shameful to make me say that. But it is true," she mumbled.

Even then I feared she was sacrificing herself to me because of some absurd sense of gratitude.

"But your pride—"

"Enough of that word!" she fiercely cried, clutching both my hands and turning eyes filled with tears for my inspection. Then humbly:

"Does monsieur find pride in me now? Or does he find a poor, homeless, homesick girl with no friends, no people?"

My arms would have closed about her slim form had she not had a second thought. Withdrawing from me and holding her head high and haughty she accused me:

"You dared to think wrong of me on that island off Biloxi! You dared to think weakness of me because I came on that terrible ship! Not a word, monsieur! I will listen to no defense!"

As poor Joe Labrador would have said, "Ah, that Mademoiselle Dahlsgaarde!" In her moods she was as irresponsible as a butterfly, and as irresistible as a sunbeam. I lied bravely and sternly, and severely lectured her for presuming to read my thoughts and then to convict me on whatever conclusions she might happen to form. The rigidity of her pose gradually relaxed while I talked. By the time I had finished a discourse on the evilness of "pride" she was quite limp. And when for the third time I asked her to marry me she did not refuse.

* * * * * * *

Our wedding was two weeks old and I was still as ardent a believer in fairytales as any Frenchman. Then my host demanded my attention, and informed me that the man who was so insistent on seeing Mrs. Brampton was again calling.

"I believe the fellow must be crazy, William, but it's for you to dispose of him. He bothered her some before you came."

I vowed I would scalp him, and directed the butler to bring him into the rose-garden back of the house. He came, and behold he was the man who had yelled to me as I furiously galloped up the plantation road in search of a wife. What was more astonishing he was Jules Mattor, my boatman when I escaped from Pascagoula bay.

I sternly inquired his business with Mrs. Brampton, and with much squirming and twisting, he told me how he had brought her a message from Biloxi, it being written by no one less than his excellency, Sieur de Bienville.

"And, monsieur, I have waited six weeks, and she will give me no answer to carry back. If I go without an answer his excellency will believe I did not do his business, and he will use a hard hand. Mademoiselle would not give me an answer. Cannot monsieur, who is so big and strong, induce madame to write just a word?"

I sent a boy to fetch Mrs. Brampton. As she entered the garden and beheld Mattor she smiled slightly, but there was nothing but happiness in her face.

"Madame, this man, Jules Mattor, says he brought you a message from Sieur de Bienville and fears he will be punished if he returns without an answer."

"So?" she softly answered. "Then he should have an answer. And has monsieur, my husband, been told what the message contained?"

"I doubt if the messenger knows. I certainly have not asked him."

I turned aside and became interested in a rosebush. With a swish of skirts she was at my side and explaining:

"They found out directly after I sailed. Word came by the very boat which followed the Maire, the very boat Bienville went out to the island to meet that night you escaped from Biloxi. Think of it! That very night Bienville had his orders from my uncle, the marquis, and if you had been a day late they would have bundled me back to France and you would have no little wife to make you happy this day."

I gaped at her stupidly and muttered:

"The trail is very blind, madame. I find a sign here and there."

"Foolish one! I knew it would come in time. That was why I was determined to marry you before you learned the truth."

"Aye? Well, you did it."

"Because I feared that once you learned the truth your silly English pride would send you back to the terrible forest and that abominable river, and I would return to France, or stay here unwed. Here is the message. Read it."

She pulled a paper from the bosom of her gown, but I refused it, suggesting that she tell me what she would. She settled herself primly on a rustic settee and made an imperious little gesture for me to be seated.

"It is like this, my love. My mother was a de Baude, a distant kinswoman of Comte de Frontenac—"

"Pride!" I exclaimed, beginning to understand.

"Her family would have none of her because she married a Dahlsgaarde. After both she and my father died an uncle was named as my guardian. He is a friend of Monsieur le Regent, and being a marquis and having great wealth, he is a very sad dog. His tastes and Monsieur le Regent's are the same. The two plan to marry me to an execrable creature, who has much gold, a great family name, and the morals of the devil. I refuse to marry the beast. Terrible times follow. I am fresh from the convent. I know little of the world. I am terrified when my uncle, the marquis, says it is the regent's will that I marry his choice at once. They bring the man to me.

"You Brought Me Here to Have Me Propose Marriage to You?" I Bluntly Demanded.

"He is hideous, and old enough to be my father. I swear I will not wed him. My uncle the marquis, says I shall. I am nearly insane. But there are wonderful stories being told about the Mississippi country. Every one is making a mountain of gold just by buying John L'as' stock. The very servants gossip about the magic of Louisiana. Every one is kind. There is nothing but happiness. The day draws nearer the hateful wedding. I can kill myself, yes; but life is young; life is sweet if not poisoned.

"I dress in a maid's gown and take a few of my jewels and escaped to the coast. The day I reached the port I learn an immigrant ship is about to sail. I go aboard just as they are about to start. Ah, such women-wolves were in it! Then that island and Biloxi! Then that odious la Nouvelle Orleans—the second Paris! I was crazed with fear and horror, monsieur. So I wrote to you. That is all."

"Very good. I am glad it is cleared up. Nothing from those experiences can ever come into your life to make you sad."

She rose and asked:

"Are there no questions, my dear?"

"No questions, sweetheart."

She glanced down at the letter and laughed aloud as a child does when immensely pleased.

"Ciel! But I forgot Sieur de Bienville's letter! I have told you nothing of it. I must have no secrets from my husband. It seems his orders are to place me on the first ship returning to France. He is much concerned to have me go back. Monsieur le Regent is vastly interested; and that means Monseigneur L'as will do anything to get me back."

"D—n them all! All France can't get you back!" I cried.

"O-o-o!" and she drew back in a pantomime of fear. "Such terrible words my husband speaks! But his excellency writes most polite. He the same as says I shall dictate my own future. A ship will take me from Charles Town, or Pensacola, as I wish. It is arranged with the English government that I may go in an English ship, if I wish. I am warned not to return by way of the river, as it would be too dangerous. You should feel very proud to find me a woman of so much importance. Now you know all. Will you keep me?"

"Against all Europe!" I told the top of her head.

She struggled free and cried:

"But you never ask about the old pirate. Such a polite husband! I know you die of curiosity. He was an undergardener at my uncle's country place. He saw me steal away from home, and he followed me. He was a very wicked old man. He followed me on board the ship, planning to make a fortune out of my disappearance. He knew there would be a great search and a big sum in gold offered. He would wait in the new world till he could drive the best bargain; then he would betray me. He was very wicked."

It was all told. I felt humble and meek, but took care it should not show. So I urged her to get rid of Mattor by sending an answer to Bienville.

"Ma foi! As your wife I think it would be better for Mr. Brampton to write the answer," she replied. "Else why did I keep this poor man waiting until you came here and married me?"

* * * * * * *

We've traveled far together since those old brave days, and many of the myths have been killed out of the valley. A miracle she never wearies of contemplating is our twin boys. I called them English and she flared up and declared them to be French, and before I could join the issue she was in tears, and saying they were neither French nor English, but were Americans. And so she brought them up to consider themselves. A second miracle she could scarcely comprehend was their astounding growth until they were my equal in stature. And her pride! It towered above all other pride she had ever felt, as the heavens overtop an ant-hill. Their obedience and reverence when with their mother was very beautiful for me to watch. As they became Americans and carried her along with them I ceased calling myself English; for one must go with one's folks, or else feel very lonely.

Narbonne and Labrador; Six Fingers and Damoan the Fox. The good and the bad. Yet somehow the mighty river utilized both elements to give me my wife. And I wonder if its other seemingly blind purposes may not contain some hidden good for those who ultimately build cabins in the valley.

[THE END.]

Unhappiness in Wake of Avoidable Worry

The thing which causes us to worry is either something that can be remedied, or can't. The thing to do is to look it squarely in the face. Swallow an unpleasant truth or so if necessary, but get down to the issue, is the advice of the Montreal Family Herald.

If the cause cannot be changed, there is only one thing to do—don't think about it. Force yourself to shut it out of your consciousness. Just close your mind to it, and let the blow fall when and where it will. Since you can't stop it, you might at least save your strength for the finish.

But most of our worries are avoidable. We worry because we suddenly think, two hours after we left the house, that we maybe didn't turn off the electric iron in the kitchen, or because we have a house full of company in the evening and nothing seems ready, or because the children won't eat their vegetables, but will fill up on candy, or any number of small things that are the result of our own carelessness or our inattention to duty.

This Name of Poet

So then, gentlemen, in the eyes of men of your refinement, I would have this name of poet to be regarded as sacred: it is a name to which barbarism never yet did violence. Rocks and wilderness echo the voice; savage brutes are often swayed by melody and stand stock-still; are we, whose education has been of the highest—are we not to be touched by the accents of a poet?—Cicero.

Many Kinds of Oaks

There are 300 kinds of oak trees having vastly different characteristics, but they have one common feature, and that is they all produce acorns. The white oak is so called because it has a rather white bark, while the black oak's bark is quite dark, black to all intents and purposes during the "wood age." Live oak was always preferred for shipbuilding and for heavy duty, but just why it was named "live" is a matter of doubt.

At one time the island of Nantucket was covered with live oaks, but the land was denuded of this timber years ago during the whaling activities, when several shipbuilding yards flourished on the island and a great fleet of whalers was built there.

Forest fires last year burned over 30,000,000 acres of ground—an area greater than that of New England.

CHILDREN CRY FOR

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is especially prepared to relieve Infants in arms and Children all ages of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Absolutely Harmless - No Opiates. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Really

"These chickens were hatched in an incubator." "My word! They look just like real ones!"

Long Ride

"Where've you been, Willie?"

"I hitched my sled to a fire track an' th' fire was in a suburb."

No More Sore Feet! Corns and Bunions Gone—

WHY suffer from tired, aching, swollen and sweating feet, painful corns or bunions, when you can get instant relief with Allen's Foot-Ease? Shake it into your shoes in the morning—then walk all day in comfort. For those who like to dance, hike, play golf or tennis, Allen's Foot-Ease is indispensable. It will increase your enjoyment and efficiency. Sprinkled into the foot-bath—relief for your tired feet is immediate. Trial package and a Foot-Ease Walking Doll sent Free, address

ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE
Le Roy, N. Y.
Sold by all Drug and Department Stores

Sophistication

North—Dobbs must have a wonderful education.

West—What makes you think so?

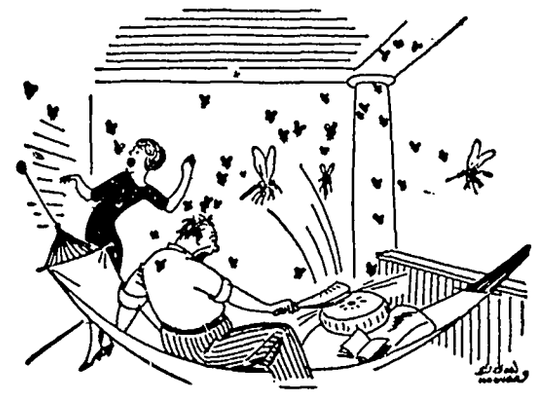
North—There are so few things he believes in.—Exchange.

Rich Soil in Hawaii

The Hawaiian Islands are said to have the richest soil in the world.

It requires will power to get thin—that's all. One has to stop eating.

© 1926 S. O. Co., (N. J.)



Slam! Wham! An' words that end with —!!

ENJOY days and nights free from flies and mosquitoes. Drive them from your porch. Destroy them indoors. Spray Flit.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Get a Flit can and sprayer today. For sale everywhere.

STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)

Such a Speaker

"Did the speaker electrify his audience?"

"No, he merely gassed it."

Plenty Is Enough

"Would you like a job in a feed mill, Sam?"

"No, suh, boss, Ah eats at home."

For sweet dough set your sponge with Yeast Foam

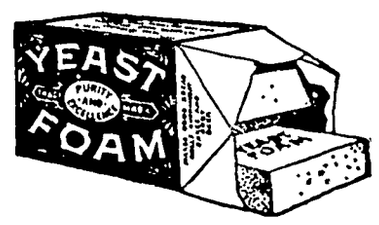
The wife who is a good bread maker is a real helpmate for the bread winner.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"



"Good bread is the pride of the thrifty bride"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

SCREEN DOORS, all kinds, at the Northern Lumber Company. 1tc

John Suurballe was in Klemme Sunday evening visiting friends.

The Legion Auxilliary will hold another dance this evening.

We handle EN-AR-CO Motor Oil and Grease. E. F. Jacobs. tc

Mr W. F. Pavey was at Mason City Sunday morning.

Miss Geneva Schuldt was a visitor at Garner Monday.

John Suurballe was a caller at the Times Office Tuesday afternoon.

J N. Day and son, Dorance, were at Belmond Tuesday afternoon.

SPECIAL—Enders 14 inch Nippers $1.19 at E. F. Jacobs. 1tc

Mr and Mrs. Harry Gibbs and children enjoyed a picnic dinner at Goodell woods Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs Harvey Tittle and children enjoyed an outing at Clear Lake Sunday.

Mr and Mrs. Chris Gram visited with her folks at Goodell Sunday evening where they had supper.

Mr and Mrs G. G. Seney, of Alexander, entertained for dinner last Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schuldt, Geneva Schuldt and Dr. D. P Anderson, of this place, and Hartley Blewitt and family of Thornton.

Buy your Screen Doors at the Northern Lumbre Company. We have a big supply on hand. 1tc

"Bill" Tanner, of Crystal Lake has been here for a few days assisting at he North Iowa Grain Company.

Attorney Verne Grau of Garner was a business caller in Klemme Saturday afternoon.

Ed. Jacobs left Tuesday morning for Fort Dodge where he will serve on the Federal Grand Jury.

Mrs. C F. Keraus was confined to her bed most of last week with lumbago. Sho is again quite well.

Grandma Gibbs has been on the sick list the past week with grippe. She is much better again.

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Trumbell visited with her mother at Goodell Sunday.

Mesdames Pavey and Kirkwood are hostesses to the Ladies Aid at the Parish House this afternoon.

Mrs Chris Mayne, who has been quite ill the past week, is reported much better today.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Paul Grange and family visited at the L. Neese home at Ventura last Sunday afternoon and evening.

Miss Marie Gauger went to Sioux City last Friday morning to attend the commencement exercises of Morningside College.

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Mike Haskins, of Garner, was in town last night oing some electrical repair work.

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines. tc

Mrs. John Gruetzmacher and Mrs. P. M. Griesemer visited at Garner last week Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Pannhoff were visiting at the Charles Mickish home at Forest City last Friday.

Mrs. Fred Chase and daughters of Garner were Klemme visitors last week Wednesday evening.

L D. Byers and John Pulfrey, of Garner, were Klemme callers last week Wednesday evening.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schmidt one day last week.

Mr. S. S. Grange went to Ruthven last week to spend awhile there visiting.

John Suurballe, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Lena Schroeder and Max spent Tuesday visiting in the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Horecka, of Garner, visited at the C. F. Keraus home Sunday.

The Times is always glad to receive items of news. Please phone your items or mail them. Thanks.

Mr and Mrs. Dick Pannhoff and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lauden visited at the Fred Hess home at Shell Rock, Sunday.

DON'T throw away that tire just because of a small hole. Bring it here, I can at least make a good spare for you. C. L. Blumer. 1tc

KEEP OUT THE FLIES! Get a Screen Door at the Northern Lumber Company. We have a full supply on hand. 1tc

Buck Kluckhohn had the misfortune to break one of his fingers in the ball game Tuesday evening. Buck says he was a little out of practice.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Griesemer of Garner came Tuesday evening for a visit of several days at the home of Mrs. John Gruetzmacher.

Misses Viola Freie and Eunice Braund and Mrs. Sumner Trumbell were visiting at Mason City last week Thursday.

Lou Davis and family came over from Mason City Sunday and accompanied Henry Freie's to Morris lake where all enjoyed a picnic dinner.

Grandma Schroeder, Mrs. Croner and Dorothy, Mr. Henry Freie and Viola dove to Mason City Tuesday afternoon for a visit.

Mrs. Ed. Jacobs is enjoying a visit from her little brother from Clear Lake who will spend most of the summer with her.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fouts returned to their home in Sioux City, Iowa, last Thursday, being here in attendance at the funeral of his mother.

BAKE SALE

The W. F. M. S. of Liberty Township will hold a Bake Sale Saturday evening at Wellemeyer's Store. 1tp

Charles Gibbs, of Fayette, was here Sunday for a visit with his mother and brothers. He is attending Upper Iowa University at Fayette.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. McCullough spent Sunday visiting with his folks at Garner, and with relatives who came over from Northwood to spend the day at Garner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thomas drove to Des Moines on business Monday. "Zip" McCullough looked after the business at the barber shop during Mr. Thomas' absence.

Dr. George Zinn attended the big farm bureau picnic at Crystal Lake yesterday. "Doc" qualified as a farmer when he got chased out of a pasture by a cow recently; that's how come they let him attend the picnic.

Mrs. P. W. Johnson and daughter, Shirley, returned from Spencer Saturday evening, where they visited for several days with Mrs. Johnson's folks.

Mrs. Gilbert Schaefer and son Bennie, and Mr. Ben Swalve left on a month's vacation trip for a visit with relatives and friends in vairous Illinois towns.

Mrs. S. W. Ibach returned last Thursday with her husband to their home near White, South Dakhota, after several week's at the A. D. Gimer home helping care for her mother.

Edwin Bock was taken to a Mason City hospital this morning. Edwin has not been well for some time but this morning he became suddenly and violently ill.

The W. C. Keraus, C. G. Waterman and R. A. Jorgenson families, of this place and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Horecka, of Garner, enjoyed a picnic supper Sunday evening at the C. F. Keraus home.

P. M. Wilson and wife left real early Sunday morning in their car for Vinton for a short visit with friends. Miss Gladys, who had been there for a week, returned to Klemme with them Monday morning.

Mrs. Glenna Espe is here from Des Moines for a couple of week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Gruetzmacher. Harold and wife expect to come shortly after the 4th for a visit.

Clarice, Ruth and Nora Wellemeyer went to Garden City, Minn., Sunday for a visit at the Albert Yahnke home. Mr and Mrs. Art Wellemeyer and Ethel took them up in the car and returned the same day.

A great many farmers from this vicinity took in the farm bureau picnic at Crystal Lake yesterday. The day was ideal and all report having had a fine time and that the program was good.

Miss Esther Jante, of Garner, is back on the switch board at the Koerner Exchange. She is taking the place of Mrs. Florence Smith, who is at Ft. Atkinson, Wis., on a vacation.

Mrs. Sumner Trumbell went to Goodell Tuesday and accompanied her mother to Hampton where the latter went for an examination at the hospital Mrs Trumbell's mother has not been well lately.

J. A. Keever and family moved to Garner yesterday and will live in a house on south Main street. Mr. Keever will drive back and forth to work and will continue to look after his business here.

An Oat Huller demonstration will be held at the Lloyd Carpenter farm 3 miles south, ½ mile east of Klemme, Saturday at 2:00 P. M. Any one wishing a oats hulled can do so for 40c per sack. 1tp

Mr. and Mrs. John Josten and Mr. Erick Josten drove to Sioux City Sioux City last Saturday to take in the commencement exercises of Morningside College. Earl Josten is a member of the graduating lass. They returned to Klemme yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Johnson and Arthur Kudje and family will leave Sunday for a two week's vacation trip by auto. They will visit relatives and friends at Seneca, Evanston, Chicago and other Illinois points after which they will go north to Wisconsin and then through Minnesota before returning to Klemme.

Mrs. Mary Waterman and daughter, Mrs. Mabel Cullinan, left today for different Iowa towns south for a visit with relatives and friends. A little later they will drive to Iowa City to locate rooms for next fall when Mrs. Cullinan will attend the University again and Mrs. Waterman will keep house for her.

W. C. Keraus, C. F. Keraus, C. G. Waterman and R. A. Jorgenson left Saturday night for Amber Lake, Minn. to put in a day at fishing. Enroute they stopped at Swea City to take Tom Mitchell and C. O. Petersen aboard. The fishing was not what it should have been. The high wind made it impossible to get a boat out on some of the lakes visited but the men succeeded in bringing home enough fish for a meal.

Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings
DR. E. H. PHILLIPS
Osteopathic Physician
Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa.

KLEMME REFORMED CHURCH

10:00 A. M. German Service.
11:00 A. M. Sunday School.
8:00 P. M. English Service.
Bible School during week days.
Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor.

The ladies of the Royal Neighbor Lodge have spent much time the past week fixing up their lodge rooms. They repapered the place, repainted the woodwork and floors and gave the hall a general good housecleaning which all adds to the attractive appearance it now presents.

Stanley, son of Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Gauger, was one year old June 4th, and so in order to celebrate the event Rev. Gauger and family drove to Pilot Knob Friday evening to enjoy a picnic supper at this famous state park. From the summit they looked through a field glass and could easily see Mason City, Garner, Miller, Forest City, Fertile, Hanlontown and all the surrounding country. It is well worth anyone's time to visit Pilot Knob, the highest point in the state of Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Koerner received a letter from their son Gerald, who wrote fom Have, Montana, within 30 miles of the Canadian border which he intended to cross. Milo Patet, who was with him, joined a couple of other boys bound for Wisconsin, so he evidently is on his way home. Gerald says he is going to stick it out until he completes the trip that he planned. He will take in part of Canada and then come back into the States and take in the Yellowstone. He says the country he is now in is worthless. The roads are not marked and are mere cow paths and trails so it is har to find around. The boys took in the Black Hills, the Bad Lands and then hit north. Milo left Gerald at Bauman, N. Dak., to start the trip home.

Elmer Beier had quite a serious accident the fore part of last week when he accidently struck his foot with an ax while splitting wood. The blade cut a deep gash and lockjaw blood poisoning set in which put him in a critical condition for a few days. Reports are that he is getting along quite well at this time.

PIANOS

Players & Grand
New and
Second Hand

M. N. ZEIGE

Jewelry & Optical Goods
GARNER, IOWA

Gargoyle MOBILOIL

For Cars, Trucks and Tractors--

SEALED QUART CANS!
SEALED GALLON CANS!
5 GAL. TIPPER CASES!
10 GAL. DRUMS!
30 GAL. DRUMS!
55 GAL. DRUMS.

We can supply you with the correct grade of MOBIL-OIL for your car, truck or tractor in any quantity you desire.

Garner Auto Co.

Phone 77 KLEMME, IA.

A Few Causes of Oil Pumping and Compression Leakage--

1. Worn or out-of-round cylinders.
2. Scored cylinders or pistons.
3. Warped or worn ring grooves.
4. Poorly fitted pistons and rings.
5. Piston pin hole out-of-round.
6. Poorly aligned rod and piston assembly.
7. Sprung connecting rods.
8. Crankshaft warped or out-of-true.
9. Worn bearings.
10. Warped or sticking valves.
11. Improper timing.
12. Leaky cylinder head gasket.

ONLY Cure-- Stormizing

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Notice--

lowing:—
We have coming a carload of each of the fol-

Hard Coal Coke

Coming about June 15th. Place your order NOW to be sure of your Coal.

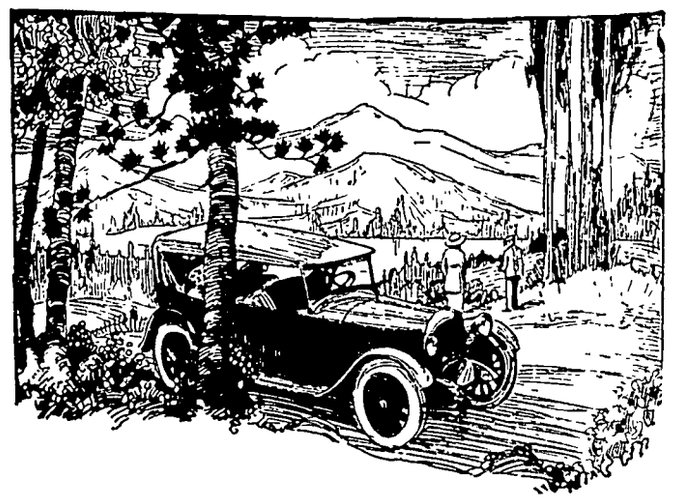
WE ALSO HAVE—

Feed Of All 'Kinds

Coming by the CARLOAD, at a very LOW PRICE, delivered off the car.
Place your order now and get in on these Bargains. . . . . .

North Iowa Grain Co.

The North Elevator Klemme, Iowa



MANY WAYS TO ENJOY IT

THE Person who accumulates money, indeed can find many ways to enjoy it. One of the great joys of living, is to be able to seek recreation through travel.

It need not be to a distant country, but only to be free to spend a couple of weeks now and then in vacations close at home.

If you look forward to these outings, arrange your finances so that you will be able to do it. Let this Bank plan with you.

First National Bank,
KLEMME, IOWA.

THE KLEMME TIMES

th Year—Number 44. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1920. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

ANIZE BALL TEAM HERE

ME TO HAVE BALL TEAM THIS YEAR

Kluckhohn Will Manage New Organization

pects are bright for a base- m in Klemme this year. mber of fans held a meeting y evening to see what could about the matter and quite nslastic bunch turned out to cross and get going.

since "Abe" Lauritsen got rom Renwick he has had the llitis and, being contagious, g soon bit other fans inclined ng the willow.

" said it looked like a team e dug up that could clean the off of anybody, and, although have not been completed the ng will probably be in the p somewhere: "Oofie" Lau, Lau, J C Thomas, Harold ger, Harl Gimer, Wayne Lem- rnor Turgeson, Fat Kluck- "Abe" Lauritsen, and others. tiations are under way to game with Renwick there on unday.

UP PORCH FOR SUMMER

ool Colors—Furniture Need Not Be Expensive

ht, cool colors are essential to mer porch Greens, blues and iolets are very cool and poss- quality of making a porch or seem larger than it really is. trast to these colors, reds, or- and yellows are warm and a room seem smaller than it y is.

ght apple or blue green paint ish a low ceilinged porch well, an air of height. A soft blue under side of the eaves gives st shadow effect.

porch may be furnished with any old furniture if repaint- r instance, if an old table and three different kinds of old are on hand, they may be up and painted to blend with or scheme of the porch. Ging- prints, linen, chintz or glazod slips may be used with the furniture The material is to the chair or sofa, pinned t out. The seams may be in bright tape or corded.

, Hickory, fiber or Chinese make good but expensive fur- for the porch.

living room cushions may be brilliant orange or blue and used on the porch. They touch of color to the room. If urtains are made, quilted cali- tonne, awning cloth or oil- are good.

s, linen, rag or fiber rugs are r the porch. They are quite in- ive and substantial. One large better than several small rugs lain ones better than those esigns

OUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Klemme, Iowa, May 17, 1926.

ular meeting of Town Council t the Town Hall. C. A. Lar- d H. L. Suckow members of l absent.

ion made and seconded to al- e following bills:

J. Coobs, Salary for il	$ 75.00
Phillips Co., Inter- Coupons	390.00
Parrott & Sons Co., ger Leaves	3.98
l States Electric Co., et Lights and Bal- e due on Contract	59.30
Jorgenson, Publish- Proceedings and ement	11.42
rd Oil Company, oline	28.88
Company, Hagger- Washer Cutter	1 55

s allowed.

ling adjourned.

A. J. Kudje, Clerk.

MASTER MAGICIAN AT BAYSIDE NEXT SUNDAY

Many Other Free Attractions On Program

The Master Magician, Professor Roberts, will appear on the Free Attraction program at Bayside Park, Clear Lake, next Sunday, June 20th Professor Roberts is known as the "Mystery Man." He takes rabbits, pigeons, ducks, little pigs from hats and performs dozens of unsolvable tricks on the stage. He is a magician widely known in vaudeville circles as a great entertainer and will surprise you and make you laugh next Sunday The North Iowa Band of twenty-five pieces will play free concerts at Bayside Park Sunday afternoon and night This is a wonderful organization, according to advance information, and will play a pleasing program Two acts will be presented by the Aerial Cowdens Uncle Iliram and the Flapper in the Revolving Ladder, is one of the scenes offered by the noted Cowdens and they do daring trapez work above the stage Princess Gandhi, formerly at Mason City, is now at Bayside Park and will be there for the entire season She tells you what you want to know Bayside has shady picnic grounds and plenty of large tables, also playgrounds for the children

HERE'S A NEW STUNT FOR THE FARMER

Now They Want To Know Who Is Best Hog Caller

Those who are searching for features to liven up farm picnics and rural social gatherings this summer or fall may find at least a partial solution by staging a hog calling contest. These contests have become popular in recent months and in order to aid with these affairs, W. H Stacy, rural organization specialist at Iowa State College, suggests the following score card:

1. Volume, loudness or carrying capacity of voice 30
   Volume is necessary to reach the ears of hogs especialy if they are in the back eighty, and the wind is blowing the wrong direction.
2. Enticement or appeal to the hog 20
   The hog caller's voice must have the ring of sincerity and honesty. It must carry conviction to the porkers or the calling is not a success.
3. Variety 20
   A varied appeal is always more effective than a monotonous, uninteresting call.
4. Originality 10
   The hog always wants to be able to distinguish it's master's call from those of the neighbors.
5. Clearness and musical quality 10
   Happiness aids digestion and hogs enjoy music A clear, musical call will bring them in happy and light footed to eat with more enjoyment and more profit.
6. Appearance and facial expression of caller in action..10
   Facial expression and general appearance of caller are one of the surest ways of judging the extent of effort.

FRIENDS HELP CELEBRATE MRS. BELL'S BIRTHDAY

They Brought Well Filled Baskets Of Good Eats

Sunday occured the birthday of Mrs. William Bell, and in order to make it a success the following persons gathered at the Bell home to help hor celebrate the event. Those present were Mr and Mrs. Benn Coobs and baby; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reed and son; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bell; Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Lassahn, Miss Geneva Schuldt and Dr. D. P Anderson.

All brought well filled baskets of good things to eat.

All present report a fine time and are looking forward to another such occasion.

LARGE CROWD AT FIRST CONCERT

GOOD PROGRAM OUTLINED FOR FRIDAY NIGHT BAND CONCERT

Large Crowd Heard Band Last Friday Night

Quite a large crowd turned out to hear the opening concert of the Klemme Band at the Park last Friday evening and many expressed their approval of the selections given by the band

The people who really care to listen to the band are the ones who came to the band concert last Friday night and they could liston to the music without the usual disturbance of cars coming and going and people talking as is the case with concerts on the street during open nights.

The program for the concert this Friday night is as follows:

Little Traveler March.
American Beauty, Waltz.
Dance of the Imps Schottische.
Fritz, March
Arcadia, Overture
Follow The Swallows, Popular.
Our Mascot, March.
—Intermission—
Salute To Washington, March
Paysage Waltz
Moonlight, Serenade.
Old Black Joe
Loyalty, March.

The above program for the large part is entirely made up of selections which have never been given in a concert here before

The program is varied enough so that it will be enjoyed by everyone.

Found Old Coin In River Sands

Karl Keffer, Des Moines architect, recently found lying on the sands of the Des Moines river twelve miles above the city, what appeared to be a silver coin. The removal of sandy acertion proved it to be a fifty-cent piece and the inscription thereon showed that it was coined in 1823 That was before Iowa was known. The coin was battered and bore evidence of the ravages of time and exposure How long it had lain between two boulders where it was found, is hard to even guess

"It's an ill wind—" said th Kansas farmer, as his nagging wife disappeared in the tornado.

SITE OF THE FIRST PHONE MESSAGE

Walter S. Gifford (left), president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and Leonard H. Kinnard (right), president of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania and Associated Companies, are shown standing on the exact spot where Alexander Graham Bell first talked over his invention at the Centennial Exposition 50 years ago. In the background can be seen Memorial Hall, relic of the Centennial, and which is now being used as a museum. It was on this spot that Don Pedro, then Emperor of Brazil, met the 29-year-old inventor and exclaimed, "My God, it talks!" when he heard Bell's voice come over the wire. The exhibits to be staged by the organization these men represent will be one of the great features of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which opens in Philadelphia June 1 and continues to December 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

EARL JOSTEN WINS MANY HONORS

KLEMME YOUNG MAN HAD FINE RECORD AT COLLEGE

Earl Josten Was Very Active In Many Morningside Affairs

SIOUX CITY, June 17.—(Special to The Times) Earl Josten has finished a remarkably successful course here and was graduated with high honors Monday He was one of the 7 out of 73 to win the coveted purple ribbon and key of Zet Sigma, local honorary scholastic society, which is soon to become a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honary scholastic fraternity With his essay on the subject, India's Crisis and Morningside's Responsibility," he won first place in the annual Mission Essay contest.

Besides maintaining an enviable scholarship record, Josten has been very active in ampus activities during his four years here He has won membership in Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity, by participating in intercollegiate debate, and was one of the charter members of Delta Theta Pi, local social fraternity, of which he was president the first term of last year. Josten has also been a leader in the musical, dramatic, journalistic, and religious activities of the college. He has had four years of experience in the men's glee club, the chapel choir, the Symphony orchestra, in which he has been playing first stand bass viol, and the college band. He has been a member of the cast of the leading dramatic productions of the college, including the senior class play. He has been on the staff of the "Collegian Reporter," college newspaper, and has written college news for the Sioux City Journal, the leading Sioux City newspaper. As a member of the Y M. C. A. staff, and as President of the Oxford club, local organization for those interested in religious work, his influence has been of the best here.

Josten has secured a position in the High School of Mount Vernon, Iowa, where he will teach higher English and direct the glee clubs.

POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE MARRIED LAST WEEK

Ralph Carolus and Emma Lassahn Married At Parsonage

On Wednesday, June 9th at 1:30 o'clock p. m. occured the marriage of Mr. Ralph Carolus and Miss Emma Lassahn, at the Reformed Parsonage at Klemme, Iowa.

The Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch performed the ceremony which was witnessed by the following: Miss Mary Spieker, a friend of the Bride and who acted as Bridesmaid, and Mr. Fred Lassahn, brother of the Bride who acted as Best Man.

The Bride was beautifully gowned in white georgette crepe and silver lace with veil and a wreath of orange blossums. She carried a bouquette of June Roses and Sweet Peas. The Bridesmaid was also attired in a gown of white georgette crepe and silver lace, and likewise carried a bouquet of June Roses and Sweet Peas.

The Groom and Best Man both wore the conventional suits of blue serge and had sprays of June Roses and Sweet Peas.

After the ceremony the Bridal couple returned to the Bride's home where a four o'clock supper was prepared for them by Mrs. Joe Jiek, a sister of the Bride and Mrs. Ray Drake a friend. The house was beautifully decorated in pink and white. The guests for supper were Mr and Mrs. Chas. Aushum, of Crystal Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jilek and family, John Davenport and Mr. and Mrs Ray Drake, besides the immediate relatives.

After the wedding meal the home was given over to the young people of the community when dancing was enjoyed until a late hour after which refreshments were served. The departing guests extended the happy couple many wishes for a long, and happy married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Carolus received a large number of beautiful wedding gifts.

HANCOCK COUNTY DEALS IN DIRT

Real Estate Deals Given Out The Past Week

C. W Erwin wf. to Commercial National Bank, of Waterloo. Q. C. D, date 6-4-26, $1.00, lot 4 and lot 5 block 7 Anderson's add Britt.

C. W. Erwin wf. to Commercial National Bank, Waterloo. Q. C. D., date 5-22-26, $1.00 lot 1 block 2 Anderson's add Britt.

D. L. Richardson wf. to Carl Hampe W. D., date 5-20-26, $4,152. E 5.78 a SE¼ SE¼ 28-96-25 and 6.22 a in SE¼ 28-96-25.

John Fitzpatrick to Maggie Fitzpatrick. W. D., date 4-7-26, $1.00, NW¼ NW¼ & S½ NW¼ & S½ NE¼ & NW¼ SE¼ 14-79-26.

John Fitzpatrick to Maggie Fitzpatrick W D, date 4-7-26, $1.00 lots 1-2-3-4 Ways Sub Div. of NE¼ SE¼ 9-97-26.

Chas K. Wheeler to W. H. Miller. Q. C. D., date 6-3-26. $1.00, S½ SE¼ 12-94-23.

Trade Name: A. Y. P. Cafe, Britt. Owners, W. F. Staples and Gus Salstrom.

NOTICE OF PROBATE OF WILL

STATE OF IOWA

Hancock County, ss.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED, That an instrument of writing purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Martha Ludeke deceased, dated Nov. 25, 1924, having been this day filed, opened and read, and Monday the 12th day of July, 1926, is fixed for hear'ng proof of same at the Court House in Garner, Iowa, before the District Court of said County or the Clerk of said Court; and at 10:00 o'clock A. M. of the day above mentioned, all persons interested are hereby notified and required to appear, and show cause, if any thy have, why said instrument should not be probated and allowed as and for the last Will and Testament of said deceased.

Dated at Garner, Iowa, June 14th, 1926.

CHRIS J. JOHANSEN,
(J17-24-J11) Clerk of Distict Court

KLEMME FARMER HAS HIGH HERD

VIRGIL COOK MAKES STATE RECORD FOR HIGH HERD IN MAY

284 Head Of Cows Culled In May Ames Records Show

Cow testing association records in May were responsible for the culling of 284 more milk cows from the herds of some 1,600 Iowa farmers. This fact is disclosed in the monthly report, soon to be issued by Iowa State College, which includes 65 associations in which over 20,000 cows were tested for milk and butterfat production.

In addition to the 284 cows sold for beef by testing association members, 144 were sold for milk purposes, while 147 were purchased for dairy purposes. Inefficient cream separators cost their owners $516.85 in May, all of which could have been avoided by proper adjustment or hand ling of the machines.

Of the 21,394 cows on test during May, 3,129 yielded more than 40 lbs. of butterfat each, while 1,124 yielded over 50 pounds. In May a year ago, only 2,150 cows produced over 40 pounds and only 716 exceeded 50 pounds.

Cook Has High Average Herd For State During May

Virgil Cook of the Hancock county Association No. 3 led the state in May for average herd production, barely nosing out Floyd Gilley of he Fayette County Association No 3, who has been in the lead the past four months. Mr. Cook's herd was made up of 8 grade and purebrod Holsteins and the average per cow was 57.1 pounds of butterfat from 1,626 pounds of milk. Mr. Gilley's 11 purebred Holsteins averaged 56.5 pounds of butterfat and 1,594 pound of milk.

Earl Carpenter of the Bremer County Association had third high herd average in May, 51.4 pounds of butterfat. In his herd were 13 purebred Holsteins. The fourth best average in the state was made by 9 purebred and grade Jerseys, owned by John Hamilton of Franklin county. J. B. Bauer of O'Brien county captured the fifth high herd average with his 12 purebred and grade Holsteins.

Hancock County Association No. 3 Wins Second Place

Linn county Association No. 1 topped the list of 65 organizations for average production of butterfat per cow in May. The average was 33.1 pounds of butterfat and 785 pounds of milk, for 345 cows, of which 322 were in milk. Hancock County Association No 3 was second with an average of 32.5 pounds of fat per cow, including 266 cows, of which 250 were in milk.

Third, fourth and fifth best association averages were made, respectively, by O'Brien County, Mason City and Anamosa

REFORMED S. S. TO HAVE PICNIC FRIDAY AT CHURCH

June 25th Is Date Set For Big Sunday School Frolic

The Minnesota Classis will meet at Garner this week Wednesday to Sunday. Members are invited to attend any of these meetings. Sunday we will drop our services here and worship with the Reformed Church in Garner.

Sunday School Picnic Next Week Friday, June 25th

Friday, June 25th the Sunday School will have a picnic on the church grounds. At 10:20 a. m. the Bible School will give a short program and Bible Story contests. Bring your children and a basket full of lunch!

Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor

EASY

Teacher: "Name the five senses."
Abie: "Nickels."

NEW YORK WELCOMES VISITING PRELATES

Cardinal Bonzano and Associates Get Enthusiastic Reception.

New York.—In one of the greatest religious demonstrations in New York's history, thousands of Catholics, led by Cardinal Hayes, welcomed Cardinal Bonzano, papal legate to the twenty-eighth Eucharistic congress in Chicago, and four other cardinals on their arrival on the Aquitania.

A flotilla of yachts, one carrying Cardinal Hayes, took the reception party to quarantine to meet the Aquitania. Two huge parades formed to march behind the visiting dignitaries up Fifth avenue.

With Cardinal Bonzano were Cardinal Dubois, primate of France; Cardinal Piffl, primate of Austria; Cardinal Reigy Casanova, primate of Spain, and Cardinal Czernoch, primate of Hungary.

Also arriving on the President Roosevelt was Cardinal O'Donnell, primate of Ireland. He also was accorded an impressive welcome.

In leaving his residence to welcome the papal legate Cardinal Hayes violated a tradition of the church which says that a visiting cardinal is received at the palace of the residing cardinals.

The departure from custom is a tribute to the high office of Cardinal Bonzano, who has only one superior, the pope.

Three bishops, respectively of American, Spanish and French birth, arrived from Central American ports as delegates to the Eucharistic congress. They were Rt. Rev. William Francis O'Hare, S. J., bishop of Jamaica; Bishop Atanasio de Saler of the diocese of Rio Hacha, Colombia, and Bishop Jose Guiot, head of the diocese of Los Annos de San Martin, Colombia.

Lutherans Authorize College Separation

Philadelphia.—After adopting a resolution authorizing the separation of Augustana college and seminary at Rock Island, Ill., delegates to the sixty-seventh annual convention of the Augustana Lutheran synod marched to Independence hall, where, assembled in the old declaration chamber, they renewed their pledges of loyalty to the principles of Americansim. The synod is composed of Lutherans of Scandinavian origin.

Polish Troops Shoot Down Unruly Strikers

Warsaw.—More than 3,000 workers from the iron and munition factories of Ostrowiec went on strike and demonstrated in the streets for higher wages, sweeping aside the police who were trying to check them.

Troops were ordered rushed to the rescue and within an hour of their arrival they had killed three strikers, wounded a score, and restored order.

Increase in Methodist World Service Fund

Chicago.—An increase of $220,294 of distributable receipts for the second world service year of the Methodist Episcopal church, ending May 31, is announced by Dr. R. J. Wade, executive secretary, and Dr. O. W. Auman, treasurer.

The total receipts for the Methodist fiscal year for world service ending May 31 were $8,119,539.

Stribling Easy Mark for Paul Berlenbach

New York.—Paul Berlenbach, world's light heavyweight champion, successfully defended his title in a fifteen-round bout with Young Stribling of Georgia. The fight was uninteresting except in spots, owing to Stribling's inability to stand up and fight in the open against the champion.

Coolidge Favors Fund for Inland Waterways

Columbia, Mo.—President Coolidge has approved a proposal by Secretary Dwight Davis of the War department, that appropriations of at least $50,000,000 a year be asked of congress for inland waterway development for the remainder of the Coolidge administration, if the financial situation permits.

Condition of Winter Wheat Is Favorable

New York.—Winter wheat condition on the average is placed at 74.4 per cent of normal in Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania and Washington, in the report of the New York Journal of Commerce. This figure compares with 87.3 per cent a month ago and with 61.3 per cent a year ago.

Democratic Party's Debt

Washington.—Unpaid obligations of the Democratic national committee on June 1 amounted to $261,099, a report filed with congress shows. The report states that $100,000 in debts have been paid in the last month.

Millions for University

Las Angeles, Calif.—William Clark, Jr., son of the late United States senator, has given nearly $5,000,000 to the University of Southern California, it was announced here.

ORGANIZATION LEADER

Mrs. Frances Buell Holmes Olson of St. Paul, Minn., national president of the Degree of Honor Protective association, presided over the sessions of the organization in Chicago. Representatives of more than a thousand lodges with 100,000 members were present.

BROOKHART GOES TO URGE FARM RELIEF

Victor in Iowa Primaries States His Position.

Washington, Iowa.—Col. Smith W. Brookhart, nominated over Senator Albert B. Cummins in the senatorial primary on a platform that included farm relief as its principal plank, has accepted the voters' mandate on that issue, he announced, and left for Washington in an effort to obtain farm legislation during the present session of congress.

"And I mean real legislation that will take care of the farm problem, not a makeshift," he added.

Brookhart will work with the corn-belt committee, which still is represented at the national capital, in an effort to bring the differing factions in the house and senate together on an agricultural bill He favors the principle of the Haugen measure, although before he was unseated two months ago he introduced a measure proposing a large agricultural loan.

Revise Constitution, Victor Berger Urges

Washington.—Representative Victor Berger (Soc., Wis.) introduced a resolution in the house proposing revision of the Constitution by a constitutional convention.

Mr. Berger asserted that the United States has outgrown the Constitution which was adopted when a great part of the nation was then primeval forest. Changes which Mr. Berger would make include the elimination of the Eighteenth amendment, the placing of more teeth in the first amendment, the Fourteenth amendment, the Fifteenth amendment and a change which would make it impossible for the Supreme court to pass upon the constitutionality of acts of congress.

Report Heavy Damage by Floods in Rumania

Berlin.—Hundreds of persons are reported to have been drowned, the harvest annihilated and railroad and wire communications wrecked, as a result of the flood catastrophe which has inundated Rumania and spread to neighboring countries as far as southeastern Germany.

Troops have been mobilized in Rumania, Germany and Saxony to rescue the imperiled populations.

A large section of Rumania has been devastated. Villages have been swept away and bridges destroyed.

Sale of Vessels Cuts Down Board's Expenses

Washington. — President Coolidge has been told by Chairman T. V. O'Connor that the United States shipping board will save $5,000,000 out of its appropriation of $24,00,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30. Operating costs have been so cut through the sale of government ships to private owners that the board wil be able to carry on easily under the $13,900,000 allowed next year.

National Farm School Seeks Big Endowment

New York.—The National farm school conference brought its eight-day convention to a close after the 250 delegates had decided to inaugurate a nation-wide campaign to raise a $15,000,000 endowment fund for the National farm schol at Doylestown, Pa. A campaign organization will be set up at once, it was announced, with units in every state.

Labor Leader Seeks Toga

Denver, Colo.—Frank J. Haynes, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, announced that he is in the field for the Democratic nomination as a United States senatorial candidate.

More Money for Veterans

Washington.—The bill passed by the house appropriating $7,587,000 for additional compensation for disabled World war veterans was approved by the senate finance committee.

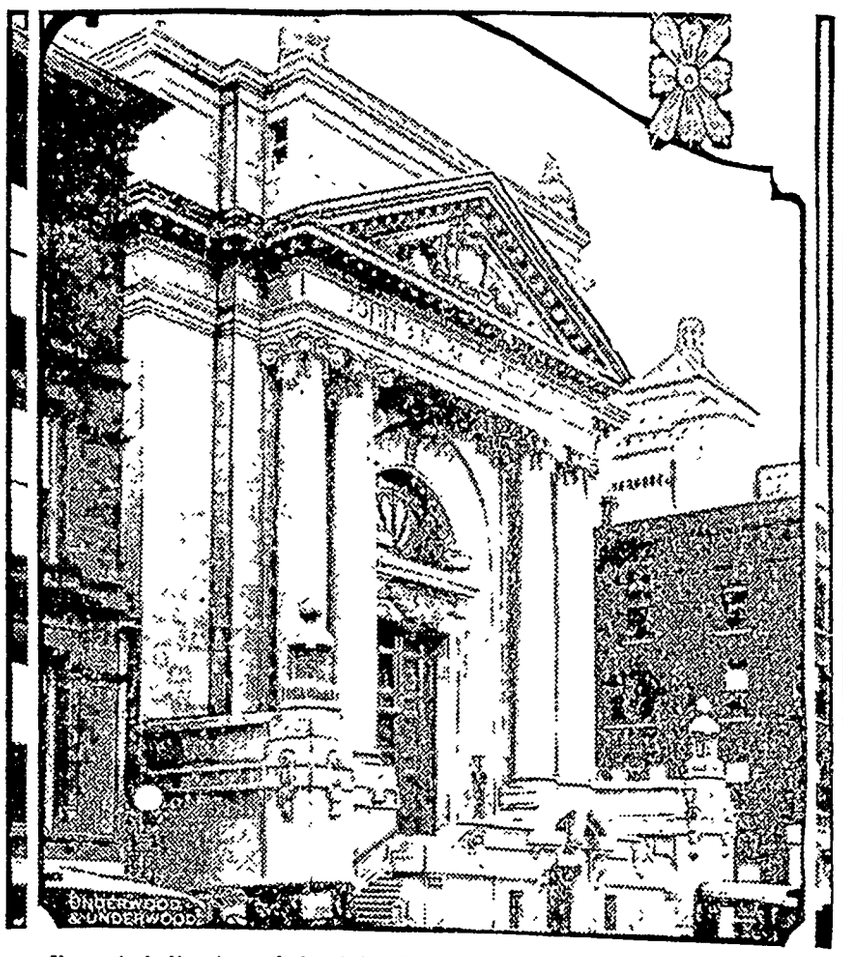
They Won the Columbia Costume Parade Prize

Members of the class of 1916 as roaring lions, winners of the costume parade prize at the annual class day ceremonies which were held at Baker field, Columbia university.

New Locomotive Welcomed in a Novel Manner

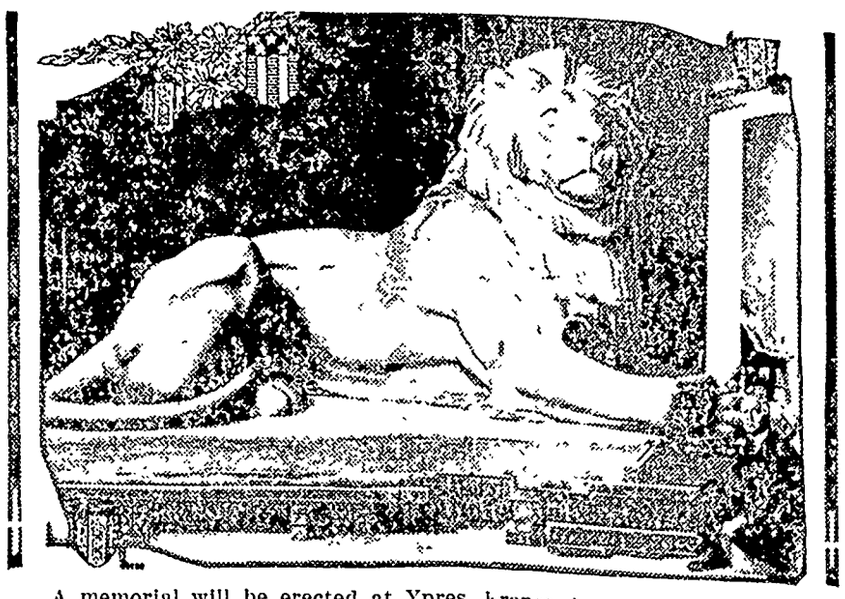
Fair employees of the Southern Pacific railroad garbed in the costumes worn during the gold rush of 1849, celebrating the construction of a new type of locomotive for use in the mountains.

Murphy Memorial Is Dedicated



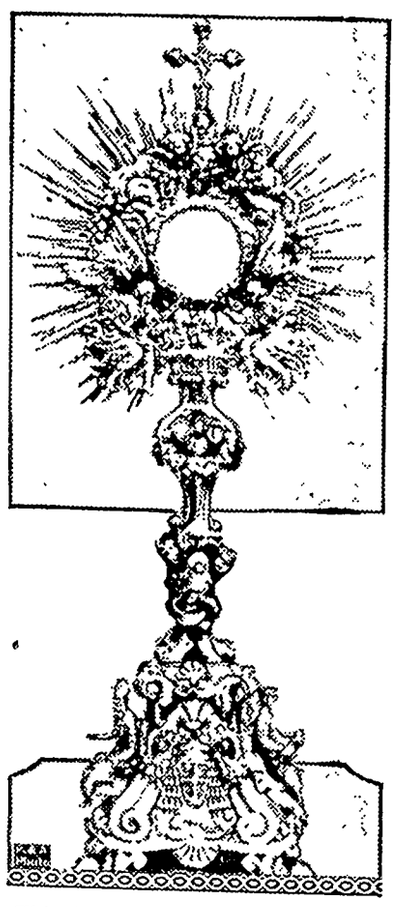
Formal dedication of the John B. Murphy Memorial building in Chicago, which, architecturally, has been declared to be one of the most beautiful monumental buildings in the world, was held recently. The building was erected to the memory of one of the most famous surgeons of the time.

Lion for the Ypres Memorial



A memorial will be erected at Ypres, France, in memory of the British soldiers who fell in the salient during the World war. It will consist of an arch and this huge lion, to form the Menin gates, which will probably be unveiled in the autumn by King Albert of the Belgians. The lion, which is 18 feet in length, is the work of Reid Dick, shown at the right.

FINE OSTENSORIUM



This is the hand-carved, silver ostensorium which will carry the sacred host as it is borne in solemn procession around the lake at Mundelein, Ill., in the closing service of the Chicago Eucharistic congress June 24. It stands three feet high, the base being emblazoned with Cardinal Mundelein's coat of arms, flanked by the figures of St. John the Evangelist and the Jewish high priest, Melchizedek.

ADLY PASHA

Adly Pasha, member of the Liberal party and friendly to Great Britain, was selected to be premier of Egypt instead of Zagloul Pasha who was victorious in the elections but is distasteful to the English government.

PRIMARY COST PUT AT OVER $2,000,0

Record Sums Are Shown Have Been Expended in Pennsylvania.

Washington.—Revelations to the ate committee which is making an vestigation into the political a fund, brought the total expenditure the recent Pennsylvania senatorial mary struggle thus far disclosed b over one and a third million dol The total, as read into the record Senator LaFollette was $1,391,000, the end had not been reached.

The total expenditures thus brought out for the Pepper-Fl ticket in themselves soared ab $1,000,000. They are computed $1,046,000. Adding to these $16 for Pinchot and $71,000 for Vare's sonal contribution and $79,000 exp ed for him in Allegheny county, m the total of $1,391,000.

It is now generally expected th will be shown the total expendit in the recent primary exceeded $2 000, the largest ever brought to the tention of a committee of congres

The possibility that Mr Vare, elected senator, will be subjected t senatorial committee investigation fore he is assured of holding his s is being discussed.

WASHINGTON BRIEF

Announcement is made by the S department that the United St will not recognize as the governm of Nicaragua the regime now he by General Chamorro.

Secretary Wilbur announced se tion of Admiral C. F Hughes, commanding the battle fleet, to commander in chief of the Un States fleet, succeeding Admiral S Robison September 4.

The house has been asked to g an appropriation of $375,000, all $25,000 of which is to be used in structing a new roof, attic and ce for the second floor of the W House. The $25,000 is to be place the disposal of the President to rent on temporary quarters.

Gen. John J. Pershing has s to France for an inspection tri connection with his work as head the battlefields monuments com sion.

Plans have been made by the w en's bureau of the Department Labor for an investigation of the feet of special laws regulating ployment of women in industry.

Drys Win by Narrow Margin in Commit

Washington.—By a margin of a gle vote, President Coolidge's u authorizing 10,000 state and local lice to become members of the tional dry army was saved from pudiation by the house judiciary c mittee.

The committee voted 8 to 7 aga the resolution of Representative H ten, Republican, of Illinois, w would forbid state and local emp ees from accepting any federal

Republicans of Iowa Plump for Brookh

Des Moines, Iowa.—Returns f 2,433 precincts out of 2,447 in I for United States senator (Rep.) the recent primary give: Brookh 207,218; Clark, 63,052; Cumm 135,855; Eickelberg, 5,030, Rear 7,100.

Returns from 2,238 precincts o 2,447 for United States senator (D give: Files, 11,665; Finch, 7, Murtagh, 12,274; Porter, 25,870.

Water Levels to Be Discussed by Bo

Ottawa, Ont.—An agreement been reached betwen the Cana and United States governments an investigation of the continued cession of the escarpment of Nia falls and also to study the possi ties of further water diversion power development purposes on sides of the boundary. The two tions have agreed upon a board four members.

Sanford B. Dole Dead; Once Ruler of Ha

Honolulu.—Sanford B. Dole, P dent of the republic of Hawaii at time of its annexation by the Un States, died here.

He served ts the first and only P ident of the republic of Hawaii, w existence from 1894 to 1900 is all but forgotten.

Mr. Dole was the son of Daniel Emily Ballard Dole, American sionarles.

Blow at Disarmament

Geneva.—France reiterated stand previously taken at dis ament discussions, that land, n and air armaments cannot be tre separately if effective measures disarmament are to be enacted.

Michigan Man Honored

Philadelphia. — Wilbert Ham Barrett, Adrian, Mich., was ele president general of the Sons of American Revolution at the th seventh annual meeting.

Youth Rides West

By Will Irwin

WNU Service

Copyright by Will Irwin

Will Irwin hasn't written a novel in a great many years. When he chose the subject for "Youth Rides West" he returned to his early love and elected to write about a locale he knows best. He was born at Oneida, N. Y., in 1873, and as a boy was taken to Leadville, Colo., in the mining rush of 1879. He passed his boyhood among the scenes of that most loud and vivid of all old camps and the reader will realize as he goes along that Irwin's childhood experiences have been impressed indelibly on his mind. Here is the Cottonwood Camp in the heart of the Rockies during the rush of the Seventies. While he insists that this Cottonwood is not Leadville alone, but a composite picture of several camps in Colorado, Montana and Idaho, yet Leadville supplied the inspiration. "Youth Rides West" is more than a bare story of adventure in these wild days. It offers a vivid picture of one of the most colorful periods in American history. It is sprinkled with anecdotes, both humorous and tragic, and the reader comes to believe that he is reading a melodramatic history rather than fiction. For all life in this time and place was melodramatic. Men die with their boots on, not for the story-teller's purpose, but because that was the way they died. Any one who reads this novel will agree readily that Will Irwin deserves a front ranking with American writers.

CHAPTER I

—1—

Drop and crawl," whispered Buck ...den; and when he turned I saw ... his complexion had turned from ...ogany tan to a bronzed yellow— ...d don't show yourself out of kiver." ...ut for a wrong turn that morning ...k would not have flown this first ...ptom of anything like craven emo- ... that I ever witnessed in him; and ... story I have set myself to tell ...ht never have happened.

... say this last without being exact- ...sure. As I review in my age that ...ode which crowned and finished ... youth, I have a feeling that an ... thread of destiny ran through it ... Had it not begun dramatically, ...re on the hogback above Ludlow ...ch, it would have begun just the ...e—perhaps undramatically, but ... as certainly—at some other turn- ... in the path of my fate.

...uck, when we threw our outfit and ...tunes together down at Plested's, ... boasted that he knew these moun- ...ns about as well as anyone. This ... have been true; but in those days ...the rush to the far, high camps I ...k that no one, not even the trap- ..., had gone much beyond the out- ...rts of ignorance. There was sim- ... too much to know. It was like ...ing acquaintance with every soul ...New York. A road, such as it was, ... from Plested's to the new camp ...Cottonwood—more than a hundred ...pendicular miles to accomplish a ...tance which the eagle covers in ... On the first day of our journey- ... we had followed that highway. It ...ved less a road than a bog. Two ...rs out of Plested's we found it nec- ...ary to unload our feeblest burro ...use he could not both pull his ...der feet out of the clinging mud ...w and struggle with the haystack ...ch was Buck's idea of a proper ...k. All that morning our more agile ...fit was threading the edge of the ...d to pass immigrant wagons stalled ...-deep in the mire.

... light buckboard, extricated from ... mud, presently caught up with us; ... seemed to be distancing the rest. ...n, toward noon, we struck an ob- ...cle which equalized the race. Our ... had fallen in with the course of ...umbling, roaring, fast-falling creek, ...whose pools I could see the native ...untain trout jumping. The road ...an to climb; we were threading ... edge of a low cliff above a little ...you. We rounded a corner of rock, ... Buck pulled up short at the very ...board of a ponderous open freight ...gon carrying a heavy load of ...ches and mine buckets.

"What's busted ahead?" Buck called.

"Cave-in—hitch and help!" came be- ...en puffs of labored breath from the ...t of the freight wagon. When I ... dismounted and crawled perilous- ...along the foot-wide strip of rock ...ween the giddy atmosphere and the ...derous wagon wheel I saw that a ... of rock and oozy earth, dislodged by ... of the miniature brooks now run- ...g from the melting snows, lay piled ...g the road. Five years before, ...ing one of the abortive rushes to ...mp now dead, gone and forgotten, ... section of roadway had been blast- ...from the hillside at the top of the ...; on one side was a sheer drop, on ... other an eight-foot wall. We could ...round the obstacle on either side; ... only alternative to waiting was to ...back half a mile, try to traverse ... hillside and chance getting mired. ...While I contemplated this quandary ... was barred in that direction by ... jaunty arrival of a stage coach. ...tonwood was now reaching such ...portance that a regular line with ...y departures ran from Plested's. ...rounded the corner, the driver ex- ...rtly pulling up his leaders a foot ...m where my bronco stood tethered ...the rear of our train. My feet on ... edge of the chasm, my hands ...inst the wagon wheel, I was con- ...plating this party, when Buck ...ed me in the side with such force ...nearly to make me lose my balance.

"Unship them tools!" said Buck ...to dig!" We crawled and slopped ...k to our pack train, where Buck, ...ertly untying and knotting again, ... out our two new miners' shovels. ... had estimated that there were two ... of earth in the cave-in. When I, ... Buck and some of the passengers, ... to work it looked more like ten. ... presently, as we heaved the loose, mushy earth over into the canyon, we began scratching the surface of a rock which in itself must have weighed a ton. Long after a dozen hands had heaved over the last of the dirt we were working on that inert obstacle. It resisted the efforts of a dozen strong backs and the three crowbars which we could commandeer from the freight wagon, the stage and our pack. At one moment Buck, the stage driver and the freighter, experts all, were of the opinion that we should have to take to dynamite. But there stood the freight wagon, unable to move either forward or back; which rendered blasting impossible. Buck ventured charily that a cradle might do. The stage driver and I took axes from the freighter's tool chest, cut and heaved down trunks and brush from the dwarf firs on the ledge above. That device finally worked. With stout green poles reinforcing our crowbars, with everyone putting his back into the work, we managed to roll it to the edge of the canyon, where, with a terrible but satisfying rush and roar, it dropped to the bed of the creek.

But the episode was not entirely over. When the freighter laid his weight to the jerk-line and yelled "Gid-dap!" his scrambling, tugging mules, though urged with a seven-foot blacksnake, could not budge the wagon. The wheels had been settling all this time. He was obliged to uncouple the trailer, to haul the leader a half-mile farther along the road, to return with his mules for the trailer.

While we waited every one had luncheon—Buck and I from camp bread and frizzled bacon put up before we broke camp that morning. We fed our horses their rations from our carefully calculated store of oats, had our smoke.

Soon the six-mule team had hauled out the trailer, and we bitted, tightened cinches, mounted and stirred up our burros, which had been standing patiently on three legs, asleep with their eyes open. Where the road widened we turned into the mesa. The stagecoach, the driver's whip cracking briskly, surged round the stalled wagons and was gone smartly up the road.

I have said enough about the state of the Cottonwood road, and will only sketch the main trouble of the afternoon—that stretch of corduroy. Two miles or so after we left the freighter we came to a piece of low country which might have been firm enough in midsummer, but was now a bog. The stage company had made it passable by cutting ten-foot poles and laying them edge to edge. That turned out to be practicable enough for the wide hoofs of our horses, but treacherous footing for the little feet of our burros. Sure of step though they were, the logs would roll under them now and then, and their legs would go scraping down into the morass. By the time we reached the end of this stretch the little beasts were fairly staggering—less from the weight of their packs than from the heart-breaking labor of pulling out their hoofs, which cut into mud like bodkins. By now, too, they had reached the limit of endurance even for the patient ass breed. Even though I was the junior of the partnership and had resigned all direction into the hands of the expert Buck, I was about to protest, when he spoke:

We Could Not Round the Obstacle on Either Side.

"Can't kill our live stock," he said. "Keep 'em goin' till I ride ahead and look for a place to camp."

He found it a mile or so farther along. We camped, unsaddled, unpacked, staked out our horses to graze, turned loose the weary jacks to roam and feed at will, and slept.

An hour after we swung into the plain, open entrance of the old Ute trail next morning it became apparent to me that a little of the confidence with which Buck had started was wearing away. Now and then he leaned over his horse's neck, his hands folded on the saddle arm, peering uneasily downward or ahead. At this or that patch of snow he held up his hand for a halt, dismounted and tried to trace the trail by the creases. Twice we went wrong; once trouble was signaled when the forequarters of Buck's horse disappeared under the crust, leaving his hind legs struggling and scratching grotesquely.

The leading burro, which I had already noted as a grizzled, pessimistic veteran of the trails inclined to trouble when trouble might vary the monotony of life, took a plunge forward; in turn his forequarters were lost. He lurched sidewise with a metallic clang as he rolled on to our cooking outfit, Dutch oven and all. Buck was strangely silent as he swung from the saddle, jerked his horse backward on to a patch of the snow which covered some kind of firm footing, and set out with my help to extricate him.

Buck, as he reproved the delinquent burro with a heavy boot, heaved the pack back into place, and threw a new diamond hitch here and there, had a sinister gleam in his gray eye and worked in a strange silence, quite contrary to his usual profane habit in face of trouble. After a long inspection of the surface, varied with squints at the sun, the atmosphere and the peaks above, he silently beckoned me to follow. We rounded a clump of dwarf pines perched on a little knoll—and came out in face of a cliff. The train halted automatically. I saw Buck cock his eye upward, then turn it on me; and I, abandoning the rear of the train, rode forward for a conference. Buck's head was wagging; and now I could hear his roll of low, complicated and picturesque language.

"No mortal sense in this," he concluded. "We'll waller here all day. Gotto strike west an' see if we kin connect with the d—n, muddy Cottonwood road."

Getting lost in this manner—with the whole day ahead of us, with an intact train of live stock, and with ample provisions in our packs—struck me at the moment as a minor and rather enjoyable adventure. Besides, there was the joke on Buck, who, in our brief partnership, had been rather patronizing toward my youth and easternness.

Our way, after we crossed the patch of snow, revealed no trail, but a passable surface. Half a mile beyond rose a rather sharp hogback, dotted here and there with that species of dwarf fir which seems to choose rocks in preference to soil. I conjectured that Buck expected to reach the Cottonwood road below the further slope of this hogback, and would be perplexed to find a trail. I was not surprised, then, when he pulled up just short of the obstacle, threw himself out of the saddle, tossed the reins over his horse's head and went forward on foot. Buck had halted near the crest of the hogback and I was close behind him, when I was stopped short by the sound of two shots—rifle shots, I noted mentally as they reverberated like a diminishing volley among the rocks.

The sound did not strike me as especially significant; some one, I thought, was shooting at a deer. It was then that Buck whispered through his beard:

"Drop and crawl, and don't show yourself out of kiver!"

Across a very uncomfortable carpet of rock I wriggled to Buck's side. He lay peering from under a low-hung branch of dwarf fir. I ranged myself beside him, looked; and caught my breath.

Some seventy-five yards away stood a stagecoach, in build and color twin to the one which we had seen yesterday. Three of its horses were struggling and milling, with the driver throwing all power on to the reins. The fourth, a little white leader, lay on his side, feebly kicking; as I looked I saw a pool of blood by his head. I was aware of a man posed like a statue before the horses, his feet wide apart, a repeating rifle held at ready; I was aware that a black mask dropped from the lower edge of his sombrero.

Another man, he very tall, stood just by the edge of the road. His back was toward me, but I could see the band of a mask cutting his black hair. He was holding close in by his chest two heavy revolvers, trained upon an outside passenger who stood with his hands in air, balanced dizzily on a seat. Other details swam in upon me—the passengers coming out through the door, their hands up—two women among them—the bandit with the rifle exchanging that weapon for a revolver and stepping forward—finally, two other men, masked also, lying sprawled on a shelf of rock, their repeating rifles trained on the group about the stage.

I remember now with some pride that in my whirl of emotions—astonishment, righteous rage, pure fear—the manlier for a moment prevailed. We at least could fight! My hand went to my hip. Buck had apparently seen the motion; for he whispered:

"No chance, kid. An' somethin' might hit the ladies."

The bandit whom I had noticed first, he who had just exchanged his rifle for a revolver, was saying something now to the man who stood balanced at the top of the stage—the express messenger, I learned afterward. The messenger leaped from the seat to the ground and landed in a heap; as he scrambled to his feet he showed a comic eagerness to get his hands up again. I could hear Buck chuckling lightly in his beard. Then he spoke in a whisper which scarcely carried to me:

"We're all right if they don't come out this-a-way."

"Why aren't we all right even then?" I asked, in my innocence.

"They don't want witnesses," replied Buck. "Shoot a witness quicker'n they would a passenger." He paused a moment. "Guess I'd better get them long guns," he whispered. "You stay an' watch—signal if they start this way." We had two long guns—that pride of our lives, a new-fangled Winchester repeating rifle and a shotgun for small game. Providing against trouble, Buck had slipped in among our shotgun ammunition fifty shells loaded with buckshot.

Buck tiptoed away, his heavy boots making only a gentle rustling. I was free to fix my attention on the drama below. The two inactive bandits still lay like great, evil lizards across the rock, their rifles gently swinging over the field of action. I, from above, could see their figures as a whole. To the passengers they must have appeared simply as hats, black masks and polished steel barrels. He of the two pistols stood covering the line of passengers. He also was swinging his muzzles suggestively over the group. I looked for the foruth robber, the tall one who had stood at the edge of the road, and who appeared to be the leader. During my conference with Buck he must have mounted the stage; for there he stood in the express messenger's seat. At that moment he was heaving over the rail a heavy box which half buried itself in the mud. With a lightness singular in one so big, he went over the rail in a leap, landed catlike, rose and said something, it appeared, to the nearest passenger, a slouching little fellow, dressed roughly, like a miner.

"Now We'll Know," Muttered Buck. "If It's This Way, Don't Shoot Until I Say!"

The leader, thrusting his pistol into its holster, began what seemed to me a rather superficial search. He patted the pockets of the little man, pulled out a wallet, opened it, took something from its contents; then, reaching under the coat of his victim, hauled his pistol from its holster and tossed it into the bushes. The same process with the next man—then there was a rustling behind me which made me jump and realize how tightly my nerves were strung. It was only Buck, creeping up silently with his hands full of long gun. When I looked back again the turn of the two women had come. The foremost was plump and moved jerkily, as though struggling against fear. The other was slim; she stepped out with a free stride which I found myself admiring.

A sudden movement from the right caught my sharpened attention; the nearest of those two evil lizards sprawled on the rock had started, raised himself on his elbows, let the muzzle of his long gun droop. Then I saw the other bandit give him a kick, sidewise, of his heavy boot. The careless robber jerked to attention. A grunt from Buck drew my eyes back from this bit of byplay. The bandit chief had laid hands on the younger woman, was awkwardly jerking her dust-coat apart at the throat. I felt another spurt of hot rage, and—down the road a rifle had fired twice in succession. I jumped so that had the bandits been looking our way, I am sure I should have betrayed myself. For a moment the group about the stagecoach was as still as a photograph. Then the leader, dropping his hands from the shoulders of the younger woman, bawled a word which carried even to me:

"Vamoose!"

At that, the two lizards on the rock became men again. Holding their rifles at ready, they leaped down into the road.

"Somebody's coming and they're going," whispered Buck. One of the men from the rock, his muzzle still on the huddled crowd of passengers, stooped and picked up the rifle which the leader had dropped in the road. It had a strap, like an army gun. He slung it over his shoulder. The leader and his assistant, slipping their pistols into their scabbards, grasped the handles of the box.

"Now we'll know," muttered Buck. "If it's this way, don't shoot until I say!" But the robbers turned in the other direction. Then I heard Buck mutter:

"Lookee there—down by the creek!"

Read in the next installment of Constance Deane, the young woman of mystery, whose role in the story is bigger than you'll guess.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

"Red Tape" Carried to Extremes in Europe

The palace of justice in Paris, a portion of which will be set aside shortly as a museum of relics from the Revolution, has a curious old custom. Every night one of the main doors is left ajar in obedience to an order of March, 1618, when Louis XIII provided that it should remain open perpetually, "so that my subjects may be able to seek justice at all hours of the day and night." Through revolution, empire, kingdom and two republics this order has been scrupulously carried out. But the meaning of the custom seems almost forgotten. "The Man With the Iron Mask," the pen name of a reporter of a Parisian daily, presented himself at the door in the small hours of the night for admittance. He was promptly thrown out by the watchman and told to clear off if he did not want to enter by the prisoner's gate in the morning. In Petrograd they had a similar incident in czarist days. The Empress Elizabeth once saw a fine flower in her garden. As she was on the way to a court function she had no time to pick it, but ordered a soldier to stand guard over it. The empress forgot about the flower, but three centuries later there was still a sentinel placed regularly each hour of the night and day at the spot where the flower had been.—Pierre Van Paassen, in the Aalanta Constitution.

Popular Fairy Tales

"Grimm's Fairy Tales," including Tom Thumb, Hans and Gretel, the Frog Prince, Rumpelstiltskin and hundreds of others, are actually folk tales of Germany which were collected from the peasants and compiled in the first half of the Nineteenth century by two brothers, professors at the University of Berlin. Jacob Grimm was born at Hanau, January 4, 1785, and his brother, Wilhelm, February 24, 1786.

Had Little Use for Bath

In "Lord Grenfell's Memoirs" there occurs this story, told to Lord Grenfell by a surgeon that had practiced in South Africa, regarding the simple manners and customs of the Boers: "A medical friend of his nearly lost his practice with a Boer family for prescribing ablutions for an elderly Dutch woman. Her husband strongly remonstrated, saying, 'Young man! you are a stranger in this country and recommend new customs contrary to our usage. I have been married to my vrow for thirty-five years, during which time water has scarcely touched her body! You are ignorant, sir, of our mode of life, and do not understand our wants! Begone!'"

CHILDREN'S NURSE RESUMES HER DUTIES

Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time and I would not be without it in the house. As I am a children's nurse, I have to be on my feet a great deal and your medicine has helped me wonderfully. I was hardly able to do my housework when I began taking it, and now I am a strong and well woman, able to do all that and go out nursing besides. I have also used the Sanative Wash and found it beneficial"—MRS. GERTRUDE L. STEWART, 103 Davis St., Greenfield, Mass.

Valuable for Weakness

"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a valuable medicine for weakness."—MRS. J. A. PIETSCH, Box 397, Lancaster, Pa.

Hundreds of letters like these are received by the Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Grateful women from Pennsylvania to Washington, from Texas to Illinois and from Rhode Island to Nebraska say that their health has improved since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Try the New Cuticura Shaving Stick Freely Lathering Medicinal and Emollient

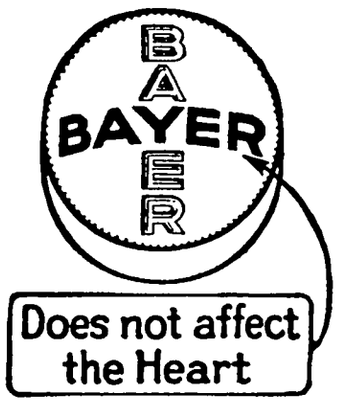
Qualified Acceptance

Fred—Darling, do you think you could live on $30 a week?

Maud—Yes, but no longer.

"BAYER ASPIRIN" PROVED SAFE

Take without Fear as Told in "Bayer" Package



Does not affect the Heart

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-five years for

Colds	Headache
Neuritis	Lumbago
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Each unbroken "Bayer" package contains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100.

Harmless, purely vegetable, Infants' and Children's Regulator, formula on every label. Guaranteed non-narcotic, non-alcoholic.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

The Infants' and Children's Regulator

Children grow healthy and free from colic, diarrhoea, flatulency, constipation and other trouble if given it at teething time. Safe, pleasant—always brings remarkable and gratifying results.

At All Druggists

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling

Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair

60c and $1.00 at Druggists.

Hiscox Chem. Wks., Patchogue, N.Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

A good way to get away from earthly sheol is to flee to a cabin in the mountains.

25c L-V DUST CLOTH

made of especially woven fabric "Crepette" for only 10 cents and two weeks' dusting supply of Liquid Veneer. Nothing like it for dusting. A few drops on your cloth removes ALL dust, dirt and blemishes INSTANTLY, and leaves your piano, furniture, woodwork spotlessly clean and beautifully polished. Moreover it preserves the finish indefinitely. Piano people use it to improve their brand new instruments. Send for your FREE bottle today. You'll be delighted. Remember, we include a big 25c L-V Dust Cloth if you send 10 cts. Don't miss this opportunity.

FREE

Buffalo Specialty Company 4 Liquid Veneer Bldg. Buffalo, N. Y.

LIQUID VENEER

MOREHOUSE GIVES PLAN TO PROTECT PEOPLE FROM WILD-CAT PROMOTERS

American Bankers Association Official Who Has Exposed Fraudulent Schemes for Robbing Savers Draws Up Set of Rules to Foil Crooks.

By W. R. MOREHOUSE,
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

ARTICLE NO. IV

THE solution to the great problem of protecting savings depositors from losing their money in fraudulent schemes is largely in the hands of our bankers. If they will co-operate with those who save they can make it hard for these plunderers to continue business. Hasten the day when our bankers without exception will gladly welcome interviews with depositors who contemplate making investments, will urge an investigation or recommend in the stead of little-known securities investments of unquestioned responsibility. In every case where customers call at the bank excited and nervous over some scheme where by investing a few hundred dollars they expect to make thousands any banker will at once sense the situation.

W. R. Morehouse

The banker knows that the depositor is being rushed off his feet, with "Hurry, hurry and get in on the big clean-up!" and it remains for the banker to caution the depositor against such tactics. In order to prevent this all that our bankers have to do is to suggest that their customers make it a rule always to bring high-pressure salesmen to the bank to be interrogated regarding their promotions. This will break up sales nine times out of ten, for high-pressure salesmen invariably avoid being questioned too closely by bankers who know investments.

Rules to Follow

Our bankers should urge this investment slogan: "Investigate before you invest. Consult your banker first," and so indelibly impress it on the minds of their depositors that they will always be guided by their banker's advice in making investments. Salient points which should be kept before the investing depositor are:

(1) There are three cardinal points to all good investments, namely safety of principal, certainty of income and salability.

(2) Safety of principal is more important than a high yield; the promise of big returns is usually a sign of a risky speculation.

(3) It is like taking a leap in the dark to invest in promotions which are an unknown quantity and for this reason, a thorough investigation should always be made.

(4) It is morally wrong, if not criminally so, for any person to invest in any proposition he feels is a skin-game, or which is tainted by trickery or fraud or opens the way for a favored few to "get in on the ground floor," clean up and get out from under before the scheme collapses. Usually the depositor finds he is not in on the ground floor, there is no chance for him to clean up before the scheme collapses and so he loses all that he has invested.

(5) If a promotion is as good as claimed, it would not be necessary for high-pressure salesmen to resort to all sorts of questionable methods, it would not be necessary to rush a victim off his feet and sign him up before he could interview his banker, but he could be given time to consult others before investing.

(6) The only reason high-pressure pirates go to those who are inexperienced in finance for funds is because they can palm off on them so-called investments which in the eyes of men of experience are valueless.

(7) The glib-talking promoter is not a true friend of the savings depositor but is a wolf in sheep's clothing, he will resort to any kind of trickery to exchange a certificate of stock for the depositor's cash, his glittering promises are fictitious and he is planning how he can entrap his victims and relieve them of their savings and not how he can make good dividends for them.

(8) For every oil well that pays dividends there are many dry holes and abandoned drilling rigs, and for every profitable mine there are many abandoned shafts, and for every successful promotion there are a thousand failures, and because of these facts the savings depositor's chance of winning is too small to justify the great risk involved

(9) Savers should steer clear of stock, shares or units in world-revolutionizing inventions which are peddled in front of empty stores or sold from house to house or through the mails.

(10) Every novice investor should remember that, as in all lines of business, black sheep have invaded the investment field. They must be shunned, while investment firms and salesmen of responsibility and integrity should be supported.

Let our banks unite in a movement designed to protect the depositor against the schemes of the wild-cat promoter—in a movement that will save our savings depositors from despair and from poverty as a result of having lost all—in a movement that will turn into legitimate investment channels the millions of dollars which are now wasted on fraudulent schemes of one kind or another. The best service a bank can render a novice investor is to keep him from making poor investments by helping him to make good ones.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On How to Lose Your Inheritance

"It is so hard for me to get along on what John left me," complained Mrs. Norris to Aunt Emmy. "Junior wants to get a job, but I always wanted him to go to college—"

"Yes, yes, I know," interrupted Aunt Emmy, "but what about this mining stock?"

"I'm coming to that. You see I thought I could invest some of those bonds John left, they yield such a tiny income, in something that would bring real money. I needed more money, so when the telephone rang that day and a man, he had the nicest voice, said he had been referred to me by a friend and wanted to talk over some gilt-edged investments, I told him to come right up.

"His name was Mr. Stanhope. He was so nice. He told me all about the big money people are making in platinum mines. Platinum jewelry is so fashionable now. He said he could let me have some stock in a wonderful mine, and that the company would buy the stock back if I ever wanted my money."

"Have you a statement signed by one of the officers of the mining company to the effect that the company will repurchase your stock?" asked Aunt Emmy.

"Why no—"

"Well, you will have trouble getting your money back. A company cannot be compelled to buy its own stock back."

"Oh, I don't know. Anyhow, I got out my bonds and showed them to him—"

"What, you keep your bonds in the house instead of at the bank!" exclaimed Aunt Emmy.

"Why, yes, but in a box that locks—and Mr. Stanhope said that he was surprised that a woman with the good business judgment I had should be getting such a small income as those bonds paid— scarcely anything. He said that I should make my money work harder for me. He knew I must have good business judgment, he said, because I brought my children up so beautifully. He offered to take the bonds and change them for his stock."

"Oh, Lord!" exclaimed Aunt Emmy, 'did he give you a receipt?"

"Why, of course, he was the nicest man But Junior said after he left that he didn't like him. He said he looked slick. Boys are so funny. Well, I got the platinum stock but Mr Barnes at the bank says it's no good. He must be mistaken. But I want my bonds back so I came to you for help. And you're always so lucky about your investments"

"Not lucky, just sensible," corrected Aunt Emmy. "Why, oh why, don't you consult your banker, who understands finance before you risk your money? This is not your first loss Remember that piece of land you bought that was under water?"

"That was different," said Mrs. Norris blushing, "and anyway, Mr. Stanhope is honest, I can tell that."

"If he were honest, he would not have promised you the things he promised Reputable houses don't send out representatives who make promises about repurchase of stock. Why don't you 'phone your Mr. Stanhope?"

"I did, but he's out of town. I've written, too, but I suppose I shall havo to wait until he gets back. It's been several weeks now, so he should be back soon."

Just then the evening paper came. Aunt Emmy glanced at it, then read it attentively. Her expression grew serious. She handed the paper to Mrs Norris. On the front page was an account of a financial scandal. The house that sold Mrs Norris her mining stock was involved and the men who ran the business had been indicted for fraud.—A. B. Aymes.

ADIVISES FARMERS TO WATCH THE MARKETS

It Will Pay In Selling Livestock Says Ames Expert

"Keep in touch with the market situation so you will know something about the supply of livestock in the country, and the demand on the market," advises M. D. Helser of the Animal Husbandry department at Iowa State College.

Mr. Helser says that the seasons of the year demand various weights and receipts. As an illustration of this he mentions that the highest average prices for hogs are paid in July and the lowest in December, while the highest receipts are in December and January and the lowest in September. The heaviest hogs to arrive on the market come in August and the lightest in November. Steers bring the highest prices in August and September and the lowest in February. The greatest number arrive in October and the fewest in April and June. The heaviest cattle come in April and the lightest in October.

Mr. Helser says there are 14 factors to be considered in determining the market value of livestock. The most desirable age varies with the time of year. They must be old enough to insure good flavor and also young enough to be tender. Holiday seasons demand special meats as hot-house lamb and roasting pigs The best weights, from the consumer's standpoint, are those from which handy weight cuts can be made.

According to Profesor Helser, the other 12 factors are: condition and finish, form and paunchiness, dressing percent, type, breeding, quality, sex, style health condition of coat, weather and uniformity.

GOIN' FISHIN'

Two elderly men, both deaf, met on a country road. One had a fishing pole in his wagon.

"Goin' fishin'?" shouted the first

"No," the other yelled back, "I'm goin' fishin'."

"Oh, I thought mebbe you was goin' fishin'," the first called back.

SHERIFF'S SALE

THE UNION CENTRAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CINCINNATI, OHIO

vs.

PAUL M. GRIESEMER, HULDAH GRIESEMER, GEORGE M. VAN EVERA AND CO., A CO-PARTNERSHIP COMPOSED OF George M. Van Evera, H. H. Van Evera, R. W. Redfield AND GALE WILLARD, ORVIL W. MULL, L. A. ANDREW SUPERINTENDENT of BANKING of the STATE OF IOWA and RECEIVER OF THE STATE SAVINGS BANK OF KLEMME, IOWA, AND NORTHERN LUMBER COMPANY.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, THAT by virtue of a special execution issued out of the office of the Clerk of the District Court in Hancock County on a judgment rendered May 17th May Term of said Court, A. D., 1926, for the sum of Seven Thousand Six Hundred Eighty-eight and 54-100 dollars debt, and One Hundred Thirty-eight and no-100 Dollars Costs, in favor of the Union Central Life Insurance Company of Cincinnati, Ohio and against Paul M. Griesemer and Huldah Griesemer, his wife and to the Sheriff of Hancock County directed, I have levied upon the following described property, to-wit: The Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of Section Thirty-six (36) Township Ninety-five (95) North, Range Twenty-three (23) West of the 5th P. M. in Hancock County, Iowa, containing 160 acres more or less according to Government survey.

NOW, THEREFORE, Public Notice is hereby given that I shall, on the 24th day of June A. D. 1926, at 10:00 O'clock A. M., at the front door of the Court House in Garner, Hancock County, offer and sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, all the right, title, and interest that the above named Paul M. Griesemer and Huldah Griesemer had on the 24th day of May A. D. 1926 or now have in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy said execution together with costs and all accruing costs, unless same shall be sooner satisfied.

Dated at the Sheriff's office in Garner, this 25th day of May, A. D., 1926.

E. P. HANSON,
Sheriff in and for Hancock County.

Maybe They Had On Mittens!

You'd think by the way the crowds applaud the band on concert nights, that everybody was deaf and didn't know music from a political speech. Don't be so bashful, folks; if you hurt your hands clapping, Schultz will give you some liniment, and any garage in town can fix a horn. —Belmond Independent.

Claims Gopher Trapping Ch

Red Oak, Montgomery co claims the champion gopher trap in Iowa. It is a matter of re that B. M. Worland presented pair of gopher claws in a single recently, for which he received bounty of $38.50 He presented pair of claws on April 24, 356 on April 20, and 157 pair on A 16, making 1,251 gophers trapped April.

Preserves and Jellies-

They're Sure Good Too!

Here's something new and mighty fine for lunches and every meal. We have just received a fine line of Preserves and Jellies as follows:

STRAWBERRY PRESERVES
RASBERRY PRESERVES
LOGANBERRY PRESERVES
PEACH PRESERVES
APRICOT PRESERVES
BLACKBERRY PRESERVES.

AND then we have a full line of extra fine Jelly in the following flavors:—
CURRANT GRAPE STRAWBERRY
RASPBERRY and APPLE
——IT'S ALL DELICIOUS and FRESH——

For Nice Cool Lunches

Don't forget we carry a full line of COLD MEATS for Hot Days when a nice lunch for supper is just the thing.

Everything for picnics—Pickles, Olives, Preserves, Jellies, Mustard, Pork & Beans, Salmon, Cold Meats, Weiners, Cheese of all kinds.

Full line of Fresh and Smoked Meats at all times. Try a nice roast for your Sunday Dinner or when company comes!

Klemme Meat Market

A $225,000 Business In A Town of 1,300

When Business is Slow and You Feel Blue Read this Article on How Fred Anderson "The Miracle Merchant Does."

This is the story of Fred Anderson, Miracle Merchant of Cozad, Nebraska, a "dynamic, two-fisted he-merchant" with a think tank that registers a new merchandising idea every minute. He has a department store which covers a quarter of a block, with 37,000 square feet of floor space—and get this, all in atown with a population of only 1,300, doing more business per capita than any other known business institution.

How does he do it, how does he turn his stock three and one-half times each season, in a village of 1,300 population, in a county which bravelyboasts 8,000 inhabitants?

ADVERTISING and CO-OPERATION.

Let us tell you the story briefly.

Anderson advertises something somewhere EVERY day. Advertising and Service is a fetish with Anderson. He uses FULL PAGE ads twice a week in the bi-weekly town and county papers.

Then there are the Service features. Some merchant folks do a lot of crabbing when a church holds a bazaar, a rummage sale, or a food sale. They say it cuts into their profits. Not so with Anderson; he gives free space in his store for such sales. At a recent sale 400 women came into his place to purchase the church products. The church made a net profit of $40 fromthose buyers. His profit was over ten times the amount from the same group.

Then there are the high school boys who come in every day from the country. They bring their lunches and eat them in Anderson's store. He doesn't have a cafeteria, but he does arrange to have tables for the young people and always sees that theircoffee is kept hot for them. Boys nearly alwyas have money to spend. They grow up. They have families—more business for Anderson.

Not long ago forty Poles and their families moved into the county. The merchant of Cozad heard about this and when they came he had his trucks meet them at the station and, free of charge, moved them and all their personal property to the new homes. Then he mailed to each family a letter welcoming them and suggesting that his store was always ready to serve oldtimers and newcomers alike. To date they have purchased over $30,000 worth of merchandise.

He's literally surrounded by a number of larger towns and several small cities. Only fifty miles away there is a city of 10,000 people, and that's no distance at all for the folks of Nebraska. Anderson's big job is to keep them coming to Cozad.

In winter this is often a problem. After a storm, Anderson immediately checks up on the roads, and as soon as a blocked highway is discovered he telephones to the state or county maintenance commissioner who sends out plows. In a weekly letter that follows, Anderson suggests the best route to town. All this is adverising, he right kind of advertising—not only copy that tells what merchandise to buy, but where to come and how to ge there.

Said Mr. Anderson during his talk, "Blessed are they who are too meek to advertise; it makes it all the easier for the rest of us!"

And then he was questioned, "To whom do you direct the greater portion of your copy?" And he answered in that quick-fire dynamic way of his, "To the women, of course. The women read the ads. The women do the buying—they are the real shoppers.

"But advertising alone won't get you very far," he went on. "You must have truth in your advertising—tell the absolute facts and no more. For this reason we sell nationally advertised merchandise. We never cut prices. If you have the right products and then advertise right you'll never have to. But believe me you've got to tell 'em."

In winter the store has afternoon tea parties for the ladies, and in summer they serve lemonade. That's all a part of the folksy kind of advertising that keeps and holds a community spirit—and draws people to trade at Cozad and Anderson's store.

But, the other business concerns in Cozad are also run by live-wire business men—that's why Cozad has become famous. Anderson started the ball rolling and all Cozad is helping to keep it going. Co-operation.

Why not put Klemme on the map also?

BAYSIDE
---AMUSEMENT PARK---
Clear Lake, Iowa

NEXT SUNDAY, JUNE 20th

—FREE ATTRACTIONS AFTERNOON AND NIGHT—
NORTH IOWA CONCERT BAND
Famous Band De Luxe—25 pieces
PROFESSOR ROBERTS, MASTER MAGICIAN
The Wonder Man—His hands are quicker than your eyes.
AERIAL COWDENS IN TWO ACTS
See Uncle Hiram and The Flapper in the Revolving Ladder.
Trapeze stunts in the air.
—AT BAYSIDE—Best Bathing Beach on the Lake, Toboggan Slide, Roller Coaster, Swinging Aeroplane, Merry Go Round, Little Train, Princess Gandhi, Roller Skating, Picnic Grounds and Tables, Children's Playgrounds.
FUN FOR ALL—— ——ALL FOR FUN
—Policed Parking Grounds for Cars 15c—

Coming! Carload of-

TWINE

We have a carload of McCormick-Deering Twine coming. Put in your orders at once if you want Twine this year as over half of this carload has already been sold on orders to date. Call us up or see us at once!

Tankage-Oil Meal-

Have another carload of Tankage and Oil Meal coming. Get in your orders now. We bought this beforet he raise and we can save you $5.00 a ton if you put in your order and take it off the car.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.
"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

GIVE ASPARAGUS BED A CHANCE

Cutting Too Late May Injure Next Year's Production

It is now time to quit cutting the asparagus shoots and encourage the growth of the plants if one wishes to have a good bed next year.

A heavy growth of shoots from now until fall will insure a bountiful food supply stored in the roots from which tender shoots will spring next year Cutting asparagus too late often means small, weak shoots and few of them the following year because the root food supply is lacking

The old crowns should be well cultivated, and well rotted manure or commercial fertilizer rich in nitrogen should be applied, says C V Holsinger of the Horticultural Extension Department of Iowa State College.

The fellow who is always shouting "This ought to be, this ought not, you ought, they ought, everybody else ought' is like the kid who draws a long line of 0-0-0-0-0-0-0's They don't mean much until he puts down some positive numbers – some real suggestions for betterment

From One Pocket To The Other-

When you take your money out of one pocket and put it in the other, you still have the money. Have you ever thought, Mr. Farmer, that you do just this when you sell your cream to The Klemme Co-Operative Creamery? You sell your cream to yourself, pay yourself with your own money—and still have the money!

The Klemme Co-Operative Creamery is Farmer-Owned. Farmers sell it cream. Farmers manage it. Farmers control it. The pofits go back to Farmers. Do you know any reason why the farmer should not support his own business?

Call the Klemme Creamery and have one of our trucks stop for your cream—you are near one of our ten routes. No bother to you, and your cream hauled cheaper than you can do it yourself.

And remember, cash on the spot if you wish.

IT PAYS TO PATRONIZE THE

Klemme Co-Op. Creamery Co.

BURNING LAKE AIDS FIELD OF BOTANY

Interesting Specimens Secured by Explorer.

Washington.—A lake which burns every year provided one of the strange collecting grounds in Costa Rica from which Dr. Paul C. Standley, botanist of the National Herbarium, under the direction of the Smithsonian institution, has just brought back a collection of 11,738 plants.

The paradoxical burning lake is Arenal in Guanacaste province, in the northwest corner of Costa Rica. Although sixteen miles by four miles in area, and thirty feet deep in spots, Lake Arenal is so thickly grown over with a tall grass that it seems to be a level prairie. The grass dries below the tips every year, whereupon the Costa Ricans set fire to it, thereby furnishing what is probably the world's sole example of a burning lake.

The rich collection brought back by Doctor Standley as the result of four months' intensive work includes many new species and one new genus. This last is a tree closely related to the walnut and the hickory Although the natives do not eat the nuts, they do use the wood. Since it is a fairly common tree in Costa Rica, the fact that it has not been described before is surprising

Two New Potato Trees.

Doctor Standley also found two new kinds of the potato tree—Palo de Papa. This is an important timber tree, but it also produces a fruit, the kernel of which is very good to eat, tasting like coconut. The natives roast it like chestnuts and also grind it to make a meal. Doctor Standley has already described two kinds of this same genus from Mexico. There the kernel is used to furnish a black dye, and the Mexican name for the tree is Calatola, an Aztec word meaning "crow water," referring no doubt to its use as a dye.

Two thousand orchid specimens were included in Doctor Standley's haul. He collected these for Mr. Oakes Ames of Boston, orchid specialist, who financed the expedition. Costa Rica produces more varieties of orchids than any other section of this hemisphere, 1,000 different kinds having been described from that country.

Reaches Virgin Field.

Doctor Standley made collections from two regions which have never before been explored by botanists. The first of these was Dota, in southern Costa Rica, a mountainous region which includes a tableland at an elevation of 10,000 feet, the only one of its kind in Central America. It is a cold and wind-swept area characterized by grassland and low bushes. Animal life—birds, beasts and insects—is practically nonexistent there The other unexplored region was Guanacaste province, a land of low elevation, extensively grazed by cattle.

Doctor Standley's expedition formed a part of the plan of the Smithsonian institution to prepare a descriptive account of the plants of all of Central America, which will be of great importance to commerce as well as to science. Before the work can get properly under way extensive collections must be made in Honduras and Nicaragua, two regions which have scarcely been touched by botanists. Funds are needed for these explorations.

As a result of the two expeditions already made to Costa Rica, Doctor Standley is preparing a memoir on the plants of that country alone, which will be published by the Costa Rican government.

Jail Closed

Cripple Creek, Colo.—Once a roaring, wild mining camp of the old West, Cripple Creek, world-famous mining town, has closed its jail, because since prohibition there are no prisoners.

Spooning Place

Boston.—There's so much spooning in Bunker Hill monument that citizens are asking the legislature to devote $1,500 to lighting the shaft at night.

New Fluid Reveals Veins Under X-Ray

Kansas City, Mo.—By a process of iodizing oil, Dr. J. E. Forester of Aix-les-Bains, France, says that he has perfected a fluid that can be injected into the veins of the body which renders them immune to the X-ray and thus makes it possible to examine them in detail.

Hitherto bismuth has been extensively used for the purpose. A solution of bismuth could be placed in the stomach or other organ to be examined and the bismuth solution would be opaque in the photograph or on the inside of that organ, and was, therefore, only partially of value in examination.

The fluid which Doctor Forester has perfected can be injected in certain tissues and those tissues rendered opaque to the X-rays. Thus it would be possible to inject into the bronchial tube certain doses of the material and the bronchial tubes themselves, and not the hollows therein, would be revealed.

ANOTHER FISH STORY THAT WINS A SINKER

Greiman and Smock Landed A Forty Pounder Last Week

Every day they are getting bigger —the fish stories they bring home from Clear Lake.

Arron Greimann and Faye Smock figure in the latest big fish story, but this time they actually brought home the bacon!

The boys were over at the Lake the other day, and as usual, fishing was none too exciting and one or two small ones were all they had to show for their luck.

However, good luck was soon upon them for they landed a forty pounder, a real whopper and right-away beat it for home and Klemme. The forty pounder was placed in the back seat of the car.

When they got to Klemme they looked in the back seat; the big boy was still there but had eaten up the other two fish and a can of worms. That shows how hungry they get at Clear Lake.

The forty pounder we speak of was a young pig which had gotten lost and was swimming around in the lake The boys caught him and brought him home.

Yep! They sure brought home "the bacon!"

Time To Begin Poultry Culling

It is not too early to start culling out hens that are slackening up on the egg laying job Begin now to handle the flock and market the hens which have started loafing. Culling should continue until October, the poultry specialists at Iowa State College say.

CAMP FIRE NOTES

The Camp Fire Girls held their meeting in the American Legion Thursday afternoon. They also had a ceremonial meeting Sunday afternoon and one new member, Blanche Gimer, was taken in.

Beads were awarded to Valeria Koerner and Leona Poort.

The Camp Fire Girls wish to thank the Legion for the use of the Legion rooms where they will hold their meetings for the present.

The Camp Fire Girls with their Guardian, Marie Blank, will leave this Thursday morning for a few days outing at the Koerner Cottage at Clear Lake.

NERVY

Bill Broke, the village deadbeat, was planning to move to another town. "Bill," said his grocer, "I suppose you'll never pay me anyhow, and you're not worth suing. I might as well give you a receipt for what you owe me and call it square." "That's fine—thank you," said Bill But he kept on hanging around. Finally the grocer asked him why. "Is there anything else on your mind, Bill?" "Well not especially," said Bill, "'cept, ain't it customary t' give a feller a cigar when his bill's all settled?"

In the spring the house fly's fancy lightly turns to Pa's bald head

CARELESS

Restaurant Manager (to orchestra conductor): "I wish you'd display a little more tact in choosing the music. We've got the National Association of Umbrella Manufacturers here this evening, and you've just played 'It Ain't Gonna' Rain No More! "

Ten percent more corn was used for silage in 1925 than in either 1923 or 1924.

Our 14 Largest Cities

A new population estimate by the commerce department places the 14 largest U. S. cities in order as follows: New York 5,924,000; Chicago 3,048,000; Philadelphia 2,008,000; Detroit 1,290,000; Cleveland 960,000; St. Louis 830,000; Baltimore 808,000; Boston 787,000; Pittsburg 637,000; Los Angeles (1920 figures, no federal estimate) 567,000; San Francisco 567,000; Buffalo 544,000; Washington 528,000 and Milwaukee 517,000.

Get Your Fresh Groceries Here-

During the hot weather it is quite important and necessary to have GOOD, FRESH FOOD.

You will find our GROCERY DEPARTMENT well equipped with all articles of Food which arrive daily.

As most housewives' supply of canned goods is getting low, we can supply your needs in GALLON or SMALL CANS of a variety of Fruits.

Fresh Fruits and Berries also.

A BIG SPECIAL EVERY —SATURDAY—
"PAY CASH AND PAY LESS"

Jno. N. Day's Cash Store

Headquarters For

Poultry Supplies

We are headquarters for Poultry Supplies all all kinds. Come here when you need:—

CHAMBERLAIN'S NO-CORN FEED
PRO-TO-LAC Starting Feed
POULTRY NETTING—a sizes mesh and all heights. Get what you need.
POULTRY and CHICK Drinking Fountains, all kinds and a full line of chick feeding trays, etc.
POULTRY DIP—Sray guns and pumps.
FLY CHASER—buy it here for your barns and sheds, get rid of the flies. Full line of nose baskets, etc. here.
NEED ANY OIL or GREASE?
We sell En-Ar-Co Motor Oils and Grease

E. F. Jacobs
"THE FARM SERVICE STORE"

We Print--

Letterheads	Legal Forms
Envelopes	Blank Forms
Statements	Office Supplies
Checks	Township Blanks
Dodgers	Farm Stationery

Times Print Shop

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, especially prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Cling to Wood Market

An interesting old custom, that of the wood market, has continued for more than 100 years at Claremont, N. H., and is still in progress in the same place, near the town hall and ball park. On a Saturday noon more than a dozen loads of stove wood waited for sale. By 3 p. m. they had all disappeared.

Sure Relief

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION
25¢ and 75¢ Pkg's. Sold Everywhere

BURNS and SCALDS
Stop the throbbing and smarting at once with a soothing touch of Resinol

ENROUTE TO MINNESOTA
this season you will find three million others camped along the way. Among these are half a million customers for the Minnesota Tourist Guide. Two hundred and fifty pages of detailed information about 1100 Minnesota towns, their hunting, fishing, hotels, camps, lakes, resorts, roads, railroads, bus lines, scenic features, history, etc. One dollar brings sample copy; let us tell you how to pay your way and go home with money in your pocket. Minnesota Lakes Association, Inc., McKnight Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.

CHICK PRICES SMASHED
Postpd. 100 White, Brown, Buff Leghorns, Anconas, $9; Reds, Barred White Rocks, Black Minorcas, $10; Mixed, $8. Cash with your order
T. J. CAPPER HATCHERY
Box 21 Elgin, Iowa

FOR OVER 200 YEARS
haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions.
GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES
correct internal troubles, stimulate vital organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine GOLD MEDAL.

KREMOLA FACE BLEACH
Positively eradicates from the skin all tan, moth patches, sallow complexion, pimples, eczema, etc. At drug and dept. stores or by mail. Price $1.25. BEAUTY BOOKLET FREE.
DR. C. H. BERRY CO.
2973 Michigan Ave. - Chicago, Ill.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 25--1926.

And Not Jones

Black—That Jones boy has his father's honesty.

White—Well, I always thought somebody had it.—Answers.

Obey Law of Prophet But Still Drink Wine

Born and raised in Russian Turkestan, on the Persian border, I have had a wonderful opportunity to observe how the Mohammedan decree against alcohol works out in practice. The Koran distinctly forbids the use of wine; it says nothing, however, of hard liquors, such as brandy and rum, or vodka, for the simple reason that those beverages were not known at the time it was written. The result of that omission can be easily surmised when one takes into consideration the highly casuistic and judicial character of the oriental mind; those who wish—drink.

Another very interesting way of beating the Koran is this: It is stated in the book: "The first drop of wine shall be your undoing." The loyal Mohammedan, therefore, having filled a tumbler of wine, dips his forefinger in the drink, slowly pulls it out, taking care not to spill back the drop suspended on its tip, and then casts it off with prayers. The first drop being removed, he drinks down the rest.—American Mercury.

Humorous

"Funny thing happened out my way tuther day," related Lum Dumm of Slippery Slap, who was in the county seat on a shopping expedition. "A bunch of fellers went hunting and got on the trail of a passel of wild turkeys. One of the gents was a town man and not s'posed to know much, and in crawling through the brush he drug his gun behind him muzzle foremost."

"And it shot him?" asked a listener.

"That's the funny part. It didn't shoot nobody. As I said, he was a town man, and didn't know enough to have his gun loaded."—Kansas City Times.

Bedspring Saved Life

Carrying a bedspring saved the life of a New York man, sixty-four years old. He was on the way home, carrying the spring, which he had just purchased. Crossing the street in front of his home he was struck by a delivery truck. The spring broke the force of the impact, but the man was knocked down and the spring fell on top of him. The driver of the truck, unable to stop, ran over both. The victim suffered only minor bruises. After treatment by a physician from the General hospital, he picked up his spring and walked home.

The Ayes Have It

"The queen of Spain has begun a campaign to bring back the ankle skirt and the long sleeve, but I'm afraid she's going to be defeated," Jean Patou said to a New York correspondent.

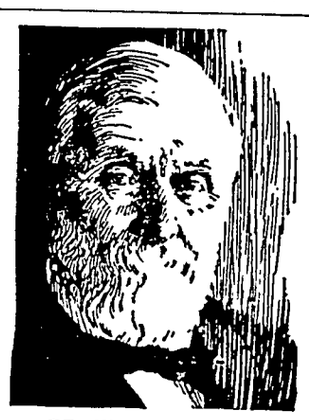
He added with a chuckle:

"A world vote on the question, 'Shall girls continue to wear knee skirts and no sleeves?' would be bound to result in a victory for the eyes."

Back-Seat Brightness

Husband (driving)—Good heavens! Out of gas right in the middle of traffic.

Wife—You can't stop for that, George; here comes a cop!—Boston Transcript.



DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

He is a poet, strong and true,
Who loves wild thyme and honey dew;
And like a brown bee works and sings,
With morning freshness on his wings,
And a golden burden on his thighs—
The pollen dust of centuries.
—Maurice Thompson.

DAYS WITH FISH

There is an old saying that "small fish should swim twice, once in water and once in oil," which we infer to mean that they should be fried in deep fat. When buying fish, select fish with a firm flesh, red gills and bright eyes. As soon as it is caught, if possible, scale it at once, place in a cold place and serve cooked within a short time. If the fish is bought in the market, give it the same treatment.

To Boil Fish.—Wipe the fish carefully, dust well with salt and wrap in a cheesecloth, well tied up. Drop into boiling water, add a teaspoonful of salt, a bay leaf, a sprig of parsley, a slice of onion and a bit of celery. Cover the kettle and just simmer ten minutes to the pound. Lift out carefully and turn the fish on a folded napkin on a hot platter. Garnish with lemon quarters and parsley and serve with drawn butter sauce.

Planked White Fish.—One may serve a planked fish at home in all its perfection. Secure a two-inch plank made from hardwood—hickory, maple or oak—a groove running round the edge two inches from the edge will hold the juices. A plank cut oblong a foot or a little more will be long enough. These planks may be purchased in any utensil store. Have the fish split open down the back and lay it skin-side down on the plank which has previously been heated so hot that it cannot be handled without a holder. Place in a hot oven and bake a half hour or longer. When the fish is done, garnish the plank with mashed potato, parsley and lemon. Set the plank on a hot platter and serve. The longer the plank is used the better the flavor. Scrape it after using, wrap carefully and it will keep for years, growing more valuable with use. If one wishes to cook the fish before an open fire, tack it on the plank and stand it before the fire.

Jellied chicken, sweetbreads and fish are all used as sickroom foods.

Fresh Haddock.—Trim and stuff the fish with buttered crumbs, sweet herbs, a bit of parsley and an egg. Tie up and spread with butter. Bake in a moderate oven until the fish falls from the bones. Serve with fried tomatoes and rolls of broiled bacon. Fresh trout are the most delicious of all eating. Fried in butter shortly after being caught, they are a fish fit for the gods.

Fruit Cocktails.

There can be no more appetizing beginning for a summer meal than a fruit cocktail. They should be served very cold in glasses or in fruit cups of lemon, orange or grapefruit. Tomato is one of the vegetables that is often served as a cocktail as it is so much like fruit.

In preparing fruits for cocktails two things should be remembered. The fruit should stand in the sirup or fruit juice until well sweetened. The sugar sirup is prepared by boiling together twice as much sugar as water, until a thick sirup is made.

The menu following should always be considered when preparing a cocktail. If a vegetable cocktail to which salad dressing is added is served, the salad for that menu may be omitted.

The small pear-shaped yellow tomatoes make most attractive serving; they may be combined with fruit which has a decided flavor, like pineapple, then with a little diced or cubed pear and a fruit sauce, the combination thus being well flavored.

A pineapple and raspberry combination is also good. It is hard to find any occasion when the flavor of pineapple is not enjoyed.

One of the most attractive cocktails to look at is made by using the heart of a well-ripened watermelon. Cut ball-shaped pieces with a French potato cutter, serve with a chilled lemon or pineapple sugar sirup. Prepared the same way, use muskmelon and canton ginger sirup; this is especially delicious to those who enjoy the ginger flavor. It is not wise to add a highly-flavored sirup or sauce to a fruit which has a delicate flavor which should predominate. A lemon sauce is good as it brings out the flavor of other fruits.

Equal parts of sliced peaches and stoned cherries, marinated in sugar sirup and garnished with frosted mint makes an attractive cocktail.

Diced peaches, twice the amount of ripe, large blackberries, treated with a lemon sirup and flavored with a bit of the rind if liked, makes another popular cocktail.

Such fruits as prunes, figs, raisins, persimmons, pawpaws have more food value than most other fruits, though the acids and minerals in all fruits are valuable in the diet. The addition of stock, egg or milk, of course, adds to the nourishment of the soup.

Nellie Maxwell

Jumper Frocks Are Popular; "Manteau de Voyage" From Paris

PICKING out jumper frocks must stand somewhere near the head of the list of favorite pastimes with the rank and file of women this season. For sports—and near sports—and for all daytime wear, they are promoting the two-piece vogue in their summer wardrobes. The two-piece dress has therefore been developed in numberless pretty, informal varieties and appears even among evening costumes. But for sports and general summer daytime wear it stands at the forefront.

There are a good many mediums used for making two-piece dresses, but flannel in white, or high and pastel colors, in plain or striped patterns, is the favorite. The plain flannels are used for simple, unlined coats, and for severely tailored suits. The coats are sometimes finished with braid or grosgrain ribbon and sometimes with Iceland fox. On white kasha or flannel coats, standing collars and patch pockets, in rose or other colored flannel, are embroidered with white angora wool, and ensembles made up of white flannel coats and silk frocks are among the best of midsummer offerings.

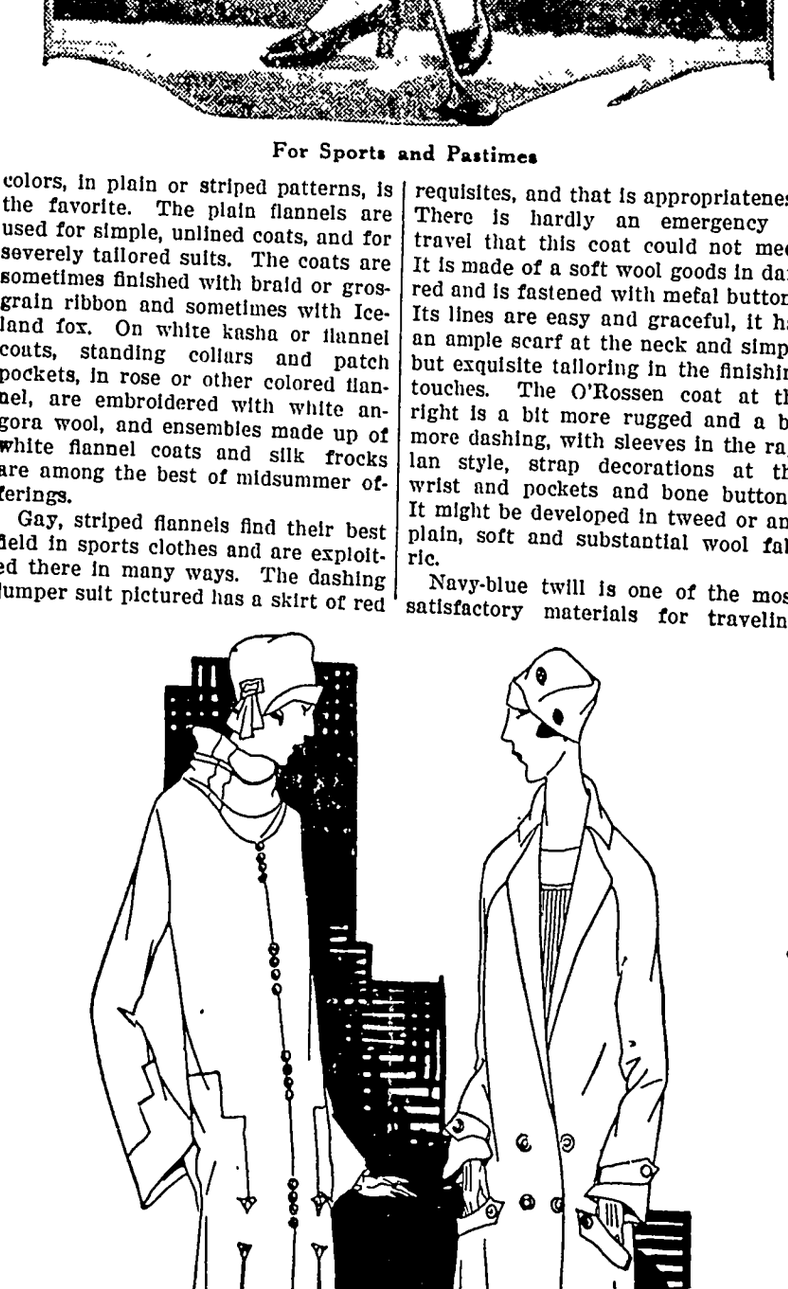
Gay, striped flannels find their best field in sports clothes and are exploited there in many ways. The dashing jumper suit pictured has a skirt of red flannel and a jumper in white striped with red, with collar and cuffs of the plain flannel. One of the distinctive touches of this season appears in the band of the striped flannel stitched to the skirt and finished with red buttons.

Navy blue flannel jackets of mannish cut make themselves very useful in the summer wardrobe worn with white or pastel colored skirts. The skirts are nearly always plaited with the plaits arranged in groups or at one side. The same jackets extend their usefulness when provided with skirts in navy and white shepherd's check, or with a self-color skirt in crepe—they may be worn everywhere.

Somehow "manteau de voyage" seems to convey to the mind something more pleasurable than our plain English "traveling coat" does—something more than mere travel is suggested by the graceful French term. One has visions of comfortable journeys and pleasure trips to picturesque places when the conversation is of manteau de voyage and a hint of elegance is embodied in these two coats sent over by Lelong and O'Rossen for our vacation journeyings.

Lelong has given to the coat at the left the smartest of all smart style requisites, and that is appropriateness. There is hardly an emergency of travel that this coat could not meet. It is made of a soft wool goods in dark red and is fastened with metal buttons. Its lines are easy and graceful, it has an ample scarf at the neck and simple but exquisite tailoring in the finishing touches. The O'Rossen coat at the right is a bit more rugged and a bit more dashing, with sleeves in the raglan style, strap decorations at the wrist and pockets and bone buttons. It might be developed in tweed or any plain, soft and substantial wool fabric.

Navy-blue twill is one of the most satisfactory materials for traveling coats. Very chic models are shown this summer with short detachable capes buttoned to the shoulders or about the neck. Sometimes they are lined with crepe in high contrasting color, as cherry, red or chartreuse green. The detachable cape is convenient for journeys that take one to a variety of climates. Coats of checked materials—as kasha or novelty tweed—cut on mannish lines and three-quarter length fit in with almost every environment.



For Sports and Pastimes

Two Paris Offerings

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Community Building

Roof's Need of Paint Must Be Kept in Mi

The importance of keeping the ro in perfect repair cannot be overes mated, since without a good roof is impossible that the rest of th house can give satisfactory servic One leak can cause more damage t ceilings, walls, furnishings and disp sitions than the cost of a new ro twice over. The tragedy of it is th the owner pays both ways; the int rior damage must be repaired and th roof itself must be renewed. On th other hand a coat of paint or stai seals the cracks in a roof, prevent leaks, increases the security of a things within the house, makes th roofing materials last almost indefi nitely, and vastly improves the ap pearance of the building.

Roofs of dwellings are commonly of two materials, shingles and tin. The destructive forces of rot and rus lying in wait for those materials, ca only be routed by proper paint pro tection. Tin should be painted on both sides before being put in place. There are several types of paint spe cially adapted for tin roofs. Future trouble will be avoided by painting the upper surface at least every tw years, for a paint film is hardly mor than one-five-hundredth part of a inch in thickness and will wear out like everything else.

The butt ends of shingles should be dipped for six or eight inches o their length in paint or stain of the preferred color, then placed in a trough to drain and dry for a day be fore they are put on. When the roof is complete, another coat of paint or stain is applied. Shingles will give adequate protection if they are re painted every fourth or fifth year.

Proper Pride in Home Badge of Citizenship

Pride in home is a precious characteristic, common among all mortals who are worth their earthly salt. And how the springtime brings it out!

The flotsam and jetsam beached in the backyard by the receding snows are raked and carted away, to make room for sprouting grass and spaded vegetable gardens. Out in front, last summer's flower beds are being made ready to furnish a new crop of June attractiveness.

Storm windows give way to screens. The paint brush anoints the scars suffered in the annual defense against the siege by Boreas. The housewife's steaming mop is plied with redoubled vigor. The vacuum cleaner hums. The flailing thwack of the carpet beater is heard in the land.

Pride in home! You find it reflected in the workingman's cottage just as on the broad lawns of the rich man's estate. It cuts across the whole social fabric. The cottager is as proud of the wrens in his bird house as the magnate is proud of the deer in his park.

Pride in home! The universal badge of good citizenship.—Minneapolis Journal.

Small City Wins Honor

For the first time, a community of less than 20,000 population—Albany, Ga.—has been chosen by the board of awards of the national fire waste contest as the 1925 grand prize winner for "having shown the greatest progress during the year in the prevention of fire and reduction of fire losses." The contest is conducted jointly by the National Fire Waste council and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Out of 221 cities entered, the group prize winners were Portland, Ore., among cities above 100,000; Long Beach, Cal., among cities between 50,000 and 100,000; Battle Creek, Mich.; among cities between 20,000 and 50,000, and Albany, Ga., in the smaller population group. Forty "honor cities" also were named.

Paint a Preservative

There is only one way to eliminate these expensive repairs, and that is to keep your property protected through painting before repairs are necessary. Property should be regularly inspected. Paint should be applied to all places that appear worn and not delayed until the appearance of rust or decay when repairs become unavoidable.

Keep your property well painted and you will have mighty few repair bills. Paint is far cheaper than new wood or metal replacements. Watch the less obvious vulnerable points, such as roof, eaves and down spouts, porch columns, etc. The trim is usually the first to suffer.

Build to Resist Fire

There is no excuse for reckless disregard of precaution in modern places, where wealth and up-to-date systems of construction should combine to produce, if not houses that will not burn, at least houses that will not burn each other.

Ideal City

The richest or the largest city in the world might be about the least attractive place to live. The ideal city is reasonably rich, reasonably large and immeasurably blessed with the qualities that make it ideal as a community of homes.

Rural America Holds Its Own

Called "Declining" Villages Rival Biggest Cities in Rate of Growth.

ew York.—Contrary to the prevail- notion that rural America is los- ground against the city, the In- te of Social and Religious Re ch has analyzed hitherto unpub- ed census data which cut the rate city increase, 1900 to 1920 from per cent to 52.1 per cent and ac- ly pushes the rural rate of growth to 20.7 per cent.

he facts are brought out by ert W McCulloch in a recent issue The Survey. One explanation lies the government's bookkeeping; n a village reaches 2,500 people it omatically becomes a city accord- to census categories, and without ing an inch from their own door- ds its villagers get into the urban mn. Even so, between 1900 and 0, the villages in this country with and 2,500 inhabitants increased 74 in number. To quote in advance m Mr McCulloch:

The recent report of the National ustrial Conference board showing t radical tendencies have shifted m the industrial workers to the mers, is only one of many warnings t have roused interest in the rural nation and caused an increasing de- nd for facts about the country's al people.

The people of the industrial centers ve been studied from every view- nt. About the rural folk, there is astonishing dearth of trustworthy formation. More than this, a study the Institute of Social and Religi- s Research, some of the results of ich are now available, indicates t actual misinformation concerning al conditions is very general.

It is believed, even by the experts, at the rural areas of the United ates are being depleted by a great, tionwide migration of country folk the cities. In support of this, ories of the decline of America's vil- es are circulated with dishearten- frequency.

But is the cityward migration so eat and so menacing a population vement after all? And are Ameri- n villages really declining?

"Decline" Is Explained.

If one turns to the census, one is pressed by the relentless decline in lative importance of the rural ele- ent of the population from decade to ecade As recently as 1880 only 28.6 r cent of America's total population ed in incorporated places having 500 or more, the boundary line be- ween 'rural' and 'urban' as defined by e census. In other words, 71.4 per nt of all Americans were, in 1880, ral folk. In 1920 this proportion d dropped to 48.0 per cent.

Even if there were no movement to e cities, there would still be, from ne census period to the next, a steady ecrease in the number of people class- ed as 'rural'; because this is a grow- g nation, and many places classified s rural at the end of one decade row sufficiently to cross into the ur- an class by the time the next census s taken.

In Alabama, for example, Alabama ity, a village with 2,276 inhabitants n 1900, passed into the urban class in 910 with a population of 4,313; and ndalusia City, with 551 in 1900 and ,480 in 1910, got over the line with ,023 in 1920.

Here then we see how some thou- ands of people in two villages ceased o be villagers and became urban folk; ot by migration cityward, but by a rocess of governmental bookkeeping hat did not move a single villager out f his own dooryard.

What Figures Show.

The Institute of Social and Religious Research got returns from the illages of all the states. These fig- res show that between 1900 and 1910, 76 places which had been classified s rural in 1900, passed the 2,500 mark nd entered the urban class; while during the next decade, the number of places that passed from the rural to he urban class was 474. In addition, 18 places in the earlier decade and 72 in the last, entered the urban ranks because they became incorporated. It s the census procedure to classify unincorporated places as rural no matter what their size.

"The institute compiled a special tabulation showing the growth in population since 1900 of the territory that was urban and of the territory that was rural in that year. This was done to eliminate the confusion due to the constant shift of villages to the urban class. New England was eliminated from this calculation because the township form of government makes it difficult to divide the population into groups comparable with the urban and rural groups in other sections, but for the rest of the United States, this special tabulation showed that 4,620,055 rural people became city folk between 1900 and 1920, not because they migrated but because the places in which they had been living grew sufficiently to be lifted from the rural into the urban class.

"The institute's report of this study, 'American Villagers,' written by Dr. C. Luther Fry, shows that with the differences in classification eliminated, the rural increase becomes 23.6 per cent, which is the normal increase of births over deaths and nearly twice as large as the increase based upon the ordinary census figures. When, for purposes of comparison, the growth of cities between 1900 and 1920 is limited solely to the places that were cities in 1900 the rate of growth for the period is 66.4 per cent instead of 84.0.

"This rate of actual growth for the places that were cities in 1900 needs a further correction.

Explains City Growth.

"In 1920 there were 13,920,692 foreign-born people living in the United States. Of this number 10,500,942 lived in cities, while only 3,419,750 resided in rural areas. Of these 10,500,942 urban aliens, 5,478,989 are known to have entered the country after 1900, while only 1,416,106 of the immigrants in rural areas fall into this group. The fact that during the last twenty years 4,000,000 more immigrants settled in our urban areas than in our rural areas helps explain the relatively rapid growth of cities. When corrected for this factor, the rate of city increase drops still further—from 66.4 per cent to 52.1 per cent, and the rural rate of growth, corrected in like manner, becomes 20.7 per cent.

"The institute devoted particular attention to the question of the growth and decline of villages. In 1920 there were 10,239 incorporated villages, with a population of 8,509,659; and in relation to the population of the remaining rural area they are growing very rapidly indeed.

"From 1900 to 1920 the incorporated villages increased 41 per cent, both in number and in population. During the same period the population of the United States as a whole increased 30 per cent. During these twenty years, therefore, incorporated villages increased in population more rapidly than the nation as a whole.

"Despite the fact that nearly a thousand incorporated villages, with all the people who dwelt in them, were lost from the rural classification because they grew into the city class, the number of villages increased 5,674 from 1900 to 1920. Thousands of little open-country population centers, therefore, became villages as a result of actual increase in open-country population; and their growth, by sending them into the village class, checked them out as a loss to the open country in this analysis of open-country and village populations.

Village Growth.

"To find out whether the village increase in population might be explained by this increase in the number of places classed as villages, the institute worked out the rate of growth since 1900 of all the places that in 1900 were incorporated villages. This computation revealed that the places that were incorporated villages in 1900 grew 51.3 per cent during the next twenty years, compared with a 63 per cent increase for places that in 1900 were cities of 100,000 and over; 91 per cent for cities of 25,000 to 100,000; 67 per cent for cities from 10,000 to 25,000; 59 per cent for places of from 2,500 to 10,000, and 19.5 per cent for the open country. Here is the interesting discovery, not only that the greatest rate of growth since 1900 has occurred in cities of from 25,000 to 100,000, instead of in metropolitan cities; but that the villages have been expanding almost as rapidly as the large metropolitan centers.

"The census gathers at great cost a mass of facts about the residents of incorporated villages, covering occupation, age, sex, nationality, tenure of farm, home ownership, marital condition and school attendance. All this material lies in the census files virtually unused, because no provision has ever been made for its analysis and publication.

"Through the courtesy of the census bureau, the Institute of Social and Religious Research was able to make a special study of this unpublished material for 177 villages which were selected as representative of the agricultural villages of the entire United States, and which had a total population of a quarter of a million.

"A phase of this study helps to account for both villageward and cityward migration by showing that an unskilled worker who goes from the farm to the village, or from either the farm or the village to the city, improves both his social and his economic position.

"The census method of classifying gainfully employed workers by the great fields of industry in which they are engaged, and by which Charles M. Schwab and a day laborer in his plant would be classified together, does not show this; but the institute organized the data for the 177 villages—and for purposes of comparison, the census data for 38 medium-size cities also—to get at differences in the economic status of the people, by ascertaining the number of employers and the number of employees, the number of clerks, of skilled and of semi-skilled workers, and of laborers.

Fewer Women Work.

"The number of gainfully employed women in villages was found to be disproportionately small. Among the males, the relative number of persons who may be regarded as their own bosses, was found to be more than half again as high in the villages as in the cities, 30.4 per cent as against 18.9 per cent; but for those who are not their own bosses the villages have less to offer.

"This is shown by their relatively large number of laborers and servants; 31.5 per cent as compared with 23.5 per cent in the cities; by their smaller proportion of skilled workers, 17.6 per cent as against 23.4 per cent in the cities; by the still smaller showing of semi-skilled, of whom there are relatively only about half as many in the villages as in the cities, and by the very few clerical workers, 11.7 per cent, while 15.2 per cent of the city workers are 'white collar men.'

"These occupational differences indicate that if a man with small capital wants to go into business for himself he has a better chance of success in the village; but that if he wants a good job as a wage earner, his chances are better in the city. Nevertheless the villages have many skilled and semi-skilled workers, showing the presence of a surprising number of manufacturing plants in these smaller centers, and indicating that the villages of the United States, which are growing rapidly instead of declining, are also sharing to a hitherto unsuspected extent in the country's industrial development."

SMART CHIMPANZEE

Mary, the remarkable chimpanzee owned by the explorer and naturalist, Cherry Kearton, has never been taught anything, but copies everything that she sees her owner do. Here she is at one of his old tricks—cleaning the pipe.

BUGS STUDIED IN FIGHT ON THE PRICKLY PEAR CACTUS

Australians to Visit Arid Southwestern America to Collect Insects That Prey on Pest.

Uvalde, Texas.—The prickly pear cactus is advancing in Australia at the rate of a million acres a year. Leith F. Hitchcock of the Australian commonwealth prickly pear board estimates that already 60,000,000 acres of east Australia alone are infested with this spiny pest.

Mr. Hitchcock has just arrived here at the field station of the United States bureau of entomology to take charge of the North American phase of Australia's war on the prickly plant. So kindly has the cactus taken to the climate of the isolated continent that it occupies more than twice as much land as all the other crops put together, and so desperate have the inhabitants become that every sort of enemy that the cactus ever had in any part of the world is being drafted into service in the wild hope that it will help check its spread.

For that purpose the Australian prickly pear board has sent out men to the arid regions of the Southwest to collect specimens of the various types of insects that prey on the prickly pear. Thus far, according to Mr. Hitchcock, different species of the mealy bugs or cochineal insects have been found most successful. The insects are grown in cages at the entomological station here and the most vicious attackers of the cactus are shipped to Australia. There the authorities, taking warning from the rapid increase of the artificially introduced rabbit and the cactus itself, grow the insects in quarantine through at least one generation before they turn them loose to do their worst.

A wrinkle is merely a nick of time.

No Wonder English Are Grouchy After Breakfast

London.—A new dish to break the monotony of the usual fish, porridge and bacon and eggs breakfast menu at last has been found. The recipe has won a prize offered by a London newspaper.

Take a herring and scale and bone it, says the recipe. Boil an egg until hard and chop it while hot into a grating of cheese. Then add a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Spread the mixture inside the herring, tie the fish about with a thread, roll it in oatmeal and brush all over with beaten egg.

Fry in boiling fat in a frying pan basket for five or six minutes and serve hot.

Boy Eats Bible

Moultrie, Ga.—Unknown to his parents, twelve-year-old Mellzo McCoy ate the family Bible with the exception of the two covers and a few pages. The loss was only discovered when Mellzo complained of a stomach ache.

A Little Bit Humorous

REVENGE

"Anything else, sir?" asked the barber of the customer who had been in a great rush.

"No. Wait a minute. Is that my wife waiting over there to have her bob trimmed?"

"Yes, sir."

"Give me all you got."—American Legion Weekly.

Breakage

"Why can't this important law be enforced?"

"Because," answered Senator Glum, "it is broke."

"You mean broken?"

"No I don't. There isn't any appropriation for its enforcement."—Washington Star.

IN A CHOPPY SEA

The boy stood on the swaying deck.
Whence all but him had fled;
"This yachting stuff is mighty fine,
But home for me!" he said.

Interrupted Optimism

Investigation will not rest,
Strange stories are rehearsed,
And while we're hoping for the best,
We still must learn the worst.

Double Order

"If you kiss me just once I'll scream," she said. "You really must be nice."

I didn't want to raise a fuss. And so I up and kissed her twice.—Brown Owl.

Sooner or Later

Mrs. Newlywed (to husband with spade and box of cigars)—Where are you going, dear?"

Mr. Newlywed—Oh—er—just going to get rid of a few weeds, darling!

A PEACHBLOW

"Must be a 'peach' tree from what's up in it."

"On the same principle, it would be a 'nut' tree if you were here."

The Caller

The sun puts on his shiny coat,
Across the skies to roam;
He hopes to call upon the moon,
But never finds her home!

Heavy Diet

"You're much heavier, aren't you?"

"Yes, the doctor ordered me to take iron."

Taking Them Out

"I sent a dollar to a firm that said they would tell you how to take out wrinkles in the face."

"Did they reply?"

"Yes; they said to walk right out in the open air every day and the wrinkles would go out with me."

Pale, Too

Mrs. Gander—The bride is pale, don't you think?

Gander—Yes; and I happen to know that the groom isn't very flush, either.

Striking an Average

"Is this a musical comedy?"

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne.

"The music is rather tame."

"Don't you care. You'll be glad the music is tame when you see how wild the comedy is."—Washington Star.

Poor Advice

"Great Scott! What's the matter? Been in an automobile accident?"

"Naw! A fool told me to laugh at my trouble, and I took his advice and went home and laughed at her."

Don't be Distracted

WITH so many brands clamoring for attention, it is sometimes hard to choose. But Monarch Coffee and Monarch Cocoa have been favorites for more than 70 years—supported by two factors—(1) high quality, (2) low cost.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
Never Sold Through Chain Stores.
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago • Boston • Pittsburgh • New York

And on You

He—Are you laughing with me or at me?

She—For you.—Life.

Population of London

In 14 years the population of London has increased only 300,000, from 7,300,000 to 7,600,000.

EAT YEAST FOAM
for Boils and Pimples

Don't endure an unsightly skin with this simple, effective remedy available!

Yeast Foam not only clears the skin but it overcomes constipation, relieves indigestion and most astonishingly builds up weight, strength and energy in run-down sickly people.

Drop a cake of Yeast Foam in a glass of water; let stand for five minutes; stir; let settle and drink the milky water, including the white precipitate. Or, if you prefer, eat the yeast with a cracker or a piece of butter.

NORTHWESTERN YEAST CO.
1750 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Send me FREE and POSTPAID your book "Dry Yeast as an Aid to Health," also a sample of Yeast Foam, without obligation.

Name_____

Address_____

W N U.

SAMPLE CAKE FREE!

A Poet's Theme

In the hands of the true artist the theme, or "work," is but a mass of clay, of which anything (within the compass of the mass and quality of the clay) may be fashioned at will, or according to the skill of the workman. His genius, to be sure, is manifested, very distinctly, in the choice of the clay. It should be neither fine nor coarse, abstractly, but just so fine or so coarse, just so plastic or so rigid, as may best serve the purposes of the thing to be wrought, of the idea to be made out, or, more exactly, of the impression to be conveyed.—Poe.

Cuticura for Pimply Faces.

To remove pimples and blackheads smear them with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Once clear keep your skin clear by using them for daily toilet purposes. Don't fail to include Cuticura Talcum. Advertisement.

Big Business Taxes

Incorporated business enterprises in the United States having a net income in 1923 of $9,269,000,000 paid $2,572,000,000, or more than 27.7 per cent in taxes to federal, state and local governments.

Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well.—Chesterfield.

STOMACH TROUBLES

quickly leave. Green's August Flower is a stomachic corrective, has been used for 60 years and has given relief to thousands suffering with indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, etc. At all druggists 30c and 90c. If you cannot get it, write
G. G. GREEN, INC., Woodbury, N. J.

Farm Values Falling

American farms and farm buildings have decreased in value from $66,316,002,602 in 1920 to $49,546,523,779 in 1925, according to Department of Commerce figures

ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE

For Tired Feet It Can't Be Beat

At night when your feet are tired, sore and swollen from much walking or dancing, sprinkle two ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE powders in the foot-bath, gently rub the sore and inflamed parts and relief is like magic. Shake Allen's Foot-Ease into your shoes in the morning and walk in comfort. It takes the friction from the shoe. Sold everywhere. For FREE Sample and a Foot-Ease Walking Doll, address, ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, Le Roy, N. Y.

Distinction

"So you have a radio, now, Willie?"

"Yes, sir, ours has the most wires of any set in the block."

© 1926 S. O. Co. (N. J.)

Are you being bored to death?

MOSQUITO torture is quickly ended if you keep a can of Flit handy.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Get a Flit can and sprayer today. For sale everywhere.

STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)

DESTROYS
Flies Mosquitoes Moths
Ants Bed Bugs Roaches

"The yellow can with the black band"

HERE'S ONE ON DOC PARSONS

When Doc Parsons got back from his fishing trip last week, of course he brought home a few fish. One of them—the one he talked about—was pretty good size, but the missis was rather suspicious of Doc's fish story. "This fish is pretty strong," she said, holding up the big one. "Strong," says Doc, blushing, "I should say it was; it nearly pulled me out of the boat."

Doc's a good ball player.

—Belmond Independent.

Bloom's Daughter Visiting In Iowa

J S. Pritchard and wife arrived from Hollywood, California, Sunday for a visit with Mr. Pritchard's son, W S Pritchard and family. They were accompanied by Miss Esther Bloom, a daughter of Walt Bloom. Miss Bloom drove the car through. They were eleven days on the way, but spent two days on side trips. They will visit old friends at Belmond, and relatives at Des Moines and other places in the state.—Garner Signal.

A state insurance man was in our town Monday re-threding the fire hose connections so they would be of standard thread The Klemme fire hose will now fit any of the surrounding towns, and their hose will fit our connections and in case it need be in an immergency towns nearby can now help each other. The new threads were cut free of charge by the state.

Petting cows with a milk stool is not approved by the chaperons of the dairy industry.

Mrs. J. N. Day staged a surprise party on her son Dorance this afternoon in honor of his tenth birthday, when she invited in a number of his friends to help celebrate. Games were enjoyed and later refreshments were served. Dorance received a number of nice gifts from his many friends.

Mrs. Florence Smith and little daughter returned Sunday afternoon from their visit at Ft. Atkinson, Wisconsin. Monday Mrs. Smith returned to her position at the Koerner Telephone office. Miss Esther Janto, who has been operator during the former's absence, returned to her home at Garner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs Charlie Bier and children of Renoville, Minnesota, were visiting old Klemme friends Tuesday. They had been at Mesrevey for a visit and stopped here on their way to Swea City for a visit. Mr. Beir is in the banking business at Reneville, and was also in the business here nine years ago and later at Swea City.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman and daughter Marian, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keraus and sons Otho and Verl, of this place, Mr and Mrs Joe Horecka and daughter of Garner, and Mr. and Mrs. T F. Mitchell of Swea City, all drove to Iowa Falls Sunday and there joined another large group of relatives for a big picnic and celebration of Mr C. F. Keraus' sister's 74th birthday. All report they had a fine time.

Keeping the new lawns clipped tends to make the bluegrass spread.

No One Was Ever Hung--

For Advertising

But Many Business Concerns Have

D I E D !

By Not Advertising--

Let Us Write You An Insurance Policy Against Business

D-E-A-T-H

The Klemme Times

Notice--

We have coming a carload of each of the following:—

Hard Coal
Coke

Coming about June 15th. Place your order NOW to be sure of your Coal.

WE ALSO HAVE—

Feed Of All 'Kinds

Coming by the CARLOAD, at a very LOW PRICE, delivered off the car.
Place your order now and get in on these Bargains. ....

North Iowa Grain Co.

The North Elevator Klemme, Iowa

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

Mrs. George Zeilie of Goodell was visiting here Tuesday.

Kill the Potato Bugs with P-B-K. For sale at Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

Mrs. Amanda Kirkwod entertained company from Godell last week Thursday.

The W. F. M. S. wil meet at the home of Mrs. Henry Keeper next Thursday, June 24th at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. M. O. Barr's mother came Friday morning from Spirit Lake for a visit.

Kill the Potat Bugs with P-B-K. For sale at Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

Mrs G. H. Lade, of Garner, was here Saturday visiting her daughter, Miss Esther Jante.

Mrs. Howdeshell and son, Paul, of Williams, visited at the Herb Bailey home the past week.

George Lawhorn is driving a fine new Essex Coach which he purchased last week.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Miss Marian Wheeler, of Joice, came last Thursday for a couple of weeks visit with Miss Leona Poort.

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines. tfc

Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Gauger and son Wm. were Mason City visitors Monday afternoon.

Miss Mabel Smith was at Garner Monday where she had some dental work done.

Order your Twine now, carload on the way. Farmers Elevator. 1tp

Ralph Ludeke is driving a Jewett Coach which he purchased last week.

The A. G. Koerner family spent Sunday evening at their cottage at Clear Lake.

The Times is always glad to receive items of news. Please phone your items or mail them. Thanks.

F. J Urick wishes to thank the voters for their loyal support at the primary when he was nominated to the office of Supervisor.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Gordon and two little daughters, of Joice, were visiting at the J. J. Poort home here Sunday.

TWINE at the Farmers Elevator.

Edwin Bock, who underwent an operation at Mercy Hospital last week, is reported to be getting along fine at this writing.

Mrs. A. G. Koerner and daughters Dolores, Valeria and Nova, and Mrs. Fred Ridder and daughter Neota, visited at Mason City last Tuesday.

DON'T throw away that tire just because of a small hole. Bring it here, I can at least make a good spare for you. C. L. Blumer. 1tc

Miss Marie Gauger returned Monday morning from Sioux City where she attended the commencement exervices at Morningside College.

Mrs. Carl Suckow, of Garner, was here Saturday visiting. The Suckow children returned home with her. They had been visiting Grandpa and Grandma Suckow.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Day and son Dorance attended the recital at Belmond last Friday evening. Dorance played a piano solo as his part in the program.

Adolph Ridder and family and Mr. and Mrs. Fredin left Monday for their home at Watertown, South Dakota, after visiting with Klemme relatives and friends.

Last Friday afternoon the Royal Neighbors took in two nem members into the lodge and held other special work after which they had a big supper.

Farmers! Get in your Twine orders now. Farmers Elevator. 1tp

Full line of Fire Works now on display at Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

The Auxiliary is giving a program and supper to the Legion and their families at the Parish House this evening. A good time by all is assured when the Auxiliary gives a party.

Quite a number of members of the Royal Neighbor lodge here are planning to attend a big convention of the fraternity at Clear Lake next week Thursday, June 24th.

Mr. and Mrs. Ovenball of Renwick, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elder who came from the West for a visit in Iowa, spent Sunday at the R. W. Elder home.

Miss Irma Ohm, who has been visiting at the home of Rev and Mrs. Calvin Grosshuesch, left Sunday for Council Bluffs for a visit with her sister.

Grandma Elder came from Vernon Center, Minnesota Saturday for a visit at the home of her son, Ralph and family. Ed. Palmby and family brought her to Klemme and they visited here Sunday.

George Gruetzmacher and family moved their household goods to Garner today where they will make their future home. Mr Gruetzmacher is working in the Viken hardware store at Garner.

Mrs. Minnie Josten, mother of Mrs A W. Gauger, is building a nw home at Garner east of the Methodist church. The building is progresing nicely and the house is about framed up.

The Misses Caroline Smid, Hilda and Doris Schaefer and Emery Shaefer returned Saturday from an auto trip through the Dells of Wisconsin. They enjoyed the outing and said the sceney was beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gruetzmacher enjoyed a visit from her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Goodhile, son and daughter, of Mason City, who came Saturday and remained over Sunday.

Mr. Fletcher Wellemeyer and Catherine Wellemeyer, of Kansas City, Kansas, and Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Melcher of Charles City, visited at the Arthur Wellemeyer home Wednesday of this week.

Over 50,000 visitors registered at the Little Brown Church near Nashua last year. Some were from European countries and Canada. This is getting to be more popular every year.

Mrs. R. W. Elder and daughter, Reva were at Mason City Tuesday and Wednesday where Reva had an examination at the hospital where the doctors pronounced that she was now O. K. following her recent operation.

Earl Josten came home Saturday from Sioux City where he has compited a four year course at Morningside college. Earl has a fine position teaching higher English and directing the glee clubs in the Mount Vernon high school next fall.

Mr. H. H. Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Lachnor, of Spencer, Iowa, and Stanley Tolle and family of Cincinnati, Ohio, visited over the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Johnson. Mrs. W. F. Lau and children were also guests at the Johnson home Sunday.

The Ames College school year closed last Friday and Klemme students who have been attending college there are home for the summer vacation, they are Adella Schroeder, who is studying home economics, Fred Arnold, electrical engineering and Clarence Elder, journalism.

Iowa Lakes Are Low This Year

The water in Storm Lake is reported to be three feet below the water line, something unusual for this season of the year. Experts declare that it will take an eight inch rainfall to bring the lake to a normal condition. Lake Okoboji and Spirit Lake are both reported to be lower than at any time in recent years. Northwestern Iowa has been deprived of its normal rainfall for nearly three years and while ordinarily there is sufficient moisture to mature crops there is a marked shortage of water in creeks, rivers, lakes and wells.

Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings
DR. E. H. PHILLIPS
Osteopathic Physician
Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa.

CELEBRATE AT BRITT ON MONDAY, JULY 5th

There will be a celebration of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence at Britt, Iowa, on Monday, July 5. Parade and patriotic program in morning. Horse races, sports and free attractions in aftenoon. Plan to come to Britt on Monday, July 5. 1tc.

THANKS TO THE VOTERS

I wish to tender my sincere thanks to the voters of Hancock County for the remarkably strong support given me at the June 7th primaries. A truly wonderful and unusual support considering the fact that my circumstances at home absolutely prevented me from making any canvass at all to see the voters personally.

For the sake of all my loyal friends as well as for my own sake, I regret very much that these untoward circumstances existed, as the election returns indicate that just a little personal canvassing would, without doubt, have given me a good lead; but the matter is now a thing of the past which cannot be remedied, nor can I in any way render adequate reward to all my known and unknown friends for this surprisingly strong evidence of their goodwill and confidence, except to tender my thanks and express my great appreciation of the goodwill and confidence shown me on this occasion without any personal interview by me.

Assuring you one and all that this manifestation of your goodwill and confidence will be stored in my memory and prized for all future time as one of the most pleasant incidents of my life, I remain

Respectfully yours,
1tc OLE T. RIKANSRUD.

Full line of Fire Works now on display at Wilson's Pharmacy 1tc

Adolph Ridder and son Homer, and Mr. Fredin came from Watertown, S. D., last Thursday for a visit with Klemme relatives and friends. Other members of the family came about a week earlier.

PIANOS

Players & Grand
New and
Second Hand

M. N. ZEIGER

Jewelry & Optical Goods
GARNER, IOWA

A Few Causes of Oil Pumping and Compression Leakage--

1. Worn or out-of-round cylinders.
2. Scored cylinders or pistons.
3. Warped or worn ring grooves.
4. Poorly fitted pistons and rings.
5. Piston pin hole out-of-round.
6. Poorly aligned rod and piston assembly.
7. Sprung connecting rods.
8. Crankshaft warped or out-of-true.
9. Worn bearings.
10. Warped or sticking valves.
11. Improper timing.
12. Leaky cylinder head gasket.

ONLY Cure-- Stormizing

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

TELEPHONE YOUR WANTS

In the busy season of the year many people find it impossible to get to the bank to transact their business.

Let us make it easy for you. Use your telephone. No more convenient method can be employed. Your every want will have our personal attention.

First National Bank
KLEMME, IOWA.

THE KLEMME TIMES

rtieth Year—Number 45. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1926. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

NCOCK COUNTY FARM BUREAU RADIO PROGRAM

ll Broadcast From WOI Ames On Monday Evening, June 28th

Plans have been practically com-ted for the radio program to be t on by the Hancock County Farm reau from WOI, Ames, Monday ning, June 28th. The program l start at 7:30 and continue for hour and a half. The program will as follows:

Talk, by W. L. Lawhorn, President of the Hancock County Farm Bureau.

Singing by Concord Progressive Quintet composed of Elmer Knaupp, Paul Knaupp, C.D.Daniels, M E. Braer and S. Pollock.

Piano and violin duet, Mr. and Mrs C. D Daniels, Garner.

Accordian, Gus Krop, Garner.

Piano and Xylophone, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Hyde, Garner.

Talk on organization of community club, Mrs. Chester Moe, Garner.

Bass Solo, Floyd Fiero, Garner.

Music by Duncan Community Orchestra.

Old Time Fiddling and Irish songs by Mike Barrett, Crystal Lake.

Reading, Frances Steiner, Britt.

Solo, Fred C. Missal, Britt.

Tune in your radio on this pro-am next Monday night.

E COUPLE A DAY MARRIED AT LITTLE BROWN CHURCH

er 50,000 Visited Famous Iowa Shrine Last Year

The "most marrying pastor of wa" will leave August first to re-rn to his home in the east. For e Rev. George T. Hanna, pastor of e "Little Brown Church in the le," near Nashua, has announced his congregation that he will ten-r his resignation to take effect on gust 1st. He has been at the Little Brown Church" for the past ree years and during that time s performed marriages which ap-oach the 1,000 mark. In 1925 his mber was 300 and during that ar 50,000 persons came to the Little Brown Church" as sightsee-rs.

The Rev. Hanna will take the pas-rate of a mission church in Frost-ry. Md., h s old home town.

KLEMME REFORMED CHURCH

Sunday, June 27th

0.00 A. M. German service.
Installation of Officers
1:00 A. M Sunday school.
8:00 P. M. English service.
Bible school during week days.
Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor.

ENWICK MERCHANTS STAGING WEEKLY STUNTS

Renwick Times: The free enter-inment put on last week Wednes-ay night by the band and A. B. ichardson and family was highly leasing to the generous crowd of hoppers. Every Wednesday night ome merchant will stage an added ttraction along with our regular and concert to entertain the pub-c. These concerts are good and ur Wednesday night crowds are eadily on the increase, many visi-ors coming from quite a distance.

OTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR

TATE OF IOWA
ancock County, ss.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, hat the undersigned has been duly ppointed and qualified as Adminis-rator of the estate of John Griggs eceased, late of Hancock County ll persons indebted to said estate re requested to make immediate ayment; and those having claims gainst the same will present them, uly authenticated, to the under-igned for allowance, and file in he ffice of the Clerk of the District ourt.

F. A. ARNOLD, Administrator.
Dated June 22, 1926.
CHRIS J. JOHANSEN,
(J24-J1-8) Clerk District Court.

FOUR H. CLUB ACTIVITIES THE PAST WEEK

Special To The Times Written By a Club Member

Monday afternoon, June 14th the Four H. Club held a special meeting at the home of their leader, Mrs. J. Anderson. Miss Raimer, the county leader of Home Furnishing Work had charge of the meeting.

Minature curtains were made by the members, and Miss Raimer demonstrated the use of various designs and trimmings that could be used in a very artistic manner upon the various curtains.

Decorative touches, such as candles, pottery, pictures, etc., were considered and discussed. At the close of the meeting a real luncheon featuring strawberries and cream was served by the hostess.

Wednesday the club held their regular meeting at th home of Miss Luella Goll After a half hour of Music Appreciation we practiced on our stunts for Rally Day. A demonstration on curtains was given by Luella Goll and Dorothy Hampel.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

One of the big events of this club year was the Hancock County Rally Day which was held at Eagle Lkae Friday, June 18th. The "Do Your Best Club" was there with a one hundred percent attendance.

The program consisted of the following:

9:30—10:00 Registration.
10:15 Greetings, Mrs E. J. Schneider.
Club Songs Congregation
"Iowa, The Smiling Prairie"
"America, The Beautiful"
Club Work at the State Fair Alice Jakoubek
Short Course Echoes, Elsa Trulson.
The Boys' Part in Club Work Glenn L. Walter
Election of Officers.
12:00— 1:00—Picnic Dinner.
1:00 4-H Club Work in the State Miss Rhodes.
Stunts by each Club.
Games.

The following girls were elected as County Officers for the coming year: President, Miss Elsa Trulson of Britt Township; Vice-President, Miss Mildred Hampel of Ell Townhip; Secretary-Treasurer. Miss Marry Mullin of Britt Township.

The stunts were all very good Strange but true, the same Clubs that took first and second places last year, did the same thing again this year

Madison Township took first prize with a very clever stunt featuring the different girls of yesterday and today. The first girl was an Indian maiden, and the last was a typical, healthy and all-around good sport-dressed as the modern club girl.

Ell township placed second with a little play in which a discouraged and forlorn girl discovers a way to learn how to help herself in fixing up her room. In other words, she is a guest at a Club meeting and she sees the achievements, and worthwhile things that can be accomplished

At the conclusion of the games we all departed, declaring that we had all had a very enjoyable time.

By A Club Member.

OUST "CHORUS GIRL" CHICKS

If Sparsely Clad With Feathers, They Probably Lack Vitality

"When a young pullet or cockerel at 2 months of age is clothed as sparsely with feathers as a chorus girl is with garments, it is a sign that the bird lacks vitality and should not be kept for breeding purposes or egg production." So says H. A. Bittenbender, in charge of the poultry work at Iowa State College.

Studies made of the correlation between early feathering and strong vitality show that they are associated together, while slow and late feathering go with low vitality and slow maturity. Early maturity is necessary in pullets for satisfactory winter egg production the first year of their lives.

Because of the relation between late and slow feathering, vitality and egg production, the young chicks which are slow and late in feathering out should be separated out and put into the fattening pen to be prepared for broilers.

BRITT MAN ORGANIZES COUNTY BAND

Organization Made Up Of Hancock County Musicians

Britt News-Tribune: Adrian Felix has organized a Hancock County band, made up of players from Garner, Kanawha, Crystal Lake, Wesley and Britt They have the following musicians enrolled. Cornets, Fillenwarth, Britt; Earp, Crystal Lake; Randells, Kanawha; Sprole, Garner. Clarinets, Kelly, Britt; Morgan, Britt, Dimond, Britt. Trombones, Munson, Britt; Lease, Wesley. Baritones, Hesley, Britt; Heckerson, Kanawha Alto Saxophone, Heckerson, Sr, Kanawha. Alto, Clark of Britt; Bell, Britt Bass, Lilly, Britt. Drums. Raw, Britt; Lee, Britt.

Adrian Felix will direct the band. Membership is open to any musician in Hancock County. Practices are held at Britt each Friday night.

DON'T LOSE YOUR FISHING AND HUNTING LICENSE

Duplicates Won't Go After July 1st; A New One Will Be Required

Hunters and fishers who lose their licenses in the future will be required to buy new ones as their duplicates cannot be issued according to the state game warden. No provision under the statute is made for duplicating and each person who buys a license will be obliged to keep it securely or purchase another The fiscal year on licenses of this kind is ended June 30 and new ones will have to be purchased by the Izaak Waltons and nimrods before going out July 1.

"A 'SWAT' IN TIME SAVES NINE"

Old Adage, Modified, Applies To Fight Against Weed Pests

A "swat" now directed toward the weed pests undoubtedly will save nine or perhaps many times nine, a year from now. To keep any and all kinds of weeds from seeding is the biggest step that can be taken in holding the pests in check.

Altho a number of the bad weeds spread by means of undergorund stems or rootstocks, this method is comparatively slow and practically all kinds of weeds depend mainly upon seed production for their spread

It is important to cut all weeds immediately with a hoe, a mower or other means, say weed specialists at Iowa State College. The docks and mustards may already have set seed. but many of the others have ont.

Cutting weeds alone may not control or check their spread, but it will aid greatly. Where new weeds are found, they will be identified free and control or eradication measures recommended for them if they are sent to the Botany Department of Iowa State College.

TO KEEP FISH ALIVE AT MORSE LAKE IN WINTER

Belmond Independent: A movement is on foot to install a windmill and pump at Morse Lake to keep the lake filled up and supply air during the winter months. Such a pump would doubtless be of great value in keeping the fish alive during the winter, and if for that reason only will meet with favor from local sportsmen. The estimated cost of the mill and pump, labor and material, is around three hundred to four hundred dollars. Local business men have offered to furnish the mill and pump at wholesale, and the labor has been donated.

HOUSEWIVES SHOULD CAN ON BUDGET SYSTEM

Such A Plan Will Insure Proper Diet and Save Money

The efficient housewife today does her canning by a carefully worked out plan or budget, because careful planning means proper nutrition for the family as well as the saving of money. Haphazard canning, without regard to the family needs, may result in either too much or too little of the various canned foods.

In making a canning budget, food specialists at Iowa State College suggest keeping these things in mind: For proper nutrition, each family should have at least one vegetable daily besides potatoes or dried beans, also, each should have some fruit—fresh, dried or canned—every day of the year; some fresh fruit or vegetable, uncooked, should be served as nearly every day as possible.

Thus with a guide to follow, the housewife can figure out about how many cans of vegetables and fruit are required. The thing to strive for is to can or store enough so that each member of the family may have two servings of vegeatbles and two of fruits every day of the year.

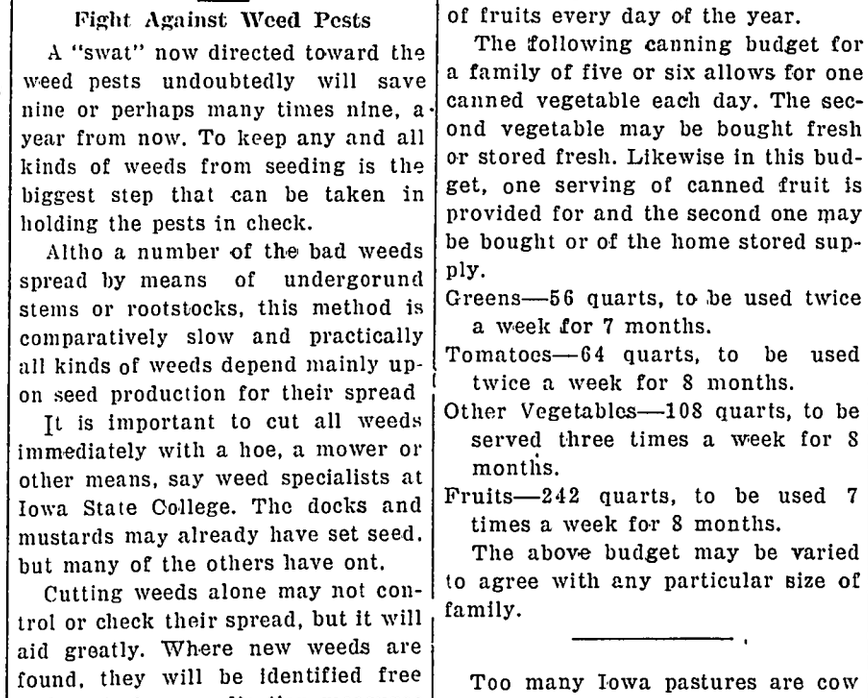
The following canning budget for a family of five or six allows for one canned vegetable each day. The second vegetable may be bought fresh or stored fresh. Likewise in this budget, one serving of canned fruit is provided for and the second one may be bought or of the home stored supply.

Greens—56 quarts, to be used twice a week for 7 months.
Tomatoes—64 quarts, to be used twice a week for 8 months.
Other Vegetables—108 quarts, to be served three times a week for 8 months.
Fruits—242 quarts, to be used 7 times a week for 8 months.

The above budget may be varied to agree with any particular size of family.

Too many Iowa pastures are cow gymnasiums. Fewer cows fed better both winter and summer would give greater profits

THE SESQUI FROM THE AIR



An idea of the size and scope of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which will be held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1, to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence, is given in this photograph. In the foreground is the great Municipal Stadium, which seats 100,000 persons. North of the stadium can be seen two of the vast exhibition buildings. The first is the Palace of Agriculture and the second the Palace of Liberal Arts. Opposite the latter building is the big auditorium, which seats 20,000 persons on a single floor. To the left of the stadium can be seen the world famous Indian building, the Taj Mahal.

KLEMME BUSINESS PLACES TO CLOSE MONDAY, JULY 5

Do All Of Your Shopping Saturday Night In Klemme

The stores and other business places in Klemme will be closed all day Monday, July 5th. This is accordance with a plan to give the business men and their families a chance to take in a July Fourth celebration on July 5th, on which date most of the celebrations will take place.

Remember that Klemme business places will be locked up tight Monday, July 5th.

The stores will be kept open until 12 o'clock midnight Saturday, July 3, to give all plenty of time to stock up for the week end.

REJUVENATE STRAWBERRY BED IS ADVICE

Cut and Burn as Soon as Crop is Off, Then Plow in Part

When the strawberry crop has been harvested, begin at once to prepare the bed for next year. The first operation in renewing it is to cut off the plants with a mower and loosen up the mulch with a rake or fork. When the mulch and clipped plants have dried out thoroughly, burn the patch and follow this operation by plowing the rows under until they are only 5 or 6 inches wide.

The foregoing suggestions are offered by C. V. Holsinger, horticultural extension specialist of Iowa State College, who has observed the practices of successful strawberry growers in various parts of Iowa.

The advantage of cliping the plants and then burning is that it gets rid of such pests as the strawberry leaf roller and such diseases as leaf pot. All of the old foliage is destroyed and the bed starts anew.

After the bed has been plowed with a stirring plow, reducing the rows to a width of only 5 or 6inches, one should go in with a hoe and thin the plants down to one about every 6 inches in the row. Clean cultivation should be practised continually through July, August and September.

In burning over the old strawberry bed, Mr. Holsinger gives this warning: Be sure that the mulch and bed are perfectly dry and that there is a good wind to insure that it will burn over quickly and completely. If the fire is slow and smoulders, it will cook and kill a great many of the plants.

By handling the old strawberry bed in the foregoing manner, new plants are developed, so the earlier the mowing, burning and plowing can be done, the better will be the results. Renewing old beds is especially desirable this year because many of the beds set out this spring are not very promising, Mr. Holsinger reports.

Heard At The First National

Waterman, examining a stack of coins: "What does the buffalo stand for on nickles?"

F. A.:"I suppose because he can't sit down!"

NOTICE OF PROBATE OF WILL

STATE OF IOWA

Hancock County, ss.
TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED, That an instrument of writing purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Martha Ludeke deceased, dated Nov. 25, 1924, having been this day filed, opened and read, and Monday the 12th day of July, 1926, is fixed for hear'ng proof of same at the Court House in Garner, Iowa, before the District Court of said County or the Clerk of said Court; and at 10:00 o'clock A. M. of the day above mentioned, all persons interested are hereby notified and required to appear, and show cause, if any thy have, why said instrument should not be probated and allowed as and for the last Will and Testament of said deceased.

Dated at Garner, Iowa, June 14th, 1926.

CHRIS J. JOHANSEN,
(J17-24-J11) Clerk of Distict Court

NORTH IOWA GRAIN COMPANY BOUGHT ANOTHER GRAIN BUSINESS AT KANAWHA

The North Iowa Grain Company, with headquarters at Mason City, and who own an elevator here and at other points in this part of the state, last week purchased an elevator at Kanawha, formerly run by Johnson & Berhow. Mr. C. M. Nelson, of Lake Mills, is in charge of the elevator at Kanawha for the Company.

The North Iowa Grain Company now operate a string of eleven or twelve elevators. All are located in some of the best towns ins this part of the state. One of their largest and best elevators is the one in Klemme

VALUE OF MANURE ON FARM NOW PROVEN

Ames Experiments Show Value Is About $2.00 A Ton

Farm manure is worth $1.97 per ton as a fertilizer on the average soil of Iowa, according to extensive experiments carried out cooperatively by Iowa farmers and the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station. These tests were conducted on 16 different soil types and on 43 different fields, scattered in all parts of the state.

The value arrived at for manure was derived from averaging the actual crop increases secured through applying manure. A ten-year average was taken for the value of the various crops. In this schedule, corn was valued at 73 cents per bushel, oats 44, wheat $1.34, barley 62, rye $1.02, hay $13.11, alfalfa $16.97, and soybeans $1.50 per bushel.

In these cooperative tests, applications of 8 tons were made per acre once in a four year rotation. Altho this is probably more manure than is available for applying on most farms, the soil specialists say that smaller applications would probably result in higher values per ton of manure because the material would probably be used to better advantage by the crops

The range in value per ton of manure varied from $1.00 on some soils to over $3.00 on others. The cost of applying or handling the manure was not figured in th ecalculations because these factors would vary so greatly on different farms and conditions.

The results of the manure experiments are given in detail in a new bulletin just published by the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station Ames. It is No. 236, entitled, "The Economic Value of Farm Manure." Copies of the publication may be secured by writing to the Bulletin Section, Ames, Iowa.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

All services in Klemme will be regular next Sunday. The morning service begins promptly at ten o'clock and closes at eleven o'clock when the Sunday school begins.

Let us include these services in our plans for Sunday. We owe this to ourselves above all else, we owe it to the Church that we promised to be faithful to, we owe it to our fellowmen of whom we expect to get inspiration from time to time, they have like claims on us.

Liberty will have a redletter day on the coming Sunday. On this day we have the concluding exercises of our Vacation Bible School. A class of twelve girls will finish the study of catechism and will after a public examination be awarded their certificates on this day. At the same time they will be received into church membership. The morning's services will be concluded with the sacarament of the Lord's Supper for young and old.

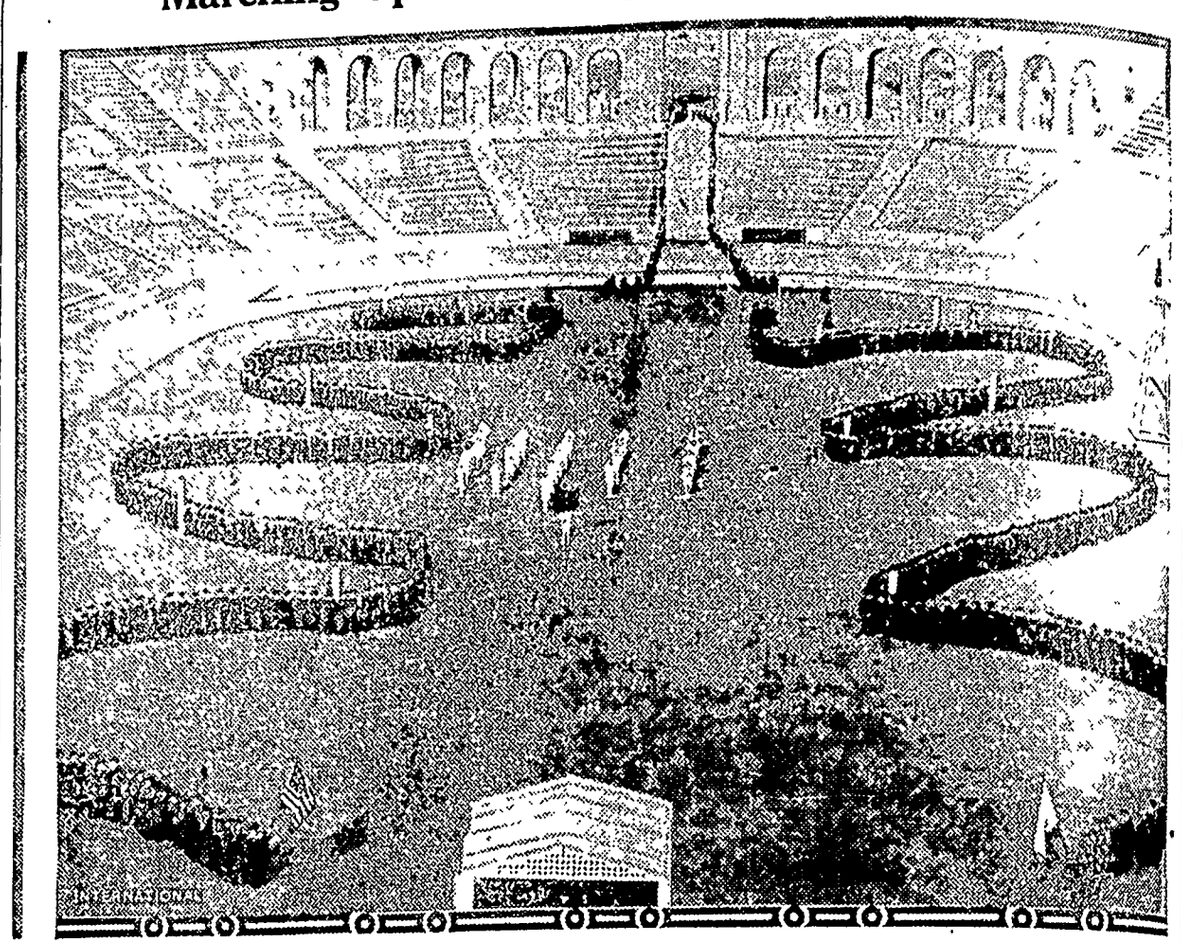
We have several contestants there striving to memorize the longest chapter of the Bible, the 119th Psalm. The Pastor offered to award a five dollar Bible to the first one completing this task. This may climax along with the other exercises.

Pubber rings for the home canning of food in glass jars should be purchased new each year. Using old rings is false economy because it may result in heavy losses of canned products.

Dutch Again Buy Manhattan Island From Indians

Three hundred years ago Manhattan Island was bought by the Dutch from the Indians for trinkets worth about $24. The anniversary was observed by the Greenwich Village Historical society with a pageant in which the incident of the sale was reproduced.

Marching Up to Get Diplomas in Los Angeles



Students of the University of Southern California, in Los Angeles, marching up to the stand where they were given their degrees.

Arctic Mystery Not Yet Solved

Test of Beef Left by Franklin Expedition Shows Members Not Poisoned.

London.—A tin of beef has revived interest in a subject that thrilled the world 75 years ago. It was at about that time that the British admiralty and the world at large became convinced that Sir John Franklin's expedition was hopelessly lost in the Arctic seas. Searching parties that braved the hazards of the North, first to take assistance to the heroic band of men marooned in the iceflows and last, when all hope had been abandoned, to bring back some word of the fate that had befallen them, returned with a few relics found scattered on the fields of ice at Beechey island. Among the salvaged articles were some cans of beef.

It was thought that when the sealed top of the receptacle containing the "bully" beef on which Franklin and his companions lived was lifted a possible reason for their death might be disclosed. Could it be that the contents of the can had not come up to the required standard and that the explorers had succumbed to its poison? Professor Beachey of Liverpool was elected to solve the mystery. The tin was cut and the meat removed and examined. It was found in as sound a condition as when it left the packers' hands 81 years ago. If the rest of the provisions sent with the expedition to feed the men for a period of three years were as fresh as this beef, another theory regarding the "lost expedition" has been exploded.

It was in 1845 that the sturdy ships, the Terror and the Erebus, set forth from England to discover the northwest passage, never to return. They were under the command of Sir John Franklin, a skillful leader.

Clue Fourteen Years Old.

Many theories have been advanced as to what befell his vessels and their crews. Not until 14 years later was a clue found that permitted those in command of the searching parties to establish to a degree the course taken by the expedition. It was an admiralty form placed under a cairn on Point Victory, around the margin the words being written:

"April 25, 1848.—H. M. ships Terror and Erebus were deserted on April 22, five leagues N. N. W. of this, having been beset since September 12, 1846. The officers and crews, consisting of 105 souls, under the command of Captain F. R. M. Crozier, landed in lat. 69° 37' 42" N., long. 90° 41' W. This paper was found by Lieutenant Irving where it had been deposited by the late Commander Gore in June, 1847. Sir John Franklin died on June 11, 1847, and the total loss by death in the expedition has been to this date nine officers and fifteen men."

Silence and the ice sea henceforth wrapped them in eternal mystery. Of the ships not even a broken spar was found by the searchers. A few skeletons indicated where some of the crew had fallen. Eskimos told of having seen straggling figures making their way across the frozen fields and of abandoned provisions.

His First Arctic Trip.

Sir John Franklin in 1845, at the age of fifty-nine, had made a reputation as a navigator and an explorer. At the age of ten he first had sight of the sea from the shore of Saltfleet, England. He determined to be a sailor. Hoping to cure him of his desire, his parents permitted him to embark on a merchantman bound for Lisbon. Far from being the end, it was the beginning of his seafaring career.

Adventure followed adventure. On board the Polypheus he took part in the battle of Copenhagen; in the Investigator he learned the science of navigation and became expert in making maps; while exploring the coast of Australia he was shipwrecked. He was in the battle of Trafalgar, in the blockade of Flushing and the attack on New Orleans.

Meanwhile, the British admiralty's interest in the Arctic regions, which had been dormant for half a century, began to revive under the leadership of Sir John Barrow, secretary of the navy. An expedition was organized under the command of Captain Buchan of the Dorcthea, in which Lieutenant Franklin was invited to join, taking charge of the Trent. It ended unfortunately for the Dorothea, and Franklin returned, convoying a damaged ship.

Tried a Third Time.

All England was afire with the desire to know what lay to the north and west of Hudson bay. Maps indicated two rivers, the Mackenzie and the Coppermine, but of the indentures of the coast between their estuaries nothing had been learned. The following year Franklin was ordered to traverse the land lying between Hudson bay and the Arctic sea. Three years of hardship followed, but the party returned triumphant, having descended the Coppermine to its mouth.

When next he sailed, he was Commander Franklin. That time he penetrated still further, reaching Mackenzie bay. The commander himself sailed along the unfriendly coast, while Doctor Richardson was detailed to journey in an eastwardly direction, exploring the coast to the mouth of the Coppermine. This second Arctic voyage was not to be followed by another until 20 years later, when he undertook the one that was to prove fatal.

Franklin returned to England from Tasmania, where he had been lieutenant-governor. Since his last effort to establish the northern contours of the American continent, important additions had been made to his own findings by others. Only 800 miles lay between him and the fulfillment of his life's dream—the discovery of the northwest passage. He sought the command of the expedition under consideration by the admiralty. His wish was granted.

His ships, the Terror and the Erebus, were commissioned by his former mates. Captain Crozier, who had commanded the Terror in her Antarctic trip, was second in command. Each ship carried 67 officers and men. They were provisioned for three years. Taking every precaution, Franklin ordered them equipped with steam power and screw propellers.

It was agreed between the admiralty and Franklin, at the latter's suggestion, that he should have his choice of two alternatives. He was either to pass through and beyond Lancaster sound to Cape Walker and thence southward in the direction of the American coast, or, that being impossible to carry out, he was to attempt a northerly course through Wellington channel.

The little company reached the coast of Greenland by July. Franklin's last letter to his wife was written from Disco bay. It was full of good cheer and they expected soon to be on their way aboard the Erebus. Reports reached them of clearing ice nnd fair weather, and they expected soon to be on their way. Five weeks later they were seen moored to an iceberg, delayed by frozen seas and fogs, when they had hoped to be well on their way to Lancaster sound.

Effort to Escape Afoot.

It was at about that time that they were last seen by a whaler, ten days after they had left Disco. "All well and in remarkable spirits," is the report the whaler's log made of them. From then on the expedition was wrapped in the silence of the North.

Evidence found in later years leads to the belief that, leaving winter quarters at Beechey island in 1840, the expedition shaped its course down Peel sound. The voyage was apparently a slow one and came to an end when they were "beset since September 12."

The evidence pieced together shows that the following year they must have traveled further south into the channel named for the explorer, where they came into a wider stretch of ice and water. Again their progress was halted and for 587 days they were locked in an icy prison. Many died and others made a vain desperate dash for freedom. Relics picked up in later years told of the horrors of their march, but apparently bad beef was not one of them.—New York Times.

Northern Illinois Suffers From Cloudburst

Northern Illinois, especially in Rockford and vicinity, was hard hit by a cloudburst which rapidly swelled the streams and caused floods that did a lot of damage. The illustration shows a scene on the state highway between Rockford and Beloit, Wis.

Railroad in Alaska Boosts Tourist Trade

Anchorage, Alaska.—The Alaskan railroad was constructed to develop the assets of Uncle Sam's northern possession, but it also has brought satisfaction to the road's officials from another source—tourists.

The route of the railway from Seward, on the Pacific ocean, to Fairbanks in the interior, passes through one of the most beautiful sections of the northland. Each year has brought an increasing number of visitors.

The entire trip, with the exception of 40 hours on the Gulf of Alaska, is made through what is known as the Inside passage, a land-locked route, which is described as being as smooth as a mill pond.

The trip from Seattle to Fairbanks and return takes three weeks. From May 15 to September 15 there is no snow, but abundant sunshine.

Bull Starts It

Pueblo, Colo.—"A bull in a china closet" burlesque was broken up by a police riot squad after a large bull appeared at a cafe door and charged across the room scattering tables, dishes and patrons.

Plot to Kill New Woman Mayor

Seattle police said they had been informed of a plot to assassinate Mrs. Bertha K. Landes, who has just been installed as mayor of that city. Mrs. Landes, who is the wife of Dean Henry Landes of the University of Washington, is here seen with her predecessor in office, Dr. E. J. Brown.

RED MEET'S QUEEN

Miss Lilly B. Tully, of the Puyallup tribe, was chosen queen of the festival at the recent convention of the Northwest Federated Indian Tribes in Everett, Wash.

All Tars Welcomed to This Club

Group of Argentine sailors of the battleship Moreno, guests of the National Navy club of New York city. They appear to be very much satisfied with the reception accorded them. The National Navy club extends its hospitality to sailors and marines of all nations.

MRS. W. B. HAMILTON

An exclusive picture of Mrs. William B. Hamilton, prominent society woman of San Francisco, who has been selected by a committee of five thousand women of the coast city as their candidate for congress from the Fourth California district to succeed Mrs. Julius Kahn. Mrs. Hamilton is an avowed dry and the wife of the collector of the port.

DIGS UP $200,000 IN GOLD COINS CONCEALED ON FARM

Kentuckian Unearths Treasure Buried by His Father During the Days of the Civil War.

Demopolis, Ala.—Aided by old papers his father left him, Gayus Whitfield of Middleboro, Ky., has unearthed buried gold valued at more than $200,000 on the Whitfield farm near here. The discovery of the treasure came as the result of a search which began in the spring.

Directions for locating the gold were contained in papers left to his son by C. Boaz Whitfield, member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families of Alabama and descendant of the pioneer general, Nathan Bryan Whitfield.

When Gayus Whitfield began his search 35 negroes were employed to uncover an old boundary stake on the Shady Grove farm, 18 miles from Demopolis, near Jefferson. For a week the large force worked without results, but later a large cache of gold coins was discovered. It consists of $20 gold pieces, minted in 1850 and before, which were buried by the wealthy Boaz Whitfield in Civil war days.

There are eight heirs who may put in claims for the gold, all of them daughters and sons of the four Whitfield brothers, born in Civil war days, themselves sons of Nathan Whitfield.

Other gold coins had been found on the old Whitfield place prior to the discovery, it is learned, but the matter of instituting an active search for buried treasure was never given much attention by the Whitfield family until the old key left by C. Boaz Whitfield was found in Kentucky.

Citizens here express the belief that Boaz Whitfield buried the gold to prevent its seizure by Union forces. Similar instances are recalled by older inhabitants, but in no case is so large an amount involved.

10 Months' Auto Taxes Increase $25,000,000

Washington.—Taxes collected by the government on automobiles in the first ten months of the fiscal year ending April 20, 1926, were more than $25,000,000 in excess of the amount collected during the corresponding period of last year, according to compilations issued by the internal revenue bureau. Figures from 12 of the heaviest tax-paying states showed $98,199,070.22 for 1926 and $72,608,173.45 for 1925.

New York's automobile taxes for 1926 were $2,327,863.36, compared to $1,379,632.99 for 1925. Michigan pays the largest automobile tax in the country, the figures being $72,139,057.46 for 1926 and $54,935,725.23 for 1925.

New Yorkers paid less on cigars and cigarettes for the ten months ending April 20, 1926, than in 1925, the figures being $4,362,770.40 in 1925 and $3,790,831.66 in 1926.

Youth Rides West

By Will Irwin

Copyright by Will Irwin
WNU Service

THE STORY SO FAR

On their way to the new Cottonwood "gold diggings" in Colorado in the Seventies, Robert Gilson, easterner, who tells the story, and Buck Hayden, a veteran miner, his partner, secretly witness the hold-up of a stagecoach.

CHAPTER I—Continued

—2—

saw a disturbance of the leaves ng the willows. Into a space be- n patches of the green pattern I a horse swing round, sidewise backward, as an independent will when he is about to be nted. His flanks appeared first; his side. He was a rangy, lean, rican horse of that yellow shade h we called buckskin in the West hose days; but on his nigh flank, e exposed it to my view, the full of the sun brought out a lighter h, as though he were turning e; a patch which, with my pened observation, I compared tally to the top of a pear or the view of the head and shoulders velled woman. A second later I his rider mount—booted, in incon- uous dark clothes, still wearing a k. The bandits were all dressed uch alike that, except for the big ow, they had to me no separate tity. The thicket quivered no e; they were gone.

Keep on layin' close a minute," Buck. Now, he no longer whis- d, but spoke aloud. "They kin us just as we kin see them." He ckled in his beard. "Hid their ses from the stage people. Hard mask a horse!"

Well, even if we didn't shoot—" egan, throwing forward my uneasi- s of conscience.

An' what was the use of shootin'? nly to git the woman killed," inter- ted Buck.

Even if we didn't shoot, we've got ttle evidence," I pursued.

Kid Tenderfoot," replied Buck im- ssively, "what you don't know in s man's country don't hurt you ne."

What do you mean?" I asked, my a sense of law and order not ittle shocked.

I mean," replied Buck, "that we n't know nothin' yet about the lay this country, or what's goin' to git n in an' out of trouble." He uckled again in his beard and grew nost g- us. "Darn slick job. d you notice how smooth they got ay? If anybody up here had been posed or inclined to do any shootin' ey was only a second when you uld 'a' got all four of 'em. I won- r," he mused, "jest what the rear ok-out was signalin' fur." His ques- n was answered at that instant, hen a mule team drawing an emi- ant wagon hove into sight below us.

Skeered off by a family outfit of sters," remarked Buck. "Wish't they uld 'a' known the joke on 'em! ell, I guess we'd better be gettin' ck to the jacks."

I'm going down there," I said. Cu- osity, perhaps something stronger, as drawing me. Buck rolled over, d regarded me full in the face.

If anybody asks you questions, you dn't see nothin' but the tail end of ls little circus," he said. "An' es- cially you saw no horses. What'd ey do, anyway, but git a roll or a atch or two from those first passen- rs they stuck up?"

They got the express strong-box," aid I.

Yes, and who owned what was in ? Some money devil or other in Wall street." replied Buck.

All right," I replied, perhaps as- uming more reluctance than I felt. eally I was a little relieved not to ave to admit that we had witnessed his episode without opening fire. uck, remarking, "You go ahead. I ant to pack these irons," took the wo long guns and turned back to the rain. I rose up then, and began crambling toward the road down the ace of the hogback. As I came down, he little, bearded man whom I had een relieved of his wallet was re- marking to the express messenger:

"You're a fine guard, you are—let your stage git held up in broad day- light and you with a sawed-off shot- gun over your knees—"

"I was robbed, too, wasn't I?" put in a larger man with a drooping sea- lion mustache. "And I say he done right. One shot an' the leader's down, and this here messenger is lookin' into four sets of hardware. Suppose he had 'a' shot—how many of us would 'a' got it—huh?"

"That's right," came in half a dozen voices. Plainly the general sentiment ran against shooting, and my pride of courage rested easier. I looked about me, then, for the women. She whom I recognized as the elder sat inside the stage, fanning herself with the edge of a newspaper. She was middle-aged and a little more. I fore- bore to speak to her; she did not seem receptive.

Glancing around, I remembered that I had overlooked the one real tragedy of this affair—the nigh white leader. At some time in these proceedings he had let his head settle into the dust for the last time, and died.

And by his head stood the other woman, her eyes on his wounded head. Drawn by I know not what im- pulse, I approached her; she looked up across the dead horse, looked me full in the eye. Her face was so full of pity and tenderness that I could feel the tears starting behind my own eyes.

That expression of tenderness which held me speechless changed and merged into a little flicker of wonder. Then I saw that she was indeed young —and beautiful. When finally she dropped her gaze from mine and spoke, her accent was of the East.

"You aren't—you weren't one of the passengers?"

"No," I said. "But I saw the end of it. I didn't shoot," I added hastily. "It wouldn't have been of any use." In excusing myself I was accusing myself. But she reassured me; and, I felt, with genuine feeling.

"I'm glad you didn't," she said. "I'm glad I don't have to see a man this way—" she glanced down at the dead horse—"even a bandit." She stood musing a moment. I had time to notice a firm chin, a mouth just a trifle too wide for our standards of beauty in those days—like my mother's, I noted mentally—but pink and gently bowed, a fine-drawn, pointed nose, dark-blue eyes.

"Crime is always cruel," she said. "I—I never thought of that before. This—this is my first sight of it." She seemed now to pull herself out of this mood; and she looked me over with her engaging glance of frankness.

"You're from the East, too?" she remarked.

"How did you know?" said I

"I didn't mean to be impertinent," she answered, smiling, "but it's your accent."

"Acquired at Harvard and most difficult to alter into the forceful and manly tones of the West," said I. She laughed at that, though lightly; and I liked her laugh.

"And at present," I went on, "I'm bound for Cottonwood too; only instead of traveling in the effete luxury of a stage, I'm driving a jack train."

"I don't know how else a lone woman is to travel," she replied. "It's just as well those bandits didn't rob me—" She stopped, as though feeling she had said too much.

"Oh, they didn't get round to you then?" I inquired; and cursed myself for my hypocrisy. Somehow I felt averse in that moment to lying.

"No," she said, "though I think they were going to when that shot stopped them."

"And the lady inside there—your—" I began.

"Oh, she's just another passenger," she replied to my unformed question. "I'm traveling to Cottonwood alone. She took it all beautifully."

"I'm going to stake a claim and take my chances," I said, leaving it delicately open for her to slake my curiosity if she wished. Apparently she saw the point, and parried.

"I'm going up—on business," she replied. Just then Buck joined us, asking innocently what the difficulty might be. The passengers surrounded him, babbled out their separate stories, Buck breaking in now and then with a bland, "Well, well!" or "You don't say!"

"Didn't notice which way they went?" inquired Buck on the first pause.

"That's what I've been saying," declared the little man who had been robbed. "Trail's hot now. By the time the sheriff gets started it'll be dead cold. If we was half a set of men we'd be formin' a posse right now an' chasin' 'em."

"And us without a saddle in the outfit," interposed the express messenger coldly, logically.

"Well, a great, grand line this is!" said the injured passenger. "Payin' a hundred dollars to git robbed. Took three hundred dollars in bills off me, an' if I hadn't 'a' hid—"

"We've heard that before," said the express messenger.

It looked for a second like trouble; doubtless it would have been trouble, but for Buck.

"I'm goin' to follow a ways on foot," he said. "Anybody goin' along?" I had to suppress a smile at my crafty partner. He and I alone knew that the bandits had got clear away. The injured passenger, his bluff called, said rather weakly, I thought: "That's the ticket." The express messenger threw his sawed-off shotgun over his arm; they two plunged into the thicket and the rest of the passengers, after a second of hesitation, followed. I saw that, with the eye of beauty on me, I must not hold back.

"Wait a minute," I called! "I am going along." At that, the unknown woman put out her hand so that she almost touched my elbow, drew it in with a little flush of confusion, and—

"Oh, you won't do anything rash!" she faltered.

"There's no danger—they must have gone!" I replied with exact truth and yet with hypocrisy. As I waded through the mud past the coach I looked up; the middle-aged woman was regarding me from under her frizzes.

"Well, It's time!" she remarked grimly.

I came upon our company following in open order the footprints of the four bandits. For a quarter of a mile we floundered and stumbled. Already faint protests were rising from the rear over the futility of the whole proceeding, when Buck came to a turn of the creek and peered around a clump of willows growing close to the curve of the bank. I shot up beside him; he pointed. Half sunken in the creek lay the big iron box, open. We all plunged forward.

"Thar's yer express safe," said Buck.

The messenger bent down and examined it. A cold chisel, quite evidently, had been edged into the crack between box and lid and the inadequate lock had been severed by a few smashing blows.

The messenger was running over the envelopes which strewed the bottom of the box. He turned toward us, and he was pale under his tan.

"They took the money," he said. "That's gone."

"How much?" said Buck.

"I ain't supposed to know," said the express messenger, "but twenty thousand if anybody asks you."

"Where's the mail sack?" some one inquired. As we spread out in a straggling line of searchers the express messenger still squatted by the box, stared blankly into its depths. But suddenly he looked up and said:

"Didn't take the mail sack."

Buck whistled.

"Ain't no raw beginners, these here bandits," he remarked. "Know if they rob the mail they're in trouble with Uncle Sam."

We gave up the pursuit. As we turned back the express messenger and I picked up the box by its handles and carried it between us.

By now two more wagon outfits had piled up back of the stage. I saw the driver was hitching a little bay bronco into the place of the dead leader. I learned afterward that he was the spare horse of a wagon outfit, leased on the spot at a ruinous rate. My unknown lady was leaning against her shelf of rock, surrounded by four men. I caught her face; she was smiling, but with all her feminine reserves up. However, as I came into the road she saw me; and I felt that her deep-blue eyes had for just an instant flattered me with personal concern, that momentarily she had stepped out from her intrenchments.

"What did you find?" she asked as I approached the group. So not to her but to the company I told the story of our little adventure. I had not finished when the stage driver yelled, "All aboard!" The wagon men departed to their outfits. I was alone with her now, but only for the brief passage from the rock to the stage-coach door.

I Was Alone With Her Now, but Only for the Brief Passage From the Rock to the Stage Coach Door.

"My name is Gilson, Robert Gilson," I said.

"That's a good old New England name," she remarked.

"Second Cliff, Scituate, in 1633," said I; then felt my cheeks tingling with the ghost of shame; it seemed like boasting, that. She was gathering her duster about her; she was starting; but I said no more lest she change the subject. Doubtless she saw the point in my pause.

"Mine is Deane—Mrs. Deane," she replied; and we stepped to the stage-coach.

Then, as I closed the door and she settled down lightly in her seat, she said without hint or prompting from me: "I shall be boarding with Mrs. Barnaby here," and a wave of her gloved hand indicated the woman to her right.

"You will," put in that lady grimly, "if ever that freight company gets my outfit into camp. The way this stage line is run, I must say the chances is promisin'. I must say—" The coach jerked away, but her conversation buzzed monotonously through the creaking of the leather boot, the rattle of the wheels.

She—the young unknown—she had given me a subtle, half-expressed invitation. The glow about my heart told me that I liked that, just as I did not like her "Mrs."

Buck spoke; I found that my eyes were still on the retreating coach.

"One dum thing after another," he said. "If it ain't a cave-in, it's robbers. Won't be a four-foot patch of pay dirt left by the time we strike camp. Well, anyhow, stage drivers is sometimes some use. This here one put me right about that trail." Forthwith we clambered over the rocks to the mesa where our burros, which Buck had calmly staked out before he rejoined me, grazed at the extreme end of their lines.

CHAPTER II

The interruption of the stage robbery took most of our morning. By dusk we had advanced only ten weary miles; for now we were really climbing. While I unsaddled, cut down a dead pine for wood, built a fire on a course of rocks which thrust its crest above the snow, started supper, Buck went ahead in the dying light to reconnoiter. He returned in his native state of cynical pessimism. We should be in luck if we made Cottonwood in two days. As for the chance at a claim, Buck revealed his pessimism on that score by a series of speculations concerning miners' wages in Cottonwood.

Above the ledge of rock where burned our fire a scant circle of young pines grew on a miniature plateau from which the snow had melted. There we tethered our weary train. After supper, dog-tired though we were, we had still more work. By the light of our candle lantern I cut a pile of fresh boughs to alleviate the hardness of our bed. Young and weary though I was, when I had rolled into my blanket and settled my head on my saddle, anticipation banished sleep for at least five minutes.

I knew nothing more until Buck shook me and I saw that the eastern edge of the sky below us had begun to glow.

The stars were fading and a shrill dawn wind was blowing down the gorge when we finished our coffee, gave the last touch to our packs by adding our tin cups and plates, saddled our horses, mounted.

For a twisted mile, our train scrambled from ledge to ledge, then slid into the main road. It was full daylight now; the half-frozen mud had a consistency of soft rubber, and each burro landed with a kind of elastic "plop." We rounded a pinnacle of rock. Above us the road carried for a mile or so straight up a 12 per cent grade; and I saw that we were at the tail of a procession.

We found a side trail running across smooth rock, and avoided, for the time being, a jam which grew thicker and thicker as we advanced. And now both our trail and the main road spilled out upon a small basin in the mountain side.

A widening of the road, built so that teams might pass, gave us a chance to advance two places in line and to wriggle in behind a light buckboard carrying what I took for a pair of gamblers. At the next sharp rise of the grade our pack train had its first accident. With the instinct of their breed, the burros had hitherto avoided the slippery spots and held their footing in spite of their tiny hoofs. But now the big fellow who had caused us all the trouble two days before slipped to his knees, rolled heavily over onto his side. Because he was larger of frame than the rest we had loaded him on that morning of the supreme effort with the heaviest of our mining equipment. We had not calculated on the inherent asininity of his character. This time, instead of waiting patiently for man to get him out of trouble, he struggled violently though vainly bidding fair to break our shovels and his own legs. Buck leaped forward, sat on his head until he accepted the inevitable and lay quiescent. Not only had the saddle shifted until the burro lay on his back, but Buck's scientific arrangement had been knocked all askew. There was nothing for it but to loosen the cinches, slip him out of the saddle, and pack again.

"If I hold this line up there'll be shooting!" remarked Buck under his breath. "Got to pack this stuff to a level spot somewheres." And hard on this the freighter behind us, driving six mules with a jerk-line, called:

"Well, git out of the road! Git a move on!"

Buck rose to his full impressive height.

"If you want us out of the way," he said, "ye kin drop that pretty jumpin' rope of yours and help!"

The buckboard went on, revealed a hundred yards ahead a cleft on the hillside down which, when the snows began really to melt, a stream would tumble across the road. There we assembled our jacks and our horses. As we returned to the scene of the jam I met the freighter and his assistant toiling up with part of our paraphernalia. When Buck had loaded himself to capacity there were left only the pack saddle, a shovel and an ax. Possessing myself of these, I staggered stride by stride behind Buck for at least ten yards. Although I was young and full of foolish pride in my own strength I could keep up with him no longer than that. I straggled into the creek bed far behind, dumped my load and dropped myself across it in the last stages of exhaustion. However, even the mountain-inured Buck, I noticed with satisfaction, was fain to squat on his heels and rest himself for a minute. Then he sprang up, prodded the recreant burro into position with the sole of his boot, began to saddle.

Now a white ridge rose just above and beyond us. Beyond lay not indeed the summit, but a round, wide and gentle slope which stretched a glittering white expanse to the sky line. We had passed the sources of the stream above which we had been toiling all that day. Buck mounted, and I, with more relief than I can tell, followed his example. He did not need to inform me that this was the final dash to the pass, for which he had been harboring the strength of our horses. With menacing cracks of his blacksnake whip Buck kept our burros climbing at a fast walk. And now we passed a low ridge and I saw that the line of the horizon no more made a sharp cleft between dazzling white and deep blue. It was slashed with the black silhouettes of men, horses, wagons. The men, I perceived at a second glance, all stood with their backs toward us.

"Thar she be, I guess," remarked Buck. He himself had a catch in his breath. In those days none had measured this quarter of the Rockies, but I knew now that we were much more than eleven thousand feet above sea level.

"Kin leave the jacks for a minute," Buck went on. At a cautious trot, which set the sides of my own horse to pumping against my legs like a bellows, we advanced to the group on the horizon line. It remained the horizon line; no further heights showed beyond. We pulled up beside a freight wagon, and—

The view burst all at once, without preliminary glimpses. I had come out at the top of a cliff, which fell away for a hundred yards below my feet. Across lay the white mother of ranges. It seemed an immeasurable distance away; yet it seemed also to fill a third of the heavens. Far to the right the range which we were now traversing curved to meet the divide beyond. In that quarter the whiteness was broken by the composite tints of cliffs and rocky walls too steep for the clinging snow; and over their bases trailed a smoke cloud.

"Thet's it!"—A voice by my side brought my soaring thoughts back to earth. A freighter, his legs bound like puttees with gunny sacking against the cold and snow, was pointing; and the less experienced argonauts grouped about him were straining their eyes. I followed the direction of his finger. That cloud, a day's journey away, rose from the fires of the camp, the El Dorado in which some of us were to find fortune and some to leave our bones. All along the edge of the cliff men and women stood talking in excited exclamations, broken suddenly with a catch of the breath. Buck, having taken one long look, rode back to round up the pack. I shirked and stayed, fascinated.

You'll hear a great deal more about the grim details of life in a mining camp after you've read the next installment.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Earth's Music Wasted on Prehistoric Man?

Prehistoric man, who slew the megatherium, didn't call it that. More like, he designated it as the "Oont," or something brief and resounding. One syllable was good enough for him. He undoubtedly knew no other than one-syllable speech.

Notwithstanding his own meager contributions to the music on earth, primitive man must have heard and weighed some. The birds sang in the bowers as sweetly as they do now. What impression did that nightingale make on his small and fuzzy ear? Did the melodious notes touch his rudimentary soul, or did he merely want to eat the nightingale?

The more often we speculate on the first men, the greater sympathy we feel for them. We should be greatly interested in one of them if he were in existence now. As it is, we have to be content with studying some backward races still here.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

More Than He Bargained For

Paul Montgomery went to a dance in a country town up in Iowa one night. He met a girl there who was rather easy to look at and after dancing with her several times asked if he could "see her home." She said yes. When it came time to go Paul learned she lived five miles out in the country and had ridden a bicycle to the dance. He had to walk to her home and lead the bicycle.—Capper's Weekly.

Life in Drop of Water

Although a drop of water no larger than a buckshot may appear crystal-clear to the unaided eye, it will resemble a small aquarium if it is greatly magnified. Study of a drop from one of the ponds of the New York zoological gardens showed that it was teeming with as many as one hundred forms of life. It was spread upon a glass slide and examined with a high-power microscope. One of the organisms observed was a curious animal with an oddly formed triangular body with two spinning "pinwheels" as means of locomotion. It appeared to have the sense of sight, for it avoided colliding with other objects and would reach out with its body to grasp convenient surfaces to help its progress. —Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Much Light From Moon

Light from the moon equals 100 times the light from all the stars together.

EAGER SHOPPERS THRONG STORES

Salesgirls Dread Bargain Days

Louisa was tired. From morning until night she had been on her feet in the busy department store. No matter how she felt, she must serve her customers with a smile. Her head throbbed and her feet ached. Week after week, she felt her strength ebbing until she was in a run-down condition, not fit to work.

"My mother suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound," she writes. "I took only three bottles and it brought me about all right." Through the Vegetable Compound, she found better health to do her work and she told the other girls about it.

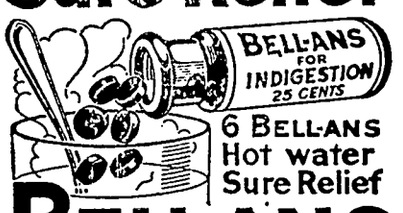
That was several years ago. Louisa is now Mrs. L. G. Van Dyke of 1246 Spring St., Morrell Park, Baltimore, Md. She is the mother of three healthy, active children. She says that she found the tonic effect of the Vegetable Compound helpful to her during this critical period.

Every working girl knows that to do her work properly and easily she must have good health. She can not afford to lose time from her work.

Girls who suffer from weakness and run down condition should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Ask your neighbor.

Sure Relief



6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

25¢ and 75¢ Pkgs. Sold Everywhere

CORNS

In one minute the pain is Gone!

Gets at the cause of corns

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads work like magic, because they remove the cause—pressing or rubbing of shoes. The pain goes instantly. Amateur paring or burning with "drops" (acid) is dangerous—and doesn't stop the cause. Zino-pads are safe, sure, antiseptic, healing. They protect while they heal. Get a box at your druggist's or shoe dealer's—35c.

For Free Sample write The Scholl Mfg. Co., Chicago

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads

Put one on—the pain is gone

ITCHING RASHES

quickly relieved and often cleared away by a few applications of

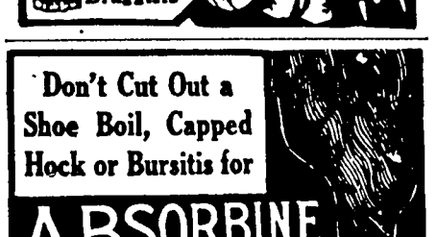
Resinol

Keep Stomach and Bowels Right

By giving baby the harmless, purely vegetable, infants' and children's regulator.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

brings astonishing, gratifying results in making baby's stomach digest food and bowels move as they should at teething time. Guaranteed free from narcotics, opiates, alcohol and all harmful ingredients. Safe and satisfactory.



At All Druggists

Don't Cut Out a Shoe Boil, Capped Hock or Bursitis for will reduce them and leave no blemishes. Stops lameness promptly. Does not blister or remove the hair, and horse can be worked. $2.50 a bottle delivered. Book 6 A free.

ABSORBINE

W. F. Young, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

Kill All Flies! THEY SPREAD DISEASE

Placed anywhere, DAISY FLY KILLER attracts and kills all flies. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient and cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed. Insist upon DAISY FLY KILLER from your dealer.

HAROLD SOMERS Brooklyn, N. Y.

SUNDAY WILL BE A BIG DAY AT BAYSIDE PARK

The Webster City Band and four free attraction acts will entertain visitors afternoon and night at Bayside Amusement Park, Clear Lake, next Sunday, June 27th. The Webster City band contains thirty-five pieces and will play concerts generally pleasing. A large crowd of Webster City people is expected at Bayside next Sunday to support the band. The Raymonds, acrobats, gymnasts and ventriloquist, will present two acts afternoon and night. This company is said to be highly entertaining. Two arerial acts will be offered by the Mitchells. They have new acts this season which are daring and enjoyable, according to reports. This is a large free attraction program and will no doubt please all.

The BULL'S EYE

Editor and General Manager
WILL ROGERS

Another "Bull" Durham advertisement by Will Rogers, Ziegfeld Follies and screen star, and leading American humorist. More coming. Watch for them.

Meeting the "Bull" Durham Smoker Face to Face

I am just making, as the Politician says, "A swing around the Circle," to see what was going on in "Real America." I had been in New York so long, I was getting a kind of a Subway "Slant" on things. I was becoming as narrow as a Metropolitan Newspaper Editorial Writer. My eyesight was getting so poor I couldn't see beyond the Hudson River, and my mind wouldn't function farther away than Albany, N. Y.

I knew that New York was "amusing the world," but I wanted to meet the fellow who was "feeding it." I am kinder oddly constituted. You can cut off my amusement, but if my food stops you are going to have an argument on your hands.

I, as Editor and Proprietor of the Bull's Eye, wanted to meet not only the readers, but the consumers of THIS Wonderful Product of OURS. (The American Tobacco Company and me.) Well, I wish you could see the type of Men they were, Big fine healthy upstanding He-Men. They were not the little Anemics that has to tap his Cigarette on the box before he can smoke it. They were our Producers of our Necessities of Life. When I saw the type of He-Men smoking "Bull" Durham, it almost made me cry, that I wasn't a smoker myself.

Will Rogers

P.S. There will be another piece here a few weeks from now. Look for it.

"BULL" DURHAM
Guaranteed by
The American Tobacco Co.
INCORPORATED
111 Fifth Avenue, New York City

Goodell News

(By Special Correspondent)

Mrs. Ellsworth is enjoying a visit from her son of Minnesota.

Dorothy Lackore visited at the Chase home in Garner Friday.

Mrs E. J. Schneider returned from Chicago Thursday.

Chas. Halfpop and Clifford Chase shelled corn Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Griggs and children were Ventura callers Friday.

Mrs. Clark of Garner was a Goodell caller Monday.

Mrs. L. W. Wesenberg and children, Wayne, Nada and Eunice were Mason City shoppers Friday.

Mrs. Ivan Baker and two children went to Belmond Saturday to visit her parents.

Mrs. Chase and Nettie and Iola of Garner were Goodell callers Saturday.

The Gus Okrug family returned from a short visit with relatives in Minnesota, Sunday.

Mr and Mrs. W. L. Thada and Jeanne left Thursday for a two weeks camping trip near Cedar Rapids.

Viola Quigley spent Friday and Saturday at the Frank Quigley, Sr. home.

Mrs. Kensitt and two grandchildren of Belmond were Goodell callers Thursday.

Mrs. Christie is improving slowly. She returned from the Mason City hospital Tuesday.

Miss Stilson, of Corwith, who visited at the Gee home returnd to Corwith Sunday.

A dance was enjoyed by many in Goodell Saturday. There will be one on June 26th.

Mr. and Mrs. Casey Blank, of Hayfield visited at the Miller home Saturday and Sunday.

Florence Trumbell of Mason City is visiting at the Harry Trumbell home.

Eddie Boller returned to Chicago Friday after, spending two weeks vacation here. Gertrude Cashman returned to Chicago with him to visit her brother and sister. She will remain there the rest of the summer.

Miss Louise Mason returned from Bagley, Wisconsin Saturday night, where she has been visiting for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Allie and family and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quigley, Jr. and Ruth, were fishing at Lake Cornelia Friday night.

Miss Ruth Johnson, a cousin of Miss Mildred Johnson of Klemme, who teaches music in Goodell, visited the Music Class Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Christie and children went to Waterloo Saturday to visit Mrs. Christie's parents. They returned home Monday.

Raphael Kernon of Belmond, and and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Newberger, of Klemme, called at the Jay Griggs home Sunday.

Mrs. T. O. Letch of Minnesota, who has been visiting her daughter, Faye, in Belmond, called at Goodell Monday.

Mrs. Usher returned home Sunday after spending a few days with the Klemme Camp Fire Girls at Clear Lake.

Fernon Griggs and Mart Kearney drove to Williams Friday night to meet Mae Griggs, who came home from Cedar Falls to spend Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gosnell and children of Fort Dodge visited at the Lamer home Sunday. Mary Frances is going to stay for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Wesenberg and Eunice and Nada drove to Moville Sunday and returned Tuesday after spending a couple of days with Mrs. Wesenberg's father, Mr. Emerson.

Olive Butts returned from Minneapolis where she has been attending Commercial School. She graduated from a four year course. Mrs. Butts and son, "Billy" drove to Minneapolis to attend commencement and Olive returned with them. She will teach school in Hill City, Minnesota the coming year.

TO BUILD BARN AT THE COUNTY HOME

At the primary election on Monday, June 7th, the vote on the question to empower the Board to construct a new barn at the county farm carried by a vote of 1689 for and 1488 against the proposition. a majority of 201 in favor of it.

The board of supervisors completed the canvass of votes the fore part of last week and found that there were 4249 votes cast in the primary election.

HANCOCK COUNTY REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

A Record Of Changes In Real Estate The Past Week

Carl Grell wf. to Herman and Caroline Jass. W. D., date 6-5-26, $1, lots 7-8, block 15 Tallman's add to Garner.

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff, to Charles Rankin. Sheriff's Deed date 6-11-26, $15,910.43, S½ 13-94-25.

Robt. J. Lee wf. to Harry W. Benson. W. D. date 6-10-26, $1.00, SW fr¼ 18-95-26, S½ SE¼ & N½ S½ of D. D. in 13-95-27.

W. L. Mitchell, Trustee to L. A. Andrew, Receiver. Q. C. D., date 1-21-26 N½ NE¼ & N½ NE¼ 34-97-23.

First National Bank, Garner, to L. A. Andrew, Receiver. Q. C. D., date 6-1-26, $1.00, N½ NE¼ & SW¼ NE¼ 34-97-23.

Bean Peddlers Trim Farm Plugs In Fast Game Of Swat

The Klemme Bean Peddlers invaded the peaceful quietness of the Farm Plugs cow pasture Sunday and trimmd them to the tune of 14 to 7. Turgeson hurled the horsehide pill for the Bean Boys and Harvey grabbed them back of the willow stick. Ben Greimann, famous horse shoe pitcher, pitched the sphere for the Plugs and Hans Willer and "Oofie" Lau took turns dusting off homo platter.

This evens things up between the Farm Plugs and the Bean Peddlers, it's a fifty-fifty proposition now. Somebody will lose their socks in the next game.

DAD KERAUSE WINS THE PARING KNIFE THIS YEA

The Times Office force has been faring like kings the past few days. Dad Keraus brought us a fine mess of strawberries that were as big as strawhats (almost) and then along comes Clarence Elder with another bunch equally as big. We must have an awful good "stand in" with Dad Keraus because yesterday he brought us a dozen new potatoes each about the size of a duck egg, and we will tell the world that C. Keraus should be given credit for having the first new potatoes in the neck of the woods big enough to eat. And, if anybody else wants to cop second place, just bring in your early spuds to Ye Editor. But we won't return the spuds, not much.

PIANOS

Players & Grand
New and
Second Hand

M. N. ZEIGER

Jewelry & Optical Goods
GARNER, IOWA

Preserves and Jellies-

They're Sure Good Too!

Here's something new and mighty fine for lunches and every meal. We have just received a fine line of Preserves and Jellies as follows:

STRAWBERRY PRESERVES
RASBERRY PRESERVES
LOGANBERRY PRESERVES
PEACH PRESERVES
APRICOT PRESERVES
BLACKBERRY PRESERVES.

AND then we have a full line of extra fine Jelly in the following flavors:—
CURRANT GRAPE STRAWBERRY
RASPBERRY and APPLE
——IT'S ALL DELICIOUS and FRESH——

For Nice Cool Lunches

Don't forget we carry a full line of COLD MEATS for Hot Days when a nice lunch for supper is just the thing.

Everything for picnics—Pickles, Olives, Preserves, Jellies, Mustard, Pork & Beans, Salmon, Cold Meats, Weiners, Cheese of all kinds.

Full line of Fresh and Smoked Meats at all times. Try a nice roast for your Sunday Dinner or when company comes!

Klemme Meat Market

Dress Up For The Fourth

No matter where you celebrate you should look and feel your best. Dress up for the Fourth and make your selections from our fine stock.

MEN AND BOYS WEAR

Straw Hats — Dress Shirts — Cool Caps
Latest Oxfords — Silk Hose — New Ties
New Belts — Soft Collars — Underwear

FOR LADIES AND GIRLS

New Dress Goods — Slippers, Oxfords
Silk Hosiery — Silk Underwear
Everything for the Ladies Here

GROCERIES

Always a fresh line of Gorceries and Fruits for Special Occasions. Plan your picnic lunch from our Grocery Department.

EXTRA SPECIAL
TWO LOTS OF LADIES AND GIRLS OXFORDS and SLIPPERS, broken lots, all new stock, a real bargain at $2.49 $2.95
Trade Here

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Ford

New Low Prices!

EFFECTIVE June 19, 1926

Come in and ask us for the NEW Low Price on the style you want

GARNER AUTO CO.

KLEMME - - - - - IOWA

NCOCK ONCE HAD LOTS OF WILD MUSTARD

ivation and Crop Rotation Helped Rid The Weed

he farms of north central Iowa rently have less mustard in the fields than formerly, according study recently made by L. H. nell, botanist of the Iowa Agriural Experiment station. The reion of this weed is due to better ivation and crop rotation, Mr. mel believes.

he detailed survey by counties ws that mustard was found in each to the following extent: Out of each 100 fields in Story and Hardin Counties, only 33 contained mustard; 39 percent of the fields of Hancock and Winnebago Counties had mustard; 25 percent in Kossuth and Humboldt were infested; 28 percent of the fields in Webster and Boone had mustard; 40 percent were without mustard in Pocahontas, 28 in Palo Alto and 48 in Webster County.

Where oats followed corn, mustard was not so common, indicating that cultivation was effective in reducing the weed.

BAYSIDE
---AMUSEMENT PARK---
Clear Lake, Iowa

NEXT SUNDAY, JUNE 27th

—FREE ATTRACTIONS AFTERNOON AND NIGHT—

WEBSTER CITY BAND OF 35 PIECES—
A Band Worth Going Miles To See and Hear.

THE RAYMONDS—TWO BIG ACTS—
Famous Acrobats, Gymnasts and Ventriloquist.

THE MITCHELLS IN 2 AERIAL ACTS—
Daring New Stunts Above The Stage.

AT BAYSIDE—Best Bathing Beach on Lake, Bath House, Toboggan Slide, Roller Coaster, Swinging Aeroplane, Merry Go Round, Little Train, Princess Gandhi, Roller Skating, Picnic Grounds and Tables, Children's Playgrounds.

FUN FOR ALL—— ——ALL FOR FUN

—Policed Parking Grounds for Cars 15c—

Coming! Carload of-

TWINE

We have a carload of McCormick-Deering Twine coming. Put in your orders at once if you want Twine this year as over half of this carload has already been sold on orders to date. Call us up or see us at once!

Tankage-Oil Meal-

Have another carload of Tankage and Oil Meal coming. Get in your orders now. We bought this beforet he raise and we can save you $5.00 a ton if you put in your order and take it off the car.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

From One Pocket To The Other-

When you take your money out of one pocket and put it in the other, you still have the money. Have you ever thought, Mr. Farmer, that you do just this when you sell your cream to The Klemme Co-Operative Creamery? You sell your cream to yourself, pay yourself with your own money—and still have the money!

The Klemme Co-Operative Creamery is Farmer-Owned. Farmers sell it cream. Farmers manage it. Farmers control it. The pofits go back to Farmers. Do you know any reason why the farmer should not support his own business?

Call the Klemme Creamery and have one of our trucks stop for your cream—you are near one of our ten routes. No bother to you, and your cream hauled cheaper than you can do it yourself.

And remember, cash on the spot if you wish.

IT PAYS TO PATRONIZE THE

Klemme Co-Op. Creamery Co.

CARL SUCKOW PURCHASED THE CARL BEIER OIL TRUCK

Former Proprietor Again On The Job In Klemmo

Carl Suckow, of Garner, was in Klemme Monday and closed a deal with Carl Beier for the Skelly Oil Truck in this community.

Carl Suckow was formerly the owner of the business here and sold out a couple of years ago to Lester Stille, who later sold to Beier.

Mr. Suckow is the manager of the business at Garner where he has the looking after of business in this territory, from Klemme to Forest City. Carl has a fine business established at Garner. He will look after the business here personally as he has truck men for other points out of Garner. Carl has an ad in this issue which you should read.

BAND CONCERT PROGRAM FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

Joy Riders	March
Waves of the Danube	Waltz
The Conqueror	Overture
Call of Love	Waltzes
The Iron Count	Overture
Darling Nellie Gray	Old Favorite
Fultonaire	March
Intermission
American Leader	March
Sincerity	Overture
Where is my Sweetie Hiding?	Pop.
Selected March

BRITT FARMER USES OLD PLOW BOUGHT IN CIVIL WAR DAYS

Believed to be Oldest Iowa Made Implement in Use in County

Tom Murray of Britt, is using a double shovel cultivator that was made in Decorah, Iowa, and was purchased by him in 1865. That looks like an old machine but when hitched to Tom's twenty-one year old Hamiltonian mare, fat as a seal and quick of foot, and guided by Tom—himself a boy of 74 years—it makes a good working force and does a good job of cultivation Tom says he would like to shake hands with a man in this neighborhood who can beat this combination for age and usefullness.

This is believed to be the oldest Iowa made farm implement that has seen continuous use since the Civil War, and is probably as old as any farm implement being used in the county.—Britt News-Tribune.

IT MIGHT BE SO

A versatile real estate salesman of West Texas had just finished describing the glorious opportunities of that part of the country to a prospect in the East. "All West Texas needs," he said, "to become the garden spot of the world is good people and water."

"Huh!" replied the prospect. "That's all Hell needs."

NOT NEW

Professor: Can you give me an example of a commercial appliance used in ancient times?

Student: Yes sir; the loose-leaf system used in the Garden of Eden.

Cooking vegetables under pressure gives best results in home canning.

The Handy Cabinet matched
Letterheads Envelopes

250 letterheads and envelopes in a convenient, economical package.

Suitable for either business or personal stationery.

of course it's

HAMMERMILL BOND

Order a cabinet from us

MRS. CHRIS MAYNE PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY MORNING

Funeral Services This Afternoon At Methodist Church

Mrs. Chris Mayne passed away at her home in Klemme yesterday morning at 2:00 o'clock, following a long illness.

The funeral services are today, (Thursday) at two o'clock at the Methodist Church and interment will be made in the Klemme comtery.

The obituary will be published in the Times next week.

Andrew and Ethel Wellemeyer drove to Cedar Falls Sunday for a visit with the Misses Elvira Stille and Bernice Tanner, who are attending summer school there. Miss Eunice Braund accompanied Andrew and Ethel as far as Jessup, where she spent the day visiting.

There are lots of boys and some girls in town with new bicycles and they have a big time riding around. However, they should be very careful not to ride in front of cars. Only last week a boy was killed and another injured at Algona when they were struck by a truck. Drivers of cars too, should use precaution in driving through the streets. Some drivers go altogether too fast thru town. Watch your step!

Mr and Mrs. Clarence Larsen and daughter, La Vonne, drove to Garden City, Minnesota last Friday. Mr. Larsen returned the same day and was accompanied back to Klemme by Clarice, Ruth and Nora Wellemeyer who had been visiting there. Mrs. Albert Yahnke also came to Klemme with him for a visit. Sunday Mr. Larsen, accompanied by Mrs. Yahnke returned to Minnesota and Mrs. Larsen and La Vonne came back to Klemme.

Mrs. Frank Kluckhohn, accompanied by Mrs. Chris Gram, Mrs. Paul Stille and Mrs. C. F. Kreaus, drove to Mason City Saturday. On the way home the ladies noticed a flat tire on the car just out of Mason City. Mrs. Stille proved to be the heroine of the situation as she knew all about tires and changed it in a jiffy. The other ladies stood about shaking hands with themselves that one of the party was a mechanic.

Clarence Elder got himself all bunged up Saturday afternoon. He brought a big pig to town in a lumber wagon and was about to unload it at the stock yards. Mr. Pig was kind of grouchy and instead of going out the back of the wagon box as good piggies should he tried to climb out the front end. This unusual performance scared the team and they gave a quick plunge, upsetting the wagon, pig and Clarence. The latter was considerably bruised up and had to have medical attention. Doc spent a long hour picking cinders out of Clarence's arms and legs and patching up places where the hide was missing. The pig was uninjured, the wagon was wrecked and the horses stopped after making the hundred yard dash in 10 seconds flat. Clarence was confined to the house a couple of days and Tuesday was feeling quite well, but at this writing he is not so well and is again confined to the house. We hope for his speedy recovery.

Worth County Gets Now Agent

Wm. F. Watkins has been hired as county agent in Worth County and will begin his duties there June 23. He will take the place of E. E. Isaac, who is going into extension work in Montana. Mr. Watkins has always lived on an Iowa farm. He is a graduate of Iowa State College and was active in college debating and judging work.

THE REAL TEST OF A STORE

Comes months after you buy—it is measured by the amount of satisfaction derived from your purchases—that's what counts.

We have stood this test for 34 years. You can bank on our goods and our prices. Satisfaction is assured as there are no doubtful grades.

Mason City's largest and oldest clothing store wants to serve you. Extensive stocks of shirts, ties, underwear and hosiery.

Summer Suits

$30 $35 $45

Newest Styles and Patterns

Patton Brothers Co.

MASON CITY, IOWA

Hay Making Equipment

Wouldn't it be a good idea for you to get everything in shape now so that when hay days come you will be ready? Our advice and help in selection of carriers, ropes, pulleys, slings, and other equipment to work with is worth money to you. Why not use it? You are always welcome to come in and look around at this "Farm Service" Hardware Store.

Our stock of Hay Tools, Oil & Grease, Washing Machines, Ranges, Oil Stoves is complete. We specialize in quality hardware at Low Prices. See us first.

E. F. Jacobs

"THE FARM SERVICE STORE"

40% Increase Of Income

——AN ACTUAL CASE——

IOWA TOWN PROPERTY Value $2,000.		CENTRAL STATES ELECTRIC CO., 7% Preferred Stock Value $2,000.
Rent $15 per month.
Annual Income	$180.	Dividends Each Three Months	$35
Less Expenses		Annual Income	$140
Of Taxes	$47	On Which there are:
Insurance	$ 8	NO TAXES
Upkeep	$25	NO INSURANCE
Total Expense	$80	NO UPKEEP
Deducted from total Rental	$100	Net Income	Leaving Net Income $140 per Year.

CENTRAL STATES Preferred Investment
Annual Income ..... $140 Net

TOWN PROPERTY
Annual Income ..... $100 Net

Difference ..... $ 40

Equal to $20 per $1,000 increase in Income and in addition, No Bother, Worry or Loss If you like we will send you the particulars.

SECURITIES DEPARTMENT

CENTRAL STATES ELECTRIC COMPANY

215 South Second Street

CEDAR RAPIDS IOWA

Community Building

House Design Should Guard Against Fire

When one reads the reports which indicate the tremendous losses sustained by people in the United States on account of conflagrations, it is readily agreed that fire-stopping cannot safely or wisely be ignored by the home builder. The safety of the family and the preservation of the structural integrity of the home in large measure depend upon it.

The remedies for those fire hazards which are created by carelessness have been discussed in many books and newspaper and magazine articles. Yet in spite of these warnings fires continue to occur.

Though personal carelessness is the most common cause of fire, hazards of construction are an important factor in determining the extent of resulting property damage. One of the chief considerations in connection with these hazards is involved in fire stopping.

The usual methods employed in building small houses give but slight consideration to construction which will retard the progress of fire. Most such houses contain many concealed spaces which will allow fire to gain headway without discovery, to eat its way from floor to floor, and then suddenly to leap into open flame. There now exists a very real need for easily understood drawings of fire-stopping details which when employed in actual construction will confine fire to its place of origin, and thus reduce to a minimum the excessive preventable annual fire loss in this country.

Well-Marked Streets of Prime Importance

Progressive citizens of Boston have decided that "a signless city is an abomination to its citizens and particularly to its visitors." After a campaign their signs are to be placed on every corner. These signs are to be visible, conspicuous, uniform and durable.

Champaign is fast becoming a signless city. Many street signs are missing and others are too old and obscure to be of value. Many important intersections are not marked.

Another touring season approaches. Strangers will be as bewildered as ever unless some arrangement is made to guide them about the city by means of well-marked streets. Important entries to the city, the business section, main routes and streets should at least be marked and provision made to place signs on minor streets later.

Champaign is too progressive a community to remain a signless city much longer.—Champaign News Gazette.

Boy Scouts as Firemen

Boy scout firemen are real assets to a city. Their duty is to stop the fire before it happens—safety first. These organized units receive their instruction from some veterans in the municipal fire department. They make regular inspections for fire hazards in their districts. Are fire escapes clear, dark hallways unencumbered by rubbish and gasoline, kerosene and other inflammables stored in safe places? They learn different types of fire-fighting apparatus and how to administer first aid. In the event of fire they help the police preserve the fire lines, act as messengers and otherwise render efficient service. Nearly 10,000 scouts won a special merit badge in firemanship last year.—Harry B. Brainerd in the American City.

Preserving Shingles

Red cedar shingles will not require frequent repainting or restaining, as is the case with walls built of many other materials. This is especially so when good stain is used.

Red cedar shingle roofs should be properly treated with a reliable creosote stain. Avoid stain mixed with kerosene or benzine. Shingle sidewalls may be stained in a wide range of shades. Certain silver grays are popular to produce quickly a "weathered" effect. Soft nonglare white, light gold, moss green, golden brown, deep brown, reddish brown, walnut tones—all these and more are to be had in finest quality. The red cedar shingle responds to any of them and retains them faithfully. It does not rot, rust or corrode.

Consider Before Planting

In regard to the placing of trees and, with respect to larger property, the design and construction of their grounds (road building, grading, disposition of lawn areas, gardens, whether formal or informal, and all other features of beauty and service) able counsel should be obtained. It is desirous that trees and shrubs, when transplanted to beautify grounds, should be well placed, both scientifically and artistically, in order that they may form a permanent and beautiful planting.

Advertisement Pays

Modesty is an admirable human quality, too little cultivated to drug the market. As a municipal characteristic, however, it is as much out of place as a prairie schooner on a speedway. It fails to register in a go-get-'em age. Unless a community advertises its merits the world thinks it has none.

MILLINERY FOR MIDSEASON; SIMPLE AND DAINTY FROCKS

HERE is a group of five midseason hats, in trimmed and tailored types, that summarize important and encouraging features of the mode. They are straws that show which way the millinery wind is blowing—and they point in the direction of handcraft in the making and trimming of hats. The more artistry and handcraft we have, the more interesting and worthwhile our headwear becomes. In midsummer much restraint is evident in trimmings—but craftsmanship makes up for this; whatever is used proclaims the hand of an artist.

Some Midseason Hats.

A summer without leghorn hats would be like home without a mother, so the group leads off with a wide brimmed leghorn shape, trimmed with flower petals, made of silk, and some millinery foliage. Each petal is made by hand and the fancy of the trimmer is free to play with color and arrangement as it will. The brim is bordered with lace with a drooping frill at the edge.

A dignified and elegant tailored hat at the right is made of straw cloth and satin, in black. It sponsors the wider brimmed tailored styles with upturn at the back. Folds of straw cloth and satin are interwoven on the side crown. This is a fine and spirited hat for matrons. A pretty straw shape, faced with crepe, occupies the center of the group and deserves the place of honor because of its artistic drapery and trimming of wide, soft ribbon. It looks very simple—but no amateur could make it.

Milan straw and silk give a good account of themselves in the smart, square-crowned shape at the lower left of the picture, with clusters of flowers posed on the brim at the back. This is another of those simple-seeming affairs that reveal an artist's hand. But the picture is finished with a fascinating, plain hat of milan straw, with a double collar in silk and velvet ribbon. It is a swagger model, a bit rakish as to shape, and altogether captivating for wear with trim tailored suits and for traveling.

Little Miss Somebody, whether dressed for play or a party, is apt to be clad in a simple frock of a pretty color. For play it will be made of a sturdy material, have white collars and cuffs and only the simplest of needlework, by way of adornment.

Fine chambray is as popular as any fabric for all sorts of play frocks and comes in many colors, with green, blue, lavender and peach heading the list, followed by apricot, rose, orchid and light yellow. English broadcloth is a satisfactory medium for everyday dresses and gingham is never left out. Up to six years old, short, simple frocks are made with panties to match in all the different materials.

For less strenuous wear, fine cotton voile or dotted swiss prove themselves equal to withstanding a lot of wear. Smocking is popular on these sheer materials, which are made up in flower-like colors with organdie pockets, collars and cuffs in white, finished with buttonhole stitching and showing, occasionally, small sprays of flowers embroidered on the collar and cuffs in color. No matter how sheer the material, panties to match may be made of it and this season's frocks have short puffed sleeves and, in many cases, short yokes. Fine, colored voile, in many flower-like colors, as pink, blue, orchid, maize and salmon, is a great favorite and is particularly well adapted to smocking. It is used for party frocks and other affairs requiring little tots to be a bit dressed up.

Pretty Frock for Little Girl.

Georgette, crepe de chine and organdie are all used for party frocks. Any of them might be made up like the little frock shown here, which is a straight, rather full dress with ruffles of the material in three rows at the hem line. Each ruffle is headed by three rows of narrow satin ribbon. The same finish is used for neck and sleeves. Wider satin ribbons, with little sprays of flowers painted at the ends, fall from the shoulders.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Mid the rich steres of nature's gifts to man
Each has his loves, close wedded to his soul
By association's golden links.
—Eliot.

EVERYDAY GOOD THINGS

There is nothing that takes the place of a good salad for a luncheon, dinner or supper dish.

Garden Delight.—Take one each of fresh, green and red pepper, chop fine and mix with one cupful of cottage cheese which has been well seasoned and enriched with butter or cream. Line salad plates with lettuce, and lay on each one-half of a banana cut lengthwise, add salad dressing to the cheese and cover each with the cheese dressing.

Halibut Souffle.—Take one cupful of halibut flaked, one cupful of thick white sauce, one egg beaten stiff, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one teaspoonful of worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper to taste, one cupful of bread crumbs and two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese. Mix the flaked fish with the white sauce, add the lemon juice, and worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper, then fold in the egg white beaten stiff. Butter a glass baking dish; fill three-quarters full, leaving room for the crumbs and cheese on top. Mix the crumbs with melted butter and the grated cheese. Sprinkle over the souffle, bake in a hot oven fifteen minutes. Serve with a spicy tomato sauce if liked.

Prune Cake.—Take one cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of cooked prunes, finely chopped; one-half cupful of prune juice, one teaspoonful of soda, two cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of cloves, one teaspoonful of nutmeg. Mix in the order given, sifting flour and dry ingredients together. Bake in two layers about thirty minutes. Ice with one cupful of powdered sugar, three tablespoonfuls of butter and enough cream to make of the consistency to spread. The butter should be well creamed with the sugar before the cream is added.

Ox Tongues and Spinach.—The canned tongue and canned spinach may be used for a hurry-up meal. Heat the tongue and place on a platter neatly sliced. Surround with a border of seasoned spinach chopped, garnished with sliced hard-cooked eggs.

Baked Ham.—For each thick slice of ham take one cupful of milk or enough to cover. Cover and bake in a slow oven for an hour or more.

Dishes From Grains.

The coarser foods are quite necessary in our diet and should be freely used at all times of the year.

Scotch Oat Crackers.—Put two cupfuls of rolled oats through the meat grinder, add one-fourth of a cupful each of milk and molasses, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of fat, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth of a cupful of raisins or nuts cut into bits. Mix well, roll very thin and cut into fancy shapes. Bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Oatmeal Soup.—Take one-half can of tomatoes, one-third of a cupful of oatmeal, two cupfuls of water, one tablespoonful of sugar, one-half of a small onion, pepper and salt to taste, a bit of bayleaf and two tablespoonfuls of peanut butter. Cook one hour, rub through a sieve, add seasoning if needed and serve hot.

Hominy Gems.—Pour one cupful of scalded milk over half a cupful of corn meal, add one-fourth of a cupful of hominy, a tablespoonful of sugar and the same of shortening; mix well, cool, add a yolk beaten thick and a white beaten stiff. Sift in one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a little salt; beat well and bake in hot well-greased gem pans.

Corn Meal Gems.—Take one-half cupful of corn meal, add one cupful of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one tablespoonful of sugar, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one-half teaspoonful of salt, three-fourths of a cupful of milk and one egg. Boil the milk, scald the corn meal, cool and add the remaining ingredients. Bake in well-greased muffin tins.

Hominy and Pecan Croquettes.—Boil one-half cupful of hominy with a teaspoonful of salt in two cupfuls of water five minutes, then put into a double boiler and cook two hours. Add two tablespoonfuls of shortening, one-half cupful of chopped pecans and a teaspoonful of scraped onion. Cool and shape into cylinders. Beat one egg lightly, add two tablespoonfuls of water, roll the croquettes in crumbs, then egg, then in crumbs again and fry in deep fat. This makes one dozen croquettes.

Rich Drop Cookies.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one-half cupful of sugar, one egg well beaten, three-fourths cupful of flour, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla, raisins, nuts or citron. Drop by teaspoonful on butter sheet, spread thinly with a knife dipped in water; decorate with fruit and nuts.

Nellie Maxwell

The Early Bird

Monarch Coffee and Monarch Cocoa are so regarded. They have been catching popular favor and winning and holding friends since 1853. High quality and low cost make them universal favorites.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
Never Sold Through Chain Stores.
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago · Boston · Pittsburgh · New York

Where Bad Eggs Go

Eggs that are worthless so far as food value goes are not wasted by the large dealers, but are covered with kerosene after being broken, treated with boric acid and sold to tanneries for use in one of the first processes of making leather. The shells are removed by sieves and the egg mixture is placed in a revolving drum with the raw hides to make them pliant.

Virtue is its own reward. Vice gets twice as much publicity.

Fashion and Elephants

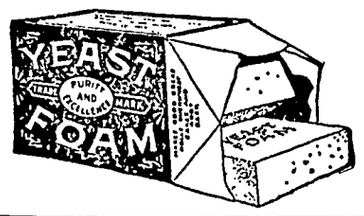
The fashionable woman's passion for rings and bracelets made from elephant's hair set in precious metal is being followed up by a craze for all sorts of "elephant novelties." It is the desire of every woman to have elephants carved from ivory round about her, either one or a regiment of elephants.

Trinidad has been sending nearly 1,000 bunches of bananas to this country each month this year.

Millions prefer Yeast Foam

Begin today to learn the most useful of home arts—bread-making.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"



Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Plan More State Parks

Representatives of the 43 states that now have state parks, forests, or similar natural areas open to their people for educational and recreational purposes met at Hot Springs, Ark., for their sixth national conference, June 14 to 16. John Barton Payne, chairman of the conference, says that since the movement was organized on a national basis at Des Moines, Iowa, in 1921, the number of states having parks has doubled, and the number of preserves in such systems has shown even greater growth, so that the area now included is nearly 7,000,000 acres. The goal of the movement is "a state park every 100 miles."

Remembrances embellish life.

The National Anthem

Jud Tunkins says "Home, Sweet Home" has become the realtor's idea of a national anthem.—Washington Star.

Watch Cuticura Improve Your Skin On rising and retiring gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. It is wonderful what Cuticura will do for poor complexions, dandruff, itching and red, rough hands.—Advertisement.

Let nothing come between you and the light.—Thoreau.

The devil can cite Scripture for his purpose.—Shakespeare.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 83

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sicktens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, billous sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just prove for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

The Difference

"What is the difference between a snake and a piano?"
"Give it up."
"None. You write both with 'b'."
"What—snake and piano?"
"No—'both'."

Amundsen Began in 1896

Roald Amundsen, the only man who has visited both the North and South poles, began his career as a polar explorer in 1896-7, when he sailed as mate with the Belgica Antarctic expedition.

Shake it into Your Shoes
Sprinkle it into the Foot-bath

ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE
THE ANTISEPTIC, HEALING POWDER FOR THE FEET

Takes the friction from the shoe, relieves the pain of corns, bunions, calluses and sore spots, freshens the feet and gives new vigor.

Makes Tight or New Shoes Feel Easy

At night, when your feet are tired, sore and swollen from excessive dancing or walking, sprinkle Allen's Foot-Ease in the foot-bath and enjoy the bliss of feet without an ache. Over One Million five hundred thousand pounds of powder for the feet were used by our Army and Navy during the war. Trial package and a Foot-Ease Walking Doll sent FREE. Address,
ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, Le Roy, N. Y.

TWATER KENT IGNITION

for Fords

Thousands d owners have found

Atwater Kent Type LA Ignition or Fords lasts longest, is least means a smoother running motor, rting, picks up quicker and gives er.

same general character as the ent Ignition Systems furnished as quipment on many of America's cars, it is a complete scientific ystem with twenty-six years' experience in making scientific ignition systems back of it.

As carefully made as an Atwater Kent Radio Set.

Installed in less than an hour.

Everlastingly dependable.

Type LA

Price

$10.80

Including Cable and Fittings

TER KENT MFG. CO.

A. Atwater Kent, President

hilton Ave. · Philadelphia, Pa.

kers of Atwater Kent Receiving Sets and Radio Speakers

amed From the Wind

Greek word anemos, which wind, is responsible for the iven to the anemones, which are nly called wind flowers. This is the state flower of South Da- The name anemone was given use it seemed to grow best in a location. The wood anemone, delicate white blossoms, is one favorite spring wild flowers.

l isn't necessarily a peach be- he has a stony heart.

TOURING

ve you changed your gs within the last ar?

not, your content- nt and satisfaction your tour will be ured if you install a ll set of dependable hampion Spark Plugs fore you start.

mpion X— lusively for ds—packed he Red Box 60c Each

Champion—for cars other than Fords—packed in the Blue Box 75c Each

442

CHAMPION

ndable for Every Engine

Toledo, Ohio

tic Cleaning & Dyeing Co.

and Keosauquaway, Des Moines, Iowa

re up to our name — "Iowa's Largest s and Dyers." It will be to our mutual t by giving us your cleaning and dyeing. rices are moderate. A trial order will ee you.

MINNESOTA

d to sell a very fine 160 acres of land d just across the line in southern Min- which originally sold for approxi- $200 an acre. It is necessary to dis- of this immediately to liquidate the of a bank, and the undersigned will me subject to the ordor of court for n acre and give liboral terms. Write F. Beck, Receiver Bank of Plymouth, City, Iowa.

OTEL ELLIOTT

rth Street - Des Moines, Iowa

A Pleasant, Home-like Hotel

$1.25 to $2.00. Centrally Located.

Ladies—Good Pay

ADDRESSING ENVELOPES

R ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

EXPERIENCE NECESSARY.

Write immediately to

PERIAL ADVERTISING CO.

West 42nd St., New York City.

Cuticura Soap

Pure and Wholesome

eps The Skin Clear

Ointment, Talcum sold everywhere.

The American Legion

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service)

WILL ARRANGE FOR LEGION CONVENTION

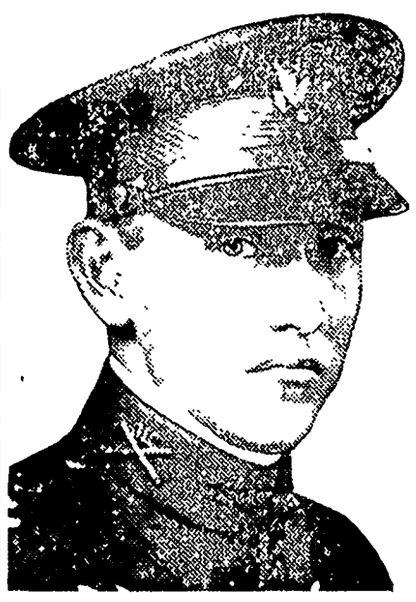
Col. Vincent A Carroll of Philadelphia, national vice commander of the American Legion, was handed a big job recently when the Philadelphia county committee of the Legion named him as chairman of the Philadelphia national convention committee.

As chairman of this important committee Colonel Carrol faces the gigantic task of accommodating any entertaining more than 50,000 American Legionnaires who will attend the eighth national convention at Philadelphia The Legion national meeting this year will be held in connection with the celebration at Philadelphia in honor of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

To assist in the work, Coloney Carroll selected the following Legionnaires as chairmen of the subcommittees to assist him: J. Borton Weeks, parking; Judge J. Willis, Martin, reception and distinguished guests; Miss Anna L. Hawkins, registration and information, Theodore Rosen, decorations; John M. Dervin, transportation; James R. Rose, hotels and housing; James F. Ryan, convention hall and seating; Louis Slepin, badges and trophies; George Wentworth Carr, program; Glendon T. Tongue, radio; Mrs. William H Beister, Jr, auxiliary, and Virgil Baldi, Forty-and-Eight.

H. Harrison Smith and E. E. Hollenback were elected vice chairmen.

The Legion meeting this year, October 11 to 15, will be replete with historic interest. Among the historic scenes the visiting Legionnaires will see are Independence hall, the Betsy Ross house, Carpenter's hall, the grave of Benjamin Franklin, Old



Col. Vincent A. Carroll.

Christ church and other memorials scattered throughout the city and its environs from Valley Forge to Brandywine Springs.

Colonel Carroll's service in the World War was significant. He attended the first officers' training camp and was commissioned a second lieutenant. Promotions came to him fast overseas with the Seventy-ninth division, and when he was discharged he wore the gold leaf of a major on his shoulders. He is now a colonel in the reserve officers' corps.

His Legion service began when the Legion itself began. He organized a Legion post in Philadelphia in 1919 and served as its first commander. Since that time he has held various offices in the county and state Legion organization. At Omaha in 1925 his Legion service was recognized and rewarded when his comrades elevated him to one of the highest offices in the Legion, national vice commander.

First Raido Unit Has Been Granted Charter

The first radio unit of the American Legion auxiliary was recently chartered at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma Radio Unit No. 300. It is the auxiliary of Radio post of the Legion.

Membership in the unique unit is limited to eligibles who live where there is no live auxiliary unit. It is said ownership of a radio is one of the requirements of membership.

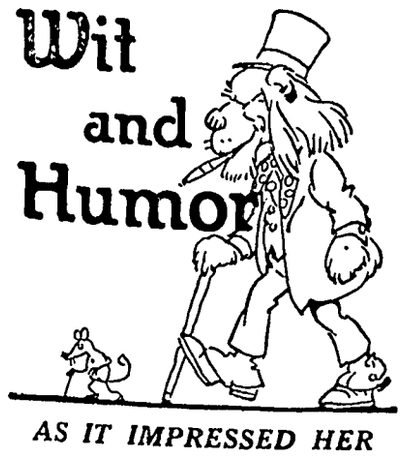
The unit will broadcast weekly meetings and an entertainment program every Monday night from station KFJF (261 meters), Oklahoma City. The unit plans to entertain disabled veterans by broadcasting programs for their benefit.

"Mountain Canaries" Not to Be Molested

Lovers of American "bird" life recently wrote department officials of the American Legion of Colorado protesting the proposed plan of the Legionnaires of Colorado to carry "Rocky mountain canaries" to the Legion national convention at Philadelphia, October 11-15.

It is understood that the Legionnaires have agreed to allow the "canaries" of the Rocky mountains—commonly known as burros—to remain to "warble" in their native Colorado haunts.

Wit and Humor



AS IT IMPRESSED HER

"Some people," remarked Boreleigh, "still hold that the world is flat."

"Well," she said, "they've a right to their opinion, you know."

"But you haven't any doubt about its being round, have you?"

"No," she answered, stifling a yawn, "but it seems awfully flat when you're around."—Boston Transcript.

No Credit to Him

"You n-never seem to take any interest in anything I do," sobbed the bride.

"Don't be unreasonable, my dear," remonstrated her husband. "I remained awake all last night thinking of the cake you baked yesterday."—Stray Stories.

CAN SQUEEZE THROUGH

Mother—Do you think George can hold Anna's love until he can afford to marry?

Dad—Oh, I think he can squeeze through.

Safety First Note

The traffic was moving;
Kate ran for a bus.
She caught the brass railing,
But oh, what a muss!

Exposed

"Well, Algy, I hear you have taken up walking as the doctor ordered. How does it go?"

"Seems a bit awkward at first, without a windshield."

Ought to Have

Tess—Hazel married a man with all kinds of money.

Jess—Who is he?

Tess—A coin collector.—Ski-U-Mah.

ON THE JOB

Caller—I have a case I'd like to have you try.

Lawyer Wetmore—Good! Open up a sample bottle and I'll be glad to give you my opinion of it.

Lizzie Was Light

This monument's
For Jackson Druck;
His Lizzie was lighter
Than the truck.

Oh, Gentle Speech

Dabson—He claims to be related to you, and says he can prove it.

Dobson—The man's a fool.

Dabson—That may be a mere coincidence.

Evasive

"Did you sell your auto for as much as you paid when you bought it?"

"Well, I sold it for as much as it was worth when I bought it."

Behind the Scenes

Mrs. Bim—Harry took part in an amateur play last night and today he's so hoarse he can hardly talk.

Mrs. Bam—Oh, he was the leading man, then?

"No, he was the prompter."

No Danger

Clarence—Congress is no place for a woman.

Alice—Why not?

Clarence—If you gave one of them the floor she might start scrubbing it.

Economical Chap

Mother—Ethel, is your caller a young man of economical habits?

Ethel—Decidedly, mother. He insists that we use but one chair to keep from wearing the furniture and always turns out the light to save gas.

The Kick

Jeannette—I wish you wouldn't chew gum. Don't you know it's made out of horses' hoofs?

Hilda—Sure, that's why I get a kick out of it.—Pittsburgh Panther.

GOOD ROADS

ROAD ASSEMBLY FOR CALIFORNIA

Santa Monica, Cal., is to be the scene of the United States Good Roads association's 1926 national convention, which will be held in conjunction with the Bankhead National Highway association and the United States Good Roads show, during the week of June 7 to 12. The meeting, dealing with highway legislation and financing construction and maintenance, will be most important and far-reaching, and in numbers and character of delegates, also one of the largest ever held in Santa Monica.

United States senators and congressmen, state governors and other national, state, county and city officials from all over the country have promised to attend. Acceptances have been received by General Roundtree, director general of the three organizations, from the following governors that they will attend:

Gov. E. Lee Trinkle of Virginia, president of the association, and Govs. McMullen of Nebraska; Jackson of Indiana; Erickson of Montana; Gore of West Virginia; Fields of Kentucky; Walker of Georgia; Dern of Utah, Scrugham of Nevada; Brandon of Alabama; Ross of Wyoming; Ferguson of Texas; Whitfield of Mississippi; Pierce of Oregon, and Richardson of California.

The convention will last five days, and, aside from business sessions in which goods roads policies will be discussed, a feature of the gathering will be automotive tours of southern California, arranged by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce.

Money Apportioned for All National Highways

Of the $75,000,000 available Secretary Jardine has awarded $73,125,000 to the states in aid of highway building. In the amount apportioned, New York is only second, with $3,647,156, Texas leading with $4,426,917. Pennsylvania, whose greatest extent is east and west, naturally leads Illinois, whose length is vertical on the map. And much-advertised Florida is thirty-ninth on the list, following not only New Jersey but Idaho, Nevada and Wyoming.

Under the federal aid highway system the nation is assisting, by the payment of about 45 per cent of the cost, in the construction of some 170,000 miles of truly national routes, enough to cross the continent more than fifty times, if that were all that such roads can do. What the system does in fact provide is a complex network covering every state and even Hawaii, but not Alaska, whose means of communication are otherwise provided for. Texas gets the biggest share, but it is a big state. The completion of the system will give further incentive and opportunity to rubber-tired neighborliness, already a notable development of the gasoline age.

Ohio Is Building Roads With a Six-Inch Base

Ohio is building roads capable of withstanding heavier loads than those of any other state, according to highway division engineers. The heaviest type Ohio builds is with a base six inches thick in the middle and nine inches at the sides.

A six-inch base is considered strong enough for the heaviest traffic. The strength of a concrete base increases with the square of its depth. The strength of a six-inch base would be thirty-six; of a seven-inch base forty-nine, and of a nine-inch base, eighty-one. A two-inch base would be only one-ninth as strong as a six-inch base.

The materials that go into a paved highway, the way they are prepared and how they are laid is pretty well standardized among highway engineers and contractors. The same is true of bridges and culverts.

Road Chief Avers Wide Highways Big Need Now

Road building is trying to keep pace with the increased number of automobiles on public highways. The annual improvement of approximately 50,000 miles of new roads in the United States as a result of combined efforts of federal, state, and local agencies will continue during the next few years, according to a statement by Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States bureau of public roads. He also stressed the need of immediate improvements of all roads included in the federal aid and state highway systems by widening. This, he said, is a necessity in order to obtain the lowest possible cost of highway transportation.

Uniform Highway Policy

A uniform national highway policy has been very largely responsible in making possible an easy flowing interchange of motor vehicles between different sections of the country. County lines have been erased. State lines do not exist for the motor vehicle. The improved highway speaks a language common to all. In point of time we have only just emerged from the dark ages of highway improvement and building in the United States.

FIRST to develop and use the self-starter

The first practical self-starting and lighting system, the Delco, was invented in Dayton, Ohio, in 1910.

It opened a new era in the history of the automobile, extending its service to women, making night driving safe and all driving vastly more comfortable and secure.

Delco was first used by Cadillac, a General Motors car.

The inventor of Delco is today head of the Research Section of General Motors, whose personnel includes scientific leaders in every phase of automotive development.

General Motors operates the largest automotive research laboratories and proving ground in the world. They are added assurance that whatever is best and soundest in scientific progress will be found in General Motors products.

GENERAL MOTORS

CHEVROLET · PONTIAC · OLDSMOBILE
OAKLAND · BUICK · CADILLAC
GMC TRUCKS
YELLOW CABS, BUSES AND TRUCKS

"A car for every purse and purpose"

Be Careful of Father

"Fathers should cultivate an unwavering intimacy with and interest in their sons," says a Methodist pastor of Houston. We hesitate to approve this, unless the Society for the Protection of Fathers guarantees to see that the boys don't lead their sires too far astray.—Houston Post-Dispatch.

An Oklahoma oil company has sent a geologist to the National museum to study the government collection of fossils found in oil-bearing sands.

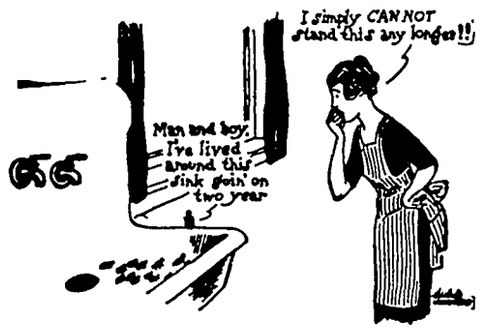
Should Please Anglers

Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania is the designer of an improved fishing rod. It is made of split bamboo in three sections, is nine feet long and weighs six and a quarter ounces. It is especially adapted for casting weighted lures such as small plugs, feathered minnows and frogs.

He who would search for pearls must dive below.—Dryden.

Guessing at anything is fine exercise for a weak imagination.

© 1926 S. C. Co. (N. J.)



Grandpa Roach's Story

END the roach nuisance now. Flit will do it. Flit spray destroys roaches, bed bugs and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs.

Kills All Household Insects

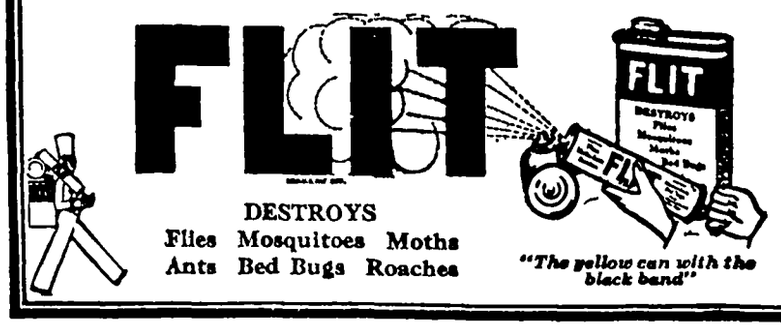
Flit spray also clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Get a Flit can and sprayer today. For sale everywhere.

STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)

FLIT



DESTROYS
Flies Mosquitoes Moths
Ants Bed Bugs Roaches

"The yellow can with the black band"

Order your Twine now, carload on the way. Farmers Elevator 1tp

Kill the Potat Bugs with P-B-K. For sale at Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

June Piano Sale

New and Used Instruments

—CASH OR PAYMENTS—

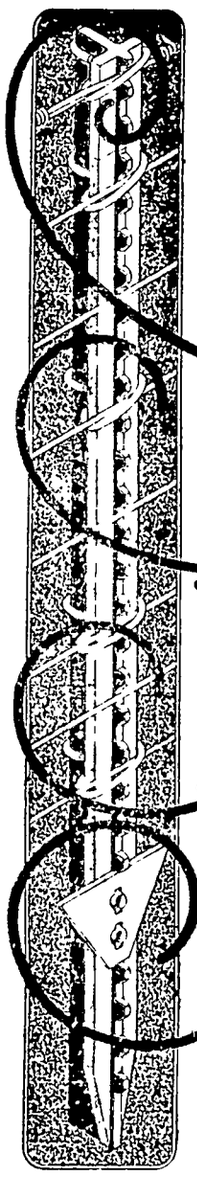
Write For Catalogue of June Bargains

Usde Player Pianos ..... $155 up.
Slightly Used Pianos ..... $ 65 up.

Distributors for Steinway, Baldwin, Lyon & Healy and Gulbransen Pianos and Players

Chambers Music House

"Everything Musical"
EAST STATE STREET MASON CITY, IOWA



Why Red Top Fence Posts Hold the Lead

The fastest selling steel fence post in this locality is the Red Top. The Red Top has won this leadership through its performance in the fence line. It is a time tested post and is guaranteed by the factory and also by us.

Here are some of the features that have made the Red Top so popular:

1. Studded Reinforcing Rib Runs Full Length of Post

The Red Top is reinforced from point to top with a sturdy studded rib of steel. The studs furnish an ingenious method of attaching fence wire without the necessity of weakening the post by punching staple slots. The Red Top is guaranteed not to break in the fence line and to outlast the heaviest galvanized fencing made.

2. Fasteners Lock the Wire to the Post

The Red Top patented Handy Fastener keeps the fence wire from being pushed or pulled away from the post. The correctly spaced post studs keep the wire from slipping up or down. Nothing skimpy about this fastener—it is made heavy for strength and its long leg wraps all the way around the stem of the post.

3. The Aluminum Finish Adds to Life of Post

The Aluminum Metallic finish is baked on every Red Top and becomes an integral part of the post. This weather protective coating lengthens the life of Red Top, makes your fence lines attractive and keeps them looking that way.

4. Anchor Plate Attached Without Weakening Post

Two post studs, a part of the post itself, lock the anchor plate everlastingly to the Red Top. It is guaranteed not to come off or become loosened. The anchor plate is attached without one hole being punched in the post to weaken it and soft steel rivets or clamps also become unnecessary.

Come in and let us show you this improved Red Top; also the One Man Post Driver. Prices are very reasonable on posts just now and we recommend early buying.

Red Top
GUARANTEED
Steel Fence Posts

——FOR SALE BY——

Northern Lumber Co.

"EVERYTHING TO BUILD ANYTHING"

Notice--

We have coming a carload of each of the following:—

Hard Coal
Coke

Coming about June 15th. Place your order NOW to be sure of your Coal.

WE ALSO HAVE—

Feed Of All Kinds

Coming by the CARLOAD, at a very LOW PRICE, delivered off the car.
Place your order now and get in on these Bargains. ....

North Iowa Grain Co.

The North Elevator Klemme, Iowa

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Nelson were at Garner on business Thursday morning.

Mrs. Hod Lawhorn, of Garner, spent Tuesday visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Cliff Swartz.

Miss Norma Barz, of Garner, visited with Miss Adella Schroeder last Thursday.

The Times is always glad to receive items of news. Please phone your items or mail them. Thanks.

Miss Marie Gauger spent several days last week visiting with Miss Merle Kluckhohn at Garner.

Mrs. Emma Stone and three children, of Spencer, were entertained at the J. J. Poort home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Verner Lewis and children spent Sunday at the Benn Coobs home.

Mrs. John Braund, of Williams, is here today and will attend the R. N. A. convention at Clear Lake.

Ed. Jacobs and Paul Stille were at Mason City on business Tuesday afternoon.

Tommy Gimer is enjoying a visit from his cousin, Woodrow Homan, of Abbott, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M Wilson and daughter, Gladys, spent Sunday at the Klingaman home at Garner.

W F. Pavey, Jeff Bell and Clarence Wiles drove to Mason City yesterday afternoon.

Full line of Fire Works now on display at Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

Fred Kluckhohn was on the sick list last week, but perked up enough to mosie around again Saturday.

The W. F. M. S. has postponed their regular meeting today until tomorrow afternoon, Friday, at the home of Mrs Henry Keeper.

Mr and Mrs. Sumner Trumbell and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs and baby were Mason City visitors Wednesday of this week.

Mr and Mrs. C. W. Wiles, Mrs. Walters and Lois and Sammy Howard, of Ames, drove up yesterday for a few days visit with Klemme people.

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines. tfc

Harry Armentrout, the young man who works for Emil Lau, spent last week Friday to Monday visiting his folks at Des Moines.

C. G. Waterman and family and R. A. Jorgenson and family attended the Eastern Star picnic at Garner last Friday evening.

Miss Thorman gave her music pupils a picnic at the Belmond tourist park last Friday. Dorance Day attended from here.

Mr. and Mrs Sumner Trumbell drove to Hampton Sunday for a visit with Mrs. Trumbell's mother who was at the hospital there.

Kill the Potato Bugs with P-B-K. For sale at Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

Mrs. Chris Mayne's daughter from Kansas arrived Tuesday morning by train, being called here by the serious illness of her mother.

Mrs. Wisty, of Clear Lake, spent several days last week visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. F. Jacobs.

Mrs. Marlin Croner and daughter, Dorothy, and Mrs. Lena Schroeder and daughter, Adella, dove to Garner Tuesday morning on business.

FOR SALE—one 2-row International cultivator and one 1-row Kovar spring tooth cultivator. Karl Kraus. tfc

Mrs. Paul Grange and son, Dorance spent from Friday evening until Sunday evening with the Klemme Camp Fire Girls at Clear Lake. Mrs Grange took the place of Mrs. Usher as one of the chaperones for the girls as Mrs. Usher came back to Klemme to be at the Wellemeyer store for Saturday.

TWINE at the Farmers Elevator.

DON'T throw away that tire just because of a small hole. Bring it here, I can at least make a good spare for you. C. L. Blumer. 1tc

R. A. Jorgenson and family, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. Jorgenson, of Garner, visited with the Lyle Liebendorfer family at Mason City, Sunday.

Rev. Gauger is conducting Bible classes at the Parish House every morning. The classes began Monday. Miss Marie Gauger is assisting with the work.

Lots of Reformed church goers, both from the Klemme and E'ltown church attended the special services at the Garner Reformed church last Sunday.

A gang of carpenters were at work at the stock yards last week putting the yards in shape. We notice a couple of new sheds adorn the scenery down there.

Grandma Schroeder, Mrs. Croner and daughter, Dorothy, and the Misses Adella Schroeder and Viola Freie were visiting at Mason City Monday.

Rev. A. W. Gauger and family and Mrs. Minnie Josten were entertained at the Art Kluckhohn home at Garner Saturday evening to a six o'clock dinner.

Miss Esther Bloom, who came from Los Angeles last week with the Pritchard family for a visit with old friends in Iowa, leaves again today with them for the east.

Mrs. Sumner Trumbell celebrated her birthday last Friday and Mr. and Mrs. Trumbell and daughter of Mason City came over to spend the day.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Gimer and sons Harl and Thomas, and daughters, Blanche and Thelma, drove to Abbott, Sunday, for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Mary Waterman and Mrs. Mabel Cullinan returned Tuesday from their trip to Iowa City and a visit with relatives in the central part of he state.

Ed. Jacobs was confined to his bed several days the past week with the grippe or flu. Ed. was navigating around again Monday and was able to be at the store.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rosenau, of Norwood, Minnesota, came last week Wednesday for a visit with Klemme relatives. Mrs. Henry Schuldt returned home with them Monday for a visit.

The Reformed Bible chool will have their picnic at the church grounds Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock. A program will be given by the classes and a big picnic dinner will be a feature of the day. Games of all kinds will be on the program

Last Thursday Grandma Schroeder entertained to a 5:30 o'clock dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Davis and children of Mason City, Mr. Henry Freie and daughter, Viola, Miss Eunice Braund, of this place, and Mrs Braund and daughter, of Williams.

Gerald Koerner returned home Monday evening from his auto trip to the South Dakota Bad Lands, the Black Hills District, North Dakota, and other points north, and the Yellowstone. Gerald saw a lot of fine scenery and enjoyed the trip.

Full line of Fire Works now on display at Wilson's Pharmacy. 1tc

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman and daughter, Marian, Mrs. C. F. Keraus and Mrs. Hattie Lanahan drove to Clear Lake Sunday afternoon for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Musfelt and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Musfelt, and also to take in the band concert there.

A. R. White and R. A. Jorgenson played with the Ventura band at Fertile, Monday, for a Creamery Day celebration and picnic. A large number of people attended, but a couple of heavy showers or rain put a damper on the activities and sent most of the crowd home.

Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings
DR. E. H. PHILLIPS
Osteopathic Physician
Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa.

Is Back From Electrical School

Bert Lauen, of Meservey. was in Klemme yesterday on business and was a caller at the Times office. Mr. Lauen returned Sunday from Milwaukee where he has been the past year taking a Junior Electrical Engineering course. Mr. Lauen is spending his summer vacation at Meservey.

Peter Josten, Fred Haupt August Barz boarded the northbound passenger train Thursday m. The train got away before could ask them where they were ing. Evidently they dldn't go as they were back again a short later, so we just presume they in the big Reformed doings at ner.

Notice Of Change
Skelly Oil Service

I have arrangements to personally take care of my SKELLY OIL SERVICE in KLEMME and VICINITY, and will give you prompt service on the delivery of Gasoline, Kerosene, Oil, Etc.

Phone Your Orders To Klemme Central

I intend to be on the job, but in case I do not see you when you are out of gas, kerosene or oil, just Phone the Klemme Central your order and tell her what you want and she will get me at Garner and I will be right there with my Skelly Truck to fill your order.

YOURS FOR SERVICE

Carl Suckow

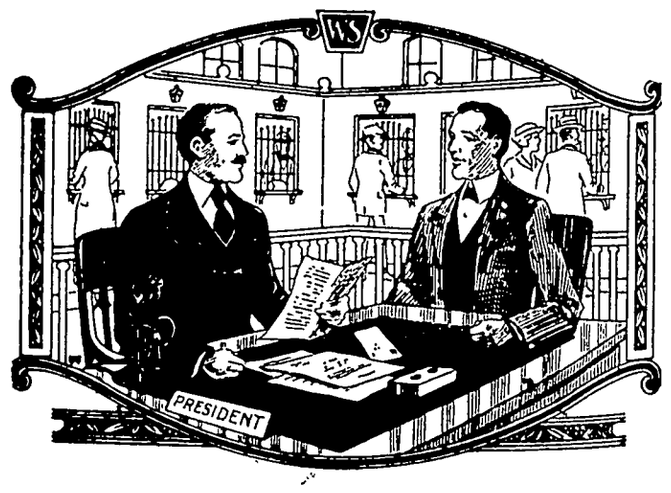
Skelly Oil Company Klemme and Garner

A Few Causes of Oil Pumping and Compression Leakage--

1. Worn or out-of-round cylinders.
2. Scored cylinders or pistons.
3. Warped or worn ring grooves.
4. Poorly fitted pistons and rings.
5. Piston pin hole out-of-round.
6. Poorly aligned rod and piston assembly.
7. Sprung connecting rods.
8. Crankshaft warped or out-of-true.
9. Worn bearings.
10. Warped or sticking valves.
11. Improper timing.
12. Leaky cylinder head gasket.

ONLY Cure--Stormizing

Pavey's Stormizing Shop



SERVICE THAT SATISFIES

THE First National Bank renders a varied Service that satisfies every need. Once you have tried it you will continue using it.

It is a great satisfatcion to build up a business on this basis and to know that it is a basis that will warrant the continued growth of this Institution.

First National Bank
KLEMME, IOWA.

THE KLEMME TIMES

irtieth Year—Number 46. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1926 LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

EATH OF MRS. C. C. MAYNE

Mrs. Loretta P. Dodge Mayne was rn at Manhattan, Kansas on April 1870.

At an early age she was taken in- the home of her grandparents at lliams where she grew to woman- od.

On January 24, 1889 she was rried to Mr. Joseph Kimball. To s union four children were born, o daughters and two sons. One n died in infancy. The surviving e: Mrs. O. O. Parker of Manhat- n, Kansas; Mrs. W. B Parker of nhattan, Kansas; and Joseph mball, of Canada.

Her husband died in 1901. After time deceased was married to Mr. mes Hulse. Two children were rn to this union. The son, James, d daughter, Blanche. The latter king her home with her mother til the mother's death.

On December 2, 1917, deceased ned in wedlock with Mr. C. C. yne, of Kanawha, Iowa. For a mber of years they lived on a farm st of Goodell, Iowa, until they ved to their present home in emme, about four years ago.

Mrs. Mayne was a great lover of ture. Nothing did she love more an to get into God's great Out-of- ors. She was a great lover of wers and grew and enjoyed all nner of them as anyone visiting r home may observe.

Early in life she became affiliated th the Methodist Church and at at time was an ardent worker in urch and Sunday school. Her work s especially directed to little chil- en whom she loved quite as much she did her flowers. To bring joy the hearts of such little ones she s want to solicit in behalf of such o were poor and needy to bring lief and comfort and goodwill to ir hearts.

In early life she became much in- rested in art, and indulged in inting and fine needle work. She s a woman busy with the toils of e. One never found her idle.

Her death came after a lingering ness covering several months. She fered much during this time and ath came to relieve her early on e morning of June 23, 1926.

Her daughters, Cora and Blanche, re present and at her bedside dur- g her last hours.

Beside her husband and the sur- ing children she leaves to mourn r death three sisters and one other They are: Mrs. Ollie Rode- ugh, of Omaha, Nebr.; Mrs. Irene rmley, of Pikes Lake, Canada; s. Alice Mayne, Fort Dodge, Iowa; d Mr Charles Dodge, of Baxter, wa. The latter two were present ring the last days of her life.

Funeral services were held last ursday afternoon at the Metho- t Church conducted by Rev. A. . Gauger. Interment was made the Klemme cemetery.

Numerous old neighbors from odell and Kanawha vicinities at- nded the funeral.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our apprecia- n for the many acts of kindness own us by neighbors and friends ring the recent illness and death our beloved Mother. Also to thank u one and all for the beautiful al offerings.

Mrs. O. O. Parker,
Mrs. Cecil Payne.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to thank all my friends and ighbors for their kind assistance ring the recent illness of my wife, d for their acts of sympathy in a e of sorrow. I also want to ex- d my sincere thanks for the beau- ul floral offerings contributed.

C. C. Mayne.

EY ARE HARD DRINKERS AT DES MOINES

The average consumption of water ily in Des Moines is around 16,- 0,000 gallons but during the late y spell when lawns needed nois- re badly there were 24,000,000 llons used daily. Such a draft up- the water supply was rapidly re- cing the water level in the Rac- on river basin from which the sup- is drawn. The high water in that er occassioned by the heavy rains the northwest was a great relief the water board which had be- me anxious over the future sup- for the city.

CHEMICAL USED TO LAY DUST ON HIGHWAY

Several miles of highway in Clay county, north of Spencer on the lake road, will receive a dust laying coat of calcium chloride following a thin layer of gravel which is now being spread. This chemical has been used on this road several seasons. Several miles of the chloride have been spread on this same road in Dickinson county during the past few days. Probably no other rural road in Iowa has the amount of travel that goes over this road to the lakes, yet an application of the chemical is not entirely worn out in one season. The chemical is applied with a special spreader made for the purpose, and it costs about $300 per mile.

This chemical also makes a good dust layer for streets, as it is much cleaner than oil and does no damage.

CONGESTED AIR GUMS UP YOUNG BRIDE'S PROGRAM

Indicative of the growing need of clearing up the already overcongested air waves of the radio world is the experience of a young bride in Illinois.

Now according to the best arrangement which could be made by radio officials of the department of commerce, WCCO broadcasts on a wave length of 416.4 meters, while WLW at Cincinnati broadcasts from 422 2 meters. A difference—yes, but sometimes on some sets a difference that cannot be distinguished.

The young bride succeeded in tuning in WCCO and its cooking lseson. At the same time she picked up the noon-day setting-up exercise broadcast from WLW. Here are the notes which she handed to her husband when he came home for dinner:

"Hands on hips, place one cup of flour on the shoulders, raise knee, depress toes, and wash thoroughly in one-half cup of milk. In four counts raise and lower left foot and mash two hard boiled eggs through a sieve. Repeat six times, inhale one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon baking powder, and one cup of flour. Then, breathing naturally, exhale and sift Attention. Jump to a squatting position of quick time. Twist sideways and forward right and left as far as possible and beat egg swiftly and briskly, arms forward over head. Raise the cooked egg with the flour and in four counts make a stiff dry dough, which is stretched at the waist. Thighs flexed, lay flat on the floor and roll into marbles the size of a walnut. Hop to a straddle in boiling water, but do not boil at a gallon. After ten minutes remove and wipe with a rough towel and serve with fish soup."—Paw Paw, Mich., Courier-Northerner.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Klemme, Iowa.
June 7, 1926

Regular meeting of the Town Council held at the Mayor's office

F. A. Arnold member of Council absent.

Motion made and seconded to allow the following bills:

Benn J. Coobs, Salary for May	$ 75.00
Frank Kluckhohn, Sewer Connection	3.75
Klemme Times, Publishing Council Proceedings	.95
Central States Electric Co , Street Lights	33.90
Lloyd Lau, Labor & Drayage	3.34
Mason City Oil & Grease Co., Balance Due and Gasoline	33.14
Harry Gram, Labor and Drayage	2.25
Etchen Auto Co., Repairs and Supplies	11.90
Crane & Co., Plunger & Washers for Hydrants	11.10
Garnavillo Sav. Bank, Bonds and Interest	1060.00
Guttenberg State Bank, Interest Coupons	30.00
Continental & Commercial National Bank, Bonds and Interst	1030.00
White Phillips Co.Bonds and Interest	1560.00

Bills Allowed.

Meeting adjourned.

A. J. KUDJE,
Clerk.

KLEMME BAND PROGRAM FOR FRIDAY EVENING

The following program will be given by the Klemme Band at the Park on Friday evtning, July 2nd at 8·00 o'clock.

Roll of Honor March
Love's Way Waltz
Moonlight on the Nile, Overture
Tramp, Tramp, Thru Georgia Mch.
Saxophone and Trombone Duet
V. Turgeson & H. Gimer.
Queen of the the Night Serenade.
Progressive American March
— Intermission —
Fortuna March
Cupids Captive Gavotte
Radiant Overture
I Love My Baby—Popular
Pass It Along March.

The band is endeavoring to please its listeners and anyone wishing a request number can make their desires known to Director J. J. Poort, or any band member. The band will endeavor to meet your request at the first opportunity.

Iowa Has Large Popcorn Acreage

The popcorn acreage in Iowa in 1923 was 20,568, whereas, in 1925, it had increased to 54,121 acres. Of this amount, Sac county easily leads with 22,124 and Ida had 10,447 acres in this crop. Arthur, Odebolt and Lake View have marketing facilities for popcorn and several commercial dealers in popcorn and manufacturers of confections have buying stations there. Clay county follows Sac and Ida in the growing of popcorn with 5,022 acres, while Buena Vista, Crawford, Calhoun, Carroll and Linn are other extensive growers.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Good sized audiences were present in both churches last Sunday morning and both services were profitable. In connection with the service in Klemme we baptized several adults and several children, five in all The service in Liberty had a number of exceptional features that will be long remembered by the audience. Of the numerous classes that we have had in catechism, few have equalled or surpassed the class of last Sunday.

Next Sunday's services will be of a patriotic nature—both in song and sermon. There will be no evening service on this Sunday and all should plan to be in on the morning service

Our vacation Bible School is progressing nicely with about the same attendance as last year.

HANCOCK COUNTY REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

A Record Of Changes In Real Estate The Past Week

Commercial Natl. Bank, Waterloo to H. R. Brooks. W. D., date 6-23-26, $1.00, lot 1 block 2 Anderson's add Britt.

H. R. Brooks wf. to W. A. Brooks. W. D., date 6-24-26, $1.00, lot 1, block 2 Anderson's add Britt.

Hawkeye Fence & Wire Co. to The Selby Poultry Co. Q. C. D., date 6-23-26, $1.00. Water st. running S through blocks 27 and 30 and part of 8th st. and E½ of the alley running S from 7th st. through block 27 and the alley running S from 7th st. through block 30 Anderson's 2nd add Britt.

Town of Britt, Iowa, to The Selby Poultry Co. Q C. D. date 6-24-26 $1.00. Same description as last above.

Wm. C. White to Laura White. Q. C. D., date 6-16-26, $1.00, S½ of SW¼ 25-94-23 r SW¼ 36-94-23.

Anthony Baker wf. et al to L. A. Andrew, Receiver. W. D., date 5-3-26, $1.00. NEs 29-96-25.

R. S. Cox wf. to Logan Olinger. W. D., date 12-22-25, $1.00, NE¼ & N½ SE¼ 12-94-25.

KLEMME REFORMED CHURCH NOTES

Services for Sunday, July 4th are as follows:

10:00 A. M. English service.
11:00 A. M. Sunday School.
8:00 P. M. German Service.

Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Barr Attend Family Re-union At Lamoni, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Barr and La Vonne, accompanied by Mrs. Barr's mother, who is here visiting, drove to Lamoni, Iowa, a few miles from the Missouri border, Saturday evening, leaving Klemme at about five p. m. and arriving at Lamoni at midnight.

A big family re-union of Mrs. M. O. Barr's relatives was held on a farm near Lamoni where about thirty-six relatives gathered for dinner. One unusual feature of this re-union was the fact that five generations were represented. Mrs. Barr's great-grandmother lives there and she is 107 years old, in good health and quite spry.

Henry Suckow, Jr. accompanied them as far as Osceola, where he visited relatives over Sunday.

FROM PALETTE TO MORTAR BOARD

Young women artists turn from their jars of color and paint brushes to assist plasterers in setting ornaments in place atop huge pylons which adorn the main entrances to the Palace of Agriculture and Food Products, of the vast exhibition buildings which forms a part of the great Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition being staged in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Climbing ladders and walking along rickety scaffolds is nothing new to these young ladies, but each time they do it they get a thrill.

ED. GREIMAN DIED LAST THURSDAY AT MASON CITY HOSPITAL

Funeral Services Held Sunday At Ell Town Reformed Church

A sad death occurred last Thursday evening, when Ed. Greiman passed away at a Mason City hospital. He had been taken there less than a week before, and on Monday was operated on for ulcers of the stomach and at the same time his appendix was removed. His condition was too weak to stand the ordeal and he passed away Thursday evening.

The doceased is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Greiman. He was born on the farm northwest of Klemme and always lived at home until he was married to Miss Laura Ingram, on November 16, 1921. Following their marriage they began housekeeping on a farm southwest of the Greiman home farm, and had since lived there.

Ed was not in the best of health for some time. Even in war time he was unable to pass the examination to get into the army and was discharged after going to Camp D dge. His condition had not been considered serious, and his death came as a shock to his relatives and many friends.

Besides his wife and little two-year-old son, he leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Greiman, nine brothers and four sisters, to mourn his untimely death. His brothers and sisters are George H., W. H., Mrs. Chas. Goll, Mrs. Wesley Lenz, Fred, Rev. Herman Grieman of Schaller, Iowa, Mrs. L. F. Weaver, Mrs. Chas. Griffen, Henry, Ben, Oscar, Addis and Clarence. Ed. was next older than Ben. He was born November 22, 1893 and had he lived until next November he would have been 33 years of age.

The parents, brothers and sisters and their children were all present at the funeral which was held from the Reformed church in Ell Township, Sunday afternoon, and the sermon was preached by Rev. C. A. Schmid. The remains were laid to rest in the cemetery near the church.

Rlativs from a distance who were present at the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Radloff Jr., of Lyle, Minn; Fred Katter, of Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. August Obermuller of Gutenberg, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Greiman, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Greiman, Mr. and Mrs. F. Greiman, Henry Greiman, W. A. Greiman, Mrs. Hattie Kiertz, all cousins from Blue Earth, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. H. Oelkers, Mr. and Mrs. W. Oelkers, Mr. and Mrs. August Oelkers and W. Greiman of Sheffield, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wierwille, of St. Marys, Ohio.

Ed was an honest, industrious young farmer. He enjoyed a wide acquaintance and everyone spoke very highlp of him. He had spent his entire life in the immediate neighborhood, and like all the other Greimans he was held in the highest esteem. His is the first death among the children of Mr. and Mrs Fred Greiman. One grandchild died a few months ago, and a daughter-in-law was the only other death in this large family. The Greiman family is one of the most remarkable families in this community. For years they all lived on farms southwest of Garner, except Herman who is a minister at Schaller. And with the exception of Rev. Greiman and George, who lives in Garner, the children all live on farms south of Garner, at the present time, all within two or three miles of their parents.

The wife, the little son, the aged parents, the brothers, sisters and other relatives have the sincerest sympathy of a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Shipped In Carload of Feeders

Chris Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. John Bachman drove to St. Paul and on north from there, leaving here early Sunday morning. Monday Mr. Anderson purchased a carload of calves at the St. Paul yards and had them shipped to Klemme to feed. There were 58 head of 380 pound calves in the load. The calves were shipped in from North Dakota.

BABY DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. JOHN PANNHOFF DIED LAST FRIDAY MORNING

Funeral Services Were Held From Home Saturday Afternoon

Mary Grace four months and eleven day old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pannhoff passed away early Friday morning, after a lingering illness from the time of her birth. Death being caused by a disease of the heart from which the little infant could not recover.

Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch, of the Klemme Reformed Church officiated at the services, which were attended by a large number f sympathizing neighbors, friends and relatives.

Interment was made in the Klemme Cemetery.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Pannhoff in their bereavement.

Out of town relatives who atttnded the services were Martin Albers and family, of Shell Rock; Fred Hess and family of Shell Rock; Mrs. T. Kemp, Mrs. Joe Heginger, Mrs. J. Lowenberg, Will Heginger, of Goodell; Adolph Keplinger and Herman Heginger of Belmond, Charles Mickish of Forest City; Grandma Kratchmer, Shell Rock; Mr and Mrs. Lee Price, Webster City; Mrs. Ed. Kyslinger, Belmond; Mrs. Frank Kamp, Belmond; Mrs. Roy Halfpop, Belmond; Mr. and Mrs. Casper Pannhoff, Ventura; Derk Pannhoff and family; John Heginger and family; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lauden; Mr. and Mrs. Will Tiggeman; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Blumer; besides many friends and neighbors.

Card Of Thanks

We take this way of expressing our appreciation for the many acts of kindness and sympathy shown us by our neighbors, friends and the American Legion, during the recent illness and death of our little daughter. We want to thank all for the beautiful floral offerings.

John Pannhoff and family.

CELEBRATE AT BAYSIDE JULY 4th AND 5th

Contests To Be Staged July 4th; All Kinds Of Sports

Bayside Amusement Park, Clear Lake, will celebrate both Sunday and Monday, July 4th and 5th. A big program is scheduled for both days. The Charles City band will play concerts there Sunday afternoon and night. The July 4th attractions include a Charleston contest for boys and girls 14 years or younger, women's foot race, greased pig contest, Charleston contest for boys and girls 15 years or older, women's nail driving contest, Charleston contest for couples. Fireworks Sunday evening. Monday, July 5th a water carnival will be staged at Bayside. It will include tub races, swimming races, water ball game, diving contest, beauty contest and other sports. Many cash prizes will be awarded both Sunday and Monday. Picnicers are invited to use the free tables and picnic grounds at Bayside.

Klemme People Enjoy Week End At Des Moines

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ax and family and John Newberger spent last week end in Des Moines visiting Elmer Ax who is attending the Drake University there. Sunday morning they took in the services of the University Church, to which a very large addition is being built for class rooms, etc. They drove out to River View Park for dinner after which the young people spent a short time in looking over the amusement park across the river. They also went through the Capitol and several other places of interest. They returned Sunday evening without any trouble and feel that this trip was time well spent.

Some Fish!

First Customer (describing a big catch) "The pike was so long—I tell you I never saw such a fish."

Second Customer: "No, I don't suppose you ever did."

COOLIDGE FOR FESS PLAN FOR FARM AID

President Issues Statement Urging Passage of Sound Relief Measures.

Washington. — President Coolidge has appealed to the American people, over the heads of farm bloc leaders, in behalf of agricultural relief.

His appeal was issued within a few hours after the corn belt senators, at a meeting presided over by Senator Watson of Indiana, had decided to throw all agricultural legislation overboard.

Following is the text of the President's statement:

"One of the perplexing questions before the congress is to determine what will be most helpful in relieving agricultural distress. The congress has already rejected certain definite proposals. But that does not relieve us of the desirability of attempting to secure constructive legislation.

"Since the war the congress and the administration have devoted painstaking efforts to strengthening the agricultural situation. During the post-war slump a great disparity arose between prices of agricultural commodities and those of industrial commodities which the farmer must buy. This is still true in certain sections and certain commodities.

"Much legislation has been enacted and much administrative action has been taken which has already resulted in improving the farm purchasing power. But all the legislations, helpful though they are, are not sufficient to cover all branches of the industry. The farmer has suffered greatly and, no doubt, disproportionately from the effects of deflation. He is entitled to relief if it can possibly be given on a sound basis by the government.

"I know the committees of agriculture and the congress and the President have all given the most careful thought and spent much time in seeking remedies to afford relief. I want the best method adopted which promises relief along these lines. Certainly, no one can charge that the problem has been neglected.

"Constructive action has been repeatedly proposed from various sections of the agricultural community. These proposals provide for the creation of a farm marketing board whose duty is to secure a better adjustment of agricultural production, the larger development and consolidation of farmers' marketing associations under their own control, and embrace the placing of $100,000,000 of public money for working capital at the disposal of such farmers' controlled marketing associations, through such farm board, for the purpose of better stabilizing their markets, improving their marketing machinery and the eliminating of waste in distribution.

"This form of legislation would support the whole of the agricultural industry—in the North, the South, the East, and the West—both large and small—not any particular section or segment.

"I am in favor of this type of legislation and I am convinced that immediate action along such lines will profoundly assist the farmers. I believe that the farmers should be provided with these advantages. It seems to me that such a proposal is embodied in the bill offered by Senator Fess on June 16, and which he has proposed to offer as an amendment to the pending co-operative bill which has passed the house and is now before the senate."

Lowden Studies Denmark System to Help Farmers

Copenhagen, Denmark.—Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, is here trying to find out if it is possible to use Danish agricultural methods to help the American farmer.

Mr. Lowden, accompanied by a leader of the Danish Agricultural association's superior council, left the rural districts to study the different experimental farms established by the Co-operative Agricultural association and supported by the state for the purpose of finding better methods that will be beneficial to Danish farming.

President Coolidge Has O. K.'d Aviation Measure

Washington. — President Coolidge has signed the naval aviation bill authorizing the construction within five years of 1,600 airplanes, two superdirigibles and one smaller dirigible for experimental purposes at an estimated cost of $85,000,000. It is estimated that at the end of the five-year period 600 planes will have been discarded as obsolete and the navy will have 1,000 of the most modern type.

Heads American Nurserymen

Louisville, Ky.—Earl E. May of Shenandoah, Iowa, was elected president of the American Association of Nurserymen here.

Woman Hanged in England

London.—Mrs. Louise Calvert was hanged in the Strangeway jail in Manchester for strangling her landlady, Mrs. Lilly Waterhouse, to death and robbing her.

Costa Rica for New League

San Jose, Costa Rica.—The proposal to form a league or union of New World countries, and to employ arbitration in case of international disputes, was approved by the constitutional congress here.

DESERT EXPLORER

Matthew Beecher of New York photographed on his arrival from abroad. He was the first American to cross the Sahara desert by automobile.

HAS NEW PLANS TO STOP BEER MAKING

Rum Off Market by Christmas, Andrews' Program.

Washington. — Conniving city or state officials, illicit alcohol plants, and cheating breweries are to be especial targets of a new three-phase prohibition enforcement drive with next Christmas as a deadline beyond which real beer and hard liquor will be almost, if not actually, impossible to obtain, it is revealed in the deficiency appropriation bill reported to the house.

The program, outlined to the appropriations committee by Brig. Gen. L. C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, contemplates the creation of three new headquarters squads —one of 51 "under cover agents" to secure evidence sufficient to indict state or municipal officials winking at violations, or conspiring with violators, of the liquor laws; a second to halt the admittedly gigantic traffic in illicit alcohol, and another of 88 agents assigned to periodical inspections of suspected breweries and cereal beverage plants.

The bill recommends an appropriation of $2,931,000 for the program, and, if approved by congress, will bring the total cost of prohibition enforcement for the year, including the coast guard activities against rum runners, to $28,500,000.

On the new plan, he told the appropriations committee, General Andrews counts to make prohibition enforcement not only more effective than it ever has been, but also popular throughout the country and less costly as well.

According to General Andrews' testimony before the committee, it is his plan to assign two or three highly paid investigators to each district administrator to check on the activities of city and state officials in connection with dry law enforcement.

Kidnaped Evangelist Discovered in Mexico

Douglas, Ariz.—Aimee Semple McPherson, missing Los Angeles evangelist, was brought to a hospital here in an exhausted condition and related a tale of having been kidnaped by two men and a woman at Ocean Park, Calif., May 18, and held captive in Mexico for half a million dollars ransom.

James Anderson, an American, said he found Mrs. McPherson at Agua Prieta, across the border in Mexico.

The evangelist, pastor of Angelus temple in Los Angeles, had been given up for dead by her followers, who believed that she had been drowned in the surf at Ocean Park the day she disappeared. For days and weeks they had watched constantly beside the sea, praying for the return of her body.

Mrs. McPherson said she escaped from a Mexican shack in which she was held while her captors were away.

Aside from a description of the captors, all of whom were Americans, Mrs. McPherson could furnish no clew to their identity. She was later able to leave for Los Angeles.

"Hunger Artist" Pinched; Claim He Fooled Public

Berlin—The "hunger artist," Herr Jolly, who sat in a glass cage in a Berlin restaurant for forty-four days "fasting," has been arrested by the police, who suspect he defrauded the public.

Congressman Fuller Dead

Rochester, Minn.—Charles E. Fuller, seventy-seven, congressman from the Twelfth Illinois district, died here of cancer. Congressman Fuller's home town was Belvidere.

Hays Signs for Ten Years

New York.—Will H. Hays has consented to extend his term as president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., for ten years at the request of the directors.

Veterans' Pensions Increased

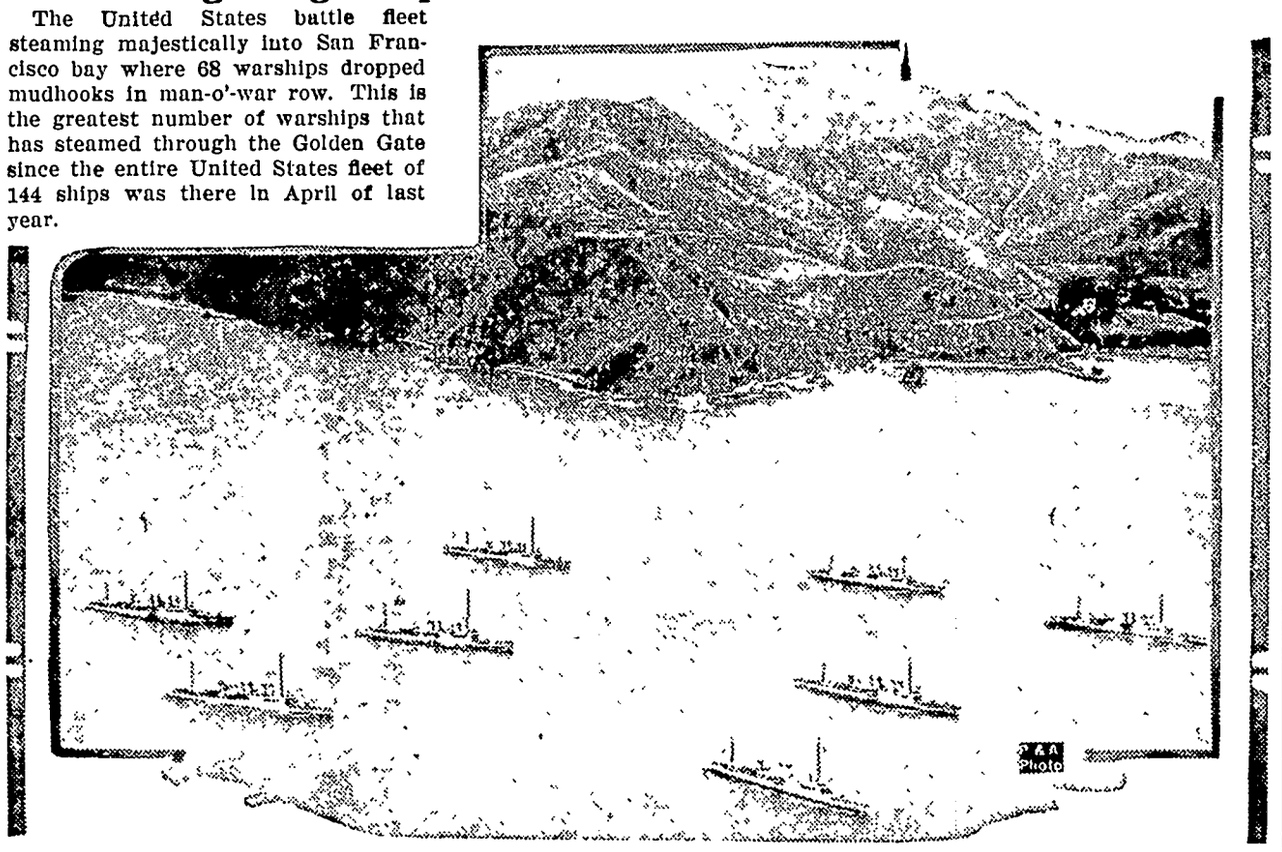
Washington.—The senate passed the Norbeck bill, which would increase pensions of veterans of the Mexican and Civil wars. The measure now goes to the house.

Solemn Opening of the Eucharistic Congress

Scenes at the solemn opening of the Eucharistic congress in Holy Name cathedral, Chicago. Below, John Cardinal Bonzano, papal legate, seated on his throne. Above, the ten cardinals who sat facing the legate during the services in the cathedral.

Fighting Ships Passing Through Golden Gate

The United States battle fleet steaming majestically into San Francisco bay where 68 warships dropped mudhooks in man-o'-war row. This is the greatest number of warships that has steamed through the Golden Gate since the entire United States fleet of 144 ships was there in April of last year.



Governor Smith Greeted in Chicago

Gov. Al Smith of New York went to Chicago to attend the Eucharistic congress and was given a most enthusiastic welcome. He is shown here being greeted by friends as he and Mrs. Smith alighted from the train.

Veteran of Senate Celebrates

Surrounded by his colleagues in the United States senate, who showered him with congratulations and best wishes, Senator Francis Emory Warren celebrated his eighty-second birthday at the capitol. He is the last member of the Union army sitting in the senate, where he has served with distinction for the last thirty-four years. Senator Warren was the first governor of Wyoming when the territory was admitted as a state. In the photograph, left to right: Senators C. C. Dill, Washington; J. T. Robinson, Arkansas; Francis E. Warren, Wyoming; S. B. Kendrick, Wyoming; Charles Curtis, Kansas; L. C. Phipps, Colorado, and Simeon D. Fess, Ohio.

WASHINGTON RELIC

This book, held by George H. Carter, United States public printer, records the initiation of George Washington as a Mason on November 4, 1752; also his passing to Fellow Craft degree, March 3, 1753, and being raised to Master Mason degree, August 4, 1753. The book was restored by a group of 113 Masonic bookbinders employed in the government printing office at Washington, who will return it to the Fredericksburg lodge at Fredericksburg, Va.

AD MAN OF ENGLAND

Col. E. Frederick Lawson, president of the British Advertising association and leader of the British delegation to the advertising congress in Philadelphia.

EUCHARIST CONGRESS ENDS AT MUNDELEIN

Procession of Blessed Sacrament Feature of Greatest Catholic Session.

Chicago.—The twenty-eighth Eucharistic congress of the Roman Catholic church came to a close at Mundelein before a throng estimated at from 700,000 to 1,000,000. The final rites of the congress, a pontifical high mass followed by the procession of the blessed sacrament, borne by John Cardinal Bonzano, papal legate, were held on the grounds of St. Mary of the Lake seminary along the shores of Lake St. Mary.

In the midst of the procession a rainstorm of 15 minutes' duration accompanied by hail broke and sent the hundreds of thousands scurrying for shelter. The clerical procession, however, proceeded on its way, completing the journey as prescribed.

The route of the procession, almost three miles long, was packed with humanity, eager for the glimpse of the final and most colorful of all the Eucharistic congress demonstrations. As the end of the procession, with Cardinal Bonzano bearing aloft the host, passed, the vast throng of pilgrims dropped to their knees.

In the procession were twelve cardinals, fifty-seven archbishops, three hundred priests, monks, missionaries, acolytes and laymen. At intervals of 1,000 feet along the line of march were choirs.

Completing the colorful procession were delegations from various Roman Catholic fraternal orders and several floats.

At the close of the procession Cardinal Bonzano mounted the high altar on the seminary grounds and bestowed the benediction. The sermon was preached by Cardinal Hayes of New York.

Following the ceremonies and the storm, a tremendous rush for early trains began, and for some time police and railroad officials were taxed to bring order out of chaos and start trains moving. It was finally accomplished after heroic efforts, and was considered remarkable in that no serious injury resulted to any of the vast throng assembled.

As to actual figures on the crowds carried to Mundelein, the North Shore line announced that 1,200 cars had been run to the seminary grounds carrying an estimated 145,000. From Lake Bluff a shuttle line carried 80,000. Steam roads, it was reported, carried 75,000 more. Thousands of others arrived in motor cars.

The twenty-ninth International Eucharistic Congress is to be held in 1928 at Sydney, Australia.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

To save the government's time, the Post-Office department has decided to pay salaries of all employees in 9 of the country's largest post offices by check instead of in cash, beginning July 15.

Charging that the granting of discriminatory freight rates by steamship companies is in violation of the shipping act of 1916, the United States Shipping board has determined to institute an investigation of such practices against 78 ship lines.

Led by the President and a distinguished group of high officials of this and other nations, Washington gave a rousing welcome to Lieut. Com. Richard E. Byrd on his triumphant return from the Arctic regions, where he won world acclaim by flying over the North pole.

A resolution authorizing Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois to accept the decoration of the Legion of Honor from the French government was approved by the senate.

Klansmen Forbidden to Parade in Quaker City

Philadelphia. — The Ku Klux klan has been denied the right by Mayor Kendrick to parade in the city or to use the sesquicentennial auditorium for its meetings at the proposed conclave next September.

Police permits to hold the klan pageant on the parkway and at the exposition grounds have been ordered withheld and events scheduled in connection with the exposition on September 9, 10 and 11 have been stricken from the program.

Referendum Plank Is Adopted in Wisconsin

Milwaukee, Wis.—A plank calling for a general referendum on whether the Eighteenth amendment should be repealed or the Volstead act be modified was adopted by the conservative Republican state convention after a brief fight on the floor on which it was denounced as a straddle.

Extend Alien Examination

Washington.—The State department announced that the system of examining immigrants abroad has been extended to Germany, Luxemburg, Norway, Denmark and Poland.

Star Pitcher Released

Chicago.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran Cub hurler, and one of the oustanding figures in major league baseball for many years, has been released on waivers to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Youth Rides West

By Will Irwin

WNU Service

Copyright by Will Irwin

THE STORY SO FAR

On their way to the new Cotwood "gold diggings," in Colado in the Seventies, Robert lson, easterner, who tells the ory, and Buck Hayden, a vetn miner, his partner, secretly iteness the hold-up of a stageach. Among the hold-up vicms are a "Mrs. Deane" and her derly female companion. The ndits have been frightened off ter getting away with an exss box. Both parties continue eir separate ways.

HAPTER II—Continued

—3—

lone traveler stood, gazing. He a small man, clad in an envelopfrieze ulster and a battered black He turned on me, as I apched, a bright gray eye. The nose r it was strong at the root, and sharp. A long, thick mustache ed between spare cheeks shaven that morning—a detail worthy of ent in those surroundings, where men wore beards varying in age four days to thirty years.

ello'" he remarked. "Well, what ou think of our West?"

which I bristled within. I had nearly a year in the man's coun- I had just brought a jack train, and in good order, up Ludlow's ; I wondered how much longer s to suffer the reproach of tender But I managed to answer with good nature I could summon:

onsiderable country."

laughed pleasantly.

ollege-bred, too, I'm betting!" he ented. Somehow his friendly ner seemed to strip the offense this dreadful insinuation.

ow did you penetrate behind my t of ignorance and vulgarity?" I d, falling into the spirit of the sion.

's my business," said the stran- "piercing and penetrating the s and disguises of the human ounds to me like gambling," said atching his impudence with imnence of my own. "What's your Three-card monte or the little under the little shell?"

almost hate to tell you," said the ger, "lest you shrink from me. the greatest gamble of all. And most squalid and soul-destroying. peaceful village yonder—" and aved his hand to the smoke stain the whiteness to the north—"has rto proceeded on its simple, rusway, hiding and concealing from g eyes its microscopic peccadilsuch as murder, highway robbery, e faro boxes and claim jumping. me to destroy that golden age. In umbering wain repose the sinister of my craft—two fonts of nonil and seven boxes of assorted type. Casting your eyes farther e eastward, you perceive an inual bearing all the marks and acteristics of a tramp printer, temrily sober. He's convoying a d-hand flat-bed press, warranted o register in any climate. What behold, young but sapient sir, is mbryo of that great light-bearer, Cottonwood Courier." As sud- as he had begun it he dropped old western game of chaff and rie, held out his hand. "My e's Marcus Handy," he said. "I've d up my newspaper by the roots Quaker Creek, which is played s a camp, and I'm locating in Cotood—if I get there!"

ntroduced myself.

ou're mining, I suppose?" asked rs Handy, this ceremony over. n't know," he added hastily, "but were starting some kind of a busi- and might want to advertise. picked up a few ads along our rose-dotted wayside."

we talked we had turned our s to a shrill, new wind blowing up the immense depths below, and facing the picturesque confusion e summit of the pass. The crowd growing—none so unimaginative o grudge ten minutes for a look he Valley of Fortune. But the er arrivals were now reinching, g the last trim to loads or packs, disappearing downward around a lder of rock. And as they passed view Marcus Handy, who had busily gathering items for his number, described them all with ort phrase or two. It seemed to that he knew our impermanent van as one knows the town where gs dwelt all his life.

w outfits which we had passed before we reached the stage stahad attained the summit. Always passengers dismounted and la- forward for a view of the promland en came Buck's voice, calling. I that he had arranged the pack s own minute satisfaction, and the final dash to Cottonwood had n. Sparing time only to wolf two wiches of camp bread and frizzled , we rounded the rock. Below e road zigzagged with many a In turn down the mountain side. we rounded the shoulder of the the view burst on us again. I d in my saddle toward that disgray mist which was Cottonwood And my imagination flashed a picture of the town. Ridiculously at variance with Cottonwood as it was, it long persisted, even after I saw the reality. In the foreground, regarding the sights of that rough mining camp with superior but understanding eyes, walked—Mrs. Deane, the lady of the holdup episode. Then, my mind shifting from imagination to speculation, I wondered what she really was doing. She had joined a husband, waiting for her in Cottonwood, doubtless. . . .

Did she know that I had just lived through the pure, magnificent experience of that view across the valley, as she must have lived through it two days before? Did she know that I had safely passed the summit and was com.ng down the long path of adventure? . . . I suddenly pulled myself up, cursed myself for a sentimental, egotistical young fool, and slapped to action a lagging burro.

CHAPTER III

"I told you—too much folks!" grunted Buck as he loosened the cinches of his weary horse. I paid no attention; Buck had been repeating that phrase like the response of a litany ever since we crossed the path and threaded the more intensive traffic rushing into Cottonwood.

As I rubbed down my little roan with the dry part of a gunny sack which Buck had rescued from the mud I asked humbly:

"What's the program?"

"Git a regular supper of ham an' eggs from a sure enough restaurant," said Buck. "Guess it's comin' to us. An' find the lay of the land. Don't look good. Too much folks."

"What are we going to do about the outfit?" I asked.

"Leave it here," said Buck.

"Unguarded?" I inquired.

"Sure," said Buck. "They'd lynch a man quicker fur sneakin' things out of a public corral than fur stealing a horse—in a new camp like this," he said.

When we had watered at the pool of an unpolluted brook, when we had judiciously distributed the last of our oats among the whole train, when we had blanketed our horses with tarpaulins from the pack, my impatient young feet were free to follow Buck's down the full-flowing street. It quivered with excitement, chatter, good humor. A two-story building swung its doors wide open to the street. It revealed a rough room, the walls covered with newspapers. Along the whole farther side ran a bar. It took a moment of inspection to tell that; the first glimpse showed only a long row of men, leaning on their elbows, their stalwart backs hunched, their stretched coat-tails revealing their scabbarded sidearms. Nearer stood three tables fringed with card players, piled with gold pieces and buckskin sacks; about the players watched a silent, intent, standing border of spectators. Over all shone the brilliant light of one big kerosene lamp backed by a reflector and the soft, uncertain twinkling of candles, set row on row into boards. A crowd was incessantly climbing and descending the rough stairs to one side of the room. And from above I caught a voice bawling: "Place your bets, gents!" and the unmistakable whirr of a roulette wheel

A long, low shack next door emitted the tinkle of two guitars and a violin, a little hazy on their tune but sure of their cadences. Its two windows emitted an exceptional blaze of light. Within, ladies in very short skirts were whirling clumping partners in a waltz, and men were dancing in pairs. The door of this establishment, also, opened as I passed; I glimpsed a lady of whom my first impression was a knee-high yellow skirt and a pair of red stockings, my second that she wore many frizzes and no makeup. She was holding the lapels of a fat man who rolled a little uncertainly on his feet; and I caught her words:

"Just one li'l gold watch for—" The slamming of the door cut out the rest.

In a narrow alley running darkly up the hill were indications of even lower diversions.

A very modest shack, in the light of blazing windows across the street, bore the sign, "Assay Office." The building next most pretentious to the two-story building which we had passed on our first entry to the street turned out to be a general store. It was open and doing a brisk business. Farther down the street a lantern swung from a pole before a tent, illuminating the sign:

GOLDEN EAGLE RESTAURANT
MEALS AT ALL HOURS

As we edged through the crowd toward this objective Buck, being very hungry and low in spirits, voiced his pessimism.

"Startin' for a gold camp six months after the fall discovery an' a good month after the spring rush begun," he said. Was you the fool or was I?"

I had been feeling much the same thing, though with a less poignant disappointment, ever since we came out into Main street. Professedly the rush across the peaks was for gold. Unless all the claims had been staked, all the possibilities exhausted, why were people running shops, dives, concert halls, gambling dens? I had yet to learn the law of mining camps and gold rushes, which is also the law of life. Your advance on a strike was like an old-fashioned army with a fringe of camp followers greater than the army itself. Along with king-natures came slave-natures. Even at the first flush of discovery there were always men willing to sell their services for plain digging at four or five dollars a day. Where they got the imagination to come at all I never could see. There were others, again, who really had the gold fever, who failed at the first rush, and who immediately settled back to their predestined places in society.

I have lived long enough to see the end of most careers which sprouted at Cottonwood. Those who took fortunes out of the earth in the days when the Rockies suddenly blossomed with new camps—where are they now? One died in his middle age in Alaska, a common musher on the Klondike trail; one in a cottage in the East, supported by the relatives who had lived hectically on his bounty in the days of his strike; one in the Denver poorhouse. Those descendants in the second generation of mining-camp fortunes who in this day struggle for the illusions of social position as their grandfathers struggled for realities, derive from men who came across the peaks not with rocker and shovel but with merchandise. One fortune that I know of sprang from a livery stable, one from a hardware store, one from a pawnshop; and one had its true beginning in a tray of cheap jewelry and varnished watches carried into Cottonwood by a wandering and adventurous young Jew. Andrew Carnegie, I have heard, said "pioneering don't pay." It does not—in any coin which Carnegie would have recognized.

I Turned in My Saddle Toward That Distant, Gray Mist Which Was Cottonwood Camp.

* * * * * * *

However, Buck and I are in a big log cabin, the fresh mountain airs blowing through a chink of the mud daubed into the cracks. Buck, with a "woof" of animal satisfaction, settled down to the bench, and addressed the waiter.

"What I want is eggs," he said. "Ham and eggs."

The waiter balanced his string of tin plates along his arm.

"Why, how-de-do, Commodore Vanderbilt!" he said. "Pleased to see you transfer your valuable patronage from the Astor house!" Having delivered himself in falsetto of this sarcasm, he dropped his voice to its natural note. "The last egg in this here camp," said he, "was et at six bits apiece yesterday. What you'll git is venison steak, canned corn and coffee."

The waiter stopped to collect from the rest of the guests, now finished and going; then assembled our tin plates of venison along his arm, hooked the handles of two tin coffee cups into the fingers of his spare hand and returned with an expert professional swing. He slammed our provender before us, picked up half a loaf of bread from the debris at the other end of the table, struck it once or twice on the edge by way of dusting it off, and deposited it, uncut, between our plates. "I kin give you a dob of nice, snow-white butter for two bits extra," he said. That final luxury laid out, he settled himself beside Buck, his elbows on the table; and when he resumed conversation, he clove by accident near to the heart of the matter.

"Funny to see the way the boys was gettin' rid of gold claims a day or two ago," he said. "Ground that was yieldin' forty dollars a day to partners, let alone a chance at pockets, was goin' for a song."

"Did you git in on that?" asked Buck indifferently.

"Would 'a' if I'd had anybody to dig," replied the waiter. "This here's a better proposition. Pioneer restaurant of the camp. Was workin' as a waiter in the Palmer house in Denver when I saw the chance."

"Suppose gold claims is goin' up by now?" inquired Buck casually.

"Yep. But they're still to be got. Feller was in here today. Said he'd sell out for a wagon outfit or jacks or anythin' to git up to the Frozen River country. He's got some sort of notion about that country."

"I know a feller that might do business with him," said Buck. He was looking down at his plate, carving mightily at his steak.

I saw the waiter's eye fix itself upon Buck for a moment before he asked:

"Meanin' an' signifyin' yourself, maybe?"

Buck looked up, met his eye coolly, and became utterly frank.

"Meanin' an' signifyin' me an' my partner here," he said. "We come for gold. I don't say I want your claim, an' I don't say I don't. I want to see the dirt first. I suppose you're the party that owns it?"

"You're smarter 'n a whip, old hoss, but you got it wrong this time," replied the proprietor. "I ain't the party that owns it. But I'm his agent, sort of."

The conversation drifted off to a debate about terms; I let my attention wander to the glimpses of the crowd surging past our door, to the muffled roar of a thousand cheerful conversations, to the spurts of distant music. When I returned my attention to business Buck and the waiter had evidently reached some kind of agreement. Our host was donning his canvas coat, was calling to the cook, "Keep her goin' till I git back, Johnnie," and Buck was making his preliminary move toward any positive action—he was biting off the corner from a black piece of plug tobacco. I followed, an unconsidered party to the bargain, out into the mushy, crowded road which served Cottonwood for a main street. And as we walked the proprietor of the Golden Eagle expanded, grew confidential about his business. His name was Huffaker, he said—Jim Huffaker.

"She'll be Huffaker's hotel soon's the lumber comes down," he added. "I made the stake last winter. I hear's how a party from Plested's is comin' up with backin' for a new hotel. I ain't losin' any sleep. The camp's goin' to stand two hotels—an' with the start I've got— But I'll have to hustle. Jest this week an old stager of a lady from down below stakes out a miners' boardin' house. Funny thing," he added; "she was in the last stage holdup. Somebody drove off the bandits before they done me the favor of lifting her roll."

"She brought in a beaut with her. This Mrs. Barnaby who's startin' to put me out of business says she's jest a boarder, but if anybody asks me, I'll be answerin' and respondin' that she's the biscuit shooter."

We were now edging through the crowd; progress was too difficult for conversation; and I had a moment with my own thoughts. His mention of Mrs. Barnaby had brought a slight jerk of my nerves, which even yet tingled in my cheeks. And when he coupled with this the mention of the unknown a song which had been singing behind my heart for three days seemed to burst suddenly into full tune. Not until that moment, I think, did I even half realize how deeply the episode of the Cottonwood road had touched me, what was really troubling my inmost thoughts during all that hard journey up the trails.

Huffaker had led us into a packed, stuffy little saloon. The object of his search was not there, apparently. We tried another; here Huffaker made inquiries. Yes, Bill Talbot had been seen round camp. Now we entered that two-story establishment, saloon and gambling house combined. The evening rush was on. The fringe of standing spectators about the poker tables had become a crowd. The row by the bar stood two and three deep; men were reaching over each other's shoulders for their drinks.

The room above seemed equally crowded, to judge by the tramping, the shaking of the ceiling. Even through our own babble, I could catch the whirr of the wheel, the call of the dealers.

A series of thumps sounded from above; the footsteps came heavier and with an irregular rhythm. There were shouts, too; then one pistol shot. Through the door at the head of the stairs burst a glimpse of a man taking three steps at a time. Two miners, just starting to ascend, blocked his way. In the flash of an eye, he jumped like a cat over the rail without touching it, landed on the floor in a heap, got his feet, made like a streak for the door.

Held to the spot by the suddenness of events, I saw a man jump from the crowd by a poker table, clutch at him. I saw the little man strike out and backward, perceived that as he leaped away he was carrying a knife. He had reached the door when someone thrust out a foot, and he went forward onto his face. One man, then another, fell on him; I lost sight of him in the surging crowd. The babble was cut by the noise of heavy boots and a shout—again from the stairs; down clumped and lumbered a big fellow with a black beard, yelling:

"Don't let him get my roll—grab my roll!"

The man who clutched at the fugitive from the poker table had been stabbed in the forearm. Blood was running down his fingers, spattering onto the floor; someone was twisting a tourniquet. My mind suddenly coordinating, I perceived the situation. The little man, now strangled to quietude on the floor, was a pickpocket; he who had just lumbered down the steps had been robbed of his roll of bills. The crowd opened for an instant, giving me a glimpse of the pickpocket's face. It was natively dark, Latin; but now his complexion looked like dirty wax, and the fixed sullen black eyes in his set features held a world of dread.

"Knifed him in a white's man's camp"—"dirty pickpocket"—and then, always in a tone that hissed: "Lynch him!" It came again out of the roar: "Lynch him!" It grew until it was a refrain on half the tongues in the room: "Lynch him!" I turned to Buck. His face was hard. Huffaker had stepped back to the wall, regarding proceedings with cold but apprehensive eyes. All the rest, it seemed to me, were bawling: "Lynch him!" I grew faint with what I must see.

A mob, they say, needs only a leader to turn it from a herd of purposeless men to a legion of purposeful devils. In that instant the leader appeared. He was short, thick-necked, wrestler-built. He wore a great red beard from above which gleamed an eye as red, and now wicked with whisky and animal hate.

"Well, has anybody got a rope?" he asked. This positive suggestion seemed to hush the babble as a muted stop on an organ; for an instant there was almost silence; out of which a voice came:

"There's plenty of lariats in the corral."

"Two of you go and fetch one," said the leader. "Any of you got a couple of belts to spare? All right, strap his arms and legs."

As men shot through the back door, as men began stripping off their belts, the babble rose again; but not before I had heard from the thick crowd by the door a kind of low, choking wail, which made me if possible, even more sick of soul. It flashed upon me that I might make some countermove in the interest of real justice and of mercy. I looked about; no eye but showed fury save only Buck's and the blue, impassive orb of Jim Huffaker. The back door flew open; a man entered with a coiled rope. And then—

Before you read the next installment be sure to buy a bullet-proof vest. You'll probably need it.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Thatched Roofs Still Common in England

One of the oldest crafts in England is that of thatching. In Norfolk county flat-bottomed boats still pass along the streams conveying men who cut and gather reeds for thatched roofs. When reed season is in full swing huge piles of dried reeds stand along the banks waiting for the thatchers. Thatching is really one of the manual arts hereditary in certain families in that country. One family has engaged in the occupation through four centuries.

Only one change has been made in the process during the 400 years. Formerly the reeds were fastened to rafters with long strands of bramble bush. Now either tarred twine or iron pegs are used for that purpose. As the reeds are being put on the roofs their tops are still laid in place with a historic implement known as the leggett. This implement consists of a block of wood with comb-like arrangements of horseshoe nails.

The Duel

Perkins and Jessup had been having heated words as to which was the braver man. The outcome was an agreement to fight a duel after the old-time style. According to the rules, they were both to be put in a darkened room, each with a revolver in his hand. The first one to find the other was to fire once. After that no more shots were to be fired. About three seconds after the lights were out was enough for Perkins. Thinking to end the agony, he crept into the fireplace and fired up the chimney. Jessup fell dead at his feet.

Uncle Eben

"I never yet saw a loafer," said Uncle Eben, "who didn't imagine he was intitled to some kind of reward for beautifiyin' de earth by his presence."—Washington Star.

Old English Company

It is known that the Fishmongers' company is very old, but as its archives were destroyed in the great fire of London, it is only certain through the charter granted by Edward III in 1364 that the "mystery of fishmongers had grants from the king's progenitors in ancient times." In the good old days, when Lent was kept with fish and fasting, the company saw to it that no unsound fish was sold in Billingsgate market, and punished offenders with the stocks. With the income from its holdings the company supports three large almshouses, one of which is Jesus hospital in Bray. Here "rooms with chimneys" provide fit accommodation for forty old people, six of whom are to be the "most aged and poorest decayed persons of the company of fishmongers over fifty years of age."

When Judge Changed Law

In the trial of Algernon Sydney, friend of William Penn, Sydney was executed for taking part in the Rye House plot. The law required two witnesses. It was found that there was but one; whereupon Judge Jeffreys made the ruling. The circumstance against Sydney was that he had written an unpublished manuscript against monarchy.

ATTRACTIVE WOMEN

If You Would Be Attractive You Must Be Healthy

A beautiful woman is always admired There are many types of beauty. But no woman can be truly beautiful unless she is healthy. Radiant vitality is always attractive however plain a woman's features may be.

Many a woman has found her health improved thru the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Weakness, loss of weight, and a pale complexion were a few of the things of which Mrs. J. C. Taylor of Box 211, Tallahassee, Florida, complained before she started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. "I could not even sit down and talk to a friend for any length of time," she states, "I would forget what I was talking about and felt so blue." Mrs. Taylor is so pleased with the work of the Vegetable Compound that she keeps a bottle of it in the house at all times—and when it is empty, her husband makes sure that she has a new bottle. "I have regained my strength," Mrs. Taylor writes. "I can do all my housework now and I feel just fine."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs and has been growing in popularity among women for over fifty years.

FOR OVER 200 YEARS

haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions.

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

correct internal troubles, stimulate vital organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine GOLD MEDAL.

First Homestead in Country Now Marked

A Nebraska state historical monument has been erected and dedicated at the site of the original home on the Daniel Freeman estate, known as the first homestead entry filed under the homestead law in the United States, on land still in the possession of children of Freeman, 19 miles northwest of Wymore, or five miles west of Beatrice. The monument is formed from stone taken from the dismantled state capitol at Lincoln and hauled to the farmstead, and contains an appropriate bronze tablet.

Daniel Freeman was a young man at Brownville, oldest town in Nebraska, when the homestead law became effective January 1, 1863. Freeman secured entry No. 1, and on horseback he rode at night to locate on the section 95 miles to the west, where he lived until his death eight years ago, and where the widow still lives, and six children live in the vicinity.

Extreme

"You said the land you sold me was meadow."

"Well?"

"It's so stony my hens have sore feet."—Vancouver Province.

Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

25¢ and 75¢ Pkg's. Sold Everywhere

Healthy, Happy Babies

The best way to keep baby in crowing, contented health is Mrs. Winslow's Syrup. This safe, pleasant, effective remedy regulates the bowels and quickly overcomes diarrhoea, colic, flatulency, constipation, and teething troubles.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

The Infants' and Children's Regulator is best for baby. Guaranteed free from narcotics, opiates, alcohol and all harmful ingredients. Open formula on every label.

At all Druggists

Write for free booklet of letters from grateful mothers.

Anglo-American Drug Co. 215-217 Fulton St. New York

FACIAL ERUPTIONS

unsightly and annoying—improved by one application of

Resinol

LIGHTING HISTORY TRACED BY EXPERT

Shows Development From Days of Torch.

Washington.—The history of lighting from such crude beginnings as when the Shetland islanders made a torch-lamp by sticking a wick in the throat of the very fat stormy petrel forms the subject of an interesting manuscript just completed as the fruit of years of research by a Smithsonian scientist. The author is Dr. Walter Hough, head curator of anthropology in the National museum, which is administered by the Smithsonian.

Doctor Hough's account reveals that animals have played a surprisingly large part in furnishing light to man. A very fat little fish called the candle fish is burned like the stormy petrel by the Indians of the Northwest coast of America. In the tropics of America the natives used to build cages to hold the great light-bearing beetle or firefly for illuminating purposes.

Largest Contributors.

But whales and seals have made the largest contribution, of course, in supplying lamp fuel. Up to the discovery of petroleum in quantities in 1859, they provided the major portion of the world's lamp oil, "with the result," as Doctor Hough puts it, "that the lamp was rather a device for increasing Christian fortitude than a dependable producer of light."

Doctor Hough has devoted years to the collecting and study of artificial lighting objects until the collection now in the National museum is probably without a peer. Henry Ford has made a hobby of the collecting of such objects and he now has a very excellent series of specimens.

The revolutionizing factor in illumination Doctor Hough finds to be the solution of the problem, of draft for lamps by a Swiss engineer named Argand, in the year 1782. George Washington had some of the Argand lamps at Mount Vernon. These are now in the National museum historical collections.

The Torch.

"The torch," says Doctor Hough, "is associated with war, destruction, pomp and barbaric festivities. The candle symbolizes peace, domesticity and contemplation of religious things. The lamp in turn stands for wisdom, furnishing feeble light to aid the keen eyes of philosophers and poets. In modern times the torch becomes a pictograph of the adventurings of science into new fields of research, the lamp stands for education, while the candle is sidetracked to the service of luxury and ritualism."

Doctor Hough is also an authority on heating and on the broader subject of fire. He has prepared a monograph on fire with a fascinating body of folk lore and mythology, which now awaits a publisher. In a paper on heating he gives first credit to Benjamin Franklin for the adaptation of the stove to coal. "Franklin," he says, "saw that the problem was to provide an efficient draft and proceeded to work it out on scientific lines in 1742 for wood-burning stoves and 40 years later for coal stoves."

Monte Carlo Reforms Favored by Prince

Monte Carlo.—A campaign is on to clean up Monte Carlo.

A new weekly newspaper, Tout Va, meaning "Everything Goes," says Sir Basil Zaharoff, one of the richest men in Europe, and Paris bankers are the actual rulers of the little principality of Monaco.

"Blow the Casino into the sea and Monaco would be a better place for all," is a remark frequently heard, even among business men, although the receipts from the Casino go to pay the entire taxes of the principality.

Tout Va declares Monte Carlo politics the worst in the world. It is charged that the Casino special police are able to rule despotically in Monaco.

The Casino, headed by Director General Vendenpush, has aroused resentment because of its efforts to constitute the Casino the center of all Monte Carlo amusements.

Democrats seeking to change the system of control of the Casino have the support of the prince. Without curtailing gambling, which the people do not consider bad for the country, the National Democrats favor a system of civil service appointments to the lucrative Casino positions.

Toss of Coin Settles Case in Detroit Court

Detroit, Mich.—The flip of a coin between attorneys for plaintiff and defendant in a case appealed from justice court and heard before Judge Ira W. Jayne resulted in a judgment for $175 for the plaintiff who had been only granted $25 in the lower court.

Levison & Co. sued in justice court for $250 from Labadie Bros. of Wyandotte for plaster delivered to them. Labadie Bros. claim the plaster was worthless and refused to pay. The plaintiff received a judgment of $25 and appealed to Circuit court.

Judge Jayne advised the attorneys to effect a compromise and Sidney A. Jacobs, for the plaintiff, asked for $200, and Leo Cahalan, defense attorney, said his client would settle for $150.

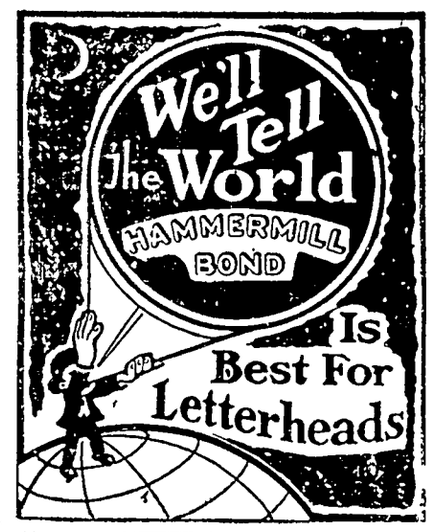
The two attorneys stepped outside the courtroom and flipped a coin to determine whether Labadie Bros. would pay $150 or $175.

A Small Bible

E. J. Sidey, of Greenfield, says that a Bible, said to be the smallest in the world was shown at the court house by C. C. Jenkins, salesman for a Waterloo publishing company. The page of this Bible is the size of a postage stamp. The ype can be read with a magnifying glass and the illustrations are discernable to the naked eye. The salesman values the book at $1,000.

PRONUNCIATION AID

June Webster, descendant of the famous lexicographer, Noah Webster, presents a copy of her ancestor's work to the Publicity Department of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition Association to help them in pronouncing properly the name of the big events which opens June 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. There are many types of pronunciations heard but there is just one proper way Noah says. It is "Ses-Kwuh-cen-ten'-nial" with the accent on the first syllable of the "Sesqui" and on the second syllable of the "centennial."



Let Us Show You Samples

Miss Lcis Trafford came from Belmond Tuesday for a visit with Klemme friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lau drove to Britt Monday for a visit at the Wm. Schubert home.

Mr. White, of Esthrville was here on business Wednesday at the Northern Lumber Co. and also had dinner at the Paul Grange home.

Mrs. Lou Davis and children, of Mason City, were visiting at the Henry Freie home Wednesday of this week.

Miss Mary White drove down from Estherville Wednesday, for a visit at the Paul Grange home. She will remain in Klemme until the week-end.

Dr. W. F. Missman and family left this morning for their summer cottage up in Wisconsin. Dr. Missman will be thore for a week, but Mrs. Missman and Byrnes will remain for some time.

LIGHTNING AND RADIO

Lightning has no especial affinity for radio antennae, and radio operators need have no special fear during thunderstorms, say engineers of the Underwriters' Laboratories, who have conducted an amazing series of tests in radio safety.

"Lightning is hard to check," says one of the engineers. But more men are lightning struck out under trees than in any other way, according o unolicial statistics. One might indeed be a target at the end of a properly insulated radio set; but no more so than at the keyboard of a piano, or with knife and fork in hand at the dinner table, or patting the keys of a typewriter.

David Sarhoff, Vice President of the Radio Corporation of America, predicts that moving-talking pictures may soon be shown in every home by radio. He says the only problem is speeding up transmission of still pictures, and that reearch engineers are hard at work perfecting the speed-up attachments.

Third Set of Teeth

Cushing, Okla.—Rev. D. A. McLaury, pioneer minister of Cushing, is growing his third set of teeth. He has now eight new molars and others are "sprouting." They are not as large as his second set, but answer the purpose for practical use and will save him a large dentist's bill for a new set, he declares.

Would Fast 100 Days

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Frank Wolfe a farmer, thinks he could go 100 days without food, having fasted half that time recently to reduce his weight. He is challenging Mr. Jolly of Berlin for the world's championship. Jolly has just fasted forty-four days.

WILD WEST MOVIES TAKEN IN IOWA

Along the Raccoon river near Adel in Dallas county, motion picture camera men have been on duty taking reels of western life. Verlin Sweeley says that Chas. Ellis, noted cowboy, is being starred, and many thrilling scenes were made along Coon river. The biggest thrill recorded so far is one made by Mr. Ellis while being chased by sheriffs after he is supposed to have stolen some cattle. Mr. Ellis made a spectacular dive with his horse, Ranger, off a high bank into the river. Needless to say, both rider and horse were thoroughly soaked, but for the movies, everything goes. Daring riding and many tricks of Mr. Ellis' famous horse are clearly shown. Several local people are included in the cast, including Chas. Sieh, Carroll Howell and Miss Nellie Johnson, who took a leading part in this western picture. Miss Johnson has also signed a contract to ride in the rodeo at Boone July 3, 4 and 5.

PIANOS

Players & Grand
New and
Second Hand

M. N. ZEIGER

Jewelry & Optical Goods
GARNER, IOWA

REFORMED BIBLE CLASS ENJOY BIG PICNIC FRIDAY

One of the big events of the year at the Klemme Reformed Church was the Sunday School picnic held in honor of the Bible Class students who have worked hard on their summer course of study.

At 10:30 o'clock the class, consisting of thirty-six students, of all ages of children, gave a program at the church grounds, of songs, Bible stories and a public examination over their bible study course. The students had put in a lot of time and study, which was evidenced by the manner in which they could recite from memory the books of the Bible from beginning to end in a rapid, sure manner. The pupils also showed unusual speed in finding passages of Scripture given them at random by Rev. Grosshuesch.

Rev. Grosshuesch is to be complimented for the wonderful showing his class made in their work Friday. And the class is to be praised also for their proficiency in mastering their study of the Bible.

At noon the families of the children and other members of the Reformed Church brought well filled baskets and the picnic table fairly groaned under it's heavy load of good things.

The afternoon was given over to various sports for the young people and older ones, too. In the evening the young people from the Elltown Reformed Church were invited in to help along the celebration and the young people of the two churches enjoyed a fine social evening.

"July 4th" Special

HAMS!

Special

Saturday Only
PICNIC HAMS at 29c

These Picnic Hams are absolutely guaranteed—if they don't give satisfaction your money will be refunded! BUY ONE FOR THE FOURTH!

WHERE ARE YOU GOING THE FOURTH?

No matter where you are going the Fourth you are undoubtedly planning a big Picnic Dinner—We just want to remind our stock of Cold Meats, Cheese, Jellies, Preserves, Pork & Beans, Pickles, Olives, Etc. is complete and will fill the greater part of your lunch basket! Buy it Here!

Klemme Meat Market

Dress Up For The Fourth

No matter where you celebrate you should look and feel your best. Dress up for the Fourth and make your selections from our fine stock.

MEN AND BOYS WEAR

Straw Hats	Dress Shirts	Cool Caps
Latest Oxfords	Silk Hose	New Ties
New Belts	Soft Collars	Underwear

FOR LADIES AND GIRLS

New Dress Goods	Slippers, Oxfords
Silk Hosiery	Silk Underwear

Everything for the Ladies Here

GROCERIES

Always a fresh line of Gorceries and Fruits for Special Occasions. Plan your picnic lunch from our Grocery Department.

EXTRA SPECIAL

TWO LOTS OF LADIES AND GIRLS OXFORDS and SLIPPERS, broken lots, all new stock, a real bargain at $2.49 $2.95

Trade Here

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

What Do You Pay
For 'Oil Mileage'?

ARE YOU one of the many oil users who buy an oil just because the price is cheap and which, in the long run, proves ex pensive? The few cents you save on that kind of oil COSTS You DOLLARS in improp er lubrication causing expensive repair bills and damaged motors. Cheap oil is expen sive at any price!

For Sixty Years
Gargoyle Mobiloil

For 60 years the Vaccuum Oil Com pany has engaged in no other business than that of refining of HIGH GRADE OIL. There are 60 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE back of every quart of MOBILOIL you use.

MOBILOIL is used by the United States Government in their airplane motors. MOBILOIL is used by many prominent race car drivers. MOBILOIL has been found to stand up under severe tests and comes up to the standard required for aviation and racing conditions.

Whether you buy it by the quart or by the barrel you get MORE MILES and MORE SATISFACTION for your money. There are many good oils but none better! You get real LUBRICATION, insuring a long lasting motor and a minimum of expense.

We make delivery FREE of Charge on any purchase of ten gallons or over of the proper grade of oil for your car or tractor.

Don't Buy Oil!

—Until you have become acquainted with MOBILOIL—Standad For 60 Years!

SOLD ONLY BY RELIABLE DEALERS

Garner Auto Co.

Phone 77 KLEMME, IOWA

An Even Start

owner of the store was trying give the new boy a little fatherdvice.

hy, young man, I even started life as a barefoot boy."

ell, I wasn't born with shoes yself, sir," said the youngster.

The Victor

"The other heirs tried to git the farm, but I beat 'em in court every time."

"That's good. Gonna keep on livin' on it?"

"Yep! I'm rentin' it of the lawyers."

BIG CELEBRATION JULY 4th and 5th

BAYSIDE

---AMUSEMENT PARK---

Clear Lake, Iowa

SUNDAY, JULY 4th

1:00 P. M. Concert Charles City Band
1:30 P. M. Charleston Contest, 14 years or under.
2:30 P. M. Women's Foot Race
3:30 P. M. Greased Pig Race
4:30 P. M. Charleston Contest, 15 years or over
8:00 P. M. Concert Charles City Band
8:30 P. M. Women's Nail Driving Contest
9:30 P. M. Charleston Contest for Couples
10:30 P. M. Fireworks—Lot's of 'em.

BIG CASH PRIZES FOR EVERY CONTEST

MONDAY, JULY 5th

GREAT WATER CARNIVAL AT 2:30 P. M.

Tub Races, Swimming Races, Water Ball Game, Diving Contest, BEAUTY CONTEST and other Sports.

BIG CASH PRIZES FOR EVERY EVENT

AT BAYSIDE—Free picnic grounds and tables, Bath House and Fine Bathing Beach, Concessions of All Kinds.

In case of rain July 4th the two-day program will be held on Monday, July 5th.

FUN FOR ALL—— ——ALL FOR FUN

—Policed Parking Grounds for Cars 15c—

BIG DANCE WHITE PIER MONDAY NIGHT, JULY 5th!

Coming! Carload of-

TWINE

We have a carload of McCormick-Deering Twine coming. Put in your orders at once if you want Twine this year as over half of this carload has already been sold on orders to date. Call us up or see us at once!

Tankage-Oil Meal-

Have another carload of Tankage and Oil Meal coming. Get in your orders now. We bought this beforet he raise and we can save you $5.00 a ton if you put in your order and take it off the car.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

The Better the Cream The Larger The Check

QUALITY and SERVICE are two words that mean much in the affairs of the average American.

In conducting a Creamery, quality and service means as much as in any other line of business. In order to be able to pay our patrons TOP PRICES is is absolutely necessary that they enter into our plan with the proper spirit of co-operation and bring ony good, sweet cream to the Creamery. If you will do that, we will agree to give you the very best of service on our part and manufacture your cream into real quality butter and also assure you a Better Price than where sour, stale and tainted cream is delivered. You furnish the Quality and we will furnish the service, that isn't asking anything out of reason is it?

COOLING TANKS

We have good ones for sale here at a reasonable price. They will keep your Cream Sweet and Good—you can't afford to be without a good cooling tank. Ask us!

"You Get Every Cent Your Cream Brings"

At The—

Klemme Co-Op Creamery Co.

AMOUNT OF RUBBER IN MAN MEASURED

Scientist Tests Elasticity of Cells.

Philadelphih. — Stretching human and plant cells to determine their elasticity is no longer a stretch of imagination.

It is under the microscope, working with glass needles with microscopically fine points, that Dr. William Selfriz, professor of botany at the University of Pennsylvania, is appraising how much "rubber" there is in man's make-up, just as the engineers have tested the coefficient of the elasticity of steel and other structural materials.

So far, among other results, Doctor Selfriz has determined that the blood cell, or corpuscle, of the frog can be stretched to ten times its size. The human blood cell, however, is more stubborn. It stretches to only three times its original size before it breaks.

The extremely delicate nature of the experiment is apparent when he tells that the human blood corpuscle has a diameter of one two-hundred-thousandth of an inch The stretching, too, is accomplished by hand-made glass needles manufactured by himself

Glass threads are held over a small flame and suddenly snapped. These are then inserted in two holders on each side of the microscope Then as he peers through the lens of the instrument, they are gradually screwed toward the lone cell held in a minute drop of water hanging from a cover of glass under the instrument.

The needle points catch. They are screwed up to pierce the membrane Then, with almost painful slowness, the distance between the needle points is widened, the distance being measured on a fine scale.

"We don't know yet just what the full value of this study will be," said Doctor Selfriz. "Science knows now that many diseases are due to leaky membranes losing salts necessary for proper functioning.

"A membrane of high elasticity is fairly watertight; conversely, a membrane of low elasticity is leaky. Leaky membranes in humans mean all sorts of trouble. They are porous and lose their necessary constituents.

"The human protoplasms—cells—are not as elastic as rubber. They are like bread dough in more ways than one. They have the same sticky consistency and many of the same characteristics. Muscle and nerve fibers are being subjected to the same scrutiny by scientists. Nerve fibers have been found to be highly elastic—considerably more so than muscle fibers.

"It may be that a great deal may be learned of cancer caused through such experiments. There are scientists who are working on the cells with this end in view."

Says First League of Nations Was 546 B. C.

London. — Those concerned over placing the honor of having first conceived the idea of the League of Nations have been astonished by the suggestion of Prof. H. A. Giles of Cambridge, noted student of the culture and history of China, that China made an attempt to create such a league 546 years before Christ.

What is now China was then divided into a number of separate independent states, several of which were larger than France or Germany of today. A covenant was signed by representatives of various states with a view to putting an end to war but two states held out and the league failed. Three hundred years later the states were brought together by warlike methods under the Ch'in dynasty.

Bear Cubs in Virginia Sold at $1 Per Pound

Luray, Va.—Bears have become so numerous in parts of Highland county —50 miles southwest of Luray—that cubs are being sold for $1 per pound at Monterey, the county seat. Hunters a few days ago found a number of cubs at a point near where Augusta, Highland and Pendleton counties adjoin The mother bear was routed, leaving her offspring.

After being captured the bears were placed "on bottles," drinking the milk with relish. They have become so docile that little girls fondle them in their laps. After being supplied with milk the cubs invariably drop into deep slumber. A few minutes that are allowed to extend over the stated hours for their meals bring sharp and ominous growls from the cubs.

Bering Sea Hero Has Merit for Auto Driver

New York.—Magistrate Giorglo in Ridgewood court fined Frank Roberts, a sailor, $50 for having driven a car without a license. As Roberts had only $25, he was about to go to jail, when he mentioned that the ship on which he served was the President Roosevelt.

"The one that rescued the Antinoe crew?" asked the court.

Roberts admitted to being one of the heroic Roosevelt sailors, who later shook hands with the mayor and was many times decorated. The magistrate apologized for having previously held him. The fine was revoked and a suspended sentence substituted.

SHERIFF'S SALE

W. H. RAMSEY
vs.
CLARA E. SCHULDT AND FRED H SCHULDT.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of a Special Execution issued out of the office of the Clerk of the District Court, in Hancock County on a judgment rendered May 25th May Term of said Court, A. D., 1926 for the sum of Two Thousand Three Hundred Seventy-seven & 45-100 Dollars debt, and Fourteen & 25-100 Dollars costs, in favor of W. H. Ramsey and against Clara E. Schuldt, Fred H. Schuldt and to the Sheriff of Hancock County directed, I have levied upon the following property, to-wit: The South Half (S½) of the Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of Section Eighteen (18), Township Ninety-four (94) North, Range Twenty-three (23) West of the 5th P. M. in Hancock County, Iowa.

NOW, THEREFORE, Public Notice is hereby given that I shall, on the 10th day of July, 1926, at 10 o'clock A. M, at the front door of the Court House, in Garner, in Hancock County, offer and sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, all the right, title, and interest that the above named Clara E. Schuldt, and Fred H Schuldt had on the 8th day of June A. D, 1926, or now have in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy said execution together with costs and all accruing costs, unless the same shall be sooner satisfied.

Dated at the Sheriff's office in Garner, this 10th day of June, A. D. 1926

E. P. HANSON,
Sheriff of Hancock County, Iowa.
(Publish July 1-8.)

NOTICE OF PROBATE OF WILL

STATE OF IOWA,
Hancock County, ss.
TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN·

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED, That an instrument of writing purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Loretta Phoebe Mayne deceased, dated Juno 19th, 1926, having been this day filed, opened and read, Monday the 26th day of July, 1926 is fixed for hearing proof of same at the Court House in Garner, Iowa, before the District Court of said County or the Clerk of said Court; and at 2:00 o'clock P. M. of the day above mentioned, all persons interested are hereby notified and required to appear, and show cause, if any they have, why said instrument should not be probated and allowed as and for the last Will and Testament of said deceased.

Dated at Garner, Iowa, June 25th, 1926.

CHRIS J. JOHANSEN,
Clerk of District Court.
(Publish July 1-8-15, '26)

NOTICE OF PROBATE OF WILL

STATE OF IOWA,
Hancock County, ss.
TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED, That an instrument of writing purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Martha Ludeke deceased, dated Nov. 25, 1924, having been this day filed, opened and read, and Monday the 12th day of July, 1926, is fixed for hearing proof of same at the Court House in Garner, Iowa, before the District Court of said County or the Clerk of said Court; and at 10:00 o'clock A. M. of the day above mentioned, all persons interested are hereby notified and required to appear, and show cause, if any thy have, why said instrument should not be probated and allowed as and for the last Will and Testament of said deceased.

Dated at Garner, Iowa, June 14th, 1926.

CHRIS J. JOHANSEN,
(J17-24-J11) Clerk of Distict Court

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR

STATE OF IOWA
Hancock County, ss.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Administrator of the estate of John Griggs deceased, late of Hancock County. All persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned for allowance, and file in he office of the Clerk of the District Court.

F. A. ARNOLD, Administrator
Dated June 22, 1926.

CHRIS J. JOHANSEN,
(J24-J1-8) Clerk District Court

FOOLISH QUESTIONS

The following bit of poetry (?) came to our attention recently and we are passing it along for what it is worth—a moment of amusement.

The author's name is missing.

Here is the dope:—

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee?
Or a key to lock of his hair?
Can his eyes be called an academy
Because there are pupils there?
In the crown of his head what gems ar found?
Who travels the bridge of his nose?
Can he use, when shingling the roof of his house
The nails on the end of his toes?
Can the crook in his elbow be sent to jail?
If so, what did he do?
How does he sharpen his shoulder blades?
I'll be hanged if I know, do you?
Can he sit in the shade of the palm of his hand?
Or beat on the drums of his ears?
Does the calf of his leg eat the corn on his toes?
If so, why not grow corn on his ear?

Attention Farmers

IF YOUR PIGS ARE WORMY—Get a pail of DR. HESS' WORM POWDER.

After feeding this if you are not satisfied with the results, return the empty pail and GET YOUR MONEY BACK.

Wilson's Pharmacy

Cold Pack Canning Supplies

Make your "Farm Service" Store your headquarters for Canning and Cold Packing Supplies of all kinds. We carry only high grade goods of known quality here.

TOLEDO CONSERVO COOKERS

We have sold dozens of "Conservos" to housewives in this vicinity. Come in and let us explain the Conservo to you—once it s tried, it 's always used.

FULL LINE OF SUPPLIES

For Cold Packing and Canning we have everything you need in Large and Individual Jar Racks, Jar Lifters, Jar Tightners and large Boilers.

Now is the time to buy a Perfection Oil Range for hot weather cooking and canning. We have all sizes and styles he

E. F. Jacobs

"THE FARM SERVICE STORE"

Celebrate at Britt

Monday, July 5

Parade and Patriotic Program up town in morning. Ben A. Webster, ex-commander of American Legion for Iowa, will be the orator.

Horse races, bicycle races, base ball games, stunts, sports at the Fairground in the afternoon. Gate open at 12:30,

Evening program of music, water fight, sports, dancing, on Main Street.

Flies and mosquitoes love campers.

WHY allow these aggravating, filthy pests to ruin your outings? In camp or at home Flit will free you from the nuisance.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Get a Flit can and sprayer today. For sale everywhere.

STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)

FLIT

DESTROYS
Flies Mosquitoes Moths
Ants Bed Bugs Roaches

"The yellow can with the black band"

Gold Mining in Spain

Although gold mining in Spain has a history going back to the Romans, its story so far is rather gilded than golden. Now, however, dredging alluvial soils on the River Orbigo, in the ancient province of Leon, begun seriously in July, 1925, is giving such promising results that a second bucket dredger is about to be installed by the company making the venture.

Better lubrication for your automobile, tractor, and all farm equipment

YOUR MOTOR NEEDS Mona Motor Oil

Twist your dials to K-O-I-L

the Mona Motor Oil Radio Station

Glacial Era Survival

A tree trunk found 45 feet below the tide level of the Hudson in the foundation excavations for a skyscraper, is a relic of the glacial era, according to experts at the American Museum of Natural History, who identified it as Juniperis communis, a species of red cedar that flourished in Europe about a million years ago, but never previously supposed to have lived in America until the present geological age. Its present-day relatives are to be found as near as Long Island and New Jersey.

The beautiful rests on the foundations of the necessary.—Emerson.

Gland Extract to Heal Broken Bones

It is possible that, as the result of recent experiments in Japan, the breaking of a limb, or even a hip, may soon be looked upon without alarm.

Healing broken bones may be hastened and the fractured bones of even old people will knit together if the patient is treated with a certain glandular extract. Next to the thyroid gland in the neck are four tiny glands known as "parathyroid glands." It is claimed that when an extract from these is swallowed or injected the percentage of calcium and phosphate in the blood serum is caused to rise.

These chemicals are both essential in bone building, and one reason why bones are slow to heal is because it takes a long time to extract enough of these substances from the blood.

Doctor Owaga, a Japanese surgeon, has been experimenting with parathyroid extract, with results that seem to indicate success.

Don't Forget Cuticura Talcum

When adding to your toilet requisites. An exquisite face, skin, baby and dusting powder and perfume, rendering other perfumes superfluous. You may rely on it because one of the Cuticura Trio (Soap, Ointment and Talcum), 25c each everywhere.—Advertisement.

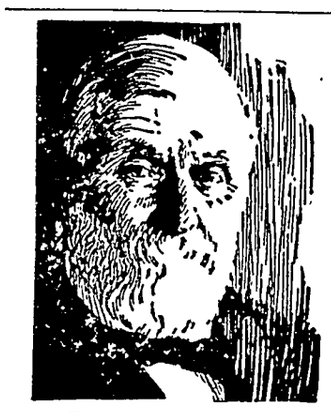
Keeps Buffaloes on Run

Buffaloes belonging to Mahlon N. Haines of York, Pa., are "off their feed." They need exercise, but no one could be found who would enter the inclosure and chase them around. So Kairl S. Ort has been retained to exercise the animals by using his airplane. He flies over the field, which causes the buffaloes to run about.

Unreasonable Kick

"See here," said the irate motorist to the dealer in automotive accessories, "the speedometer you sold me last week registers too high." "All the better for you," replied the dealer. "Why, what do you mean?" sputtered the motorist. "You get more miles to the gallon," was the answer.

Love at first sight is hazardous—if one isn't a very good judge of character.



DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

A Child's Laxative Which Mothers Can Rely On

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mothers to give only a harmless laxative which would help to establish natural bowel "regularity."

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin mothers have a regulating laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is constipated, bilious, feverish or sick from a cold, indigestion or sour stomach. All children love its pleasant taste.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself how perfectly it cleanses and regulates the bowels of infants and children.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

THE AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

JUDGES ARE CHOSEN FOR ESSAY CONTEST

Two men and a woman of national prominence have agreed to judge the American Legion national essay contest for American school children for the year 1926, it was announced recently by Frank C. Cross, national director of the Americanism commission of the Legion.

The judges, announced by Mr. Cross, are Col. Theodore Roosevelt of Oyster Bay, N. Y., former assistant secretary of the navy; Bruce Barton of New York city, noted editor and author, and Miss Mary McSkimon of Brookline, Mass., president of the National Education association.

The subject of the contest this year is "The Patroit's Flag Creed." That subject was chosen by the Legion's commission in the hope that a flag creed suitable for adoption by the nation would be written by some young American boy or girl.

The Legion is endeavoring to secure a patriot's flag creed which will foster greater respect for the flag by setting forth the ideals and ideas for which the flag stands, and the sacrifices and glorious achievements that it represents.

"A perusal of a few hundred of these essays picked at random from the thousands sent in from every state in the Union will dispel all fear that patriotism no longer burns in the hearts of the 'flaming youth' of today," Mr. Cross declared.

Valuable prizes will be awarded the winners of the contest. The first prize winner in the nation will receive a $750 scholarship in a college or university of his own choice. The second and third prize winners in the nation will receive $500 and $250 scholarships, respectively. Winners of state prizes were awarded a silver medal for first prize, a bronze medal for second prize, and a certificate of merit for third prize.

Department of Kansas Has Research Program

Ancient Indian battle grounds, historic spots and unrecorded trails of early Spanish explorers who preceded the Lewis and Clarke expedition in the Pacific Northwest are expected to be brought to light by investigation and research by the department of Kansas of the American Legion during the spring and summer.

Announcement of the investigations planned was made by Thomas Finigan, a member of the department executive committee, who took the matter up recently with the state historical society.

The knowledge that a Spanish expedition out of Santa Fe, N. M., in the spring of 1630, passed near Kansas City, fought Indians near Quindaro and eventually was slaughtered in a battle at the junction of the Loup with the Platte river in Nebraska, came from an unusual but authentic source, historians believe.

From a manuscript written in St. Louis, Mo., by a priest, the only man to escape from the Quindaro massacre, comes the story of these early expeditions. The manuscript was recently found in the archives of a Paris library. E. E. Blackman, Legionnaire, formerly of Kansas City and now curator of the State Historical society of Nebraska, uncovered the enlightening old manuscript.

Much information is expected to be gained on the early history of the arrival in Kansas of the Wyandotte Indians, a remnant of the Iroquois tribes of New York, it is said.

Bureau Settles Long Claim for Insurance

The longest claim for insurance of a deceased World war veteran and probably the longest in the history of insurance has just been adjudicated by the United States Veterans' bureau, according to information received by the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion at Washington, D. C.

Eighty-four relatives were in the permitted class of beneficiaries under the law. Their names, ages and addresses made a list five feet long, the longest ever filed with the bureau.

Included on the list were nine brothers, six sisters, six uncles, six aunts, six brothers-in-law, eight sisters-in-law, twenty-three nephews, nineteen nieces and a stepmother. Thirty-eight bear the name of Taylor. Names of the others include Berch, Bornes, Broadwater, Campbell, Davis, Goss, Lemon, Manning, Ponder and Thornton.

Under the settlement, the stepmother and the fifteen brothers and sisters will each get $1.92 a month for twenty years.

Sierra Unit Chartered

The first all-Spanish unit of the American Legion auxiliary in the nation was chartered at Costello, N. M., recently, and will be known as Sierra Unit "in token of its high and lofty aims." The first all-Indian unit of the auxiliary was chartered at Bullhead, S. D., not long ago, and is known as West Wind Unit.

THE LAST HATS OF SUMMER; FOR TOTS' SUMMER WEAR

THE last rose of summer and the last hat of summer are alike beautiful, but whereas the last rose was left blooming alone, the last hat is blooming among myriad others. Genius is burning like everything with millinery designers; they continue to overflow with fine ideas for midsummer. Perhaps the season inspires the loveliest headwear or perhaps they enjoy exercising talents that were more or less suppressed last winter, during the vogue of untrimmed and uninteresting hats.

Here are five hats which have come into bloom recently in the millinery garden and have been chosen as representative of beautiful types suited to midsummer. First there is the beloved leghorn, adorably developed by an applique trimming of handmade renaissance, laid over the crown. The brim-edge is bound with silk in a color and on both the upper and under brim three tight little, bright little roses are posed, with folded silk stems. This is an exquisite hat. Next comes a wide-brimmed, black lace hat with semi-facing of chiffon and a flange on the upper brim of a novelty millinery fabric which is also used for the bow that completes a simple but impressive model. Beautiful handcraft is the outstanding feature of the hat of tagal braid, turned up at the back. It has a collar of folded velvet and an intricately made trimming of narrow braid and small berries placed at the right side. Among these softly feminine headpieces the black Spanish sailor stands out boldly. It is a bangkok straw with a collar of black belting ribbon arranged in pencil plaits across the front, edged with a narrow contrasting ribbon. This is a tailored hat of the severe type, to be worn with a suit of similar character. Midsummer calls for the lovely wide-brimmed, hair-braid hats, like that which brings this brief story to a happy ending. Lace overlays the top of the shape and extends over the brim edge and a cluster of roses is posed at the front. This model is lovely in any of the light colors.

Many a ways and means committee may work overtime considering the problem of keeping little tots clean without getting any further than the washtub. In a grimy world this homely friend of the family is the only answer. Here stylists come to the rescue with clothes of all kinds that can be washed and ironed easily and quickly; and it happens that these very simply designed things look better than any others on the youngsters.

In hot weather for those who live near the beaches, bathing suits and beach coats may bring laundry work down to the irreducible minimum. Little ones wear their knitted bathing suits during most of their waking hours when they can play on the sands. Beach coats to be worn over them when needed are made of gay printed terry cloth, which does not need to be ironed. They may be made of other printed cottons or of heavy, unbleached domestic, with cut-out figures of little animals, flowers, children or birds applied to them. These are sewed down with cotton floss, using the buttonhole stitch.

Five of the Latest Summer Hats.

Chambray, cotton broadcloth, coarse linens and gingham maintain their lead at the head of the list of dependable fabrics for little dresses and rompers. Nearly all dresses are made with panties to match and nearly all have round collars in white or a plain color and banding on the sleeves and pockets to match the collar. The pantie frock pictured, of checked gingham, is cut with kimono sleeves, round neck, slit a little way down at the front, and straight panties. It is hardly more difficult to iron than a handkerchief. The floral motif sketched on and above the pockets is done with cotton floss in the lazy daisy stitch. Little boys' suits are just as simply designed; most of them made of chambray.

Even frocks and suits in which the little tots finish the day, when they are tidied up for the family dinner, are designed very simply. Dotted swiss, with colored dots on white, is liked for them and their round collars of white swiss are worked about the edge with floss matching the dot in color.

An Easily Laundered Dress.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Community Building

Schedule of Odd Jobs Will Help Home Owner

It is a good thing to have a month-by-month schedule of repairs for the home, so that the various odd jobs can be anticipated and done in the proper season. A midwinter blizzard is no time to patch a leaking roof, nor is the fly period suitable for repairing screens. There is also the point of service and economy in buying equipment, as a heating plant in the off-season, and likewise in hiring certain work to be done.

The following schedule of odd jobs and repairs for the summer and fall, which may be modified to suit local conditions, is recommended by John R. McMahon, a national authority on home ownership, in Popular Science Monthly.

July: Make thorough repairs on the roof. Replace all missing or rotted shingles and stop leaks. Inspect gutters and leaders for patching, painting or replacement.

August: A good time for excavations of any kind. If foundations or cellar walls need tarring or cement plaster, do it now. All kinds of general building can be done without much need for weather protection.

September: If a new heating plant is needed install it now. Apply weather stripping. Renew floors. Fix up the coal bin and put in a supply of winter fuel.

October: Get the heating plant ready to fire up. Clean chimney from the roof down. Point up loose bricks with cement. Connect furnace smoke pipe—new if required.

November: Take down screens and screen doors. Rake up leaves around the house. Start furnace.

Mistakes in Building One's Home Are Costly

All normal men and women plan, some day, to have a home of their own; a place with trees, flowers, a garden; a home for the children. But most people building their first house usually make mistakes that can be avoided. An architect, in an article on home-building in Liberty Magazine, says: "Most architects make a mess of the first house they build for themselves. I made one of mine. I was joshed about it so much that I decided to let a few of the wife's wishes prevail in my next one—there was bound to be a next one, for the mistakes in the first were too accusing.

"Instead of going at the job from a running jump the next time, I'd take counsel with my wife all the way through. No building again in a valley, with its wet mornings when the hill tops were bathed in sunlight. No western exposures, with their sun-baked rooms. No more scourge of mosquitoes. No laboring uphill through snow and slush on my way to work—that was a job in itself. No, in our new home we'd eliminate most of these bugbears. We'd live on a hill!"

Standardized Cities

Fifty years from now the traveler in America will be impressed with the similarity in general plan and appearance of American cities. This has been made certain by the passage of zoning ordinances in practically every important center of population in the United States. Latest figures by the Department of Commerce indicate more than half of the urban population live in zoned cities and towns. In 1916 only a tenth resided in comunities where zoning ordinances governed building activities and city development. The number of zoned cities increased from 6 in 1916 to 73 in 1921, 265 in 1923 and 425 in 1925. Grouped according to population, 47 of the 68 largest cities in the United States having over 100,000 population and 150 of the 287 cities and towns having over 25,000 population have zoning ordinances in effect.—Lincoln Star.

Rose-Trellis Worth While

An alluring little rose-trellis is a fascinating adjunct to any country or suburban home, or, in fact, any home that is not cramped for space.

Even the amateur carpenter can construct an article like this, since it is little more than an arch over a seat. The arch is made of lattice work so that a climbing vine may find a firm hold. A back of open woodwork for the seat is in keeping with the airy nature of the trellis.

The whole should be painted either white or green. White is the more effective as a background for the greenery of the vines and the bright color of the pink or red roses. A comparatively small space will provide room for this bower.

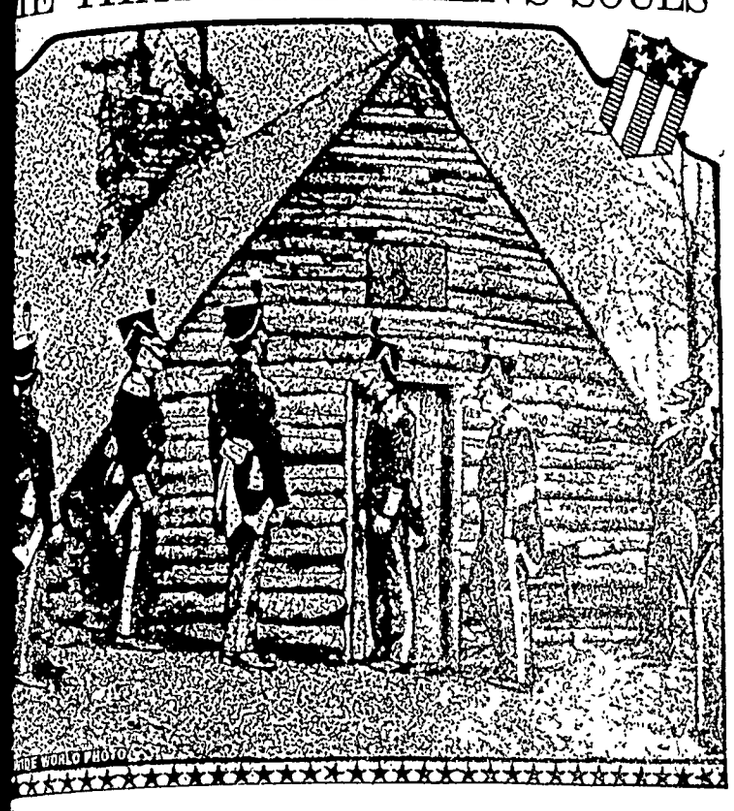
Cities With Zoning Laws

Half the urban population of the United States live in cities that have been laid out or rebuilt to comply with modern principles of zoning, according to a communication from the United States Department of Commerce.

The number of cities zoned at the present time is 436, the communication states. In 1915 only six cities of the country had zoning laws or ordinances.

Cleveland is one of the cities in which the zoning and planning commission is working out a specific program.

...E THAT "TRIED MEN'S SOULS"



...ls soldier's hut is commemorative of the hardships endured by the ...can army while in camp at Valley Forge during the winter of 1777-78.

...t Valley ...orge 1778

...ALLEY FORGE in June, 1926. Overhead a bright blue sky and banks of fleecy clouds. A ... breeze scented with dogwood ...the tops of maples that break the ...stretch of farmlands, carpeted in ... and dotted with daisies. Sun... and the song of birds and far ...e distance the sound of the on...g bus bringing another expect...group of prosperous visitors to ...shrine of American patriotism, ...headquarters of Washington in ...lutionary days.

...ley Forge in January, 1778. ...e fields stretch unbroken back ... the frozen Schuylkill. Smoke is ...g on the frosty air from the log ... of the American army. Blood...ed tracks lead from these huts ...he commissary's shack, well-nigh ...tute of the provisions which are ...ed for hungry men. From the ...story stone farmhouse of Isaac ..., General Washington emerges, ... a minute with two of his officers, ... then mounts his horse for his ...l morning ride. His face is calm ...serene, for in spite of the serious ...ition of his little army, he is con...t that the summer will bring them ...ess.

...ow familiar it all seems—this ... of Washington at Valley Forge. ...orians and novelists and painters ...e caused this part of our historical ...ritance to stand out in bold re... It was a happy idea to have this ...e visualized on canvas for pos...y by Edwin Austin Abbey and ... in the hall of representatives of ...tate capitol at Harrisburg, where ...s of Americans making a pilgrim... to Washington could stay their ...ney an hour or two and view it.

Where Patriots Suffered.

...w of us without rereading our his... could tell that Philadelphia fell ... the hands of the British after the ...le of Germantown; that congress ...fled from Philadelphia to York; ... the campaign in New York state ... been successful, Schuyler and ...es with less than 5,000 men de...ing Burgoyne's army of 10,000. ... most of us could tell of the hard...ps of the winter of 1777-78, when ...0 barefooted and half-clothed men ...ured cold and hunger at Valley ...ge.

... was not a winter of idleness, al...gh but little time was spent on ...ning in the art of war until Baron ... Steuben arrived from France late ...February and set to drill the troops ...the manual of arms and the sim...st evolutions. On their immediate ...val at Valley Forge, the men had ...d in tents, but the increasing cold ...le the building of warmer quarters ...erative. Each hut accommodated ...men, so in gangs of 12 they worked ...ether laying the logs and pointing ...m with clay. Washington offered ...reward for the one finished first ...d in the best manner. Other re...rds were given for a cheaper and ...re quickly made roof than boards ...d for the best substitute for shoes ...de of rawhide. Not until all the ...n were installed in their log huts, ...uld General Washington move from ... marquee into the small stone farm...use, where he maintained his head...arters until they broke camp on ...ne 18 the day the British evacu...ed Philadelphia.

Shows Old Way of Living.

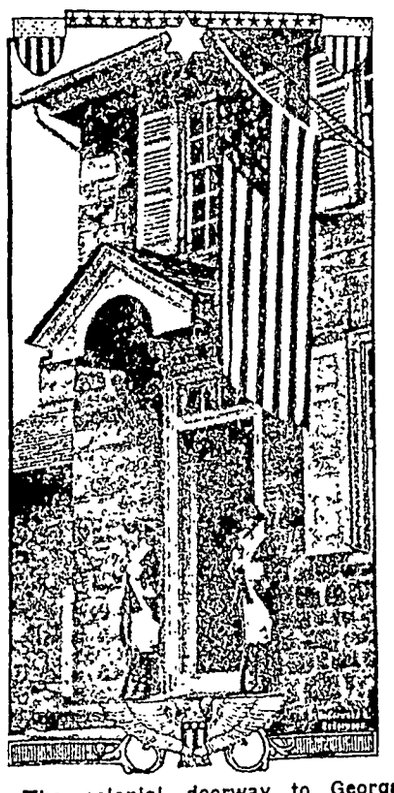
...Since 1879, when this farmhouse ...s purchased by the Continental ...morial Association of Valley Forge, ...has been the center of attraction. ...re the public may get a glimpse ... the old way of living. A feature ... the log kitchen, hung with ladles, ...illets, and griddles, was the chim...y placed at the outside angle of ...e ell. On the large platform, built ...ross the chimney corner all the boil... and baking of the household was ...e—laundry, culinary, and autumn ...ling.

...Another rallying point in this his...toric valley is the Washington Memo...rial chapel, a stone edifice constructed during the last 20 years, for its cor...nerstone was laid on the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the evacuation, June 19, 1903. The chapel is barely 100 feet long, buts its beauty and harmony of design make up for what it lacks in size. Patriotic or...ganizations have donated many artis...tic memorials for the chapel, which glorify religion and illustrate history.

Urged Religious Duties.

Over the entrance porch is another message of Washington's carved in stone—the message to his soldiers when he gave orders for Sunday serv...ices at Valley Forge: "While we are zealously performing the Duties of good Citizens and Soldiers, we cer...tainly ought not to be inattentive to the higher Duties of Religion. To the distinguished Character of Patriot it should be our highest glory to add the more distinguished Character of Christian."

Also worthy of notice are the carved stone pulpit, parclose, and lectern, the oaken choir stalls with their beautiful carving commemorating one of the brigades at Valley Forge, the Wash...



The colonial doorway to George Washington's headquarters at Valley Forge, where the American Revolutionary army spent the terrible winter of 1777-78.

...ington door, the gift of the Philadelphia chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the stained glass windows that tell the story of Washington up to his inauguration as President.

On the west side of the chapel is the Cloister of the Colonies, which when completed will consist of 13 bays, each commemorating one of the original Colonies. On the east side is the porch of the Allies and back of it the Patriots' hall. The library will form the extreme eastern part and the Thanksgiving tower with a chime of 13 bells will surmount the group. Every hour a patriotic air will be played on this national chime.

Visited by Thousands.

From these brief descriptions one may gain an idea of Valley Forge as it is today. Its easy access from Philadelphia by train or auto enables the tourist to include it easily in his itinerary, but

Does the pilgrim count the miles
When he travels to some distant shrine?

It is estimated that over 300,000 persons annually visit it. In 1893 the State of Pennsylvania established and set aside 472 acres in the valley that the site and fortifications "may be maintained as nearly as possible in their original conditions."—J. M. R. in the Journal of the National Education Association.

JULY
SUN	MON	TUES	WED	THURS	FRI	SAT
				4	4	4
4	4	4	4	4	4	4
4	4	4	4	4	4	4
4	4	4	4	4	4	4
4	4	4	4	4	4	4

Give Army Surgeon Credit for Parody

Fairly Certain That Dr. R. Schuckburg Was Author of "Yankee Doodle."

"Yankee Doodle!" Who wrote it?

Every civilized land has a national anthem, a national hymn and a national song. Our anthem is "The Star-Spangled Banner"; our hymn is "America," but to set the blood a-tingling we turn to "Yankee Doodle."

But, who wrote "Yankee Doodle"? The query persists after much research as to tune and words.

To Yankees, the important thing of this song is the sentiment, the wording to the tune. The tune itself runs far back of the landing of the Fathers and one might as well try to find the composer of the ancient Swedish spring song, "Var Vindar Friska," or any chanson of the French peasants.

It seems certain, however, that the first application of words with American meaning to the Yankee Doodle tune was made at what is now the city of Rensselaer, N. Y., across the Hudson from Albany, and that the verses were written at a place in the rear of a famous old Dutch farmhouse and fort, known as Fort Cralo, in the southern part of the city, overlooking the near banks of the Hudson.

The old house, at least its oldest part—or perhaps a still older house preceding it on the same spot—was doubtless one of the points attacked by the Indians during the so-called Esopus war, extending from 1655 to 1664, and so called because the trouble first arose in the town of that name, whence it spread widely north and south.

Fort Cralo From the Rear. The First American "Yankee Doodle" Words of Military Import Were Written in This Back Yard by Surgeon Schuckburg.

The French in Canada had built Fort Carillon, later Ticonderoga, on Lake Champlain, and Gen. James Abercrombie was sent under Sir William Johnson to reduce it. He stopped in Rensselaer and made Cralo his headquarters. In what is the present back yard some of his staff were quartered in cantonment, and in one of the tents, which local tradition says stood where the well now is, the surgeon of staff, Dr. R. Schuckburg, wrote the first American words of parody to the ancient and immortal tune.

Parts of old Fort Cralo bear scars which tradition says are bullet marks, and if this is so, the Esopus war doubtless was the occasion.

The tune has been recognized by people from all parts of Europe as very ancient, in fact, as a folk tune, and this, no doubt, is the secret of its vitality. Kossuth claimed it as a national Magyar dance tune; a visitor from the duchy of Brunswick said it was an old nursery rhyme of that state; a distinguished Spanish professor of music said it closely resembled the Eastern sword dance of St. Sebastian, in which case the Moors may have brought it up from the East into Spain.

It was well known in England under Charles I, and was seized upon South End of the West Attic.

by satirists to lampoon Cromwell in a doggerel beginning:

Nankey Doodle came in town,
Riding on a pony,
With a feather in his hat,
Upon a macaroni.

The word "Doodle" is defined in dictionaries of that day as "A sorry, trifling fellow," which the cavaliers regarded Cromwell as being. A macaroni was the knot used to fasten a military feather to the hat.

Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson and George Washington comprised the trio known as "the tongue, the pen and the sword of the Revolution."

EARLY PATRIOTS A BAND OF IMMORTALS

None of Signers of Declaration Betrayed Trust.

On the 151st birthday of the nation hundreds of orators throughout the land will place before their audiences pictures of those 56 men who on July 4, 1776, affixed their names to the Declaration of Independence and thus laid the foundation stone of a state which commands the admiration and respect of the world.

That giant of eloquence, Daniel Webster, perhaps has presented their characters and achievements more

The Drafting of the Declaration of Independence by the Representatives of the Thirteen Original States Which Were the Foundation of the Present United States of America.

luminously than any before or since his day. "They are dead," he said in his eulogy of the last signer, Charles Carroll of Carrollton, "but little there is of the great and good that can die! To their country, they yet live in all that perpetuates the memory of men on earth; in the recorded proofs of their own great actions, in the offspring of their intellect, in deep engraved lines of public gratitude and in the homage and respect of all mankind. They live in their example and in the influence which their lives and efforts, their principles and opinions now exercise and will continue to exercise on the affairs of men not only in their own country, but throughout the world."

In the individual sense, the members of that immortal congress were the most remarkable political body which the annals of the world can show. In each the fiery zeal of the patriot was tempered by the inherent virtues of the man. Not one of those 56 heroes betrayed his trust, a phenomenal record in the pages of history. All the signers stood firm. Some were imprisoned and died as the result of their sufferings, many were impoverished and many stood within the shadow of death. All were tempted, just as all felt the menacing wrath which seemed powerful enough to grasp and crush them. Not one died with a stain on his name.

MARKED EPOCH IN HISTORY OF WORLD

First Written Constitution Was in Connecticut.

TWO decades after the landing of the Pilgrims and 30 years after the first settlement at Jamestown, the first constitution framed by a people for themselves in the history of the world was adopted at Hartford, Conn., on January 14, 1639. Here is the preamble:

"For as much as it hath pleased Almighty God by the wise disposition of His Divine providence so to order and dispose of things that we, the inhabitants and residents of Windsor, Hartford and Wethersfield are now cohabiting and dwelling in and upon the River Connecticut and the lands thereto adjoining, and well knowing where a people are gathered together, the word of God requires that to mayntayne the peace and union of such people there should be an orderly and decent government established, according to God, to order and dispose of the affayres of the people at all seasons as occasion shall require; does therefore associate and conjoin to be as one publike state of commonwealth; and do for ourselves and our successors and such as shall be adjoined to us at any time hereafter, enter the combination and confederation to gather, mayntayne and presearve the liberty and purity of the gospell of our Lord Jesus, which we now profess, as also the disciplyne of the churches, which, according to the truth of the said gospell, is now practiced amongst us, as also in our civil affaires to be guided and governed according to such lawes, rules, orders and decrees, as followeth."—Chicago Journal.

Story of Kitty Knight

During the War of 1812, the British soldiers received orders to burn houses in the occupied territory of Maryland. It was at this time that Kitty Knight said to the soldiers who warned the people to leave their houses: "I shall not leave; if you burn this house, you burn me with it." This defiant reply was reported to the officer, who came in person to see her. He was struck with admiration at her courage and spared her house and the one next to it.

Making a Record

RECORD makers always have many friends who want to see them win new laurels. For this reason merchants are always glad to recommend Monarch Coffee and Monarch Cocoa.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
Never Sold Through Chain Stores.
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago · Boston · Pittsburgh · New York

Let Yeast Foam build you up!

Everyone knows the tonic property of yeast—how it builds up your weight to normal—how it strengthens and invigorates the whole system.

Just try this: drop a cake of Yeast Foam in a glass of water; let stand for five minutes; stir; let settle and drink the milky water, including the white precipitate.

Or, if you prefer, eat the yeast with a cracker or a piece of butter.

SAMPLE CAKE FREE

NORTHWESTERN YEAST CO.
1750 North Ashland Ave., Chicago. Ill.
Send me FREE and POSTPAID your book "Dry Yeast as an Aid to Health," also a sample of Yeast Foam, without obligation.

Name _____

Address _____ W. N. U.

Flower-Lit

In June and early July, the most constant lights of the night are the pale midsummer blossoms. The glory of the moon and stars is cut short by late sunsets and early dawns; and the Plough, which is the genius of night in our northern skies, has scarcely begun to swing low across the north, as best we know it, before it is sponged out by morning. But as soon as the twilight falls, whether the night be fair or cloudy, the white flowers shine forth in the meadows and about the woodsides, and earth stands lit till morning with their drowsier stars and moons.—Anthony Collett, in "The Changing Year."

25c L-V DUST CLOTH

made of especially woven fabric "Crepette" for only 10 cents and two weeks' dusting supply of Liquid Veneer. Nothing like it for dusting. A few drops on your cloth removes ALL dust, dirt and blemishes INSTANTLY, and leaves your piano, furniture, woodwork spotlessly clean and beautifully polished. Moreover it preserves the finish indefinitely. Piano people use it to improve their brand new instruments. Send for your FREE bottle today. You'll be delighted. Remember, we include a big 25c L-V Dust Cloth if you send 10 cts. Don't miss this opportunity.

FREE

Buffalo Specialty Company
5 Liquid Veneer Bldg.
Buffalo, N. Y.

LIQUID VENEER

Lion Farm in California

One of the most interesting farms in the United States is the lion farm at El Monte, Calif. It consists of a five-acre tract which has been thickly planted with tropical shrubs from Africa. The regular stock of lions on the farm is about 75. The lion farmer sells his stock on the hoof to the movies, zoos and circuses.

City Being "Manufactured"

In the wilderness of the lakes, St. John district of Quebec, a city to be known as "Arvida" is being "manufactured." It is being built in connection with a water-power development at Chute a Caron. No less than 30,000 population is expected ultimately.

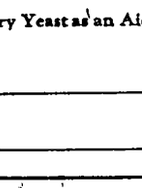
A man's task is always light if his heart is light.—Wallace.

ASK FOR ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE for TIRED ACHING FEET

Retain the Charm Of Girlhood
A Clear Sweet Skin
Cuticura Will Help You
Use Cuticura Soap Every Day

YOUR PROSPERITY IMPERILED. Read "Cause and Remedy," by S. E. DeRackin. Mailed by author from Long Beach, Calif., on receipt of 25c STAGGERING EXPOSE.

ARE YOU COMING WEST? Business opportunities—real estate. Classified to guide you. Dependable information. Free Copy Address "BUYERS' DIRECTORY" 625 Market St., San Francisco.



PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks., Patchogue, N.Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

FRECKLES!
of all kinds vanish when Dr. C. H. Berry's Freckle Ointment is used. Your friends will marvel at the change in your complexion. The use of this cream will keep your skin clear and soft too. We guarantee it. At drug and dept. stores or by mail. Price $1.25 and 65c. Send for FREE BEAUTY BOOKLET.
Dr. C. H. Berry Co., 2975 Michigan Ave., Chicago

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 27--1926.

Bee's Many Enemies

Bees are exposed to many hardships and dangers. Winds and storms must be faced. Spiders lie in wait for them and kill them. Once, a nature lover came upon a bee, beneath a leaf. It did not move, although it was laden with pollen which it must have taken from some flower. On closer examination the nature lover saw that a huge spider had the bee by the throat and was holding it till quite sure of its death.—Grit.

Not Thorough

A magazine write says that our modern cooking schools are not thorough. Probably he would have them teach the pupils how to treat dyspepsia.

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is especially prepared to relieve Infants in arms and Children all ages of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving natural sleep.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Absolutely Harmless - No Opiates. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

NOTICE

Free Service

TEACHING CULLING, MATING, and BREEDING. Testing of Male Birds. Showing you how each Disease acts on the Bird, so you can tell each Disease yourself.

Work being done through the NATIONAL POULTRY ASSOCIATION——ABSOLUTELY without COST!

CALL Mr. Butler or Mr. Hess at the Harold Leitzinger Residence, Phone 1005.

Few of us can see all of our country's scenic beauties and points of interest, but by careful planning, it is possible to visit the most famous.

Whether it be Colorado, Yellowstone, Pacific Coast, Great Lakes Region, St. Lawrence River Resorts, the Atlantic Seaboard or other vacation spots, our Travel Bureau can advise you how to travel most economically and with the greatest comfort and convenience.

The Rock Island will operate this season "Personally Conducted-All-Expense" planned trips to the Colorado Rockies including, not only railroad fare, but hotel and sight-seeing expense from the time you leave home until you return. "All-Expense-Go-As-You-Please" excursions will also be available for those not desiring the "Personally Conducted" plan.

Ask Rock Island ticket agent for complete details or

Fill Out and Mail the Coupon

ROCK ISLAND VACATION TRAVEL SERVICE BUREAU,
614 Valley Nat'l. Bank Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa

I am interested in a Summer vacation trip to_____ (Destination)

Please mail me free descriptive booklets and complete information.

Name_____

Address_____

No One Was Ever Hung--

For Advertising

But Many Business Concerns Have

DIED!

By Not Advertising--

Let Us Write You An Insurance Policy Against Business

D-E-A-T-H

The Klemme Times

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

D. D. Ross, of Garner, was in this city on business Monday.

John Suurballe, of Garner, was a Klemme business caller Tuesday.

Clarence Elder was at Garner on business yesterday afternoon.

Art Wellemeyer drove to Des Moines on business yesterday.

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines. fc

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schlei are riding around in a new Chevrolet sedan, recently purchased.

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Trumbell were visiting at Eagle Grove Sunday.

J. Jorgenson, of Garner, was a visitor at the R. A. Jorgenson home Monday.

Mr Wm. Smith and daughter, Miss Mabel and Dorance Day were to Garner Tuesday afternoon.

NOTICE—I will be out of town from July 1st to July 7th. Dr. W. T. Missman. 1tc

Ben Katter has been enjoying several visits from his brother, Elmer, of Florida, the past week.

Frederick, 12 year old son of Mr Henry Beier suffered a broken arm last Wednesday when he was cranking a car and it back-fired.

Mrs. Calvin Grosshuesch enjoyed a visit from her mother and sister last week. The ladies left for their home Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lemke entertained J N Day and family and Dr Missman and family to a six o'clock dinner Friday evening.

Mrs Sadie Turgeson and son, Donald, and Mrs Clarence Kluckhohn were at Mason City Tuesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mickish, of Forest City, and Mr. and Mrs. Casper Pannhoff, of Ventura, visited at the Dick Pannhoff home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Barkema of Paulsville came over Sunday for a visit at the Fred Gartz home. Mrs. Barkema is a sister of Mr Gartz.

The Times is always glad to receive items of news. Please phone your items or mail them. Thanks.

Tht Fred Ridder and Sam Harvey families went over to the lake this morning for a two weeks vacation at a cottage

Edwin Bock came home from the hospital at Mason City Monday. Edwin made his first trip to town yesterday morning.

Mrs. George Elder and son, Earl, and daughter, Vera, came from Eagle Bend, Minn., Wednesday, for a visit with Klemme relatives.

Lew Gimer drove to Riceville last Sunday for a visit at the home of his sister. A nephew of Mr. Gimer accompanied him back to Klemme for a visit.

"Dutch" Elder has so far recovered from his injuries of over a week ago in a run-a-way accident that he was able to sit up Sunday and yesterday he was able to come to town.

Mr. and Mrs Tom Blank and daughter, Miss Marie, have gone to Morrison, Iowa, for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blank until Monday. Fred is depot agent at that place.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist Church will meet at the Parish House next wetk Thursday, July 8, with Mesdames C. G. Waterman and Paul Stille hostesses.

DON'T throw away that tire just because of a small hole. Bring it here, I can at least make a good spare for you. C. L. Blumer. 1tc

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Musfelt and Laura Lanahan drove over from Clear Lake Tuesday afternoon for a visit with Klemme relatives and friends.

Mr. Jacob De Veries and Fred Pannhoff drove to Blue Earth, Minnesota, Sunday for a visit with relatives. They say the crops look fine up there.

Adolph Lauritsen and R. A. Jorgenson drove to Renwick Tuesday evening to attend the Masonic lodge. "Abe" was a candidate for the third degree of Masonry.

Those who had carpet rags to be woven into rugs and which were not woven may get them at Wellemeyers store. I intend to start the loom again as soon as arrangemens can be made. Chris Mayne. 1wc.

Earl, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neuhring, had the sad misfortune to fall and break his collar bone last Wednesday night. The lad is getting along fine at this writing.

Adolph Lauritsen expects to leave in his car tomorrow for Wisconsin where he will visit his sister. He intends to take in the sights at the Dells of Wisconsin and will be gone about a week.

J J. Poort directs the Garner band again this year They gave their first concert Tuesday evening. C G. Waterman and A. R. White are playing in the Garner band again this season.

The Art Kudje family and Mr and Mrs. Joe Johnson returned last Wtdnesday from their trip through Illinois and Wisconsin. They had an enjoyable trip and enjoyed the scenery of Wisconsin very much.

Mrs E. G. Ell and daughter, Arlene, of Mankato, Minn., came to Belmond Monday for a visit at the Wm. H. Trafford home. Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Trafford brought them to Klemme for a visit with old friends.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

An item which should have appeared last week but which we missed out on was that Herman Schuldt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fritztll, Leonard Sampson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schlei, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haupt and Miss Edith Haupt, all enjoyed a picnic at Pilot Knob State Park.

Mr. Henry Freie and daughter, Viola, and Miss Eunice Braund, accompanied by the latter's mother, Mrs. John Braund drove to Williams Friday evening to take Mrs. Braund back home after several days visit in Klemme. They returned to Klemme Saturday morning.

Mr. Adolph Creamer, of Lane, S. D., came last week and will work on the farm for Lew Griffin this summer. Mr. Creamer has been farming in South Dakota for several years, but the past two years have been very dry and this year he says it is exceedingly dry. He plans to move his family to Iowa where he says crops are a sure thing as a general rule.

Mr. Ben Swalve and daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Schaper and son Bennie, returned Tuesday evening from their eastern trip. They were across the Kentucky line and into St. Louis, Mo to see Gilbert's father. From St. Louis they drove to Feeport, Ill, and Ben says they made the entire distance on that trip of 500 miles in one day—some rip. They had a fine time visiting their many relatives in Illinois.

Mrs. G. W. Kluckohn, Mrs. Sadie Turgeson and sons, Clarence Kluckhohn and family, Fred Kluckhohn and family, Frank Kluckhohn and family, and W. C. Kerause and family have all rented a couple of cottages at Clear Lake for a week geginning tomorrow. The "tribe" will spend the week end and Fourth at the Lake and the men will drive back and forth the balance of the week. They are planning to have a big time.

Wholesale Feed Out Of Klemme

Klemme has a wholesale feed concern as the North Iowa Grain Co., with headquarters at Mason City, has recently added this line to their elevator here. They recently built a warehouse here with that purpose in mind and the venture has already proven successful, according to H. F. Jost, the manager here. He says they have wholesaled quite a lot of feed out of here to other dealers in this territory.

Cut the weeds before they seed.

Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings

DR. E. H. PHILLIPS

Osteopathic Physician

Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa.

Stock Shipments Light The Past Week Hero

Only six carloads of stock, all hogs, were shipped out of Klemme for the Chicago market Saturday night.

This was quite a slump over the week previous when eleven cars in all left the local yards. Seven were cattle and four were hogs.

Baptised With Jordan River W

In the Congregational church Decorah, recently four children were baptized with water from the river Jordan, in Palestine The was brought to this country by Otto O. Svebakken in 1922. baptismal service was on Children Day and was unusually impressive because of the use of the water from the most noted river in the world.

Notice Of Change

Skelly Oil Service

I have arrangements to personally take care of my SKELLY OIL SERVICE in KLEMME and VICINITY, and will give you prompt service on the delivery of Gasoline, Kerosene, Oil, Etc.

Phone Your Orders To Klemme Central

I intend to be on the job, but in case I do not see you when you are out of gas, kerosene or oil, just Phone the Klemme Central your order and tell her what you want and she will get me at Garner and I will be right there with my Skelly Truck to fill your order.

YOURS FOR SERVICE

Carl Suckow

Skelly Oil Company Klemme and Garner

A Few Causes of Oil Pumping and Compression Leakage--

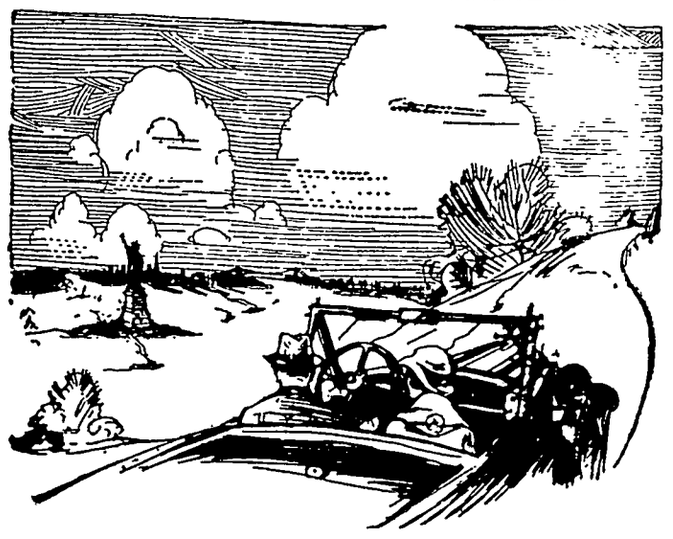
1. Worn or out-of-round cylinders.
2. Scored cylinders or pistons.
3. Warped or worn ring grooves.
4. Poorly fitted pistons and rings.
5. Piston pin hole out-of-round.
6. Poorly aligned rod and piston assembly.
7. Sprung connecting rods.
8. Crankshaft warped or out-of-true.
9. Worn bearings.
10. Warped or sticking valves.
11. Improper timing.
12. Leaky cylinder head gasket.

ONLY Cure-- Stormizing

Pavey's Stormizing Shop



The Liberty We Prize

THE Statue of Liberty, which was designed to commemorate the Hundreth Anniversary of America's Independence, signifies a great treasure of the American people.

Liberty means freedom. And freedom from dependence of any kind is worth striving for. If you care to be financially independent, begin now to work for your future liberty by building up a permanent Savings Account.

First National Bank.

KLEMME, IOWA.

THE KLEMME TIMES

Thirtieth Year—Number 47. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1926 LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

PLACE OF BEAUTY IS NEAR KLEMME

ONE OF HANCOCK COUNTY'S BEAUTY SPOTS LOCATED NEAR KLEMME

Has All The Requirements For A Beautiful State Park

Just a few minutes auto ride from Klemme or Goodell brings one to the prettiest natural beauty spot in all of Hancock County. It is the bit of natural wooded valley, brook and hills at the Charlie Bielefedt place southeast of Klemme about six miles

This little patch of natural timber is so secluded that very few persons ever discover it's rare beauty. Sunday, there were nine or ten cars of picnicers at this little "park." It had been "discovered" by them or had been pointed out to them by persons acquainted with this little ideal picnic ground.

Mr Bielefeldt is somewhat of a naturalist and at his place will be found a number of wild animal life native to this timber section He has a pen of nine froxes, some raccoons, etc.

We would suggest that some Sunday when you want to go to some "new" place that you pack up a picnic lunch and enjoy a quiet rest at the above place. You can get to it by taking a winding course past the E J Arnold farm, then east to the Ted Dutheridge place, south past Bill Johnson's farm and into the woods on a narrow, winding, trail, overhung with trees into the wooded fairyland. The entire drive is scenic.

The return drive can be made by following the trail south through the timber and come to the place of old Amsterdam into Goodell and back on the highway. Or better still, go north from Amsterdam and take the winding river road back to Klemme, which is another pretty drive.

PLANT VEGETABLES IN JULY

They Will Mature in Fall and Extend Usual Garden Season

"There's as much 'kick' for me in growing a fall garden as there is in producing a good spring and summer garden," declares C. V. Holsinger, truck crops specialist at Iowa State College, who follows the practice of planting garden things in late June and July for fall use.

Green or wax beans planted from the first to the middle of July will usually mature in about 40 to 50 days and will last for a couple of weeks if frost holds off.

Beets and carrots planted in early July will be fine and tender for fall use or for storing. Altho they do not grow as large as those planted earlier, they are more tender than the larger ones which have grown an entire season

Endive is not generally grown but it might well be given a place in the mid-summer planting. It is very resistant to cold and will furnish salad thru September, October and into November Mr. Holsinger recommends the broad-leaf kinds. This crop should be sown thickly in the row and then later the plants may be thinned out until they are about 15 inches apart.

Endive is used like lettuce, but must be bleached to be palatable. This bleaching process is accomplished by tieing the leaves up together and surrounding them with a newspaper or some such material. The bleaching may continue a week or so.

Other crops which may be planted in July are lettuce, radish, turnips, and Chinese cabbage. One difficulty in planting a garden at this season is to get the crops started. Often it is very dry a this season, but proper watering, or the pouring of water in the furrow opened for the seed will often be sufficient.

"Cow knowledge' is essential to success with dairy cows. Any farm raised and trained boys receiving this knowledge from daily contact with barns and pastures should not throw it away by going into the garage business or by working in a soft drink parlor, or any other business.

ISSUE NEW FARM HAND BOOK

Covers Many Subjects Of Interest to Farmers

A second number of the Farm Hand Book, similar to the one put out a year ago, has just been prepared at Iowa State College The book is of handy pocket size, with heavy paper cover and contains 72 pages of meaty facts, statistics, formulae and rules of interest to farmers A complete index is included in the book which makes it possible to find any of the information very quickly

The hand book includes information on the various phases of animal production, prices, marketing crop varieties, production methods prices, marketing, fruit varieties, spraying suggestions; hints on drawing up farm leases, suggestions for keeping out of legal difficulties, taxation, weather information and hundreds of other subjects in which farmers are directly or indirectly interested

The hand books are being distributed by the Extension Service of Iowa State College, Ames, and in some counties thru the County Farm Bureaus

DRILL FOR OIL, STRIKE HOT MINERAL WATER

Dd. Deveroux, of Humboldt, well known here since the time he tried to sign oil leases in this locality, recently struck hot mineral water in a well in Montana where they were drilling for oil. He has had quantities of the water shipped to Humboldt for bottling and says it is finding a ready sale because it helps in cases of rheumatism, lumbago, piles and other diseases and demand for it is growing because each sale recommends another It is probably a rival to the famous "Noxage" of the comic strip.

In writing to George Rinderknecht he says he may return to this town some time to again try to secure oil leases on the farms west of town as he is convinced there is oil there He says if the large towns in this vicinity would cooperate he could put it over but he says they lack the pep and spirit of the citizens of this community He says he lives in another "Ringsted" only it's larger, meaning Humboldt has as much pep as this comunity.—Ringsted Dispatch.

WHY MINERS ARE NOT OWNERS OF HOMES

Average Coal Field In Iowa Is Only Twelve Years Duration

Joe Morris of Albia, president of the Miner's Union of District No. 13, says that the average life of coal mines in the Iowa field is 12 years. That period covers the time required to remove all of the coal that can be profitably mined This temporary condition accounts for the fact that miners seldom construct permanent homes Mr Morris tells of one mining camp in his district where over a hundred miners constructed homes, believing that it would require a long stretch of years to exhaust the mines in that field, but the mines were abandoned in fewer years than the average noted above and as a result the homes had to be abandoned when the miners moved to another field. Mr. Morris says that miners are often criticized because they have no permanent abiding place but this is easily explained when the facts are known Mr. Morris was a miner before being elected to his present position and he is thoroly posted upon the problems that confront the members of his organization. He is also well informed in all of the interests and complexities of our civic life

OVER ONE THOUSAND SOLDIERS BURIED AT KEOKUK

There Are Forty-five Unkown Dead In Iowa's National Cemetery

Iowa's only national cemetery is located at Keokuk. Ten hundred and thirty four soldiers are buried there, forty-five being unknown There are eight Confederates and twenty-five world war boys, the rest being Civil war, Spanish-American and regular United States soldiers The graves are marked with uniform slabs, and bear only the name and the state from which the soldier came.

THEY ARE MAKING GOOD IN BUSINESS

BUSINESS OF THE KLEMME CO-OPERATIVE GRAIN CO IS ON THE INCREASE

Big Year Ahead Is View Of Manager Lew Gimer

The Annual business meeting of the officers and board of directors and stockholders of the Klemme Co-Operative Grain Company was held a week ago At this time the stockholders installed the old board for another year and with W H. Greiman, president, Wm Katter, Jr, vice-president; and Elmer Arnold, secretary-treasurer The other men on the board are John Tanner, Geo Albrs, Henry Barz and Oscar Carlson

Mr Lew Gimer was elected to manage the affairs of the company and Henry Lemke is his assistant

Mr Gimer has been at the head of the business only about three months, but during that time he has made a wonderful showing in the business and profits of the elevator Ordinarily the past three months had been "dead" months for the elevator, but not only did he make a big increase in business but he made a very nice profit for the company

When Mr. Gimer took charge of the business he installed a bookkeeping system whereby he could keep an accurate "tab" on each department's daily business. The new system requires a lot of extra work but it shows just what the business is doing. Then he has adopted the plan of buying feeds, etc. in carload lots, which has proven to be a good sound business venture both for the company and the consumer.

Mr. Gimer states that with the busy season ahead now that it looks like a prosperous year for the elevator company

The business of the Klemme Co-Operative Grain Company is steadily increasing every year and is really one of the big institutions of Klemme of which we can feel justly proud.

GIVE GIRLS INTERESTING TASKS

Let Them Do Part of Family Buying And Meal Planning

Most Iowa girls have an opportunity these days to take courses in home economics while they are at school, but few of them are permitted to practice the more interesting phase of such courses at home. Too often dish washing, ironing, potato pealing and the like make up the duties of the girl at home, while she is never allowed to do scarcely any of the family buying, meal planning and other of the more interesting tasks

The foregoing situation is responsible for many girls developing a dislike for homemaking rather than to become attached to it, in the opinion of Miss Regina J Friant of the Home Economics Division, Iowa State College.

Girls should be allowed to handle money, do some of the family buying and meal planning at home the same as many of them are permitted to do in school, Miss Friant believes. She says that while it is necessary for the girls to do their share of the dish washing and other routine housework, tlley also should be allowed to share in some of the more interesting household responsibilities and duties.

TURN "CLUCKERS" INTO REAL LAYERS

Time Required to Do It Real Test of Poultryman's Ability

The time required to turn a broody hen, or "clucker," into a layer is a real test of a poultryman's ability. Well-balanced and adequate feeding, along with the right kind of housing, are largely the determining factors.

Confine broody hens the first night they stay on the nest to a roomy cop in a shady, comfortable location and then feed them mash and milk once a day, with moist mash in addition, advise the Iowa State College poultry specialists.

Formerly it was thought that the way to 'break up' a sitting hen was to douse her in a tank of water or imprison her in a little coop with a starvation ration. Modern tests have shown that heavy feeding and comfortable housing will tend to start egg production more quickly than did the former methods.

THE VOICE OF THE LIBERTY BELL

This is one of the two new official posters of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 to celebrate 150 years of American Independence. The Exposition will continue to December 1. Dan Smith, the artist, has symbolized the epoch in history which the tolling of the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall, July 4, 1776, marked and has depicted the growth of the United States from the original thirteen states, represented by the thirteen stars which emerge from the mouth of the Liberty Bell.

VOTE OR PAY A FINE IS NEW IDEA

U. S. SHOULD FORCE CITIZENS TO VOTE, WADE TELLS IOWANS

IOWA CITY, Iowa, July 7.—Martin J. Wade, judge of the southern district of Iowa, in a speech before the Commonwealth Conference at S U. I. gave two remedies for the appalling lack of voting: education in the schools about the vote, and a law passed by the legislature compelling citizens to vote or pay a fine.

The latter remedy he said had been included in an Australian legislative measure and the result had been that 91 percent of the people went to the polls to vote. "This measure in the United States," continued Judge Wade, "would do much to eliminate the peacetime slacker in this country."

The Judge advocated the installation in every school of a department of American Citizenship to teach students among other things the use and the power of the vote.

IOWA BUTTERMAKERS AGAIN RANK FIRST

Iowa buttermakers are running true to form by winning the first lap of the race for the National Banner which is awarded each year to the state which has the highest scoring butter at the National Buttermakers' convention, according to information which has reached the Iowa Department of Agriculture

The first lap of the race was the scoring of butter from each state which was entered in the cold storage part of the National contest. The average of the ten highest scoring samples from Iowa was 94.77 per cent, as compared to an average score of 94.60 for the Minnesota samples and 93.55 for the Wisconsin samples.

These samples were put into storage and will be re-scored in December when the annual convention is held at Sioux Falls, S. Dak. The average of these two scores, together with the scores on the ten high tubs in the fresh butter contest held at the convention, will determine the winner of the National Banner for this year.

MANY FROM McGREGOR WILL BE AT BAYSIDE SUNDAY

Bayside Amusement Park at Clear Lake, Iowa, will have a special free attraction program Sunday, July 11, to entertain the great crowd expected. An excursion on the Milwaukee starting at McGregor will no doubt bring hundreds of people from north eastern Iowa to Bayside next Sunday forenoon. They will arrive about eleven o'clock The famous Bamon Basset band will come on the excursion train and will play concerts Sunday afternoon and night at Bayside. The Raymonds, noted entertainers, will present two high class vaudeville specialties both afternoon and evening. This company includes Florence Nixon, the lady ventriloquist, and Ed Raymond, world's greatest contortionist. Three expert bicyclist will ride their specially built bicycles and stage a riding, high dive leap into the lake. They will ride across the Bayside Park, out over the 250 foot dock and leap into the water. This daring high diving stunt will take place next Sunday afternoon and is a part of the special free attraction program.

NEW COURT HOUSE FOR RINGGOLD COUNTY

By virtue of a favorable vote on June 7th the Ringgold county is to have a court horse at Mount Ayr, the county seat. Since the old court house was condemned and torn down several years ago the business of the county has been transacted in temporary quarters in various parts of the town. A bond issue of $150,000 was voted. With the erection of a court house at Mount Ayr, Jones county will be the only one in Iowa without a regular court house. On several occasions an effort has been made to vote bonds for such a purpose at Anamosa but defeat always resulted.

IOWA FARMS ARE GROWING LARGER

The average Iowa farm in 1925 contained 162 acres, according to assessors' reports to the Weather and Crop Bureau of the Iowa Department of Agriculture. This compares with 161 acres in 1924, 160 acres in 1923 and 157 acres in 1922. Subdivision around the cities and towns seems to be more than overcome by consolidation in the truly rural communities.

With the gradual decrease in farm population and the steady increase in agricultural production, the efficiency of the Iowa farmer is of the highest order and far out-runs the demand for his products.

The average Iowa farm of 162 acres in 1925 produced 53.4 acres of corn; 29 5 acres of oats; 14 1 acres of hay; 16.8 acres in miscellaneous crops, farm buildings, roads, waste land, etc., and had 48.2 acres in pasture. Only 1.8 acres per farm was waste and idle land—more credit to Iowa and Iowa farm efficiency.

Looking at the matter from another angle, 52.3 per cent of the cultivated area of Iowa was devoted to corn in 1925.

MANY STATE PARKS IN IOWA

Iowa's thirty-ninth state park, Wildcat Den, near Muscatine, has fourth in the nation for number of state parks. Distributed throughout the state so that one of the grounds is within fifty miles of every home, Iowa's parks include more than 7,500 acres, exclusive of areas covered by lakes, Historic spots, sites of natural beauty, lakes, lotus beds, and wild life preserves combine to make the group one of the most varied in the nation.

FOSSILIZED BONE FOUND NEAR CHEROKEE

Excavation of an outcropping of fossilized bone along the Little Sioux river near Cherokee will probably begin some time early this month, E. J. Cable, head of the department of natural science, State Teacher's College, Cedar Falls, announces. The deposit of unknown dimensions, is thought to contain the bones of mammals of some age previous to the coming of the white man to America. It was discovered by N. L Sites, Cherokee banker, and is being developed with the sanction, cooperation and assistance of the American Museum of National History, the state geological department of Iowa City, and Mr. Sites.

HANCOCK COUNTY REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Holger H. Hansen wf to Sven Nelson. W. D., date 6-25-26, $1,300, lots 7-8 block 3 Brown & Hills add Britt.

E. P Hanson, Sheriff, to Julia F. Bunting Sheriff's Deed date 6-26-26, $1412.58 lots 11-12 block 4, Lentengres add Corwith.

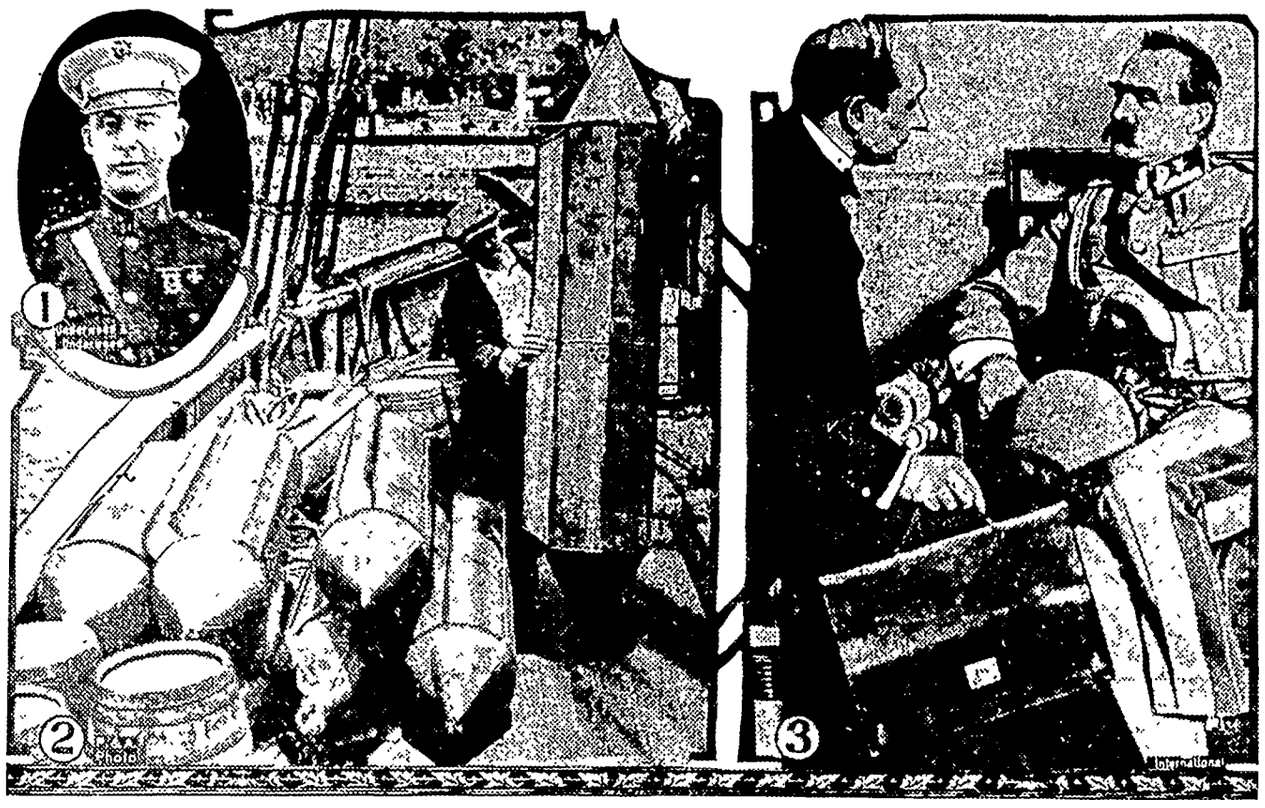
Clara E. Richter to Edwin B. Richter, et al. W. D., date 6-5-26 $10 W½ 19-95-26.

OUR WEEKLY SHORT STORY

One of our Klemme business men visited a lunatic asylum a few weeks ago and while walking around the grounds he met a patient to whom he put this question, "Well, how did you get here?"

The man replied: "Well sir, you see I married a widow with a grown-up daughter, and then my father married my wife's daughter and that made my wife the mother-in-law of her father-in-law and my father became my step-son. Then my step-mother, the daughter of my wife, had a son, and that boy, of course, was my brother, because he was my father's son, and then he was the son of my wife's stepdaughter and therefore her grandson, and that made me grandfather of my step-brother. Then my wife had a son, so my mother-in-law, the step-sister of my son, is also his grandmother, because he is her stepson's child; my father is the brother-in-law of my child because his step-sister is his wife; I am the brother of my own son and so I am the son of my step-mother. I am my mother's brother-in-law; my wife is her own child's aunt; my son is my father's nephew and I am my own grandfather.

"That's why I am here, sir!"



1—Lieut F. E. Stack who will command the marine detachment at the summer White House in the Adirondacks. 2—Torpedoes filled with booze ready to be shot from Rum Row off New York and picked up by rum runners, but seized by government agents. 3—Dictator Pilsudski of Poland conferring with Minister of Foreign Affairs Zalewski.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Farmer Gets Little Relief From Congress at Least Until Next Session.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

NOT much relief for the American farmer from this session of congress. Out of the multiplicity of plans offered in bills, substitute bills and amendments he gets only the co-operative marketing measure which was President Coolidge's original prescription for the ills that beset agriculture in this country.

Corn-belt senators, having lost in the battle to put over their bill to raise farm product prices on the American market, refused to accept the plan supported by the administration, embodied in the Fess bill, providing for credits for farm co-operative associations. They gained the help of a number of senators who usually stand by the administration, and of all but three of the Democrats. So when the vote was taken the measure went down to defeat, 26 to 54. One substitute after another was offered and rejected speedily before the senate, with the chamber nearly empty, passed the co-operative marketing bill without a record vote. It previously went through the house but had to go to conference. It creates a new division in the Agriculture department to handle co-operative marketing problems and appropriates $225,000 for its work. Members of congress who are from farming regions do not think it is adequate to solve the problems of the farmers.

Congress planned to adjourn immediately before or after the Fourth of July and the members from the corn belt prepared to go home and begin work that, they said, would make the administration and the Republican party leaders mighty sorry for what they had done and left undone in this matter of farm legislation. The long and bitter controversy is sure to show results at the polls in November, and of course there is a lot of talk about a corn-belt candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1928. It just happens that Frank O Lowden of Illinois is in Sweden at this time carefully studying farm methods and advocating a great international farm congress in Chicago in 1933.

One other thing has just been done to help the farmer. At the suggestion of President Coolidge, the shipping board assigned 27 available ships for the grain-carrying trade and ordered 32 additional ships put into condition for use in the same trade to assure adequate ocean transportation facilities for grain exports. Action by the board came after Secretary Jardine of the Department of Agriculture and Secretary Hoover of the Department of Commerce had appeared before the board as emissaries of the President. Chairman O'Connor said the cabinet members came to the board at the suggestion of the President "to call to the shipping board's attention the acute grain situation and the lack of sufficient ships to transport grain to the markets of the world."

GETTING ready for adjournment on July 3, the house hurried, through two important measures. The first was the second deficiency bill carrying $45,000,000, of which $2,680,700 is appropriated for prohibition enforcement. An attempt to eliminate this item was made but many of the wets were absent and there were only 33 votes in favor of the motion.

Two other motions—one to knock out the $186,760 item requested by Lincoln C. Andrews, federal dry chief, for financing special federal undercover squads to check up on state officials and another to add $100,000 to the appropriation for dry law enforcement—were defeated overwhelmingly.

An appropriation of $550,000 for the administration of the new civil air bill and the construction of airways was approved.

The other big bill passed was that providing for the army's five-year air-expansion program, already passed by the senate. This was the third of the air-expansion measures, and the nation is now assured of an adequate aviation program in the commercial, naval and military fields. Estimates made by naval and military experts disclose that approximately $250,000,000 will be expended in the development of national defense aviation in the next five years.

SENATOR REED of Missouri and his committee have kept right on with their inquiry into the Pennsylvania Republican primary. Most interesting of the information obtained last week was the fact that Pennsylvania's liquor laws were being enforced largely by unofficial "snoopers" paid from a fund which was collected by the Women's Christian Temperance union and sometimes imported from other states. W. B. Wright, deputy attorney general of the state, admitted this and also admitted that he himself draws a salary of $8,000 from the W. C. T. U. as director of the prohibition enforcement unit. Wright was imported from Baltimore by Governor Pinchot. Attorney General G. R. Woodruff of Pennsylvania took the stand and defended the employment of the snoopers and the method of their payment.

SENATOR CARAWAY had a characteristic outburst in which he made a lot of violent assertions concerning the Republican senatorial primary in Illinois, attacking both the McKinley and the Smith factions. He charged that both used vast sums of money and that positions of public trust were debauched to procure contributions and influence votes. He said that Samuel Insull, the public utilities magnate, found it cheaper to come across than chance the loss of millions in reduced rates, and donated at least $500,000 individually or through subordinates. And he more than intimated that much money was paid to John H. Walker, president of the state federation of labor, and to Frank Farrington, another labor leader, to line up labor votes for Smith. Some of the persons he named refused to comment; others said he had taken advantage of his senatorial immunity to utter a mass of falsehoods. Reed's committee may disclose the truth.

WISCONSIN Democrats, in convention in Milwaukee, enthusiastically adopted a platform calling for submission of the prohibition question to state constitutional conventions, and expressing opposition to the Ku Klux Klan. They selected T. M. Kearney of Racine for their senatorial candidate, and put up a full state ticket headed by Martin L. Lueck of Beaver Dam for governor.

MORE than a score of Methodist Episcopal bishops and many other leaders of that church assembled in international conference in Chicago last week, and one of the first topics they took up was prohibition. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, and others warmly defended Lincoln C. Andrews, federal administrator of prohibition, though Doctor Wilson did blame him for putting men into the prohibition enforcement unit who were not personally committed to prohibition.

DRASTIC measures designed to increase production and decrease imports and waste were put into effect July 1 by the council of ministers of Italy. The country's trade balance has been bad and the lira has been losing value, so the ministers considered the situation acute. The most important of the decrees are as follows:

Authorization for the increase of the working day by one hour. (From eight to nine hours.)

Restriction of daily newspapers to six pages and the prohibition of all special supplements excepting technical ones.

Prohibition of the opening of new bars, cafes, hotels, cabarets, pastry shops and night dancing resorts.

Prohibition of the construction of private houses and villas of a luxurious type. The only new construction permitted is of cheap houses for workers, farm laborers and small-salaried employees, farm houses or co-operative apartments representing the direct investment of small private savings. Special government aid is given for the building of cheap houses for employees of large industrial establishments.

Announcement that agreements have been reached for the reduction in price, without hurting the quality, of iron, cements, bricks and plaster.

Announcement that steps have been taken to help large employers open canteens in order to sell food to their employees at the lowest possible prices.

Announcement that agreements have been reached with industrialists to help in the production of domestic metals.

There is an interesting rumor afloat—mention of which in print in Italy is officially forbidden—that Mussolini is planning the marriage of his young daughter to the crown prince.

MAINLY because of the scandal over the smuggling of liquor into the United States, the Liberal government of Canada has been forced out of office. Prime Minister MacKenzie King announced to the house that he has asked dissolution of parliament and been refused by the governor general, so he and his cabinet resigned. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservatives, was called on at once to form a new ministry, which he did. His party in parliament is not strong enough to stand alone, however, and will merely attempt to pass the necessary legislation and carry on until the end of the session and the coming of the new elections. The new cabinet ministers, except Prime Minister Meighen, are all nominally "ministers without portfolio" in order to avoid the necessity of resigning their seats in parliament, which is compulsory on salaried ministers.

The lower house by a vote of 119 to 109 adopted the Conservative party's amendment to the report of the commission which recently delved into charges of gross irregularities in the customs department and involving the smuggling of liquor into the United States. The vote means that parliament has adopted the recommendations of the customs investigating committee for improved administration of the customs department; that it has approved the censure of the King administration and of G. H. Bolvin, former minister of customs, who was accused of releasing without payment of excise tax a large quantity of denatured alcohol which was used for beverage purposes, most of it going into the United States, and that there shall be a further judicial investigation into the customs administration.

ALL the Mediterranean countries and islands were severely shocked by earthquakes last week, and the temblors were also felt in Asia as far as Sumatra, where scores of persons were killed. The casualty lists in Europe were not great, but many villages were destroyed on the islands of Rhodes and Crete. A few days later, on the anniversary of the earthquake of 1925, that did so much damage in Santa Barbara, that California city experienced another temblor that damaged buildings but caused only one death.

In Transylvania there were great floods that caused the death of about one hundred persons and the collapse of thousands of houses.

NEWS of a big conspiracy to overthrow the Spanish directorate headed by Gen. Primo de Rivera has leaked out in spite of the government to prevent publicity. It was said that more than 200 of the plotters were under arrest and that the secret police were after many others. Reports from Tarragona, Cadiz and other provinces say everything was prepared there for a military uprising when the government agents discovered the conspiracy.

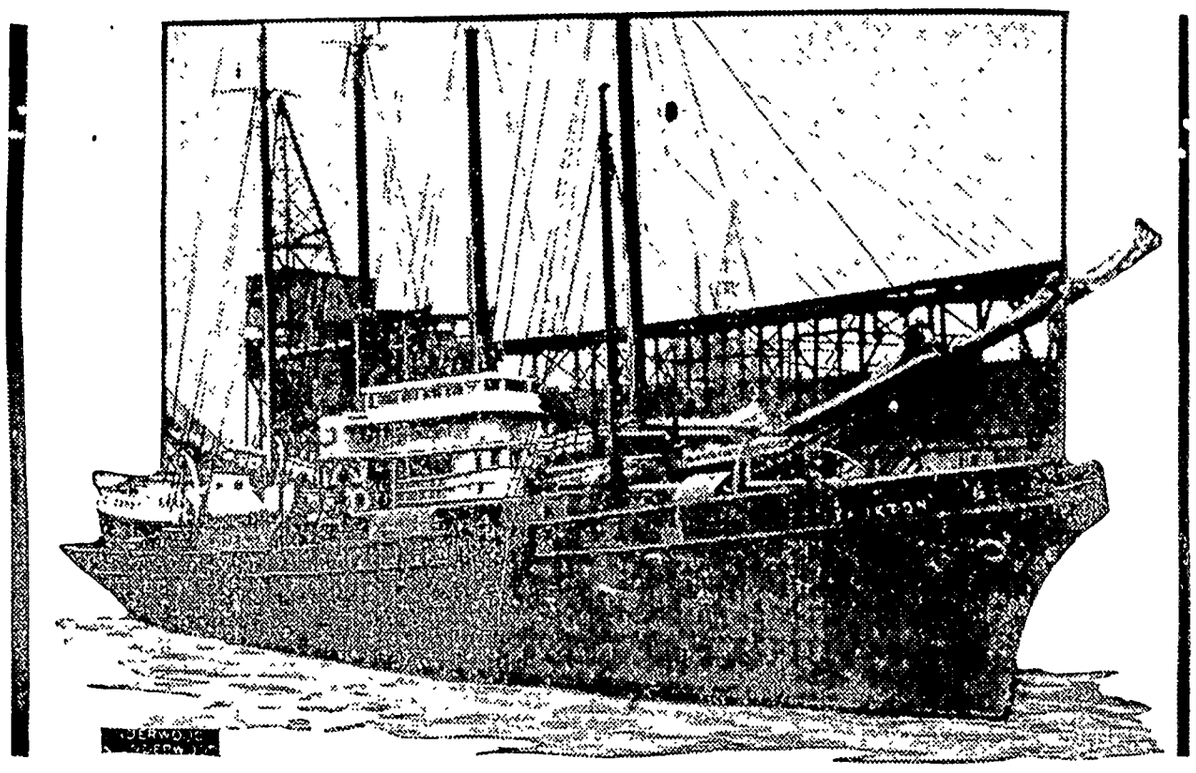
GUSTAVUS ADOLPHUS, crown prince of Sweden, has been having a grand time among the "old home folks" and their descendants up in Minnesota. Of course, the whole population joined in welcoming him and the crown princess, but naturally those of Swedish blood were the most enthusiastic.

JEREMIAH SMITH of Boston, who has finished his work of reorganizing the finances of Hungary, has presented his salary of $100,000 for two years' work to the Hungarian people.

School That Is Made Up of Many Nationalities

That the Quinn public school of Bethlehem, Pa., is virtually a melting pot is evident by this group of twenty nationalities, representative of the student body of the school, of which John J. McNamara, above, in center, is principal. Misses Irma Zimmerman and Elizabeth Randall, left background, are instructors. The student body is composed of 98 per cent foreign born or of foreign parentage.

Yacht Yankton Has Had Diversified Career



The yacht Yankton, pictured above, now owned by Chester Gray of Boston, has had a strange career. Many years ago it was the private yacht of King Edward of England. Later it fell into the possession of Sarah Bernhardt; and during the Spanish-American war it was for a time the flagship of Admiral Dewey. Since the Eighteenth amendment went into effect it has been captured twice as a rum runner.

Floral Parade of Coast Children

Children and flowers again proved their supremacy as southern California's chief attractions when a throng swarmed to Ocean Park to witness the seventh annual children's floral parade, and the artistic floats they had decorated with their own hands. More than 1,000 children participated in the event.

Mountain Air Given President

Members of the Good Will association of the southwestern part of Virginia who presented to President Coolidge a paperweight made of copper from Carroll and Grayson counties. The weight had in it a tube containing "A Breath of Fresh Mountain Air From Virginia."

COOKS SNAKE FOODS

The new Kimura restaurant in the heart of Tokyo, Japan, specializes in snake foods, such as, for instance, juicy fried snakes. The proprietor a well known Japanese chef, is shown in this photograph, with the base for one of his famous dishes.

HER STORY BEST

Miss Ardis Wilden, El Paso, Texas, high school girl, is the winner of a university scholarship and $150 in cash, as the result of being chosen national champion in the third national meat story contest which was conducted in high schools of the United States by the National Live Stock and Meat board. There were more than 10,000 competitors.

Youth Rides West

By Will Irwin

Copyright by Will Irwin
WNU Service

THE STORY SO FAR

On their way to the newly-discovered "gold diggings" at Cottonwood, Colo., in the early Seventies, Robert Gilson, easterner, who tells the story, and his partner, Buck Hayden, veteran miner, secretly witness bandits hold up a stageconch and make away with an express box. Among the victims are a young woman, "Mrs. Deane" and Mrs. Barnaby, who intends to start a restaurant at the camp. Gilson meets Marcus Handy, an editor on his way to set up the Cottonwood Courier. Arriving at Cottonwood, they enter a saloon, where an altercation between two men, one a pickpocket, arouses the mob to demand the lynching of the latter.

CHAPTER III—Continued

—4—

"Drop that rope!" came a voice, a voice with ring and carry, which seemed to dominate all the noise. He who spoke stood in the door. Silence fell again—silence and quiet. It seemed that everyone froze in the midst of whatever he was doing—all except the newcomer. He was a tall man with a heavy brown mustache and imperial. He wore a black slouch hat of the G. A. R. pattern; and for all his height he moved with quick, flowing certainty. He did not wait for that mood of frozen hesitation to break; in two strides he had crossed to one of the empty chairs pushed against the wall when the players dropped their game. He stepped into it, stepped just as lightly to the table, his feet crunching on chips and the spilled stacks of twenty-dollar gold pieces. As the silence began to break into sinister mutterings, he spoke again:

"Bring that rope here—and that prisoner, too!"

Momentary silence again. He stood, his feet planted apart, a drawn revolver in his left hand—which I thought odd. It rested so, close to his body, its muzzle a little lowered. His eyes seemed to take us all in.

The leader of the mob stood alone in the middle of the floor. He spoke suddenly:

"We'll hang a city marshal as quick as a pickpocket," he said. "Boys, bring on your rope. It's long enough for two."

"Drop that rope!" came from the man on the table, shifting his eyes, shifting slightly the muzzle of his gun.

There the leader made his mistake. The muzzle was turned away from him; he had an instant to act. His hand went to his hip. In the same instant I had a glimpse of a dozen forms beginning a prudent drop toward the floor.

I never saw the man on the table change the direction of his muzzle from the back door to the center of the floor. The motion was too quick. I was only aware that his right hand, held flat, had brushed across his gun. The "bang" sent the crowd to the floor as a strike in bowling drops the tenpins. The leader had his gun out, and no more. It dropped clattering to the floor. His left hand went to his right biceps; and he sank slowly onto one knee.

A tall, rangy man with a hat like a marshal's pushed through the door.

"Charlie," said the marshal, "take that prisoner there. You with the rope, come here." The man with the rope, walking unsteadily, jerkily, crossed the floor. The audience was now beginning to get up; and the marshal spoke again, and again seemed to freeze everyone into a grotesque statue.

"Is there anybody else wants to shoot?" he inquired. No one responded. "All right," he continued. "There's been no lynchin' in this camp yet, and there won't be. Get that? Somebody fix up the man I just shot. He's only winged in the arm." He cast his eye about again. "Your blood was up, boys. Nothin' like a little blood to cool blood." His face had been as blank as a stone wall except for the steady blaze of his eyes. But now he smiled, and I liked the way his eyes crinkled. He leaped down from the table, turned his back deliberately on the crowd, began to strip the belt from the prisoner's arms, to snap on handcuffs. The babble broke out again. Three minutes before, it had an animal note. Now, it sparkled with laughter. Before the marshal, the deputy and their now voluble prisoner passed out of the door, the poker-players were sorting out chips and piles of gold pieces at the tables, the bartenders were taking orders, the stairs were black with an ascending crowd.

"He is sure a shootin' man," remarked Buck in a tone of deep admiration. "Who might it be?"

"Town marshal," replied Jim Huffaker briefly. "Name, Chris McGrath. You're right, he shoots."

"Who's mayor of this camp, anyhow?" inquired Buck.

"Ain't none," replied Huffaker. "A town marshal like that is all the mayor we need— There! There's our man!" he suddenly broke off, darting past the poker tables and laying hands on an individual who had just entered.

After all this space of years, the figure of Bill Talbot, who wanted to sell his claim, has grown a little dim in mind; he was to float into my life for a day only, and float out again never to reappear. Nor do I remember many details of the long dicker which he, Buck and Jim Huffaker conducted in a comparatively quiet corner of the Black Jack.

"I suppose your title is O. K.?" inquired Buck.

"Good as the gold you'll dig," said Talbot.

"That's got to be proved," said Buck. "S'pose we kin look into that after I've seen the claim?"

Now watching this transaction idly from the outside, I had perceived that Talbot was eager to be gone. I was not surprised, therefore, when he said, and, I felt, with sincerity:

"I wanted to be travelin' tomorrow mornin'. That's why I'm sellin' so cheap."

"Nothin' goes until I see your title's right," said Buck stubbornly. Here Huffaker came in with a solution.

"Well, if Chris McGrath says it's right and sound, you'll believe him, won't you?"

"What's he got to do with it?" asked Buck.

"The whole works," said Huffaker. "He registers minin' claims, too."

"Mebbe," allowed Buck.

So forth we went under the burning stars and through the thinning crowd, to find Town Marshal McGrath. We ran him to earth in the tiny Comstock Lode saloon, his foot on the bar rail, his hand on a glass of water.

In two minutes the marshal had certified unofficially but with certainty that No. 32 placer, held by William Talbot was a bona fide claim without encumbrance. As we left, Huffaker asked us about our lodging for the night. That question had been dimly troubling me all the evening. Our blankets were with our packs in the public corral. Sleeping there, on the wet, trampled ground, seemed out of the question.

"I sleep people in my shack," said Huffaker, "keep up the fire all night so you don't need blankets." We found, indeed, a dozen men already snoring under the table of the restaurant.

"Won't cost you nothin', seein's we done so much business—good night," whispered our host as he departed to his quarters in the rear.

I threw myself down by the stove of the Golden Eagle and, with one side roasting and the other freezing, slept until the cook woke me by stirring the fire for an early breakfast. In spite of youth, mountain air and fatigue, I was a little time in falling asleep—these had been the most crowded and excited three days of my life.

Cramped in every joint by one night on the hard floor, Buck, Talbot and I rolled out and breakfasted by candlelight. When we started forth the sun had risen for the world below, but for us it shone as yet only on the white-rimmed peaks above. From the snows of the peaks the breeze came in puffs. A little shrill and piercing at first touch, once you had filled your lungs it whipped your blood like wine.

The public corral, where we had left our stock and packs, had as by magic changed over night. The piles of boxes and barrels which had risen above us when we unpacked and hitched in the twilight, had assumed new shapes; and other piles were growing at the hands of the freighters. The very horses, mules and jacks seemed recent arrivals. As we halted, as we began to rub down our burros with gunny-sacking in order to make them presentable for sale, two mud-spattered men on blowing, lathered, drooping horses spurred into the corral. Without introduction or ado, they hailed us.

The "Bang" Sent the Crowd to the Floor as a Strike in Bowling Drops the Ten Pins.

"Where's these galena locations?" asked the nearest.

"Up yon way—up the hill!" said Buck, scarcely glancing from his work. With no further question, they jerked the savage Spanish bits in the lathered mouths of their weary mounts, whirled and spurred straight over the mushy ground, uphill.

Now, Bill Talbot was with us. The dicker finished, we saddled, mounted and started to inspect that end of our bargain which most interested us. Talbot's claim lay a mile up the creek; but the road was so jammed and miry that we elected to take a side trail across the hill, which here started abruptly from the road and presently flattened out into a little plateau. My eyes were searching, as they had all the morning been searching half consciously. I dropped deliberately behind Buck and Bill Talbot. And suddenly my nerve centers gave a jump, my cheeks a little tingle. There was a sign, painted with the cross-line of the "N" turned the wrong way, with the stems of the capitals at all angles from the perpendicular. "Mrs. Barnaby's Boarding House, Open for Business Next Tuesday," it read. Behind it stood a tent, the posts and ridgepoles in place, but the cover flopping in a state of collapse.

Bent down, earnestly and efficiently driving a tent-peg with the butt of a hatchet, was a form which I recognized as that of Mrs. Barnaby. In the rear, a big sheet-iron cook stove, set up in the open field, emitted a faint ghost of smoke from its abbreviated pipe as though a fire which served to get breakfast was now dying out. Beside it were great packing boxes, some open, some still nailed shut, and all, in spite of the conspicuous sign, "Handle With Care," lying as though some freighter had rolled them from the top of his load, and simply let them drop. Over the nearest box, head and shoulders half hidden, stooped the figure of another woman. As I looked, she dropped back on one knee, her arms full of tin plates, and faced me. It was Mrs. Deane. And my first glorious impression was of her hair—brown, chestnut-brown with the same light in the beating sun of the morning, that one sees in molasses candy when it is being pulled—a tawny undertone which glistens.

I had jerked up the head of my protesting horse, was about to give spur and to retreat in confusion, when she looked suddenly our way. Her face lightened with a smile in which I read recognition, and she dropped her load into a box. Then she rose; took a step toward me. Embarrassment ran across me in a hot flush; I felt for an instant as I did when, at my first dancing lesson, they told me to put my arm around the little lady.

She, on her part, was swaying across the uneven ground toward me, her eyes most friendly but her smile with that same reserve. Now she stopped and held up, palm outward, a pair of strong but slender hands. I noted with one eye that the left had a ring on the third finger; and, as she dropped them with a pretty flutter, that it was a plain gold band.

"I won't offer to shake hads," she was saying; "they're disgraceful with this unpacking. So you landed safely! I hope you staked your claim?"

"I think we're staked," I said, my embarrassment beginning to vanish, to yield to gloomy interior reflections on that circlet of gold. "And you arrived safely?"

"Yes, we're going to have a home soon, Mrs. Barnaby and I! We've been sleeping under the edge of the canvas so far—but it's been great fun! Fortunately, it hasn't rained."

Mrs. Barnaby at this moment rose up from the tent peg, stood with one hand in the hollow of her back, and broke into the conversation—broke in like a flood.

"We're goin' to—maybe. We're goin' to if they deliver them pans and kittles—that freightin' company robbin' you right at the start and then leavin' out the pans and kittles, and goodness knows what's become of the carpenter I hired at ten dollars a day just to put the floor down which I could do myself—stampeded like a fool to the galena diggin's, I guess—and that sack of flour—" It flowed on, without punctuation or grammar; and from it all I gathered that Mrs. Barnaby's stakeout was merely temporary. She was erecting her tent on the bare ground, taking chances that there would be no rain until the pile of lumber stacked in between the boxes became a floor and a tent frame. "Anyhow, we open on Thursday if they eat off the stove," concluded Mrs. Barnaby.

"I hope I may come to see you when you get—settled," I said in parting. I had hesitated for the proper word, and when I came out with that "settled," suggestive of moving time in' old, ordered New England scenes, Mrs. Deane laughed. Her laugh—I had noticed that before—ran a little gamut, played a half-tune. But the veil of inscrutable reserve behind her eyes had thickened, become momentarily a curtain. The gamut of her laugh died away on a grace note; and "I hope so," was all she replied. She went back to the boxes then, and I had to remember, as I withdrew and mounted, that it would be bad manners to stare at her over my shoulder. However, as I gathered rein and rode away, I did myself the luxury of another look. She was in her graceful, half-kneeling pose beside the boxes; the morning sun was making tawny gold of her hair.

CHAPTER IV

—

Everyone who has picked wild berries knows the greedy joy in that innocent sport. You are getting something for nothing. And each bush, as you approach it, holds out glittering promises of a branch so bent and loaded that you have only to scrape it in order to fill your pail. Gold-digging, for the first three or four days at least, raises the same set of emotions, vastly intensified. All day long, Buck dug and I rocked, or I dug and Buck rocked. My feet were first wet through, with standing in the polluted stream, and then, when I worked from the bank, congealed to chunks of ice by the shrill spring wind. Nevertheless, I worked with enthusiasm. My reward was that period late in the day when we assembled the scrapings from the riffles of our washer and panned them down still finer with our skillet and an old dishpan. Then at last the tiny flecks of gold began to glitter in the yellow mud. On the second day I even found a nugget about twice as big as a buckshot. This Buck let me keep as a souvenir; after all these years I have it yet.

It was brutally hard work. I thought that our struggles on the road had toughened me for anything; but when I woke on the second morning, muscles which I did not know I possessed creaked and ached their protest. My hands looked and felt like inflamed, red blisters, and my wet clothes rubbed me raw in a dozen places.

Above and below us along the stream, other men in groups of twos and threes toiled with the same concentrated monotony. And, meantime,

As I Looked She Dropped Back on One Knee, Her Arms Full of Plates, and Faced Me.

just about the shoulder of the hill lay hidden the fascination of Cottonwood camp. By day, I could hear in rattles and roars, broken now and then by a louder sound of whose cause I could only speculate as I dug and rocked, rocked and dug.

It was by night, however, that the sounds and glimpses of Cottonwood became most alluring to youth and loneliness. On the second night, after we had stowed away our bacon and coffee, I had washed up, shaved, and brushed my hair, with the intention of visiting camp. Buck had spoken suddenly from the corner of our eight-by-twelve cabin, where he was mending a splintered shovel handle with wire, to ask:

"What ye up to?"

"Thought I'd take a look at the camp before I turned in," I said.

"Grand way to wash gold," remarked Buck. "Do your work all week and lay off like a Christian Sat'day night an' Sunday, or you'll never git ahead in this game."

And though ours was a partnership, I had by now so completely yielded to the guidance of Buck in all things practical, that I accepted the rebuke with docility and turned in instead—to think, until I fell into dreamless sleep, of the camp and especially of that hillside where a boarding house must by now stand open for business.

On the third night, I forced from Buck an answer to a question which he had hitherto evaded.

"How much are we taking out?" I asked.

"First day, 'bout ten dollars. Second day wasn't as good. Today's a little better."

"Apiece?" I asked.

"Nope. Together."

"That's about day wages," said I "Won't we do any better than that?"

"Oh, cert—if we strike a pocket," replied Buck. "A lot better. There was one good run of sand up in the Idaho diggin's that yielded sixty thousand dollars before she panned out."

I choked back my answer. Speaking generally, Buck was a pessimist. All the way to Cottonwood, he had never packed and started without expressing his certain conviction that the special obstacle of the day—whether mud, snow or steep grades—would plumb wreck us before night. By way of compensation, he became a sappy optimist in face of a prospect. Though he usually took pains to conceal his hopes from me, Buck expected any day to break into a pocket. He had seen others do it; why not he?

Now I, who had laughed inwardly at Buck's dismal prophecies of disaster on the way to Cottonwood—toward the main object of this expedition, I was the pessimist. I could not yet believe in my soul the fact that these picturesque rocks of the mountains held wealth in chemical solution. I had come for adventure. I did not yet consider myself a citizen of the West; I still figured as a spectator at the drama, not an actor. Which may serve to introduce all there is to tell about me, Robert Gilson.

* * * * * * *

Tracing it back, I realize that the first impulse which sent me adventuring came one night in Holworthy hall during my senior year, and from Harry Tilden. He was a junior, and of a different crowd; in those days at Harvard we were very particular about our classes and crowds. Until that night, Tilden had been to me only a shadowy figure. It was ordained that he should for a moment blaze into a reality and then fade back into the shadows. That night I dropped into Harrison's room on some errand as trifling as borrowing a book. I found a rum-punch steaming on the table; and on the couch lounged Tilden, a big, vital figure of a Californian, caressing the dormitory cat. Some phrase of his caught my attention. I forgot my errand and listened.

Tilden was talking of old days in the West. His father had crossed the plains to the Sacramento diggings in '49; his mother had come round the Horn. The family interests, it transpired, now lay invested mainly in a cattle ranch near a city of a witching strangeness called Santa Barbara. His uncle had fought Indians about Mount Shasta, chased buffalo on the plains and hunted grizzly bears in the Sierra, before settling down to an importing business in San Francisco.

Like most boys of my time, I had read dime novels—surreptitiously, for respectable parents forbade them along with cigarettes and other exciting juvenile pleasures. And so I knew that there was a West, full of Indians, cowboys, old scouts on the trail, mining camps, gambling houses and half-breadth adventures. Yet I had never really grasped with my imagination that it was a part of my United States, which my far ancestors had sailed unknown seas to found and my father fought to preserve. It was merely a country bounded by the covers of books, like the Damascus of the "Arabian Nights" or the Troy of Homer. But now I realized, with a kind of intellectual shock in discovering the obvious, that the Far West lay not at the end of the rainbow, but at the terminus of a four-day railroad journey. Details over which my mind had skimmed lazily became vivid, actual, living, in the conversation of Harrison.

Just who is this Gilson fellow, anyway? What's he doing in this rough country?

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Belief That Vikings Gave Name to London

The origin of the name of London has puzzled many historians.

Londinium is first mentioned by Tacitus, a Roman author, in A. D. 61. He says it is "a place greatly celebrated for the number of its merchants and the abundance of its supplies."

There are many proofs in English and Swedish museums of the intimate intercourse between England and Scandinavia in early times, an intercourse that has probably gone on uninterruptedly for about 6,000 years. It may be conjectured that early Vikings from the south of Sweden ventured across the water and sailed up the mouth of the Thames and found a grove, which in Swedish is "lund," on the banks of the river, where later on the Roman Londinium arose.

The invaders called the place "Lund," from the Scandinavian "offenlund," or sacred grove, says a writer in Notes and Queries. The name was later corrupted into "Lond."

And That Was That

A famous London comedian who need not be named was invited to a peer's house during the festive season. After dinner he was reciting a few of his best yarns and in the midst of one of the choicest was interrupted by a guest, who said to him: "Excuse me, but your handkerchief is hanging half out of your pocket."

"Thank you very much," said the actor gravely, as he adjusted it. "You know the company so much better than I."—Sporting and Dramatic News.

Hard and Soft Solders

Soldering operations are classified, according to the composition of the alloy used, as either soft soldering or hard soldering. Solders of low melting points, composed mainly of lead and tin in varying amounts, are known as soft solders, while those of high melting points, composed of varying amounts of copper, brass, zinc, silver and gold, are known as hard solders. The soft solder commonly used is made up of half lead and half tin, and melts at a temperature of 370 degrees Fahrenheit. The more lead there is in this alloy, the higher is its melting point, and an alloy composed of one part tin and two parts lead melts at 441 degrees Fahrenheit.

At the Movies

Lu—"And what part of the picture did you like best?" Sue—"The part when Jack proposed to me, of course."

THE AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

LEADS DEPARTMENT IN RECORD DRIVE

The ability to receive and execute orders is the first requisite of a good soldier in war or peace. That is why Scott W. Lucas of Havana, Ill., department commander of the American Legion, heads the largest Legion department in point of membership in the nation to surpass its 1925 membership enrollment.

When National Commander John R. McQuigg was elected the Legion's leader at Omaha for the year 1925-26 he commanded his department leaders to "go back to your departments and enroll the largest membership the Legion has ever known."

Scott Lucas obeyed that command to the letter. Under his leadership, although Illinois is among the "Big Three" of Legion departments, including New York, Illinois and Pennsylvania, the 1925 membership mark of the department was exceeded by May 1, 1926, with approximately 50,000 members enrolled.

A congratulatory telegram for this achievement was sent to Illinois department headquarters by National Adjt. James F. Barton. The telegram follows:

Scott W. Lucas.

"Heartiest congratulations to the Illinois department on exceeding its 1925 membership and in leading the entire nation in total membership on May 1. The national organization is deeply grateful to your department officers and to every post that has worked so hard, so faithfully and so splendidly to make this achievement possible. Your record is an inspiration to us all. More power to you."

The "model" membership campaign for posts was conducted this year by Roosevelt-Aurora post of the Legion at Aurora. So successful was this campaign that it was taken as the "model" to be followed by other posts of the nation and a booklet describing it was prepared by national headquarters and was sent to posts throughout the nation.

Mr. Lucas has been a hard-working Legionnaire since the inception of the organization. He organized the first American Legion post at Havana in 1919. He attended the organization caucus at St. Louis, Mo., and has attended every state convention. He is a lawyer by profession and resigned the position as state's attorney to become department commander of the Legion in Illinois.

May Take Whole Family to Paris Convention

Fathers whose sons are members of the American Legion and fathers whose sons died in the service of their country during the World war will be able to join the American Legion pilgrimage to France next year at the special reduced rates provided Legionnaires and members of the American Legion auxiliary, according to Bowman Elder of Indianapolis, chairman of the Legion's France convention committee.

The inclusion of the fathers makes it possible for a veteran to take his entire family to France with him as members of the regular Legion tour, since wives and mothers are eligible to membership in the trip by virtue of their membership in the American Legion auxiliary.

Gets Legion Medal

Bestowal of the American Legion Auxiliary Distinguished Service medal upon Mrs. George R. Crosfield of London, England, marked the visit of the distinguished British woman to America recently with her husband, Colonel Crosfield, who is president of Fidac, interallied veterans' federation of 10,000,000 members.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge is the only other woman who holds the Auxiliary Distinguished Service medal. The auxiliary honored Mrs. Crosfield "in appreciation of her welfare work among American soldiers in England and France and as a leader in humanitarian work among the poor and disabled in her home land."

THE BASIC TROUBLE WITH AMERICAN AGRICULTURE

Many Mythical Causes Given But the Chief Financial Problem Rises From Inflation of Capital Account Based on War Prices—Remedy Pointed Out—"Trick Legislation" Will Not Help.

By MELVIN A. TRAYLOR
First Vice President American Bankers Association.

IN recent years agriculture and the welfare of the farmer have been our most fruitful topics of conversation. Political fortunes have revolved around the unhappy situation of the farmer and the business barometer has gone up and down with varying proposals for his relief. Only a few years ago there was widespread feeling voiced by the leading agriculturists that the time was fast approaching when America would not be able to feed its rapidly increasing population unless there was improvement in soil culture, fertilization, reforestation and larger production. What is the situation now? The worry seems no longer to be for food for the hungry millions but for more millions to consume our tons of food.

M. A. Traylor

Evangelists of despair have talked so much about over-production and surplus of agricultural products since 1920 that we are warranted in calling attention to a fact or two which may be enlightening to those who have felt that there has been a crushing surplus of the staples of the farm. From 1911 to 1915 average production of cotton was 14,175,000 bales at an average price of 12 41 cents per pound, while from 1921 to 1925 production averaged 11,362,000 bales at an average price of 21.85 cents per pound. In the 1911-1915 period wheat production averaged 806,358,000 bushels at an average price of 89 cents, while in 1921-1925 the average production was 804,384,000 bushels at a $1.11½ average; in the former period corn averaged 2,754,000,000 bushels at 60.3 cents while in the latter the average was 2,873,000,000 at 69.6 cents. Cattle on farms for 1911-1915 were 37,178,000 at an average estimated price of $26.52 while in the latter period the annual average was 41,616,000 at $26.08. Hogs on farms in the first period were 63,151,000 at an average price of $9.58 per head, and in the latter 60,418,000 at $11.34.

The Surplus Production Myth

From these figures, which eliminate the period that embraced the war and the early post-war inflation, it will be observed that, with the exception of cotton and cattle, production has been almost uniform in the two periods. In no case has production anywhere approached an increase commensurate with the increase in population. So-called surplus production is largely a myth and the cause of the farmer's complaint must be looked for in some other direction. It must be admitted that all has not been and is not well with this Industry. After all, what is the matter with agriculture? There are a few facts which seem obvious as a part at least of the underlying causes of the situation and which suggest something of the remedy that sooner or later must be applied.

Present difficulties had their inception largely in inflation of prices for agricultural products from 1915 to 1920 with consequent large expansion of profits. This led inevitably with the farmer as with the manufacturer to expansion of plant and equipment—the acquirement by the individual of larger acreage and modern, if not always efficient, machinery. These statements do not apply to every one because there are always some who play safely and conservatively, proved by the fact that there are millions of farmers who have gone through the recent crisis without any difficulty and are today prosperous and contented. In fact the complaints today are coming from less than 25 per cent of the farmers of the country and from the hordes of politicians who are seeking to make capital out of the situation.

Results of Inflation and Expansion

With the average and with the majority of those who were swept off their feet by the wave of prosperity through which they were passing, let us analyze the results of this inflation and expansion. The farmer operating on land that he was carrying in his capital account at a value of, say, $100 per acre, and who perhaps had a loan of $50 an acre, suddenly found that, because of the increased profits from his operations, his land had a market value of $200 per acre and that, if he had a new tractor and some new farm machinery, he could greatly increase his production. But if he did that he would need a larger barn and more warehouse facilities. The chances are that with an appraisal of $200 per acre on his land he increased his loan to $100 per acre, thereby doubling his capital account and his bonded debt—not out of earnings but because of his ability to effect a "clean write-up" of 100 per cent of his plant account.

If he did not effect the doubling of his capital account in this manner, and if his $100 acre farm was clear, he probably bought his neighbor's farm for $200 per acre and mortgaged both the new and the old for $100 per acre. In this latter case, he increased his capital account 150 per cent.

It is easy to see what this did to his net percentage of income. If he had been able to make 6 per cent on his original investment, without any allowance for the increased cost of operations which of course did take place, he cut his net income, based upon his capitalization, about one-half when he had completed his expansion program But worse than that happened. His calculations had been made upon a price for his product which reflected wartime demand and buying power of government money which were suddenly curtailed. With demand gone and buying power withdrawn he found his gross selling price cut in two. His gross at the high figure had enabled him to make 3 per cent net on his new capitalization This now was cut one-half by the reduction of his gross selling price and instead of making a 6 per cent return, as he was able to do perhaps on his original $100 acre farm, he has since been lucky if he has made 1½ per cent on his new capital account.

The Remedy

I am confident that something of this kind underlies 75 per cent of the present difficulty. How can it be remedied? I believe that time and intelligent hard work is the surest restorative of better conditions. No magic of trick legislation can accomplish the result. There are a few facts which must be faced and accepted before a start to better things can be made. The first and most important is recognition that farming never was, is not now, and I do not believe ever will be a so-called money-making proposition. By this I mean a business in which a man may engage with the certainty of being able over a period of years from the production and sale of farm commodities to accumulate great wealth.

There are those who will say that unless farming can be made a successful money-making proposition there is no hope for the future of the country. My argument with such people will turn on the correct definition of what is a satisfactory money-making business. I believe that if farming is intelligently and industriously followed it is a satisfactory business but I do not believe that it is sufficiently a money-making proposition to attract those who are ambitious to play for big fortunes.

There are those also who say that many men have grown rich in the past in agriculture. I do not think they have from the mere production and sale of farm commodities. The men who have grown rich in the past from agriculture have owed their success most largely to the ownership of what would now be considered very cheap lands, which over a period of years have shown quadruple and more appreciation in values.

The Advantages of Farm Life

But if agriculture does not mean great wealth, and it certainly does not involve a life of idleness, ease, or luxury, it does mean much more. It means if intelligently and industriously followed a character of independence vouchsafed to no other trade or profession. How do I know this? I know it by experience and I know it by observation. The farmers of today have more good, wholesome food than any man working on a salary of $2,500 per year can buy for his family and be able to pay his grocery bill without paying any other of his debts. The farmers who are complaining of their inability to make money enough to pay for their necessities of life are enjoying at home as a natural heritage of their business comforts and luxuries which the man in the industrial centers working for a salary is spending every dollar of his income to obtain and then is not getting anything commensurate with those enjoyed by the farmer.

It is these so-called unledgered items of the farmer's income that are too often lost sight of in the calculations made by our reformer friends who would legislate a living wage and universal prosperity to those engaged in agriculture. If the farmer as a whole would be happy again he must take stock of his blessings and thank God for them, get rid of his quack doctors of political bunkum, revalue his plant and equipment, and start over again in full knowledge of the fact that he must face keen and effective competition, that he must work hard and intelligently, that he must calculate in his income inherent and undeniable items, which are not measured in dollars and cents.

When he does this, I feel perfectly certain that over a period of years, taking the good and the bad as it comes to all classes of business, he will find that he has lived well, that he has had a fair margin for the enjoyment of all the necessities of life and a surplus for those luxuries which he has a right to claim, and above all, that he will have had a chance to be an independent individual, a real man and a self-respecting citizen.

HEROIC DEEDS OF WOMEN IN BATTLE

Glorious Achievements Recorded in History.

The recent dispatch that women of the Druse tribe, at war with the French in Syria, had taken part in an attack at Sueda, and, braving bullets and shells, captured two armored trains, leads George R. Witte, writing in the New York Evening World, to remark that they were simply showing the fighting instinct which has been evinced by females in all ages of the world.

In the World war the number of women who fought on both sides ran into the thousands, and the Russian women's "Battalion of Death" stands out as one of the most notable instances of patriotism in the struggle. It is only patriotism that prompts women to engage in battle, asserts the writer. For their own they will fight with the ferocity of tigers.

History is filled with the achievements of women in battle. In our own Civil war many women fought at the sides of their husbands and sons. One of the most famous of these women was Kady Brownell, who enlisted with her husband in the Rhode Island regiment of Zouaves and was wounded at the battle of Bull Run. She died in 1915, the only woman member of the G. A. R. The history of Molly Pitcher, heroine of the American Revolution, is well known.

The oldest stories of women warriors and those that gave militant women their cognomen, were the Greek tales about the Amazons who terrorized Asia Minor and Thessaly and who were often depicted in Greek art.

The names of many warrior queens are familiar to every student of history. There was Semiramis, the queen of Sheba, and Zenobai; Theodosia, Boadicea and Ethelfreda. And in the Middle ages we read of Queen Eleanor of France and Margaret of Navarre, while Catherine the Great led her armies in several battles. The name of Jeanne d'Arc will live forever because of her achievements.

The history of India is full of tales of women battalions fighting in the holy wars against the invaders. Not quite one hundred years ago Benjet Singh of Lahore led a regiment of the most beautiful girls and women of the Vale of Cashmere to their death in battle against the English. In the Crimean war, 70 years ago, the "super-women" of Georgia, led by the "Black Virgin," a Kurd, marched to the Danube to do battle with the Russians.

Promote World Friendship

Correspondence between school children of America and those of other countries is promoted by several agencies, the most active of them being, perhaps, the junior Red Cross. Organizations for like purposes have been formed in other countries, and some of them have established relations on their own account with teachers in the United States. One of these is the International Fraternity Association of Asaka, Japan. K. Ikehara is the executive secretary. The American correspondent of this organization is Miss Minet B. Moore, 16 Fulton street, Newark, N. J. The purpose of the organization is "to advance the cause of world friendship by means of international exchange of letters, news, and tokens particular to their respective countries, especially among the younger generations of nations."

Combat Disease in Africa

The newest devices for combating disease will soon be available in the heart of the so-called Dark continent According to a report to the American Medical association, the Belgians are equipping a hospital ship to be put in service on the Congo river that will have ice machines, disinfection equipment, operating rooms, laboratories and all the appurtenances of a thoroughly up-to-date hospital. It will have wireless outfits with which to keep in constant touch with hospitals, and numerous stations along the river and in the interior. It is hoped that in this way many sources of infection can be reached and checked before the spread can acquire dangerous proportions.

Not So Monotonous

"What a tiresome, gosh-forsaken place!" carped a young salesman from the city, who was marooned in the hamlet of Torpidity "Nothing to do, nothing to see, and—"

"Aw, I d'know!" responded the landlord of the tavern. "If you hunt for the chance you can prob'ly get drunk on moonshine licker and have a fight whether you hunt for it or not. You can play checkers with a member of the legislature and not lose anything but your self-respect, and you can read Sut Lovengood's button-busters and laugh yourself to death, and then go to bed."—Kansas City Star.

Portrait Masks in Rubber

Portrait masks in rubber are becoming quite a craze with British society women and the originator of the fashion, a young American artist, is being kept pretty busy executing orders.

The face models are first made in clay from which a cast is taken, and the rubber features then molded in the cast. Natural colors are used for tinting purposes and give a most lifelike effect. The masks, mounted on a solid base, or in a gold frame, make effective ornaments for the boudoir or salon.

NOTICE OF PROBATE OF WILL

STATE OF IOWA,
Hancock County, ss.
TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED, That an instrument of writing purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Loretta Phoebe Mayne deceased, dated June 19th, 1926, having been this day filed, opened and read, Monday the 26th day of July, 1926 is fixed for hearing proof of same at the Court House in Garner, Iowa, before the District Court of said County or the Clerk of said Court; and at 2:00 o'clock P. M. of the day above mentioned, all persons interested are hereby notified and required to appear, and show cause, if any they have, why said instrument should not be probated and allowed as and for the last Will and Testament of said deceased.

Dated at Garner, Iowa, June 25th, 1926.

CHRIS J. JOHANSEN,
Clerk of District Court.
(Publish July 1-8-15, '26)

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR

STATE OF IOWA
Hancock County, ss

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Administrator of the estate of John Griggs deceased, late of Hancock County. All persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned for allowance, and file in he office of the Clerk of the District Court.

F. A. ARNOLD, Administrator.
Dated June 22, 1926.
CHRIS J. JOHANSEN,
(J24-J1-8) Clerk District Court

A MOST PAINFUL ACCIDENT

Waukon Republican: One of the oddest and intensely painful accidents ever brought to our notice was last Thursday evening when the little 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sandbank, six miles west of Waukon was brought to local physicians offices and upon examination it was revealed the boy had been stung by a bee on the center of the eyeball, puncturing th outer eye and letting the inner eye protrude.

Local physicians recommended his immediate removal to the hospital at Rochester where he was taken that night and just what the outcome will be is still a matter of doubt.

SHERIFF'S SALE

W. H. RAMSEY
vs.
CLARA E. SCHULDT AND FRED H. SCHULDT.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of a Special Execution issued out of the office of the Clerk of the District Court, in Hancock County on a judgment rendered May 25th May Term of said Court, A. D., 1926 for the sum of Two Thousand Three Hundred Seventy-seven & 45-100 Dollars debt, and Fourteen & 25-100 Dollars costs, in favor of W. H. Ramsey and against Clara E. Schuldt, Fred H. Schuldt and to the Sheriff of Hancock County directed, I have levied upon the following described property, to-wit:

The South Half (S½) of the Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of Section Eighteen (18), Township Ninety-four (94) North, Range Twenty-three (23) West of the 5th P. M. in Hancock County, Iowa.

NOW, THEREFORE, Public Notice is hereby given that I shall, on the 10th day of July, 1926, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the Court House, in Garner, in Hancock County, offer and sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, all the right, title, and interest that the above named Clara E. Schuldt, and Fred H. Schuldt had on the 8th day of June A. D., 1926, or now have in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy said execution together with costs and all accruing costs, unless the same shall be sooner satisfied.

Dated at the Sheriff's office in Garner, this 10th day of June, A. D. 1926.

E. P. HANSON,
Sheriff of Hancock County, Iowa.
(Publish July 1-8.)

A small boy asked Bally Kluckhohn this morning "what is it that flies, sings, and has four legs?" And when Bally gave it up the kid said, "it is two canaries!"

PIANOS

Players & Grand
New and
Second Hand

M. N. ZEIGER

Jewelry & Optical Goods
GARNER, IOWA

NOTICE

The Board of Directors of the Independent School District of Klemme, Hancock County, Iowa, will meet Tuesday, July 20, 1926, at 8:00 P. M., at the office of the Northern Lumber Co. Taxpayers will be heard for or against the following estimate of expenditures at that time.

GENERAL FUND—
Expenditures estimated for 1927	$12,500.00
Income from other sources	3,100.00
Taxes to be raised	9,000.00
Expended in 1925	16,499 98
Expended in 1924	14,971.22
SCHOOL HOUSE FUND
Expenditures estimated for 1927	$ 3,500.00
Income from other sources	None
Taxes to be raised	3,500 00
Expended in 1925	2,000.00
Expended in 1924	1,808.90
Total taxes to be raised for all school purposes	$12,500.00

Estimated taxes per $1,000.00 of assessed value $9.00.

PAUL GRANGE, Sec.

What Do You Pay For 'Oil Mileage'?

ARE YOU one of the many oil users who buy an oil just because the price is cheap and which, in the long run, proves expensive? The few cents you save on that kind of oil COSTS You DOLLARS in improper lubrication causing expensive repair bills and damaged motors. Cheap oil is expensive at any price!

For Sixty Years
Gargoyle Mobiloil

For 60 years the Vaccuum Oil Company has engaged in no other business than that of refining of HIGH GRADE OIL. There are 60 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE back of every quart of MOBILOIL you use.

MOBILOIL is used by the United States Government in their airplane motors. MOBILOIL is used by many prominent race car drivers. MOBILOIL has been found to stand up under severe tests and comes up to the standard required for aviation and racing conditions.

Whether you buy it by the quart or by the barrel you get MORE MILES and MORE SATISFACTION for your money. There are many good oils but none better! You get real LUBRICATION, insuring a long lasting motor and a minimum of expense.

We make delivery FREE of Charge on any purchase of ten gallons or over of the proper grade of oil for your car or tractor.

Don't Buy Oil!

—Until you have become acquainted with MOBILOIL—Standad For 60 Years!

SOLD ONLY BY RELIABLE DEALERS

Garner Auto Co.

Phone 77 KLEMME, IOWA

T DO YOU KNOW ABOUT NAILS?

ny persons are puzzled to un- nd what the terms "four pen- "six penny," "ten penny" means plied to nails. "Four penny" s four pounds to the thousand and "six penny" means six ds to the thousand, and so on. an English term and meant at "ten pounds" nails, (the thou- being understood) but the sh clipped it to "ten puns," from that it degenerated until ny" was substituted for pounds.

AUTOMOBILES ON FARMS

Automobiles are owned on all but 7,000 Iowa farms, according to statistics just issued by the weather and crop service of the state agricultural department. State assessors found automobiles on 203,910 of the 210,900 farms visited Radios were in every fifth home by January 1925 The total number of farms owned by the occupants was 100 714 Relative renters numbered 31,298 Other renters were counted at 63,323. Farmers both owning and renting were listed at 14,664.

Attention Farmers

IF YOUR PIGS ARE WORMY—Get a pail of DR. HESS' WORM POWDER.

After feeding this if you are not satisfied with the results, return the empty pail and GET YOUR MONEY BACK.

Wilson's Pharmacy

Oil & Grease For Harvest

Remember your "Farm Service" Hardware Store carries a full line of high grade OIL & GREASE for harvest time.

EN-AR-CO MOTOR OILS

.....We are the exclusive dealer for EN-AR-CO MOTOR OILS in Klemme.. This is a very good grade of oil—use it once and you will always use it. We have it in:

Ford Special Light Ford Spec. Medium Light Medium Heavy and Extra Heavy.

Hard Oil and Grease in containers or in bulk.

We have a full line of OIL CANS, all sizes and all styles—Oil and Grease Cups, etc.

Everything In Oil and Grease Here

E. F. Jacobs

"THE FARM SERVICE STORE"

The Better the Cream The Larger The Check

QUALITY and SERVICE are two words that mean much in the affairs of the average American.

In conducting a Creamery, quality and service means as much as in any other line of business. In order to be able to pay our patrons TOP PRICES is is absolutely necessary that they enter into our plan with the proper spirit of co-operation and bring ony good, sweet cream to the Creamery. If you will do that, we will agree to give you the very best of service on our part and manufacture your cream into real quality butter and also assure you a Better Price than where sour, stale and tainted cream is delivered. You furnish the Quality and we will furnish the service, that isn't asking anything out of reason is it?

COOLING TANKS

We have good ones for sale here at a reasonable price. They will keep your Cream Sweet and Good—you can't afford to be without a good cooling tank. Ask us!

"You Get Every Cent Your Cream Brings"

At The—

Klemme Co-Op Creamery Co.

Service Stripe Goes Back to Revolution

There are many of us who remember the general order of the War department which was issued in the late summer or early fall of 1918, relevant to the placing of silver and gold chevrons upon the left sleeve of the uniform and overcoats. There were thousands of discontented grousers who sewed the silver stripes of the "stay at home" chevrons. one for each six months of service, upon their sleeves and many more thousands of the jubilant "veterans" of France who sewed gold service stripes upon their arms.

However, I dare say there are few who know of the origin of those stripes, even among the old-timers who have their blouse sleeves covered from shoulder to wrist with the "hash marks."

Gen. George Washington himself issued the first order for privates and noncoms, to place service stripes upon their left sleeves.

In the month of August, the seventh of that month, to be exact, in the year 1782, while the army lay at Newburgh, on the Hudson, the following order was issued:

"Honorary badges of distinction are to be conferred on the veteran noncommissioned officers and soldiers of the army who have served more than three years with bravery, fidelity and good conduct; for this purpose, a narrow piece of white cloth, of an angular form, is to be fixed to the left arm on the uniform coat.

"Noncommissioned officers and soldiers who have served with equal distinction more than six years are to be distinguished by two pieces of cloth, set on parallel to each other, in a similar form.

"Should any who are not entitled to the honors have the insolence to assume the badges of them, they shall be severely punished. On the other hand, it is expected these gallant men who are thus distinguished will on all occasions be treated with particular confidence and consideration."—Arthur Woodward in Adventure Magazine.

Embryonic Reformers

It was in a soviet republic, and children were playing "popular assemblies." Bandi, a six-year-old boy, was speaking. He shrilly proclaimed that the children must reform Boys must no longer strike little girls; little boys must no longer be beaten by bigger boys. That was a bourgeois habit. It must stop and the serious problem of childrens' freedom be solved. A crowd of children listened in silence, and one grown-up. And as little Bandi for the tenth time spoke of the problem, the man said: "Tell me just how you intend to solve this problem" The boy stopped a moment and stuttered, then suddenly spoke: "This problem would be solved like all other problems—according to certain principles." And he smiled happily.—Chicago Daily News.

Too Many Aliens in France

France, as well as America, has "melting-pot" troubles, and views certain classes of immigrants with disquiet. At a recent meeting of the Society of Comparative Pathology the perils of uncontrolled immigration were set forth by M. Berillon He said that there are at present 3,000,000 foreigners in France, of whom two-thirds are to be regarded as assimilable into the French nation. The other third, comprising elements of German, Slavonic and Semitic races, he believes to be unadapted for French citizenship. Marriage of these aliens with French persons, he said, generally results unsatisfactorily He demanded for France an immigration-limiting law similar to that of the United States.

Radio and Northern Lights

The aurora borealis interferes considerably with radio communication This fact has been confirmed by the Department of Commerce. Reports from observers stationed in the state of Washington with sensitive receiving sets state that the volume of signals was cut in half during a display of the northern lights. The signal strength of the stations was materially reduced whenever the lights shifted position or became brighter. It was found that in listening to stations transmitting on wave lengths below 350 meters a blanketing effect was produced as well as a swishing sound in the speaker. No atmospheric disturbance was noted in cases of wave lengths over 350 meters.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Rails on Dry Canal Bed

A section of the old Erie canal running through Rochester has long been unused for water transportation. Its dry bottom now forms the flat grade of a street railway line that will serve as a freight transfer track. It will also be used by all interurban passenger traffic. The new railway connects with two steam and two other electric railroads, and runs directly through the heart of the city. A street has been built over the top of the canal bed.

Cavemen's Arsenal

An arsenal was discovered some months ago in the neighborhood of Chatham, England, believed to have been used by cavemen millions of years ago. Two local men made the discovery about sixteen months ago, and since then about four thousand hammer stones, flint axes and scrapers, and other worked flints, have been taken out of the dump. The tools and weapons, although they belong to the earliest period of the Stone age, are wonderfully efficient.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gram took in the ball games at Charles City, Monday the Fifth.

Mr and Mrs. M. O. Barr were entertained at the Lew Lewis home Sunday.

Mrs P. M. Griesemer and Mrs. John Gruetzmacher spent the week end visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Griesemer at Garner.

Mr and Mrs H. F. Jost and son, Harold, drove to Pomerops for an over Sunday visit with Mrs. Jost's folks Harold remained for a few weeks visit.

Mr and Mrs. Harold Gruetzmacher are expected to arive any day from Tecumseh, Nebr. for a visit at the F Gruetzmacher home. They will spend their vacation in owa.

Henry Palmby and family, of Garden City, Minn, visited over the week end and Monday with Klemme relatives and friends. Grandma Elder, who has been visiting here, returned home with them Tuesday forenoon.

Albert Keeper and the Swartz boy drove to Garner Friday evening to take in the movies. Albert parked the car on the streets and together the boys wen o he show. When they came out thir car was gone. They hunted around for it and then notified Sheriff Hanson and the marshall. The officers searched all over town and the boys did not give up the search until early morning when they went to sleep Next monring the car was located down near the Milwaukee tracks whrre it had evidently been left by joy-riders.

Has Curious Old Paper Money

Otto F. Bartz, of Sheldon, O'Brien county, tells about a piece of money owned by S H. Buntley, of that city in size about two by three inces, bearing date of 1776 and at that time naving the value of a third of a dollar. Mr. Buntley's relic contains the following inscription "American currency 1-3 of a dollar according to a resolution of Congress passed at Philadelphia, Feb 17, 1776—H. Johnson." On the other side of this well preserved piece of paper money there are the names of the 13 original colonies in the form of a chain each link representing a state, and in the center of the chain is inscribed, "We are one."

Many People Visited Iowa Parks

More than 825,000 persons visited twenty-five Iowa state parks during 1925, statistics compiled by the state board of conservation show The El'dora Pine state park in Hardin county, with an eighty acre lake surrounded with birch and pine trees, proved the most popular of all More than 130,000 persons visited it. Wall Lake park in Wright county and the Ledges at Boone each had 100,000 visitors.

THORNTON PAPER SOLD

M. Bilderback, for twelve years editor and publisher of the Thornton Enterprise, has sold the paper to H. W. Alexander, of Sheffield, the new owner is now in charge. Mr. Bilderback is retiring from the newspaper business after 63 years of service. Mr. Alexander is an ex-service man, and was editor of the paper at Conrad before teh war. The Times extends best wishes for success to the new publisher.

RADIOS ON IOWA FARMS

Assessors reporting to the Weather and Crop Bureau of the Iowa Department of Agriculture, found 43,969 radio sets on Iowa farms, January 1, 1926, or about one for each five farms. Of the total number, 40,858 were better than crystal sets. In education, business and entertainment, the farmer finds in radio the remedy for the isolation that has largely made him an individualist instead of a cooperator. Radio is doing much to change rural psychology.

A New Fliver Joke

"Weary" Christie drove up from Goodell Monday and parked his car near the bank. Later he stepped on the starter and ground away trying to start the engine.

Henry Suckow, Jr. standing near by observed the performance, and in his solemn, innocent way, asked, "Say, 'Weery,' where do the cops come out?"

What! No Taste For Cake?

Little Boy (to guest) "Do you like that cake, Mrs. Brown?"

Mrs. B.: "Yes, dear, very much"

Little Boy: "That's funny, 'cause mother said you hadn't any taste."

TRAVELERS SHY AT HARD WELSH NAMES

Why Tourists Forego Trip Well Worth While.

Pursers, passport officers and printers were disconcerted the other day by the arrival of a steamship passenger in New York who gave her home address as:

"Llanfairpwllgwngyllgogerychwyrndrobwllllandysiliogogogoch."

There is such a place, though practical map makers irreverently label it briefly "Llanfairpwllgwyngyll," or even merely "Llanfair P. G.," says a communication to the National Geographic society by Ralph A. Graves.

However, the 58-letter title is its unabridged, honest-to-Cymric name, which means "Church of St. Mary in a hollow of white hazel, near to a rapid whirlpool and to St. Tysilio's church, near to a red cave."

Orthography may be one reason why so few of the thousands of American tourists include Wales in their itinerary, though it is one of the most alluring regions of the British isles.

The average American traveler takes one glance at his guidebook or at the tourist-agency folder and, decides to go to the English lakes district, to Scotland, to the "Lorna Doone" country, or—Paris.

He lacks the courage to wrestle with such place names as Bettws-y-Coed, Bodelwyddan, Dwygyfylchi, Clwyd, Llandudno, Pwllheli, and Pen-y-Gwryd.

If the traveler goes to a railway station to get his transportation, he cannot tell where he wishes to go. If a ticket agent in a tourist office asks whether he would prefer to go by this route or by that, with stopover privileges here or there, the sounds convey to him no impression of any of the places he may have read about.

He may have equipped himself in advance by studying some "easy rule for pronouncing Welsh names," such as "To pronounce 'Ll,' place the tip of the tongue back of the upper front teeth and blow through the side of the mouth; 'Ch' is a strong guttural having no equivalent in English, but is a prolonged 'k' (ach); 'W' is oo, as in good." But if ever he imagined he could remember such rules, he forgets their practical application the moment he hears glindiv'r-doo-i, meaning Glyndyfrdwy. It's so much simpler to go elsewhere!

Consequently, at tourist agencies the Welsh window never has a waiting line, and few clerks are able to give one advice as to where to go, how long to stay, and how to come back

It is a pity, for within this little principality, having an area considerably smaller than New Jersey, one will find the loftiest peak and the finest mountain scenery of England and Wales; the loviest waterfalls of the British isles; beaches which rival those of Atlantic City, Deauville, or Brighton; streams that teem with trout and other fish dear to the heart of the angler; footpaths through vale and forest ruins of tessellated towers and frowning bastions, each of which has its own tale to tell of romantic adventure and of daring in the Dark or Middle ages, when English kings battled ceaselessly to curb turbulent Welsh princes whose chief end and aim in life was warfare.

Whale With Two Tusks

One of the most remarkable and little known marine animals of the world is the narwhal, a species of Arctic whale that makes its home in the Polar seas, says the Popular Mechanics Magazine. The male is distinguished by the abnormal development of its left front tooth, which sometimes attains a length of eight feet or more. It tapers slightly to a pointed hollow tusk, the surface of which is marked by spiral grooves and ridges. Occasionally both teeth develop in this manner. The narwhals congregate in schools, feed on small fish and crustaceans and form a picturesque sight when plowing through the water, their long, glistening horns rising in unison as they come to the surface to "blow." The exact purpose of the tusk is not known, but is believed to be for defense or for breaking through ice.

The Rebuff

Sinclair Lewis tells of a pretty girl who came up to him with a morocco and gold album and asked him for his autograph.

"Gladly, but I'll have to write in pencil," the novelist said.

"Oh, that's all right," said the girl.

So Mr. Lewis scrawled his signature in the album and handed it back with a pleased and flattered smile, but the girl looked blank.

"Why, aren't you Theodore Dreiser?" she asked.

"No," Mr. Lewis confessed. "I'm Sinclair Lewis," and then, as the pretty girl turned away, he heard her say to another girl:

"Got a rubber?"

Cry of Baby Carries Far

Science has just verified what the neighbors have known a long time: "The noise a baby makes has the greatest carrying power of any articulated sound.

The announcement was made by Sir Richard Paget, London throat specialist, in an address. He presented illustrations with mechanically produced vowels and consonants, causing an instrument similar to a flute to say loudly: "Hullo London! Are you there?" and "Oh, Lila, I love you!" The instrument is called a cheirophone and is operated by pedal bellows.

GIRLS AT AMES COLLEGE ARE HEAVY EATERS

Drink Seventy Gallons Of Milk Each Day In The Year

One hundred and seventy-five pounds of meat are consumed every day by the girls living in the dormitories at Iowa State college at Ames. One hundred and eighty dozen eggs only last them two weeks, while 500 pounds of sugar last less than a week. Seventy gallons of milk and sixty pullman loaves of bread are purchased for a single day's consumption Bananas are delivered to the dormitories in bunches, fresh fruit is bought by the crate, pickles by the barrel and canned goods by the gross. These figures are significant of the tremendous task of feeding 512 girls, 51 waiters and kitchen bops and 25 cooks and assistants.

"HAVE YOU HAD YOUR CORN SUGAR TODAY?

It has not been many months since there was a vigorous campaign on in Iowa in promoting the use of corn sugar. Hundreds of cars were distributed and factories at Cedar Rapids, Clinton and Keokuk could ont supply the demand During the mud blockade last winter the factory at Cedar Rapids offered a premium of six cents a bushel that it might secure corn enough to supply the demand. The plea was that the use of corn sugar would create a larger use for corn and thereby increase the price of that farm commodity. But nobody now hears of corn sugar. The novelty has passed away and thousands of grocers who laid in large stocks to meet what appeared a real demand now find their supply a dead load upon their shelves.

SNAKE CAUSE OF CITY DARKNESS

(From the Parkersburg Eclipse)

A two and one-half foot snake wriggling along the ground may not attract uudue attention, but one of the reptiles stretched across a high tension electrical transmission line 30 to 40 feet above ground is sufficient to cause one to pause long enough to reflect on how Mr. Snake attained his lofty perch, say officials of Central Iowa Power & Light Co.; especially when the mere incident of a snake across a high line grounded 33,000 volts and threw Hudson, Parkersburg, Cedar Falls and adjacent territory into temporary darkness last Friday.

As soon as the break in the line was detected switches were thrown and towns mentioned above were supplied with current from another of Central Iowa Power & Light Co.'s generating stations, other than the local plant. In the meantime a gang of electricians set out to "shoot" the trouble.

The snake was found across the high line about four miles north of Cedar Falls, burnod to a crisp. It is unlikely that the reptile climbed the pole so linemen "guess" that a hawk probably dropped the luckless snake on the line.

NEW SPEED FOR THE FARM

A tractor cultivating six rows of corn at one time at the rate of 45 acres a day, assembled by the agricultural engineering department of Iowa State college, astonished several hundred people on the Zigfred Olson farm 2½ miles north of Ames last week. Entering the field as an experiment, it soon proved its worth as it not only covered the ground rapidly but cultivated the corn as good as is done by the average single row method.

Heard At The Depot

The conductor on the Rock Island train through Klemme yesterday told a lady passenger that her boy would have to pay full fare because he wore long pants. She asked him if they regulated the fare by the length of the pants, and he told her yes An old darkey lady, sitting just behind them overheard the conversation, began to laugh and said: "Den here's one time ah rides free."

The strawberry shortcake season is on in full blast. One of our neighbors says he took home a box of strawberries yesterday and none of his family cared for any so he had to eat the entire box himself. What a beautiful example of genuine unselfishness!

Too Strenuous

Doctor: "Did you follow my advice and drink hot water one hour before breakfast?"

His Patient: "I did my best, but I couldn't keep it up more than ten minutes, doctor."

COULD NOT PUT ON HER SHOES

Mrs. Daugherty Was so Weak

In a little town of the middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been in such poor health that she could not stoop to put on her own shoes. Unable to do her work, unable to go out of doors or enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dark indeed to Mrs. Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Idly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine, and you can use these facts as a testimonial. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Ed. Daugherty, 1308 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

Are you on the Sunlit Road to Better Health?

CHAFING and RASHES promptly relieved and healed by a few applications of Resinol

Your shoes feel easy if you use
ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE

Stops the pain of Corns and Bunions and you can walk all day in ease and comfort. Nothing gives such relief to hot, tired, aching, inflamed or swollen feet, blisters or calluses. A little ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE sprinkled in each shoe in the morning will make you forget about tight shoes. It takes the friction from the shoe. Always use it for Dancing and to Break in New Shoes. For Free sample and a Foot-Ease Walking Doll, address ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, Le Roy, N. Y.

Quality Dark Blue Foxes, Silver Foxes, Mink. Ten yrs. Breeder Free Booklet. Credit plan. G. Cleary Fox Farms Smith Bldg., Seattle.

DON'T BE GRAY
Darken your gray hair, gradually, surely and safely in privacy of your home. Used over 50 years by millions. Money back guarantee. BOOKLET FREE
Q-ball Hair Color Restorer
At your Druggist 75¢
HESSIG-ELLIS, CHEMISTS, Dept. W, MEMPHIS, TENN.

Turkish, Parisian, Oriental BEAUTY FACE CREAMS
LADIES, RETAIN YOUR YOUTH & BEAUTY! It is your right and duty to make yourself attractive. We will send you over 90 of the best recipes, formulas and beauty secrets, used by noted beauty specialists of this and foreign countries. Booklet 50c. Money back if not as represented. Full particulars on request.
Peter N. Haan, 241 Crest Ave., Ann Arbor, Mich.

Kill All Flies! THEY SPREAD DISEASE
Placed anywhere, DAISY FLY KILLER attracts and kills all flies. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient and cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed. Insist upon
DAISY FLY KILLER
from your dealer.
HAROLD SOMERS Brooklyn N. Y.

BABIES LOVE
MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP
The Infants' and Children's Regulator
Pleasant to give—pleasant to take. Guaranteed purely vegetable and absolutely harmless. It quickly overcomes colic, diarrhoea, flatulency and other like disorders. The open published formula appears on every label.
At All Druggists

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 28--1926.

If a man empties his purse into his head, no one can take it from him.—Franklin.

Honor Thomas Moore as Patriot and Poet

County Wexford Historical society in Ireland has just erected a tablet on the house in which lived the mother of Thomas Moore, the national poet, and the mayor and corporation of the city associated themselves with the tribute. Moore's mother was Anastasia Codd, and her husband, John Moore, came from Kerry.

"Opinions on Moore have differed, and will continue to differ to the end," said Rev. T. Byrne. "Some hailed the poet as a national idol, while others denounced him as a cockney. In the poet's life were incidents which did not appeal to the Irish patriot. He spent most of his time in England, and was the idol of its aristocratic circles. But under his gay and frivolous nature he had the heart of an Irish patriot. He was an intimate friend of Robert Emmet, and wrote for the Republican organ, the Press."

Cuticura Comforts Baby's Skin
When red, rough and itching, by hot baths of Cuticura Soap and touches of Cuticura Ointment. Also make use now and then of that exquisitely scented dusting powder, Cuticura Talcum, one of the indispensable Cuticura Toilet Trio.—Advertisement.

The Knee, Plus

Bishop Alma White, founder of the Pillar of Fire church and of Alma college, said on the President Harding:

"Men are responsible for the shocking fashions of the day. Men create these fashions, and fathers actually admire them on their innocent daughters.

"A pretty girl came on deck the other morning in a very smart white silk skirt.

"'Isn't that skirt rather—er—ultra?' her father said.

"She spun round on her heel, and the misguided man laughed and added:

"'Yes, it's knee plus ultra.'"

Fewer Horses on Farms

Horses and mules, according to the January 1, 1920, report for the Department of Agriculture, number in the United States, on farms, 21,538,000, says Our Dumb Animals. Adding the number estimated not in agricultural work, 2,000,000, we have the total of 23,558,000, a decrease of about 5 per cent since January 1, 1925

Sure Relief

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief
BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION
25¢ and 75¢ Pkg's. Sold Everywhere

Quick safe relief CORNS

In one minute your misery from corns is ended. That's what Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads do safely by removing the cause—pressing or rubbing of shoes. You risk no infection from amateur cutting, no danger from "drops" (acid). Zino-pads are thin, medicated, antiseptic, protective, healing. Get a box at your druggist's or shoe dealer's today—35c.
For Free Sample write The Scholl Mfg. Co., Chicago
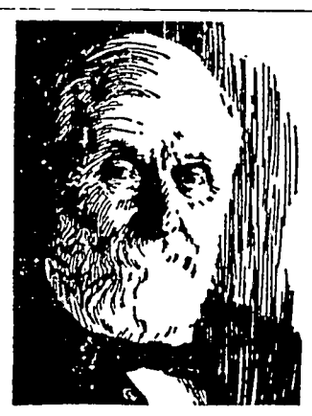
Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads
Put one on—the pain is gone

Cashing In

Teacher—Now I've explained the triangle, what would you do if you had a six-sided figure?

Johnny—I'd get in a side show.—Vancouver Province.

The secret pleasure of a generous act is the great mind's great bribe.—Dryden.



DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 89

"Purges" and "Physics" Bad for Old Folks

While Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, knew that constipation was the curse of advancing age, he did not believe that a "purge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

To him, it seemed cruel that so many constipated old people had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to "regulate" the bowels of old folks. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but each dose helps to strengthen the bowel muscles, shortly establishing natural "regularity." It never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

If past fifty, buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Wail not for precious chances passed away,
Weep not for golden ages on the wane;
Each night I burn the records of the day;
At sunrise every soul is born again.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

The busy housewife with one pair of hands at command to do the daily tasks, must do without many frills in cookery, no matter how much she may enjoy them. However a few minutes spent in simple garnishing is well spent time.

Carrot Pudding.—Take one cupful of grated carrot, one cupful of grated potato, one egg, one-half cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of shortening, one-half cupful of raisins, one teaspoonful of soda and one cupful of flour. Steam one hour.

Sour Meat.—Take a nice piece of round steak, lay it in vinegar with one onion, a teaspoonful of whole allspice, salt and pepper mixed, one bayleaf, allow it to stand for three days. Brown the meat in a hot frying pan, pour over the vinegar and sufficient water in equal parts to cover the meat and simmer until tender. Strain the gravy, then thicken it and pour around the meat when serving.

Chocolate Cookies.—Cream one-half cupful of shortening with one cupful of sugar, add one beaten egg. Add one-half cupful of sour milk with one-half teaspoonful of soda, two squares of chocolate melted over hot water and one and one-half cupfuls of flour. Drop by spoonfuls on baking sheets and bake in a moderate oven. Top with icing prepared from powdered sugar, butter and a little vanilla and cream.

Drop Doughnuts.—Take one-half cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of milk, one and one-half cupfuls of flour with one teaspoonful of baking powder, a pinch of salt and ginger, a grating of lemon rind. Beat the egg white, add sugar gradually, then the beaten yolk, flavoring, salt, milk and flour. Drop by teaspoonfuls into hot fat and cook until brown. Roll in powdered sugar, then cool.

Unusual Sponge Cake.—Separate the whites and yolks of four eggs and beat the whites very stiff. Add one cupful of sugar a little at a time, then add the yolks, one at a time, cutting and folding them in, not to mix, but leave the white streaked with yellow. Fold in one cupful of flour sifted with one-quarter of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and bake in a greased pan in a slow oven.

Stewed Lettuce.—Cook lettuce as greens in very little moisture, serve with melted butter, a dash of vinegar, pepper and salt. Onion juice may be added for seasoning if liked.

Pertinent Hints.

As seasoning is one of the fine arts and marks the ability of a cook, it is wise to study the various combinations of seasoning. The French cook has the seasoning sense developed to a high degree. Her foods are often of the most common and plainest kind, but the mixture of seasoning puts the dishes out of the ordinary class.

A package of bay leaves will last two or three generations, as this is a seasoning like garlic which should be used in very small quantities. The little bit, however, is needed to add that alluring flavor.

A bottle of mushroom sauce, kitchen bouquet, worcestershire and tabasco sauce, pepper sauce, curry, chili powder, celery salt, paprika, soy sauces of various kinds with the commoner seasonings and a dozen of the savory herbs should all be part of the well-equipped kitchen.

Scald a dish in which fish has been cooked with vinegar in the water, then wash with soda in the water.

Old rubbers will be shined up by rubbing them with ammonia.

A roomy market basket well padded makes a fine bed for a small baby when traveling. It is easy to carry and will also hold the baby's belongings. Being able to carry the baby without disturbing him or exposing him to the weather is a great advantage.

Grease the cork of the bottle of glue and it will be easy to remove when needed.

Between the rows of the vegetables which will soon be pulled like onions, radishes and such vegetables, sow flower seed which will delight you after the vegetables are gone.

A good way to clean gloves is to moisten flour and wash them on the hands, by rubbing and cleaning off the dark spots. Renew the flour and clean again.

Kitchen aprons of unbleached cotton are much more desirable, as they may be boiled and kept white.

A piece of ice held in the mouth for a minute before bad-tasting medicine is given will dull the sense of taste.

A little sand in a top-heavy vase will add greatly to the comfort of using it.

A fresh blood stain will be completely removed if covered at once with powdered starch.

When setting dishes on ice use a can rubber under them; this will keep them from slipping.

Nellie Maxwell

DAY FROCKS FOR MIDSUMMER; SUPERB EVENING COSTUMES

WHEN summer comes and there is so much to enjoy—if one is cool enough—the up-to-date woman insists on being comfortable. The shops are full of pretty clothes for hot weather made of the lightest of practical fabrics and there are ways and means for providing a little extra warmth when it is needed. Even house dresses are gay and airy—the chambrays and ginghams combined with organdie and woven in lovely colors. These are usually one-piece affairs designed for easy tubbing.

Day dresses are shown in one and in two-piece modes and in many different kinds of material. White crepe de chine or radium silk frocks, similar to those pictured here, are as practical as cotton and even cooler. Nothing launders better. Polka-dotted silks in white with dots in red, blue, green or yellow, are combined with plain white silks in one-piece frocks and in delightful jumper dresses. Other printed silks are used with plain silks, as in a jumper dress with plain white skirt having godets of striped silk and jumper of striped silk finished with collar, cuffs or other touches in the white silk.

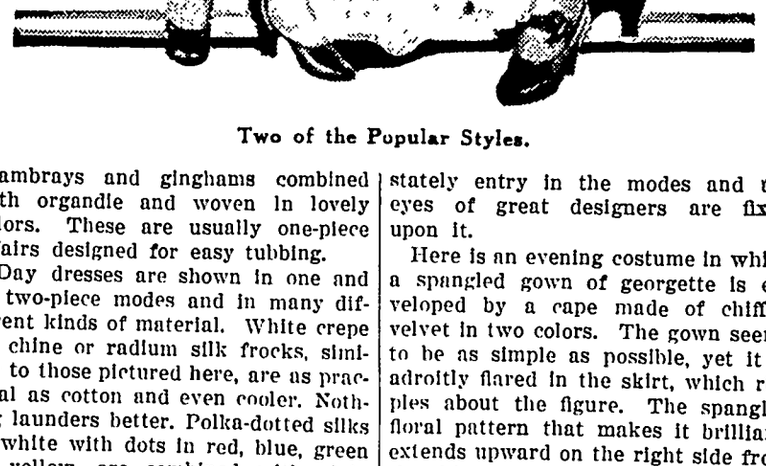
Next after these cool light silk fabrics come the new and pretty cotton and rayon mixtures in attractive cross-bar and striped patterns and in mixtures of a color and white woven together. A degree heavier are the lightweight mixtures of wool and rayon in plain patterns in which the colors have a silvery sheen or in fancy weaves showing two colors. These materials are very soft and are unmussable. They are shown in entire jumper dresses or in jumpers with silk skirts to match in color and in one-piece frocks. They are in the class of sports dresses but are worn everywhere.

Whenever the creator of new styles is dealing with gorgeous fabrics, his ability is put to the test. He must confine himself to simple designs or to ingenious ones that seem simple; for no one knows better than he that to adorn the lily and to paint the rose is fatal to good style. At the same time he must make his creations interesting—his simplicity must be original and there is where the test comes in. Velvet has made its stately entry in the modes and the eyes of great designers are fixed upon it.

Here is an evening costume in which a spangled gown of georgette is enveloped by a cape made of chiffon velvet in two colors. The gown seems to be as simple as possible, yet it is adroitly flared in the skirt, which ripples about the figure. The spangled floral pattern that makes it brilliant, extends upward on the right side from the skirt to the shoulder. A huge velvet flower is posed below the waistline and completes a perfect piece of work.

This sparkling dress disclosed by the open cape is all that it should be, but the cape compels attention for its originality. A circular piece of chiffon velvet is bordered by a graduated flounce of the same velvet in another color—or two tones of the same color might be used. The flounce is set on with lace needlework. One can imagine this wrap in deep and rich tones of red, green or blue or in golden-brown and darker tones, making a background for the brilliant dress worn with it.

Velvet is here in dark and in light colors, in black and in neutral shades. Just what will be done with it remains to be seen when the fall modes begin to make their appearance. But the trend of fashion is toward dignified styles, which is a good omen for rich fabrics, and among these velvet stands at the head.



Two of the Popular Styles.

Gown of Georgette With Cape of Chiffon Velvet.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Current Wit and Humor

ADVERTISING'S FAILU

She had urged him to study the respondence course at home and had—just like the advertisements At last his salary was raised $ month, also like the advertise say.

"Nell," he cried, "I owe it all you!"

"Well, dear," she retorted, won't after pay day."

Which was the point the adver ments failed to mention.

Drama

She—Well—
He—Quite.
Silence.
She—You're rather shy.
He—I haven't a cent.
More silence.
She (desperately)—Oh, dear!
He (in ecstasy)—Helen!
And so they were married.—Le Burr.

NOT MADE OF MONEY

He—You act like I was made money.

Wifey—Not at all! I act like weren't made of money.

Note on Women

Because it's the fashion
They wear clothes so few,
If 'twas poverty made 'em
A howl would ensue.

Canned Goods

"We have been married six mon darling, and not once have you t me which of my dishes you like be

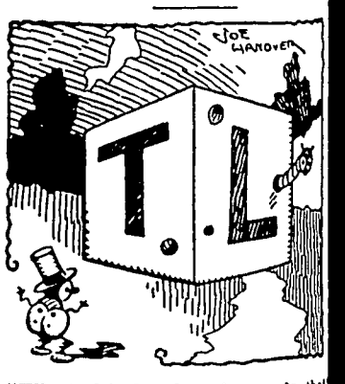
"Canned salmon."—Tit-Bits.

She Had

Mistress—What's the matter, Mar Have you taken something th doesn't agree with you?

New Maid—Yes'm; this job.

YOU'VE HEARD OF 'EM



"What kind of a house is that "A block house, stupid!"

A Melody in Toot

He heard the toot but tried to scor
And beat the choo-choo to it;
The poor galoot now twangs a lute
Take heed and don't you do it.

Invitation

Her Father (fiercely)—Do you pl cards for money?

The Aspirant—N-yes; b-but—

Her Father—Well, let's have game, I'm broke.

And the Penalty

She—The Misses Blank usually sl duets, do they not?

He—Yes; they divide the respons bility.

The Modest Violet

"Personals" advertisement in Georgia newspaper:

"I offer my services to the public a literary writer on all subjects, whether sollum or joyfull. All-soe obituaries giving departed friends glorious wo come to the hairafter."—Collier's.

Lazy Luck

Park Keeper—Now then, hurry up I'm going to shut the gate.

Weary Willie (sleepily)—All right but don't slam it.

Threatened

"Have you any evidence that th defendant had previously attempte your life?"

"Positive evidence. I can bring wi nesses to swear they heard him as me to umpire a baseball game."—Chicago Phoenix.

Secretive

"Can your fiancee keep a secret?"

"I should think she can. We were engaged two of three weeks before knew a thing about it."

rks Preserve Battle Memories

Engagements Commemorated by National ...ary Reservations.

...ton.—In view of the numer...res which have been intro...ongress during the past sev... for the establishment of ...ilitary parks, national mon... the placing of markers and ... commemoration of historic ...ich have been fought on the ... United States, it has been ...hat the War department un...tudies and investigations of ...fields with the view of pre... general plan as well as de...bjects where necessary for ...commemorating these battle... adjacent points of historic ...ry interest.

...s has in the past provided ...ommemoration of battles in ...ree ways: First, by the es...nt of national military ...econd, by indicating the lines ... by markers or monuments, ... without establishing parks; ... single monuments without ... marking the field.

...he view of the War depart...at national military parks ... a general rule cover a com... large area of ground, prob... thousands of acres, and so ... and improved as to make ... real parks available for de...udy by military authorities, ...e lines and operations being ...dicated on the grounds. The ...of such parks would have to ...fairly low, it is believed, be... the expense of maintenance. ...important and extensive en...ts which have nevertheless a ...military and political effect ... properly commemorated ac...to the scheme of the War de... by the placing of a limited ... of markers, the idea being ...all areas of ground on the ...he battle could be purchased ...propriately marked and the ...ggregation of separate areas ...ed as a national monument.

...t National Military Park.

...rst national military park was ...ed by congress on April 19, ... commemorate the battles of ...nauga and Chattanooga. This ...nsists of a main tract of about ...res covering the battlefield of ...nauga, and detached areas in ...chie valley, on Lookout moun... Missionary ridge and else...btained for the purpose of es...ng the lines of battle on the ... Chattanooga.

...second military park estab...was that of Gettysburg. The ... of the battle lines on this ...as begun under the act of ...3, 1893, but the park itself was ...hed under the act of February ...5, which authorized the secre... war to accept for this purpose ...he Gettysburg Memorial asso... about 800 acres of ground. ...he establishment of the park ...been greatly enlarged and now ... an area of approximately 2,530

...r the act of December 27, 1894, ...s established the third na... military park, that of Shiloh. ...t stated: "That in order that ...mies of the Northwest which ...in the Civil war, like their com... of the Eastern armies at Gettys... and those of the Central West ...kamauga, may have the history ... of their memorable battles pre... on the ground where they ..., the battlefield of Shiloh, in ...te of Tennessee, is hereby de... a national military park. . . ." ...rding to the text of the vari...ts, these three military parks ...designated by congress not only ...serve for historical and profes... study the battlefields them... but also to serve as lasting me...s to the great armies of the ...The field of Gettysburg was to ...memorial to the Union Army of ...otomac as well as the Confed... Army of Northern Virginia; the ...f Chickamauga, a memorial to ...nion Army of the Cumberland ...he Confederate Army of Tenne... and the field of Shiloh a me... to the Union Army of the Ten... and the Confederate armies which, under various designations, opposed it in western Tennessee and in Mississippi.

Vicksburg Military Park.

As a fitting memorial to the Union Army of the Tennessee, the field of Shiloh was not considered so appropriate as that of Vicksburg, the campaign of Vicksburg being the most brilliant operation of the army. Some years later, therefore, the Vicksburg National Military park was established by the act of February 21, 1899. This park has an area of about 1,300 acres, covering the siege zone about the intrenched camp of 1863.

That these national military parks might be fitting memorials to the great armies engaged and be accurately marked for historical and professional military study, a commission consisting of survivors of the opposing armies was appointed for each park to fix the location of every monument and marker on the field. The legislatures of many of the states cooperated in the work by making appropriations for monuments to mark the positions of their regiments and batteries on the field and also to serve as memorials to these regiments and batteries.

These four were the only national parks that were established up to the beginning of this year to cover battlefields of the Civil war. It is pointed out that in the four battles marked by these four existing military parks were represented all the corps of the Union army but four and practically all the organizations of the Confederate army. The four Union corps not represented were the Tenth and Eighteenth (consolidated in the latter part of the war to form the Twenty-fourth) which were on the Carolina coast; the Nineteenth, which was near the mouth of the Mississippi river, and the Twenty-third, organized in Kentucky in 1863 and later a part of the Army of the Ohio.

One small national military park has been established to commemorate one of the battles of the Revolutionary war. The history of its establishment is: By the act of February 13, 1911, the sum of $30,000 was appropriated for "erection of a monument on the battlefield of Guilford Court house . . . to commemorate the great victory won there on March 15, 1781, by the American forces commanded by Maj. Gen. Nathaniel Greene and the officers and soldiers who participated in the battle." This was followed by the act of March 2, 1917, designating the battlefield as a national military park.

To Commemorate Antietam.

In the sundry civil act of August 19, 1890, there appeared this item: "For the purpose of surveying, locating, and preserving the lines of battle of the Army of the Potomac and the Army of Northern Virginia at Antietam and for marking the same and for locating and marking the position of 43 different commands of the regular army engaged in the battle of Antietam, and for the purchase of sites for tablets for the marking of such positions . . . $15,000."

Under this and subsequent legislation of like character the lines of the battlefield of Antietam have been satisfactorily marked without the establishment of a national military park. The lines consist of about five miles of improved avenues along which are, as a rule, placed the monuments and markers of the different organizations that took part in the battle. A significant indication of state policy is seen in the fact that the state of Pennsylvania refused to erect a monument on the Antietam field for any unit already represented by a monument on the battlefield of Gettysburg.

The field of Chattanooga is marked in a manner similar to that of Antietam, as the field lies outside of the main park of Chickamauga. In this method of marking battlefields there is less latitude for locating monuments and markers than if greater areas are acquired, but it is declared to give very satisfactory results for historical and professional military study at a much smaller expenditure of money for the purchase of land, and a much smaller outlay for maintenance.

Single monuments have generally been erected to commemorate battles of the Revolutionary war, the War of 1812, and Indian wars. Some of these have been erected by appropriations made by congress to supplement funds appropriated by states or raised by patriotic associations; others have been erected by the national government alone. Among those of the former class are the Saratoga monument, the Princeton battlefield monument, the Monmouth Courthouse battlefield monument, and the Bennington field monument, for the Revolutionary war, the New Orleans battlefield monument, for the War of 1812, and the Tippecanoe battlefield monument, for Indian wars.

Revolutionary War Memorials.

Among those erected by the United States alone are the Yorktown monument, at a cost of $100,000, the Guilford Courthouse battle monument, at a cost of $30,000, and the Kings Mountain battle monument, costing $30,000, all to commemorate engagements of the Revolutionary war. Indian war monuments erected by the government include the Point Pleasant battle the Fort Recovery, the Horseshoe battlefield, and the Fort Phil Kearny monuments.

According to a study of the battles of the United States made by the army war college with a view to determining their proper commemoration either through the establishment of national military parks or the designation of their sites as national monuments, two engagements of the Revolutionary war are deemed worthy of having national military parks created to perpetuate their memory and to preserve their fields for detailed military and historical study. These are the battle of Saratoga, September 19, and October 7, 1777, and the siege of Yorktown, September 28 to October 19, 1781.

The two decisive events of the Revolutionary wars were the surrender of the British army under General Burgoyne as a result of his defeat in the battles variously called Saratoga, Stillwater, Freeman's Farm or Bemis Heights, and the surrender of the British army under General Cornwallis as a result of the siege of Yorktown. Of the importance of these engagements, it is declared, there can be no doubt, Saratoga brought about the definite intervention of France in favor of the American colonies and is listed by Creasy as one of the 15 decisive battles of the world; Yorktown ended the war. The surrender of Cornwallis is commemorated by a monument erected within his lines at Yorktown. The surrender of Burgoyne is commemorated by a monument on the site where the surrender took place a few miles from the battlefield. In accordance with the scheme proposed, both events are regarded worthy of national military parks.

In none of the later wars of this country, except the Civil war, was any of the battles within the limits of the United States of such major importance as to warrant the establishment of parks, according to this study. The four large national military parks already existing commemorate the engagements regarded as decisive in the Civil war.

Civil War Engagements.

One battle of the War of 1812 and 15 battles of the Civil war, while not of quite the same importance as those for which parks have been or are proposed to be established, are singled out by the army war college as of far-reaching importance, with either large numbers of troops engaged and losses sustained or great military or political effect. These battles, it is thought, should be commemorated by having the battle lines located and indicated by a series of markers or tablets.

The battle of New Orleans, fought on January 8, 1815, after the treaty of peace ending the War of 1812 had been signed, though not confirmed, is placed in this class, due to its unique character, the number of troops engaged, and its immediate effect in protecting New Orleans from capture.

The engagements of the Civil war classified in this group are the following: Bull Run, 1861; Fort Donelson, 1862; battles around Richmond, Va., 1862; second Manassas or Groveton, 1862; Fredericksburg, Va., 1862; Murfreesboro, Tenn., 1861; Chancellorsville, Va., 1863; the Wilderness, Va., 1864; Spottsylvania, Va., 1864; Cold Harbor, Va., 1864; battles around Atlanta, Ga., 1864; battles around Petersburg, Va., 1864; battle of the Opequan or Winchester, Va., 1864; Nashville, Tenn, 1864, and Bentonville, N. C., 1865.

GOOD ROADS

WIDER ROADWAYS AVERT ACCIDENTS

It is estimated by Minnesota highway officials that one of the greatest errors in road construction during the past ten years has been building of roads and bridges which are too narrow to properly care for the constantly increasing traffic. Most of the public highways in Minnesota have a right-of-way, which is 4 rods or 66 feet in width, but in many localities this has been found to be inadequate for trunk highway construction, and the state highway department has in several instances provided a right-of-way, having a minimum width of 80 feet. In some cases near congested centers of population, 100 feet has been provided.

The minimum width of roadways, the traveled portion of the highway provided on trunk-route construction, is 30 feet, and the minimum width of pavement being constructed, is 18 feet. On many sections, however, the heavier traveled routes are being graded to provide for a 38-foot roadway which will accommodate a pavement width suitable for four lines of vehicular traffic, side by side. This will permit the slowly-moving traffic to follow the extreme right-hand side of the roadway and allow faster vehicles to overtake and pass the slower ones without danger of a collision with vehicles coming from the opposite direction.

Two reasons are given for the inadequate width of some of the present roads. One is the lack of vision and failure to estimate the vast increase of motor vehicle transportation, and the other is that of the false economy. The number of motor vehicles using the highways in Minnesota has doubled in the last six years, but a road built six years ago, in most cases, still has the same width. Actual experience has proved that building a road of adequate width can be accomplished much cheaper at time of construction than adding to the width at a later date.

If adequate widths of subgrade and structures are provided, a narrow pavement which at the time of construction was adequate for the traffic then existing, can be widened at approximately the same unit cost which was expended for the original job.

During the last five years the Minnesota highway department has negotiated with over 5,700 land owners along trunk routes in widening and straightening rights-of-way and providing clearer vision on curves, and it is held that the expenditure of public funds made for this purpose is of more importance in the protection of human lives than that made for any other purpose.

Four Governments Plan Highway Across Canada

Four different governments have at last heeded the call of the people of Canada for an all-Canadian highway stretching from Halifax, N. S., to Vancouver, B. C. Four governments have met on equal ground, and each has pledged the completion of the necessary work.

Ontario says: "We are already completing our last remaining link." Alberta is to have its link ready this year. The Dominion government, speaking for Jasper National park, states that it will link up with Alberta this year, and British Columbia, the last to fall into line, declares "When the Jasper highway reaches Tete Juane Cache British Columbia will have a road to carry it on to Vancouver."

It will be possible to tour across Canada on a modern highway before the end of the present year. Heretofore it has been necessary to drop down into the States at many points.

Good Roads Facts

Permanent waves are all right in hair, but too many of our roads seem to have them.

* * *

The United States is to build 10,000 miles of road in 1926 and the pessimistic motorist knows that it means 50,000 miles of detours.

* * *

One-half of all the bituminous macadam in the United States is found in New York and New England. The combined mileage of this type on all of the state systems of this country is about 9,000 miles.

* * *

Between $75,000 and $100,000 will be expended in the erection of a Lincoln memorial monument at the eastern entrance of Hudson county park, the land terminus of the Lincoln highway, after crossing the Hudson river.

* * *

It is now possible to buy a through ticket and travel all the way from New York to San Francisco on a balloon-tired motor coach.

* * *

The United States has 115,000 miles of paved or surfaced highways. This is more than there are or ever were in any other country in the world.

* * *

The average cost of the several types of hard-surfaced road construction in the United States is given as about $32,200 a mile. Gravel roads cost about $10,000 a mile.

Vacation Time

Time to relax — time to slow up and take things easy. But there is no vacation time for those who pack Monarch Coffee and Monarch Cocoa. Quality is safeguarded every minute of every day.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
Never Sold Through Chain Stores.
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago · Boston · Pittsburgh · New York

Yeast Foam

Good bread makers everywhere prefer it

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago

© 1926 S. O. Co. (N. J.)

Curses on thee, little pest Filthy fly, unwelcome guest!

NO need to tolerate a single fly in your house. Flit kills flies.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

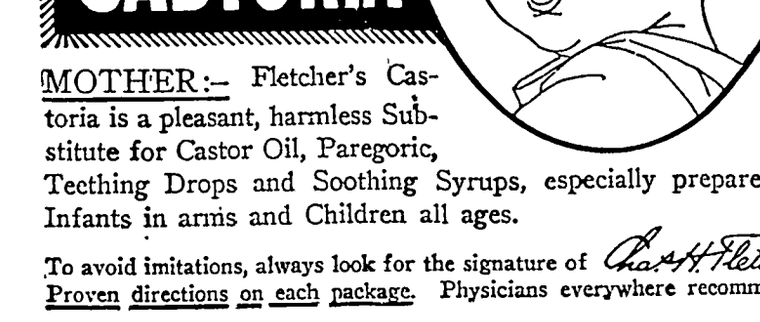
Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Get a Flit can and sprayer today. For sale everywhere.

STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)



DESTROYS
Flies Mosquitoes Moths
Ants Bed Bugs Roaches

"The yellow can with the black band"

Largest Motor Speedway

The largest motor speedway in the world will be constructed on the outskirts of Sydney, Australia. The track will be approximately two miles in length, 100 feet wide and will be located at Blacktown, a suburb of Sydney.

Some men are quite successful in building up a broad forehead; others, a bay window.

Cuticura Talcum
Is Soothing
For Baby's Skin
Soap, Ointment, Talcum sold everywhere.

Most of those sighing for the good old days wouldn't know which end of a horse to crank.

...TO FATALITIES TOTAL 22,500 DURING YEAR 1925

...rt of Underwriters Shows an In...ease in Killings of 17,600 Over Preceding Year.

...w York.—Automobile fatalities in United States for 1925 totaled ...0, an increase of approximately ... over 1924, according to the re... of the National Bureau of Casu... and Surety Underwriters.

...e study shows that automobile ...ities in 147 cities, including col... with street cars and railroad ...s, increased from 17,600 in 1924 ...,800 in 1925. Fatal automobile ...e crossing accidents mounted ... 1,088 in 1924 to 1,784 in 1925. ...e automobile death rate per 100,... shown by the report to have in...ed from 14.9 in 1923 to 15.7 in ... and to 17.2 in 1925. The increase ... 1923 to 1924, therefore, was 5 ...ent, while the increase from 1924 to 1925 was nearly 10 per cent. From this it is deduced that fatal automobile accidents not only are increasing in number but the rate at which they are increasing also is rising.

Registration of cars, the study shows, increased from 17,591,981 in 1924 to 19,954,347 in 1925. Fatality rates on the basis of registration have been decreasing for several years, but the rate for 1925 was practically the same as that for 1924.

Deaths of children under fifteen years of age continue to be one of the most serious aspects of the automobile accident situation, the report says. During 1925 it is estimated that 6,300 children under fifteen years were killed in automobile accidents, as compared to 6,090 in 1924. One encouraging aspect as developed in the study, however, is that deaths of children of less than fifteen years of age increased only about 3½ per cent in 1925 over 1924, whereas the fatalities among adults increased about 15 per cent.

Officials Are Executed to Stabilize Currency

Moscow, U. S. S. R.—M. Bronsky, a member of the finance ministry, says that as an outgrowth of extraordinary measures taken by the government the chervonetz, the new Russian gold unit of value, has now been definitely stabilized.

M. Bronsky denies that there have been wholesale executions in connection with the stabilization of the new currency. He admits, however, that campaigns against artificial devaluation of the chervonetz have been put down with one energetic stroke. Three important finance ministry officials have been executed and about 100 known speculators deprived of their liberty.

Schiller put his feet on ice when working.

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, especially prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

More Than Was Expected

"Rastus, I understand that you're the father of twins. What have you named them?"

"Well, suh, the first ah named Adagio Allegro, and Ah'm gonna call the second one Encore."

"I know you're musical, Rastus, but why call the second Encore?"

"Well, suh, you see he wasn't on the program at all."

Alike

Rastus: "Ah done hear yo' stayed in de haunted house last night. What happened?"

Sambo: "'Bout two o'clock Ah woke up an' a ghost come frew de side wall jes' as if de wall wasn't dere."

Rastus: "An' what did yo' do?"

Sambo: "Boy, Ah went frew de other side wall de same way!"

BAYSIDE

---AMUSEMENT PARK---

Clear Lake, Iowa

NEXT SUNDAY, JULY 11th

—Free Attractions Afternoon & Night—

BASSET CONCERT BAND
Coming on Milwaukee Excursion to Bayside.

THE RAYMONDS IN 2 VAUDEVILLE ACTS
Lady Ventriloquist, Contortionist, Acrobats.

BICYCLISTS HIGH DIVE LEAP IN LAKE
2 Expert Bicyclists in Daring Contest.

AT BAYSIDE—Best Bathing Beach on Lake; Bath House, Toboggan Slide, Roller Coaster, Swinging Aeroplane, Merry Go Round, Little Train, Princess Gandhi, Fun House Roller Skating Free Picnic Grounds and Tables, Children's Play Grounds.

FUN FOR ALL—— ——ALL FOR FUN

—Policed Parking Grounds for Cars 15c—

For Your Sunday Dinners:-

For your Sunday Dinners or when company comes—What is nicer than a nice, tender and juicy Roasted Ham? Why not take this suggestion and try one of our nice choice Hams for your Sunday Dinner. Have it hot for dinner, and then slice it cold for suppers and lunches! It's great!

Also we have a full line of Pork and Beef Roasts, Choice Steaks, Chops, etc.

FOR THOSE HOT DAYS—

Right now we are specializing in a big line of Cold Meats of All Kinds—just the thing for suppers these hot days. Any kind, yo ulike.

GOOD PICNIC ITEMS

Besides our Cold Meats we carry many other good picnic items—Cheese of all kinds; Ketchup; Pork & Beans; Olives; Pickles; all kinds of Preserves; Sardines; Weiners; Sea Foods; Salmon; Salad Ddressing; Sandwich Spread; etc. Just ask us!

Buy It At The—

Klemme Meat Market

No One Was Ever Hung--

For Advertising

But Many Business Concerns Have

D I E D !

By Not Advertising--

Let Us Write You An Insurance Policy Against Business

D-E-A-T-H

The Klemme Times

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

HAYRACKS at the Northern Lbr. Co. Come in and see them. 1tc

R. A. Jorgenson and family visited at Garner Sunday.

Clarence Elder drove to Garner on business Saturday afternoon.

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines. tfc

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schlawin and Mrs. A. Schlawin were at Forest City on business last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. McCullough visited at the C. V. McCullough home at Garner Sunday.

Mrs. F. A. Arnold and sons, Fred and Asa, visited at Mason City Saturday afternoon.

FOR SALE—1½ year old Guernsey Bull from Schafer herd. Karl Kraus. tfc

Mrs. Louie Knoke and children were at Garner last Friday visiting with Grandma Beachel.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Art Schoenwetter and family enjoyed a picnic at Eagle Lake State Park Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Ahrenkeil and son of Goodell were Klemme visitors Saturday evening

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Schaper and son, Bennie, had dinner and spent Sunday at the Dick Swalve home.

The Times is always glad to receive items of news. Please phone your items or mail them. Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Mitchell, of Swea City visited with Klemme relatives over Sunday.

Emil Barz, of Waterloo, visited over the week end and Monday with Klemme relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E G. Stone of Minneapolis were visiting at the J. J. Poort home last week Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Elder and daughter, Reva, and Leona Poort, drove to Forest City Monday.

Mr. Bredlow returned to his home in Oklahoma, after being in this vicinity for a week or so looking after his farm interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest (Stub) Lewis of Grundy Center, spent Monday in Klemme visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Lois Trafford returned to Belmond last Thursday after visiting Klemme friends several days the past week.

DON'T throw away that tire just because of a small hole. Bring it here, I can at least make a good spare for you. C. L. Blumer. 1tc

R. A. Jorgenson and family and Mr. and Mrs. J. Jorgenson, of Garner, were at Mason City on business last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Henry Christensen and daughter, Vogel, of Goodell, visited the former's sister, Mrs. Sumner Trumbell, Friday.

Mrs. Paul Grange and son, Dorance and Miss Mary White drove to Corwith Thursday for a visit with friends.

Walt Lau drove down from Minneapolis to spend Sunday and Monday with his family here. He is working up there.

Mrs. Sarah Behringer, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wiles and baby, of Ames, visited at the Elko Buss home east of Klemme, Sunday, June 27.

Mrs. Mary Waterman and daughter, Mable Cullinan, drove to Clear Lake Saturday for a visit with the Fred Musfelt family until Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Neilson and two children, of Sac City, Iowa, came Friday evening and remained until Monday visiting at the home of J. J. Poort and family. Mr. Neilson is a brother of Mrs. Poort.

HAYRACKS at the Northern Lbr. Co. Come in and see them. 1tc

Mr. and Mrs. Wooden, of Des Moines came Sunday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kirkwood. Mrs. Wooden and Mrs. Kirkwood are sisters.

The people of the Ell Town Reformed church enjoyed a picnic at the church grounds, Monday, the Fifth. All report having had a fine time.

Mr. Ira Ross, of California, was visiting at the Wm. Smith and J. N. Day homes last Thursday and Thursday night. Mr. Ross is a nephew of Mrs. Smith.

Glenn Busch and Howard Terhuften came home from Detroit, Michigan a little over a week ago to visit until after the Fourth with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. McCullough, and son Hollis, and daughter Maxine of Garner, spent Monday visiting at the G. P. McCullough home.

Glenn Busch had his tonsils removed at the Mercy hospital last week Monday and returned home Tuesday. Glenn thrived on a soup diet for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Benn Coobs and baby left early Saturday morning in their car for McGregor for a visit with his parents and relatives over the Fourth.

Sam Harvey is driving a sport model Nash touring which he purchased last week. If you see a big cloud of dust down the road you will probably know its Sam.

Quite a number of people from Klemme and vicinity took in the celebration at Britt Monday. Many others drove to Clear and Bayside to celebrate.

Miss Mary White returned to her home at Estherville, Saturday morning, after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grange several days the past week.

Mrs. Hans Hanson and Ruby, returned from Minneapolis last week Thursday, where they had been since Sunday visiting. They accompanied the Lee Ell family of Mason City to Minneapolis.

Clark Bredbenner is enjoying a visit from his cousin, and another man who drove in from Indiana, arriving here Sunday. They said that work had slacked up in the east and there was not much going on.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Matt Edmundson Saturday morning. And of course Matt took home a big bunch of firecrackers so the little shaver could start right in celebrating the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wilson and children of Vinton, Iowa, came Sunday to remain until Tuesday visiting at the P. M. Wilson home. The two names are alike, but the families are not related.

Shirley Rae Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Johnson, celebrated the Fourth of July by observing her second birthday. Instead of making a lot of noise shooting firecrackers, the little miss "got away" with a nice cake instead.

Mrs. E. G. Ell and daughter, Arlene returned to their home at Mankato, Minn., Saturday, after visiting Klemme relatives and friends for several days. They visited at Belmond last week before coming to Klemme.

The Misses Elvira Stille and Bernice Tanner came home from Cedar Falls the latter part of the week to spend the week end and the Fourth with home folks. The young ladies are attending summer school at the State Teachers College.

Rev. A. W. Gauger and family drove to Rudd Sunday afternoon to spend the Fourth visiting relatives and friends. Monday they visited at his sister's home where Carlyle is spending the summer. A re-union of the Gauger tribe was a part of the program.

Corn was "knee high" here the Fourth as a general rule. Many corn fields are past that stage, while a few do not come up to the standard required. Small grain is looking excellent this year. Hay and pasture are fine in this part of the state.

Fred Griewe and family of Center Point, John Greiwe and family of Minneapolis, Albert Yahnke and family, of Garden City, Minn., Rev. Ortmeyer and family of Kanawha, and Arthur Wellemeyer and family of this city, all enjoyed a big family gathering, Monday, July 5th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Griewe. All had a wonderful time and spent a day that will long be remebered.

Iowa is the state that raises big political rows as well as tall corn.

Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings

DR. E. H. PHILLIPS

Osteopathic Physician

Masonic Bldg. Garner, Io

THREE IN SEAT TO BE IL

It is announced that pro members of the legislature it be known that a bill will sented to the next general making it a crime for mo three persons to ride in th seat of an automobile. It is out that several tradegdies h sulted because the driver crowded that he lost control car. The proposed bill will als it a misdemeanor to overload seated auto. Here again is a of accidents that have result astrously.

It's Here!

--Your Twine

It's here Now—That Carload of Twine we order Come in and get yours anytime now.

THRESHING COAL COMING, TOO!

We have a carload of goo dTHRESHING COAL the way now. Get your order in at once and get it off carwhen itarrives.

WE HAVE OIL MEAL NOW!

You can come in and get that OIL MEAL now, here. The Tankage will be here soon. Do you some? Better get your order intod ay.

AND DON'T FORGET—This is the right place come for your CHICKEN FEED of all kinds.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

A Few Causes of Oil Pumping and Compression Leakage--

1. Worn or out-of-round cylinders.
2. Scored cylinders or pistons.
3. Warped or worn ring grooves.
4. Poorly fitted pistons and rings.
5. Piston pin hole out-of-round.
6. Poorly aligned rod and piston assembly.
7. Sprung connecting rods.
8. Crankshaft warped or out-of-true.
9. Worn bearings.
10. Warped or sticking valves.
11. Improper timing.
12. Leaky cylinder head gasket.

ONLY Cure-- Stormizing

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

YOU Can bank as safely by mail as you can by bringing your deposits in person. By proper endorsement on the back of each check, it will be impossible for any other person to benefit by it.

Come in and let us explain our complete system of "Banking by Mail."

First National Bank

KLEMME, IOWA.

THE KLEMME TIMES

Thirtieth Year—Number 48. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1926. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

OUNG PEOPLE AWARDED IPLOMAS ON BIBLE STUDY

VA SANDRY GETS FIRST AND LEONA POORT SECOND IN CONTEST

pecial Music Furnished by Girls Chorus From Liberty Church

A large and apprciative audience itnessed the closing exercises of e Daily Vacation Bible School last nday night at the Methodist Epispal church. After demonstrating eir mastery of the catechism and eir knowledge of the Bible, thirn young people were awarded diomas. Five others will complete eir course soon, entitling them to e same reward. Those receiving diomas Sunday night were: William ndry, Wayne Pavey, Orvis Poort, arence Lemke, William Gauger, da Sandry, Ava Sandry, Katherine ndry, Leona Poort, Gladys Schlichg Ethel Pringnitz, Lucille Ludeke d Clarice Wellemeyer.

A class of twelve girls completed e same course in Liberty church o weeks ago. They are: Mildred choenwetter, Dorothy Carolus, thel Schoenwetter, Ethel Lemke, rraine Lemke, Hilda Kropp, Miled Gast, Relma Kropp, Lucille ropp Madeline Abele, Florence nner, Ruth Beier.

All of these young people have en admitted to membership of the urch.

n interesting feature of the evening ogram consisted of a Bible-story ntest, which gave variety to the cer nonies. First place was won by va Sandry, withLeona Poort secd. The judges based their decisns on content and accuracy of deil. Preliminary to the regular ntest, two juniors—LaVohn Larn and Novella Bredbenner—showtheir skill at Bible story telling. l stories were entirely in the speak s' own words.

Special music was furnished by a o-part girls' chorus of twenty ices, from the Liberty church. This nging organization, which is under e direction of Mrs. Lew Abele, ows the possibilities of two-part usic, and is valuable to the church. Daily Vacation Bible schools art ringing up all over the country, d Klemme is fortunate in that her urches are providing this fine type training for the children. If ore people throughout our great nd were following out the Bible innction, "Train up a child in the y he should go." there would not the wave of youthful crime we ad so much about today. Our pasrs deserve the highest commenation for their Daily Vacation Bie school activities.—Contributed one who was present.

LKWEED IS WIDESPREAD IN HANCOCK COUNTY

jority of Oat Fields Are Infested Dr. Pammel Observes

From 74 to 92 percent of the oat elds in a number of counties in rth central Iowa were found to ntain the common milkweed in a rvey recently made by L. H. Pamel, botanist of the Iowa Agricultur Experiment Station.

The percentages of fields with the ed in the various counties studied re as follows: Story and Hardin, ; Winnebago and Hancock, 82 ssuth, 87; and Humboldt, 78; one, 75; Webster, 92; Calhoun d Pocahontas, 88; and Palo Alto .

FIGHT LATE BLIGHT EARLY

When cool, moist weather occurs July and August, late blight of tatoes often causes great losses, rticularly in the Northern States. e disease spreads very rapidly in vorable weather, killing the plants a few days. Late blight can be ntrolled by thoroughly spraying the ants with 4-4-50 Bordeaux mixture ginning when the disease is first en. Repeat the spraying every 10 14 days in dry weather and every to 10 days in moist wather.

KLEMME BAND PROGRAM FOR THIS WEEK

1. Fritz March.
2. American Beauty Waltz.
3. Evening Shadows Serenade.
4. Flower Girl Intermezzo.
5. Let's Talk About My Sweetie
6. Progressive American March.

INTERMISSION

7. Yankee Scout March.
8. Pasage Waltz.
9. Simple Simmon Schottische.
10. Festal Overture.
11. Who—Pop.
12. Loyalty March.

Earl Josten and Charles Gibbs are now playing alto and Maurice Greiman. another new member is playing bells.

Plan to attend the concerts every Friday night. The boys certainly are not getting the support they deserve. A good many towns larger than Klemme do not have bands nearly as good as ours.

MANY COMMON STALK BORERS

Get Attention of Farmers Keeping European Corn Vigil

The common stalk borer has appeared in Iowa in unusual numbers this year and is attracting the attention of many farmers who are keeping a vigilant watch for theEuropean corn borer. There are differences in the appearance of ths borers, however, which makes it possible to diffentiat betwen them easily. B. B. Fulton, entomologist at Iowa State College offers the following descriptions for them:

"The common stalk borer is priyoung and less than an inch long is dark brown in color, with a white lines on both sides, both front and back, but which are absent in the middle, leaving a dark saddle near the middle of the body

"The European corn borer is pale gray in color with scattered small dark spots and a dark indistinct line down the middle of the back. It is less than an inch long when full grown.

"'The common salk borer is primarily a weed insect and will be found most common around the edges of the fields where the weeds are plentiful. They often go from one plant to another and may bore into wheat, oats, corn, potatoes, tomatoes and a large number of other plants. The cutting of weeds at this time is only apt to drive them into he crops unless the cut weeds are removed before they dry.

"In August the worms will change to a resting stage or pupa preparatory to becoming a moth. At that time they are unable to crawl and must remain in the weeds if cut. In late summer the moths fly to weed patches and lay eggs, which remain over winter.

"On account of the unusual number of the common borers this year, and because few fields have parasites in them as yet, it would be advisable to plow under all weedy fields this summer or fall and to burn the weeds around the fences in fall or early spring. This would prevent a repetition of the damage next year."

DUSTLESS. CHEMCALS. BEING APPLIED ON IOWA HIGHWAYS

Numerous Iowa highways have been treated with dustless chemicals this year and thus made better for motorists during the summer season. Such chemical treatment of calcium chloride on the highways was given a test on a short piece of road south of Ames last year and it thoroughly proved its merits both as a preserver of the road bed as well as a real dust eradicator. The chemicals are applied after there has been a heavy rain and the road beds are properly smothered out. The entire Lincoln highway across Iowa has been rendered dustless and heavy short stretches on other well traveled roads as well.

Calcium chloride costs $34 a ton and the expense of treating a mile of road is about $400. One pound will cover one square yard for the first treatment and one-half pound for the second coat applied after an interval of two or three weeks. It is sprayed over the road with an ordinary lime spreader.

FARM BUREAU SELECTS DEBATE TOPIC

FARMERS TO ARGUE TAXATION IN THEIR FIFTH ANNUAL DEBATE

Incomes Vs. Property Tax for State Revenue is New State-wide Debate Question

Whether or not incomes rather than property should be the basis of taxation for state revenue will be the question which Iowa farmers will argue next fall and winter in the fifth annual state-wide farmers' debate. This question has just been selected through a vote of the county Farm Bureau of the State.

The exact wording of th question is: "Resolved, that the basis of taxation for state revenue should be incomes rather than property.' Rules for the 1926-27 debates together with a bibliography of reference for debaters will be prepared by the Extension Service of Iowa State College and will be ready for mailing Oct. 1.

Rules for the coming debates will be essentially the same as last winter. The local intra-county debates will be held prior to January 1 and after this date the inter-county debates will begin, leading up to the state championship. The 1926-27 debates are in charge of the state debate council composed of the following farmers: S. E. Bass, Boone; Gale McClean, Muscatine, and W. H. Malin, Tama.

We were told of a wizard who recently played ten games of chess and twenty-eight of checkers at the same time. A man that can keep all that his head should be able to remember to mail his wife's letters.

MAYOR GRUETZMACHER HELD COURT LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

Wade Tries to Arrest Ulrich for Assault, But Refuses to Sign Charges

Considerable excitement was caused in town last Saturday night when Jimmy Wade tried to arrest George Ulrich on a charge of assault. However, when Mayor Frank Gruetzmacher had written the complaint and asked Wade to sign it, he refused Different stories have been told as to how the scrap originated in the first place, but the trouble seems to have risen over a controversy over the custody of one of the Wade children, Mr. and Mrs Wade having said to have parted a short time ago. At any rate the affair developed into sort of a family fued in front of Wellemeyer's Store when Wade picked up one of the little children. In the fracas which followed, in which both the Wade and Ulrich families took an active part, Wade claims that Ulrich slapped him.

Gruetzmacher dismissed the case because of lack of evidence and strongly advised them to keep their family troubles off of the streets.

KLEMME REFORMED CHURCH

Sunday, the 18th, the Pastor of the congregation will be installed Rev. K. Stubbi, Waukon, Iowa and Rev. Calvin Schmid will be the speakers. The installation will take place at 10:00 a. m. at a union service (German and English). All members and friend of the congregation are invited to attend.

Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor.

FIVE STATES INVADED BY THE YEARS JOURNALISTIC CROP

New York, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Iowa, have been invaded by this year's gaduates of the school of journalism at State University of Iowa. With the school's added courses in business management, advertising, and practical printing, graduates are finding themselves equipped to function in any and every capacity in the newspaper business.

THINK THIS OVER

No town will become a good business center so long as its business men rely on two or three merchants to make the effort to bring trade to town. Too often the men in a few lines of trade are about the only ones that reach out after customers. Other merchants wait until these men induce the people to come to town and content themselves with trade that naturally drifts to their place. A public spirited man should ask himself if he is doing his part to attract people to come to town to trade, in helping he entire business community; and no town is a success unless all line are working to extend the trade as far as possible and trying to bring a larger territory inthe circle in which the town is the business center.—Ex.

HINTS IN CARING FOR HOT HOGS

A hog will find shade in hot weather if he can, but if the shady place is also hot he does not seem torealize, and will stay there and die from overheating. For this reason it is best to close any buildings that are not cool, forcing the hogs to get shade elsewhere. Th natural shade from trees in preferable to any other If trees are not available, a geod artificial shade should be made by setting posts and building a cheap framework about 4 feet from the ground, covering it with brush, hay, or straw. A shade of this kind is better than one made of boards or sheet iron. If dust accumulates the covering should be made wet by watering with a hose or bucket. This will serve the double purpose of colling the air and settling the dust.

IOWA ADDS ANOTHER STATE PARK

Thirty-ninth Park at Muscatine Gives Iowa Fourth Ranking in Number of State Parks

Iowa's thirty-ninth state park Wildcat Den, near Muscatine, has been added to group of thirty-eight preserves which place the state fourth in the nation for the number of state parks. Disributed throughout the state so that one of he grounds is within fifty miles of every home. Iowa's parks include more than 7,500 acres, exclusive of areas covered by lakes. Historic spots, sites of natural beauty, lake, lotus beds and wild life preserves combine to make the group one of the most varied of the nation.

Prof L. H. Pammel, of Ames, president of the Iowa conservation Commission, declares that the recreational value of parks is worth 25 cents per hour to each visitor. At that estimate Prof. Pammel figures that the 750,000 people who visited the parks last year and spent approximately 2,250,000 hours therein, profited to the extent of $562,500. Nearly 2,000,000 persons visited the lake areas of the state and Dr. Pammel figures the value of their 6,000,0000 hours of recreation $1,500,000. Park records show that visitors came to Iowa last year from Canada, England, China, Japan, Brazil and Turkey. The Ledges state park records bear the names of visitors from 29 other states and seventy four counties in Iowa.

NOTICE. OF. APPOINTMENT. OF EXECUTOR

Notice is Hereby Given, That the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Executor of the Estate of Martha Ludeke, late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased. All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticaed, to the undersigned, for allowance.

Dated July 12th, A. D., 1926.

Elmer H. Ludeke, Executor.

July 15-29.

LEITZINGER IS NEW TOWN MARSHALL

TOOK UP HIS DUTIES YESTERDAY MORNING

Says That He Intends to Inforce The Law

Harold Leitzinger is the new town marshall on duty at the present time. He began his duties Wednesday morning after the former marshall had been asked to resign.

We believe that Leitzinger is a good man for the position and he says that he intends to enforce the law from the very beginning and it would probably be advisable for law breakers, especially speeders' to take heed of this warning. Mayor Grutzmacher also says that it is time there was more order and states that he will stand back of Leitzinger in carrying out his duty.

It certainly is time that something was done in Klemme on the traffic question. It is a wonder that there have not been some very serious accidents on Saturday and Wednesday nights. A few drivers seem to have gotten the impression that our main-street is a speedway and that they are priveledged to turn around anywhere, whether it be in the middle of the street or at the intersection. The town council has gone to the trouble to mark off the sidewalks so that cars may be parked properly, but these markings are often overlooked, thus making it difficult to for other cars to drive in and out.

However, the drivers are not entirely to blame. Pedestians are certainly putting themselves open to accident when they dodge through an opening where the cars are parked and cross the street in the middle of the block on a busy night. The driver cannot see these people and an accident could very easily happen.

The marshall's job, is not as many people seem to think, a "snap job" He has to attend to a great many things and if he was to preform his duty as it really should be attended to, he would have to be inseveral different places at once, for besides seeing that law and order is kept, he has to keep the park lawn mowed, the streets in good shape, the sewer in running order, the water system going right, the water meters rad, the poll tax collected and the sidewalks shoveled off. Besides theee and the other things that come up, he really hasn't much to do.

FARMER KEEPS CLOSE ACCOUNT OF FARMING OPERATIONS

Costs $0.672 to Produce a Bushel of Corn With a 50 Bushel Yield

T. A. Pearson, a Dallas county farmer, who keeps a strict account of the cost of farm operations, has submitted the actual cost of producing an acre of corn. Here are his figures: "Cost of producing one acre of corn includes plowing with tractor, $1.005, harrowing three times $0.321, discing with tractor disc, $0.506, planting $0.258, culti-packer (rolling) $2.93; cultivator (four times) $3.205; spreading fertilizer six tons each rotation $1.22; husking corn, 6 cents per bushel , $3; team and wagon for huskiing $.905 shelling corn at 1½ cents per bushel, 75c; delivering corn to elevator $1 35; seed corn, $0.49; over head expense $2.32; interest on $200 loss on rotation of crops $3.00; depreciation on buildings, tile and fence, $2.60. Total cost per acre of corn, $33.63. Average yield per acre for 1925, fifty bushels, net cost per bushed $0.672. Average price for No. 3 corn June 21, 1926, 58½, loss per bushel $0.092. The cost per acre, $4.65. The average cost per bushel is determined by the department of agriculture, based on the average yield of forty-three bushels per acre, $0.674.

One of the difficult things in politics nowadays seems to be to keep the things that the other side deem most significant from meaning anything.—Kansas City Star.

We have often wondered what could be funnier than a girl gaining a working knowledge of cosmetics?

HANCOCK COUNTY REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

B. N. Kinseth et al to Rank Kouba et al, W. D., date, 5-24-26, $1.00. NW 25 feet of lots 1-2-3-4, block 4 Corwith.

B. N. Kinseth, et al, to Frank Kouba, et al, W. D., dtae 5-24-26, $1.00, a tract in block 4 of Auditors Sub-Div of NE¼ 6-94-26.

Nora Creamer hus to C. E. Conger W. D., date 5-18-26, $1.00, tract of land in block 51, Garner.

C. V. McCullough to Nellie E. McCullough, W. D., date 6-16-26, $1.00 etc. Lots 1- 2-3-4-, 6, 9, 10, 11, blk. 9, Garner.

MANY SHRUBS AND TREES DIE

Wet Weather and Early Freeze Last Fall Largely to Blame

Hundreds of fruit trees, fruit shrubs, flowering or ornamental trees were badly injured or killed in Iowa this past winter, probably the result of the wet fall with the zero weather in October.

Complains of injuries or of trees and shrubs dying have been coming to Iowa State College from practically every section of the state.

It appears that red cedar, white pines and arbor vitae were injured most among the evergreens. Of the apple trees, Delicious (both Red and Gold), Grimes Golden, Stayman, as well as other varieties less common, were badly injured at the ground line,some of them enough to cause the trees to die.

On fruit trees, the early freeze caused the bark to crack longitudinally at the ground line. From 1 to 4 of these cracks have been found per tree, each about 1 to 7 inches long and about four inches from the ground. The trees with more than one crack often have the bark loosened from the tree and the cambium (the inner, tough, live tissue of the outside bark) has turned brown.

Where the injury extended completely around fruit trees and the cambium is dead, no growth started in the trees. Where the injury extended only part way around, the trees in many cases are now showing sparse foliage and some are dying.

The cambium on some thees where no cracks can be found apparently was injured. Some of these so injured will live while others will die, according to the opinion of H. E. Nichols, horticulture specialist.

The most injury was done to fruit trees under 10 years old. In some cases the outer branches merely were killed. This occurred with plums as well as with apple trees. Red rasp berry canes in many cases were killed back to the ground, cutting off the possibility of a crop this year.

The rainy weather last fall caused trees and shrubs to have an abnormally large amount of sap in them the time the October zero and sub zero weather arrived, says Mr. Nichols. This probably explains the unusual amount of damage wich occurred. In some cases second growth apparently had started before the freeze arrived.

SIX ROW CULTIVTOR NEXT?

Forty-five Acres a Day Cultivated With a Six-Row Outfit.

The agricultural engineering departments of most of the state colleges of agriculture are devoting a lot of attention to developing faster means of cultivating row crops this year, according to the Research Department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers. At Ames, a motorized 6-row outfit has been used successfully handling 45 acres of corn a day for the first time over. Ohio and Illinois instititutions are successfully handling 4-row jobs. The rapid advance of the 2-row system of cultivation of corn all over the Corn Belt the past four years has been one of the outstanding man-labor saving operations has materially added to form

To young graduates: Conceding that beyond the Alps lies Italy, if you wish to go any further into the subject you'll have to take it up with Mussolini.—Detroit Free Press.

U. S. RADIO CONTROL GONE, SAYS HOOVER

Secretary Merely to Suggest Wave Lengths, Result of Federal Ruling.

Washington. — Government regulation of radio has broken down and voluntary self-regulation by the broadcasting industry is the only bulwark between the $200,000,000 radio industry and chaos, Secretary Hoover has announced.

His pronouncement followed an opinion by Attorney General Sargent which holds that the secretary of commerce is utterly without power to enforce or deny the use of particular wave lengths or fix the power of individual broadcasting stations.

While the attorney general's opinion leaves the door wide open for the pirating of wave lengths which have been previously denied, officials of the Commerce department expressed the opinion that the industry itself would act to avert undue interference with the regular broadcasting programs.

Present-day radio sets can pick up signals between 200 and 600 meters. Between these limits there are about 90 wave bands, now being used by nearly 550 stations. Last fall the department stopped issuing broadcasting licenses because of the crowded condition of the air, and as a result there are more than 650 applications on file in Secretary Hoover's office.

In view of the Department of Justice ruling, Mr. Hoover has no longer any authority to deny licenses, and they will be granted. Officials of the department said, however, that in the new licences issued no wave length will be prescribed unless the applicant announces that he plans to use a certain one. In that case the wave length will be incorporated in the license.

Secretary Hoover said that he will endeavor to maintain the reciprocal relation between this country and Canada in the matter of selecting wave length, and expressed the hope that "in the interest of fair play," no American station will interfere with any wave length in use by a Canadian station.

It is believed that the legislation which failed at the last session will be enacted when congress meets in December, the secretary said, but in the meantime all that the department can do is to issue licenses to all applicants and trust to luck there will be no intereference.

To Sell Two Government-Owned Steamship Lines

Washington. — Preliminary steps have been taken by the shipping board toward the sale to private interests of the two largest government-owned steamship lines, the United States lines and the American Merchant line, both operating out of New York on trans-Atlantic routes.

The United States Lines operate, among other ships, the giant Leviathan with a gross tonnage of 59,956, as well as two other former German liners, the George Washington and the Republic. It also has the American-built steamers President Harding and President Roosevelt of about 14,000 tons gross, and the former German liner, now named the America, which was seriously damaged by fire while undergoing repairs at Newport News.

The American Merchant line includes eleven ships of approximately 8,000 tons each, among them five wartime army transports.

Convicts Lock 391 Men in Mine 730 Feet Down

Lansing, Mich.—Sixteen officers and guards and 375 miner convicts were locked in the coal mines of the Kansas state penitentiary here, 780 feet below the surface, following a mutiny among the convicts.

The miners blocked the cage in the shaft, making it impossible to send aid down to the guards, Warden Mackey said.

The cage was tied at the bottom of the shaft and telephone wires in the mine were cut, making communication impossible.

Prison officials said they expected the mutineers would come out of the mine when hungry.

May Lose a Million in Taxicab Failure

Chicago.—More than a million-dollar loss to stockholders—perhaps 5,000 of them, and mostly small investors—was forecast as the probable outcome of the crash of the Premier Cab company.

The assets are represented by upwards of 700 taxicabs—some of which are reported to have disappeared.

After a cursory survey of the assets, Receiver Samuel Howard, former deputy United States marshal, was of the opinion that little could be salvaged for the stockholders—many of them school teachers, small tradesmen and household servants.

World Drive on Drugs

Philadelphia.—Delegates to the first world conference on narcotic education made plans here for an international campaign to break up the production and sale of habit-forming drugs.

"Sheik" Durkin Guilty

Chicago.—Martin Durkin, the Chicago "Sheik" bandit, was found "guilty of murder" by the jury that has been trying him for the slaying of Edwin O. Shanahan, federal agent.

ON TARIFF COMMISSION

Sherman J. Lowell of New York, who has been sworn in as a member of the United States tariff commission under a recess appointment by President Coolidge.

FARM LEADERS WILL PLAN NEW MEASURES

Meeting to Be Called at Des Moines in a Few Weeks.

Washington.—Following the defeat at the recent session of congress of the McNary-Haugen bill, the Fess-Tincher bill and other measures for the relief of agriculture, it is announced here by farm leaders and leaders of the agricultural group in congress that one or more important conferences will be arranged soon in the Middle West.

The expectation is that the first of a series of conferences will be called to meet at Des Moines within a month or six weeks. That conference will probably be followed by others.

The object of the coming conference or conferences is to map out plans to continue the fight in the house and senate for legislation along the lines of the McNary-Haugen bill or similar bills. The advocates of such legislation look on the equalization fee as the vital principle. They also regard it as essential that there be a strong farm board at Washington and that this board be selected from real farmers, nominated by the farm organizations.

The conference at Des Moines probably will be called by President Charles Hearst of the Iowa Farm bureau.

$2,793,583 Was Cost of Pennsylvania Primaries

Washington.—Expenditures of the three rival tickets in the Pennsylvania Republican primaries totaled $2,793,583.02, according to a revised official tabulation made public by the senatorial investigating committee.

This total included $1,804,979.25 expended on behalf of the Pepper-Fisher-Smith-Woodward ticket, $800,-114.60 for the Vare-Beidleman-James-Woodward ticket, and $188,489.17 for the Pinchot senatorial candidacy.

The revised figures were compiled by the senatorial committee on the basis of information furnished by witnesses and reports officially filed with the state of Pennsylvania by the various campaign committees.

Washington.—The investigation of the Pennsylvania primary campaign expenditures, which was begun by the senate select committee June 9, has been completed and the committee adjourned until July 26, when it will meet in Chicago and begin its inquiry into allegations of the use of "slush funds" in Illinois.

Phases of the activities of the Anti-Saloon league and Association Against the Prohibition Amendment affairs will be explored further as occasion may arise.

In some quarters, it is predicted, the Illinois expenditures will be found to have rivaled those of Pennsylvania.

Thousands of Elks in Chicago for Reunion

Chicago.—Thousands of members of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks are in this city for the sixty-second grand lodge reunion and dedication of the Elks' national memorial.

William J. Sinek, general convention committee chairman, estimated an attendance during the week of more than 300,000—a record for all Elks gatherings.

Coal Shortage Menaces Mills

London.—Lancashire cotton mills will have to close within a few days on account of shortage of coal, it is learned here. Many thousands of men and women will be thrown out of employment.

Presbyterians Boycott Sesqui

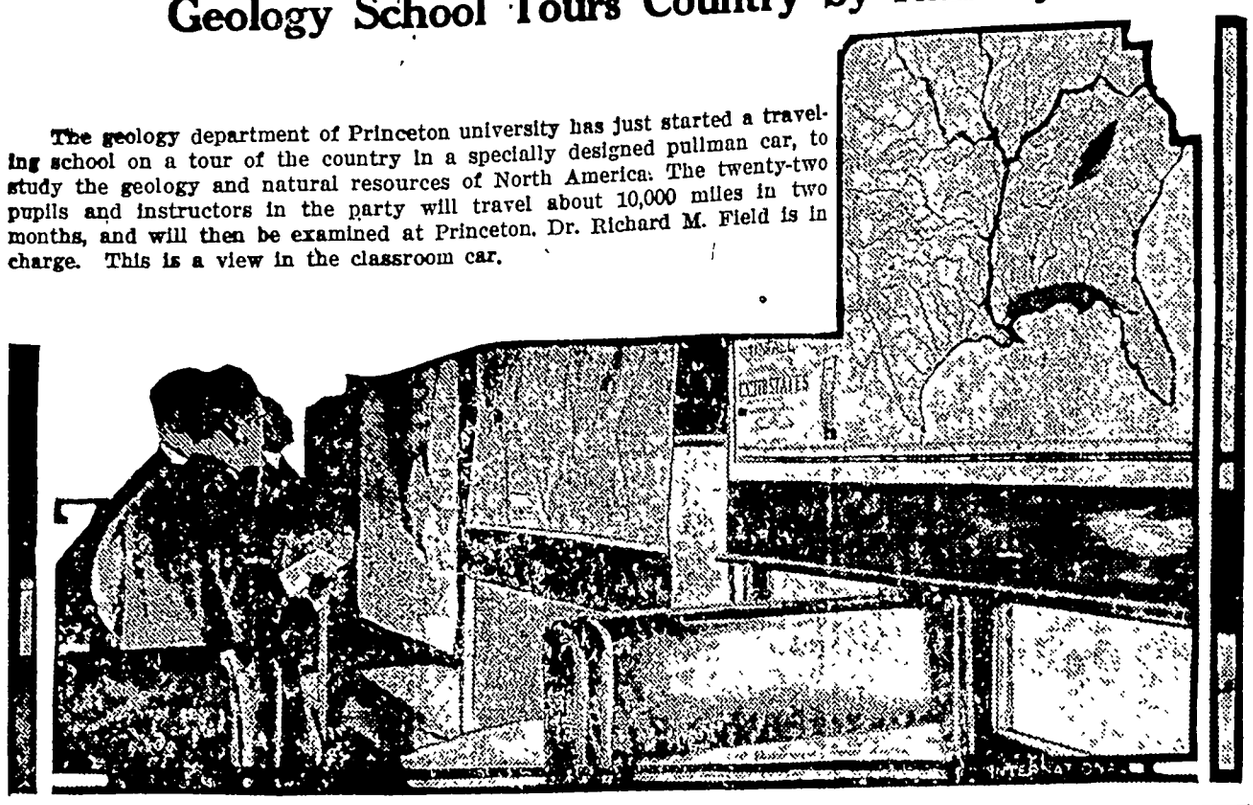
Philadedphia.—Mayor Kendrick received notification from heads of the Presbyterian church that Presbyterians have withdrawn their support from the fair because of the open-Sunday policy.

Oil Fire Loss Totals $250,000

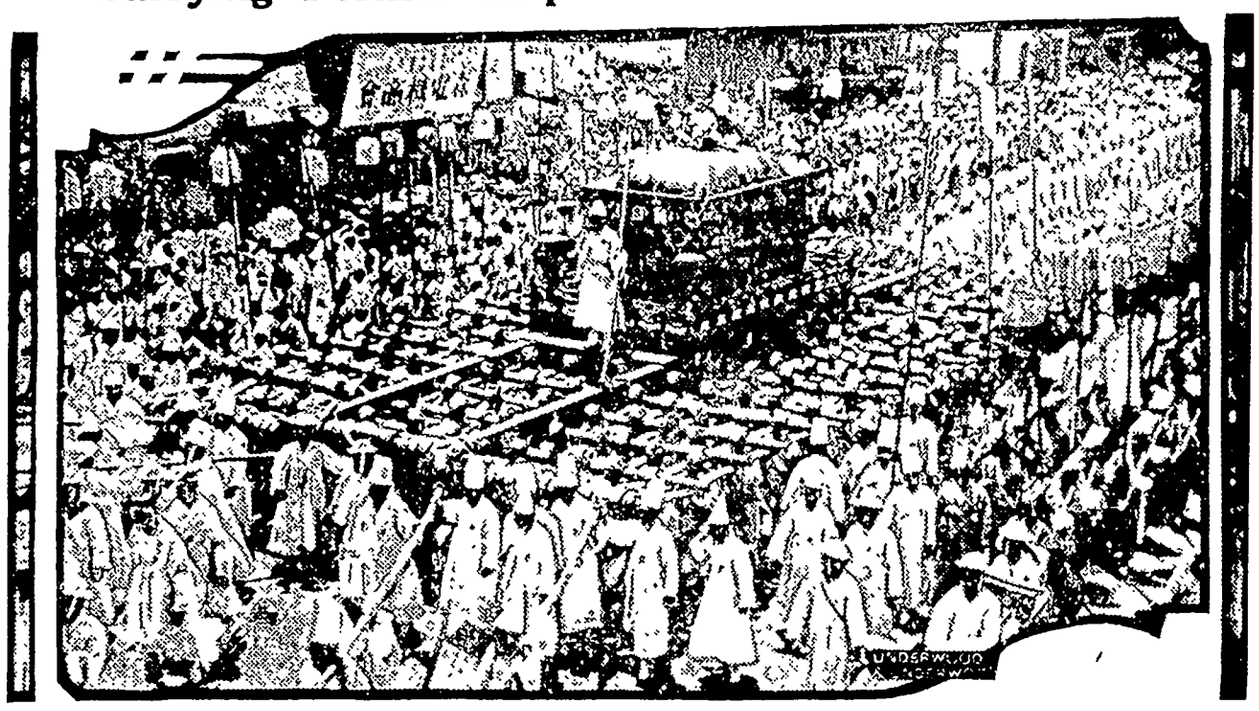
Casper, Wyo.—The burning of another 55,000-barrel tank of crude oil at the Midwest Refining company's plant brought the company's fire loss in two days to $250,000.

Geology School Tours Country by Railway

The geology department of Princeton university has just started a traveling school on a tour of the country in a specially designed pullman car, to study the geology and natural resources of North America. The twenty-two pupils and instructors in the party will travel about 10,000 miles in two months, and will then be examined at Princeton. Dr. Richard M. Field is in charge. This is a view in the classroom car.

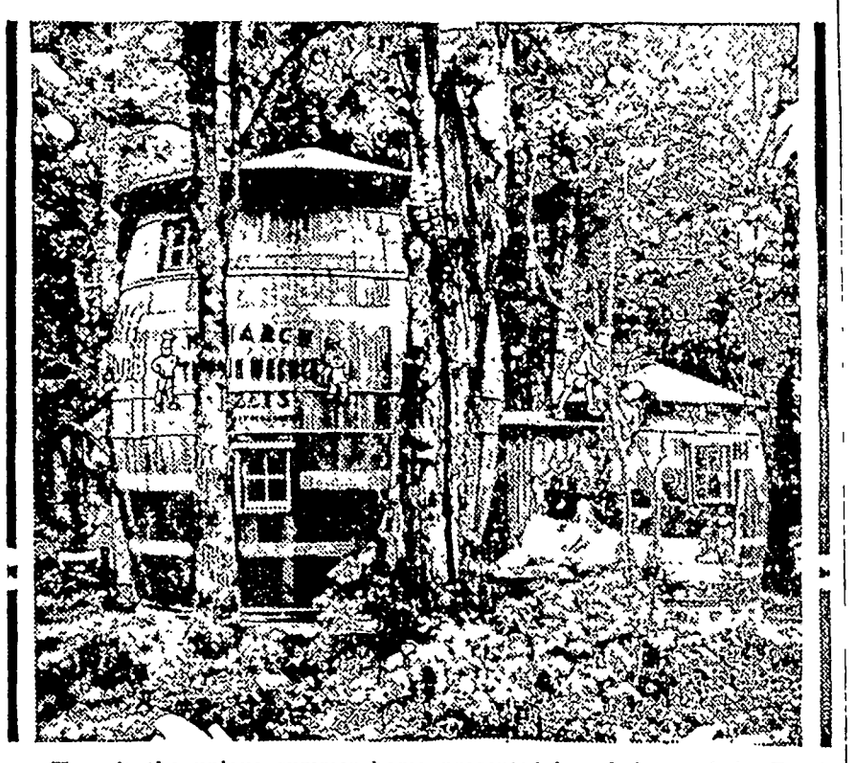


Carrying Former Emperor of Corea to His Tomb



This view of the funeral procession of Prince Yi, former emperor of Corea, shows the catafalque being carried to the mausoleum between lines of mourners dressed in white, the mourning color of the Orient.

The Barrel in Teenie Weenie Land



Here is the unique summer home presented by admirers of the Teenie Weenies to Mary Dickerson Donahey, wife of William Donahey, creator of the Teenie Weenies. So far as known, this is the largest pickel barrel ever constructed. It is 16 feet high, with a capacity of 21,000 gallons. There is a living room downstairs, with sleeping room upstairs. The barrel in the rear is made into a kitchen. The small room is 9 feet in diameter, while the living room is 12 feet. "The Barrel" is located on Grand Sable lake, near Grand Marais, Mich. School children from Grand Marais, dressed in Teenie Weenie costumes, conducted the presentation ceremonies.

New Supreme Dictator of the Moose

At its convention in Chicago the Loyal Order of Moose elected Norman G. Heyd of Toronto, Canada, as supreme dictator, and named Philadelphia for the next convention. Mr. Heyd is shown above, at right, with J. Albert Cassedy, his predecessor in the office.

FITTINGLY CHOSEN

Albert J. Kobe, a full-blooded Chippewa Indian, is leader of the United States delegation to the International Y. M. C. A. congress in Helsingfors, Finland. He is shown in the costume he will wear on occasion there.

HE'S ONLY 109

Above is pictured Joseph Belaud of Calumet Island, Quebec, who recently celebrated his one hundred ninth birthday. He doesn't look his age, and says he has no intention of letting Father Time pin him to the mat for many years to come.

A Sure Method

"I wish I knew how to make money in the stock market."

"That's easy. Just watch my operations and do exactly the opposite."

18 BODIES REMOVED FROM HULK OF S-51

Remains of Twelve Identified at Naval Hospital; 24 Are Still Missing.

New York.—The sealed death chambers of the sunken S-51 were burned open with acetylene torches.

Tight-lipped naval officers with oxygen masks went in and came out pale after viewing what had happened on the night of September 25, 1925.

They found eighteen bodies. There may be more. Twelve have been identified.

The hopeless fight of the men as the air gave out and the water rushed in through a fifteen-foot gash in the port bow was revealed after nine months when the first rescue party penetrated her hull at the Brooklyn Navy yard.

Four bodies were found in the battery room. These men were apparently asleep in their bunks when the prow of the City of Rome cut through the side of the S-51.

Six more were found in the forward torpedo compartment.

Seven others were in the motor control room.

The body of Lieut. Frederick D. Foster, in charge of the watch, was found wedged above the port Diesel engine, one hand reaching for the control valve.

The body of Ensign Edward Webster Egbert was found in the forward part of the motor room hanging by the knees.

Identification at the Brooklyn Navy hospital was speedy.

Teeth, tattoo marks and bits of clothing facilitated the work. Those identified thus far are:

Lieut. Frederick D. Foster of Nutley, N. J.; Ensign Edward Webster Egbert of Annapolis; First Class Seaman John Joseph McCarthy, New York city; First Class Fireman Charles Carrell Thomas of El Paso, Texas, First Class Torpedo Man Robert Holland Wills of Norfolk, Va.; Coxswain Harry Dick Elser of Columbus, Ohio. Third Class Fireman Frank Lester Mims of Augusta, Ga.; Wardroom Cook George Henry Martin of Philadelphia; Chief Torpedoman Valentine Niltbold of Newport, R. I.; First Class Engineman Allen Clifford Earle of Gloucester, Mass.; Machinist's Mate James Franklin Pierce; First Class Torpedoman Stephen Hartley Triffitt.

Nine of the bodies were found floating near the scene of the wreck.

Twenty-four were still to be accounted for. The search is being continued through the nooks and crannies in the twisted hull.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

A recess appointment has been given William J. Tilson of Atlanta by President Coolidge to be United States District judge for the new middle district of Georgia.

State hightway systems embraced 145,508 miles of improved roads at the close of 1925, reports to the bureau of public roads show. Wisconsin led in surfaced mileage completed during 1925 with 1,315 miles.

The spring pig crop was reported 1.2 per cent smaller this year than last year by the Department of Agriculture's semi-annual pig survey. The number of pigs saved was estimated at 54,000,000.

The Japanese beetle quarantine has been amended by the federal horticultural board to permit interstate shipment, without inspection or certification, of hay or straw when used for packing articles other than fruit and vegetables.

Brazilian Bank With $4,000,000 Assets Fails

Rio de Janeiro.—Excitement prevailed in Pernambuco on the suspension of payments by the Bank of Recife. The bank filed a petition in bankruptcy which was granted. The book value of the assets of the bank is said to exceed $4,000,000. Liabilities are close to $4,000,000. The general monetary crisis in Brazil is considered here to have been one cause of the bank's failure. Another contributing factor is believed to have been a crisis among sugar growers over the amount of sugar grown in the state of Pernambuco.

New Alimony Bureau Is Opened in Chicago

Chicago. — Cook county's alimony bureau, a unique institution sponsored by Superior Judge Joseph Sabath, has been organized following action by the county board providing an appropriation for the expenses of collecting and distributing the $5,000,000 in alimony paid annually by divorced husbands to their former wives.

Peru-Chili War Now Feared

New York.—Some of the members of the American Tacna-Arica plebiscite commission who recently returned from South America gave the opinion that a war between Peru and Chile over the disputed provinces is now inevitable.

Killed in Plane Crash

Junction City, Kans.—Lieut. Harvey Thomas Ray of Des Moines was killed near here when his plane crashed near Marshall flying field.

YOUTH RIDES WEST

By WILL IRWIN

WNU Service

Copyright by Will Irwin

THE STORY SO FAR

On their way to the new Cottonwood gold diggings in Colorado in the early Seventies, Robert Gilson, easterner, and his partner, Buck Hayden, a veteran miner, witness the hold-up of a stage coach, from which the express box is stolen before the bandits are scared off. Among the hold-up victims are Mrs. Constance Deane, and Mrs. Barnaby, who intends to open a restaurant in Cottonwood. Gilson meets Marcus Handy, editor, on his way to start the Cottonwood Courier. Arriving in town, Gilson and Hayden together purchase a mining claim. A threatened lynching is averted by the bravery of Chris McGrath, town marshal.

CHAPTER IV—Continued

—5—

We listened to him until long after midnight. Even then, I lay awake for hours, weaving golden and melodramatic dreams. And when I woke next morning, the daily routine of calm college life in the seventies seemed flat and uninspiring.

That mood passed, of course. I am not sure whether I ever talked to Tilden again; certainly, it was not of the West. I must have seen him on the day when we took our diplomas and our conventional, illusory advice from the president, but I do not remember. I was graduated with a cum laude; as befitted a gentleman, I had proved a good scholar but not too good.

So I found myself back in my mother's colonial homestead by Cohasset common, with my future as undetermined as on the day when I matriculated at Harvard. It had always been understood that, in spite of the family money, I should "do something." Our stock was still near enough to the stony soil of New England to despise a sponger. My father, dying when I was a child from the lingering consequences of his wound at Cold Harbor, had incorporated before his death the wholesale wool house in Boston which was the foundation of our prosperities, and had turned his other properties into railroad bonds. In my mother, true to type, judicious generosity was mixed with native thrift and economy; through her conservative but intelligent management the margin of the fortune had increased, even during the hard times of '73. By the terms of my father's will my mother, as executrix, must dole out to me such sums as were necessary to my support and maintenance. On my thirtieth birthday the fortune would be divided; there were only three heirs: my mother, my sister Emily now finishing at a select seminary for young ladies in Boston, and I. And in the course of time and nature, half of my mother's share would come to me. My future, while undetermined, was secure—far, far too secure.

I passed the summer in Cohasset, trying to inhibit thought of the future; a pleasant period on the surface, but below that vaguely unsatisfactory. I sought excitement in a flirtation, which came near to being an entanglement, with Nellie Ferris—petite, plump, as was then the fashion in women, delicately featured, dowered with an active little mind and an acute little wit. I suppose that if I had remained in Cohasset, proximity would have done its full work. As it was, the affair never went further than kissing good-by when I started West.

I was reading one night by the student lamp in the library and mother was writing letters at the escritoire in the corner, when I looked up to find her eyes fixed on me with an expression hard yet quizzical. I retain yet a picture of her as she looked that night. She was forty-five. In that era, a woman of her years had long anticipated the inevitable, given up bright colors and such youthful fripperies as croquet and sea bathing, and was preparing for her era of caps and knitting. I thought of her, from the viewpoint of twenty-two, as incredibly aged. Yet, as she sat there facing me, her chestnut-brown hair, dressed in the innumerable waves and small curls of current fashion, showed no thread of white. The old lace of her Sunday finery foamed about her throat and bosom. From somewhere amidst a foam of lace, one of her plump but shapely forearms supported a tapered hand which was tapping a penholder against her lips. Her other hand lay stretched out on the desk toward me in an attitude which merely hinted at affection. Mother's affections ran so deeply that she expressed them with difficulty. We New Englanders are still very near in spirit to Old England; and we show it in nothing so much as in our shy repression of our deepest emotions.

"Rob," said my mother, "what do you propose to do next?"

"Enter law school in the fall," I replied. Not until I expressed it in that bald manner did I realize how little the law really interested me.

"And then?" pursued my mother, continuing to tap her penholder against her tightened lips.

"Oh, practice, I suppose. Somewhere."

"Somewhere," repeated my mother dryly. "And somehow. Rob, does that vague prospect allure you?"

"No," said I, jerked suddenly into frankness with her and with myself. "No, it doesn't."

Mother nodded. "I thought so!"

And suddenly my lazy young mind stirred and began to function with realities. I knew why life in Cohasset had seemed so flat, and why my mind—not through fear but through boredom—had been refusing to picture the future. Tilden, during that all-night talk in Harrison's room, had planted in me a seed more vital than either of us knew. It had been germinating all this time. Now, suddenly, it sprouted to the surface. And—

"Mother, I think I want to go West," I said.

She kept her eyes on mine, but there was a break in her voice as she replied:

"Not for good?

"Oh, no!" said I. "Just for a year or so." Then I walked to the window, lest she see what might be in my face; stood looking out at the lights of Cohasset harbor.

Mother spoke very gently from behind me:

"I had thought of every possibility but that. I was about to suggest that you go to sea for a while—my tribe, away back, were seafaring people. It's far from genteel, the West."

Her inference that the forecastle of a deep-sea vessel stood notable for an atmosphere of gentility amused me, so that I dared turn back from the window and show my face.

"But there's steel in you," said mother—now she was looking down into the pigeonholes of her old mahogany desk—"though it's never been tempered yet—and some generations of gentlemen. No, Rob, you'll come through that. Of course, there's danger. Dreadful things happen out there." Mother had never in her life traveled west of Albany, and had formed her picture from the newspapers.

"I'll risk that!" said I, my youthful pride in my own courage slightly piqued.

"That's true," replied mother. "I said you had steel in you. Perhaps for me it isn't so easy."

Then mother did what she had not done since I was a little boy. She had always kissed me perfunctorily at meeting and parting. But now she held out her arms to me. I came to her; and she patted and petted me silently. I looked up presently, to see that she was crying without sobs or sniffles—just the big tears coursing down her cheeks. I wiped her eyes and—

"I won't go if you feel that way about it," I said. Whereupon she became at once her old, peppery self. She snatched the handkerchief away from me, finished the drying process, and jerked out:

"Don't be a fool, Robert."

So we sat down and planned it all out practically. I remembered something Tilden had said during that conversation in Holworthy hall—"You don't get that sort of thing in California any more. We're growing civilized. Nowadays, the real wild life lies in the Rockies. People are just beginning to break into them." Offhand and without further thought, I chose the Rockies. Then came the matter of funds. And there my mother became steel and adamant. If my wander years were going to do me any good, she said, I must pay my own way. She would get me out there. She would get me back, if necessary. And, in any event, I must not stay more than two years. This at first both hurt and piqued me; I had pictured myself leaping from adventure to adventure, without thought of the morrow and always with plenty in my pockets. The cold, hard reality of making a living had not entered into my dreams of the West. But by the time I had slept on the matter, I perceived dimly that the true adventure must be sweetened with practical effort; otherwise it is all plums and no suet. And I accepted mother's conditions.

Of course, I missed the deeper realities of her decision, as youth always does. I had to let maturity and experience ripen my own understanding before I could appreciate the fullness of her sacrifice to the development of my character. It took a woman of her breed and time to do it. Others would merely have thought of it, or would have pulled back at the last moment. Mother played the game through.

Only when I reached Denver did she seem to repent a little of her bargain with herself and me. From her first letter dropped a money order for three hundred dollars.

"I am sending this so," she wrote, "because I am not sure there are banks out there. You are not to spend it out there. I know, of course, that you will follow my wishes. It is just a reserve in case you are in trouble or for any other unexpected contingency."

But I did not at first follow the trail of adventure clear through. Denver was the railroad terminus; last thrust of the civilization I knew. Then, as now, it stood gateway to the Rockies. Established in a cheap hotel down by the Union station, with fifty dollars in my pocket and the world before me, I spent two days acclimating my lungs to the rarefied atmosphere and my spirit to these entertaining new surroundings before I counted my money and thought of my material situation.

The Rocky Mountain News displayed columns of advertisements under the heading "Help Wanted." I ran them over—"teamsters"—"railroad construction gangs"—"shovel gangs"—"miners." My eye grasped at this item. I took the matter to the clerk at our hotel, my bureau of information on all things western. I found that "miner" meant not a romantic prospector, following the trail of fortune, but virtually a common laborer in the dark bowels of the earth.

My face must have shown my spurt of dismay, for the clerk suddenly asked:

"You're educated, ain't you?"

"Yes," said I; and inhibited myself from saying how much I was educated. College breeding, I had found already, did not recommend a young man in the far West.

"If you hustle out there quick," said the clerk, "you can get a checking job in the grading gang out by Longmount. Friend of mine had it. Happen to know he's quitting today."

"Checking?" I asked.

"Keepin' time on the gang. Hiring and firing—mostly firing, nowadays," said the clerk.

I drove out to Longmount in a rented livery buckboard; making no more of a small matter, I got the job, buckled down to it with all the interest in the world. With the boss, a taciturn and cynical old westerner whom I never came really to know, I "batched" in a board shack. Uncommunicative as he was, he did teach me something about that essential western art, shooting. He himself handled a 45-caliber Colt's with such magic efficiency as to make me suspect that his silence concealed a past. The autumn rains came; there were light snows in the heights above, and they spread over the peaks a bridal veil which with each succeeding storm grew heavier. When it had become a blanket of snow, we finished our job and paid off. I was out of work, and I had but forty dollars ahead. Then luck served me another good turn. Settling up our business with Reichmann, the German grocer from whom we drew our commissary, I found that he needed a clerk. So next morning I was weighing sugar and learning to wrap bundles; and had found on Curtis street a modest boarding place.

Next Morning I Was Weighing Sugar and Learning to Wrap Bundles.

There I remained all winter. Denver, in those days, interested me; but, after all, it was not the West I had come to see and to live. The West I wanted lay beyond that white mountain barrier.

When spring came, I would go—somewhere. It descended upon us suddenly, bringing the cottonwoods to bud overhead, mushing to an impenetrable morass the unpaved roadways underfoot. And, sharp on that, the Rocky Mountain News splashed across its first page the story of a strike at Cottonwood, which I knew as a mining camp, but recently opened, somewhere up in the ranges. I closed out with Reichmann, who nearly wept to see me abandon a good job for the illusory business of mining, and went with my winter savings to Plested's, jumping-off place for the dash across the peaks. I intended to proceed by stage. Next neighbor on the floor of a big tent which served as a lodging house, I met Buck, breakfasted with him, reviewed the prospect of reaching Cottonwood in time to stake a decent claim, became intrigued with his honesty, his charily revealed experience, his technical knowledge of his business. Buck was just out of a partner, one Shorty, who had come down with him from Idaho, having fallen before the wiles of woman and taken himself a wife in Denver. Hesitatingly I made bold to propose that we join forces, adding that I had a little money. For this contingency, I felt, justified me in dipping into my mother's emergency fund. Buck accepted with a promptness which in him amounted to eagerness. So, a day later, we were toiling behind our jack-trains toward Cottonwood.

This digging along Bear creek was, therefore, my first encounter with actual, hard, physical work. And when the fascination of golden sand began to pall, I realized that man does not by choice toil with the sweat of his face, but by hard necessity. He must discipline himself to work with his hands; life had not given me that form of discipline. At first unconsciously, then consciously, I began to loaf. When Buck's back was turned I stood long minutes at a time, contemplating the mountains or trying to peer round the opaque corner of the hill at Cottonwood camp. I invented chores. An hour ahead of the event, I was waiting for Buck's cheerful "Well, better lay off and clean up, kid."

And about the fourth day we found the clear white bottom of the streambed streaked with another kind of sand, troublesome to shovel and almost impossible to rock and wash. In color a dirty yellowish white, in substance it resembled very hard sugar. Its heavy particles, enamel-surfaced and shiny like those of ordinary bottom sand, were yet extremely brittle. They ground under pressure into a cutting powder as hard as emery. A dozen times that day we were forced to stop work and scrape this disturbing substance from the riffles of our washer. And when we cleaned up an experimental pan, we found not a streak of gold. Disgusted, Buck pulled up stakes and moved operations to the other bank. His reward, which quite restored his drooping spirits, was a good day's yield. All day he had been cursing the strange substance. That night, however, he forgave it sufficiently to scoop up a double handful and inspect it by the light of our candles.

"D—n college-bred mining expert might think he saw something in this here stuff," he remarked.

"What, for example?" I asked.

"Oh, most anything that come into his mind, I guess. What a mining expert looks for ain't value. All he needs is a sucker."

Saturday afternoon brought the longest hours of my life. To my indescribable relief, Buck gave, even before the sun had dipped below the western range, the signal for quitting time. We cleaned up the rocker, cooked a hasty supper. I bathed, shivering, in the creek, shaved, put on my single clean shirt and that suit of store clothes which I had unpacked and hung up in the vain hope that some of its creases would disappear. Buck washed his face and neck, brushed his bristly, unruly brown hair, wiped the mud from his boots with a gunny sack, and let it go at that. So walking with eager haste through the deepening twilight, we plunged into the joyous, confused babble of Saturday night in camp.

Cottonwood Camp, in the five days since we left for our claim, had grown like an exhalation. The two-story building which housed the Black Jack was still the most imposing structure on Main street. However, the vacant lots which, when I saw this thoroughfare last, had interspersed cabin, tent and board shack, were now filled up with other cabins, tents and shacks. Clear at the end of the street rose a tent. Its sign read:

"SIEGEL'S BEER HALL
SCHOONERS 25 CENTS."

"Beer!" exclaimed Buck. "Say, a beer would go good!" We pushed through the canvas door. Siegel, in his haste to get custom, had not taken the trouble to floor his tent. Along the farther end ran two long tables, each bearing kegs. Bartenders in blue shirts, working like mad while the harvest lasted, were drawing full steins, setting them forth along the tables, making change, chucking the receipts into a box. And the crowd before the tables milled like cattle for a chance at the beverage which is the special solace of overworked tissues.

We got to the tables at last; our foaming beers stood before us and Buck was in the act of paying, when a hand shot from behind under his arm, seized his schooner. I wheeled. A man as short and squatty as some marine monster stood drinking Buck's beer. Over the rim of the schooner shone a pair of black eyes that glistened humorously; and his marine resemblance was pointed by a mustache, now flecked with foam, which dropped above an aggressive chin like that of a sea lion. Buck's eyes snapped with resentment; then his expression changed and he broke into a string of expletives which I cannot here transcribe. "—Shorty, you hamstrung old hoss, you!" it ended.

"Same to you and many of 'em!" replied Shorty, removing from his lips the empty glass and wiping the foam from his mustache with the back of his hand.

"Staked yet?" he inquired.

"H—l, yes!" replied Buck. "After you went back on me, I throwed in with this kid tenderfoot here—kid, shake hands with Shorty."

"Put her thar, kid!" said Shorty, but though his language was hearty, his manner was perfunctory; his keen black eyes scarcely left Buck's face.

"Big thing?" he asked.

"Looks like pay dirt."

"Shoot! A placer proposition!"

"Only proposition that is! Did you bring your woman along?"

"Ain't any woman's far's I'm concerned," replied Shorty, his countenance for the first time almost serious, "or won't be soon's I've raised the wind for a divorce. She was a—" Here Shorty dropped an Anglo-Saxon noun describing without shadow or equivocation the oldest profession.

"Thought so," said Buck. "What ye got against placer?" he inquired.

"Bigger fish," replied Shorty. "How long you been vegetatin' on your placer claim? Don't you read the news?" From the capacious pocket of his woolly overcoat, Shorty produced a folded newspaper, opened its grimy creases. "The Cottonwood Courier," it was headed. And I realized how much we had missed; and also the enterprise of Marcus Handy. Hazily, I had catalogued the first appearance of the first newspaper in camp as an event of the distant future. Bu there it was already—Volume 1, Number 2—its front page a worn and ill-aligned patchwork of scareheads. Or what were scareheads for those days. The main item, indeed, ran clear across two columns, and began:

"Latest Find Rich Beyond Calculation

Cottonwood Camp, Crown City of the Rockies, Does It Again

Unlimited Wealth Pours Into Laps of Lucky Locators on Liverpool Hill

It's Gold Quartz This Time, but They're Striking Everything. 'Greatest Camp That Ever Was,' Say Experienced Mining Men!"

"Gold quartz!" commented Shorty. "Maybe the mother lode that your little tailings come from."

"Well, 'tain't a poor man's proposition," remarked Buck. "Them lucky locators is working for Wall street. Staked anything for yourself?"

"Nope, just got here."

"Anything in sight?"

"There's a hundred-dollar bill buried somewhere on me," answered Shorty. "Find it on me, and it's yours. It's all she left me."

"I guess, pardner," said Buck, "you wish to h—l you'd stayed with me."

"I wish to h—l I had!"

How to edit a mining-camp newspaper is one of the rare treats in store for readers in the next installment.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Official Dog-Whipper in English Churches

The Reading dog which is in the habit of accompanying his mistress to church is evidently influenced by ancestral memories, for in the Eighteenth and even early Nineteenth centuries dogs were such frequent churchgoers that a special official, the dog-whipper, was appointed at many places of worship to eject them.

Painful experience had taught those whippers-out that haphazard grabs at elusive animals were futile, so they armed themselves with formidable dog-tongs for holding them at arm's length.

There is a set of these tongs preserved at Bangor cathedral, where, as befits such a curiosity, they are kept in a glass case. They are strongly made of oak, and when fully extended—they are collapsible, like a movable telephone arm—are about three feet in length. At the "business end" there are formidable teeth, cruel teeth to modern ideas, for getting a good grip on struggling dogs. A Carnarvonshire set is dated as late as 1813.

With Reservations

A parson's little daughter came home from school in great concern.

"Isn't devil a horrible word to be in the Bible, daddy?" she said. "It was in my portion this afternoon, but I coughed when I came to it and wouldn't read it."

This reminds one of the curate who rendered a well-known passage: "He that believeth not shall be damned, as it were."

Girl's Essay on Men

From a schoolgirl's composition: "There are three kinds of men—husbands, bachelors and widowers. An eligible bachelor is a mass of obstinacy surrounded by suspicions. Husbands are of three varieties—prizes, surprises and consolation prizes. A widower is a man someone has rescued as he goes down for the third time. Making a husband of a bachelor is one of the highest plastic arts known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, common sense and faith, hope and charity, especially charity."—Exchange.

Eve's Good Taste

There is a sort of gratitude at the bottom of every man's heart toward the woman, any woman, who tells him that she loves him. You may call it vanity, but why call names? No, it is not vanity. I am grateful to the woman who gazed tenderly into my eyes, even if I could not or would not reciprocate. She has given me something that she did not owe me. Given me something I did not expect to get. Good soul, honest soul! What excellent taste she has!—From "Prisoners," by Franz Molnar.

ORGANIZATIONS AND MOTHERS BOTH AGREE

Health of School Girls Important

The Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls are two national organizations, working side by side in the cause of healthy, happy, intelligent womanhood; training the minds of eager girls for greater service, training their bodies for the destiny that shall be theirs.

All honor to them! Wise mothers like Mrs. Alice Louthan urge their daughters in their early teens to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Louthan says—"I gave my fifteen-year old girl Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it did her a wonderful lot of good. She was out of school for four months. I read the advertisements of the Vegetable Compound, and since she has taken it she has improved and has gone back to school. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other mothers with girls who are not as strong as they should be."—Mrs. Alice Louthan, Route 2, Charleston, Illinois.

Some girls in the fourth generation are now relying on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks., Patchogue, N.Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

Banish Pimples By Using Cuticura Soap to Cleanse Ointment to Heal
Try our new Shaving Stick.

California Rich in Semi-Precious Gems

Purple amethysts come from Mono, and San Diego offers a royal rose quartz. Fleches d'Amour (Love's Arrows) with their tiny red shafts inclosed in pellucid crystals are found in California; and the strange rich-brown wood-tint crystals from Elsinore are unique. From south of us comes the deep-green epidote of gem quality fully as valuable as that from the Ural mountains. Tulare produces exquisite chrysoprase (prase-opal) of the finest kind, and it may again come into the great popularity it once enjoyed, especially among the most ancient races of Asia, who deeply admired its tender light green and soft translucence. Some Tulare stones are really a semi-opal, with a pleasing greenish mysterious allure all their own.—Los Angeles Times.

Statesmen All Over

"I notice in some of these august deliberations one statesman, after an exchange of billingsgate, will invite another statesman to step outside."

"Ever hear of one stepping outside?"

"No."

"Nor I. What do you think of our pennant prospects this year?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Read the Movie Magazines

He—Do you know all the stars by name?

She—No, only by reputation.

Sure Relief

6 BELL-ANS, Hot water Sure Relief
BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION
25¢ and 75¢ Pkg's. Sold Everywhere

20 PIECES
AMERICA'S GREATEST SILVERWARE BARGAIN!
Send no money
$3.98
6 forks, 6 knives, 6 teaspoons, 6 tablespoons, butter knife, sugar spoon, heavily plated, PURE SILVER on nickel silver base. Beautiful Cameo pattern; gives years of satisfaction. Usually retails for $7.50. Order your set now! SEND NO MONEY—pay postman $3.98 and a few cents postage when delivered. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back. Write Dept B-8.
GOOD SERVICE CO., 2 Jersey St., Buffalo, N.Y.

Harmless, purely vegetable, Infants' and Children's Regulator, formula on every label. Guaranteed non-narcotic, non-alcoholic.
MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP
The Infants' and Children's Regulator
Children grow healthy and free from colic, diarrhoea, flatulency, constipation and other trouble if given it at teething time. Safe, pleasant—always brings remarkable and gratifying results.
At All Druggists

SPRAY THE COWS AND GET THE MILK

Clarified Crankcase Oil Reccommended as Good Fly Spray

Save the flivver drainings from the crankcase and put them on your cows to protect them from the flies and you can pocket a profit from what has heretofore been waste, says the Research Deportment of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers Cow Testers in charge of hundreds of thousands of cows on test testify to the drop in milk flow from flies that pester the cows in milk, the milk flow showing an immediate and heavy drop when the flies appear on the cows to cause them to waste energy fighting them. Prof. C. R. Cleveland of Purdue University, who has spent two years studying flies attacking dairy caws, recommends spraying with the clarified crankcase oil drained from the automobile The compressed air type of sprayer is reccommended by him. Spraying by this method costs but a cent a day per cow. However, the litter carrier and the manure spreader are the best fly fighters if used all year around to clean out stables and haul away the manure daily. Thus there is no place left for the flies to breed.

ALFALFA PAYS $200 PER ACRE

W. J. Casey, of Knoxville, Marion county, says that Huffman Bros., who operate a large farm just south southeast of Knoxville have completed cutting and baling sixty acres of alfalfa. More than 180 tons were secured from the first cutting. The Huffmans estimate that they will secure abou 600 tons from three cut ting and bailing sixty acres of alfalfa. The market price for alfalfa is about $20 a ton, which will make an earning from the sixty acres approximately $12,000 or $200 per acre

REGULARITY IN FEEDING MORE IMPORTANT THAN IN MILKING

Of all dairy operations, milking on most farms takes the greatest amount of time, and to many persons is the most irksome task. It has commonly been assumed that cows should not only be milked regularly but also by the same man each time. Doubtless this has had much to do with the distaste many persons have for dairy work.

Experiments by the United States Department of Agriculture at the experimental farm of the Boreao of Dairying at Beltsville, Md., show that with cows that are average to good, milking may take place at irregular hours without any marked effect upon production. Whether very high producers would show sim ilar results has not been determined.

It was found, however, than when irregular milking was accompanied by irregular feeding the production was lessened about 5 per cent. Apaently cows are more sensitive to changes than to variations in the hours of milking routine than to var iations in the hours of milking. The conclusion is not to be drawn from these experiments that regularity in doing the dairv work is a a matter of little importance, but rather tha cows can occassionally be milked earlier or later than usual if there is something to which the dairyman desires to give his time.

Though it is generally believed that a cow will produce more milk when milked always by the same person, the practice in many large dairies where there are sevral milkers is to milk the cows as the come rather than to reserve certain cows for each man. At the bureau's experimental farm, 12 cows wee divided into three groups of four cows each, and each group was milked regularily by the same man for 40 day After 40 days the cows were changed to regular milking again for 40 days The result shows an increase of only about 0 05 per cent in the milk and butter fat through s eady milking by the same man. This is so little as to be almost negligible

OILCLOTH RISES TO NEW ROLE

Gay Colors Recommend it for Use as Window Drapes

Oilcloth, long valued for kitchen uses as a clean, attractive and easily cared for material, has risen to a new role—that of window draperies. It owes this new position of dignity to the snappy, gay colors in which it is now available.

Decorators have used it very satisfactorily for living rooms and dining rooms and it is ideal for a summer cottage. Ordinarily, however, oilcloth is associated with informal rooms, such as kitchens, breakfast nooks and bathrooms.

"In considering the wearing qualities of oilcloth, we must first recognize that it has a tendency to crack," says Miss Elizabeth Johnson of the Applied Art Department of Iowa State College. "This tendency can be largely overcome by using the following precautions: Handle as little as possible while making the curtains, and hang them so they do not need to be handled or pulled back and forth A tie-back will help to remedy this last condition.

"Oilcloth drapes should be made as simply as possible. The edge might be blanket stitched or cross-stitched in heavy yarn A good finish for the top is a simple wood cornice board about five inches wide used in place of a valance. Pleat the oilcloth in wide pleats and tack to the under side. The board shoud be covered with oilcloth or gayly painted.

"The only care these drapes need is an occasional dusting with a damp cloth."

IZAAK WALTONS SAY THAT LAKES ARE "CARP FRMS"

"The state game and fish department has permitted the Iowa great lakes to be turned into a carp farm for the benefit of commrcial fishermen," Frank Marnette of Spirit Lake, eleventh congressional district director of the Izaak Walton league at Spencer to the members of the Izaak Walton organization at that place.

"For the past two weeks the carp have been gathering at East Okiboji to spawn and the seiners could have done more in three days to rid the lakes of carp than they will do in ten years by their present method. But the carp have no market value at this time, so the seiners did not take them. If the state fish and game deparment is sincere in its profess desire to rid the lakes of carp and buffalo and give the game fish a chance, why doesn't it take them out at the most effective time, this being when they herd together to spawn," said Mr. Marnette.

"This would also remove the carp with the least possible disturbance to the game fish, which are killed in large numbers by the commercial seining methods. The state owns the lake and the fish in them and should have all the money from the sale of the rough fish from the fishermen. If this policy is continued, game fish will disappear from the Iowa great lakes in the near future.'

Mr. Marnette defied the state game department to refute his asserions. His speech was interrupted several times b" vigorous applause. He said the state organization of the Izaak Walton league is framing the bill to be brought before the Iowa legislature next winter, which would provide for a state fish and game commission of five men to be appointed by the governor. The members of the commission would serve without pay and would have the power to "hire and fire" the state game warden Mr. Marnette said candidates for the legislature would be asked to declare publicly their attitude toward the bill.

150 AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE ANNIVERSARY TO BE CELEBRATED AT STATE FAIR

Iowa is laying plans to celebrate the 150th anniversary of American independence this summer with a mommoth patriotic spectacle as one of the crowing features of the coming Iowa State Fair, August 25 to September3.

Plans for the event are now almost completed, fair officials announced today. It will be staged each evening of the exposition on a 500 foot outdoor stage, with a cast of approximately 500 costumed characters, elaborate musical accompaniments and lighting effects. More than 40 tons of fireworks will be consumed in the giant battle scene which will feature the spectacle.

Historic events of revolutionary days will be re-created and re-enacted during the two hour performance. These will include Paul Revee's ride, the Minute Men, the Boston Tea Party, the battle of the Bonhomme Richard, the surrender of Cornwallis and Washingon crossing the Delaware.

The spectacle will be the largest thing of its kind that has ever been attempted in the midwest, both from magnitude of its scenic effects and action, and from the standpoint of the huge quantities of fireworks of all kinds to be consumed.

Historians, costumers, decorators and a corps of other workers have been employed for more than six months, verifying details of the incidents and scenes to make sure that every phase of the mommoth spectacle will be historically accurate.

LEAD ARSENATE FOR CURRANT WORMS AND POTATO BUGS

Currant Worms and Potato Bugs are leaf eaters and if you don't like the kind of trespassing they do, spray with lead arsenate solution at the rate of three tablespoonsful powdered arsenate to one gallon of watter. Currants should not be sprayed with lead arsenate after the fruit is too far developed. When the fruit is farther along dust with hellebore as all danger from poisoning is gone with this insecticide within 24 hours. An advantage in using lead arsenate on potatoes over Paris Green is that it sticks to the plants better and long er and kills the bug just as dead.

A "Correct" Likeness of Washington

This heroic statue of the commander-in-chief of the first armies of the United States was made for the city of Portland, Oregon, though not yet delivered there by the artist. The western municipality has loaned it to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing until December 1, to celebrate 150 years of American independence. At the foot of the sculpture is shown Pompeo Coppini, the sculptor. Dr. Henry Waldo Poe, of Portland, declares the face to be the most correct likeness of Washington ever modeled.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Dick Swalve and family went to Mason City today.

Mrs. Fred Meyer and daughter from near Garner were in Klemme on business Wednesday.

Herb Bailey and family are visitors at Mason City today.

Mrs. Oliver Bingham and three boys of Woden visited Tuesday and Wednesday at the Floyd Dingman home.

Mr. Klingaman and son, George of Garner were in Klemme on business Tuesday.

Mr. Frank Miller and family of Adrian, Oregon visited Tuesday and Wednesday at the Gimer home. Mr. Miller is a counsin of Mrs. Gimer.

In 1916, 16 million pounds of dried skimmilk were used and it is estimated that over 70 million pounds will be used in 1926. This product is used in the baking industry and to a great extent as a poultry feed.

Crowd the spring pigs, says Ames. They are sure to hit a good market from present indications. Corn, tankage and minerals, self-fed, together with pasture, have proven good feeds for securing gains.

Manure piles are the chief source of fly breeding on the farm. Keep the manure spreader going all summer.

NOTICE OF PROBATE OF WILL

STATE OF IOWA,
Hancock County, ss.
TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED, That an instrument of writing purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Loretta Phoebe Mayne deceased, dated June 19th, 1926, having been this day filed, opened and read, Monday the 26th day of July, 1926 is fixed for hearing proof of same at the Court House in Garner, Iowa, before the District Court of said County or the Clerk of said Court; and at 2:00 o'clock P. M. of the day above mentioned, all persons interested are hereby notified and required to appear, and show cause, if any they have, why said instrument should not be probated and allowed as and for the last Will and Testament of said deceased.

Dated at Garner, Iowa, June 25th, 1926.

CHRIS J. JOHANSEN,
Clerk of District Court.
(Publish July 1-8-15, '26)

PULLING POWER

We have shouted from the house tops a great many times that "advertising poys" Here is another example of the pulling power of an ad: An Oklahoma girl advertised for a husband and landed one within a very short time. The advertisement cost $3.00. She paid the wedding expenses—$9. In less than a year the husband died, says the Atchison Globe and left his widow an $11,000 insurance policy.

PIANOS

Players & Gran
New and
Second Hand

M. N. ZEIGE

Jewelry & Optical Goods
GARNER, IOWA

OVERALLS OR SUNDAY SUIT

ALL things have their place. You would not wear your Sunday suit in the barn yard. Neither would you wear overalls in the parlor.

IT is the same with your stationery. There is a place for quality printing in your business, and that place is wherever you use printing. It is a reflection of you and your business-and it is up to two people, you, and your printer, as to whether you wear overalls or Sunday suit printing.

WHEN you buy a piece of furniture, you buy a good piece--that is, quality. When you buy a stove, you buy a good stove--quality. When you buy a suit of clothing you get a good suit--quality. When you buy printing, why not do the same-- buy GOOD printing--quality?

We know the difference between Overall and Sunday Suit printing ---quality counts.

Times Print Shop

Goodell News

(By Special Correspondent)

The Chelsvig family are enjoying visit from relatives from Illinois.

Martin Kearney and Emmett drove Williams Saturday night.

Mrs. Earle Finn of near Klemme was a Goodell caller Thursday.

Henry Weide of Belmond was a Goodell caller Saturday.

Relatives of Mrs. Fred Bachman from Minnesota have been visiting here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Strasburg and Mae of Meservey called at the Jay Griggs home Sunday.

Mrs. Harvey Christiansen and children spent last week with her folks at Thompson.

Leona Cashman of Chicago is spending a short vacation with her mother.

Arthur Savague returned to Chicago Sunday, after spending a short vacation with his parents

Mrs Quigley and family of Belmond spent Sunday at the Frank Quigley Jr home.

Ecther Bloom of Los Angeles, California, spent a few days visiting Vida Conlan.

Annastacia Nolan of Grettingher is visiting her sister Mrs. Arthur Lowenberg.

Mr and Mrs. Harvey Sweigard of Redoak, Iowa visited at the Houghton home Saturdav and Sunday.

Mrs. Hill of Clarion spent a few days with her daughter Mrs. Ed Hem ingway.

Len Wilson has been doing some carpenter work for E. A. Strasburg at Meservey.

Howard Ruka and Carlyn Theiman started on their trip through Minnesota Thursday. They are putting up lightning rods.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Allie and children were Clarion callers Sunday. Mrs. Allie's sister Ione Franklin returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bier of Manson, Iowa are visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bier.

Rev. Emerson of Des Moines is visiting his sister Mrs. Wesenberg.

Ruth Ness of Des Moines is visiting her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Gend and family of Saskatoon, Canada, were visiting the Griggs families near Goodell, Friday.

The Catholic Daughters of America from Garner were entertained by the Goodell Catholic Daughters of America in the Catholic church base ment Thursday evening.

Miss Johnson gave her music class a picnic in the woods east of town Friday evening. Visitors were Mrs. Thada, Vida Conlan, Esther Bloom, Irene and Gertrude Johnson. Everyone enjoyed themselves greatly.

A large crowd atended the consecration exercises for Dorothy O'Krug in the U. B church Sunday. Dr Zeigler of Dayton Ohio, and Rev. Emerson of Des Moines, who is our district evangalist, gave some very interesting talks.

The dance held in Goodell Saturday night was greatly enjoyed. Another dance will be held this Saturday night and Mrs. Harvey and Miss Johnson of Klemme and Raymond Finn and Harvey Christensen of Goodell will furnish the music.

The reception given in honor of Dorothy O'Krug, our young Missionary who will sail for Porto Rico, July 26th, was attended by a large crowd and the speeches and singing. were greatly enjoyed by everyone. Miss O'Krug was presented with fifty dollars, which was a present from the people of Goodell She gave a very interesting talk on her experience in Louisiana last year She will be in Porto Rico three years. Her host of friends wish her the best of success in her work

(Too Late For Last Week)

Arthur Savague of Chicago is visiting his parents.

Miss Ieona Fuller of Conton, South Dakota is visiting near Klemme.

Miss Myrtle Schoenwetter of Garner was a Goodell caller Saturday.

A large crowd attended the dance at Goodell Saturday night

Mrs. George Griggs is the owner of a new Ford touring car.

Many from here attended the Robbins Bros. circus at Clarion Monday.

Alva Matson returned from a few days visit with friends at Des Moines Friday.

Mrs. Letch who has been visiting Zo Christensen, returned to her home in Minnesota Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Grasz of Meservey visited at the Jay Griggs home Wednesday.

Miss Mildred Johnson of Klemme instructed Orchestra practice at the school house Thursday evening.

Miss Arline Orr of Cedar Falls spent Saturday and Sunday at the Hemmingway home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hemmingway entertained some relatives of Mrs. Hemingway Sunday.

T M. Hamilton is enjoying a visit from his sister Ethel and little daugher of California

Mr. and Mrs. Baker entertained relatives from Des Moines over the weekend

Vance Boren of Grundy Center is visiting at the home of his uncle E. C Boren Fernon, Mae and Lela Griggs called at the Clarence Newberger home near Ventura, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gasnell and Georgine of Ft. Dodge visited at the Lamer home Saturday night. On Sunday they started for Olwein where they visited until Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Avery and Mr. and Mrs Ed. Hughes of Belmond, started Monday on a trip through the Black Hills and Torrington, Wyoming

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Carpenter, Richard, and Mr. Carpenter's sister, Mrs. Archie Christie, started Tuesday morning for a two weeks' trip into North Dakota to visit Mrs. Wm. Chrisie.

Virginia McNut entertained about twenty-five of her little friends at a birthday party Friday, July 1st. She was six years old and in memory of her birthday, she received many nice gifts. The girls all enjoyed themselves . Mrs. McNutt served dainty refreshments at 4:00 o'clock .

Mae Griggs spent the week end at the home of her parents. She came home with four other Cedar Falls students, who were driving to their homes Between Mason City and Clear Lake they experienced a very dangerous accident when they were crashed into by a speeding automobile. They forsaw the accident and stopped and turned the car sideways so as not to be so badly damaged. Luckily they all escaped injury. The car they were driving required some repairing, but the other auto was a complete wreck.

TEN BINDER IFS

1. If, the machine travels with a jerky motion, main drive drain is too loose or it may be dry, try a little oil.

2. If, the slats rip off the canvas, the elevators are not square.

3. If, the knotter hook is rusty and rough, it will not work properly. Polish it with fine emery paper.

4. If, the binder attachment is not timed properly, it certainly will not work. Some binders are timed in as many as five places.

5 If the knotter hook does not turn far enough to close the fingers on the twine, no knot will be tied. Look at the knotter pinion. It should not be worn.

6. If, the twine slips thru the cord holder, the twine will be pulled out before the knot is tied. Adjust the cord holder spring. It should take 40 pounds to pull the twine from the disk.

7. If the disk does not move far enough, the knotter hooks grasps only one cord, hence, a loose end band.

8. If, the needle is bent or out of shape there will be a loose-end band. The needle is malleable iron and may be hammered back to shape.

9. If, the twine is pulled from the hook before the knot is tied try the knife, it may be dull.

10. If, you wish to change the size of bundles, do it with the bundle sizer spring, not the tension or compress spring.— Nebraska Agricultural College.

U. S.. DRANK1,554,000000. LBS. OF MILK LAST YEAR

Whether you are a "wet" or "dry" and whether as an individual got your extra one and a fifth pints of milk last year, or allowed somebody else to get your share, the fact remains that the United Staes population used 54,326, 00,000 pounds of milk in fluid form last year according to the U. S department of Agriculture. This was an increase of 1,554,000,000 pounds, giving 1.2 pints a day of fluid milk and cream for each of us. The big increase came in the large cities, educational campaigns involving better health for school children and grown-ups and the higher quality milk coming to the city market as a result of the "T. B." eradication campaigns all help to put more milk on the average American's table. Better cows are being housed in better barns with ventilation systems, individual drinking cups, sanitary steel stall and feed and liter carriers as a result of the health campaigns that are beginning to give this country the best milk supply of any nation.

BREATHES THERE A MAN WITH SOUL SO DEAD—

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself hath said, 'My trade of late is getting bad; I'll try another ten-inch ad?' If such there be, go mark him well for him no bank account shall swell; no anger watch the golden stair, to welcome home the millionaire The man who never asks for trade, by local line or ad displayed, cares more for rest than wordly gain. Tread lightly, friend, let no rude sound, disturb his solitude profound. Here let him live in calm repose, unsought except by men he owes; and when he dies, go plant him deep, that naught may break his dreamless sleep; where no rude clamor may dispel that quiet that he loved so well. And that the world may know of its loss, place on his grave a wreath of moss; and on a stone above, 'Here lies a chump who would not advertise'. "

No. 6659 Reserve District No. 7
Report of the Condition of

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

At Klemme, in the state of Iowa
At the close of business on June 30, 1926

RESOURCES

Loans and discounts	263,865.61
Overdrafts, unsecured	871.97
U. S. Government securities owned, deposited to secure circulation (U. S. bonds par value)	25,000.00
All other United States Government Securities	144,153.13
Other bonds, stocks, securities, etc.	83,119.07
Banking house, 8,000.00 Furniture and fixtures, 3,515.00	11,515.00
Real estate owned other than banking house	3,426.46
Lawful reserve with Federal Reserve Bank	34,612.03
Cash in vault and amount due from national banks	97,862.71
Amount due from State banks, bankers, and trust companies in the United States	27,531.78
Checks and drafts (including Federal Reserve Bank) located outside of city or town of reporting bank	1,181..02
Miscellaneous cash items	4.21
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer and due from U. S. Treasurer	1,250.00
TOTAL	$694.392.99

LIABILITIES

Capital stock paid in	$ 25,000.00
Surplus fund	15,000.00
Undivided profits	22,203.78
Reserve for	18,783.07
Less current expenses paid 18,783.07	3,420.71
Circulating notes outstanding	24,595 00
Certified checks outstanding	152 00
Demand deposits subject to Reserve.
Individual deposits subject to check	193,814.98
Certificates of deposit due in less than 30 days	54,400.00
Time Deposits subject to Reserve.
Certificates of deposit	378,010.30
TOTAL	$694.392.99

State of Iowa
County of Hancock, ss.

I, C. G. Waterman, Cashier of the above named bank do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

C. G. WATERMAN, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 9 day of July, 1926.

A. J. Kudje, Notary Public.

(SEAL)

Correct—Attest:
FRED GREIMANN
M. H. WEIGMAN
F. A. ARNOLD, Director.

Travelers Find Husky Invaluable in North

Winter traveling in northern Canada being entirely by sleigh, the breeder of huskies is able to make a good living. Just before "freeze-up" a team of five or seven dogs will fetch anything from $500 to $750, according to their strength and the efficiency of their training. This last point is vital. The life of every dog, and frequently the driver, may depend upon the dogs' halting promptly to the order. For in spite of the great thickness of the ice, practically every waterway has air-holes; and once driven into one of these, harnessed dogs find it almost impossible to regain a footing on the ice.

So dogs are taught to avoid these death-traps by being driven into them! Within reasonable distance the word is given to halt. If not instantly obedient the dogs are forced into the hole, the driver jumping free. With his help the dogs climb out, and as a rule it is not necessary to repeat the lesson.

An average team can pull a loaded sleigh at seven miles an hour ten hours a day for seven days a week. The dogs sleep in the open at a temperature of 50 degrees below zero, and can live on half a jackfish a day.

To treat huskies as pets is unwise. Though they are not the fifty-fifty combination of hound and wolf which popular fancy has painted them—many huskies are three-quarters hound—there is still too much wolf in their make-up for safety, and it is not unknown for a driver, exhausted from cold or hunger to be attacked by his own team.

And yet there are authentic cases of fidelity which match any creation of the novelist. Some years ago Father Rupert was carrying Christmas cheer to the Hot Springs orphanage near Pilgrim's river. One by one the team turned up in other parts, and it was realized that the padre had met with disaster. Search parties were organized and the body was found, rigid in death.

Over the corpse, faithful to the end, stood Mink, the team leader, and the husky had to be dragged away snarling before the body could be moved.

The Funny Part

"Funny thing happened at my house last night," in the Booger Holler post office, related Tobe Sagg of Sandy Mush. "A couple of my boys got hold of an old pistol of mine and went to playing they were movie actors. Directly one of 'em r'ared back and hissed through his clenched teeth 'Gimme the papers or I'll tear up the child!' The other one cocked his pistol. 'Hold on, there!' says I. 'That devilish thing mought be loaded.' 'Aw, naw; it hain't!' says he, and aiming it right at the other one's head, he pulled the trigger. Well, sir, it was right funny, and—"

"Do you call it funny for one little boy to shoot another in the head?" grimly demanded the postmaster.

"No, the funny part was that the one that held the gun and said it wasn't loaded knowed what he was talking about—it wasn't loaded.—Exchange

The Moon at Sea

At last up rose the moon. She made her coming apparent by paling the stars in the southern sky, then by projecting a white mist of light over the horizon. Anon her upper limb, red as fire, jetted upward, and the full orb, vast and feverish as the setting sun, sailed out of the sea, most slowly and solemnly; flitting with her a black mist, that belted her like a circle of smoke; this vanished, and by degrees, peceptible to the eye, her color changed, the red chastened into pearl, her disk grew smaller and soon she was well above the horizon, shining with a most clear and silvery splendor, and making the sea beneath her lustrous with mild light.—W. Clark Russell.

Geologist's Lucky Day

Milton McMillan, geologist, saw a swarm of bees entering a small aperture in the wall of a canyon near Anaheim, Calif. He set off a dynamite charge expecting to uncover a honey cache. Instead he blasted into a tomb containing a well-preserved human skeleton and other objects of archeological interest. In a clay jug, hermetically sealed, were thousands of vegetable seeds. On many of the largest there were hieroglyphics, presumably carved by members of an early race. The skeleton was farther back in the large cavern, seated upright on a niche in the rock. A footprint in the rock measured 15 inches in length.

Women Have Long Lives

Women seem to have made all the recent records for long lives. During the last year the oldest person reported in England was a married woman of one hundred and four; in North America, a French-Canadian woman, Charlotte Nava, who died in her one hundred and tenth year. The first census of Persia, just completed, is said to have revealed a peasant woman who is one hundred and forty-six years old and has a son of one hundred and seventeen.

How It Happened

"My least boy, Bearcat, shot off his thumb whilst fooling with a revolver yesterday," in the crossroads store related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge.

"How did he come to do that?" asked old man Sockery.

"I hain't right shore, but I reckon he was trying to learn to shoot offhand and got as far as off-thumb and quit."—Kansas City Times.

African Drum Message Crude but Effective

The native African of the equatorial forest may not know much about wireless telephony, but he has a sort of "radio" system of his own that serves his purpose admirably, George Marie Haardt asserts, in the National Geographic Magazine. It is effected through an instrument known as the goudougoudou, made of a block of wood about six and one-half feet long and three feet thick. It is excavated through a large slot drilled in its upper part and a smaller one cut in one side.

A player strikes the instrument with two wooden hammers, the ends of which are covered with natural rubber, and various sounds are obtained, according to the place and strength of the strokes.

The instrument is placed in the middle of the village, just in front of the chief's hut. When a message is to be sent, the goudougoudou player strikes it off. The sounds can easily be heard six miles away, and when produced on the bank of the river will carry for nearly ten miles. News is forwarded in this way over incredible distances.

We rather doubted the efficiency of this strange telegraph until we were forced to believe by a personal experience. When passing through a certain village we asked the chief for four chickens to be brought to us a short distance ahead on the road we were to follow

As the goudougoudou player struck the message off on his instrument, we drove rapidly away, so that the chief could not cheat by sending runners off ahead of us. Three miles beyond the village a native stood waiting by the roadside with the four chickens we had asked for. We were convinced.

Make War on Evil Spirits

Six thousand Chinese employees of one of the largest tobacco factories at Pootung, across the Whangpoo river from Shanghai, took a day off and, joined by other thousands, paraded the streets with banners, joss sticks and shooting firecrackers as an appeal to the gods not to let the Yangtsze river run dry. An ancient legend has it that years ago an old priest of diabolical intent came to Shanghai from north of the Yangtsze and raised havoc. Finally in despair the natives of Shanghai and Pootung rose and drove him back to his native haunts. Ever since then the natives have been afraid that he might come back. But the only condition permitting his return would be the drying of the world's third largest river. Next year the function will be repeated.

Breaking the News Gently

Some time ago two young boy chums one afternoon decided on a hunting expedition to the outskirts of their city, the armament consisting of a small-caliber revolver that one of the boys had bought without the knowledge of his parents.

In some way the revolver was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering the top front part of the foot of one of the boys and coming out at the bottom.

The boy with the revolver, greatly frightened and excited, ran to the nearest house, asked permission to use the phone, and broke the news of the accident to the wounded boy's mother as follows:

"Will bring Oliver back in about half an hour; don't worry."—Indianapolis News.

Not for Grown-Ups

An indulgent uncle living in Commonwealth avenue purchased the newest model novelty French top for his niece and demonstrated on Memorial day with excellent results. A plunger, with a ratchet, revolves this particular brand of top, and when released, the top becomes aerial and rises rapidly upward to the ceiling. The uncle, demonstrating, and accompanying his efforts with highly technical observations on the toy, lifted the plunger and the top soared. But—he failed to draw back his head and the toy caught him on the tip of his nose, the organ being so badly abrased that he spent the rest of the day anointing it with iodine "Toys, I am convinced," he observed today, "are exclusively for children. Grown-ups don't know enough to operate them."—Detroit News.

Bid for Fame

The late Luther Burbank said one day to a Los Angeles reporter:

"Almost any man can succeed if his aim is a good one. Too many men adopt bad aims.

"A long-haired musician rushed into the kitchen and said to his wife:

"'At last, love, I have fame within my grip.'

"'How so?' the poor woman asked, and she looked up at him from the wash-tub rather skeptically.

"'You know Mendelssohn's "Wedding March"?'

"'Yes.'

"'Well, I'm going to write a 'Divorce March.'"

Old Religious Magazine

The Wesleyan Magazine, formerly known as the Arminian Magazine, was the product of John Wesley's fertile brain in 1778, since when it has appeared every month. Wesley had the matter pressed upon him for over 40 years before he found time to launch the venture. Arminius, whose name suggested the title of the magazine, opposed the stringency of Calvinism, and Wesley adopted his policy of "speaking the truth in love."—Montreal Family Herald.

Big Reduction
In Tire Prices

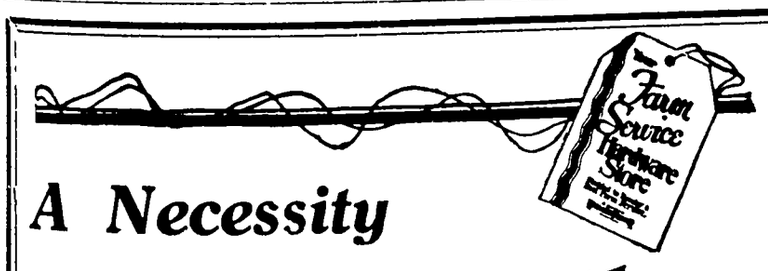
BUY YOUR TIRE SAT HOME!

FREE AIR AND FREE SERVICE!

NO PARCEL POST CHARGES TO PAY!

Garner Auto Company

Phone 77. Klemme, Iow



A Necessity
For Hot Weather

There is no convenience in your kitchen that will lighten your work as much as an Oil Stove. You will use it for Canning, Baking, and Cooking in hot weather and get away from that terrific heat caused by your kitchen range. Come in today and look over our large assortment. We have have the stove you need in the—

NEW PERFECTION OIL STOVE

(One to Four Burner Styles)

Simple in operation, burns ordinary kerosene and is alsolutely safe and nothing can go wrong with it and it will last for years.

E. F. Jacobs

"THE FARM SERVICE STORE"

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Three things to delight in—beauty, frankness and well doing.
Three things to avoid—idleness, loquacity and flippant jesting.
Three things to cultivate—good taste, good manners and good humor.

SEASONABLE DISHES

A tasty salad is always in season and now with fresh green things in abundance one may have a variety of summer salads. Try slicing small green onions very thin, adding half of a green pepper, more or less as one likes the flavor, cover with sour cream, adding a bit of salt and cayenne. A spoonful of mayonnaise may be added to season more highly if desired. Serve on lettuce. Cottage cheese served on lettuce with a spoonful of crushed fresh currants, sweetened very sweet, is another well-liked combination. When the fruit is not in season open a can that has been crushed with sugar and canned without cooking.

Combination Salad.—Shred a small head of early cabbage and cover with cold water to crisp. Arrange tender leaves of lettuce on salad plates and heap on the following combination well mixed with good mayonnaise: one finely cubed apple, one-half of a green pepper finely shredded, one banana sliced and chopped fine; add the cabbage; a bit of pineapple will not spoil the combination.

Strawberry Whip.—Mix one cupful of crushed strawberries with one-third of a cupful of powdered sugar. Beat the whites of three eggs, add one-third of a cupful of sugar and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, beat again. Combine the mixtures and serve in sherbet cups or as a sauce on sponge cake.

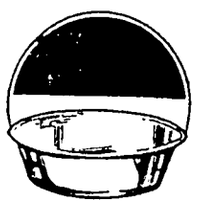
Baked Beans With Sausage.—Parboil one quart of navy beans after soaking them over night. When the skins crack, place them in a bean pot, adding three tablespoonfuls of molasses and salt to taste. Bake all day. One hour before serving place link sausages over the top and allow them to bake.

Creole Soup.—Chop one small turnip, one onion and one carrot. Cook these with two tablespoonfuls of rice, a pint of tomato, two teaspoonfuls of salt and two cupfuls of water. When the vegetables are tender, rub through a colander. Add a tablespoonful of butter and serve hot.

Rhubarb Baked With Figs.—Cover well-washed figs with boiling water and cook until the water is nearly evaporated. Cut a pound of unpeeled rhubarb into inch pieces, put a layer into a baking dish, sprinkle with sugar, then add a few figs; repeat until the dish is full. Add a few tablespoonfuls of water and bake covered in a slow oven until the fruit is tender.

Helpful Suggestions.

On damp or rainy days be sure to supply the boiling pots and pans with plenty of water as the air like a wet sponge absorbs more moisture than when dry.



Obstinate stains of almost any kind may be removed with peroxide and soap; then place in the sun. Sometimes several applications will be necessary. Be sure to rinse well after using peroxide. Rust stains are easily removed with lemon juice and salt in the bright sunshine. Salts of lemon moistened with water is very effective and is always ready to use. Any stain remover should be carefully rinsed out after applying.

When baking a cake set the alarm clock so that no matter how busy the attention will be called to the kitchen.

Leftover oatmeal may, by the addition of water and reheating, serve again as fresh oatmeal.

Put a layer of finely chopped black walnuts over the top of a custard pie. Any chopped nuts or coconut will be good.

Old stocking legs make fine oversleeves to slip on when working in the kitchen; they save the good dress sleeves. Cut at the seams and sewed together they make very good dust cloths and dust mops.

Candles for use on the table will burn clearer and longer if placed on ice for a day before using. A ring of salt put around the lamp wick will give a soft steady flame and will burn all night.

Cracks and splits in furniture may be filled with melted beeswax, then varnished, so that they will hardly show.

Black mustard seed, if sowed in the garden, will make the best of salad plants late into the fall. Nice for greens and served with lettuce it is especially good.

Dampen the brush of the carpet sweeper—it will do much better work in picking up threads and lint.

Soiled coat collars may be cleaned with cornmeal wet with gasoline; rub in well and brush out. Velvet will look like new thus cleaned.

Pineapple juice is a good cure for indigestion. Pineapple, one can shredded, three bananas and one orange sliced very thin makes a filling for a large cake.

Nellie Maxwell

SUMMER AFTERNOON GOWNS; NEW LINGERIE IS COLORFUL

EVERY once or twice in a while—and much oftener now than in the good old days of yore—a real artist in clothes appears and shows us what can be done with prevailing modes. It takes an artist to select those style notes, that, when they are put together, will produce a perfect harmony. Among the many details that add interest to styles, he knows which he may use, where to begin and where to leave off, when he assembles a new model, and how to give it a touch or so of his own.

An afternoon gown that sums up the modes of today with consummate skill, is pictured here. It is made of color range runs through peach, green, tea rose, lavender and yellow and a feature of the season is the combination of two colors in one garment.

In fabrics crepe de chine continues to hold the lead in silks and fine, firmly woven voile in cottons, but other thin silks are well represented and voile has rivals in fine batiste and nainsook. Undergarments reach the limit of sheerness in georgette and voile, which are used in both plain and printed varieties and afford a chance for the generous use of plaitings. Voile is a sturdy material and even georgette is less fragile than it looks. Besides the sheer beauty of these fabrics, the fact that they may be easily retinted, if tubbing causes them to fade, makes a strong appeal to women.

Smart Afternoon Gown.

In handmade, tailored lingerie of crepe de chine, vari-colored floral motifs in dainty designs are embroidered at the top of chemise and gowns. Light colors are used in these embroideries and narrow ribbons for shoulder straps while triple straps are popular in the very narrow ribbons. Tucks and plaits are introduced in these tailored garments which are nearly always pale pink in color. Some white is shown in new models having applique designs in color embroidered in white, and white garments with pipings in a color are among the newest items.

In lace-trimmed lingerie, filet, val, alencon and net are used in edgings, flat crepe, in the color called June rose, and has a vest and lower sleeve sections of white georgette with a graceful jabot to break the severity of simple lines. Plaited godets, pointed at the hemline, are inserted in the front, back and sides of the skirt. The straight collar is extended into long ties—and these ends are the end of a story as delightful as any told by the season's modes. This model is adapted to any of the fashionable soft fabrics in plain colors.

Very flattering afternoon gowns are naturally also very popular. These are georgette or chiffon models in flowered patterns, worn over crepe de chine slips. They do not need elaboration, since the fabrics themselves are so decorative, but they are made interesting and varied by little details of finish, as flared apron fronts, jabots, scarf collars, cuff tabs, tiered skirts, vestees and cape attachments. Reversing the order of printed chiffon over plain slips, are gowns of printed silk veiled with long tunics of plain chiffon or georgette. Both plain and printed patterns in sheer fabrics are made up with delicate lace flouncings, and black lace, over black or flesh-colored foundations, is featured among the gossamer gowns for summer afternoons.

A Dainty Undergarment.

Daintiness in design, delicate colors and sheerness of fabrics, are characteristics of lingerie, whatever the type or style it belongs to this season. Color is the factor of outstanding importance, it seems, since all-white has been supplanted in popular favor by pastel shades in silk and in sheer fine cotton materials. Beginning with pale pink the inserts and medallions. The more elaborate gowns have lace yokes extended into semi-sleeves over the shoulders, lace pockets and lace hemlines and are made of crepe de chine. Chemises of this material or of voile or georgette are shown with long molded bodices and short plaited skirts. Lace banding finishes the top and bottom and joins the bodice and skirt. Along with the return of handmade lingerie comes the high-necked and long-sleeved gown once more. These are made of cambric and nainsook for the most part, but crepe de chine and albatross are also used and much attention is given to graceful designing and to the use of net, filet and Irish lace in their decoration.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY,

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Community Building

Poet Has Right Idea of Loyalty to Town

The Literary Digest reprints this from the Herald (Tippecanoe City, Ohio) as a sentiment typical of the period. The Digest says it thinks it knows what Mr. Mencken will say of it, so offers something, the editor says:

"MY TOWN CAN'T BE TOO GOOD FOR ME."
BY "WIB" CHAFFEE

(For nearly three years the Chaffee jingles have appeared in the advertising of The Big Green Barn garage and they have been a source of enjoyment to all. His present contribution, published below, cannot be classed as a jingle, however. In our opinion it is not only his masterpiece, but a bit of verse that is outstanding in current poetry.)

My Town can't be too good for me,
  Nor I too big or good for it;
Though small in size My Town may be,
  I'd have it big in "Push" and "Grit."

My Town must meet emergencies
  With dauntless courage, vim and "Pep";
Though progress is not bought with ease,
  My Town must not get "out of step."

My Town must tackle every task—
  Go forward always—ne'er back down.
  'Neath foreign suns though I may bask,
  I'd think with pride of this, My Town.

My Town, of course, is good enough,
  No matter how my fortunes swell,
Nor yet how fortune may rebuff,
  My Town's defamers I would quell.

—And yet, down deep within my heart
  I know My Town improved could be;
To help improve I'll do my part—
  My Town can't be too good for me!

Several Reasons Why One Should Own Home

There are many reasons why people should own their own homes.

The purchase of a home is the most important investment you will make, and, probably, the largest purchase you will ever make, if you are in ordinary circumstances. It is the one which will have the most influence on your well-being, comfort and happiness.

To own your own home gives one a feeling of deep personal pride and satisfaction, besides reflecting the personal preference and taste of the owner. Your home becomes the center of your most cherished memories and associations, the center of your life's interest. Therefore, it means more than money can buy.

Home ownership is a symbol of security and success. A home of your own is insurance against fear and worry in old age. Insurance statistics show that those who have provided for the "evening of life" live longer than those who have no thought of "the tomorrow."

Keep Roof Painted

The timber framework by which the roofing or covering materials are supported should be coated with paint before the outer covering is laid on. Valleys, gutters and downspouts should be painted as soon as they are put in position. There is a tendency today to rely upon galvanized metal. Under the most advantageous conditions the life of galvanizing is fifteen years and its term of usefulness may be considerably shortened under adverse circumstances. For instance, galvanizing, if exposed to the erosive elements of ocean air, will not serve as a protection for more than three or four years. Whereas, under the same conditions, gutters and spouts will last from ten to twelve years if regularly painted, or made of zinc or copper.

Architecture Improves

The dwellings of any people are the surest indication of their strength. Our highest civic ideals spring from sources which have their origins in happy, thriving communities. Since the enlightened community offers the best field for the merchandising of lumber, the interest of the lumber industry in improving small house architecture in America might result from no motive other than the seeking for commercial gain. The motive, however, lies deeper than this. They realize that beautiful homes are an inspiration to better living.

Thrifty Illinois City

Of all the cities that dot the state of Illinois, Moline, perhaps, is unequaled in one evidence of the thrift of its inhabitants. Eighty-four per cent of the homes in that city are owned by their occupants. That is more than an indication of industry and thrift; it is proof that the people of Moline believe in their city. Home-owning solidifies a community. In this respect Moline should be as solid as rock.—Chicago Journal.

Playgrounds Help

A home with playgrounds, flowers and sunshine is the birthright of every child.

Beauty in Copper Roof

The copper roof is a thing of beauty, with a color range adaptable to any type of house or to any environment.

The Picnic

Find the spot, and with the poet say, "Here let us feast." Monarch Cocoa, made fresh at the roadside fire, or carried hot or iced in a thermos bottle, adds a touch of completeness to the picnic repast.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
Never Sold Through Chain Stores.
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago · Boston · Pittsburgh · New York

Life Is Cheap

Ad in Brooklyn Eagle—White woman wanted for evening meal; two in family.

Ad in Southern Paper—I have a nice plantation on the banks of a beautiful lake which I am filling with white families.—Boston Transcript.

Strictly Fresh

Motorist—Are you sure these eggs are fresh?

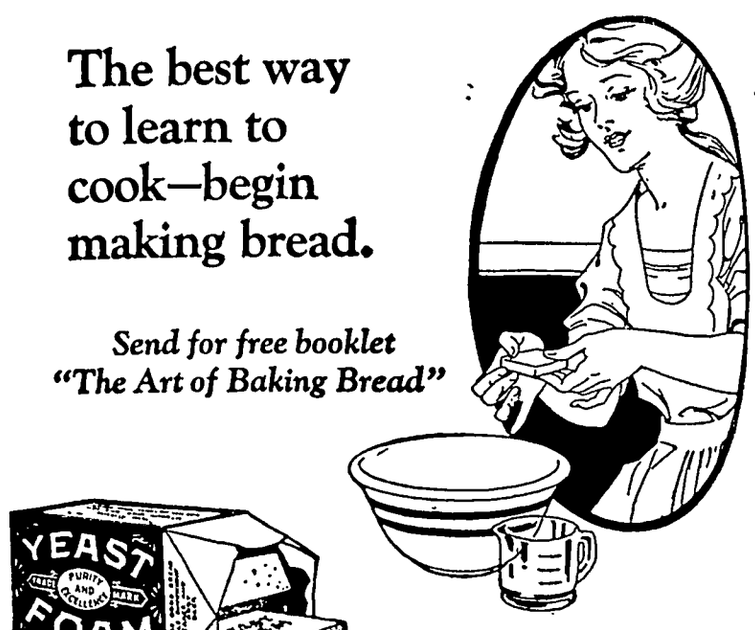
Farmer's Boy—Sure; pa just brought them home from the store this morning.—Collier's Magazine.

Vacation will yield a profit.

Yeast Foam Home bread-makers everywhere prefer it

The best way to learn to cook—begin making bread.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"



Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago

Clothes Made From Glass

Dresses adorned with glass that can be washed and ironed are the latest novelty in London, but the glass hat made its appearance many years ago. It was an Alsatian who produced a hat resembling brown straw, which was actually made of spun glass, by a process of his own invention. The specimen cost the rather prohibitive price of $1,100.

Descriptive Powers

"In describing the costumes at the reception, what would you say?"

"Next to nothing."

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is especially prepared to relieve Infants in arms and Children all ages of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving natural sleep.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher
Absolutely Harmless—No Opiates. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Leaks, but Cannot Sink

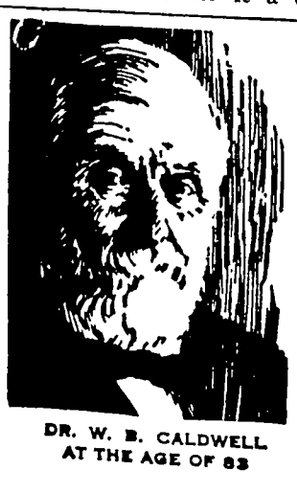
The row-craft used on the remote lakes in the wilds of Glacier National park, Montana, is a typically individual mode of water transportation that is not found any other place in the world.

They are there because the material for building them is right at hand in the primeval forests that skirt the waters' edges, and also for the reason that the narrow trails leading to these mountain lakes render it a difficult task to pack rowboats in. Besides, the row-craft is a safe conveyance for the adventursome summer tourist. It leaks but never sinks. It is made of spruce logs, with ingeniously constructed oarlocks.

Idaho Rich in Quicksilver

Idaho has extensive undeveloped deposits of antimony and quicksilver.

How soon "not now" becomes "never."—Luther.



DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Women Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headaches, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

L-V DUST CLOTH

specially woven fabric "Crepette" cents and dusting supply of Liquid Veneer. ke it for dusting. A few drops on removes ALL dust, dirt and blem- TANTLY, and leaves your piano, woodwork spotlessly clean and polished. Moreoverit preservesthe initely. Piano people use it to im- r brand new instruments. Send for bottle today. You'll be delighted, we include a big 25c L-V Dust

FREE

LIQUID VENEER

RN MONEY

ng the Summertime

ve an opportunity for you from five to ten dollars per ughout the summer. ork is pleasing, requires no erience. You have nothing o money to collect, and you remittance weekly.

BERTHA STUDIOS
P. O. Box 113
field - - Mass.

tion in Sweden Within Reach of All recent visitors to this coun- e was an educational official den, who thus outlined the system of that country in a ds as follows:

e are three schools in Sweden. e the folk school, the common and the high school. At the ool one gets a very good foun- There is no charge for tuition, his school the sons and daugh- the poorest man are assured ation.

common school charges a tui- what would be, in your money, 20 or $25 a year. A pupil must this school before going to the hool. In the event that the pu- financially unable to pay the of the tuition fee, he is given a on. The sum I mentioned in- materials for drawing and sci-high school is really more like erican college than the Ameri- gh school. The tuition is very -perhaps $20 in your money. he tuition fee includes labora- es and materials, just as it does common schools."

Smart Boy

lie, what's the first thing asked business?"

ou got any pull with the school or th' alderman."

aps time is money, because it es to slip away so fast.

AYER ASPIRIN" PROVED SAFE

e without Fear as Told n "Bayer" Package

BAYER

Does not affect the Heart

ess you see the "Bayer Cross" ckage or on tablets you are not g the genuine Bayer Aspirin d safe by millions and prescribed ysicians over twenty-five years for

Colds	Headache
Neuritis	Lumbago
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

ch unbroken "Bayer" package con- proven directions. Handy boxes elve tablets cost few cents. Drug- also sell bottles of 24 and 100.

OR OVER 00 YEARS

arlem oil has been a world- de remedy for kidney, liver and dder disorders, rheumatism, mbago and uric acid conditions.

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

rect internal troubles, stimulate vital ans. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist the original genuine GOLD MEDAL

STUBBORN SORES and inflammations quickly yield to Resinol

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service)

BRITISH WAR HERO APPEALS FOR PEACE

Eloquent appeal to the American Legion to make "the preservation of peace the foremost, quite the foremost place in your program" was voiced at a recent meeting of the national executive committee of the Legion at national headquarters at Indianapolis, Ind., by Lieut Col. George R. Crosfield of London, British World war hero and now president of Fidac, the interallied veterans' federation in which are joined 10,000,000 veterans of the World war in the nine principal allied countries.

"I do ask you to do this," Colonel Crosfield said at the conclusion of his address to Legion leaders assembled from all parts of the United States, "for the sake of the dead, for the sake of the living, for the sake of the widows and orphans; coming in with all your force, and all your energy and your youth and your enthusiasm, to guide the directing finger that 'writes and, having writ, moves on'—to guide it away from death and destruction to life and construction."

The appeal of the one legged hero met with instantaneous response, as a wave of cheering rolled over the senate-like chamber and national officers and members of national committees joined to applaud to the echo this appeal from the representative of their former comrades-in-arms, signifying their sympathy with Fidac's purpose to "guide the directing finger away from death and destruction towards life and construction."

The national executive committee then directed the appointment of a committee to draw a message expressing to the veterans of the allied countries the feeling of "understanding and friendship" of American Legionnaires for them. On that committee were: H. Nelson Jackson, chairman of the Legion's world peace and foreign relations commission; Henry D. Lindsley, past national commander; Joseph M. Thompson and Thomas A. Lee, members of the world peace commission, and J. Monroe Johnson, member of the national executive committee.

The message, unanimously adopted by the national executive committee, was:

"We send our friends abroad our sincere greetings and our warm assurance that the spirit of admiring comradeship born on the field of battle and tried in the fire of common combat for the freedom of the world burns undimmed in our hearts and that it is our earnest hope that after the gloom of reconstruction will dawn once more a more glorious day of everlasting peace among the nations of the world.

"We earnestly look forward to that time when justice and fair dealing shall be the only considerations entering into adjustments between nations and prejudices and partisan politics shall not influence even in the slightest degree those who determine the destiny of the peoples of the world."

Take Steps to Combat Pacifist Propaganda

Active steps to combat radical pacifist propaganda against the national defense program of the United States, and particularly against military training in the schools and colleges of the country, are being taken by the American Legion.

At a recent meeting of the Legion's national executive committee, printing and distribution in large quantities of a pamphlet, setting forth the value of military training in colleges and exposing the character of the propaganda against it, was ordered.

The pamphlet was prepared under the direction of a national defense council formed by the Legion. This consists of Brig. Gen. L. R. Gignilliat of Culver, Ind., chairman; Vilas Whaley of Racine Wis., and Howard P. Savage of Chicago, Ill.

Proper Care of Insane Veterans Is Demanded

Enactment of state laws to facilitate the commitment of insane World war veterans to veterans' bureau hospitals is being urged by the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion at Washington.

Members of the committee point out that proper care and possible cure of insane veterans is being prevented by well-meaning but misinformed relatives, who take the veterans under treatment from the hospitals before satisfactory improvement or cure has been accomplished. Under present laws the commanding officers of the hospitals have no right to prevent a patient's removal. The laws would allow legal commitment and would assure that everything possible would be done to bring about a cure, the Legion officials maintain.

Evidence

"I always do the little things well," announced the lunch-counter clerk.

"I see," nodded the customer. "So that's how you got this job of making sandwiches."—American Legion Weekly.

Scraps of Humor

WILLING TO ACCEPT AID

Donald and Jeanie were putting down a carpet when Donald slammed the end of his thumb with the hammer and began to pour forth his soul in language befitting the occasion.

"Donald, Donald!" shrieked Jeanie, horrified. "Dinna swear that way!"

"Wummun!" vociferated Donald, "gin ye know ony better way, now is the time to let me know it."

A Jolt

"I'm not going to that woman barber shop again; there's a rude girl there, don't you know."

"What did she say?"

"Why, she looked at my mustawsh, and asked me if I would have it sponged off or rubbed in."

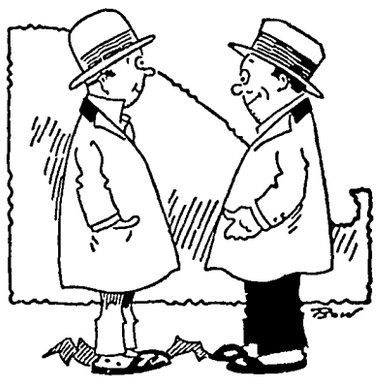
His Desire

"If you please, I'd like a straw with this lemonade," said the young man from the city.

"Hey?" returned that soda jerker in the Palace drug store in Peeweecuddy-hump.

"No, straw."

WHAT'S THE ANSWER



Longwed—A wife's a great comfort in our troubles, young man.

Bachelor—No doubt true; but why marry and have troubles, I say?

Hard on Willie

Weary Willie asked for bread
Wherevor he did stop;
A housewife passed the ax and said:
"First won't you have a chop?"

Best Proof

Manager—The applicant claims to have been to college. Can he back up his assertion?

Office Boy (returning a few minutes later)—He states that at present he cannot. Some girl still has his fraternity pin.—North Carolina Buccaneer.

Called

Mrs. Jones—We are keeping William from returning to college this fall. He is really so young, you know.

Mrs. Brown—Yes. My son flunked out, too.—University of Washington Columns.

MADE AN IMPRESSION

"She made a decided impression on every man she danced with you say?"

"Yes—left a big white spot on the shoulder of every one of them."

Exchange of Duties

Maud Muller, tired of raking hay,
Exchanges with a friend one day.
And while her friend a rake doth swing,
Maud sees that curfew does not ring.

That's It

Patient—Is this the medicine for my ague, doctor?

Physician—Yes; shake well before using.

Not Extravagantly

Aunt—Ah, Amelia, you look very pale. Tell me the truth. You have been burning the midnight oil.

Amelia (lately become engaged)—Yes, aunty, but not very much. We turned the lamp down very low.

Less Trouble

"When I was twenty I made up my mind to get rich."

"But you never became rich."

"No, I decided it was easier to change my mind."

Scraping an Acquaintance

"You ought to have a large circle of friends," said the victim, as he took his position in the chair.

"Oh, yes," replied the barber, "I do manage to scrape an acquaintance with quite a few."

Umpire Losses

Newsboy (dulcet, as usual)—Hey! Wuxtry! 15,000 killed!

Average Citizen—Who won the game today, d'ya know?—Penn. State Frosh.

ROAD BUILDING

GASOLINE TAXES AID GOOD ROADS

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Nearly $150,000,000 was paid in gasoline taxes in 1925 by motor vehicle operators, according to the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. The exact amount collected was $146,028,940, an increase of 83 per cent over the total in 1924 and four and one-half times the total in 1923. The increase is the result of the still wider use of motor vehicles, adoption of the tax by a number of states which had not previously resorted to it, and higher rates of taxation by other states.

Of the total tax collected, $102,065,216 was made available for state highways, $32,721,704 for county and local roads, $217,393 for collection costs and $11,024,647 for other purposes.

No tax was assessed in Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey and New York. The $146,028,940 collected in the remaining states was derived from the taxation of a total of 6,457,783,284 gallons of gasoline, from which it appears that the average rate is 2.26 cents per gallon. The average consumption per vehicle was about 430 gallons. In the 44 states in which the tax was levied the average amount paid by the vehicle operator was $9.22.

The total receipts from the gasoline tax, after the deduction of such refunds as were allowed by law, and the tax rate per gallon are given:

States	Receipts from gasoline tax	Rate of tax per gal. on Dec. 31, '25
Alabama	$ 2,140,802	2
Arizona	855,951	3
Arkansas	2,950,360	4
California	14,956,789	2
Colorado	1,960,946	2
Connecticut	1,908,809	2
Delaware	342,081	2
Florida	7,657,507	4
Georgia	4,418,824	3½
Idaho	895,443	3
Illinois	.....	0
Indiana	7,653,049	3
Iowa	3,505,115	2
Kansas	2,905,194	2
Kentucky	3,041,560	b/3
Louisiana	2,339,543	2
Maine	1,268,348	3
Maryland	1,997,086	2
Massachusetts	.....	0
Michigan	8,236,078	2
Minnesota	3,863,940	2
Mississippi	2,494,274	3
Missouri	4,159,115	2
Montana	674,710	2
Nebraska	2,193,802	2
Nevada	318,705	4
New Hampshire	707,072	2
New Jersey	.....	0
New Mexico	537,356	3
New York	.....	0
North Carolina	6,082,378	4
North Dakota	634,416	1
Ohio	9,009,950	3
Oklahoma	5,143,517	3
Oregon	2,909,095	3
Pennsylvania	a/8,352,798	2
Rhode Island	318,357	1
South Carolina	3,865,403	5
South Dakota	1,847,598	3
Tennessee	3,407,886	3
Texas	4,641,784	1
Utah	1,064,004	3½
Vermont	502,272	2
Virginia	3,701,951	c/3
Washington	3,020,812	2
West Virginia	2,186,739	3½
Wisconsin	4,031,676	2
Wyoming	456,297	2½
Dist. of Colum.	889,598	2
Total	$146,028,940

a/ Includes $70,868 paid in delinquent taxes of former years.

b/ Tax increased to 5 cents, effective February 21, 1926.

c/ Tax increased to 4½ cents, effective March 11, 1926

Benefits of Good Roads to the Average Farmer

Good roads are of great value, especially to the farmers. They reduce the cost of hauling and adjacent land becomes more valuable. Every community should have good roads. Roads should be dragged after every rain; if they are not dragged they will become hard and rough. At the end of the summer they will be in such condition that they will be hard on the horses' feet and almost impossible to drive over, writes Inga J. Olson of Williams county, N. D., in the Dakota Farmer.

When the roads are improved the farms are increased in value because the cost of hauling is decreased. The business of farming is essentially dependent on the condition of country roads for whatever is not produced on the farm must be hauled to the farm and many crops of the farm must be hauled to the station and local markets. For instance, if two farmers lived about ten miles from town, one had a good road to town and the other had a bad road, and the price of wheat went up to $2.00 a bushel, the farmer who had a good road could haul about 80 bushels, while the other farmer could only haul about 40 bushels. Therefore, the farmer that had the good road got $160.00 while the other fellow only got $80.00. If the latter had had a good road he could have hauled as much more as he did. By the time he got his grain to town, the price of wheat may have gone down to $1.50 a bushel.

Federal Aid for Roads

The enactment of the federal aid act of 1916 marked the re-entrance of Uncle Sam into highway building. When he started to help the states in the construction of a national system of highways he insisted that they also maintain departments to centralize work on the main roads of the state. Since then co-operative economic surveys between the United States bureau of public roads and state highway departments are saving road taxpayers millions annually.

FIRST to have a proving ground

Three years ago General Motors purchased an 1125-acre tract, 40 miles from Detroit and accessible to all its car and truck divisions.

This was transformed into a great Proving Ground, with every kind of road and grade over which an automobile is called upon to travel.

Here the collective experience and brains of the whole General Motors family are brought to bear upon the problems of each member; and here each make of General Motors car must prove itself against the best that American or European genius has developed.

The Proving Ground marks a forward step in the guarantee of motor car satisfaction. It is your final assurance that you are investing when you buy a General Motors car.

GENERAL MOTORS

CHEVROLET · PONTIAC · OLDSMOBILE
OAKLAND · BUICK · CADILLAC
GMC TRUCKS
YELLOW CABS, BUSES AND TRUCKS

"A car for every purse and purpose"

Useless

"Here, sir, is a book on etiquette I'd like to sell you."

"No, indeed; I'm married."

Cuticura Soothes Itching Scalp. On retiring gently rub spots of dandruff and itching with Cuticura Ointment. Next morning shampoo with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Make them your everyday toilet preparations and have a clear skin and soft, white hands.—Advertisement.

Many a man pulls down his character in an effort to build up his reputation.

Baby Rides in Shawl

Mother and baby in South Wales share the same plaid shawl they did generations ago. The shawl is the emblem of maternity in this area and hardly a woman of marriageable age but shelters a baby with it. Her left hand clutches it firmly while her right is busy with household tasks. In this nest on its mother's arm the baby sleeps, eats or looks out cheerfully on the world. The shawl takes the place of the perambulator and go-cart.

One woman can be awfully fond of another—if they are a hundred miles apart.

3 o'clock in the morning – no sleep yet!

INSURE your sleep against the pest of mosquitoes and early morning flies. Spray Flit.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Get a Flit can and sprayer today. For sale everywhere.

STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)

FLIT

DESTROYS
Flies Mosquitoes Moths
Ants Bed Bugs Roaches

"The yellow can with the black band"

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

The First National Bank is being redecorated this week.

Miss Lucille Fouts was a visitor at the Art Gimer home last week.

Mrs. Virgil Cook is enjoying a visit from her mother from California.

August Lau of Mason City was in Klemme Friday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Worthy Usher spent the week-end at Cedar Rapids.

Dr. and Mrs. Hesselhuus of Conrad, Iowa came Friday for a few days visit with Klemme friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Poort spent the week-end with relatives n Minneapolis.

Mrs. Christensen and son of Ringsted were visitors at the Salling home last week.

HAYRACKS at the Northern Lbr. Co. Come in and see them. 1tc

Mrs Lawerence Schaefer of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, is visiting relatives here.

Spray your cows with Dr. Hess Fly Chaser.— Wilson Pharmacy.

Dewey Rice and family of Clarion were visiting in Klemme last Wednesday.

The Kluckhohn, Turgasen and Keraus families returned Friday from a week's outing at Clear Lake.

Mrs. P M. Wilson and daughter Gladys were at Clear Lake Thursday afternoon.

Miss Marie Burke of Garner came Friday for a short visit at the Gauger home.

Mrs. Anna Hartke of Garner was visiting friends here Thursday.

A fine baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Merkle Sunday morning.

Spray your cows with Dr. Hess Fly Chaser.— Wilson Pharmacy.

The Lee Klotzbach moved into the rooms in the Schaefer building Monday.

Marie Gauger left Monday for a week's visit with relatives at McGregor.

Mrs. Clarence Larson and Miss Gertrude Johnson had their tonsils removed at Iowa Falls Wednesday.

Mrs. R. W. Elder and daughter Reva were Mason City visitors Tuesday.

Mrs. Carl Priebe and daughter Gertrude were visiting relatives in Garne Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pavey of Garrison, Iowa were visitors at the W. F. Pavey home last week.

Mrs. Ed. Dow of Forest City visited at the Lew Lewis home Monday afternoon.

HAYRACKS at the Northern Lbr. Co. Come in and see them. 1tc

Mr. and Mrs. John Suckow are the parents of a nine pound baby boy, born July 3.

William Smith and Miss Mable Mable Smith were Garner callers Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Hattie Lannahan left Thursday for Clear Lake where she will spend a month's vacation with her parents.

The Misses Margaret and Marjory Campbell of LeRoy, Minnesota have been visiting at the Edmonson home for the past two weeks.

George Gruetzmacher of Garner stopped in Klemme a few minutes Thursday morning. He was on his way to Meservey.

Dr. Missman returned last Tuesday from Wisconsin. His family are spending the summer at one of the lakes there.

Mrs. J. E. Stille and daughter Marie left Friday for Minneapolis to spend the week-end with her brother, Will Koerner.

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines. tfc

The Royal Neighbor's will not have their regular meeting this month. Their next meeting will be on the second Friday in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gruetzmacher came last week for a few days visit at the home of Mr. Gruetzmacher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gruetzmacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Palmby of Owasa spent the week-end with Klemme friends. Grandma Fuller came with them and will spend a few weeks with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright and Mr. Cornelius Trumbell of Belmond, and Mr and Mrs. Coonly, of LuVerne, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Trumbell Monday of last week.

DON'T throw away that tire just because of a small hole. Bring it here, I can at least make a good spare for you. C. L. Blumer. 1tc

The ball team east of town played Meservey last Sunday and easily defeated the visitors by a score of 20-7. Hans Willer was on the mound for the local boys and "Ofie" Lau was on the receiving end.

John, Esther and Ruth Fuller of Good Thunder, Minn., came Thursday for a few days visit with friends and relatives. They went Clear Lake Monday andreturned to their home the following day.

WANTED—Man with car to sell complete line quality Auto Tires and Tubes. Exclusive Territory. Experience not necessary. Salary $300 per month. Milestone Rubber Co., East Liverpool, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grange and son Dorance visited the Dewey Rice family at Lake Cornelia Sunday.

Max Barz accompanied his father to Waterloo Monday where he will spend two weeks visiting with his aunt there.

Harvest has not started in this vicinity, but a few farmers will start to cut oats the latter part of this week and oat cutting will be in full swing by next week. In most places the oat crop seems to be a very good one and promises to make a heavy yield.

FOR SALE—1½ year old Guernsey Bull from Schafer herd. Karl Kraus. tfc

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pavey, of Garrison, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Verner Lewis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lew Lewis, the Henry Buseman family, Ben Coobs family and W. F. Pavey family enjoyed a picnic at Clear Lake Sunday. At the Lake the party was joined by Mr. and Mrs. H. Coobs of McGregor, who came up to Clear Lake on the excursion train. Sunday was also Wallace Pavey's birthday and the party helped him celebrate in fine style.

A. K. Zinn and sons Frank and Carl of Battle Creek, Michigan came Monday for a few days visit with the former's brother, Dr. George Zinn. A. K. Zinn and Frank are making a coast to coast tour and have been to Washington, D. C., Philadephia, Boston and through Canada, then back to Battle Creek, where they were joined by Dr. Carl Zinn, who has just finished his hospital work in a medical course at the University of Michigan at Ann Harbor. He will remain for a short time with his uncle here in Klemme. His father and brother continued their trip Wednesday. They will tour throu the Black Hills, Montana and the Yellowstone and then down the coast to San Francisco. Frank is studing to be a lawyer at the University of Michigan.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Frank and Donald Gibbs left last Thursday for a "hike" through Minn The first night they got to Good Thunder, Minnesota, a distance of about a hundred miles. Of this distance they only had to walk about five miles, the rest of the way riding with tourists who offered them rides. They spent a day at Mankato and hit out for Big Lake, which is just north of the cities. Here they spent Sunday with their uncle, Charley Gibbs. From Big Lake they proceeded on northwest and at this writing are visiting relatives at Fertile, Minnesota. They made the entire distance in a little less than three days and a half actual traveling time. The boys are carrying a "pup" tent and bed roll with them and sleep in the open. They expect to go as far as Canada before they turn south again.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson and son , "Buster", left early Wednesday for Kansas City where they visited a couple of days at the home of Mrs. Jorgenson's sister, Mrs. Hugh Chapman. Friday they drove to Topeka and Holton Kansas and from there to Pawnee City, Nebraska. They arrived at Lincoln Saturday evening. Here they are attending a big reunion of the Davis family which is being held this week at the home of Mrs. Jorgenson's parents. A card from "Jergie" states that he left Klemme at 2:15 a. m. Wednesday morning and arrived at Kansas City at 3:30 p. m. on the same day. Evidently the mud in southern Iowa was not a serious drawback and we would take it that there was not a great deal of "grass growing under his wheels" on the way.

METHODIST CHURCH
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

We will follow our regular schedule of services on the coming Sabboth.

Many of our country people came to service earlier than the town people last Sunday, thereby setting a wholesome example for the delinquent town folk.

The duet, sung at the morning service, byMrs. Walter Johnsen and Mr. Earl Josten was especially appreciated.

Some are planning to attend the Bible Conference at Lake Okoboji from July 24 to August 1.

As we study the program, we find a splendid array of talent listed.

We are arranging our services o pemit many or all to attend the last Sunday which will be a great day. W. F. M. S. meets with Mrs. W. F. Stille this Thursday afternoon.

FINANCIAL REPORT OF THE INDEPENDENT DISTRICT OF KLEMME

Reciepts

Balance on hand, 1925	$ 5863.28
Order 234, Outstanding June 30, 1925	35.14
Rec'd for Co. Treasurer	13217.39
Rec'd from Co. Semi-annual apportionment	527.00
Rec'd from Tuition	3211.00
Received from Sale of Books	525.46
Received from Interest on Deposit	8.80
Rec'd from other sources	98.55
Rec'd from Co. Treasurer School House Fund	2472.61
TOTAL	25989.23

Disbursements

Paid Male Teachers	4740.00
Paid Female Teachers	5760.00
Paid Secretary	50.00
Paid for Library Books	55.00
Paid for Books	498.73
Paid Janitor	950.00
Paid for General Expenses Coal, Water, Light, Repairs, Legal advice, Interest, etc.	4446.25
Paid for Bond No. 2	1000.00
Paid for Warrant No. 12	1000.00
Balance on hand	7489.25
TOTAL	25989.23

AERIAL MAIL SERVICE

Plans are being worked out in Washington by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Postmaster General New, which when consumated, will cover the United States with a network of air routes. In addition to this the postoffice Department announces the speeding up of transcontinental air mail service by the purchase of fifty new Douglas airplanes. Under the new schedules mail can be sent from the Middle West to San Francisco in slightly more than twenty four hours.

Birdmen recently sailed over the top of the world and every day now Uncle Sam's fliers are delivering the mail from one great American city to another. The day of air travel is at hand. Before so very long passenger routes will be as common in America as they are in Europe.

Twenty-four mail service between Chicago and San Francisco is no longer a dream but a reality. It is a far cry now when horses filled in the gaps in the western mail service. The open spaces are filling up and although there is still plenty of space left in the West, civilization has enveloped it all, and frontier days are gone forever.

In the days of mail coaches the west was wild and hold-ups common. Now the hold-up in open spaces is an event, and our men have moved from the Hills to New York, Chicago and ther centers of population. It be more correct perhaps to say the western bad man has dissaped except in the movies, and that entirely different bred.

At any rate the day of the coach has passed and the era of way mail is threatened. The mance of the stage driver has gone way to the romance of the birdm

NOTICE

The Board of Directors of the Independent School District of Klemme, Hancock County, Iowa, will meet Tuesday, July 20, 1926, at 8:00 P M, at the office of the Northern Lumber Co. Taxpayers will be heard for or against the following estimate of expenditures at that time.

GENERAL FUND—

Expenditures estimated for 1927	$12,500.00
Income from other sources	3,100.00
Taxes to be raised	9,000.00
Expended in 1925	16,499.98
Expended in 1924	14,971.22

SCHOOL HOUSE FUND

Expenditures estimated for 1927	$ 3,500.00
Income from other sources	None
Taxes to be raised	3,500.00
Expended in 1925	2,000.00
Expended in 1924	1,808.90
Total taxes to be raised for all school purposes	$12,500.00

Estimated taxes per $1,000.00 of assessed value $9.00.

PAUL GRANGE, Sec.

For Your Sunday Dinners:-

For your Sunday Dinners or when company comes—What is nicer than a nice, tender and juicy Roasted Ham? Why not take this suggestion and try one of our nice choice Hams for your Sunday Dinner. Have it hot for dinner, and then slice it cold for suppers and lunches! It's great!

Also we have a full line of Pork and Beef Roasts, Choice Steaks, Chops, etc.

FOR THOSE HOT DAYS—

Right now we are specializing in a big line of Cold Meats of All Kinds—just the thing for suppers these hot days. Any kind you ulike.

GOOD PICNIC ITEMS

Besides our Cold Meats we carry many other good picnic items—Cheese of all kinds; Ketchup; Pork & Beans; Olives; Pickles; all kinds of Preserves; Sardines; Weiners; Sea Foods; Salmon; Salad Ddressing; Sandwich Spread; etc. Just ask us!

Buy It At The—

Klemme Meat Market

Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings

DR. E. H. PHILLIPS

Osteopathic Physician

Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa

It's Here! --Your Twine

It's here Now—That Carload of Twine we ordered. Come in and get yours anytime now.

THRESHING COAL COMING, TOO!

We have a carload of goo dTHRESHING COAL on the way now. Get your order in at once and get it off the carwhen itarrives.

WE HAVE OIL MEAL NOW!

You can come in and get that OIL MEAL now, it's here. The Tankage will be here soon. Do you need some? Better get your order intod ay.

AND DON'T FORGET—This is the right place to come for your CHICKEN FEED of all kinds.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

A Few Causes of Oil Pumping and Compression Leakage--

1. Worn or out-of-round cylinders.
2. Scored cylinders or pistons.
3. Warped or worn ring grooves.
4. Poorly fitted pistons and rings.
5. Piston pin hole out-of-round.
6. Poorly aligned rod and piston assembly.
7. Sprung connecting rods.
8. Crankshaft warped or out-of-true.
9. Worn bearings.
10. Warped or sticking valves.
11. Improper timing.
12. Leaky cylinder head gasket.

ONLY Cure-- Stormizing

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

The Sheaf of Prosperity

The world is more dependent upon agriculture than on any other industry. The First National Bank recognizes the prominent part agriculture plays in furnishing the human race with the necessities of maintaining life.

We are glad to be of assistance in the promotion of various enterprises that tend to develop "The Sheaf of Prosperity."

First National Bank
KLEMME, IOWA.

THE KLEMME TIMES

rtieth Year—Number 49. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1926. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

ONG KLEMME MAIN STREET

MME CREAMERY MAKES BIG SHOWING FOR JUNE

ords Again Broken For Amount Of Business Done For June

he Klemme Creamery again put another whopper of a business th when former records for the th of June were shattered.
he number of tubs of high quali- utter shipped to the eastern mar- at Jersey City was 998 and the ht of which was 64,870 pounds, ver thirty-two tons of butter. addition to the above amount, 4 pounds of butter were sold in mme to merchants and 2,404 ds were sold to Goodell, which es a total amount of butter that shipped and sold locally of 38 pounds.
he creamery showed a substanti- crease of business in the month une over that same month a year he officers and patrons of the mery can feel justly proud of record this home concern has making the past year. It pays ork together—officials and the ons—to make this local institu- a success. It is the best cream- anywhere in north Iowa. Pull her and keep it there!

MME MEAT MARKET ADDS NEW EQUIPMENT

Show Case Is Latest Thing For Up-To-Date Market

A Larsen, proprietor of the mme Meat Market believes in ng up with the times and on watch to better serve his patrons ntly he installed a Percival re- rating show case and counter s meat market here. The new has not yet been fully connect- his regrigerating plant but will oon The case is the latest in lass and not only displays the e meats to full advantage, but s them cold and fresh.
r Larsen has a very fine shop is as well equipped as any city with a regrigerating plant, a g machine, grinders, etc. that make an up-to-date market.

MERS ELEVATOR BUILDING NEW COAL SHEDS

Give Ample Storage Room For Three Cars Of Coal

rpenters have been busy the few days building a new coal for th Klemme Co-Operative Co., better known as the Far- Elevator
w Gimer, the manager, says the is 14 by 60 feet in dimension will have three bins each 14 by eet. The shed is built on new iples, lined inside, cement floor easy to load and unload coal

T NATIONAL BANK IS ALL "DOLLED UP"

d Arnold has been spending a of his vacation repainting both xterior and interior of the First nal Bank. As Fred is taking an eering course at Ames the job inting comes right in his line. e door and window frames out- were all treated to new paint, nterior walls and ceiling were orated and the general appear- of the bank is pleasing in it's iess.

LEMEYER REMODELING A PART OF STORE

hur Wellemeyer has been busy ast week remodeling a part of ore. The office has been tak- en out from the old location and will be located at the northeast part of the main floor An outside window has been cut there and the office fix- tures installed.

The new arrangement will give a greater display space on the main floor and also give the office a better and more private location.

OTHER NEWS ALONG OUR MAIN STREET

The Garner Motor Company have recently put up a new sign over the entrance to the building, telling the world it's a Ford Garage. John Pritchard is the manager and the only bad habit he has is arguing with the the Editor.

The North Iowa Grain Company, the "North Elevator" have added a Ford truck to their equipment. They use the truck for hauling feed to other member elevators near here. Mr. Jost, the manager says they are doing a fine business in the wholesale feed line.

The Northern Lumber Company, of which Paul Grange is the local manager, are manufacturing hay racks for which they find a ready sale Paul says they are going into the manufacturing of small portable buildings quite extensively during the winter This is a feature which is a real service to the farmer who does not have the time to build his own racks, brooder houses, coops, and the like.

Ed Jacobs, who conducts the "Farm Service" hardware store in Klemme, bought a new Pontiac sedan Tuesday And—we wouldn't mind a ride in it Ed!

If Klemme business men will continue to do things we will run this column quite often.

In the meantime, as the Jew says, "You might as well spend your money here as to have the other fellow hook you!"

So you might as well get "hooked" at home!

EDITOR AND FAMILY ENJOY TRIP IN MISSOURI, NEBRASKA

Family Re-union Was Feature At Lincoln, Nebraska

Editor and Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson and son, Buster, returned Saturday afternoon from a ten days visit in Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska

The first leg of the trip took them to Kansas City, Mo, for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs Hugh H Chapman, a sister of Mrs Jorgenson Mr. and Mrs D N Davis and son, Don, of Los Angeles, Calif, and Mr. Jack Davis, of Salt Lake City, Utah had also arrived at the Chapman home. Friday afternoon the party went to Topeka, Kansas and then to Holton, Kanasa for a short visit at the Geo Gordon home From there they went to Pawnee City, Nebraska and from there to Lincoln where the family re-union was held at the home of Mr and Mrs T. Davis. All the children of Mr. and Mrs Davis were present, they were: Mrs H H. Chapman and husband, of Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. D N. Davis, wife and son, Don, of Los Angeles, Cal; Mr. John C. Davis, of Salt Lake City, Utah; Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson, husband and son Buster, of Klemme, Iowa; Mrs. Lyle Liebendorfer and son Robert, of Mason City, Iowa; Mr. T. E. Davis and wife, of Council Bluffs, Iowa; and Mrs. S A Stiers and sons, Sheldon and David, of Lincoln, Nebr.

At Kansas City, Holton and Pawnee cousins and other relatives had gatherings and picnics for the visitors and a big time was had at each place.

A brief sketch on crops in the various parts might be of interest to our farmer readers. The first grain cutting was seen a few miles north of Des Moines on the trip to Kansas City. Around Des Moines a few fields of corn were just beginning to tassel out. The corn in Missouri did not look so good, most of the fields are badly spotted, altho they have had plenty of rain. Corn around Klemme was as far along as most of the Missouri corn. Kansas has the biggest wheat crop in history. Corn around Topeka and up north all looked fine and farmers were threshing small grain. Eastern Nebraska has both good small grain and corn. Crops are also very good around Lincoln. Southwestern Iowa begins to show the effects of the dry weather and all along the Lincoln Highway up to Carrol and north to Lake City, Rockwell City and Fort Dodge it was quite dry and their corn did not look as good as in former years we have made the trip. Hancock county may seem dry to the farmers but it is nothing compared to other parts of the state.

PLANT NEW VEGETABLE CROPS

Several That May Be Put Out Now Not Commonly Grown

Few people in Iowa plant garden crops in July to mature for fall use and winter storage and many are unfamiliar with some of the crops that may be put out this month

One vegetable crop which Ora Smith, vegetable crops teacher at Iowa State College, urges Iowans to plant now is Chinese cabbage, sometimes called celery cabbage. He says this is a very fine salad crop, is easily grown and may be cooked and eaten like ordinary cabbage.

Other crops not commonly grown which may be planted until the last week of this month are kohl rabi, endive and kale. Kohl rabi is cooked in the same way as turnips, using an enlarged portion of the stem Endive is used like lettuce and kale is prepared like spinach.

Among the common crops which may be planted now for fall maturity are Carrots, beets, turnips, beans, peas, lettuce, radishes, winter radishes winter onions rutabagas, spinach and swiss chard.

WIENER CASINGS COME HIGH

Walter H. Beal, of West Union, quotes a local butcher as somewhat put out because a little pail of wiener casings cost him $91, at the rate of $3 60 a pound, making the cost of the casings alone 6 cents for each pound of wieners The gut of Australian sheep is the only casing that will do for wieners, as the "innards" of cattle do not come in small enough sizes, while those of hogs are too tough to eat, and those of American sheep are too full of holes to contain the stuffing.

KLEMME BAND WILL PLAY AT GARNER

KLEMME BAND WILL PLAY LAST CONCERT FRIDAY NIGHT

Garner Band Will Play Concert On Friday Night, July 30th

This Friday evening, July 23rd, will mark the close of the band concert season in Klemme by the local band.

Last year the Garner and Klemme bands exchanged concerts which was well received in both towns and was somewhat of a novelty. The same arrangement will again be carried ou this year and the Klemme band wi'. play a concert at Garner next Tuesday evening, July 27th. The Garner band will return the compliment and will play a concert here next week Friday evening, July 30. Plan to attend both concerts.

Program For This Week

1 The Outlook March
2. When Roses Bloom, Serenade
3. Wild Flowers, Waltz
4 Arcadia, Overature
5. Old Black Joe, old popular
6. Our Mascot, March

Intermission ....

7. Yankee Scout, March
8. The Elves, Overature
9. Who? Popular.
10 Moonlight, Serenade
11 Tramp, Tramp, Thru Georgia
12. Apollo, March

Remember, this is the last concert at home by your home town band If you have appreciated the band show it by your applause. Don't wear mittens; if you hurt your hand clapping you can get some good linament from Pete Wilson, and if you break your horn honking any auto mechanic in Klemme will be glad to fix it for you—for a dollar!

JUDGE FINES SELF

Mr. Newland, a member of the inspection staff of the department of agriculture, filed an information against Walter I. Koon, of Cedar Rapids, for selling gasoline in cintainers not painted red as required by law. It happened that Mr. Koon is a justice of the peace and in his own court he entered a plea of guilty and fined himself $10, but remitted the costs.

FOLLOWS EMANCIPATOR

Milton R. Moskow, twelve-year-old San Francisco schoolboy who since the age of five has patterned his life after that of Abraham Lincoln, aspires to occupy the White House some day as his hero did. He has been nominated as a candidate for the American Youth Award established by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 in celebration of 150 years of American Independence. Under the plan of the American Youth Award and the American Teacher Award, each state will select a boy and a girl and a woman teacher who best represent American ideals, and they will be given trips to Philadelphia and to Washington, where they will receive medals from President Coolidge.

KNOW HOW TO STOP WORKING

It Is Quite As Important As To Know How To Work

It is quite as important for the housewife to know how to stop working as it is for her to know how to work. These are nerve problems and the key to them is relaxation, which comes both thru cessation of motion and solitude.

The foregoing observations were made by Miss Winifred R. Tilden, head of the physical training for women at Iowa State College.

"Too many women make housekeeping their chief end in life," says Miss Tilden, "but housekeeping should be only the means to a comfortable living and higher ends. If it is convenient to sweep and dust on Friday, well and good; if not, well and good also.

"It is better to have a cheery smile for the family at the supper table with the ironing only half done than to have all the ironing out in grand display and the housewife in a darkened room with a raging headache at supper time," Miss Tilden asserted.

Work schedules are alright, Miss Tilden believes, but she does not think the housewife should tie herself to a schedule in getting her work done. Tired nerves result in dull, cross, discouraged or perplexed dispositions. When the nerves are in this condition they need new life—relaxation.

Here are some suggestions Miss Tilden offers to avoid tired nerves:

"Let the colors of your dress and room be quiet, harmonizing with your taste and temperament.

"Have your reading lamp portable and fully shaded and placed where the light will strike your back and not your face.

"Have a clock that ticks almost without being heard. A loud ticking timepiece is hard on the nerves.

"If unusually tired and nervous, place a hot water bag at the feet or spine."

NOW IS THE TIME TO DIG TULIP AND NARCISSUS BULBS

Store Them in Cool Place Until Time To Plant This Fall

Tulips or narcissus which have been growing for three or four years without being dug should be lifted at this time, separated and stored until planting time this fall—about September.

After digging the bulbs, remove the tops and clean off the dirt, then place them in cool, dry place until fall A shed or dry basement is satisfactory.

f one grades the bulbs as to size and then plants the large ones in one spot with the small ones in another, the blooming period will be more uniform next spring, acording to E C. Volz, head of the floriculfural work at Iowa State College.

Folk who expect to buy narcissus bulbs this year should place their orders early because the importation of these bulbs is now prohibited and it is likely the home grown supply will not be large enough to meet the demand.

It is not too early at this time to place the order for fall bulbs, or at least to secure nursery catalogs, Mr Volz advises If tulips are purchased he recommends securing a few of the more uncommon kinds, such as the Darwin, Breeder or Cottage varieties.

FISH ND GAME TO BE DISPLAYED AT STATE FAIR

The Iowa Fish and Game department has announced plans for the erection of a special building dedicated to the wild life of Iowa on the state fair grounds this year. The building will contain the most modern types of acquarium to accommodate fish of all kinds native to the Iowa waters, which will be exhibited at the fair. There will also be scores of pens for wild animals and birds. Officials of the state department will be on duty with the exhibit throughout the period of the fair to answer questions of spectators and to give lectures on the native wild life of the state.

BUNDLE OATS MAKE GOOD FEED FOR DAIRY COW WHEN PASTURES ARE DRY

"Save some of your oats bundles and feed to your dairy cows," says Henry Ludeke, who has taken the time to experiment and try out the advice of expert dairymen.

The Klemme Creamery also says it's good practice when the pastures are dry to feed each dairy cow two or three bundles of oats per day and keep up the milk flow to capacity.

Farmers who have tried it find it is successful and so we want to pass the good advice along.

Pastures here are pretty dry and do not have much feed value in them and the oats bundles make a good substitute and if this practice is followed out will mean several thousand dollars more in butterfat to the farmers of this vicinity.

CHILDREN'S BAND TO PLAY AT BAYSIDE SUNDAY

The North Iowa children's band will play concerts at Bayside on Clear Lake next Sunday, July 25th, afternoon and night This great band contains about forty kiddies and will play pieces you like to hear. The Bayside management urges parents to bring their children next Sunday to see and hear these youngsters. In addition to the band concerts four acts are scheduled on the free attraction program. Professor J. Rex, physical entertainer, will present a European novelty. Bound with ropes or chains by strangers, then pulled feet first to the top of a tree or pole he frees himself in a very few seconds. He also allows two men to hold on to his hadot hair andwh irls them around in the air at a good speed. Hazel and Conrad, vaudeville entertainers, will present two free acts both afternoon and evening. They wear gorgeous costumes and offer singing, dancing, jokes and stories. You will enjoy their comedy.

HOT AND DRY HERE NOW

The past week has been an unusually hot weather spell for Iowa and the official reports say the temperature was as high as 100 degrees in the shade one or two days.

The hot weather spell was accompanied by a drought and Iowa is in need of a good, soaking rain to make the corn do its stuff.

HANCOCK COUNTY REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

E. P. Hanson Sheriff, to Albert Mitchell. Sheriff's Deed, date 7-16-26, $33,376.00. Part of block A Standrings add to Corwith lying S. of M. & St. L. Ry, except tract 136 x 191 feet and also SW¼ & SW¼ of NW¼ 32-95-26 & N 3-8 of NW¼ 5-94-26.

Articles of Incorporation of The Selby Poultry Co located at Britt, Iowa—capital stock $30,000.00, directors Hiram Selby, Kirksville, Mo., and H A. Selby, Britt and Norman D McKenzie of Britt, Iowa.

Fred W. Werges wf. et al to Anna Marie Werges. Q. C. D., date 5-8-26, $1.00 SW¼ 10-95-25.

C. A. Church to John Rust. W. D. date 7-1-26, $1.00 N. 110 a. of W½ 27-94-24.

M. S. Burgitt to R. C. Plumer, W. D. date 7-13-26, $1.00, NE¼ 21-96-25.

Jennie E. Pritchard hus to W. F. Greiman, W. D. date 12-2-25, $1.00, SE¼ 16-96-24.

Articles of Incorporation of the Wellemeyer Company place of business Klemme, Iowa. Capital stock $35,000.00 divided into shares of $100.00 each. Incorporators, Arthur Wellemeyer and Andrew J. Wellemeyer.

MISS ABEL MARRIED AT DES MOINES YESTERDAY

Miss Abel, teacher in the Klemme high school for the past two years, was married at her home at Des Moines Wednesday morning at 9:45 o'clock, July 21, to Mr. Marvin Turner, of Fayette, Mo., a druggist of that place. They will make their home at Fayette.

NO RAISE IN RATES FOR WESTERN LINES

I. C. C. Also Denies Plea of Farmers for Decrease in Carrier Charges.

Washington.—The application of western railroads for a 5 per cent increase in freight rates was denied in a lengthy opinion handed down by the interstate commerce commission, and in the same opinion the application of farm organizations for lower freight rates on agricultural products was also denied. Both applications were based upon the alleged depression in agriculture throughout the western states.

The commission supported the view that depression has existed and exists at present, but held that the effects of the depression had not been reflected in the earnings of the roads to an extent to justify an increase in rates. and also that if the reduction asked for by the farming interests were granted the solvency of the roads would be threatened unless other commodities could be found to be carried at a higher rate.

Conclusions reached by the commission in its decision are:

1. No such financial emergency exists in the western district as to demand an increase in rates.

2. The earnings of carriers as a whole in the western district have not been such as to warrant any general revision of rates downward on products of agriculture or industries subject to depression. However, the decision with respect to the farmers' application for reduction disclosed that further investigation would be conducted under the authority of the Hoch-Smith resolution passed by congress in January of last year, directing the commission to make a thorough study of the freight-rate structure with a view to determining what rates, if any, are unjust, unreasonable, discriminatory or unduly preferential.

In the petition filed by the western roads it was said that the western carriers have not earned, and are not now earning a fair return upon the aggregate value of their property, despite the fact that they have been operating honestly, efficiently and economically and that their earnings were not sufficient to make it possible for them to maintain the adequate transportation system contemplated by congress nor procure necessary capital, and that by reason of the confiscatory rate of return under which they have been operating their condition had become precarious and that they were in need of increased revenues.

Answering the contention for the railroads that costs of operation have increased, the commission in its decision found that still greater economies can be effected and waste in operation can be further decreased.

Discussing the situation in agriculture, the commission found that there has been a decided downward trend in prices received for agricultural products, but expressed the opinion that conditions are improving.

The carriers answered the farmers' plea of depression by pointing to the large increase in the number of automobiles in use among the farmers.

Elks Close Grand Lodge Session With Big Parade

Chicago.—Dedication of the magnificent $3,000,000 memorial building, a poem in stone commemorating the deeds and sacrifices of the 70,000 Elks who served in the World war, the installation of Charles H. Grakelow as grand exalted ruler along with his newly elected officers, a closing business session, followed by a monster parade in which 30,000 participated, including 50 bands, brought the sixty-second annual grand lodge reunion of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks to a close.

Cincinnati will entertain the next lodge session.

Landing at Jennings, Fla., approximately 825 miles by air from Chicago, the balloon Detroiter, one of the four entries in the Elks' national air race, was unofficially held to be the winner.

Indiana was awarded the trophy for the finest float; Cleveland, Mich., second; Philadelphia, third; Oakland, Calif., fourth, and Ohio state, fifth.

Philadelphia was adjudged the best appearing lodge in the parade. Oakland and Detroit placed second and third, respectively; and Oakland won a third point in competition for having brought a full platoon the greatest distance.

Bakersfield, Calif., won the drill team competition by three one-hundredths of a point from Buffalo, N. Y. Jackson, Mich., was fourth; Oakland, Calif., fifth. The winning team scored 98.5 per cent perfect.

Plan Radio in Schools

Chicago.—Radio will become a regular part of the curriculum in the public schools if a test being conducted by officials substantiates the claims of advocates.

Lords O. K. Gag Rule

London.—The house of lords, where tradition throughout the years has stood for unlimited debate, has voted 113 to 40 to permit the "gag rule" when it becomes necessary.

Sugar Harvest 739,000 Tons

Honolulu.—Hawaii's sugar plantations will produce aproximately 739,000 tons of raw sugar during the 1926 season, according to predictions made by the nine sugar agencies in this section.

AT BRAZILIAN EMBASSY

Coelho de Almeida has just arrived in Washington to assume his new duties as first secretary of the Brazilian embassy.

STANDARD OIL PLAN TO CALL PREFERRED

Proposal Is One of Most Stupendous Operations.

New York.—It was officially announced here that the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, keystone of the farflung Standard Oil interests, has determined to retire its $200,000,000 of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock now outstanding Calling of this stock will represent one of the most stupendous operations of its kind in the history of American industry. To accomplish the task, Standard Oil of New Jersey must raise approximately $230,000,000, as the stock is callable at $115.

It was officially said that the preferred shares would be retired as soon as a plan for the readjustment of the capital structure of the company had been worked out.

Two plans, it was said, are under consideration, as follows:

The offering of new common shares to present stockholders at $30 in the ratio of one new share for three now held, and which would give "rights" to the present holders, valued at about $3.50 each.

The sale of an amount of convertible bonds equal in size to the present preferred stock issue, giving holders of these bonds an opportunity of conversion as the common shares advance.

Holders of the common stock will receive "rights" of a tremendous aggregate value under any of the plans that are being considered. The plan most favored at this time is that calling for the issuance of additional common stock to be offered to present stockholders at $30 a share. The common stock, which is certain to benefit by whatever plan is finally adopted is now on a $1 annual dividend basis, but it has been strongly indicated in circles close to the management that an increase in the rate is contemplated.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

Steps to prevent shipment of hair tonics and cure-alls falsely advertised as having valuable radium properties are to be taken by the Department of Agriculture.

Acting Prohibition Chief Dow announced the appointment of 150 more prohibition agents for assignment in the New York area.

There's a real man without a country, more than a million of him, in fact in the U. S. A. That estimate is given by the commissioner of immigration as to the number of residents who cannot claim citizenship in any land.

Fort Mansfield, R. I., will be sold by the War department at public auction on the premises, July 23. The fort is located on Napatree Point, near Watch Hill and comprises about 112 acres.

Conditions favorable for growing rubber were found in the West Indies and Central America by O. F. Cook, J. W. Hubbard, and F. C. Baker, of the bureau of plant industry of the Department of Agriculture, who have just returned from a three months' exploration trip.

Canada Wins Rifle Match

Bisley Camp, England.—Canada won for the second consecutive year the Imperial Kolapore cup, one of the greatest of British service rifle matches.

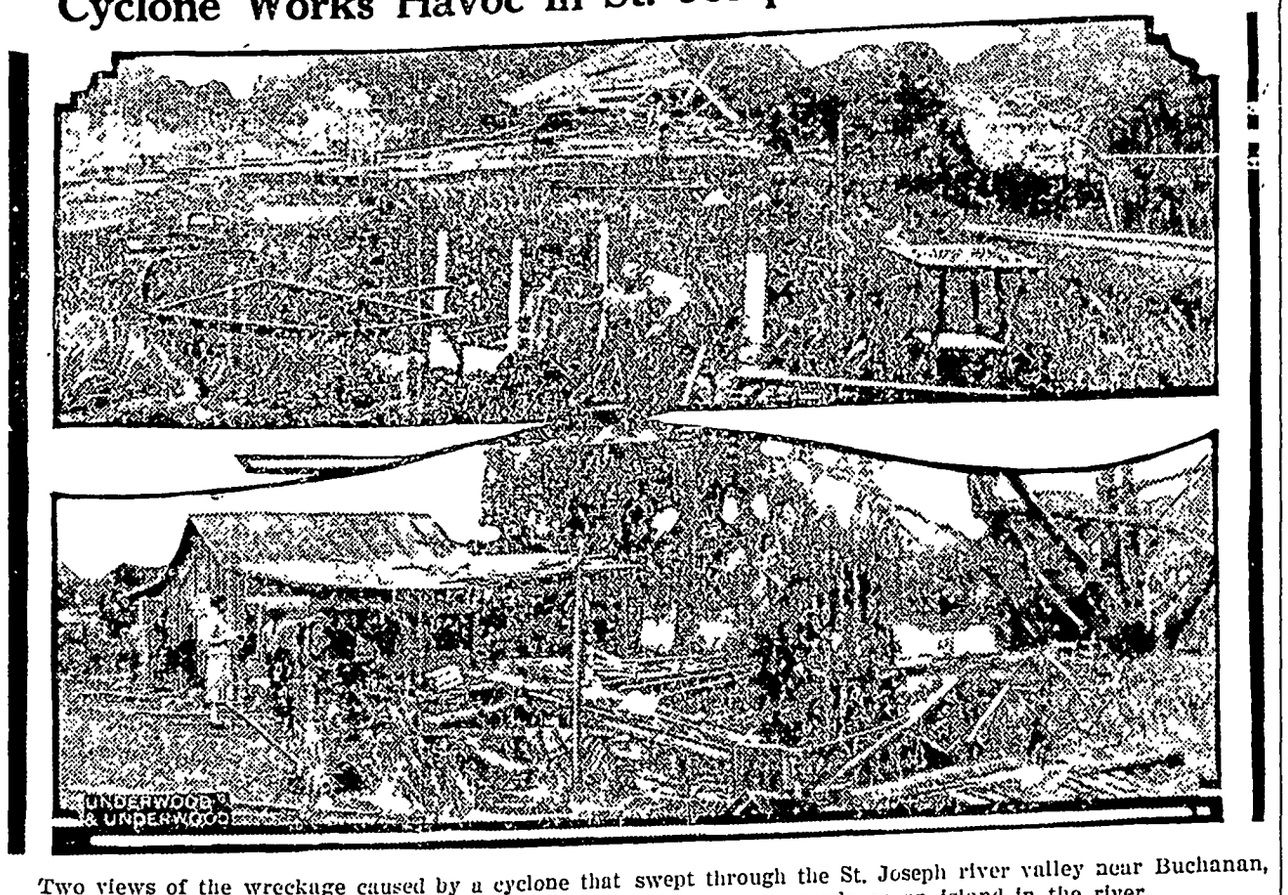
22 Hurt in Railway Crash

East Liverpool, Ohio.—When six coaches on the Detroit-Pittsburgh express of the Pennsylvania railroad were derailed 17 miles east of here, 22 passengers were injured, two seriously.

Business Women Elect

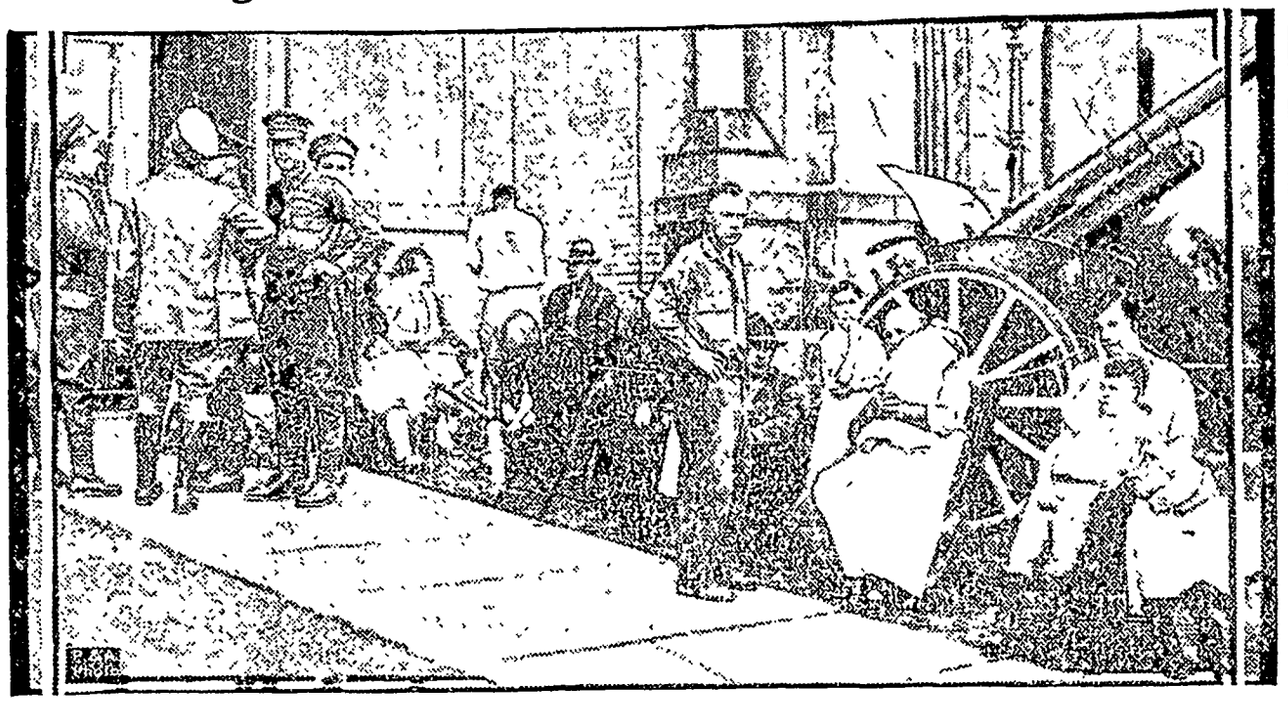
Des Moines, Iowa.—Miss Lena Madsen Phillips, New York attorney, was elected president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women at the closing session here.

Cyclone Works Havoc in St. Joseph Valley, Michigan



Two views of the wreckage caused by a cyclone that swept through the St. Joseph river valley near Buchanan, Mich., killing three persons and destroying cottages. The pictures were made on an island in the river.

Refugees From the Disaster in the Naval Depot



As a result of the explosions and burning of the United States naval ammunition depot at Lake Denmark, near Dover, N. J., many families were forced from their homes. The photograph shows some of the refugees at the armory in Morristown, N. J., where they were cared for.

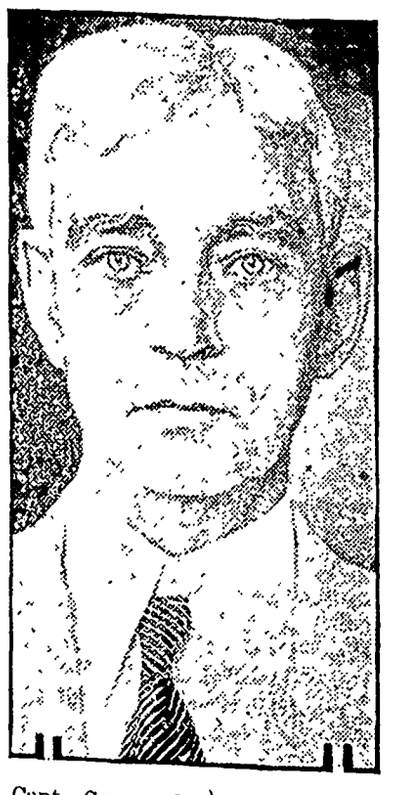
HERE IS ELKS' "MISS FIDELITY"

Preliminary to the convention of the Elks in Chicago a "beauty derby" was held and this young lady, Miss Jaen Marre, won first place, the title of "Miss Fidelity" and a film contract. She reigned as queen of the convention.

RAOUL TILMONT

Raoul Tilmont, secretary of the Belgium embassy, who is at present charge d'affaires during the absence of Baron De Cartier, the ambassador, who is abroad.

REAR ADMIRAL ROCK



Capt. George Henry Rock, United States navy, assistant chief, bureau of construction, United States navy, has been named by the selection board to be promoted to rear admiral to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Rear Admiral Elliot Snow, construction corps.

Place Floral Anchor on the S-51

Floral anchor being placed on the conning tower of the ill-fated submarine S-51 by the Veterans' Association of Federal Employees of the Navy Yard, New York, while crowds lined the railing of the dry dock.

MANY GEORGIA BANKS HAVE CLOSED DOORS

Florida Institutions Also Affected; Some May Be Reopened Soon.

Atlanta, Ga.—Bankruptcy proceedings of the Bankers' Trust company and subsequent closing of 85 of the chain of 120 banks in Georgia and Florida which it served as agent was climaxed by the suicide by shooting of J. R. Smith, president of the Atlanta Real Estate board and a director and heavy stockholder of the Bankers' Trust company

Atlanta, Ga.—In consequence of the bankruptcy proceedings taken against the Bankers' Trust Company of Atlanta, sixteen additional state banks in Georgia and several other state banks in Florida have been forced to suspend payments.

Since the epidemic of bank failures began a few days ago, no less than eighty-five Georgia institutions have closed their doors.

In financial circles here, the continuance of the bank failures is attributed to two general reasons. The first of these is that nearly all the banks affected were in some way or another connected with the Bankers Trust company, which conducted financing for one hundred and twenty banks. The second is that public confidence, shaken by the news of the failures, has had the inevitable result of precipitating a general withdrawal of funds.

In cases where withdrawals occur in a volume which cannot be met because of the nonliquid nature of the assets, there is no alternative to suspension of payments. This insures, according to officials of the state department, the reopening of a number of the institutions within a few days.

Among the banks in Georgia which closed, together with their capitalization, total resources and liabilities at the close of 1925, are the following:

Taylor County bank, Butler, $15,000 and $224,679; Bank of Lyerly, $15,000 and $236,670; Bank of Cussetta, $25,000 and $174,236; Rock Mart bank, $30,000 and $412,989, Bank of Sapp, $16,300 and $204,179; Fairmount bank, $15,000 and $178,297; Macon County bank, Oglethorpe, $15,000 and $149,812; Lakewood bank, Atlanta, $50,000 and $184,485; Bank of Michelle, $25,000, and $192,731; Hazlehurst bank, Clarkesville, $25,000 and $891,411; Cornelia bank, Cornelia, $40,000 and $734,429; Bank of Lula, $15,000 and $14,273; Bank of Cleveland, $15,000 and $65,453; Bank of Williamson, $25,000 and $178,812, and the Cornelia bank, Demarest, whose financial statement was not available.

Among Florida banks which suspended payment were:

The Citizens Bank of Eustis, Bank of Mount Dora, Bank of Tavares, and the Bank of Umatilla.

The Florida banks, in each case announced they were closing "for the protection of depositors."

Recently the Bank of Umatilla started suit against the Bankers' Trust company, asking that a receiver for that concern be appointed, and obtained a temporary injunction to prevent company officials from altering the status of any bank in the chain. The Umatilla bank executives charged that the trust company had borrowed close to half a million dollars from them and had admitted inability to pay.

The Federal court assumed jurisdiction of the action against the Bankers' Trust company when creditors of the institution in Atlanta took a hand. Creditors in Florida have assisted federal intervention on the ground that the trust company was not a bank, but merely financed and insured bank transactions and, on admission of its officials, did not receive deposits subject to withdrawal by check.

Judge Samuel H Sibley of the North Georgia District Federal court named former Governor Hugh M. Dorsey, and J. K. Ottley of the First National bank, Atlanta, as receivers for the trust company.

13 Hanged for Plot to Kill Turk Ruler

Smyrna, Asiatic Turkey—Thirteen men, six of them members of the Turkish parliament, were hanged on the street corners along the waterfront for conspiring to assassinate their president, Mustapha Kemal Pasha. All died protesting their innocence.

Bar Association Elects C. S. Whitman Pres.

Denver, Colo.—Charles S. Whitman, former governor of New York, was elected president of the American bar association to succeed Chester H. Rowell of Kansas. The election was the final business session of the annual meeting here.

Jack Delaney New Champ

New York.—Before a crowd of 60,000 excited and cheering fight fans at Ebbett's field in Brooklyn, Jack Delaney won the decision over Paul Berlenbach in their 15-round battle for the light heavyweight championship of the world.

Illinois Miners Aid Brit

Springfield, Ill.—The officials of the Workers announce that the organization has voted $25,000 for the relief of British miners.

Youth Rides West

By Will Irwin

Copyright by Will Irwin
WNU Service

THE STORY SO FAR

On their way to the new Cottonwood gold diggings in Colorado in the early Seventies, Robert Gilson, easterner, and his partner, Buck Hayden, a veteran miner, witness the hold-up of a stage coach, from which the express box is stolen before the bandits are scared off. Among the hold-up victims are Mrs. Constance Deane, and Mrs. Barnaby, who intends to open a restaurant in Cottonwood. Gilson meets Marcus Handy, editor, on his way to start the Cottonwood Courier. Arriving in town, Gilson and Hayden together purchase a mining claim. A threatened lynching is averted by the bravery of Chris McGrath, town marshal. Gilson becomes disgusted with gold digging, what with its unending labor and small rewards, and so the sudden appearance of Shorty Croly, old-time partner of Buck, is not altogether disconcerting to him.

CHAPTER IV—Continued

—6—

The look which Buck flashed back at horty was a herald of destiny. Had ot Buck dropped that little, hesitant utter of the eyelids, had I not caught on the wing, the future might have n very differently for all three of . It expressed—was it regret of his rgain? On the one hand there stood an unseasoned tenderfoot of little e in gold washing; on the other, his d and tried partner. Yet he was ound to me by ties of law and honor; nd Buck was not the man to edge out a bargain. He could not know how uch, at that moment, I wanted to dge out of it myself. The sight of e camp, of human beings in aggretion, had further sickened me with y hard lot on Placer Claim Number 32.

It flashed on me that Buck and horty wanted to be alone; that if ey could talk it over they might ome to closer agreement with the outome which I desired. And there in y hands was my excuse.

"I met the editor of this paper comg across Ludlow's pass," I broke in. And I promised to look him up."

"All right, kid," replied Buck, with readiness which piqued me, in spite my deeper desires. "Guess I'll be omewhere round camp until late."

So forth I went, to search for Marus Handy and the Cottonwood ourier. When I first saw it a week efore, I had thought of Main street crowded. Now it ran brimful.

A blob of light above the roadway rew me up a side street. It illumated, I saw presently, a board shack eaning against a log cabin. I looked gain; and there stood the object of y search. An illumination, such as had seen carried in political processions, proclaimed that this was the orning Courier, Pioneer Newspaper f Cottonwood.

The main cabin, like nine-tenths of he buildings in Cottonwood, had not et achieved the luxury of a regular ooden door. In its place hung like portiere the conventional gunny sack. pushed through this; to my nostrils ame a scent pungent and pleasing, ut strange—printer's ink. Among he details of a cluttered interior, my ye caught first the central group. At printer's stone just large enough to old two forms stood Marcus Handy overalls, splashed with ink and rease, hammering a block out of a alley. In one corner fumed a hot heet-iron stove. The shack beyond evealed the figure of a fourteen-year-ld boy, tinkering with Marcus Hany's precious flat-bed press. Beneath , their heads propped on a pile of hite print paper, lay two other boys, ven smaller, sound asleep. These, I as afterward to learn, served as subitute for the boiler which Marcus andy hoped to get some day from enver. When press time came, they ould turn the great crank which reolved the flywheel. To one side of he room in which I stood, rows of rinter's cases lay so close to the one that two ancient printers, furiously setting type, constantly bumped the oss. On the other side was a pine able, littered with newspapers, proofs, cattered sheets; all weighted down y a double-barreled derringer.

Marcus Handy jerked up at me a ervous eye. "For God's sake, don't—" e began, and then: "Oh, the tenderoot!" He rested in position for an nstant, his wooden mallet poised, and saw that the lines of his face were rawn and his eyes bloodshot. "Were ou fooling when you said you had a ollege education?"

"The best and most complete educaion that Harvard university dispenses r affords," I said, taking up, where we ad left it off on Ludlow's pass our Western game of chaff and rhetoric; oolished, refined—" but Handy broke hat off with a gesture, as though the ituation were too serious for humor.

"God Almighty must have sent you o reward me for the one good deed I ver did, which I don't know what it e," said he. "A printer's got drunk nd run out on me, and the paper ain't alf written. Don't say you're doing nything tonight. Just grab a pencil nd a handful of that copy paper over here, and bring it here!" Even as he poke, he had hammered out the lock; and when I had obeyed, fascisted, and turned back to him, he was fting with careful fingers a stick of ype.

"Take notes on this, and when you've aken them, sit down there and put hem into the English language," he dded, never looking up from his work. And don't stop to get any of your college grammar into it, either. There was a fire this morning up in White Mule gulch. Got two cabins on a claim. Name of claim, Jennie June. Name of owners, John Ferguson and Ad Woolwich. Got that down?" Marcus had now filled out his column and set in the rules. "All right. Two hundred words. Work in something about needing a city government to afford fire protection. Rush 'em both—they're needed to fill out this page—and then I'll give you the big story!"

As I sat down to the table and shoved papers and derringer away to give myself writing room, I had a spurt of amusement at the unconventionality of the proceeding. I glanced up at Marcus again, and amusement yielded to sympathy and understanding. The early appearance of the Cottonwood Courier had been no miracle, unless a miracle of hard work. In less than a week, Marcus had got his plant set up and his newspaper out; and I conjectured that he was as yet its whole editorial and business staff. Which accounted for his odd, almost drunken appearance. He was working by the light of his own blazing nerves.

"Rush it!" he called twice, as I set down my plain tale. Having finished, I handed over the sheets to him, somewhat thrilled at the prospect of seeing myself for the first time in print. He did not even glance at my copy, but yelled to a printer: "Get this out as soon as the Lord'll let you! Now—" he was lifting and arranging type again—"this reading item goes on the front page for a lead. Start it about this way: 'Mysterious holdups for large sums have grown entirely too common in camp of late. We do not refer to picayune affairs where a tenderfoot parts with his roll. The boys must have their fun. But hard upon two robberies of the stages came the affair at Black canyon, and yesterday the gang, for the same gang it must be, attempted the boldest crime yet perpetrated.'—Do you think you can get that down about the way I said it?"

"I think so," I faltered.

"Well, take a note or two, can't you?" When I looked up, Marcus was locking his completed page.

"All ready?" he proceeded. "Write the rest of it your own way. Here's the facts. Stonewall Jackson mine up on Liverpool sends down a messenger to Cottonwood in a buckboard for the payroll. Probably about five thousand dollars. He don't take any chances of being seen at the bank. Gets a business man on Main street—don't know who—to draw the money for him. Then, at the last minute, something makes him ringy. Just an instinct, I guess. He ends up by sending the money in the saddle-bags of the boss; and he rides alone, with a sawed-off shotgun on the seat for a blind. Sure enough, he's held up. Four men, masked. They go through him and see they've been fooled. One of 'em's for torturing him, Indian fashion, to make him tell what's become of the payroll, but the rest lose their sand. So they kick him once or twice for luck and vamoose. Broad daylight proposition. He comes down to notify the police and lets go of the facts to me at the Black Jack this afternoon. Make the story of the holdup an interview with him. And get it dramatic. Go strong on the minute when he's facing the prospect of hellish torment. His name's Henry—there, I'll be d—d if I remember what the rest of it is. Call it Smith for the present. Finish up by drawing strong attention to the fact that someone in camp must be systematically peaching—"

"Peaching?" I interposed; for that verb, now almost forgotten in the progress of our American language, was then new slang.

"Informing—watching shipments of money for the gang. It's plain to me as the nose on your face. Some of the gambling element, maybe. And make an appeal for a strong, pure, municipal government. That's all—no, wait a minute—" Marcus lifted his form with a weary grunt, set it down on the floor, leaned it carefully against the wall, and rested his hands on the stone as he meditated. "No, drop that," Don't even hint about confederates in camp. No politics, either. I want to know more before I cut loose. Now get it written!"

Looking up occasionally from the frantic haste of my labors, I noted absently that men were constantly passing and repassing through the canvas door and talking with Marcus as he worked. One, evidently, had brought in an advertisement. Just as evidently, Marcus had told him to write it himself; for he seated himself at the table opposite me and, with a protruding tongue-tip following the course of his pencil, set himself to the labor of literary creation. Another must have borne news, for presently Marcus called to me:

"You, kid! Name of the messenger's Henry Seward. They took seven dollars off him. He left his gold watch in camp when he started his bluff. Put that in—contrast between what they expected and what they got."

I finished, hesitatingly set the copy on the case before Marcus. He ran rapidly, professionally, through the sheets. "Nine hundred words or thereabouts," he said. "Couldn't have guessed better at space myself. Now I'll show my gratitude and appreciation practically, just for a change. I can use you. I've been wanting a reporter. If you like the job, sit down and go on with it—at twenty a week. What say?"

My breath taken away by the dramatic suddenness of his proposal, I realized that here lay my way out. The smell of printer's ink was already perfume to my nostrils. I had enjoyed this little whirl at intellectual work—the thing I was trained to do—as much as I had loathed digging on the claim. If Shorty would only buy me out— With a promptness which equaled that of Marcus, I answered:

"Give me an hour, and I'll let you know."

"Well, come back anyhow—need you tonight!" exclaimed Marcus as I darted through the door to search for Buck and Shorty.

CHAPTER V

I pushed and jostled my way from Siegel's beer hall to the Black Jack, from the Black Jack to Myers' Variety theater, where at last I found my two adventurers lolling expansively on a back seat, Buck's arm hooked over Shorty's shoulder. They, in common with the rest of the audience, were listening with heads sentimentally askew to "The Blue Alsatian Mountains," as rendered, to the accompaniment of a guitar, a violin and the only piano in camp, by a hawk-faced woman in short and ruffly skirts. I had to wait until she rendered two encores before I could announce to Buck and Shorty that I wanted to see them on important business and drag them to the recess between the Variety and Cheap Jack Eckstein's Dry Goods Emporium. And there I wasted no time with preliminaries, but plunged straight into business.

"Shorty," I said—I had never heard any other name for him, "do you want to buy out my share of our claim?"

It was Buck who answered. He looked upon me with a startled eye,

I Sat Down to the Table and Shoved Paper and Derringer Away to Give Myself Writing Room.

which grew a little suspicious as he asked:

"What's the game? Got anything in sight?"

"Nothing in mining," said I. "But I've been offered a job on the newspaper. And I want to take it."

Shorty spoke; a slight difficulty in pronunciation proved that since I left him he had taken many drinks.

"Throwin' down your good old pardner, huh!" he exclaimed, truculently. "Double-cross him—"

"Shut up, Shorty!" commanded Buck. "This is a square kid. Only I want to see if he ain't a d—n fool. Don't you know you're lettin' go of a mighty promising prospect?"

"I know you think so," I replied.

"Course," said Buck, with the flash of an understanding for which I had not given him credit, "you're plumb disgusted with diggin' just now. It's hard for a young fellow to get down to real work. But the first week's always the toughest. You'll—"

"Aw, come to the p'int!" exclaimed Shorty, waving slightly toward me as though to begin hostilities. "How much do you want to skin me for?"

"I don't want to skin you at all," said I, a little touched, in spite of Shorty's condition. "Just what I put into it."

"Don't know's I can let you cheat yourself that way," said Buck, utterly ignoring, then and afterward, the interpositions of his muddled friend. "Why don't you grub-stake Shorty? Then you'll have your share comin'—"

"Grub-stake, h—l!" broke in Shorty. "No grub-stake in mine—"

"When we strike a pocket," concluded Buck. "And how's Shorty goin' to pay?"

"I'd rather not grub-stake anyone," said I, "and Shorty can pay me on the installment plan, can't he?" I was growing eager; for our discussion had brought up in my mind the sickening memory of that last week in the ooze of the stream-bed; and the blisters on my hands still burned. I perceived, however, that my affair was going well. Buck had not denied that he wanted to combine with Shorty. Only, honest man that he was, he had tried to guard my interests.

"I've got a better chance with the Courier," I added. "Of course, I don't like—" and here I stopped, too shy by virtue of my youth and my origin to bring out the rest. I wanted to tell Buck that my only regret at selling Claim No. 32 was the thought of leaving him. Toward Buck I felt at that stage of my western wanderings as a young soldier must feel toward a stern but benevolent and efficient superior officer. But Buck, it seemed, understood, for he replied in an unwontedly low voice:

"I'll be sorry to lose you, kid." And it was done; all excepting the process of getting logic into the muddled head of Shorty. Alternating force with tact, Buck accomplished that. Shorty had admitted ownership of a hundred dollars. He even drew it from its hiding place in back of his watch. I should have that to bind the bargain. I was to keep my horse and the personal articles of our equipment, and to take Shorty's note at three months for the remainder of the money we had put into our outfit—which had now been transmuted into our claim. That note Shorty was to pay off on the installment plan from current yield. Having arranged the details of this simple transaction, having got momentarily, at least, the consent of the party of the second part, Buck and I hurried him to the Comstock Lode saloon. We managed to jam our way to the bar, gave Shorty a drink to keep him quiet, paid the harassed bartender four bits for a pen, ink and two sheets of paper.

Buck wrote in his scrawly hand at my dictation, which seemed entirely to satisfy Shorty. But he drew back at the last moment, glaring at me with a suspicious eye. Then his shoulders began to heave with suppressed laughter; he suddenly took the pen and appended the signature of Edward D. Croly to agreement and note. And, having handed back the paper, he let his laughter go.

"All right?" he inquired. "Look'z all right, don't it? Ain't worth paper'z written on. Note signed by drunken man ain't no good." Shorty's laughter became Homeric.

"It's good in this case," remarked Buck dryly; and then he added in an aside to me:

"Better move on—expect you up for your stuff in the mornin'. I'll have your half of our output ready for you—share and share alike." I had actually forgotten the small detail of reward for my week's work.

Not in the least disturbed by Shorty's drunken remark about the note, I jostled back to the Courier. Marcus was still sticking type with jerky, maniacal speed.

"All right," I said, "I'll stay."

"All right," echoed Marcus. "Now move! I'm a hard boss, I am. Local news is awful slack. Hasn't been a single shooting, and it's Saturday night at that. Want three columns of telegraph stuff—"

"Telegraph?"

"Sure—news of the world. You'll find the Denver Friday morning papers and the Wednesday K. C. evening sheets there in the heap. Run through 'em and rewrite me a set of good-looking dispatches. If there's a hanging anywhere, play that up big for the main story. If anything happened in congress, make three or four inches out of that, unless it's got to do with mining. And remember, we're Republican, lock, stock and barrel. Treat the Democrats nasty."

I gathered the Denver papers to myself, and settled down to my job. However, ten minutes later Marcus, looking up as he transferred a stick of type to the stone, found me loafing and called:

"Rustle! What I want ain't literature, but speed!"

Struggling with the creative problem of imagining how a man might deport himself on the scaffold, I had looked up to meditate. And my eye had caught on a sheet of proofs hooked to a leg of the stone. At its head was an advertisement for Mrs. Barnaby's boarding house and restaurant, California and Aspen streets; special attention to transients. At Marcus' rebuke I started unnecessarily; and as I bent to my work, I felt my cheeks burning.

Marcus, on bidding me good night, added that Sunday was a day off for the whole staff excepting maybe him; and he didn't know but that even he was going to get the big sleep. I had found in the meantime that my duties on the Courier, like his, were not to be wholly literary. When the last news filler had passed into type, I helped wash the forms, carry them into the pressroom, fasten them onto the platens. As soon as the somewhat jerky old press, at the furious impulsion of the two boys, began to knock off passably fair impressions, all spare hands set to folding—Marcus on the stone, I on our editorial table, the little printer's devil on the floor. But not before I had retired into a corner with one of the early, dim copies and read myself for the first time in print.

It was Marcus who recalled that I had no lodgings. "Sorry I can't bed you down," he added, "but I'm sleeping three in a room as it is. My cabin's just behind Siegel's beer hall. If you're doing nothing today, come around about noon and rout me out. There's a lot of things I've had to leave at loose ends. You'd better go to the St. Louis lodging house. Tell them I said they were to give you a bed."

By now very tired, what with a night of mental work piled onto a day of physical, I trudged down Main street. It was three o'clock in the morning. The clerk of the St. Louis lodging house lay wrapped in a blanket just inside the flap of his tent, a dim lantern illuminating a drawn and unshaven face. He woke when I shook him, muttered that he was full up, fell asleep, had again to be shaken awake before I could make him understand that I came from Marcus Handy and must have a bed. Then without a word he shed his covers, rose, stretched, yawned, took the lantern in one hand and a roll of blankets in the other, and led me to a tiny compartment with canvas walls. On the floor lay three men, snoring; between them and the wall a pile of hay afforded just space for one more. My nostrils, fresh from the pure air of a mountain night, bridled at a vile mixed scent of human effluvia, stale tobacco, staler whisky. The clerk unrolled my blankets, collected my two dollars, and turned away.

Next morning stirrings on all sides woke me and I shook out my clothes, dressed and emerged to the outer air. I made my toilet with such poor and soiled facilities as the St. Louis lodging house afforded—a tin washbasin, encrusted round the edge, a roller towel whereof only one hand's breadth was gray instead of black, a hairbrush from which the bristles were coming out in bunches, a stained whiskboom, a piece of broken mirror. Some premonition of need had caused me, when Buck and I left the claim, to slip a clean collar into my overcoat pocket. I put this on and started for breakfast at Mrs. Barnaby's boarding house in a condition of Sabbath respectability. Never had I entertained the slightest doubt of where I intended to board in Cottonwood.

I pushed through the canvas flap of Mrs. Barnaby's, half expecting to find Mrs. Deane at the long table, wholly disappointed when I did not. Three nondescripts of the mines, their eyes on their tin plates, were wolfing ham and eggs and sucking down hot coffee. These, I learned later, were accidental transients. Just then Mrs. Barnaby herself waddled in with a platter of steaming cakes in one hand and three tin cups, emitting breakfast odors, hooked fanwise into the other. She wore a long gingham apron, not any too recently laundered, but her gray frizzes seemed just out of curl-papers; above her flushed, tanned and ruddy face they gave the effect of a silver crown.

"Hello!" she said, slapping the hot cakes before the three miners, who all reached for them simultaneously with their forks. "Didn't I see you at the holdup?"

"Yes," I replied. "I wasn't held up, but I was there."

Are you watching Mrs. Deane? Follow the next installment closely.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

TWO WOMEN FOUND HELP

By Reading Experiences of Other Women

Mrs. Nina Matteson, Box 206, Oxford, N. Y., writes—"If it had not been for your medicine, I could not have done my work as it should have been done. Mother told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I had read in different papers what it had done for different women. She wanted me to try it, so my husband got me one bottle at first; then I took two others. Now I am feeling quite strong again."

Mrs. Ernest Tanguay of Adams, Mass., says she was ill for four years and could not sleep nights or go out on the street. She read about the Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking eight bottles she was able to do all her work and go anywhere and is quite herself again.

This dependable Vegetable Compound is a household word in thousands of homes. The fourth generation is now learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than half a century, this reliable medicine has been used by women with very satisfactory results. If the Vegetable Compound has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you?

More English by Ear

Teacher—Give me a sentence with the word "analyze."

Small Boy—My sister Anna says she never makes love, but oh, how Analyze.—Satyr.

Ends pain in one minute CORNS

One minute—that's how quick Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads end the pain of corns. They do it safely. You risk no infection from amateur cutting, no danger from "drops" (acid). Zino-pads remove the cause—pressing or rubbing of shoes. They are thin, medicated, antiseptic, protective, healing. Get a box today at your druggist's or shoe dealer's—35c.

For Free Sample write The Scholl Mfg. Co., Chicago

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads
Put one on—the pain is gone

Keep Stomach and Bowels Right
By giving baby the harmless, purely vegetable, infants' and children's regulator.
MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP
brings astonishing, gratifying results in making baby's stomach digest food and bowels move as they should at teething time. Guaranteed free from narcotics, opiates, alcohol and all harmful ingredients. Safe and satisfactory.
At All Druggists

Foolish Fashion

Alice—"The new fashions will avoid everything freakish." Minna—"Won't they look absurd!"

Making rugs and carpets is the chief manufacturing industry in Persia.

ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE

Stops the pain of Corns, Bunions and Calluses.
Before putting on your shoes, sprinkle into them some Allen's Foot-Ease and walk all day or dance all evening without the nerve-wracking pain of hot, tired, aching, swollen feet. It gives immediate relief. Allen's Foot-Ease the Antiseptic, Healing Powder for the Feet, takes the friction from the shoes and gives rest and comfort. Always use it for breaking in new or tight shoes. Sold by all drug and department stores. Trial Package and a Foot-Ease Walking Doll sent Free. Address: ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, Le Roy, N. Y.

Cuticura Toilet Trio
Send for Samples
To Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. M, Malden, Mass.

ABSORBINE

will reduce inflamed, swollen Joints, Sprains, Bruises, Soft Bunches; Heals Boils, Poll Evil, Quittor, Fistula and infected sores quickly as it is a positive antiseptic and germicide. Pleasant to use; does not blister or remove the hair, and you can work the horse. $2.50 per bottle delivered. Book 7 A free.
W. F. YOUNG, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

Kill All Flies! THEY SPREAD DISEASE
Placed anywhere, DAISY FLY KILLER attracts and kills all flies. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient and cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed. Insist upon

DAISY FLY KILLER from your dealer.
HAROLD SOMERS Brooklyn N. Y.

LADIES—WE PAY $6 PER HUNDRED for gilding greeting cards; pleasant, easy work; write immediately. KING CARD CO., 155 East 42nd Street, New York.

Many "Colds" Caused by Poor Ventilation

To find better preventive methods, doctors in recent years have been studying the common cold more carefully than ever, and two authorities have summarized the supposed causes of this affliction under five headings: chills and drafts, conditions of the weather, irritation of the membrane on the breathing apparatus, infection and bad ventilation. The last is regarded as the commonest of all the causes, as warm stagnant air produces congestion and swelling in the mucous membrane which becomes covered with a thick secretion and affords a weak spot for germs to attack. In cool air, this membrane remains taut and well moistened. Then, in a poorly ventilated room, cold currents of air are likely to strike the feet while the head is exposed to the warm, polluted upper atmosphere. This is just the reverse of what is considered the ideal condition for health, "cool breezes blowing around the head, the radiant heat of the sun, and a warm ground to stand on." Exposure alone will not cause colds in healthy individuals, the doctors declare. Arctic explorers, fishermen, and others who remain out of doors for long hours in stormy, cold weather, often seem immune from these disorders. Irritation of the mucous membrane of the respiratory passages by dusts and chemicals is also a common cause of colds. —Popular Mechanics Magazine.

No Appeal

A journalist, his wife and child, little Alice, were having lunch together.

"Can I have some more pudding, mother?" inquired the child.

"I think you have had enough," said the journalist; "it will make you ill."

His wife, as is the way of mothers, said, "Let her have a little more."

"It will make her ill," insisted father.

Little Alice looked from one to the other. Finally she sighed and said, "The editor's decision is final."

Thermometer for Fishermen

The wise fisherman of the future will test the temperature of the water in which he casts his lines. The biological board of Canada, after an extensive survey, has found that haddock and cod especially are very particular about temperature, says Popular Science Monthly. The cod will not stay where the water is freezing, and for him 50 degrees is unbearably hot. Between 40 and 45 degrees is about right, and if fishermen will fish where such temperature prevails it is claimed they can scoop cod up wholesale. Haddock prefer water about five degrees warmer.

The board urges fishermen to use deep-sea thermometers and not waste time where there are no fish.

Austria-Hungary was dismembered by the treaty of Versailles, 1919.

WORLD CALLING FOR WEALTH OF TROPICS

Reason for Development of Equatorial Africa.

The French ministry at a recent council decided to build a railroad into equatorial Africa. This action has been hastened by the French colonial control, which declares the Congo region in its present state is not only useless to France but a heavy burden and expense. If the country is to be worth anything it maintains, the interior must be connected with French ports on the east African coast and its products be sent out to the world markets.

It has long been a matter of speculation if the natural resources of equatorial Africa were worth development and the expense and labor required to export them, the New York Sun observes. The caravan trade across the Sahara to Mediterranean ports revealed a great supply of ivory and tropical products, and natives and travelers reported immense reservoirs of raw material. The explorations of Livingstone and Stanley, however, gave the world the first estimate of the actual value of the resources of equatorial Africa.

The breaking out of the World war caused temporary abandonment of many European plans for the opening up of central Africa. Some of these plans have been revived within the last year. The British have built a railway from the east coast to aid the export of cotton from the newly developed Uganda cotton fields. They have also built several links in the Cape to Cairo railroad in the central African lake region. On the western coast the Belgians have constructed roads of 200 or 300 miles in length from their Atlantic ports into the interior. One of these, the railway to Brazzaville on the Congo river, the French have been using.

The French found, however, that the Belgian traffic has grown to such an extent that they were no longer able to depend upon this small railway. Their plan is to build a road from the head of navigation on the Congo eastward, with branch lines tapping the principal sources of native supplies. This road will place the development of the Congo region practically for the first time on a commercial basis. It is a pioneer venture, but at the same time it is a natural outcome of conditions. With the present demand for tropical materials the world is not likely to let this greatest source of supply remain undeveloped.

Mental Stunts in Golf

When I was lecturing in the principal cities of England and Scotland more than twenty years ago, a man whom I met in Glasgow told me that he had taken my advice and concentrated on his worst habit, lifting the head in golf, and had kept it up for two or three weeks every day; not while he was playing, but when he was sitting in his office doing nothing. He had concentrated on the fact that looking up to see where the ball is going has no effect whatever on its flight, and that if it is hit right it will always fly right. This being so, he concentrated on the fact that the only thing necessary to do was to hit the ball. He was evidently more than pleased with the practical results of his concentration.—R. F. Foster in Everybody's Magazine.

Long Term of Penance

Ten years meditation sitting in one posture has just been completed by a Chinese monk, formerly a steward on board a British steamship. His ten years was spent sitting in one position. The man felt the religious urge ten years ago and entered the Luan Buddhist monastery as a monk, where his penance, which is to sit in profound meditation with his legs crossed under him on a stool, has earned him the name of the "meditating monk of Luan." All day he sits on the stool meditating and at night he sleeps in his cell in the same position. He always welcomes foreign visitors very warmly and delights in chatting about former scenes.

Big Engineering Contracts

The sum involved in engineering construction contracts let in the United States since the first of the year is approaching the billion mark and continues to show a gain over last year. The money value of contracts let, including all classes of construction, from January 1 to date is $993,175,000, as against a total of $849,442,000 in the corresponding period a year ago. Of the sum involved so far this year $642,874,000 went into private operations.

Suit Lasted Well

Wearing a suit of clothes made 53 years ago, Rev. D. G. Delano, old-time saddle bag circuit rider, still actively engaged in missionary work, celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday by preaching at Castlerock, Wash. The clothes, tailored by a woman, have never ripped, and retain all buttons. The suit appeared not so old-fashioned as to style and cut as might be imagined. The trousers are very similar to the present mode.

Weather Vane Long in Use

An old weather vane brought to the Dutch settlement at Albany, N. Y., in 1631 is still in active service. It is a saucy chanticleer of beaten brass perched now on a tall spire. Except for three bullet holes, which tradition says were the result of potshots by wandering Indians, the trim cock has borne his centuries well.

Water for Ablutions Little Used in Tibet

There are various ways of carrying children—in carriages, in the arms, on the hip or shoulder, in a blanket or leather sack, or pickaback.

The Tibetan woman is obliged to resort to the method last named, as she has no perambulators, or "go" carts, at her disposal. Why the task cannot be assigned to "father," the stronger and less industrious of the two, is unintelligible. But "baby," apparently, resigns himself to the situation, and, incidentally, enjoys his joy rides!

The first event in "baby's" life is his first (and last) bath! This is attended with due ceremonial. Well may it be, for it is a red-letter day in his existence, as he is only oiled thereafter!

The reason is explained by the fact that Tibetans of the lower classes never wash during the cold season, and very sparingly at other times, because it is alleged that the skin of the face cracks and ulcerates from the cold, if water is applied to it! The people of towns, who do not go much outside their houses, wash occasionally.

But the prejudice is strong against ablutions of the person, and it is equally extended to clothing, which accordingly, is worn in a filthy and greasy state. Consequently, soap is higher priced, and little used in Tibet. Oil, on the other hand, is in much requisition as a preventive against cold.

It is not surprising, in the circumstances, that infant mortality in Tibet runs high, and that the babies that survive are so vigorous that they can endure filth and exposure without inconvenience, and, indeed, bear with impunity much rough usage.

Geophysical Facts

The earth is largely just the same as meteorites, our only importations from outer space. In experiments at the geophysical laboratory of the Carnegie institution of Washington that simulate the conditions of extremely high temperature and pressure of the earth's interior, Dr. Leason H. Adams and Dr. Ralph E. Gibson have found that rocks have much more elasticity than was formerly supposed.

In a report to the National Academy of Sciences Doctor Adams said that they had found that the least silicous of the silicate rocks, known in geological parlance as Dunite, when subjected to very high pressures was three-fourths as rigid as steel. The calculations of the two experimenters have been found to tally with seismological data which definitely establishes that the main part of the earth consists of peridotitic rock or the stuff that meteors are made of.

Wind Withers Entire Crop

The Chinook is an ever-welcome wind, but there is another hot wind that is decidedly the reverse. Farmers in the West and Southwest have seen their crops withered in a few hours by the coming of this visitor, says an American Magazine writer. Several years ago this hot wind struck the West at about 10:30 a. m., and in less than three hours the temperature had mounted to almost 120 degrees. In Kansas two men died while trying to go from Iola to Humboldt, a distance of eight miles. Three others were out with their teams at Humboldt. The horses died and the men almost succumbed.

Scarcely a chicken was left alive in that section. Hogs and cattle dropped in their tracks, suffocated by the rush of hot air.

Family Newspaper

A unique newspaper is printed in New York city, with correspondents all over the world and a circulation confined to the members of a single family.

It was established by a downtown broker, who is one of a very large and widely scattered family, as a clearing house for news from his many relatives. Each one is pledged to send in, at stated intervals, all items of interest for the information of the others. All the letters are printed, and thereby each is kept posted about the affairs of the others.

The broker's private secretary has the job of editor of this odd journal and rejoices that the family name is not Smith.

Hope to Find Treasure

The treasures of lost ships buried under the sands of the Yellowstone and Missouri rivers are being sought by Elmore E. Wenner, a prospector, who has spent some 25 years gathering information as to their location and possible recovery. He believes that there are still large quantities of the cargoes of priceless pelts, gold, silver, etc., in the skeletons of these treasure ships, the value of which government reports indicate to approximate $50,000,000. His investigations have disclosed that altogether some 275 steamers were sunk in the Missouri and Yellowstone rivers between 1819 and 1898.—Pathfinder Magazine.

China Has Largest Army

China is said to have the largest army in the world, its organized armed force numbering, early this year, about 7,600,000 men, as compared with only 212,000 in 1914. Denmark, on the other hand, has probably the smallest with only 10,000 men. The Russian army at this time is a matter of considerable conjecture, estimates placing it at from 600,000 to 1,300,000. The United States soldiery numbers 138,000 on last estimates and that of England and France about 700,000 each, with those of other countries ranking lower.

VALUABLE PEARL FOUND IN CLAM NEAR NASHUA

While catching clams in the Cedar river near Nashua, Will Berrier opened one shell that contained a valuable pearl, estimated to be worth several hundred dollars. Clammers are finding this a profitable season, as shells are bringing $55 per ton. For several years a closed season has prevented clamming along certain rivers and this caused a shortage of a supply at the button factories. Recently the state fish and game department ordered a closed season along the Des Moines river in a number of counties.

DEED TO IOWA LAND SIGNED BY PRESIDENT PIERCE

A deed, signed by Franklin Pierce, president of the United States, in 1854, transferring a 40-acre piece of land in Liberty township, Johnson county, to John Millow, is in the possession of John H Cline family near Iowa City. The Clines recently discovered the document among old papers found in an attic of the house. The 40-acre tract was sold by John Millow to Michael B. Cline, grandfather of the present generation of Clines, and is still in their possession. The handwriting of President Pierce is still legible.

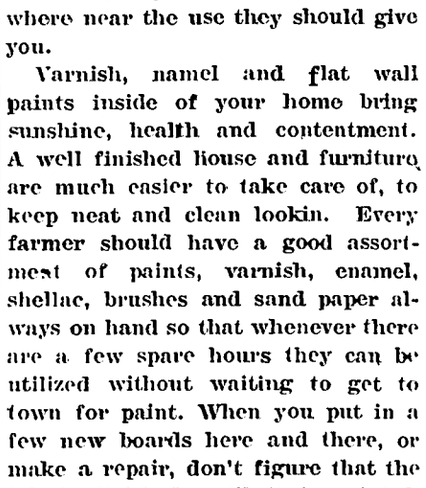
The third district American Legion band, which placed high in last year's legion band contest at Omaha has been engaged to play at the Iowa state fair this year. The organization is made up of musicians from Iowa Falls, Ackley, Belmond, Clarion, Bristow, Allison, Dows, Eldora Clarkesville, Wellsburg, Webster City, Waterloo, Eagle Grove, Goldfield and Hampton. Clate Chenette of Hampton is director.

the Cheapest thing you can buy!

The cheapest material you can buy to use on your farm is Paint. A few dollars' worth of good Lowe Bros. Paint will protect thousands of dollars' worth of property. Your house, your barns, your chicken and hog houses, milk house, fences, machinery—everything must be protected against decay, weathering and rust, if you are to realize anywhere near the use they should give you.

Varnish, namel and flat wall paints inside of your home bring sunshine, health and contentment. A well finished house and furniture are much easier to take care of, to keep neat and clean lookin. Every farmer should have a good assortment of paints, varnish, enamel, shellac, brushes and sand paper always on hand so that whenever there are a few spare hours they can be utilized without waiting to get to town for paint. When you put in a few new boards here and there, or make a repair, don't figure that the job is finished until it is painted. Have the paint ready so that you can do it—you will find you won't have to do near as much repairing.

Your "Farm Service" Hardware Man considers paint one of his most important lines of merchandise. He has selected a thoroughly dependable quality for you and, what is more, he is always pleased to have the opportunity of telling you the best ways to use it to get the very greatest amoun of protection from the least amoun of cost and labor. Buy paint at your "Farm Service" Hardware Store.



E. F. Jacobs

"Farm Service" Hardware Store
Klemme, Iowa

A. J. Kirkpatrick of Allison, says that fish have been dying by the thousands in the Shell Rock river above the dams at Greene and Marble Rock. At both places the dead fish became so numerous that men and teams were employed to haul them away. It is said that four tons of fish were hauled out of the river at Greene in a single day. Refuse from the sugar beet factory at Mason City is blamed for killing the fish.

Maybe She Had Pork Chops

Mary had a little lamb,
You've heard that fact before,
But have you heard she passed her plate
And had a little more?

HARVEST IN FULL SWING HERE THIS WEEK

Many Fields Of Small Grain Now In In The Shock

A good share of the small grain fields have already been cut and are now in the shock in this vicinity.

The small grain crop around here looks about as good as any we have seen anywhere.

The late oats is maturing fast during the past few days with the extremely warm weather.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Klemme, Iowa,
June 28, 1926.

Adjoruned meeting of the Town Council held at the Town Hall.

All members of the Council present.

Motion made and seconded to allow the following bills:

H. S. Swartz, labor	$19.63
American Legion, Memorial Day Expense	15.00
Lloyd Lau, Sand, labor and Drayage	15.15
Klemme Band, Four Concerts	80.00
John Suckow, Labor on Crossings and Culvert	19.50
White Phillips Co., Interest	75.00
Benn J. Coobs, Salary for June	75.00

Bills allowed.

Meeting adjourned.

A. J. KUDJE, Clerk.

NOTICE—The town council of Klemme of Hancock County, Iowa, will meet Aug. 2, 1926, at 7:30 P M., at Town Hall. Taxpayers will be heard for or against the following estimate of expenditures at that time.

A. J. KUDJE,
Town Clerk.

FUNDS	1 Expenditures Est. 1927	2 Balance on hand	3 Income Other Sources 1927	4 Taxes to be raised	5 Expenditures for year 1925	6 Expenditures for year 1924
Goneral	$1,500.00	$ 200.00	$ 400.00	$ 900.00	$ 2,759.45	$1,409.50
Sewer	500.00	1,500.00			5,865.00	2,794.10
Waterworks	1,500.00	350.00	700.00	450.00	2,300.10	917 67
Light	550.00	100.00		450.00	494.20	573.41
Bonds, Int. on	750.00	900.00			75.16	75.16
Water Fund. Bds.	500.00	1,100.00			665.25
City Bldg. & Fire Sta.						6.65
Anticipated Levies:
Bonds						4,965.00
Other Funds:
Park		80.00			152.50	255.37
Band	160.00	15.00		180.00
Pest House		170.00
Sewer O&F bd.	500.00	700.00			770.00
TOTALS	$5,960.00	$5,115.00	$1,100.00	$1,980 00	$13,081.66	$10,996.86

Estimated Taxes per $1,000 of assessed value, $5.75.

OVERALLS OR SUNDAY SUIT

ALL things have their place. You would not wear your unSday suit in the barn yard. Neither would you wear overalls in the parlor.

IT is the same with your stationery. There is a place for quality printing in your business, and that place is wherever you use printing. It is a reflection of you and your business-and it is up to two people, you, and your printer, as to whether you wear overalls or Sunday suit printing.

WHEN you buy a piece of furniture, you buy a good piece--that is, quality. When you buy a stove, you buy a good stove--quality. When you buy a suit of clothing you get a good suit--quality. When you buy printing, why not do the same-- buy GOOD printing--quality?

We know the difference between Overall and Sunday Suit printing ---quality counts.

Times Print Shop

et clover is most successfully ed where cattle are kept con- sly on the field after they nce been turned on. Bloating esult from spasmotic pastur- this crop.

No dairyman is more foolish than the one who deceives himself or prefers to be ignorant as to the productive value of his cows Cow testing associations find the truth about cows

Nothing is so cheap as electric light

YOU can light the average living room for several hours for the cost of a cheap cigar.

18

CENTRAL STATES ELECTRIC COMPANY

Cedar Rapibs, Iowa

Satisfation or Money Back!

WE GUARANTEE THAT OUR OCCIDENT FLOUR WILL MAKE MORE LOAVES OF

WHITER—
LIGHTER—
BETTER TASTING
BREAD

THAN ANY OTHER FLOUR YOU HAVE EVER USED.

TRY A SACK—YOU'LL BE SURPRISED WHEN YOU SEE THE DIFFERENCE.

Made by Russel Miller Milling Co., of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

1 Sack Lots	5 Sack Lots	10 Sack Lots
$2.80	$2.75	$2.70

—PER SACK—

Full line of MILL FEEDS of all kinds on hand at all times—ask us!

North Iowa Grain Co.

The North Elevator Klemme, Iowa

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

All services will be in charge of Mr. Earl Josten next Sunday. On Sunday morning he will speak at both the Klemme and the Liberty churches, and on Sunday evening he will conduct a service as best suited for the occasion.

Large audiences should turn out for all these services, as such services are good hot weather stimulents.

We observe the usual midweek prayer service on Thursday evening A glad welcome awaits all who attend the several services.

NOTICE. OF. APPOINTMENT. OF EXECUTOR

Notice is Hereby Given, That the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Executor of the Estate of Martha Ludeke, late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased A ll persons indebted to the estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticaed, to the undersigned, for allowance

Dated July 12th, A. D, 1926.

Elmer H. Ludeke, Executor.

July 15-29

Horticulturists are attempting to solve the cause of so many dead evergreen trees. Nothing like the disaster to growing trese has ever before been noted in the state. It is believed that the unseasonable cold weather the last of October is responsible There are many dead every-greens in Klemme and vicinity as well as all over Iowa.

PIANOS

Players & Grand
New and
Second Hand

M. N. ZEIGER

Jewelry & Optical Goods

GARNER, IOWA

Goodell News

(By Special Correspondent)

Florence Trumbell of Mason City is visiting her brother Harry.

Quite a large crowd enjoyed the dance at Goodell Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Van Buskerk were Mason City callers Thusrday.

Mrs Earl Finn was visiting at the L. Wilson home Monday.

Evelyn Chelsvig and Ruth Ness will return to Des Moines Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Snearly left for their fishing trip in Minnesota Tuesday.

The Larkin Club ladies held a picnic in the woods Friday evening.

Mr and Mrs. Tom Roths are the parents of a baby boy born to them Saturday.

Mr and Mrs. Gus Okrug and family attended the Convention at Tama Sunday.

Mr and Mrs Ivan Baker and family attended a family re-union at West Bend Sunday.

Mrs Reynold Kensitt and Mrs. Johnson of Belmond were Goodell callers Saturday evening.

Mr Wesenberg of California came Sunday for an extended visit with his son and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Thada entertained relatives from Garner and Thornton Sunday.

Mr and Mrs. Leslie White of Sheldon visited at the M. J. Kearney and Ed. Hemingway homes Saturday and Sunday.

Mr and Mrs. A. C. Carpenter, Richard and Mrs. Archie Christie, returned from their visit with North Dakota relatives Tuesday.

Rev. Scott and family started for Maryland last Wednesday. They expect to be absent from Goodell about four weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Allaben returned from Tama Wednesday. They attended a Convention there Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Iva Tracey and daughter, of Springfield, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Archie Christie.

Flick Bates had the misfortune to hurt his foot. He will be unable to use it for a while so is staying at the D. N. Conlan home.

Miss Ione Frankum returned to Clarion Thursday after spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Allie.

Mrs. Wilmur Burke, Mrs. Frank Quigley, Jr., and Viola and Ruth called at the home of Mrs. Pat Quigley, Sr., near Belmond Thursday.

TONS OF CABBAGE GROWN IN MUSCATINE COUNTY

Muscatine county is growing 650 acres of cabbage this season and early varieties are ready for the market, the price starting at $35 per ton on crate lots, but a material drop in price resulted because of the large shipments made. It is predicted that Muscatine county will produce this season 3,500 tons, which means from five to six tons per acre. Medium-sized heads are most in demand this year, and this situation was anticipated by the local farmers, most of whom planted Copenhagen cabbage, a variety which produces round, and tightly curled heads of medium size. No trouble has been expreienced this year with insect pests or plant diseases.

COW RAISES 'EM DOUBLE

Edward Sroud, living near Panora, Iowa, has a Holstein cow in his dairy herd that is only eight year old but has given birth to 16 calves Her last contribution was a set of triplets. Each is a normal sized calf Prior to the triplets, the offspring of this remarkable cow had consisted of twins and a single.

A Bust, Anyway

Father: "You kept the car out rather late last night, son. What delayed you?"

Son: "Had a blowout, dad."

Father: "Huh! Tire or roadhouse?"

TO RAISE KARAKUL SHEEP IN AMERICA

Big Profits Assured From Fur-Bearing Animals.

Since the World war the demand for furs has brought a good many people easy money and has somewhat changed our standards, says Guy E. Michell in the Scientific American.

This has resulted in the virtual extinction of fur-bearing animals throughout large regions where they formerly were comparatively plentiful and where they were hunted and trapped so persistently as to prevent reproduction. With this decrease in local production the corners of the world are being searched for furs.

The recognition of this fact has stimulated a few far-sighted ones to breed an American flock of Karakul sheep, from the lambs of which the famous Astrachan or Persian lamb is produced.

This fur is now a great favorite and garments made of it are successful competitors with the finest of fur coats made from the skins of wild animals. In fact, these skins are classed by the trade and by the wearers as "real fur."

The production of this fur in the United States seems to be entirely feasible and should prove commercially attractive It now is imported mostly from Bokhara, in Central Asia, where there are reported to be some 3,000,000 or more Karakul sheep, from the three-day old lambs of which the fur is obtained.

Curly, with a beautiful gloss, it is in strong demand for women's fur garments. Its increasing popularity has caused a steady advance in the price of these skins. Those of highest quality sell in New York for from $8 to $12.50 each and even inferior skins bring $3 apiece.

Karakul sheep thrive in the United States. This has been well demonstrated. The greatest difficulty in quickly establishing an American industry has been in securing importations of a sufficient number of pure-bred animals.

There now are about 500 pedigreed sheep listed in the American fur sheep registry. It is from these that an American Astrachan and Persian lamb industry must be built up.

Honor for Cheese Maker

Dr. John Knirim, formerly a medical specialist at a famous New York sanitarium, appeared recently in the French village of Vimoutier, not far from Caen, and announced that he had come to pay homage to the memory of Louise Harel, a farmer's wife, who, at the end of the Eighteenth century, gave to the world the noble Camembert cheese. The village rose to the occasion, and a large procession, including the mayor and other dignitaries, marched behind a band to the cemetery where sleeps the discoverer of the cheese. There Doctor Knirim pronounced a eulogy and laid a laurel wreath. The procession then went to the ancient farmhouse where the woman had lived, and the doctor affixed upon the walls a bronze plaque, upon which was written a hymn in praise of the cheese.

Novel Landing Lights

Glass-covered parallel trenches in which "neon" light tubes are installed have been dug across the British landing field at Croydon to aid flyers to descend safely in fogs. The reddish glow of the lamps, it has been found, penetrates the mist more effectively than other kinds of light. Between the tubes is a "leader cable" which affects a sensitive instrument in an airplane flying above it. Having been guided to the field by radio, the pilot, after picking up the boundaries of the area by means of the cable, can circle around, gauging his altitude by means of the action of the cable on the instrument until the lights themselves are visible and the landing can be be made with little or no risk of accident.

Scotish Prefix "Mac"

Many variations of the prefix Mac are in common use, in the spelling of proper names, and all recognized, the use of one form or the other being a matter of personal preference. The word Mac is a Gaelic prefix, meaning son, corresponding to the affix son in names of Teutonic origin, as Davidson, and the prefix Fitz in Norman names. Originally "Mac" Donald was a son of Donald. In course of time the two words came to be written as one, MacDonald. The surname Macdonald is now spelled in a variety of ways—Macdonald and McDonald, in addition to which there are many variations of the name as McDonnell, McDaniel, McDaniels, etc.

Australia to Fight Cactus

Because the cactus plant has become a pest in Australia the government has sent scientists to America to study means of combating the plant. They are looking for some plant disease or insect that will feed on the cactus and thus help to rid the country of it. It is assumed that the cactus plant was taken to Australia from America.

Fame Not Always Fleet

Fame does not always come quickly to the genius. Alexander Graham Bell, for instance, spent most of his life perfecting the telephone and proving that it was not a toy. Wagner saw "Tannhauser" hissed from the stage and Booth Tarkington labored seven years before his first novel was accepted.

WHY GOVERNMENT PRICE FIXING WON'T WORK

One of the most persistent fallacies is government price-fixing on competitive commodities. There is already government price-fixing in commodities and services where competition plays no part in price determination. These are railway transportation, electricity, gas, telephone and telegraph, and so on. Here government price-fixing is solely to protect the consumer. There are two fatal objections to government price-fixing for agricultural products, which represent the most competitive business in the world. These are, first, that it will not work; second, that it is always done for the consumer as against the producer.

Government price-fixing for agricultural products would work if at the same time the government regulated wages, profits, middlemen's margins, the production of all commodities and the rationing of all consumers. In short, if the population were enlisted in one vast army, directed and rationed, price-fixing would work, but otherwise not. If the price is fixed on the wheat the farmer sells, then he cannot keep on producing wheat if wages or the cost of harvesting machinery rise, or if the cost of other material he buys rises. So the next step would be the fixation of other prices, and yet other prices.

The United States government fixed the price of wheat but once in our history, and then it was to benefit consumers, not producers. The government might, in an emergency, fix some agricultural prices for the purpose of elevating such prices. Such action would inevitably and speedily lead to outcry from city consumers and a consequent reversal of policy. Indeed, the consumers, not the producers, are most likely to demand and secure food price regulation by government authorities. The farmer, therefore, who favors any form of governmental price-fixing is working against his own interests. He is putting his head into a noose.—James E. Boyle, Professor of Rural Economics, Cornell University, in the Banker-Farmer.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On Fifteen Per Cent Bonds

Mrs. Norris beamed as she greeted Aunt Emmy and exclaimed, "Now I know all my financial worries are over! I wanted to tell you right away —"

"What have you bought this time?" Aunt Emmy demanded suspiciously.

"Well, I haven't paid the money over yet, but I have found the loveliest investment where my money will be perfectly safe and will earn a nice income for me right away," Mrs. Norris said. "I'm going to buy bonds, good safe bonds, that will pay me fifteen per cent interest—"

"Wait a minute, you'll have to go some, Maud Norris, to tell me about 'good safe bonds' that pay fifteen per cent!" Aunt Emmy broke in.

"They are safe,—the man said so and this booklet says so too!"

"Do you know what a bond is?" asked Aunt Emmy.

"No, but it's awfully safe. I'm sure of that," Mrs. Norris said. "Everybody knows that bonds are safe—"

"My dear, some bonds are safe and some are not. When you buy a bond you simply lend your money to the company putting out the bonds. Bond issues are secured generally by the company mortgaging or pledging some of its property. In other words, it offers a certain asset as security that it will return your money to you on the date the bond matures. It agrees to pay you a certain sum each year for the use of your money, usually something between five and eight per cent. No company can afford to pay too much for its money—and as to fifteen per cent bonds—why it would be very unusual for a company to be able to earn enough to enable it to pay fifteen per cent for the privilege of using other people's money,—moreover, if it is good enough to borrow money at all it can borrow it more cheaply than that!"

"Oh dear!" wailed Mrs. Norris, "then a bond isn't a good safe investment—"

"Don't jump at conclusions so fast!" said Aunt Emmy. "I did not say that. A bond is as safe as a church if the company that issues it is financially sound, has a high credit rating and is making money. Before you buy bonds assure yourself that the company behind them is above reproach."

"But the man who told me about these fifteen per cent bonds was so earnest—I felt sure I could believe him."

"Don't turn over any money to him until you have some advice on the bonds from your bank," admonished Aunt Emmy. "Then, if you find out that the bonds are questionable you will escape another bad investment."
—A. B. Aymes.

Mason County, Michigan, bankers are pushing hard to replace scrub stock with pure-bred cattle The plan as outlined by the county agent is to purchase young pure-bred sires and place them wherever a farmer is found who is willing to co-operate in the proposition. The bankers will advance the purchase price and take a note for one year without interest. The idea is to make it as easy as possible for the farmers to procure thoroughbreds.

Save Money, Gain Mileage!

FIRESTONE

New LOW PRICES Are Now In Effect

HIGH PRESSURE TIRES

	Tires	Tubes
30x3½ Reg. Cl. Cord	$ 9.95	$ 2.35
30x3½ Ext. Cl. Cord	11.95	3.00
31x4 S. S. Cord	19.90	3.30
32x4 S. S. Cord	22.45	3.40

BALLOONS

	Tires	Tubes
4.40-21 (29x4.40)	$14.40	$ 3.20
4.75-20 (29x4.75)	19.70	3.85
5.25-21 (31x5.25)	23.55	4.40
6.00-20 (32x6.00)	29.65	5.50

Oldfield Tires

Prices Also Reduced

HIGH PRESSURE

	Tires	Tubes
30x3½ Ext. Cl.	$ 9.95	$ 2.00
31x4 S. S.	15.10	2.75

BALLOONS

4.40-21 (29x4.40)	$11.20	$ 2.55
5.25-21 (31x5.25)	18.25	3.80

Garner Auto Co.

Phone 77 KLEMME, IOWA

Community Building

Duty of Citizens to Guard Public Health

The average citizen pays for accidents and disease in deaths, injuries, illnesses, bills, discounted investments and depreciated values. Therefore it is his job to prevent accidents and disease, says Dr. J. Howard Beard in Hygeia Magazine.

In the old days of the one-horse shay, the physician was responsible for the health of the entire community. Medical science has advanced tremendously since then. So has industrial science. Although many disease conditions have been brought under control, countless new ones have arisen as the result of the rise of industrialism.

Fast trains and airplanes are as much at the disposal of disease germs as of human beings. While large cities foster clinics and medical schools and hospitals, they also foster unhygienic living conditions, accidents and illness.

The physician can no longer handle the situation alone, in spite of his greatly increased knowledge. He must have the co-operation of every citizen in the community. It is the average citizen who can and should insist on the adoption of public health measures, on the health education of school children and adults, and on the furtherance of preventive medicine.

Appearance of House Attracts the Buyer

People who are most vociferous in their appreciation of the sentimental values of their homes, who let it be known to all and sundry that they would never sell their home because of old associations, are frequently the readiest to sell if they get what they call a "good offer." They are really good salesmen, and their boasted affection for their homes is merely good sales talk. While this attitude may be a trifle calloused, there are few of us who do not keep a weather eye upon real estate values. We are proud and pleased when there is a "boom" in our immediate neighborhood. And rightly so. We are pleased whenever the property value of our home advances, because it has materially increased our potential estate, and proud that our purchase has proved to be a wise investment.

Keep your property well painted and you will have mighty few repair bills. Paint is far cheaper than new wood or metal replacements. Watch the less obvious vulnerable points, such as roof, eaves and down spouts, porch columns, etc. The trim is usually the first to suffer.

Wisdom in Building Well

Whether the house is being built for a home, or to let, the builder will save much money on repairs and upkeep by having the house constructed of the very best materials by the best of craftsmen. The last several years have seen the erection of innumerable "cheap houses," built poorly of inferior materials. These so-called "cheap houses" have been very expensive to the owners, who have found they cheated them of the pride and satisfaction that should have been theirs in the possession of their own home, to say nothing of the hundreds of dollars worth of value that was sadly lacking.

Authentic and authoritative literature is now being published in book form and in pamphlets, magazines and newspapers, so the man who contemplates any sort of building should carefully study this literature with the idea of acquainting himself with what really constitutes good building.

War on Mosquitoes

The first mosquito bite of the season ought to remind the victim that stagnant water is standing around somewhere close by. Rain barrels, tin cans, unsealed cisterns, marshy pools and similar water receptacles and places make ideal hatcheries for this pesty insect. Besides being a disagreeable nuisance mosquitoes carry malaria, especially in the southern part of Illinois. Mosquitoes never breed in running water nor in bone-dry territory. They rarely travel far from the place of birth. Enforcing rigid prohibition against stagnant water in the neighborhood or adding a coat of oil to it will eliminate the bites.

Few Buy Homes Outright

"More than half the houses in the United States are owned by men who make less than $2,000 a year," says W. D. Carter, retiring president of the New York State League of Savings and Loan associations.

"It is estimated that approximately 90 per cent of those who build or buy a home do not pay for it outright at the start. Habits of thrift, economy and self-denial established and practiced in saving to meet the monthly payments by which the home is paid for are among the greatest assets of owning a home."

Clean City an Asset

It is not easy to magnify the influence of cleanliness as a charm. For a city to be clean is good business, if nothing else. But it is much else. Without it there can be little beauty or comfort, little of the air of prosperity that is so desirable.

WIDE BRIMS NOW IN FAVOR; DAINTY FROCKS FOR TOTS

WHERE and how far are you going, my pretty maid, in this matter of wider brimmed hats? That is the question that is keeping designers of millinery awake nights. The pretty maid may not know just where she is going, but she is on her way toward the revival of elegance in millinery, and it looks as if she were beginning to revel in wide brims. There is no telling the duration of these revels, when the feminine mind wakes up to find itself intrigued by long earrings—and has maidenhair fern and small roses silhouetted against the crown and brim. Fashion has thrown big hats into the ring of style and there is no disputing their beauty and elegance.

Since the little tots must "pretty up" occasionally in party clothes, mothers are always haunting the shops in search of dainty frocks for special occasions. They do not expect anything startlingly new in design or unfamiliar in fabrics, but they are pleased by wide-brimmed hats, bobbed hair or what not. Some French modistes are already predicting the wide brim for fall and winter. In the meantime milliners are encouraging the pretty maid to go as far as she likes in the matter of brims—they, too, are reveling in the revival of picturesque styles.

Wide Brims and Flowers the Latest.

The group of midsummer hats shown here begins with the big and airy cartwheel sailor with brim of even width all around. It is a hair-braid shape bound with ribbon and has a collar of narrow ribbon ending in a little bow and short ends at the right side. Many trimmings this season keep entirely to the right, but this sailor supports a large chou at the left—made of organdie, or equally delicate fabric, that looks light enough to float away like a small cloud. These hair-braid hats are displayed in white and pastel colors and are immensely becoming, a choice of the right color will do wonders for the complexion.

By way of varying the wide brim, the hat below at the right has an odd, upward flaring silk drape on the upper brim, pointed at the front and finished with needlework. A little chiffon rose is posed against it. One expects the side brim to be droopy and many of them are, like the hair-braid hat shown with collar of silk garnished with applique motifs. Below it at the right, georgette crepe makes a dignified model with large and small flowers massed on the crown. One can imagine many beautiful color combinations in a hat of this kind. A lovely and becoming shape of hair braid finishes this little summer millinery poem. It is turned up at the back ingenious management of materials and new tricks in decoration. They find pretty furbelows and finishing touches in ribbons and flowers or in embroidery and other needlework on simply designed dresses of delicate materials.

All "Prettied Up."

Voile and crepe de chine in pastel colors or pale tints stand at the head of the list of dainty materials approved for party frocks; but georgette crepe, dotted swiss, fine batiste, dimity and taffeta silk bear them company. Net and narrow laces contribute something along with needlework, ribbons and touches of embroidery by way of elaborating the simple designs, but just now fashion looks with greatest favor on decorations of self-material and combinations of two colors in one material for little party frocks. When georgette or chiffon makes the dress, tiny posies, ruchings and puffs are made from the same materials, although they may not be the same in color, and set on in borders or other decorative designs. Plaitings and smocking are popular, also petal trimmings or applique figures in contrasting colors.

Party frocks are usually sleeveless and quite short. Usually they are worn over little slips in the same color. When the choice falls on embroidery as a decoration little flower motifs are chosen, usually showing small sprays or wreaths. Handsewing and handwork are at a premium on little children's dress-up clothes.

No one begrudges the simple needlework that gives distinction to frocks like that pictured here. The yoke is smocked and hand-run tucks are grouped at each side.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

The KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Half of the joy of life is in little things taken on the run.

Who has no inward beauty, none perceives, though all around is beautiful.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

For an afternoon tea cake try this tasty little one which you will like:

Orange Cakes.—Cream one-third of a cupful of butter, add one-fourth of a cupful of sugar, cream well and add four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, the grated rind of an orange and two cupfuls of flour. Pat out thin into small cakes, prick with a fork and bake in a quick oven. Immediately after taking from the oven, open with a fork and insert a lump of butter. Serve at once.

Maple Cookies.—Take one cupful of granulated sugar, one cupful of maple sugar, one cupful of butter, two well-beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls of water and flour to make a stiff dough. Cut into balls, roll in powdered sugar and bake in a hot oven.

Cheese Balls.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of grated cheese, add one tablespoonful of melted butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, and when well blended add three tablespoonfuls of milk, a dash of pepper and salt and stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Form into balls, roll in cracker crumbs and fry in deep fat. Drain on brown paper. Serve with lettuce salad.

Cheese Salad.—Dissolve a tablespoonful of gelatin in four tablespoonfuls of water, add half a pound of grated cheese and a pint of whipped cream, season well with salt and paprika, with a few dashes of cayenne. Pour into a wet mold and allow to become firm. Turn out and cut into slices, serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing or with any desired dressing.

Peach Sherbet.—Put a pound of sugar and a quart of water on to boil for twenty minutes; let cool, then add one and one-half cupfuls of peach pulp, the strained juice of an orange and the juice of half a lemon. Freeze. Half of the water may be used and a pint of rich milk, making a richer ice.

For a mint sherbet, use a bunch of mint cooked in the water and add the other ingredients and thin cream; freeze.

Duchess Cream.—Take six tablespoonfuls of tapioca, cook until clear in water to cover, cool, add a pinch of salt, one cupful of sugar, the juice from a can of pineapple, the juice of two oranges and two lemons; cook until thick. When cool add the pineapple cut into dice, one cupful of nuts and a pint of whipping cream. This makes enough to serve a dozen amply.

A Few Choice Desserts.

A delicious and well prepared dessert will often help a plain meal which precedes it, when the dishes were not all that one wished. A plate of stuffed figs, dates or prunes will often serve for a finish to a meal, leaving one fully satisfied.

During the warm weather iced dishes and frozen creams and water ices are greatly appreciated. The water ices are not especially nourishing, and with a hearty meal one needs a light dessert.

Two or three foods digest better in the stomach than a combination of six or more. If we treat the body as we would a nice piece of machinery we will not overfeed it nor overwork it.

When we overeat we waste fuel and choke the fires of the body engine through imperfect combustion. A stuffed furnace can neither draw well nor give off heat.

Orange and Lemon Sherbet.—Take the juice of two oranges, two lemons, and two cupfuls of sugar with a quart of thin cream and freeze as usual.

A mint sherbet to serve with a roast leg of lamb is prepared with a cupful of shredded mint, fresh and well washed. Pour a cupful of boiling water over it and let stand well covered to steep for ten minutes, then drain and add the mint water to the juice of two lemons, a cupful of sugar and a cupful of thin cream, adding enough water to make the mint liquor an even cupful. Freeze as usual.

Apricot Sherbet.—This is delicious with any dinner. Take a can of apricots, put them through a sieve, add more sugar and a can of water. Freeze.

Dainty Dessert.—Take a pound of marshmallows and a cupful of pecan meats, cut fine, cut the mallows into quarters and add enough whipped cream to blend and hold them and the nuts together. Put a tablespoonful of pineapple juice into a sherbet cup, fill with the whip and garnish with pineapple or a cherry.

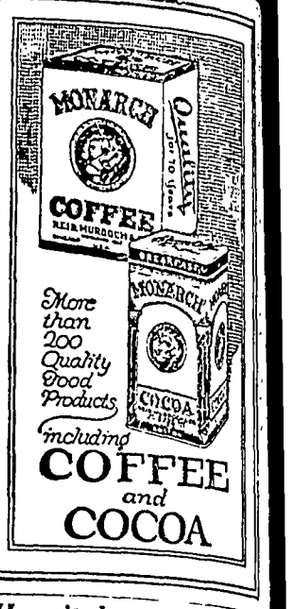
Cream Peach Cake.—Bake a layer cake, using two tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of sugar, two well-beaten eggs, one-half cupful of milk and one and one-half cupfuls of flour sifted with two scant teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Put very ripe peaches, peeled, through a sieve, sweeten and mix with almond-flavored whipped cream. Use for filling.

Nellie Maxwell

At the Beach

"The true essentials of a feast are only fun and feed." Children will have their fun at the water's edge, and to complete their joy add to a simple lunch a cup of Monarch Cocoa—pure, refreshing, satisfying, delicious.

MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
Never Sold Through Chain Stores.
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago · Boston · Pittsburgh · New York



More than 200 Quality Good Products including COFFEE and COCOA

Monarch of Small Realm

Another king has died and his passing was scarcely noted. He was Love Pritchard, eight-four years old, reigning Monarch of Bardsley island, southwest of Carnarvourshire, since 1911, when he succeeded John II, who abdicated. At one time the inhabitants of Barsley island numbered 100, but they gradually dwindled to 40 and last year King Pritchard and his subjects abandoned the island and moved to the mainland.

Hospitals on Increase

New hospitals have been established in the United States at the rate of 100 a year since 1920 according to a report of the American Medical association. Sixty per cent of all the physicians in the United States have affiliation with hospitals.

Miss Kaatje Van Dyke of Holland, who claims a height of 7 feet, 11 inches, is said to be the tallest woman in the world.

Be sure of good bread; use Yeast Foam

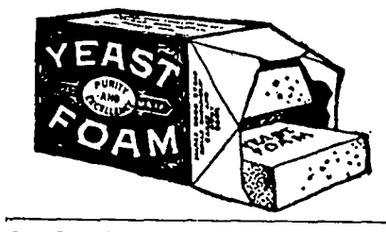
Every girl should learn how to make good bread; it should be the starting point in her home cookery training.



Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Seek Elusive Elements in Dead Sea Waters

The Dead sea is the latest locale of the search for the two elements still missing from the chemist's periodic table. The high concentration of salts in this body of water caused J. Newton Friend of the Municipal Technical school of Birmingham, England, to consider the possibility of their containing either eka-caesium or eka-iodine, the names assigned to the elusive elements.

Diffractionations of samples of the water were accordingly carried out, and the final diffractionation products submitted to X-ray analysis, but unfortunately the spectrum lines that would reveal the presence of either the one or the other failed to show up. Traces of the element strontium, however, were found, the presence of which had never before been recorded in any previous analyses of Dead sea water.—Science Service Bulletin.

Draining Lake for Land

The Bulgarian government is drying up Yambel lake in order to make more room for the refugee village of Atolovo. Work is already under way and soon the lake bottom will be turned into fertile fields. Six millions of leva (a lev is 19.3 cents) have been appropriated by the government to construct homes and enable the refugees to establish themselves. Atolovo village was named for a Bulgarian philanthropist who was instrumental in caring for thousands of refugee children.

No Two in One

Mrs. Oldtimer—Are you a good cook and laundress?

Bridget—Do Oi look loike twins?

Right First Try

"So you couldn't tell your teacher what a neighbor was, eh?"

"Oh, yes, I could—it's somebody that uses dad's lawnmower."—Sydney Bulletin.

Sure Relief

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION
25¢ and 75¢ Pkg's. Sold Everywhere

SKIN BLEMISHES
pimples, blackheads, etc., cleared away easily and at little cost by Resinol

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 30–1926.

The Poor Rich Man

"A few years ago Newrich didn't know where his next meal was coming from."

"Yes, and now that he does he's a martyr to dyspepsia."—Boston Transcript.

Retort Needful

Cinema Pest (calling title)—Ah, me, what shall I do now?

A Voice—Shut up!

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

THE MERICAN LEGION

(For This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

TING READY FOR PARIS CONVENTION

ugh it is more than a year be- he 30,000 American veterans be- arming into Paris for the ninth l national convention of the ican Legion, members of the post of the Legion, known as No. 1, are already actively en- in preparing what promises to e of the greatest receptions ever a convention. Under the lead- o of Hugh A. Bayne, commander e Department of France in the ican Legion, an intensive cam- is now in progress among Le- naires in Paris to double the mem- ip of the French department in that there may be as large a er of men as possible available ervice when the "Second A. E. F." up for the big parade down the mps Elysees in September, 1927. cording to reports received by man Elder of Indianapolis, na- l chairman of the Legion's France ention committee, Commander e anticipates having the largest erican reception committee ever wn in France ready for the Paris vention It is the plan of the nce department of the Legion to e every member of the department active member of the reception mittee The Department of France,

Commander Hugh A. Bayne.

cording to Commander Bayne, con- emplates having at least 1,500 men n the committee.

Commander Bayne is well able to as- ume responsibility for acting as the fficial head of the reception commit- ee in September, 1927. As a lieuten- nt colonel on the judge advocate's taff of the first A. E. F. he gave dis- inguished service, for which he was decorated by the French and Ameri- an governments. Since the war, as n international lawyer in Paris, he as been closely associated with the problems that have arisen between the United States and France.

Under the direction of the France convention committee of the Legion, plans for the Paris convention are go- ing forward rapidly. Arrangements are being completed for the guard of honor, a distinctive body of men which, in addition to being one of the features of the great parade, will ren- der a unique service to the thousands of American veterans and their fam- ilies who take part in the convention, by acting as information bureaus and rendering general assistance. The guard of honor will be distinctively uniformed and will represent every department of the Legion.

Under the direction of John J. Wicker, Jr., national travel director for the France convention committee, details on the matter of transportation and housing are being arranged in such a way that a veteran may have the privilege of selection from a great variety of steamship transportation which fits his purse. A limited num- ber of accommodations, including steamship and hotels abroad with transportation in France, are being provided at a figure as low as approx- imately $175. Other grades will scale up to as high as $450, with a wide selection between the minimum and maximum figures.

Oldest Legionnaire

The oldest member of the American Legion is claimed by Miami post of the Legion, Miami, Fla.

John William Boucher, a member of the post, claims to be eighty-one years old.

Legionnaire Boucher began his mil- itary career in the Civil war and ended it only when the guns of the World war were silenced. In the World war he saw action with the Two Hundred and Fifty-seventh bat- tery of the Canadian army. Boucher was fighting at the front handling "Big Bertha" shells at the age of sev- enty-one years. King George received him at Buckingham palace.

Open Legion Camp

An 8,000-acre recreational center has been opened near Tupper lake, New York, by the American Legion, Department of New York, for the ben- efit of Legion members of the state and their families. The camp is en- tirely maintained by the Legion of New York.

KEEPING UP A FRONT

"Steve, dear," whispered the bur- glar's bride as he started on his eve- ning's work, "try to be a little more quiet when you come in tonight."

"Colt'nly, kid," replied the fond hus- band. "Did I wake youse up las' night?"

"No, but you awakened mother. And I don't want her running up to the penitentiary and complaining to fa- ther that I married an amateur."—American Legion Weekly.

DAD WAS PERSONAL

She—Dad says you have no means of support.

He—It's mean of him to comment on my personal appearance.

In the Theater

"Aha," cried the egg,
As it splashed a bit,
"I was cast for the villain,"
And made a hit

Sure Cure

Intelligent Diagnosis—The follow- ing appeared in a syndicated health column:

Question—I cannot sleep at night. Can you suggest something?

Answer—You may be suffering from insomnia. For further particulars send self-addressed stamped envelope and restate your question.

Wrong Title

Visitor—Your picture of the Fiery Dragon is a masterpiece.

Schram the Artist—Fiery Dragon? Where did you see that?

Visitor—In the middle of the wall in the next room.

Schram—Oh, that is a portrait of my mother-in-law.

A Good Tip

Train Robber—Say, Bill, don't both- er about blowin' open the express safe.

Bill—But there's $20,000 in it!

Train Robber—That's small pota- toes, I've captured a pullman porter.

A Remedy

Wife—Chess teaches women silence.

Husband—Buy a set tonight. There's a shop on your way home.

NO, NOT IN THEIR CASE

"All the members of the chauffeurs' club meet today for a grand bust."

"Not in their cars, I hope."

And Not Till Then

When you get to the land
Where the dreams come true,
It'll be when the angels
Shake with you.

A Case of Nerve

"Don't worry," said the dentist. "I always give my patients—ah—some- thing to—ah—quiet their nerves."

"Then what was that fellow in there yelling for?" demanded the skeptical sufferer.

"More!"—American Legion Weekly.

A Reason

"It is curious that your aunt should detest men when they don't have any- thing to do with her."

"That's why."

Why Not?

Clemmene—Can you lend me $50 on my personal note? I can give you references from several well known bankers.

Timmons—Then borrow the money from them.

Many Kinds

New Englander—How do you like our climate?

Stranger—This one, or the one a few minutes ago?—Christian Scien- Monitor.

"BAYER ASPIRIN" PROVED SAFE

Take without Fear as Told in "Bayer" Package

BAYER

Does not affect the Heart

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-five years for

Colds	Headache
Neuritis	Lumbago
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Each unbroken "Bayer" package con- tains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Drug- gists also sell bottles of 24 and 100.

Even Up

"I shouldn't think you could afford to sit at the game if you are so un- lucky at it."

"Well, you see, what I lose at poker my wife makes up at bridge."—Boston Transcript.

To Have a Clear, Sweet Skin

Touch pimples, redness, roughness or itching, if any, with Cuticura Oint- ment, then bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Rinse, dry gently and dust on a little Cuticura Talcum to leave a fascinating fragrance on skin. Everywhere 25c each.—Advertisement.

Slight Difference

Flag—Doesn't Herbert make you weary?

Rush—No, wary—Scarlet Saint.

The cloak of charity is too often a bargain-sale model.

Physicians Stand High on Roll of Martyrs

Since the time when the "black death" swept through Europe, physi- cians have sacrificed themselves to the cause of public health and safety, according to Hygeia Magazine. Reed, Carroll and Lazear were lost in the fight against yellow fever; Ricketts and McClintic succumbed to typhus and to Rocky Mountain fever; Brazy lost his eyesight from secondary in- fection during an operation; others have suffered terrible mutilations while investigating the X-rays.

A complete list can never be assem- bled because so many have passed without the recognition of the world, giving their lives silently in the rou- tine performance of their duties.

Give Credit to Norse

While the discovery of Nova Scotia is credited to Cabot, on whose reports in 1497 were based the English claim of right of possession of the continent, according to well-founded data the credit for its discovery should prop- erly be to that hardy band of Norse mariners, who, under the leadership of Eric the Red, visited Cape Sable island in 994, fully 500 years before Cabot's visit, says the Halifax Marin- ing Chronicle.

It is not thought, however, that the Norsemen explored the mainland to any extent, if at all

The Best Place

The illustrated Bible had a strong fascination for little Geraldine. With the book open on her lap, she looked up and said:

"Mother, do people marry in heaven?"

"The Good Book says they do not, Geraldine."

"Well, do they marry in—in—the other place?"

"I suppose not, my dear."

Geraldine shut the Bible with a bang.

"Then I'm going to stay here," she said.

Good Reason

Spectator (at wedding)—Fancy old Dave lookin' so nervous when he's al- ready been married twice!

Friend—Shut up, yer fule! That's whoy.

Castles in the air cost a vast deal to keep up.—Bulwer-Lytton.

Failures smooth victory's path.

The morning after it was discovered

BED BUGS—the most disgusting of all insects! Get rid of them with Flit.

Flit spray destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs.

Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomol- ogists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Get a Flit can and sprayer today. For sale everywhere.

STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)

FLIT

DESTROYS
Flies Mosquitoes Moths
Ants Bed Bugs Roaches

"The yellow can with the black band"

Try Your Side

Coach—You can't go in swimming on a full stomach.

Freshman—If you'll only let me go, coach, I'll swim on my back.

Half a million in cold cash makes a fat widow look nice and plump.

Most people don't need a trouble light in order to find trouble.

Fair Enough

"Do you consider it proper for a barber to call himself an artist?"

"I think so—if he is an artist."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Even a dull person sometimes shines in an emergency.

Continual dropping wears away a stone.—Lucretius.

IN THE LEAD

Fisher's engineering experts—skilled beyond their calling by virtue of years of continuous re- search and experimentation with all types of body construction—unhesitatingly aver that none but Body by Fisher—exclusively used by General Motors for Cadillac, Buick, Chevrolet, Oakland, Oldsmobile and Pontiac cars—affords the essential virtues of safety, beauty and com- fort which characterize every Fisher product. Quite logically the public knows that when any improvement which really gives an en- hanced measure of safety, comfort and luxury is perfected, Fisher will be the first to present it just as Fisher has created and been the first to present every important improvement in body design and construction of the past decade.

FISHER BODIES

GENERAL MOTORS

316

BODY BY FISHER

Miss Marie Gauger and William, of this city, accompanied by their brother, Carlyle, who is staying with his uncle near Rudd, returned yesterday from a weeks vacation spent visiting near McGregor, Iowa.

Dr. Hess

Fly Chaser

at

Wilson's

Pharmacy

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS OF KLEMME

Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds and grass must be mowed about your premises before August 1st, 1926.

If this order is not carried out the street commissioner will do the mowing and the same will be charged against your property.

2t F. Gruetzmacher, Mayor.

KLEMME REFORMED CHURCH

No services Sunday, July 25th.

The Reformed Church in Ell Town will celebrate its Mission Fest Sunday. Our congregation is invited to worship with thm. Services in Ell Town morning, afternoon and evening.

Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor.

If Your Motor Walls Were Glass

YOU WOULD SEE THIS LOSS OF

Gas and Power

Stormizing will restore full power and give you a "new" motor to run.

Stormizing is a mechanically accurate process that restores cylinders to their original accuracy. The Process is so accurate it can be repeated several times as cylinders wear.

The Stormizing Process will keep motor at Full Power for 75,000 to 200,000 miles of use. It's the economic way.

The SAVINGS in gas and oil will pay the small cost and you have continuous full powered motor service during the life of your car.

Drive in and let us look over your car. This will cost you nothing. We will show you the advantages and economy of Stormizing and how it pays for itself.

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Klemme, Iowa

For Your Sunday Dinners:-

For your Sunday Dinners or when company comes—What is nicer than a nice, tender and juicy Roasted Ham? Why not take this suggestion and try one of our nice choice Hams for your Sunday Dinner. Have it hot for dinner, and then slice it cold for suppers and lunches! It's great!

Also we have a full line of Pork and Beef Roasts, Choice Steaks, Chops, etc.

FOR THOSE HOT DAYS—

Right now we are specializing in a big line of Cold Meats of All Kinds—just the thing for suppers these hot days. Any kind vo ulike.

GOOD PICNIC ITEMS

Besides our Cold Meats we carry many other good picnic items—Cheese of all kinds; Ketchup; Pork & Beans; Olives; Pickles; all kinds of Preserves; Sardines; Weiners; Sea Foods; Salmon; Salad Ddressing; Sandwich Spread; etc. Just ask us!

Buy It At The—

Klemme Meat Market

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

Goodell is to have a new town hall to be erected on main street.

The Klemme Band will play at Garner Tuesday evening.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Mr. and Mrs. Benn Coobs went to Mason City Saturday to have some dental work done.

Amanda and Edna Lau, of Tracy, Minn., came Sunday for a visit with Klemme relatives and friends.

Will Gast was down from Garner Sunday visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Sampson.

Geo. Schafer, of Webster City, was in Klemme on business Monday.

Mrs. Ralph Ludeke and Mrs. Lester Stille are enjoying a visit from their sister, Miss Gladys Hartzell.

Mrs. Ed. Jacobs and Son, Elwyn, are spending a week visiting with relatives at Clear Lake.

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines. fc

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swanson are the parents of a baby girl who was born to them Tuesday evening.

Harvey Christensen and Raymond Finn of Goodell were Klemme visitors Friday evening.

Mrs. Frank Kluckhohn and Carmen visited at Titonka last Thursday and Friday.

NOTICE—Watch for the advertisement next week on sale of household goods, tools etc. 1tc

The Camp Fire Girls held a bake sale Wednesday morning from which they realized a neat sum.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bredbenner and daughter were visiting in Goodell Sunday.

Miss Emma Meyer, of Mason City visited with Brs. Emma Gibbs this week.

Miss Minnie Lenz is enjoying her vacation from her duties at the post office.

Albert Schroeder, son of "Butch" Schroeder, of Chicago, drove thru last week on business and for a visit with Klemme relatives and friends.

The Misses Eunice Braund and Viola Freie left Sunday for Cedar Rapids for a few days visit with relatives.

DON'T throw away that tire just because of a small hole. Bring it here, I can at least make a good spare for you. C. L. Blumer. 1tc

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Mertz and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kirchefer, of Hayfield, visited with Klemme friends Sunday.

Marshall Harold Leitzinger was out hunting big game this morning. Better watch your doggie because if he isn't taged the cop will get him.

Roland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gibbs, has been quiet sick the past week, but at this time is gaining rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Klingeman, of Garner, were visiting at the P. M. Wilson home Wednesday evening of this week.

Mrs. Herb Bailey and daughter, Ruth, took Grandpa Bailey to Dows Tuesday where he will visit for a couple of weeks.

The contract for the new barn at the county farm was let to Mr. Albert Lake, of Mason City. His bid was under the $5,000 mark.

Rev. K. J. Stubbi and family, of Waukon, Iowa, came last week Thursday for a visit with Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch and family.

Mrs. Butts and daughter, Olive, Mrs. Amos Hansen, Alva Matson, Mrs. Hubard and Edith Halfpop, of Godell, visited at the Wm. Heginger home last Wednesday.

E. C. Ford, of Iowa Falls, was a business caller in Klemme Monday.

Mr. Geo. Gruetzmacher, of Garner, was in Klemme on business Monday.

Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch and Rev. George Goll will leave for Monticello, Iowa, Saturday, where Rev. Grosshuesch will preach Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Mertz, of Hayfield, and M. O. Hocum and family, of Iowa Falls, visited at the home of Mrs. John Gruetzmacher and Mrs. P. M. Griesemer last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Hocum and daughters, Avis and Helen, of Iowa Falls stopped in Klemme Sunday afternoon on their way home form Clear Lake.

Mrs. Sumner Trumbell enjoyed a visit Monday afternoon from her mother Mrs. Christie, and Mrs. Christensen and daughter, Wanda, of Goodell.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gruetzmacher have been in Minnesota enjoying the good fishing. From there they will join friends on a tour through the Black Hills.

Miss Effie Steward, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Carlson and Miss Charlston, all of Leland, visited at the home of Mrs. Asa Gibbs Sunday. Effie Steward is a niece of Mrs. Gibbs.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Roths Saturday. Tom is stepping high and handsome these days. And our supply of smokes is pretty low, Tom.

Henry Wille went to Garner Monday morning for a visit with his brother-in-law, Mr. Dietrich, who had returned home from the hospital where he spent six weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gruetzmacher, Miss Lillian and little Warren, of Garner, were entertained at the home of Mrs. John Gruetzmacher and Mrs. P. M. Grisemer last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis drove to Good Thunder, Minn., Saturday morning for a week visit with the Henry Jahnke family.

Miss Kidder, of Des Moines, was in Klemme one day the past week to look for a rooming place. She will teach in the Klemme schools this fall and takes the place of Miss Abel in the Home Economics division.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Christensen, of Ringsted, are moving into the rooms above the J. N. Day store for light house-keeping until fall when they will move to Wisconsin. Mr. Christensen will work for Ing. Lauritsen. Mrs. Christensen is a daughter of Mrs. Einar Salling.

Paul Grange and family, and Clarence Lauden and family drove to Hollendale, Minn., Sunday. This is the famous onion country where there are hundreds of acres of onions and other garden trucks raised. The community is made up of prosperous Hollanders.

Walter Lau came home from Minneapolis last Thursday for a visit over the week end with his family here. They expect to move to Minneapolis the first of August where they will make their future home. The Lau family have many friends who will regret their leaving Klemme, but wish them success in their new home. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thomas have rented the Lau home.

Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Gauger and son, Stanley, will leave Friday for a vacation. They will visit at Reinbeck a few days and then will go to Charles City and Rudd and from there to Dake Okoboji to attend the camp meeting. Herb Bailey and family and Miss Ethel Wellemeyer will also go to Lake Okoboji Friday to take in the meetings and have a ten days outing.

CAMP FIRE NOTES

At their recent meeting the Camp Fire Girls elected the following officers: Blanche Gimer, secretary and Reva Elder, Editor. The girls are working to be Wood Gatherers so they may wear their ceremonial gowns which will be a lovely gift to the Camp Fire Girls.

Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings

DR. E. H. PHILLIPS

Osteopathic Physician

Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa.

Karl Kraus attended a radio dealers convention at Waterloo last week Thursday, at which over 175 Crosley dealers wore present. Mr. Crosley, the radio manufacturer, was there and gave lectures and displayed new machines. The convention was treated to a fine banquet at the Russel Lamson hotel and later took in the theatre where they saw moving pictures of themselves at the convntion. Karl says he is "in the movies now!"

Walt Bloom came in from Los Angeles, California Monday afternoon on the train. Walt always comes to Klemme every summer and stays until the snow balls chase him home again.

The dry, hot spell was broken by a nice, cooling rain which began to fall late yesterday afternoon. Reports state that in places they had a good, soaking rain It was a most welcome gift of the weather man.

It's Here!

--Your Twine

It's here Now—That Carload of Twine we ordered. Come in and get yours anytime now.

THRESHING COAL COMING, TOO!

We have a carload of goo dTHRESHING COAL on the way now. Get your order in at once and get it off the carwhen itarrives.

WE HAVE OIL MEAL NOW!

You can come in and get that OIL MEAL now, it's here. The Tankage will be here soon. Do you need some? Better get your order intod ay.

AND DON'T FORGET—This is the right place to come for your CHICKEN FEED of all kinds.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

BAYSIDE

---AMUSEMENT PARK---

Clear Lake, Iowa

Next Sunday, July 25th

FREE ATTRACTIONS AFTERNOON AND NIGHT

NORTH IOWA CHILDREN'S BAND—
40 Kiddies in Concerts and Minstrel Acts.

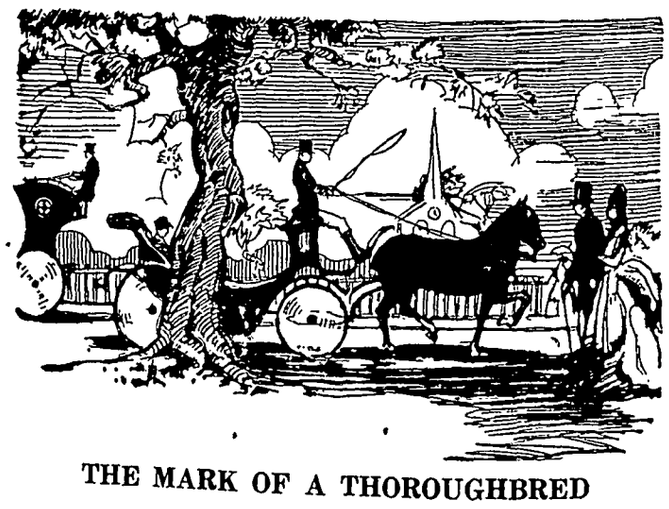
PROFESSOR J. REX IN HAIR WHIRL—
Chain and Rope Wizzard, European Novelty.

HAZEL AND CONRAD IN TWO ACTS—
Singing, Dancing, Jokes and Stories.

AT BAYSIDE—Best Bathing Beach on Lake, Bath House, Toboggan Slide, Roller Coaster, Swinging Aeroplane, Merry Go Round, Little Train, Princess Gandhi, Fun House, Roller Skating Free Picnic Grounds and Tables, Children's Playgrounds.

FUN FOR ALL ALL FOR FUN

Policed Parking Grounds For Cars 15c



THE MARK OF A THOROUGHBRED

IN THE DAYS When coaches were fashionable one judged the wealth of an individual by the kind of horse he drove. It is still the same today. People are judged by the luxuries they are able to buy.

There is only one way to be able rightfully to obtain these luxuries, and that is by being able to afford them. Begin working toward the end of accumulating an estate thru saving.

A Savings Account is a move in the right direction. If you do not have one, let us help you get started.

First National Bank

KLEMME, IOWA.

THE KLEMME TIMES

th Year—Number 30. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, JULY 29, 1920. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

NG THE MAIN DRAG

, Gimer, buttermaker, and F. nold, president of the First al Bank, accompanied C. E. , of Garner, to Lincoln, Ne- , Tuesday afternoon. The men to "Charlie Bryan's city" to back a new Buick sedan for pular butter maker.

Grange, manager of the rn Lumber Co., has gone into wspaper business. Paul don't any more about setting type congressman knows whats or the ailments of the farmer, e has bamfoozled the Editor elping him out. Paul has al- called his sheet the "Northern and the first copy appears in ssue. We don't like to brag our competitors, but we will ul shakes a mean pencil.

e Wilson, of the Wilson Phar- has secured a license to sell ttes in Klemme. You fellows ow get your favorite smoke te's, as he carries a full line. . Poort has launched a new en- se in Klemme known as "The me Oil Company." "Jack" is on the job and out calling on ustomers every day and sells grade gasoline, kerosene, oils rease.

Anderson, "horse doctor", has in his bonnet and is seriously ted with "vacationitis" in it's form. The only cure for our ar "Doc" seems to be a trip to lack Hills. We armed him with ecessary maps and information t won't surprise us a bit if the time we hear from him that he e shouting from the top of Har- Peak That's out where men men, and women sleep with shoes on!

v Calvin Grosshuesch preached rmon at the Reformed church onticello, Iowa, last Sunday. ng other good things the Rev- d told the people of Monticello, et he put in a good word for me.

d while we are talking about pilots" we inform our readers Rev. A. W. Gauger is this week ding his vacation at Lake Oko- where a conference is in sess- But—Gauger likes to fish!

ail carrier Sumner Trumbell ed his salt last week, when a shipment of catalogs arrived for to scatter along his route We a lot of them will be disturbed g about Hallowe'en night!

o, children. Those two red balls lied at the intersections on our in drag" are not landing places frogs in rainy weather. They e put there by "Cop" Lietzinger the purpose giving the proper tion for four wheeled tincans to ribe an arc of 360 degrees when eling from east to west or vice a, etc. et al. Keep to the Right!

number of fans along the Main took in the ball game at Mas- City Tuesday afternoon to see Union Giants warp it to the arlie" City boys. It was a good e. ditor Jorgenson and "Dad" Ker- e invaded the peaceful quietness Clear Lake early Saturday morn- Thy left all the fish in the except one, they didn't even e the sport of "the biggest one away!"

Klemme business men can shock s, a fact which they demonstrat- last Thursday evening at the Carl nson farm. You can read more ut it elsewhere in this issue.

The Garner Band will play here day evening at the Park. Remem- the date and give the boys a d hand. Garner treated the emme band fine there Tuesday ev- ng.

The rain Tuesday night was fine crops in this vicinity. It also tled the dust along the Main Drag d will save the town the price of couple gallons of water to wet n the street.

"Bally" Kluckhohn got in on a threshers' dinner Tuesday at the C. Buentenbach home. We al- ys did say "Bally" was a lucky s. We bet he made an awful t in that dinner. It sure pays have a "stand-in" with the far- rs, alright!

We forgot to mention it last week t the Rock Island had some paint- on the job recently to touch up e switches, signals, and signs a- g this stretch of track. Looks lot better, too.

STUDY BUMPER CORN CROP SALE IN IOWA

Has Paid In Past To Hold Large Crops Until Second Summer

A study of corn prices during the past 27 years—since 1899—recently made by agricultural economists of the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station discloses that it would have been profitable for Iowa farmers to have stored the 12 "bumper" corn crops during that period until the second summer after the corn was husked.

Of the 12 years in the past 27 that the production of feeds (corn and oats) was large enough to be called a "bumper' crop, it would have paid well in eight years to have stored and held the corn from 18 to 21 months after harvesting it; in two years neither a loss nor a gain would have resulted and in the other two years it would have meant a loss.

Taking the 12 years as a whole, it would have paid the farmer to have provided a special crib so that he could hold his bumper crops until the second summer. A crib built for this purpose would have brought its owner around 80 or 90 cents net profit for each bushel of its capacity. In other words, it would have paid for the corn shrink, depreciation, insurance, interest on the crib investment, and other cost storage factors and have returned the above profit in addition.

In order that farmers and others interested in corn storage may know just how the conclusions concerning the sale of bumper corn crops were determined, circular has been issued, entitled, "The Bumper Corn Crop Surplus which gives all this information in detail. It may be obtained free by writing to the Agricultural Economics Department, at Iowa State College, Ames.

GOOD PROGRAM AT BAYSIDE NEXT SUNDAY

Bayside Amusement Park at Clear Lake, Iowa, will present an exceptionally good program next Sunday afternoon and evening, August 1st. Waverly's large concert band will furnish the music. Sankus and Sylvers, fox trot acrobats, will offer two very entertaining shows. They are great clowns on the stage and have many stunts to make you laugh. Professor J. Rex will perform in two new acts of breath-taking type. He has toured every state in the union and presented his wonderful fetes. It is seldom you have an opportunity to see such a daring actor as Mr. Rex is. The Bayside management invites you to use the free picnic grounds and tables as well as the children's playgrounds.

FALLS TO HIS DEATH

AL DAVIDSON KILLED IN ACCIDENT IN CHICAGO

Al Davidson, well known in Klemme, and who formerly worked at the carpenter trade here a couple of years ago, died at a Chicago hospital last Thursday morning following injuries received Monday morning when he fell from a forty foot scaffold on which he was working The scaffold on which Davidson was working collapsed and he fell forty feet onto a pile of bricks on the ground receiving fatal injuries.

The remains were shipped to his home at Ringstead, Iowa, for burial.

REV. F. C. GRIEVE HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Center Point, Ia., July 25.—The Rev. F. C. Grieve, pastor of the Methodist church at Center Point, and Maxine Bonebreak also of this town, were saved from drowning in the Cedar river by "Si" Grieve, son of the minister; L. L. Grubbs and John See. The near tragedy happened when twenty persons attending and visiting a Boy Scout camp formed a chain and waded out into the river, not knowing the water was more than seven feet deep in places.

BUSINESS MEN AND FARMERS SET 'EM UP

KLEMME BUSINESS MEN AND FARMERS SHOCK OATS FOR CARL SWANSON

Fifty Four Men Make Shocks Stand In Field Like Magic

Carl Swanson was the most pleased farmer in the state of Iowa last Thursday evening when fifty-four farmers and business men of Klemme "raided" his thirty five acre oats field and shocked it all for him in less time than you can say "Jack Robinson."

Mr. Swanson's wife was seriously ill and he was unable to leave her bedside to look after his farm work and a large field of oats was down ready to be shocked. The word was passed around and after supper last Thursday evening Klemme business men donned overalls and work shirts and headed for the Swanson farm where they were joined by a large group of farmers and the way the shocks went up in that field established a new record for shocking. It took a little more than half an hour to shock the entire field.

Carl wishes to sincerely thank all for this act of kindness which he appreciates more than words can describe and wants the Times to say "thank you" to everybody who helped him at a time when he most needed assistance

MANUFACTURE COOL BREEZE

To Do It, One Needs Bowl Of Ice And Electric Fan

If the breezes aren't cool enough to suit you and you have an electric fan and ice, then you may manufacture your own breeze of a lowered temperature. Often this is desirable for the sick room.

Place a chunk of ice in a large bowl, preferably one about a foot and a half in diameter. Behind this bowl of ice set your electric fan. Turn on the switch and the cool breeze will begin.

The ice bowl may be made attractive for a dinner party or any other kind of entertainment by filling it with ice and then decorating it with fragrant flowers. With a fan behind the bowl prepared in this manner, not only will cool breeze be furnished, but it also will be laden with the scent of the chilled flowers

BANK WRECKER OUT OF PEN

LEVALLEY, SHEFFIELD BANKER GETS PAROLE

Sheffield Bank Wrecker Cannot Return To His Home Town

Des Moines, Iowa, July 29.—The state board of parole has granted the application of C. J. LeValley, the former Sheffield banker, for a parole, and was given his release from the penitentiary at Fort Madison last week. Governor Hammill has also granted LeValley permission to leave the state, and it is understood that he will join his wife who has been in Chicago for some time. In fact it is the understanding that the release of LeValley was on condition that he does not return to Sheffield, his former home. Residents of that community are on record that they do not object to the release of the former bank wrecker if he does not return there to remind the people of that community of his betrayal of their interests.

Served Nearly Three Years

LeValley has served nearly three years of his ten year term. He was sentenced by Judge G.D. Thompson, at Hampton, on October 8th, 1923 to ten years at Fort Madison, for fraudulent banking, on his plea of guilty. For many years LeValley was cashier and in active charge of the Farmers and Merchants Bank at Sheffield, and when the bank was closed on February 19, 1923, officers made an investigation of the affairs of the bank with the result that LeValley, and Chris C. Storck, the assistant cashier, were indicted for fraudulent banking. On their plea of guilty, both were sent up for ten years each, but Storck, whom most everybody believed was not knowingly a party to the crimes committed, was released from prison after serving but little over one year. He was then paroled and later given a full pardon.

The bank was a total wreck as far as saving anything for the depositors were concerned, and examiners found that the operation of the bank by LeValley was bad almost from the day the bank started, twenty-five years or more ago. When the bank closed it had about $250,000 deposits.

Canada's sudden tax of 50 cents a crate on American strawberries provokes the thought, "Can strawberries be bootlegged?"

MRS. HOOVER TURNS BRICKLAYER

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the Secretary of Commerce in President Coolidge's cabinet, is shown laying the cornerstone for the model home being erected by Better Homes in America organization at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, in Philadelphia, June 1 to December 1 to celebrate 150 years of American Independence. Opposite Mrs. Hoover stands Mrs. Vance McCormick of Harrisburg. The Girl Scouts grouped around the women will operate the house.

KLEMME YOUNG PEOPLE WILL ATTEND E. P. MEETINGS AT CLEAR LAKE

Six Hundred Or More Young Folks Expected At Institute

The Epworth League institute of the Upper Iowa conference of the Methodist church is being held at Clear Lake this week and a number of young people from Klemme and vicinity are attending, or will take in the institute the latter part of this week.

Forty acres of land have been purchased adjoining the Patriarchs Militant grounds on the south shore. The land has a fine lake shore frontage and a large tabernacle is being built at a cost of $20,000 which will be dedicated Sunday. Streets and lots have been laid out and many cottages have already been purchased by Epworth League members.

Six hundred or more young people are expected to be in Clear Lake for he institute. The forenoons will be given over Bible study, class room work, etc. and the afternoons will be taken up with recreation, and the evenings will be for lectures.

Those attending this year are locating at cottages and many are camping. The large Odd Fellow building on the grounds is used for the meetings.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

No services will be held next Sunday. This applies to the preaching service as well as to the Sunday school.

Our conference Bible Conference is on at Lake Okoboji and it is hoped that a goodly number will attend that, at least during the closing days. Bishop Hughes is the speaker for next Sunday.

This is also Epworth League Institute week at Clear Lake. Those who cannot go to the Bible Conference will do well to go to the Institute during the week and especially on the coming Sunday. The Institute's fine new tabernacle is fast nearing completion. If we have correct information, then this fine building will be dedicated on the coming Sunday and we are told that Bishop Keeney will be there for this service. Many should hear him.

The Institute is held at the Odd Fellows Park as in former years. This adjoins the grounds where the new tabernacle is being built for its permanent home.

KLEMME REFORMED CHURCH

Sunday, August 1st

10:00 A. M. English service.
11:00 A. M. Sunday school.
8:00 P. M. German Service.
Calvin Grosshuesch, Pastor.

LATE DEALS IN DIRT

HANCOCK COUNTY REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff to Albert Mitchell. Sheriff's Deed date 7-16-26, $33,376.00. Part of block A. Standrings add to Corwith lying S of M. & St. L. Ry, ex tract 136x191 feet and also SW¼ & SW¼ of NW ¼ 32-95-26 & N 3-8 of NW¼ 5-94-26.

Fred W. Werges wf et al to Anna Marie Werges. Q. C. D. date 5-8-26, $1.00, SW¼ 10-95-25.

Cheney Nelson wf. to Winnebago County State Bank. W. D., date 3-4-26, $1.00, N½ NE¼ 13-97-24.

Annie G. Chapman et al to W G. McFarland et al. W. D., date 7-17-26 $1.00, N½ SE¼ & S½ S½ NE¼ 26-97-25.

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff, to Dora M Rathbun, Ex. Certificate of Sheriff's sale, date 7-16-26, $10,690.24, W½ of SW¼ 24-94-24.

Trade Name: Klemme Oil Co., of Klemme, Iowa. Owners: G. A. and J. J. Poort, of Klemme, Iowa.

Chas. Anderson to N. P. Nelson. W. D. date 5-25 $400.00, lots 10-11-12 block 11 Britt.

The time has arrived for another "swatting campaign" swat the rooster. Fertile eggs will not keep as well as infertile ones in warm weather and there is no further need for the rooster at this time of year.

H. THIEMANN DIED MONDAY MORNING

HENRY THIEMAN, SR. PASSED AWAY MONDAY MORNING

Funeral Services Were Held From Reformed Church Yesterday

Henry Thieman, Sr., was born at Haaren, Osnabrueck, Germany on the 9th day of October, 1853.

As a child he attended the schools at Haaren and later, when a young man, he attended a German military training camp for two years. In the year 1876 he was united in marriage to Miss Eliza Duhme. To this union were born two sons in Germany, William and Herman. In the year 1882 the family came to the United States to make their future home and they first lived at New Noxville, Ohio. After nine years they moved to Klemme, Iowa. During the meantime they lived in the state of Missouri for two years, and while living there had the sad misfortune to loose three sons who contracted diphtheria and died.

Mr. Thieman and family have resided in this country for forty-four years and practically all of that time he had spent farming, of which business he had made a fine success. Mr. Thieman was one of the organizers of the Reformed church in this place and has always been a faithful church worker throughout his life. At various times he has served his church as Sunday school Superintendent, Deacon and Elder.

About four years ago he was afflicted with transverse myelitis from which he did not recover and he died early Monday morning, July 26, 1926, at the age of 72 years, 9 months and 17 days. Surviving him and mourning his death are: his wife; three sons, Herman, Henry and George; three daughters, Mrs. Henry Jahnke, Elkton, Minn., Mrs. Gottlieb Goll and Mrs. Cornelius Wille; two sisters living in Osnabrueck, Hanover, Germany, and 22 grandchildren, besides many friends.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Reformed Church. Rev. Grosshuesch, assisted by Rev. Schmid conducted the services. Interment was made in the Klemme Cemetery.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank all for their kind assistance and sympathy in our recent bereavement, and taking this opportunity to thank the choir for singing, and all for their floral offerings.

Mrs. Henry Thieman, Sr.
And Children.

THERE IS NOTHING WRONG WITH IOWA—

Except—that entirely too many of us get up in the morning at the alarm of a Connecticut Clock, button a pair of Chicago Trousers to Ohio Suspenders, put on a pair of Shoes made in Massachusetts, wash in a Pittsburg Tin Basin, using Cincinnati Soap and a Cotton Towel made in New Hampshire; sit down to a Grand Rapids Table, eat Pancakes made with Minnesota Flour, spread with Vermont Maple Syrup and Kansas City Bacon fried on a St. Louis Stove; buy Fruit put up in California, seasoned with Rhode Island spices; put on a Hat made in Philadelphia, hitch a Detroit Tin Mule fed on Texas Gasoline to an Ohio Plow and work like Hector all day long on an Iowa Farm covered with a New England Mortgage; send our money to Ohio for Automobile Tires, wondering why Iowa Taxes are $2.75 per acre while the farmers of Ohio pay $1.00 and drive everywhere on paved roads, and at night we crawl under a New Jersey Blanket to be kept awake by a Howling Dog—the only Home Product on the Place—wondering all the while why Ready Money and Prosperity are not more abundant in this Wonderful State of Ours.—Exchange.

When a man with ten children unites with a widow with numerous offsprings, it is not a marriage—it's a merger

POINCARE RULE IS FAVORED BY FRENCH

New Cabinet Is Regarded as Competent to Solve Financial Problems.

Washington.—American tourists should remain out of France, if the outbreaks against them and against the United States continue, according to Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania. Senator Reed in effect would have Americans boycott France for the time being unless the outbreaks halt.

Paris.—The name of Raymond Poincare is on the lips of almost every Frenchman. Literally the entire nation breathed a deep sigh of relief at the news that one of the most dangerous national crises in the history of the country had definitely passed with the formation of a National Union ministry, headed by the distinguished ex-president of the republic.

The political effervescence and ominous civic unrest which began with the crash of the Briand-Caillaux ministry a few days ago, and the precipitate fall of the franc which followed the political maelstrom that swept in and swept out Herriot, are gone.

M. Poincare, who has succeeded in welding the political parties into a sacred crusade against national bankruptcy, received President Doumergue's benediction in his threefold responsibility—as premier, minister of finance and minister of the liberated regions.

Excluded from his ministry alone are the pure radicals of the right and left, despite the fact that he sought their collaboration, even urging the brilliant Socialist deputy, Paul Boncour, to take a cabinet post.

M. Poincare will command an overwhelming vote of confidence in both legislative branches. His strength in the chamber of deputies was assured when the radical-socialists, at first bent on destructive opposition in revenge for the fall of their leader, Edouard Herriot, bowed to the impatient and even threatening public opinion and agreed to support the new ministry with M. Herriot, holding the relatively insignificant post of minister of public instruction.

The new cabinet is as follows:

Premier and Minister of Finance—Raymond Poincare.
Minister of Justice—Louis Barthou.
Foreign Affairs—Aristide Briand.
Interior—Albert Sarraut.
War—Paul Painleve.
Marine—Georges Leygues.
Public Works—Maurice Bokanowski.
Education—Edouard Herriot.
Commerce—Andre Tardieu.
Colonies—Leon Perrier.
Pensions—Louis Marin.
Agriculture—Dr. Andre Queuille.
Labor—Andre Fallieres.

Such a ministry in any other country than France would endure for years, but in this case, it is uniquely designed to solve France's financial difficulties and then will disband, leaving politics thereafter to continue on its normal way.

What will be the new ministry's exact program for financial recovery cannot yet be traced with detailed accuracy. One thing is certain, it will not make any immediate move to ratify the Mellon-Berenger debt agreement, but national economy has become a leading feature of its policy.

The arrival in France of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon of Washing has aroused great interest, despite the claim that he is merely vacationing. The opinion of the French press is that:

"In reality, Mr. Mellon has crossed the Atlantic to examine the economic and financial situation of Europe at the moment of crisis. There are many reasons for these crises and the polemics which rest upon them are not matters of indifference to the United States government.

"Mr. Mellon is also anxious to calm down the controversy between Mr. Churchill and himself before it seriously affects the relations between the two great Anglo-Saxon powers."

Illinois Senatorial Vote to Be Recounted

Chicago.—Judge Jerecki of the county court announced that in accordance with the request of Senator James Reed, Democrat of Missouri, he had ordered a complete recount of both Democratic and Republican votes cast in the Illinois senatorial primary of April.

Senator Reed is chairman of the senate "slush fund" investigation committee which is now conducting hearings in Chicago, sessions which propose to turn the spotlight on alleged political irregularities in connection with the primary.

"In all respects," Senator Reed said, "it will be carried on in the same thorough way in which the Pennsylvania hearings were conducted. We will endeavor to learn the inside facts of the Illinois primary, particularly as it affects candidates for the United States senate."

Canoe Upsets, 11 Boys Drown

Peterboro, Ont.—Eleven boys of the St. Andrew's camp were drowned in Balsam lake, near here, when a war canoe containing sixteen upset. Five struggled to shore.

Refused Army Airplanes

Washington.—Secretary Davis has replied unfavorably to the request of officials of the naval carnival to be held at Hampton Roads, Va., for the participation of army aircraft in exhibition flights.

REPRESENTS ALBANIA

New portrait of Falk Konitza, who is the first minister to the United States from Albania in many years. He has established headquarters at the Willard hotel, Washington. Mr. Konitza was born in southern Albania in 1876 and studied in France and later at Harvard. By profession he is a writer.

U. S. IS IGNORED ON WORLD COURT DEAL

14 of 42 Countries Fail to Make Any Reply.

Washington.—Only Cuba, Greece and Liberia have accepted the reservations laid down by the senate to United States adherence to the World court protocol.

This became known when a tabulation of interchanges initiated by the State department last February with notifications to 42 governments that the United States is prepared to adhere to the court, with reservations, and asking the acceptance of those reservations, showed that mere acknowledgments had been received from 10 countries, 6 others explained that they would reserve their decision until after the Geneva conference, and no response whatever had been received from the other 14 nations.

Those reserving their answers pending the Geneva discussions are Austria, Norway, Albania, Finland, Rumania, and the Kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, while no acknowledgment has been received from Great Britain, Japan, Belgium, Italy, Spain, the Netherlands, Sweden, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Esthonia, Hungary, Brazil, Chile and Luxembourg.

Since the League of Nations called the Geneva September conference of signatory powers after the State department's notifications were dispatched, and it is regarded as certain that these 14 governments will attend that meeting, State department officials interpret the position they occupy as "perfectly normal." They believe that the American rejection of the league invitation to the conference will not influence the ultimate decision of participating governments.

It is expected that the conference will serve to expedite common action and that soon after the meeting adjourns the individual nations will speedily make known their assent to American adherence.

The governments which sent bare acknowledgments of the receipt of the notifications include France, Bolivia, China, Colombia, Denmark, Haiti, Latvia, Lithuania, Panama, Paraguay, Persia, Poland, the Dominican republic, Portugal, Salvador, Siam, Switzerland, Uruguay and Venezuela.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

Lack of street and number addresses on letters has become such a drag on the postal service that Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett has begun a general campaign to educate the business public in the necessity of giving complete addresses on all letters.

Army air officers are investigating the recent flight of Major Spatz from Washington to Kelly field, Texas, to ascertain whether he established a new time record for the route followed.

A 2-cent envelope, with the red stamp bearing a picture of the Liberty bell, will be issued by the Post-office department to commemorate the sesquicentennial anniversary of American independence.

The rise of radio has resulted in the swamping of the United States patent office under the greatest deluge of applications in history.

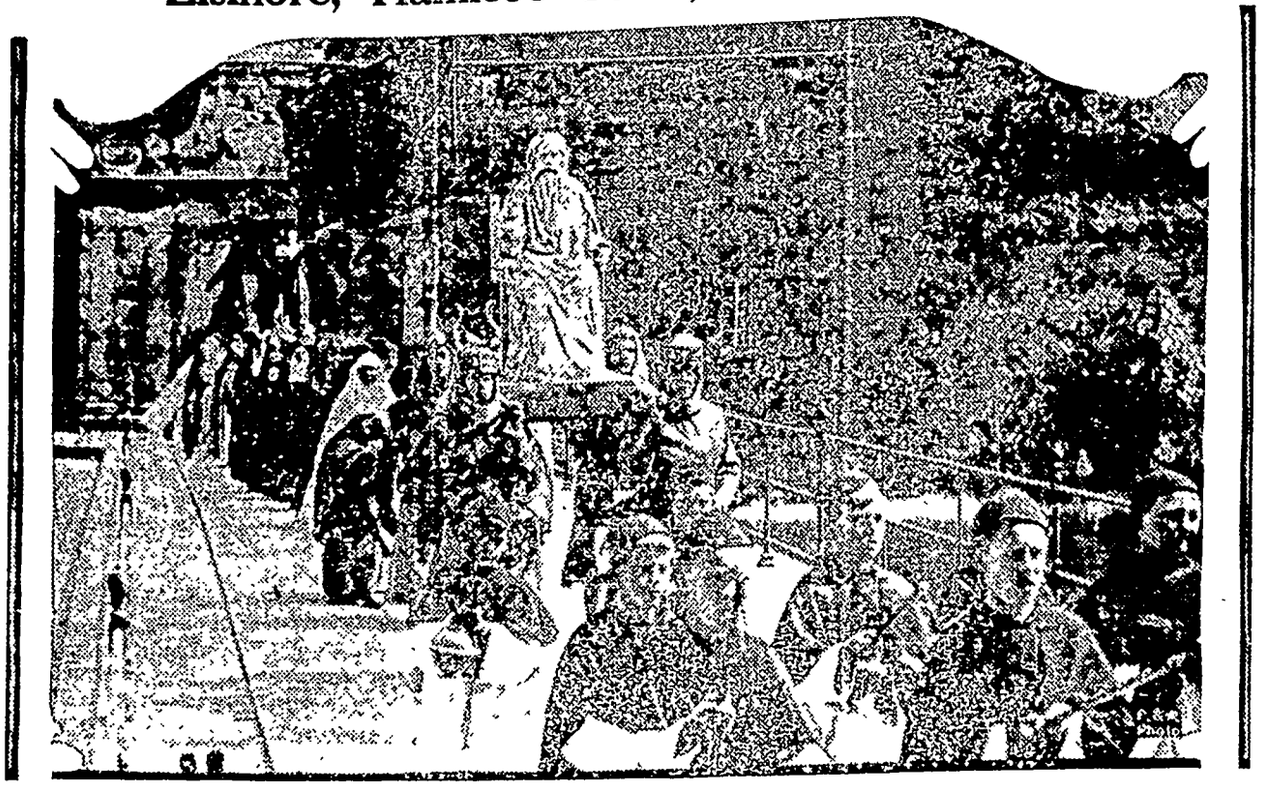
Takes Brazil Out of League

Rio de Janeiro.—President Bernardes has signed the decree which definitely terminates Brazil's connection with the League of Nations by dissolving the country's permanent delegation to the league.

Storm Kills 100 Serbians

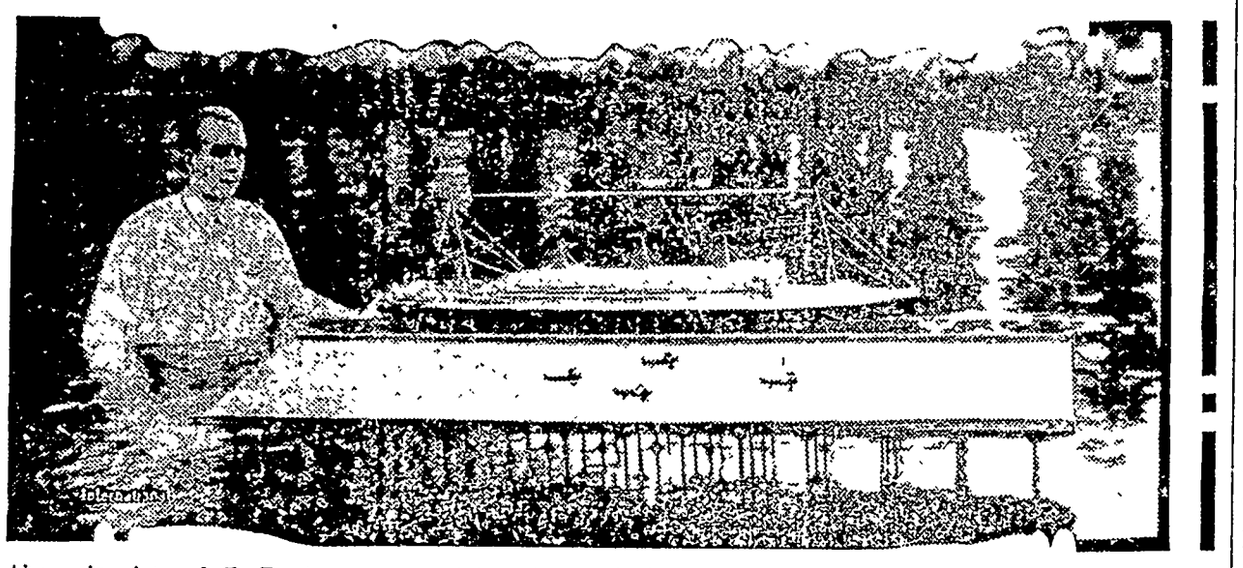
Vienna.—One hundred persons are reported to have been killed at Rugovo, Serbia, when a hurricane, accompanied by a cloudburst, struck the town.

Elsinore, Hamlet's Town, Is 500 Years Old



Elsinore, the Danish city of Hamlet, recently held an elaborate festival to celebrate the five hundredth anniversary of the granting of the charter. Pageants recalling the history of the town were acted in the courtyard of Kronborg castle, where the "Taming of the Shrew" was also presented. This picture shows nuns following the effigy of a saint which is being carried by mail-clad knights.

Model of Seadrome That May Be Built in Atlantic

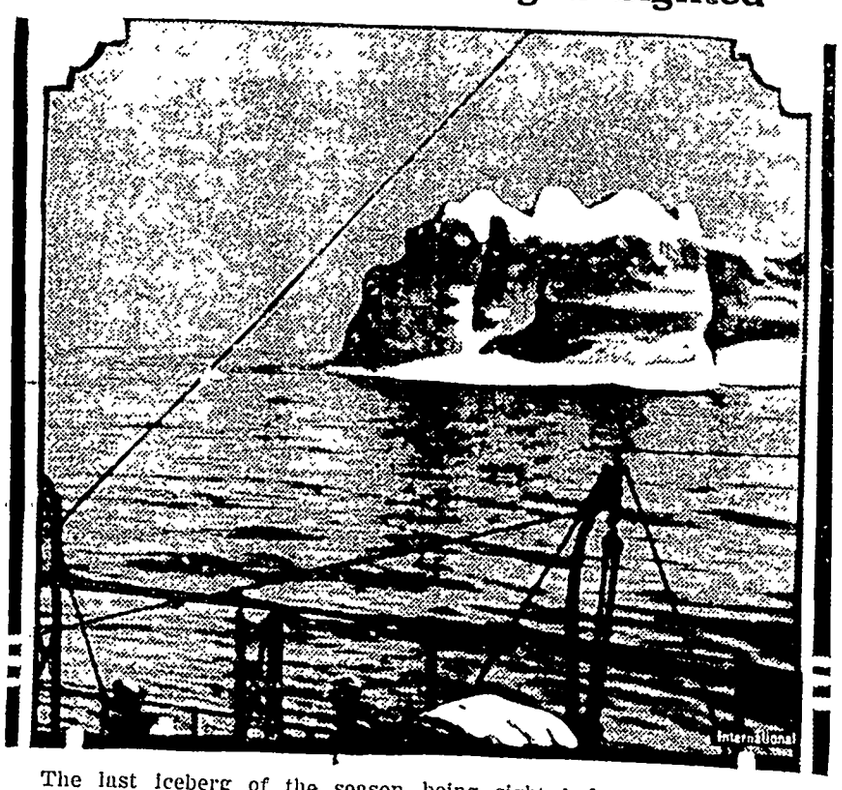


Above is pictured E. R. Armstrong, chief engineer of the Dupont company, with the elaborate model of his proposed seadrome, which he believes would solve the problem of transatlantic aerial travel. The drydock would serve as a midocean harbor for ships and dirigibles which could land on the dock. In the model he uses a replica of the S. S. Majestic, showing the relative sizes of the dock and the ship.

Coolidges in the Adirondacks

President and Mrs. Coolidge with their dogs, Rob Roy and Prudence Prim, going for a walk at White Pine camp on Osgood lake, shortly after their arrival at the elaborate Adirondacks camp.

Season's Last Iceberg Is Sighted



The last iceberg of the season being sighted from the deck of the United States coast guard cutter Modoc, on duty in the ice lanes of the Atlantic. In order to relieve the possibility of further marine disasters such as the Titanic tragedy, the ice patrol blows up many of these icebergs.

JOHN DREW RETIRES

John Drew, veteran American actor, here seen at his home in East Hampton, L. I., has retired to private life. Celebrating his seventy-third birth day, he attended the annual dinner of the local volunteer fire department and mentioned the fact that it would be his last public appearance.

MISS LENA PHILLIPS

Miss Lena Madsden Phillips of New York who was elected president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at the convention in Des Moines, Iowa. She is a lawyer, was one of the founders of the federation and has been serving as its executive secretary.

CONGRESS SETS NEW PACE IN LAWMAKI

Total of Eight Hundred Ninety-Six Bills Passed During First Session.

Washington.—The Sixty-ninth congress, at the closing of its first session July 3, was well in way toward doing any of its predecessors in making, according to information compiled under the direction of Miller Page, clerk of the house of representatives.

Not only was the number of laws in excess of other first sessions for which records have been compiled, but the total was greater by 121 than was the total of laws enacted in all the sessions in ten years, including war emergency period.

There were 896 public and private laws and resolutions added to the statutes of the United States in 158 days of the session.

The measures that went through were divided as follows: Public laws, 523; public resolutions, 46, private laws and resolutions, 327; total, 896. There were no vetoes. Five of the acts covered a multitude of items. These were omnibus pension bills. The five of them enacted into law 2,717 private bills, saving by the method much expense in printing and other items. If these were all counted individually, the grand total would be 3,608 bills which became laws during the first six months of 1926. Although the senate is less than one-fourth the size of the house it had better luck than the so-called lower branch of congress in the number of its bills which became laws. The upper body originated more than one-half of the measures that finally went on the statute books.

The 896 laws are subdivided as follows:

House bills, 557.
House joint resolutions, 24.
Senate bills, 290.
Senate joint resolutions, 25.

There are yet more laws to be written on the books when congress reconvenes, for the first session had a total of 1,495 bills reported by committees. Approximately 500 are slated for favorable consideration next winter, this being the difference between those reported and those enacted.

A grand total of 13,909 bills and resolutions was introduced. The nearest to that in recent years was in the first session of the Sixty-sixth congress, when the total reached 11,[illegible]. The first session of the Sixty-fifth congress spent 114 days in writing laws. The first session of the Sixty-sixth, 144 days in writing 121 laws, the first session of the Sixty-seventh congress, 139 days making 152 laws, and the first session of the Sixty-eighth took 142 days in writing 366 laws. This was at the rate of between two and three a day.

The first session of the Sixty-ninth congress, recently closed, was in 158 days in writing its 896 laws, so that approximately six a day were approved. If the omnibus bills had been counted as simply five, the rate would have been about twenty-three laws a day.

Place Cost of Bushel of Corn at $1.40 to $1.[illegible]

Des Moines, Iowa.—The corn-hog committee, recently in session here, received a report of its cost-finding committee, which fixed the actual cost of production of a bushel of corn in Iowa, with an allowance for a fair profit, at $1.42.

The report also set forth that in Illinois the expense of producing corn with a fair profit of 5 per cent cent included, is $1.43; in Nebraska, $1.[illegible], Minnesota, $1.41, and in North Dakota and Wisconsin, $1.42.

Other costs of production in Iowa allowing the same fair margin of profit, were reported as: Oats, 35 cents; wheat, $2.40, hay, $21.44; hogs, $16.82; veal, $17.82, wool, 65 cents, butterfat, 98 cents, and eggs, 61 cents.

A 160-acre farm was the area upon which the compilation was based and it was capitalized at $148 an acre with an average interest of 5 per cent or $1,184. Other expenses figured included:

Depreciation on a $2,250 dwelling, $90; depreciation on $3,690 worth of other buildings, $184; depreciation on fences, $83; depreciation and interest upon $1,973.90 worth of machinery, $335.56; farmer's salary, $1,800; hired help, $390; fertilizer, $101.60, and automobile depreciation and interest, $121.50, only 75 per cent of the motor car expense being charged to the farm.

The total income necessary for the 5 per cent fair return as outlined was $5,601.44, against what was said to be a present income of $2,998.44.

The figures were compiled by E. [illegible] Kennedy of Pontiac, Ill.

Strike Bill $724,500,000

London.—It is estimated by the government that the general strike and stoppage of the coal industry has to date cost the country $724,500,000.

60 Die in Yugo-Slavia Flood

Vienna.—Floods have destroyed several Yugo-Slavian villages and sixty or more persons have been drowned, according to reports. It is estimated that about 400,000 acres are under water.

Suppress Berlin Paper

Berlin.—The Communist organ, Rote Fahne (Red Flag) has been suppressed for two weeks by order of the minister of interior for "slander" of President von Hindenburg.

Youth Rides West

By Will Irwin

WNU Service

Copyright by Will Irwin

THE STORY SO FAR

On their way to the new Cottonwood gold diggings in Colorado in the early Seventies, Robert Gilson, easterner, and his partner, Buck Hayden, a veteran miner, witness the hold-up of a stage coach, from which the express box is stolen before the bandits are scared off. Among the hold-up victims are Mrs. Constance Deane, and Mrs. Barnaby, who intends to open a restaurant in Cottonwood. Gilson meets Marcus Handy, editor, on his way to start the Cottonwood Courier. Arriving in town, Gilson and Hayden together purchase a mining claim. A threatened lynching is averted by the bravery of Chris McGrath, town marshal. Gilson becomes disgusted with gold digging, what with its unending labor and small rewards, and so the sudden appearance of Shorty Croly, old-time partner of Buck, is not altogether disconcerting to him. Gilson takes a job on the Courier and arranges to sell his share in the claim to Shorty. His acquaintanceship with Mrs. Deane ripens.

Water Jugs.

you need—we have it in

Jacobs

SERVICE STORE"

action or

CHAPTER V—Continued

—7—

"Got us robbed," said Mrs. Barnaby, addressing the miners, "held up an[d] robbed—that stage company!" Forthwith, addressing not me but them, Mrs. Barnaby launched forth into her narrative of that adventure, beginning with her mortal certainty, when she took the stage at Plested's, that something was going to happen. Meanwhile, I seated myself in a spare place at the other end of the table in the attitude of one who expects to be served. Mrs. Barnaby, whirling on a gesture as she described the killing of the horse, beheld me there, broke the narrative off short, and turned her guns from the stage company to me.

"Well, who asked you to sit down?" she asked.

"I—I wanted board," I replied, feeling somehow de trop.

Mrs. Barnaby regarded me with small, brown, deep-set eyes, and her expression seemed to brand my simple business proposal as an insult.

"Regular, or transient?" she inquired.

"Regular," I faltered. Mrs. Barnaby was looking at me so sharply that I wondered uncomfortably if she had guessed why I chose her establishment.

"Got a job?"

"Oh, yes!"

"At what?"

"Reporter on the Courier."

"Editor, huh? Well, I know editors. You pay in advance!" said Mrs. Barnaby

"How much?"

"Ten a week—for you!"

Meekly, I reached into my pocket, humbly I produced a gold eagle, apologetically I gave it to Mrs. Barnaby. She rang it on the pine table before she lifted her skirt to an indiscreet height for those days, revealing a pair of men's cowhide top boots. Into the bag of the nearest, she dropped my coin.

"And you'll get no ham with your eggs, neither," said Mrs. Barnaby, flouncing into the kitchen. "Last to be fed in camp was eat by those hogs." Whereupon the nearest of the three miners turned upon the others and dropped a solemn wink. And I began to perceive that Mrs. Barnaby's bark was worse than her bite.

In fact, when she returned with my smoking hot eggs and my steaming coffee, she seemed to have accepted me as a regular boarder. Her manner became almost confidential. She spoke of the difficulty in getting decent provisions—"The last bar'l of flour I bought was great stuff for hanging paper, and that's the best you can say of it"—and the rivalry of Jim Huffaker—"that thievin' squatter!"

"Where's your tent?" I inquired.

"Out back," replied Mrs. Barnaby. Then she saved me the embarrassment of asking further questions by adding: "I live there with another lady—the one that was with me when they got us robbed."

"Mrs. Deane?" I asked, my eagerness betraying me into a bold question.

"How'd you know her name?" responded Mrs. Barnaby sharply, and then: "Oh, yes, you was gallivantin' around with her by the dead horse. Everybody gallivants with her, or tries to."

"And Mr Deane?"

"Ain't no Mr. Deane, 's far as is visible to the eye," replied Mrs. Barnaby. Then she seemed to pull back, as though already she had gone too far. She gathered up a pile of soiled dishes and sped back to the kitchen. When she returned, it was only to slam down another plate of hot cakes, remarking that if those didn't fill me up, I wasn't going to get filled. She did not reappear, even though I dawdled over my eating. Nor did any other feminine figure part the flap of the front door. Evidently Mrs. Deane breakfasted early.

So at last I finished, wiped my fingers on my handkerchief, and strolled out of doors. Automatically, as though no longer governed by my conscious mind, I turned not toward camp but up the hill. Behind the walled tent of the boarding house stood a smaller tent, its door-flaps hooked back to take advantage of the sun. And in the entrance sat Mrs. Deane. Her eyes were searching the far distances. Her hands lay in her lap. They held a newspaper.

The same automatic impulse which had turned me in the direction of the cabin carried my feet toward her. Her eyes fixed themselves absently on me for a moment before she gave a little start, leaned back in her chair. My sharpened intuitions told me that she had suddenly drawn some imperceptible curtain of feminine reserve. Then she smiled; a slow smile which began with her deep blue eyes and seemed to run, like the morning sunlight down a peak, until it warmed her firm, [illegible] a mirror in a plush frame, a picture superfluously decorated at the corner of its frame with bows of blue ribbon. And there floated out to me a subtle suggestion of perfume, which went to my head like wine. She returned with a rough pine chair, set it beside her own.

"I'm a fellow boarder of yours," I said as we seated ourselves. "I've just given my digestion into the care of Mrs. Barnaby."

"It's safe, I think," commented Mrs. Deane. "She's an inspired cook—though she has little enough to work with here." Her trouble is that she's too generous. She has to be a little gruff to guard herself against herself."

"I can readily understand that," I replied. Then Mrs. Deane looked up—very serious now—and, catching at a past phrase in my narrative, asked:

"Did you say—that you were an editor?"

It had been long since I had opportunity to confide in a woman; and I fairly reveled in the luxury, telling the story of my struggles with mining, my lucky call on Marcus Handy, and my first night on a newspaper. She seemed amused at first; then a shade crossed her expression and—

"You didn't come to interview me?" she asked suddenly and rather breathlessly. This question chilled like a dash of cold water my glowing mood. But I hastened to clear myself.

"No—why should I? We haven't a society column as yet," I added with an awkward attempt at subtle gallantry. "Besides, Sunday is my day off. There's no paper on Monday morning."

She did not answer this. A moment of silence followed until she turned the subject with:

"This must be wonderful—for a man—this life up here!"

"It is," said I. "And why not for a woman?"

"Is anything so wonderful for a woman as for a man, I wonder?" she asked. "You must remember, too, that we can't go to the Black Jack and the Comstock Lode." She smiled at that mid-Victorian conceit; and I smiled back. To Mrs. Deane's generation and mine, the picture of a lady in any establishment where hard liquor was sold publicly, seemed so impossible as to be humorous, grotesque.

"Then you don't really like our camp?" said I, almost resentfully. My one night on the Cottonwood Courier had begun to develop my spirit of local pride.

"In flashes, I do," she replied. "'Sort of,' as the native Yankee says. But I'm afraid I'm too much a woman to like it wholly. It's terribly brutal in places. I can't as yet take all this talk about gold with the proper seriousness. When they talk to me about 'clean-ups'—isn't that the word?—my mind only pictures the stupendous quantity of chased bracelets and earrings and settings for brooches that it will make! I like to sing at the piano and to embroider little designs and to paint little water-color landscapes, and to go to church and pretend that I'm really sorry for my little sins, and to make little calls, and to gossip discreetly as a lady should about why John broke his engagement to Mary. I love gossip. That on the surface. And deeper down—security!" She had preceded that word "security" by one of her delicious little rests in the rhythm of her speech; and when she came out with it, her voice seemed to have fallen a whole octave.

"Yes," she continued, beginning almost under her breath, "I love security! I didn't once. I wonder if I haven't a little piece of man in me. But I've learned better. A woman has to follow her nature. Security now above everything. Something you can count on."

Somehow, I had taken it for granted that Mrs. Deane was older than I, having yet to learn that any woman is infinitely older in wisdom of the spirit than any man. I turned and looked at her with new eyes. Not the shadow of the tiniest ridge or wrinkle broke the smooth contour of her skin, now tanned to a delicate golden cream color. This woman, speaking so somberly of deep things—she was only a young girl after all . . . as I watched her looking with absent eyes toward the panorama of the peaks, I felt that the air about her quivered with an intangible tension, as though ghostly armies were arrayed for battle. Up from the cluster of tents and cabins rose the sound of voices singing to the accompaniment of a melodeon: "Alas and Did My Savior Bleed." Services were beginning in the gospel tent. It seemed that her reminiscent mood had broken. She changed the subject abruptly to personalities of the camp. None of them did I recognize until she asked:

"Do you know the sheriff or marshal or whatever they call him—the one with the wide hat and the impressive imperial—Mr. McGrath?"

"I've met him; he registered my claim," I replied. "Seems like a good fellow," I added, my sense of justice struggling with a less generous emotion.

"He comes in sometimes for meals," volunteered Mrs. Deane. "Everyone compliments his shooting! It's odd, isn't it, living in a world where skill at killing men is the quality everyone most admires? But I suppose war is that way, too. I suppose men are that way when they are left alone. I've heard my father say—" Was she trying to tantalize me, that she drew up always just short of a revelation? For she stopped and, as though to change the subject, glanced down at the Cottonwood Courier, lying wind-blown at her feet.

In the Entrance Sat Mrs. Deane—Her Eyes Were Searching the Far Distances.

"I see by your paper we had another robbery yesterday," she said.

"Yes. I wrote the account. Mr. Handy says it's all the work of one gang. He thinks they may have accomplices in camp." The moment I came out with this, I wished it unsaid. It seemed like betraying the confidence of my paper. Mrs. Deane responded with a casual, balanced "Indeed?" and somehow her own inscrutability spurred me on to still deeper confidences.

"There was one odd thing about that stage robbery," I said. "You know I saw more of it than I admitted that day. I didn't shoot," I went on, hastily justifying myself for my old failure of courage, "because my partner wouldn't let me. He felt that we'd only endanger the lives of the passengers. But their horses were tethered in the bushes beside the road. My partner and I were hidden on the ridge above. We could see them—you couldn't. There was one peculiar horse—a buckskin with a big white mark on his flank. Like that—" I picked up a twig, sketched the pattern on the ground.

"A buckskin?" inquired Mrs. Deane.

"That's what they call it here—yellow—almost the shade of a light tan kid glove. Another curious thing—probably just my imagination, but it struck me at the time. Once one of the bandits who lay on the rocks covering the passengers rose up and seemed to be signaling—to someone in the stage. I've wondered if it might be the express messenger."

"As likely as anyone," replied Mrs. Deane. "How do you know, up here, that anyone is what we'd call good in the East?" But she caught her breath as she said it, and paused a moment before she remarked in her voice that dripped the words like honey:

"You men must find—what shall I call it?—spiritual release—in all this! An atmosphere where you don't have to behave unless you want to."

"Don't you feel any release yourself?" I asked.

"I think I did at first—in my weak, feminine way," she replied. "It's after all quite glorious to be starting into a new world, your Rubicon crossed. But afterward—" she spread out her hands with a pretty, fluttering gesture—"afterward you realize what you are—a woman after all. I suppose, though, that we'll have the last word! The thing you're making here in Cottonwood camp is only a set of nests for a set of women." Her eyes brightened to mirth as she played on with her fantasy. "You're now just gathering the sticks and straws—and squabbling over them!"

Mrs. Barnaby was picking her way up the muddy path between her kitchen tent and the cabin. Mrs. Deane looked up, perceived her.

"Gracious! and I promised Mrs. Barnaby to tidy this place up for Sunday!" said Mrs. Deane. Reading in this my dismissal, I rose. She kept her seat. But as she looked up to my farewell bow, I felt again a curtain drawn between her soul and mine. Only behind the curtain burned the light of some emotion—again, was it fear?

CHAPTER VI

Somewhat in spite of my will, the next fortnight gave me my bearings in Cottonwood camp. Like any young journalist, I was at first far more interested in what I would have called "life" than in the business of life. My knowledge of camp politics and camp finance I took in unconsciously through my pores, while consciously absorbed in the thrilling details of four or five murders three suicides, innumerable holdups; the miner who had fallen down a prospect hole, the prospector who had fought off a grizzly bear with a crowbar.

Marcus himself attended to mining and political news, gathering his items and writing them—or in an emergency setting them up without the intervention of paper and pencil—during the spare moments when he was not laying out editorial policy, soliciting advertisements, making up forms, collecting from advertisers, or planning what he called his "expansion." For in the period Marcus had laid his hands on Mannie Leaventritt, a young and ambitious but impecunious newcomer, had set him to soliciting subscriptions on commission. A week later, Mannie was with us permanently as circulation manager, his staff our two brightest newsboys, transformed to carriers. As we expanded and grew, we added an aged clerk to write business letters and keep books. Then Marcus, as he expressed it himself, "snagged a pressman" one morning from the stage, put him to work on the footpower job press which had all this time stood idle in a corner of the lean-to. Thereafter Mannie added to his activities that of soliciting job printing on commission.

By now I was lodging with Marcus in his cabin behind Siegel's, sharing an eight-by-ten room, where I slept on a rough wooden cot without sheets, and with a sack of waste paper for a pillow. Whenever the cold west wind blew, the unchinked walls peppered us with jets of shrill air. Marcus boarded, however, not with Mrs. Barnaby but with Jim Huffaker. I was glad of that; I shrank a little from contemplation of the moment when that shrewd intelligence would perceive my reason for boarding with Mrs. Barnaby.

* * * * * * *

As I began to think on the subject, the law and government of our camp seemed to me at times only a part of its picturesqueness and at others just ridiculous. These young commonwealths of the West, I have since found, varied greatly in the speed and efficiency with which they organized for law. All depended, I suppose, on what element first arrived. With us the gamblers, the saloon keepers, the purveyors of illicit pleasures, the actual criminals had outnumbered at first the forces of sobriety. And by virtue of this majority, we still ordered our society by gun law.

Municipal government, really, there was none. When, the year before, placer gold was discovered along the creek, the early arrivals had formed a miner's court which administered its own justice in its own rude way. In the autumn Judge Cowan had arrived to establish formal assizes. Taking account of public opinion, he appointed as his sole executive official Chris McGrath, the outstanding pistol artist of Cottonwood. Of McGrath's antecedents no one knew anything at all; in that stage of mining camp society, personal inquiry was a serious breach of etiquette. He had come into camp with a bunch of cowboys and gained admiration by pinking in the center of the forehead a footpad who actually had the drop on him at the time. His rough personal charm did the rest. The title of town marshal went by courtesy only. Doc Evans, whom I now suspect of having left the East for the East's health, and morality, was deputy county coroner. He served without pay, getting his profit from the practice which his office attracted.

I visited Judge Cowan's courtroom during his spring term. A relic of an earlier and even rougher day, he had "read law" in some backwoods Ohio office before he stampeded west for gold. Having failed at mining, he picked up a living, during the brief prosperity of Grizzly, a mining camp now abandoned, by practice of his old profession. Then production departed from Grizzly. But in default of any other settlement large enough to be called a town, it remained the county seat. Lawyer Cowan remained; became, in default of a better, Judge Cowan; still in default of a better, held on when the territory attained statehood. His reading in law appeared to me as slight as his knowledge of grammar. Off the bench, spite of his egotisms, he had a kind of natural good-fellowship; and his penchant for stale, racy anecdote did his popularity no harm with the element which fringed his courtroom.

He had a full docket, which he ran with a speed mimicking efficiency. It included six murder cases—all the gun episodes that Chris McGrath and Doc Evans had seen fit to bring to the attention of justice. Arthur Colliver, a swart, lean Kentuckian, already a marked figure in camp for his reckless gambling and his dashing appearance when he drove out with "the fancy," represented five of the defendants. In every case he introduced the same plea—"self-defense." The procedure was monotonously invariable. Chris McGrath presented a panel of jurors. The ignorant and weak-voiced prosecuting attorney who accompanied Judge Cowan from Grizzly seldom interposed a challenge; the process of seating lasted only half an hour. The attorneys raced through the business of taking testimony; the stage was set for the great moment of the summing-up.

A courtroom in a mining camp? You don't know the half of it till you've read the next installment.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Writes in Defense of Lucretia Borgia

Anatole France in a charitable mood could not resist the temptation to whitewash even Judas Iscariot, and now comes the celebrated historian, Doctor Cabanes, to tell us that Lucretia Borgia was not the unscrupulous, licentious woman that common tradition has made her out to be. At worst, she was only a slightly damaged saint, it appears. If her lovers and husbands were poisoned or stabbed, it was not Lucretia's fault. She really felt the greatest devotion toward them. These little matters were accomplished only in the interest of the state. Lucretia knew how to separate business and pleasure. What if she was present at bacchanalia, the like of which would make the present-day orgies of the bazaars of Cairo look innocent, "it was merely the custom of the day to amuse oneself in that manner," the doctor tells us. Her illustrious father gave the example. He invited women of the street to come and dance for him. "What about it?" says Doctor Cabanes. "Was he not a sovereign prince?" And what if Lucretia came into his apartment to watch the performance and distribute gifts to the prettiest damsel? "It showed, if anything, that she was a woman of spirit, of naive and innocent charm," says the historian.—Pierre Van Paassen, in the Atlanta Constitution.

Peter and Paul

The old expression, "robbing Peter to pay Paul" is said to date back to about 1560. At that time many of the lands belonging to the cathedral of St. Peter at Westminster were appropriated to repair St. Paul's cathedral. Hence the expression to rob Peter to pay Paul."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Women in U. S. Treasury

The assistant treasurer of the United States informs us that in the spring of 1862 Mr. F. E. Spinner, treasurer of the United States, prevailed upon Secretary Chase to permit him to appoint a woman to cut and trim United States currency. This work was then done with shears in the hands of men. He appointed Miss Jennie Douglas, and, as he afterward expressed it, "her first day's work settled the matter in her and in woman's favor." On October 9, 1862, the following woman employees were appointed: Miss Fannie L. Halstead, Miss Annie York, Miss Belle S. Tracy, Miss Elizabeth Stoner and Miss Mary Burke. These women were the first for whom congress regularly made an appropriation.

WOMAN CONQUERS FEARS

Husband Delighted and Home Happier

St. Paul, Minn.—"Here is a little advice I would like to have you put in the papers," Mrs. Jack Lorberter of 704 Dellwood Place wrote to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company. "If young women want to keep their health and strength for the next thirty years of their lives, it is best to start in right now and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have tried the Compound myself and received fine results from its use." In describing her condition before taking the Compound, she writes, "I was afraid in my own house in broad daylight, I used to lock the doors and pull down the shades so that nobody could see me." One day a booklet advertising the Vegetable Compound was left on her porch and she read it through. In so doing, she found a letter from a woman whose condition was similar to her own. "I bought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Lorberter continued, "and have had fine results. My condition made me a burden to my husband. Now I ask him, "How is housekeeping?" and he says, "It is just like being in Heaven!" Are you on the Sunlit Road to Better Health?

FOR OVER 200 YEARS

haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions.

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

correct internal troubles, stimulate vital organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine GOLD MEDAL.

Football Popular

No fewer than 2,539,756 persons witnessed the various games for the football association cup, in England, which was won recently by Bolton Wanderers.

This constitutes a record attendance for the competition, as also does the amount of money paid in by the spectators, which was £204,119, an increase of £18,500 over the previous best season.

Scotland's First Capital

The old capital of Scotland was the city of Scone in Perthshire, said to have been founded by the Roman emperor Agricola about 70 A. D.

Error is the force that welds men together; truth is communicated to men only by deeds of truth.—Tolstoi.

Sure Relief

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

25¢ and 75¢ Pkg's. Sold Everywhere

BABIES LOVE
MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP
The Infants' and Children's Regulator
Pleasant to give—pleasant to take. Guaranteed purely vegetable and absolutely harmless. It quickly overcomes colic, diarrhoea, flatulency and other like disorders. The open published formula appears on every label.
At All Druggists

CUTS and SCRATCHES

Stop the smarting and hasten the healing by prompt application of

Resinol

Cuticura Soap Best for Baby

Soap, Ointment, Talcum sold everywhere. Samples free of Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. M, Malden, Mass.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling

Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair

60c and $1.00 at Druggists.

Hiscox Chem. Wks., Patchogue, N.Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callousos, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

FOOT ODORS QUINALOX

Removes that obnoxious odor arising from perspiring feet, relieves embarrassment as well as that tired, swollen, aching condition, takes away that "dead on your feet" feeling and gives you new life after a hard day's work. Send a dime (10c) for a week's trial treatment. Quinalox Co., 2323 W. Washington St., Los Angeles, California.

Galli-Curci Swayed by the Seer of Sweden

Emanuel Swedenborg, Theologian and Theosophist — Amelita Galli-Curci — Clarence W. Barron, Financial Authority

Prima Donna Gives Wonderful Interpretation of the Writings of Emanuel Swedenborg—

HENRY FORD'S Dearborn Independent publishes a remarkable article on Galli-Curci and Emanuel Swedenborg, by Clarence W. Barron of the Wall Street Journal, the world famous financial authority.

Mr Barron declares that Galli-Curci has the most wonderful brain he has ever met or heard of in a woman, although she is much more a true woman with a life and soul of affection for all that is ennobling and uplifting in the family, and in color form and music."

Mr Barron is chairman of the Boston Trustees, who acting under the will of Lydia S Bosch of New Bedford, Mass, began in 1872 a modern translation of the Theological Works which Emanuel Swedenborg wrote and published in the Latin tongue, and deposited in the libraries of the world 150 years ago.

The work was completed and published by the Houghton Mifflin Co. in 32 volumes in 1907

About three years ago there appeared in a Cleveland paper a paragraph that among her other accomplishments Galli-Curci had read all the Theological Writings of Emanuel Swedenborg. The claim seemed so absurd to Mr Barron that he thought it might be easily punctured by a simple inquiry as to the edition.

The Bible a Greater Work Than Ever

To Mr Barron's direct inquiry Madame Galli-Curci promptly replied "Yes, I have read in the past year the complete Swedenborg Works, in fact it is the Rotch Edition of the Houghton Mifflin Co that I have.

"I can say certainly that the Bible to me is a greater work than it was before."

Mr Barron says. "My astonishment was intensified. Familiar over many years with Swedenborg's general theological writings, I had set out to read the entire thirty-two volumes preparatory to an advertising campaign for the sale of this edition. Reading a few pages each day I finished my self-imposed task in fourteen years I shall probably finish a second reading, at my present rate of progress, in perhaps ten years. Was it possible that a woman with no previous knowledge or relation to these books had really intelligently read them within a year?"

Swedenborg's Writings

Mr. Barron continues: "As an economist writing state papers on weights, measures, coinages and currencies, Swedenborg is easily comprehended As an engineer transporting ships overland he is easily visualized As a government official in the great mining industry of Sweden, writing practical books on mining and smelting, declared to be the foundation of modern metallurgy, he is of interest in the encyclopedia of scientific history. As the writer of volumes—original studies in search for the human soul—he is not without human interest.

"But when one comes to the realm of the unseen, where there is neither time nor space upon which to rest mental conceptions, few may enter into the fullness of the revelation which has come into the libraries of the world through Emanuel Swedenborg.

"Think of twenty modern-sized volumes, originally written in the Latin tongue and unfolding from the Hebrew of 'Genesis' and 'Exodus' the internal or spiritual sense that lies beneath the letter. Annex a dozen more similar volumes that not only expound every picture set forth in the book of 'Revelation' as conveyor of a tremendous truth of universal application throughout invisible degrees of creation and life, but also illumine all the problems of sex as presented throughout the universe from the union of the love and wisdom in the divine down to sex crystalization in the mineral kingdom; include the deepest of all works ever written entitled, in the original Latin, 'Angelic Wisdom Concerning the Divine Love and the Divine Wisdom.' Then answer to yourself the number of years that ought to be required to master these thirty-two volumes."

Mean More Than Any Other Books

Mr. Barron, still credulous, continued his correspondence with Madame Galli-Curci for some months. He learned that soon after she lost her dear mother she had sought the Writings of Swedenborg in a desire to know more about the other world whence her mother had gone. She spent the entire summer vacation studying Swedenborg's Works, and declared "They have meant, and mean more to me than anything else I have ever read."

When Galli-Curci returned from California Mr. Barron motored up into the Catskills to her beautiful Italian palace, and in an afternoon with her and her husband, Mr. Homer Samuels, he was convinced that Galli-Curci had read and devoured Swedenborg in a briefer period than anybody had ever done before.

He says of this interview:

"Hours flew like minutes. I wasn't the questioner Mr. and Mrs. Samuels were at me with the sharpest and deepest questions. They seemed in perfect harmony mentally and spiritually, as in their work in music.

Wanted to Learn

"She wanted to know about the 'Grand Man'. I told her it would be easier to comprehend it if she would forego the idea of time and space and consider, as Swedenborg says in 'The Apocalypse Explained', that every society in the heavens connects with some organ of the human body and helps to sustain it. Therefore the heavens have the organization of the 'Grand Man', but we need not think of it as a shape or figure.

"'Yes,' exclaimed her husband, 'I see it; it is organization.' I explained also, how the 'Psalms' likewise connected with every society of the heavens, and how the world with and without was knit together in one grand poem and song of creation, man in the image of his Maker and knit into Him through the heavens, from which he has life in every organ of his body.

Swedenborg's 32 Volumes Read in a Single Summer

"'Now I understand,' she said, and asked me for explanation of other things. Her intelligent questions, as well as her statements, left no manner of doubt that Galli-Curci had performed the stupendous feat of reading the thirty-two volumes of Swedenborg in a single summer season. She declared 'Heaven and Hell' a very attractive and popular title and concerns that about which people are most eager to know; but it is not one of Swedenborg's great works; although it makes a good popular and introductory work."

A Help in Her Work

Galli-Curci understands the writings of Swedenborg even better than theologians, because she puts them into practice in the broadest life of loving helpfulness.

She said that Swedenborg had helped her in her work. She had no longer to think of herself but of her audiences, and let the music flow through her: regard herself just a medium for life to pour through. She felt with and for her audiences, and singing was no effort for her.

All Fear Vanishes

"The more you do—the more you give forth—the more life and energy is poured into you, and you are stronger and not weaker for the doing, the working and the singing. I always feel stronger; I am not exhausted at all by my singing. Swedenborg shows the reason and how life comes in as you pour it forth usefully to others. You don't have to try or worry or fret. You know it is not you but that it is just being done through you."

Speaking further of the help Swedenborg had been to her in her work she said: "One gets so much more confidence. The other world and the one life, that comprehends all life, becomes reality and all fear and worry vanish."

Points of Importance in Successful Canning

Use your washboiler for home canning. This homely universal article is perfect for the hot water bath method. The following instructions are given by Ina S. Lindman, for five years a government demonstrator in home canning.

The hot water bath is practical for all kinds of canning, including fruits, vegetables and meats. This can easily be made at home in a washboiler, or any large vessel. Simply fit a rack in the bottom on which to place the jars, supply a tight-fitting lid and presto! you have a serviceable, efficient hot water bath canner.

Be sure to inspect your jars and rings. The glass jars are vital to successful canning. Whether made of green or white glass, the jar should be clear and smooth without any large stones or bubbles. The sealing shoulder of the jar must be made so that the lid fits tightly to the neck of the jar after the jar ring has been placed on it. (If you are using a mason jar, examine the cover carefully.) If the porcelain liner which fits into the top of the cap is loose, press in the zinc on the top of the lid until porcelain becomes tight. Mason jar lids may be used several years in succession.

If a glass top jar has been used several times, the clamp which fastens the lid to the jar sometimes becomes loose. If this happens, simply remove the wire clamp and press in the wire at the top, so that it will fasten the lid to the jar tightly. The jar ring is a very important part of your canning equipment, because only a "live" ring insures a perfect seal. It is false economy to use an old ring, or to place two old rings on the jar. Always use a good, reliable, new jar ring because this saves time and money in the end.

Levites' Fall From Power

The Levites mentioned in the Old Testament of the Bible, were descendants of Levi. They were selected, probably by Moses, to care for the tabernacle and its services. They guarded the sacred symbols, administered the rites of worship and transported the tabernacle and its furniture when the camp moved. When Canaan was divided among the various tribes of Israel no especial part was given to them, for they were scattered in forty-eight towns, thirteen of which were set apart for the priests. The Levites reached the height of their power during the period of the judges and the united kingdom among the Israelites. They came later, however, to hold only an inferior position and to discharge the minor duties about the temple.—Exchange.

Lincoln-Cartright Story

When Abraham Lincoln and Peter Cartright were running for congress in an Illinois district, one night when Cartright was conducting a revival meeting in a Methodist church the old preacher spied Lincoln in the congregation, and said: "I see Mr. Lincoln in the house and I would like to know where he stands and where he thinks he is going?" Mr. Lincoln slowly arose and in his quaint, drawling voice replied: "I stand right here in this church and am going to congress." This is said to have occurred some eight or ten years before I became conversant with either current politics or religion, and I do not vouch for the correctness of the story.—M. M. Beck, in the Holton Recorder.

Indian Designs Valuable

Prehistoric Indian designs have been successfully adapted to modern textile purposes by H. R. Goodwin, of the Ohio State museum. Using conventional designs found in copper pieces and on engraved bones from the famous Hopewell Indian mounds of Ohio, Mr. Goodwin has constructed patterns suitable for rugs, draperies, dress material, lace curtains and has even made one attractive design for chinaware from an Indian motiff. The original patterns were for the most part made by the prehistoric Indians from thin sheets of pounded copper and were placed in burial mounds, from which they have recently been recovered.

One on the Song Writers

Two youngsters were playing on the front porch. Bobbie, aged three and one-half, did something which Harry, age thirteen, did not like. This is what followed:

Harry—Don't do that, Bobbie, that's bad.

Bobbie—Aw, I don't care. I don't want to go to heaven anyway.

Harry—Well, where do you want to go?

Bobbie—Louisville.

Why Not, Indeed?

In the early part of June a little boy inquired of his mother what she was going to give him for Children's day.

"Why, children don't receive presents on Children's day," said the mother.

"Why not?" protested the boy, "I gave you something for Mother's day." —Exchange.

Students Pledge Service

Members of the National Federation of Filipino Students, in the Philippines, numbering about 5,000, have signed a pledge to teach at least one illiterate adult every year. Two textbooks are in preparation for use in the campaign. One book will consist of reading and writing exercises; the other will embrace geography, history, civics, morals, hygiene and sanitation.

HOGS TO GO LOWER NEXT YEAR

Price Will Probably Be Satisafctory Until March or April

It seems probable that some time next year, but possibly not until March or April, considerably lower hog prices may prevail than at present is the opinion of A L. Anderson of the Animal Husbandry Department, Iowa State College.

While the June 1 pig survey of the United States Department of Agriculture showed the crop this spring to be only about equal to that of a year ago, it also indicates that about 14 percent more sows will be bred for fall farrow than were kept last year. It is largely upon this report that Mr. Anderson bases his opinion.

With a small pig crop this spring, prices seem certain to be good for several months yet, but if the number of sows kept for farrow is as large as present intentions of farmers indicate, the market will probably break when these coming fall pigs begin to arrive at the markets, or about next March or April.

Other factors which indicate a good price for some time are: the domestic demand for pork has been good and the stocks of pork in storage are lower than they have been. While corn prices, industrial and other factors unknown at this time might alter the present outlook, Mr. Anderson believes hog feeders should take good profits from their feeding operations the next few months.

P. J. Wenck And Wife In Wright County Suit

William B. Walter has filed suit against Catherine A. Wenck, F. J Wenck, O. H. Wenck, and J H. Winter The suit involves a mortgage on some lots in Eastman's Addition to Clarion, which was given by Catherine and F J. Wenck to secure a note of $4,500, which is unpaid according to the petition. The last two defendants named also held liens upon the property, but the plaintiff asserts his lien has preference.—Clarion Monitor.

The tuberculosis clean-up now going on should advance the value of every sound and profitably productive dairy cow in America. Cows capable of profitable production will sell any time.

Northern Lights

Published By THE NORTHERN LUMBER COMPANY, Klemme, Iowa

VOL. 1 — July 29, 1926 — NUMBER

Ray Jorgenson, down at the Times office says everybody thinks he knows how to run a newspaper.

We're no exception to that rule.

But we can't afford a newspaper of our own. We're too busy with the Lumber Business.

So we have arranged for this little corner in The Klemme Times and will devote it to the news of our yard.

We may not talk about Lumber all the time.

We may decide to write poetry or high brow editorials.

But we'll at least try to be interesting and we hope you'll watch for The Northern Lights each week.

Local News

E. J. Blumer is going to use a new Hay Rack to haul bundles with and says, "Let the Northern build it, I haven't got the time."

When you buy American Fence and Red Top Posts you get a fence that will stand the hardest kind of usuage.

Ed. Buentenbach took out a load of Fence and Red Tops for the Bachman & Arnold farm This kind of fence will last It's guaranteed.

Another drink that's fine as Is a great big glass of malted

Edwin Josten took out more Tops and says he won't need more. Guess he has his place fenced with Red Tops.

Now is the time to get after Porch you were going to enclose.

The following parties are threshing with brand new Jake Blumer Wm Wenz, Wm Cal Harris, and Fred Bachman racks were made at our yard.

Fred Jahnke made a rack for Lau and is now making one for Newberger. Fred turns out If you want him to make for you let us know we will see he does it

J. C. Larson is building a new age for the Buick He says it and Ford can't get along in one

Geo Boren has about an addition on Karl Kraus' A million flies outside are than one inside the house bout your screen..

Built in Atlantic

o celebrate the five hundredth anniversary of the town were acted in the courtyard of is picture shows nuns following the

Wright County Chicken Thieves Get Two Years In Pen

A. L Deyo, who plead guilty recently to stealing chickens was given two years in the penitentiary at Ft Madison by Judge Clock Monday His son Frank was returned to the reformatory at Eldora. Both prisoners had seved time in these institutions before.—Clarion Monitor.

THRESHING BEGAN HERE THIS WEEK

Threshing began in earnest the first of this week when a few took to the oat fields

Perhaps the first farmer to thresh in this vicinity was Fred Greiner four and a half miles north of the place E. C Buentenbach had threshing ring at his place the first of this week There are perhaps few other machines threshing have not heard about

New Bridge Being Built South of Bimond On Primary No. 15

The dangerous double curve Primary Road No 15 where the road crosses the Iowa river south Belmond is to be eliminated and the old bridge replaced with a large steel bridge. The Swanson Construction Co. of Webster City started work on the new bridge last week having been awarded the contract by the county board The contract price for the new bridge was $364.00.

PUBLIC SALE

Of Household Furniture, Etc.

Having decided to move to Minnesota I will sell at Public Auction at my residence in Klemme the following described furniture, etc. on---

Saturday, July 31

-- at 1:30 o'clock P. M. --

1 Sanitary Refrigerator, good condition
1 Oak Buffet, excellent condition
1 6-foot Extension Table
4 Kitchen Chairs
1 Rocker
1 Bed Stead, Spring and Mattress
1 Porch Swing
2 Porch Shades
2 Porch Seats
1 Lawn Mower
1 Ice Cream Freezer
1 Junior Range
1 Child's Bath Tub
1 Handy Cart
150 Edison and Victor Records
A Number of Good Fruit Jars
Mechanic & Garden Tools, and other articles too numerous to mention on this bill.

Terms of Sale are Cash

Walter F. Lau, Owner

B. A. Reemstma, Auctioneer

Get Your Printing At The Times Shop

Threshing Supplies

Get your threshing supplies and repairs here. We have a full line of everything needed around a threshing rig:

Valves of all kinds, pipe fittings, etc.
Engine Wiping Waste
Packing of all kinds, Water Gauge ..
Patent and Leather Belt Lacing
Belting in all widts and kinds
Belt Dressing of all kinds.
Grease and Oil Cups, all sizes
Hard Oil, Grease, Machine and Cylin-
Oil, in cans or bulk.
Oil Cans, all sizes, flue cleaners, all kinds of Tools, Wrenches, etc.
THERMO Water Jugs.

Just tell us what you need—we have it in stock for you.

E. F. Jacobs

"THE FARM SERVICE STORE"

Satisfaction or Money Back!

WE GUARANTEE THAT OUR OCCIDENT FLOUR WILL MAKE MORE LOAVES OF

WHITER—
LIGHTER—
BETTER TASTING
BREAD

THAN ANY OTHER FLOUR YOU HAVE EVER USED.

TRY A SACK—YOU'LL BE SURPRISED WHEN YOU SEE THE DIFFERENCE.

Made by Russel Miller Milling Co., of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

1 Sack Lots	5 Sack Lots	10 Sack Lots
$2.80	$2.75	$2.70

—PER SACK—

Full line of MILL FEEDS of all kinds on hand at all times—ask us!

North Iowa Grain Co.

The North Elevator Klemme, Iowa

Goodell News

(By Special Correspondent)

Presley Griggs of Forest City was a Goodell caller Friday.

Mrs. Bishop, of Belmond, visited her son Lloyd and family last week.

Dorothy Lackore was shopping in Mason City Tuesday.

Mrs. E. C. Boren was a Garner caller Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Beier and son of near Meservey visited at the Avery home Sunday.

George Mikesh of Belmond bought the Ford roadster owned by John Griggs.

Mrs Monroe Graber, who is in the Hampton hospital is getting along fine, which we are all glad to hear.

Mrs. L. W. Wesenberg was demonstrating her Burpee canner at Mason City, Clear Lake and Britt, Friday.

Gertrude Cashman, who has been visiting for the past few weeks with relatives in Chicago, returned home Monday.

Redge, Daphne and Cholm Houghton and Vida Conlan left Sunday for Eden Prairie, Minnesota, to visit their brother Jack.

Mr and Mrs. Dan Miller entertained relatives of Osage, and Mrs Leo Wilkins and children of Meservey, Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. L. Avery and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hughes returned from their trip to Wyoming Saturday evening. They report some wonderful sights.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamer and Mr. and Mrs. Kahrs, of Ventura, enjoyed a picnic dinner near Mason City, Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Snearly returned from their Wisconsin fishing trip Saturday evening. Fishing was good and they report a fine time.

Mrs. Lizzie Monaghen, of Minnesota, came last week to stay with her mother, who has been very ill for all summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmur Burke and family, Mrs. Frank Quigley, Jr. and Ruth were shopping in Klemme Saturday.

Annastacia Nolan, of Grettinger, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Arthur Lowenberg, will return home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracey and Wanda returned to Springfield Friday after spending a week with elatives here. Mrs. Chas. Conklin and Zelda went back with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Mason and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Ole Sandberg and family called on Rev. D. W. Thompson at Marshalltown Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Quigley, Jr. and Mrs. Wilmur Burke enjoyed a short visit from a brother, uncle, sister and family of Wisconsin over the week end They returned home Tuesday Viola Quigley went back with them for a few weeks visit.

PIANOS

Players & Grand
New and
Second Hand

M. N. ZEIGER

Jewelry & Optical Goods
GARNER, IOWA

CUTTING OF STONE MOUNTAIN WAS BIG PROBLEM

"Magic Lantern" Principle Used To Outline Memorial Figures

Electric light was one of the tools by which the sculptor, Gutson Borglum and his crew of artisans cut the great "nation's memorial" into the face of Stone Mountain near Atlanta, Georgia, a piece of sculpture now getting its finishing touches Light drew the heroic picture of Lee and Jackson and Jefferson Davis and the mobilizing men of the South and drew it with vast strokes so that the workmen, clinging to the immense bare face of the mountain might engrave Borglum's giganic masterpiece there forever. The sculptor, in an address at the May meeting of the Illuminating Engineering Society, New York section, explained how it was done.

When he was called to Atlanta to conceive and execute the huge memorial bust of Gen. Robt. E. Lee he showed them that a single bust would be insignificant on such a vast rock surface. Then he sketched the design which is now nearing completion—an inspiring picture of an assembling warlike host rallying to the call of the old South. But the memorial was so large—figures measuring 160 feet from riders' hats to the horses' hoofs, and the whole picture contains 1,100 objects covering an area of a thousand feet long, that it was impossible to outline it in proper perspective working at close range against the sheet face of the smooth rock.

The principle of the old-fashioned "magic lantern" was employed A large glass slide was made bearing the artist's drawing of the memorial. It was placed in front of the powerful electric lamp at a distance of 800 feet from the mountain and the whole design so projected by a tilting camera on the vast rock face into which it was to be graven. The picture was thus flooded upon he rock in exactly the proportion of the final work. Painters suspended in "bos'ns' chairs" drew in the outlines so that each following day the stone cutters could turn the painting into stone form.

Members of the Izaak Walton League at Danville, Ill., have made arrangements to feed the fish in Horseshoe lake, a propagation pond, and to exercise the elderly bass, by the use of electric lights.

Several high candle power lamps are to be placed just above the surface of the water. The lights will attract insects which will fall into the water and provide a cheap supply of food. The fishermen claim that large bass will leap high into the air for the moths and June bugs which will flutter around the lights

Very Careless

Daddy: "Who came here to see you last night?"

Daughter: 'Only my girl friend from the office."

Daddy: "Well, you might tell her she left her pipe on the piano."

USE VICTIMS' HEADS TO SCALP "SPOOKS"

Murder and Sacrifice Religious Rite in Burma.

The head-hunting Nagas live in the mountain fastnesses of Upper Burma. Apart from head-hunting the Nagas are a gentle and industrious race, tending their fields. It is a tribal crime to bruise a flower or kill a butterfly, according to an explorer, writing in the London Mail.

Naga villages, surrounded by impenetrable barricades of thorn and cactus, and entered through a winding tunnel, the floor of which bristles with poisonous snakes set to kill unwary and unwanted strangers, are joined to each other by groves of sacred trees. Huge gnarled boles tower to a roof of branches so dense with leaf that not a gleam of sunshine penetrates to the gloom below. In sinister rows along these groves stand totem poles, garishly daubed with brilliant ochres and hideously carved. A human skull is impaled on the top of each pole.

When the head-hunters return with their victims a dance is held. The captives are given a good meal and dressed in the best clothes the village can provide.

Before their heads, hands and feet are cut off, the villagers apologize for any inconvenience this rite may cause to the victims and point out that they will be honorably sacrificed to the harvest-gods, that their skulls will grace the sacred grove, that their ghosts will share with the village army of other victims' spooks the honored job of scaring off the horde of jinns and demons which lurk around the villages intent, so the Nagas say, on bringing plague and famine to the tribe.

Follows an orgy of sacrifice, opium eating and toddy drinking; the victims' heads, hands and feet are paraded on poles through the opium and paddy fields as harvest thanksgiving tokens. With solemn rites the skulls are added to the grim rows of ghostly sentinels.

But the skulls must be those of strangers, the Nagas believing that if the heads came from the shoulders of Naga tribesmen the ghosts of the victims, instead of staying in the grave by their skulls, would hunt the villagers and wreak more spiteful damage than the very jinns and demons which they should drive away.

Almost Too Playful

Don Carlos, of Jerotuna, is only a pup as yet, but his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Sloman, of Baltimore, Md., expect that he will be a big dog if he lives to grow up. At present he weighs 150 pounds, stands 81 inches high at the shoulder and can look into the eyes of a 6-foot man when he stands on his hind legs. He is a Great Dane. He is an ardent collector of door mats and similar things. Neighbors now write their names on their mats to expedite delivery and save confusion. Sometimes the dog's love of a good joke goes beyond that. A beekeeper, with his head covered in the usual mask, was deep in the business of corralling some swarming bees. The playful pup reared up, snatched off the mask and trotted slowly homeward with it, leaving the beekeeper involved in a cloud of insects and strong language.

Pigeons Fly Twelve Hours

"Racing pigeons dart away instantly toward their home lofts when released. Though they weigh only 16 ounces and eat only an ounce of food a day, they will fly 12 or 13 hours without stopping. A pigeon fancier comes to love his birds as a dog or horse breeder loves his favorite setter or mount. They have great intelligence. Certain birds have been valued at more than $2,000 and have brought such prices."

Charles Ellsworth, veteran Cincinnati pigeon breeder and racer, and president of the American Racing Pigeon Union, in annual convention in Cleveland, recently gave these facts to the members of the union.—Detroit News.

Theater Acoustics

Theater audiences can hear much better in a full house than in one with many empty seats, according to Prof. F. R. Watson, authority on acoustics, of the University of Illinois. In his research on sound he has found that thickly carpeted floors, heavy draperies and plush seats in theaters make for better hearing conditions on account of their sound-absorbing qualities, and the clothing of the audience acts in the same way. Small theaters with their side walls broken by boxes draped with sound-absorbing material really provide the best acoustics for the spoken drama, he asserts.

Electricity in New York

New York city is said to have the greatest per capita or "density" use of electrical energy of any city in the world. The city generates and uses about 10 per cent of all the electric energy generated in the United States. It uses more electrical energy than is used by 12 European countries combined, having an aggregate population of about 110,000,000 people.

Mastering the Depths

One of the dangers of deep-sea diving is the absorption of nitrogen by the blood. Recent experiments indicate that a mixture of helium and oxygen will permit divers to descend to depths greater than have been attained, and to ascend more rapidly without danger.

Crossed Wires Blamed for Suicide Attempt

It isn't so long ago, measured in months, since I was wakened out of my sleep one night. A friend was concerned about another friend. The latter had been increasingly morbid and despondent, said the man on the phone, and he feared that something might happen that very night—

"I've telephoned Sam and he does not answer."

So we called upon our moody friend. There was no response to our knocks. Three o'clock in the morning.

"Break in the door!"

The house was one of the sort builders have been putting up of late years. Full of handsome details, but made largely of brown paper and plaster. We did not need an ax or even a jimmy to get through that door. No wonder the owner was despondent—when he awakened to the thought that he had bought that sort of house. He must have concluded he was not in his right mind. In the bedroom we found our friend with an empty bottle by his side.

"He'll live now," said the doctor at daybreak.

"Why didn't you two fools leave me alone?" asked our ungrateful friend. "I'll do it next time—"

So we rode herd on him, to use a westernism. We gave him no chance to "do it again." We kept him alive and interested and sometimes angry and incidentally changed his diet and coaxed his liver into resuming operations and petted his nerves until they calmed down. He's the livest man in town today. Healthy, happy, hearty, and is considering matrimony and a camping trip and cannot quite decide which he wants first or most.

"His trouble was only a temporary one," said the doctor. "A pair of crossed wires. The sort of thing that might happen to anyone. Merely needed an adjustment.

If my wires ever cross I'll know what to do.—"J. P.," in Kansas City Star.

Trapped!

Mitchell Kennerley, the New York expert, was talking about a successful painter.

"He knows how to paint," said Mr. Kennerley, "and he knows how to sell, too. Result, riches. One day he was showing a millionaire guest particular attention, leading him personally from picture to picture. The millionaire praised everything cautiously but went into real ecstasies over two pictures marked 'Sold,' two Malaga landscapes that hung side by side.

"'By George!' he said. 'Great! Yes, sir, those two landscapes are as good as anything in my own collection. By George, but I'm sorry they're sold. I'd certainly have bought them if——'

"But the painter interrupted him with a glad laugh.

"'I knew you'd want 'em,' he said. 'So I faked those "Sold" marks so as to save them for you.'"

Nation's Wealth in Homes

More than half the wealth of the United States is contained in the single item of real property, the land of the 48 states and the buildings which make up its cities, villages and farm communities.

The total wealth of the United States, exclusive of property owned by the government, is $310,274,476,000, according to the census list. Of this real estate makes up a total of $174,231,450,000. Tax exempt real estate property, including schools, churches, state and local public buildings, amounts to $20,032,475,000 The 1925 tax rolls place a valuation of $12,801,509,000 on the real estate within the confines of New York city, or about 4 per cent of the total national wealth of the United States.

Dog Saved Owner's Life

Henry B. Spencer, of Tacoma, credited his life to Rex, his nine-months-old bird dog, who proved his bravery in a hand-to-hand fight with a mother cougar and her three cubs. Mr Spencer, who is mining in the Olympic mountains, was suddenly confronted with the animals. He was unarmed and the beasts showed fight. Spencer threw rocks at the mother cougar, but in doing so he lost his balance and fell. Before the enraged cougar could spring, Rex appeared and attacked one of the cubs. This distracted the mother, which turned on the dog. Spencer was able to retreat. The dog came through with only minor injuries.

Meals Served in Motor Bus

Passengers of a motor bus line from Los Angeles to San Francisco are served with luncheon from a compact kitchen built as part of the vehicle. A button on the side of each chair summons the steward, who takes orders for either hot or cold dishes. The bus also has a special compartment for women, another for smoking and a third for the driver. The entire rear panel of the smokers' room is a plate glass window which permits unobstructed view of the scenery. Washroom space is also provided.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Women and Tips

A man will leave a bigger tip when he is alone, as a general rule, than he will if his wife's with him. I've seen many a [illegible] grab her husband's hand and sh[illegible] he started to plate. And pantomime picked up nickel and Chalmers, Paul Reis[illegible] American

Save Money, Gain Mileage!

FIRESTONE

New LOW PRICES Are Now In Effect

HIGH PRESSURE TIRES

	Tires	Tubes
30x3½ Reg. Cl. Cord	$ 9.95	$ 2.35
30x3½ Ext. Cl. Cord	11.95	3.00
31x4 S. S. Cord	19.90	3.30
32x4 S. S. Cord	22.45	3.40

BALLOONS

	Tires	Tubes
4.40-21 (29x4.40)	$14.40	$ 3.20
4.75-20 (29x4.75)	19.70	3.85
5.25-21 (31x5.25)	23.55	4.40
6.00-20 (32x6.00)	29.65	5.50

Oldfield Tires

Prices Also Reduced

HIGH PRESSURE

	Tires	Tubes
30x3½ Ext. Cl.	$ 9.95	$ 2.00
31x4 S. S.	15.10	2.75

BALLOONS

	Tires	Tubes
4.40-21 (29x4.40)	$11.20	$ 2.55
5.25-21 (31x5.25)	18.25	3.80

Garner Auto Co.

Phone 77 KLEMME, IOWA

The American Legion

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

BOOSTS COMMUNITY BETTERMENT WORK

Community betterment work in all of the 10,250 posts of the American Legion throughout the nation is being promoted and increased by a campaign recently launched by the National Americanism commission of the Legion, which operates a community betterment bureau for advice and guidance to posts in community service work.

At least one act of unselfish service to the community each year, is the motto which National Com. John R. McQuigg has laid down for every post in the entire organization.

A survey recently made by the Americanism commission indicated, according to Frank C. Cross, director, that some 4,000 Legion posts are now carrying on work distinctly and exclusively of a community betterment character. An additional 2,000 posts, he said, are engaged in projects partly for the benefit of the post itself and partly for the benefit of the community, according to the results of the survey.

Where posts are already carrying on community betterment work, Commander McQuigg urges that they undertake an expansion of their programs. Every post is called upon to join in the work in a spirited determination to do some service worth while for its local community.

A feature of the Americanism commission's campaign to increase this type of work among posts was a referendum held by the post in its local community to give the citizens of the community an opportunity to suggest what, in their opinion, is the community activity in which the post can best engage.

Some fifty community betterment activities, covering the entire field and falling into the general classes of civic improvement, juvenile activities, education, recreation and public education, have been carried on by posts.

Baseball Contests for Boys Planned

The first "Junior world series" baseball contests ever to be held will be played this year on October 11, 13 and 14 at Philadelphia. The world series for boys' baseball teams will be the culmination of the American Legion's nation-wide baseball program for boys, which was launched this year by the Legion's Americanism commission.

Championship teams of four regions, the Far West, the Middle West, Central and Eastern regions, will play off the junior world series. The play will be on the mornings of the above dates and will take place during the national convention of the Legion at Philadelphia, October 11 to 15.

The winning team will be given a suitable trophy identifying it as the world's champion boys' baseball team.

Organization of the Junior All-American Baseball league was authorized at the last national convention of the American Legion. The National Amateur Athletic federation co-operated with the Legion in launching the boys' league. The plans provide for championship contests in local communities, in congressional districts, in states, in sections, in regions and finally in the junior world series at the Legion convention.

More than 2,000 boys' teams have been entered in the league throughout the nation and many hundreds more are expected to enter.

Teams now organized under the sponsorship of churches, industrial plants, commercial firms, boy scouts, etc., are co-operating with the Legion's baseball program and are entering the league.

"Good sportsmanship among our American boys as it relates to and makes good citizenship is the chief motive behind the Legion's baseball program," declared Frank C. Cross, director of the national Americanism commission of the Legion.

The Playground and Recreation Association of America is co-operating in the plan and recently contacted 800 interested persons in several hundred cities, urging them to co-operate in forming leagues.

Believes Every Eligible Pole Should Join Legion

Ignace Jan Paderewski, world-famous pianist and Polish patriot, believes that every Pole who is eligible should join the American Legion.

In a message to National Commander John R. McQuigg, Mr. Paderewski said:

"My opinion is that all those of my blood who either have been normally drafted or who voluntarily enlisted in the United States army should now join the American Legion. They should join it not merely on account of material advantages but for higher reasons.

"The lofty ideals which inspired and guided throughout history the best and noblest among our ancestry are precisely those for which the American Legion stands and will stand forever."

DESIGNS FOR LATE SUMMER; ALLURING CHIFFON FROCKS

THE two-piece mode—youthful and practical as it is, has taken the world of fashion by storm. It is as popular as bobbed hair and almost as varied as millinery. All that designers have to do, to maintain interest in the two-piece frock until the end of summer, is to think up new tricks of decoration or unusual and beautiful color management or novel fabric combinations.

In the altogether charming two-piece dress shown here, the note of novelty appears in the combination of printed crepe and cut-out linen, in which the dress portion is made of the figured crepe with bandings of plain crepe. The printed silk adds one more to the myriad dotted patterns, in dots that vary in shades of one color and are arranged in a plaid pattern with some of the dots centered by smaller ones. The skirt has four wide plaits across the front and two at each side, and the plain crepe banding is in the color of the dot. There are many color combinations that would be attractive in this dress, as grey, green, blue or red dots on a white ground. The banding at the top of the plaits is novel and has the effect of shortening the skirt. The linen jacket is bound at the bottom with the dotted crepe and has a belt of it across the back. The collar and cuffs combine dotted and plain crepe and the novel tie is made of cord covered with the plain crepe. Down each side of the pockets are small pearl buttons, set close together and the front of the jacket has a narrow binding of plain crepe. This pretty frock has more than novelty to recommend it for it is an elegant affair, in every way chic and dainty. This effect might be ruined by the wrong choice in footwear, but it is enhanced by white silk hose and white kid slippers of fashionable cut. They make a footwear outfit that proves unexcelled with summer frocks.

Now that midsummer is here, the fluttering type of frock grows popular, with cape backs, wings, scarfs, panels, sashes and tiers coquetting with every little vagrant breeze that blows. In colors green, white and black combinations and all white are the coolest looking, but even in red the sheer fabrics worn look cool and many chanel red frocks in georgette are shown for late summer.

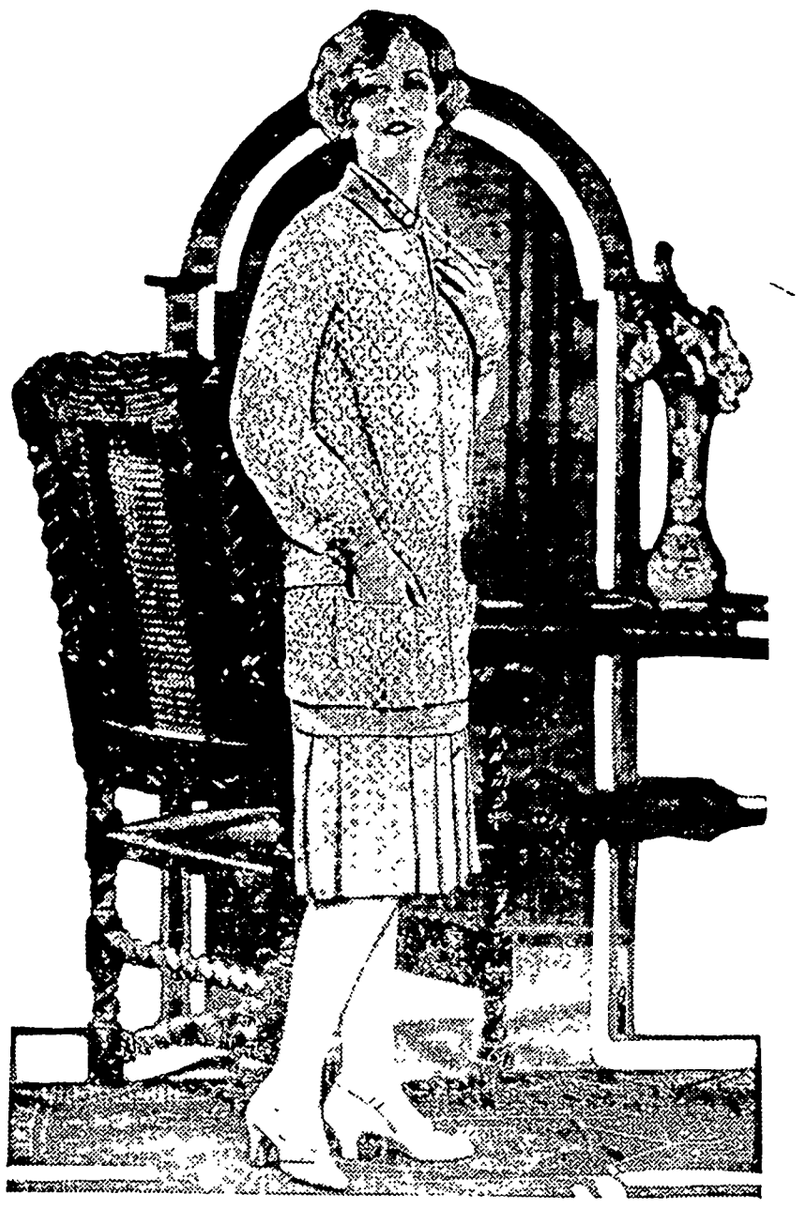
When the talk is of chiffon frocks it is to be taken for granted that it includes those made of georgette, since these exquisite, twin-sister fabrics are so much alike that what is said about one is true of the other. Midsummer brings them into full-bloom in gowns that float through afternoons and evenings and are as decorative as flowers. There is a craze for delicate materials and dark, plain colors in tailored styles, or light colors in sports styles are liable to be encountered at any time of day when hot weather arrives.

Just one more of those pretty, printed chiffon frocks that prove so flattering to their wearers has had its picture made for the benefit of those who wish to liven up their wardrobes with something new for mid-summer. One glance shows its fitness for whatever the afternoon or evening may bring to pass in the way of entertainment. These joyous printed patterns in georgette or chiffon rarely employ trimming, but occasionally a plain color, matching some color in the printed pattern, is used in bandings and sometimes a little lace is adroitly introduced in their construction. Quite a number of models incorporate the cape and its modifications, as a part of the ensemble, and often it is cleverly managed to partly cover the arms. In the gown pictured the debonaire cavalier cape is detachable and has flat ties made of the chiffon. The frock has a long bodice and a full rippled skirt. Its new feature is the wide, crushed girdle, also made of the chiffon and fastening at the left side.

Comparatively few frocks are short-sleeved, but wing treatments and capes that extend over the arms and terminate at the sides of the bodice are rivals of the long-sleeved modes. Many neck lines are "V" shaped and very new collars are convertible—that is, they are high at the back and form revers when open at the front. But they are edged with a narrow flat fold that is extended into long tie ends, so they may be turned up about the throat with the ties wound once about the neck.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)



A Novel Fabric Combination.

A Dainty Frock of Chiffon.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

We measure success by accumulation. The measure is false. The true measure is appreciation. He who loves most has most.—Vandyke.

A COLLECTION OF CAKES

Cakes are always in season and the larder is never quite complete unless there is a cake for an emergency.

White Fruit Cake.—Cream two-thirds of a cupful of butter until creamy and add gradually, beating constantly, seven-eighths of a cupful of pastry flour, sifted with one-fourth of a teaspoonful of soda, then add one-half tablespoonful of lemon juice. Beat the whites of six eggs until stiff, using an egg whip, add gradually one and one-fourth cupfuls of powdered sugar. Combine mixtures and when well blended add two-thirds of a cupful of candied cherries, one-third of a cupful of blanched and shredded almonds, one-half cupful of citron and one teaspoonful of lemon extract. Bake in a moderate oven one hour.

Old-Fashioned Pound Cake.—Cream one cupful of butter and add gradually one and two-thirds cupfuls of granulated sugar, beating until creamy; add five eggs, one at a time, beating vigorously between the addition of each. When the mixture is foamy fold in two cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in a slow oven.

Six Months' Cake.—Mix one-half cupful of butter with one cupful of sugar; when creamy add two well-beaten eggs and one-half cupful of molasses. Mix and sift two and one-half cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoonful of cloves and the same of mace. Add alternately with one-half cupful of milk to the first mixture and beat vigorously, then add one cupful of raisins cut into small pieces and dredged with two tablespoonfuls of flour. Turn into two bread pans and bake in a moderate oven forty-five minutes.

When baking pie prepare and bake another shell. This if kept in a cold place will be crisp and good for several days. Fill with crushed berries mixed with sugar and top with whipped cream. Such a dessert is quickly prepared and is especially well liked.

Cherry Ice Cream.—Use a cupful of rich cherry juice and a pint of cream with a few drops of almond extract. Sweeten to taste and freeze as usual. Serve in sherbet cups and garnish with a cherry or a spoonful of the minced cherries and some of the sirup.

Inviting Dishes.

A most delicious filling for cake is prepared as follows: Bake two cupfuls of sugar with four tablespoonfuls of water until it threads; pour over three well-beaten egg whites, add one-half cupful of citron shredded fine, one-half cupful each of chopped raisins and blanched almonds and the same of figs. Spread between the layers and on top of the cake.

Layer Prune Cake.—Take one cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of finely chopped cooked prunes, one-half cupful of prune juice, one-half teaspoonful of soda dissolved in the prune juice, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg and one-half teaspoonful of cloves. Mix in order given, adding two cupfuls of flour sifted with the dry ingredients. Bake in two layers about thirty minutes. Ice with one cupful of powdered sugar, three tablespoonfuls of butter and cream to spread.

Fruit Salad.—Cut into small pieces two cupfuls of celery, two oranges, two-thirds of a cupful of raisins seeded and plumped over steam, one cupful of grated apple and a cupful of mayonnaise dressing. Cover the salad with the apple, then the mayonnaise.

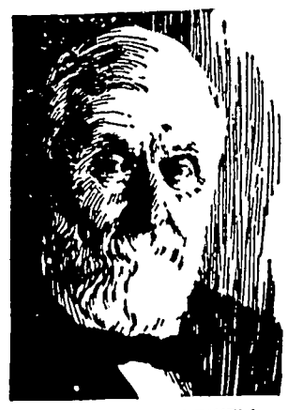
One-Piece Dish.—Arrange a layer of thinly sliced uncooked potatoes in a baking dish, season well, add a layer of thinly sliced onion and cover with lamb chops. Bake until all are cooked. Serve from the baking dish. Peas may be substituted for the onion if preferred.

Fruit Salad Dressing.—Take one-fourth of a cupful of pineapple juice, one-fourth of a cupful of orange juice, one teaspoonful of acid phosphate, three teaspoonfuls of water, two eggs, one-half cupful each of whipped cream and sugar. Beat the eggs, add the sugar, heat the fruit juices with the phosphate, add the hot mixture to the eggs, cook over hot water until it coats the spoon. This makes a pint of dressing.

Chicken Salad.—Cook a chicken with a lean piece of veal until both are tender. Cut up into small cubes, add twice as much celery as chicken, a half cupful of finely cut blanched almonds and any good highly seasoned salad dressing.

A few spoonfuls of leftover oatmeal may be stirred into the morning griddle cakes or muffins, or it may be fried and served with bacon as a breakfast dish.

Nellie Maxwell



DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

Character and Brain Told in Handwriting

"It is necessary to distinguish between a pretty writing and a legible one," declares Doctor Logre, a well-known Paris psychiatrist, in giving his verdict on whether a really intelligent person can have a good handwriting, "as the two qualities are not always found together. Study of manuscript suggests approximate laws, some of which are: 1, illiterate people usually have a legible, but inelegant writing (too regular, too correct); 2, fancy writing is very often a symptom of mental debility (adorned, scrolled, vain writing); 3, intellectuals who write much and rapidly, such as doctors, lawyers and writers, have a writing which is usually hard to read (easy, but indistinct, the pen chasing the alert thought, without regard to form); 4, intellectuals who are artists usually have a pretty writing (writing with a distinct personality, expressive); 5, intellectually is not the sole cause of illegible writing (carelessness, slackness and lack of discipline are also to blame)."—Chicago Daily News.

Men, Too, Seek Beauty

Dr. D. Fourmenthal, who has been in the United States on a commission of the French government to study the methods used by American women in making themselves "beautiful," has discovered that 40 per cent of the patrons of some beauty shops are men seeking to have the wrinkles removed from about their eyes.

A Lady of Distinction

Is recognized by the delicate, fascinating influence of the perfume she uses. A bath with Cuticura Soap and hot water to thoroughly cleanse the pores followed by a dusting with Cuticura Talcum powder usually means a clear, sweet, healthy skin.—Advertisement.

The muddy streams of Borneo are so infested with crocodiles that one-fifth of the loss of life among natives is attributed to them.

The things that come to those who wait are seldom what they started in to wait for.

Gossips believe all they hear, and what they don't hear they take for granted.

Furs From Alaska

Furs shipped from Alaska to the United States since its purchase in 1867 have been appraised at $98,800,000. The value of last year's output was $3,000,000. Ninety per cent of the world's fur seals are in a herd owned by the United States government in the Pribilof Islands, off the coast of Alaska. The herd numbers approximately 700,000.

25c L-V DUST CLOTH

made of especially woven fabric "Crepette" for only 10 cents and two weeks' dusting supply of Liquid Veneer. Nothing like it for dusting. A few drops on your cloth removes ALL dust, dirt and blemishes INSTANTLY, and leaves your piano, furniture, woodwork spotlessly clean and beautifully polished. Moreover, preserves the finish indefinitely. Piano people use it to improve their brand new instruments. Send for your FREE bottle today. You will be delighted. Remember, we include a big 25c L-V Dust Cloth if you send 10 cts. Don't miss this opportunity.

FREE

Buffalo Specialty Company
71 Liquid Veneer Bldg.
Buffalo, N. Y.

LIQUID VENEER

Artistic Cleaning & Dyeing Co.

9th and Keosauquaway, Des Moines, Iowa

We live up to our name — "Iowa's Largest Cleaners and Dyers." It will be to our mutual interest by giving us your cleaning and dyeing. Our prices are moderate. A trial order will convince you.

HOTEL ELLIOTT

219 Fourth Street - Des Moines, Iowa

A Pleasant, Home-like Hotel

Rates: $1.25 to $2.00. Centrally Located.

AGENTS WANTED

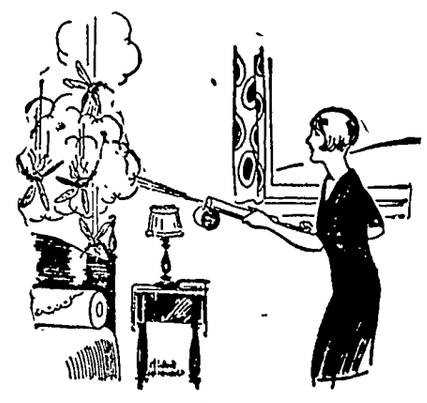
for the largest money maker on the market, 150% profit. Every auto owner buys on sight. Makes night auto driving safe. ANTI-GLARE SHIELD CO. 1307 East Walnut St. Des Moines, Iowa.

KODAK FILMS, TRIAL OFFER. One film developed, six prints, one enlarge 25c silver. Superior Photo Finishing Co. Waterloo, Ia.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 31--1926.

John Philip Sousa was a teacher of music at the age of fifteen and a conductor at seventeen.

A woman never forgives a man for believing some of the things she tells him.



A spray a day - Keeps skeets away

DON'T let mosquitoes ruin your summer. Keep your bed rooms free from all insects. Spray Flit.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Get a Flit can and sprayer today. For sale everywhere.

STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)

FLIT

"The yellow can with the black band"

Community Building

Beauty Always Within Reach of Small Town

Several Kansas towns are feeling the urge of spring in a new-born desire to be beautiful. In fairness to Kansas it should be said that several Kansas towns are already pleasant to look upon and visit. But there is more than the urge than that, and something the Emporia Gazette said recently on the subject ought to set other towns and other states to thinking about themselves.

"We can be nice, decent, agricultural towns, with each town having some small industry, some specialty in schools or local development like oil and coal and the products of the soil. Get big plants—no! We are doomed by our geography to be small towns. Then why not be beautiful towns? Why not get the best out of our towns, and our lives? Why not apple blossoms in Arkansas City, roses in Eldorado, cannas in Fredonia, redbuds in Emporia? Surely if Japan can grow famous over the world for beauty of its cherry blossoms, we can make something out of the beauty that lies in our hands."

There is more to being a popular and thriving town than having the largest population or the biggest manufacturing plants or the most money. And the sooner a lot of small towns all over the country realize this, the sooner they will begin to create charm and distinction for themselves. Even the towns that are already beautiful have something to do in maintaining their high standard. And the others should start right in making the most out of the beauty that lies in their hands.—Kokomo (Ind.) Dispatch.

Distinction Given to Grounds by Shrubbery

Shrubbery about a dwelling is of equal, if not greater, importance than trees. For, while trees give shade and add to the general attractiveness of a place, shrubbery "ties the house to the ground," as it has been expressed; outlines boundaries and provides that seclusion now considered both desirable and necessary.

In small cities and suburban towns, where the custom often prevails of having the front yards in a block like one big lawn, it might break the general scheme to put in a front hedge, but shrubbery should be so massed in foundation planting as to single out that house as beautiful beyond all the others left unplanted, regardless of size or cost. And, where the back yards also have been thrown into one, or separated by almost invisible wire fences, that shrubbery following the house foundation could be carried around to the rear and extended onto the lawn far enough to make a secluded outdoor room.

Taller shrubs, with a few of the smaller trees, might be used in executing this idea without interfering with the whole block scheme, but beautifying the whole as seen from a distance.

Plant for Permanence

Above all things I would urge that permanent planting, like trees and shrubs and vines, be used. They are the background of any gardening, anywhere, and old-fashioned plants are always happy looking.

Even people who rent a house should feel enough interest in making the city itself beautiful to plant one tree or shrub or vine each season. It costs so little and they could get such fun out of only one year of watching it grow and if they stayed longer than a year they would find that nothing gives you such a feeling of home as watching something you have planted grow each year into greater beauty.—Chicago Post.

City's Growth

George B. Ford, speaking to 2,000 delegates at the national chamber of commerce meeting in Washington, asked why cities grow and then sought to answer his own question. He mentioned four causes of growth—natural advantage of position, nearness to raw materials, nearness to market and presence of skill derived from experience. All these are causes for industrial development, he explained, and "produce population growth only because industrial development leads to population growth. . . . Cities grow because of industrial activity."

Flowers in City Yards

A novel suggestion of great importance concerns the abandonment of grass in close-in city yards, and the use of paved areas, surrounded by beds in which plants are grown. The fact that plants and many flowers can be grown successfully under conditions where lawns will fail is not generally known. In cultivated beds it is relatively easy to supply water and renew plant foods; and species of plants may be selected which best endure city conditions.

Style Used in Building

English architecture is particularly adaptable to a house set close to the street, the editor of the Home Designer and Garden Beautiful points out; for the roof recedes away from the eye, thereby enhancing the appearance of the building by apparently reducing the height.

ROAD BUILDING

HARD-SURFACED ROADS SAVE CASH

Motorists of the United States save more than $1,600,000,000 anually in motor vehicle operating costs as a result of the construction, since 1904, of 183,000 miles of hard-surfaced roads and 153,000 miles of gravel roads, said W. H. Connell, president of the American Road Building association.

This statement featured the address Connell made before the organization's convention when it met recently at Raleigh, N. C.

Such a saving in motor vehicle costs for the United States exceeds the annual cost of the improved highways," Connell declared. "In Pennsylvania alone an analysis of operating costs of motor vehicles proved conclusively that the construction of the hard-surfaced roads has saved more than $32,000,000 annually.

"The annual cost for each mile of hard-surfaced roads constructed in the United States under the federal-aid system is approximately $3,350, or about $446,000,000 for the 133,196 miles. For the gravel roads it is about $2,000 per mile, or $305,000,000 for the 153,000 miles, making a total of $751,000,000 annual charge for hard-surface and gravel roads.

The construction of these roads saved the maintenance cost for the 286,000 miles which have been replaced totaling $143,000,000. Therefore, the additional annual charge due to construction is only $608,000,000. Deducting this from the saving in operating costs of $1,630,000,000 leaves a net annual saving of $1,022,000,000."

Thickness of Brick for Use in Building Roads

In an effort to determine the proper thickness of brick for use in road building the United States bureau of public roads has just worn out a specially constructed test roadway at the experimental station at Arlington, Va. A truck carrying a load of 7½ tons was driven constantly over the circular road and the time required to break down each brick was noted.

Testing Brick Road at Arlington Station.

Motor Operation Costs Determined by Roads

Research work conducted by the Pennsylvania highway commission, the findings of which have been reported to the good roads board of the American Automobile association, brings out in a striking fashion the difference in motor vehicle operating costs over improved and unimproved roads.

It is shown that the cost of operation for all types of motor vehicles over hard-surfaced roads is 25 per cent less than the cost of operation over dirt roads, while the operating cost on gravel roads is 10 per cent less than on dirt roads. These are average economics and apply to tires and other equipment. The result of this study and other similar investigations are now being effectively used by the bureau of public roads and the various highway departments to determine on a scientific traffic basis which roads should have precedence in improvement.

Good Roads Hints

There are 7,850 motor bus routes in the United States, operated by 5,000 motor bus companies.

* * *

During the three years of 1923, 1924 and 1925, Pennsylvania built 8,470 miles of roadway.

* * *

The prompt use of the drag as soon as the rain is over means better roads for weeks to come, and it doesn't take much time to drag a mile.

* * *

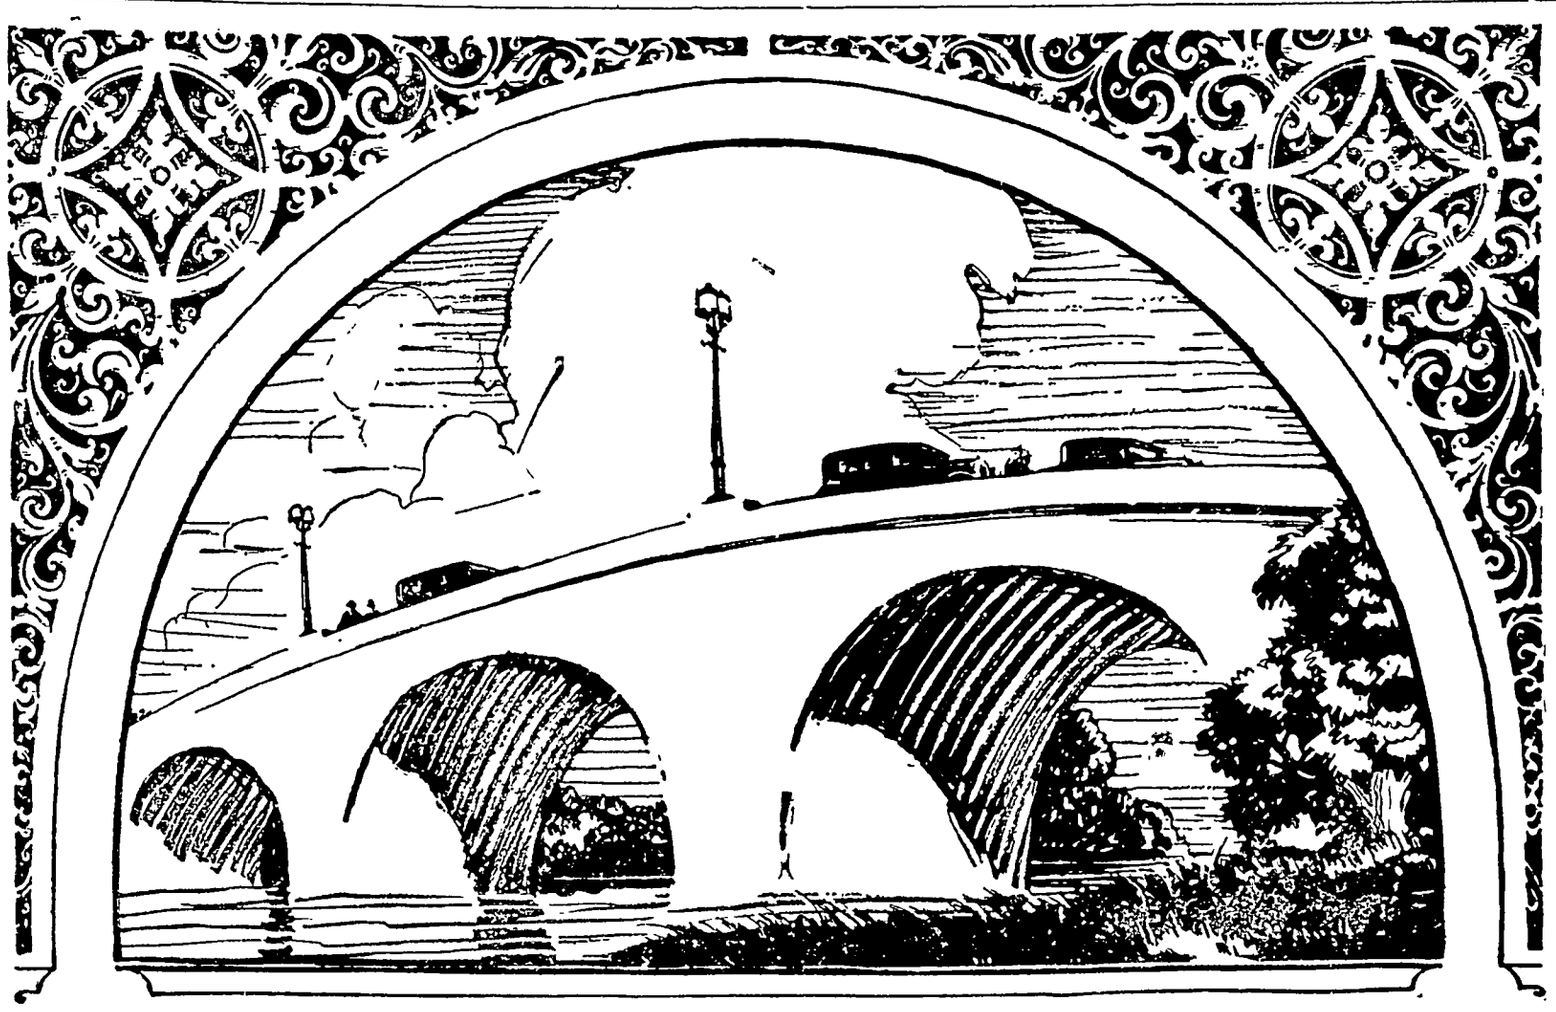
Numerous tests throughout the country have shown that paved highways really cost less than unpaved roads.

* * *

It has generally been conceded that it costs from two to four cents per mile less to drive over hard-surfaced than unpaved roads.

* * *

There are no grades on the entire transcontinental Lincoln highway which the average car cannot climb. Compression should not be used on long down grades.



SAFETY

There is no factor of safety, from double thick genuine plate glass to the solidarity of the roof, which escapes the painstaking investigation of Fisher inspectors.

Quality above all else, is the creed of Fisher craftsmanship.

And Fisher has always regarded the safety and comfort of those who ride in Fisher Bodies the surest proof of Fisher quality.

FISHER BODIES

GENERAL MOTORS

Deserted Illinois Towns

There are seventy-three deserted townsites in Illinois, some of which have flourished and died, while others were laid out but never materialized.

Accurately Described

Frances—It is queer you are so tall and your brother is short, isn't he?

Jim—Yes—usually

No Wonder

"Dad, teacher pulled something on me today that made me sore."

"What was that?"

"My ear."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

A Little Thing

"Do you think there is really anything between Jane and Peter?"

"Only Peter's wife!"

On the Water
EVER notice a boy rowing out? He pulls gaily, yes; but he works earnestly at the oars coming back, for "hunger is insolent and will be fed." Give him a cup of Monarch Cocoa—pure, rich, satisfying, delicious.
MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
Never Sold Through Chain Stores.
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago · Boston · Pittsburgh · New York
MONARCH
Quality for 70 Years
COFFEE
REID, MURDOCH
More than 200 Quality Food Products including
COFFEE and COCOA

In Readiness for Day of Pleasure

The feeling between most European countries at present seems to be a good deal like that of a certain Tipperary Irishman.

It was the day of the county fair, and in the morning this distinguished Tipperary arrayed himself in much finery, including a coat with swallow tails that reached quite to the ground.

When he was all decked out in this spectacular scenery his good wife exhibited much concern.

"And why," she inquired anxiously, "are ye after wearin' a coat the likes of that in the daytime?"

"I'm wearin' that coat," he replied, "with the hope an' expectation that somebody'll thread on me tails, an' then I can have a fight."—Thrift Magazine.

Traffic signs made of cloth letters stuck to the pavement with adhesive are found to be unusually durable.

Modest men may not always be courageous, but courageous men are always modest.

Frozen Eggs From China

A. J. Morris, vice president of the American Merchant lines, in charge of traffic at New York, reports a new unloading record established when 82,000 cases of frozen eggs from China were removed from the liner American Farmer in 20 hours. The eggs, which were in tins, were brought over in refrigeration. The American Farmer arrived at New York port June 22.

It Does Seem So

"The law is not retroactive."

"Sometimes that is a pity."

"Eh?"

"We have all kinds of degrees of murder for the benefit of the murderer. Seems a pity the one murdered cannot join in these benefits."

Correct

A teacher in a city school asked a boy in a class how many sides there side and outside."

Fishermen on the Sea of Galilee use today a type of craft that has remained unchanged since the dawn of the Christian era.

Perfumes to Cost More

Grasse, France, the perfume center of Europe, with 20 distilleries, will run short of 600,000 pounds of petals this year as a result of the late frosts and inclement weather which destroyed a fifth of the Riviera flower crop. Manufacturers say this shortage will cause at least a 25 per cent increase in the cost of French perfumes.

Police Ban Dyeing Dogs

The practice of society women at Paris of dyeing their dogs to match their ogwns was stopped by the police on the complaint of the International Humane society, says the Pathfinder Magazine. It was found that weakened solutions of dyes for cloth were used and that they were injurious to the animals.

Keep It Quiet

He (passionately)—I tell you my love for you is making me mad—mad—mad!

She (calmly)—Well, keep quiet about it. It's had the same effect on my father.—Answers.

If there must be invariably a second thought, should it be invariably, "Is this common sense?"

Press Time in Cairo

Cairo is a very cosmopolitan sort of place. One can tell a good deal about a city from its newspapers, and Cairo has 38. Boys wearing black skull caps sell them along the streets, shouting out their names at press time in an indescribable confusion of languages. There are 12 Arabic dailies, 8 French, 2 English, 3 Italian, 7 Greek, 1 Armenian and others of such nondescript nationalities as to be almost unclassifiable. Alexandria publishes a round dozen papers.—Chicago Daily News.

Tiger Drops in on Hotel

A big tiger, being shipped to Singapore on its way to the New York zoo, escaped from its cage on a freight train in the Federated Malay states and trotted into a hotel near the station. Several persons playing billiards made a hasty exit, says Harold T. Wilkins in Popular Mechanics Magazine. The tiger, as frightened as the billiard players, sought refuge under a table. A sportsman shot and killed it.

The Modern Tot

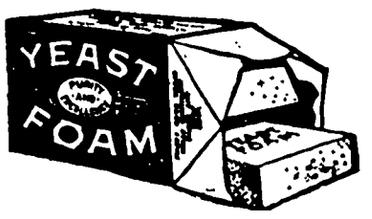
"My boy's beginning to talk."

"Huh! Mine's beginning to make demands."

The secret of good bread: Yeast Foam

Are your children sturdy?

If your child is delicate, irritable, backward in school, look carefully to the food eaten. Have plenty of good home-made bread. It's wholesome and children love its flavor.



Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Barr and Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Miller visited the Interlaken Park near Fairmont, Minnesota, Sunday. They took their picnic dinner and enjoyed a good time.

Dr. Hess

Fly Chaser

at

Wilson's

Pharmacy

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS OF KLEMME

Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds and grass must be mowed about your premises before August 1st, 1926.

If this order is not carried out the street commissioner will do the mowing and the same will be charged against your property.

2t F Gruetzmacher, Mayor.

Mrs. Tom Hake's father died at Belmond last week and the funeral was held there Friday. The following Klemme ladies attended: Mrs. A. G. Koerner and daughter, Dolores, Mrs. C G. Waterman, Miss Viola Freie, Mrs. Paul Stille, and Mrs. M. O Barr. Mrs. Hake's father was 81 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Hake now live in Wyoming.

If Your Motor Walls Were Glass

YOU WOULD SEE THIS LOSS OF

Gas and Power

Stormizing will restore full power and give you a "new" motor to run.

Stormizing is a mechanically accurate process that restores cylinders to their original accuracy. The Process is so accurate it can be repeated several times as cylinders wear.

The Stormizing Process will keep motor at Full Power for 75,000 to 200,000 miles of use. It's the economic way.

The SAVINGS in gas and oil will pay the small cost and you have continuous full powered motor service during the life of your car.

Drive in and let us look over your car. This will cost you nothing. We will show you the advantages and economy of Stormizing and how it pays for itself.

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Klemme, Iowa

Special One Day Only

Demonstration Sale

Saturday, July 31

You've Tried The Best
Now Try VERIBEST

Armour's Veribest Pork & Beans, made from select Michigan Navy Beans; cooked with government inspected Pork; baked with just enough Tomatoe Sauce to give a rich, spicy flavor. They're simply delicious. To prove this we are putting on a Special Sale on the above date.

LOOK! LOOK! ROCK BOTTOM PRICES!

No. 2 Cans (Small Family Size)

PER DOZEN CANS $1.09

PER HALF DOZEN CANS ..... .55

We cordially invite you to come in and sample Armour's Veribest Pork & Beans and participate in this opportunity to lay in a supply at these money-saving prices.

Klemme Meat Market

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Dr. R. W. Specht, Dentist, Garner, Iowa. adv

Frances Cashman, of Goodell, was a Klemme visitor last Thursday.

John Sanderfelt is quite sick at this writing.

Mrs. Mary Waterman had her house repainted last week.

School will open here August 30. Only four more weeks of vacation, kids, so you better jump lively.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Mrs. J. N. Day were at Garner Monday afternoon on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Trumbell came over from Mason City yesterday morning for a few days visit.

The R. N. A. will have a social at the Wellemeyer Store Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Day and son, Dorance, were at Mason City Friday having dental work done.

Several from here are taking in the Hazel M. Cass shows at Belmond this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Johnson, of Garner, were Klemme shoppers Monday afternoon.

Phone or send your news items to the Klemme Times. We appreciate having items sent to us.

Mrs R. A. Jorgenson and son were having dental work done at Garner Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Earl Ferleman, of Mason City was visiting Klemme friends Saturday.

Max Barz has returned from Waterloo, where he visited with his daddy for a couple of weeks.

Wes Schuldt is the owner of a new Flint sedan which he recently purchased.

Walt Bloom, F. A. Arnold and J. N. Day were business callers at Goodell last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Carpenter, of Goodell were Klemme callers Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Arnold and children and Miss Green were Garner callers Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. W. H. Trafford and children, Lois and Buddy, of Belmond, were visiting Klemme friends Monday afternoon.

WANTED—To help prepare dinners for threshers. Mrs. Henry Griffen. 2tc

Mrs. Al. Koerner and daughter, Dolores were at Clear Lake Thursday looking after the Koerner cottage.

The Legion Auxiliary gave a farewell party for Mrs. Walter Lau last Tuesday evening. Ice cream and cake was served.

John Tanner and Joe Johnson went to St. Paul Sunday to buy a bunch of feeders if they found the ones they wanted.

Quite a few from here are planning to take in the big Ringling-Barnum Bailey circus at Mason City, Monday, August 9th.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn and Mrs. Ream, of Clear Lake, were in Klemme Saturday evening-calling on friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward, of Kanawha, are the parents of a baby girl. Mrs. Ward will be remembered as Adna Church, formerly of Klemme.

Typewrite ribbons for sale at the Times Office to fit all standard makes of machines. tfc

Henry Church has been quite ill the past week. His brother from Belmond was here Monday for a visit with him.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus drove to Swea City Sunday evening for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Mitchell until Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Minnie Josten went to Garner Tuesday for a few days to look after business. She is having anew home built at Garner and the house is nearing completion.

Mrs. E. F. Jacobs and son, Elwyn, and her brother, Edwin Wistey, returned last Thursday after visiting several days at the E. S. Viken home near Ventura.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schlawin and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wille drove to Vernon Center, Minn, Saturday for a week end visit with the Ernest Palmby family.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Carl Swanson, who has been critically ill, is very much improved at this time. This is news her many friends are glad to hear.

Miss Luella Fiero, of Forest City, was visiting at the Henry Lewis home Saturday. Miss Fiero was formerly in charge of the dry goods at the Wellemeyer store.

Mrs. Henry Jahnke, of Tiopa, Minnesota came last Thursday, being called to Klemme by the serious illness of her father, Mr. Henry Thieman, Sr.

Mr. Henry Freie and daughter, Viola, Miss Eunice Braund and George Lawhorn drove to Ringsted and to West Bend Sunday. They took in the sights of the Grotto at the latter place.

Mr Wm. Becker had a fainting spell Saturday morning as he was entering J N. Day's store. Dr. Missman was called and took him home. Late reports are that he is getting along well.

Rev. A. W. Gauger and daughter, Marie, returned Monday from Rudd, where they had been visiting. Mrs. Gauger and son, Stanley, will remain at Rudd for the balance of the week visiting with relatives.

Dr. R. M. Thomas and family, of Maringo, were visiting at the Frank Kluckhohn home last Friday afternoon and evening. Dr. Thomas and family are enjoying a two weeks vacation at Tanglewood, Clear Lake.

Mr. Emery Schaefer, Miss Caroline Smid, Mrs. J. Gruetzmacher and Mrs. P. M. Griesemer autoed to Marble Rock Sunday morning and spent the day visiting with C. C. Schaefer and family.

DON'T throw away that tire just because of a small hole. Bring it here, I can at least make a good spare for you. C. L. Blumer. 1tc

Tom Nelson, Sr. is just recuperating from having three ribs broken and came down last Saturday for a visit. Tomy was playing with his grandchildren when he tripped and fell over a stone, causing the accident.

Mrs. Mary Waterman and Mrs. Mabel Cullinan are packing their furniture and getting ready to move to Iowa City. The Fred Gates family have rented Mrs. Waterman's house and will move in the first of the month.

Mr. Lawrence Schaefer and son, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, came Sunday for a visit with Klemme relatives and friends for a few days. Mrs. Schaefer had been here for a week or more. They returned to Wisconsin again Tuesday.

A. G. Koerner purchased the 60 acre piece of land adjoining his property on the west, the fore part of this week. The land was owned by Walt Bloom. Al is perhaps going to do a little farming on a small scale. The addition of the land makes a fine improvement to his town property.

EARL JOSTEN FILLED PULPIT AT METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY

Mr. Earl Josten preached at both the Klemme and Liberty Methodist churches Sunday morning during the absence of Rev. A. W. Gauger, who is on his summer vacation.

Mr. Josten graduated from the Morningside College at Sioux City this year and his sermon Sunday was the second he has delivered to a Klemme audience. Mr. Josten was perfectly "at home" in the pulpit and his sermon in both Klemme and Liberty was greatly enjoyed. He also preached the sermon Sunday evening in the Methodist church.

Office Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings

DR. E. H. PHILLIPS

Osteopathic Physician

Masonic Bldg. Garner, Iowa.

Fred Arnold and Jack Wellemeyer started out for Lake Okoboji last Saturday night to spend Sunday at the lake resort. While there they took a spin around in an eroplane to gt a better view of the surroundings and took some pictures while they were that near heaven.

Mrs. Frank Kluckhohn and children assisted Mrs. E. C. Buentenbach Tuesday with the big dinner for the threshers. "Bally" was also there but only assisted with eating it, we are told.

Sunday a regular family reunion was held at the home of Mr and Mrs. Henry Suckow. A big dinner was enjoyed and a fine time was had by all. Those who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Schaefer and son, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brouwer, Carl Suckow and family, of Garner, John Suckow and family, Will Suckow and family, and Lew and Henry.

Hard Coal

We are now taking orders for HARD COAL, and we want you to get your order in AT ONCE if you want Hard Coal for this winter. We expect to get but one carload of Hard Coal and we must have your order.

FEED OF ALL KINDS

We have on hand a full lineof FEEDS of all kinds at right prices.

COAL! COAL! COAL!

We have good coal in stock—just call us up and tell us what you want.

LAST CALL FOR TWINE

We still have some Twine on hand. If you need Twine for binding corn this fall now is the time to get it. Give us your order for what you expectto use.

Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.

"THE FARMERS' ELEVATOR"

BAYSIDE

---AMUSEMENT PARK---

Clear Lake, Iowa

Next Sunday, August 1st

VAUDEVILLE AFTERNOON & NIGHT

WAVERLY'S BIG ONCCERT BAND—

Music You and Your Kiddies Will Enjoy.

SANKUS AND SYLVERS IN 2 ACTS—
Fox Trot Acrobats—You'll Laugh.

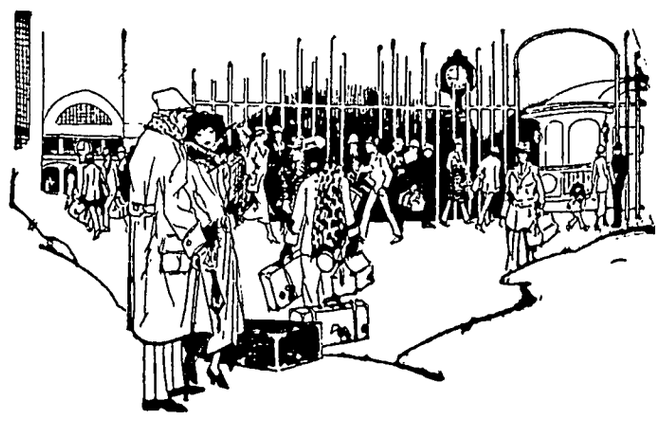
PROFESSOR J. REX, NOTED ENTERTAINER—

In 2 Daring New Novelty Acts.

AT BAYSIDE—Best Bathing Beach on Lake, Bath House, Toboggan Slide, Roller Coaster, Swinging Aeroplane, Merry Go Round, Little Train, Princess Gandhi, Roller Skating, Free Picnic Grounds and Tables, Children's Playgrounds.

FUN FOR ALL ALL FOR FUN

Policed Parking Grounds For Cars 15c



FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE

OFTIMES People take trips and do not wish to carry a lot of money on their person. You can ind no more convenient and safe way to carry money than by using Travelers Checks. ....

....These checks are accepted everywhere and can be procured in any denomination. If you contemplate taking a trip, even tho it is but a short distance, call at his Bank and ask for our Travelers Checks. ....

First National Bank

KLEMME, IOWA.

THE KLEMME TIMES

ieth Year—Number 51. KLEMME, IOWA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 5, 1926. LOCAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE, $2.00 PER YEAR—OUTSIDE $2.50

LE RE-UNION HELD SUNDAY AT J. E. STILLE HOME

One Hundred People Attend Second Annual Re-union

crowd of some one hundred and en or more people gathered at J. E. Stille home, north west of me, Sunday, August 1, 1926, elebrate their second annual re- n of the Stille families. Those ent were as follows:

ugust Stille, wife and daughter, rude, of Clarkesville, Iowa.

From Nashua, Iowa

K. Stille; Oscar Stille; Martin e; Henry Stille and wife; Otto e, Rudolph Stille; Arthur Stille; Stille; and Orlo Hanswirth.

From Hayfield, Iowa

randma and Grandpa Gus am, Guy Geddes, wife and hter, Ethel; Abe Geddes, wife son, Harold; Mrs. G. V. Geddes; ster Geddes, wife and daughter, ie; Mrs. Clark Lakore and hus- d; Clarence Lakore and wife; G. chram, wife and daughters, Ru- nd Evelyn; Mrs. Stiniker, hus- d and daughters, Ella, Gladys, n, and sons, Raymond and Wes- Mrs. Henry Stoltenberg and hus- d; Mrs. Ed. Williams, husband son, Harold; Mrs. Frank Schulz, band, daughter Frances, and Robert, of Miller, Iowa.

From Garner, Iowa

rs. F G. Meckstroth and hus- d; Cecil Stille; Chester Stille, and daughter, Muriel.

From Klemme, Iowa

randma Stille Haefner; Paul e, wife, and daughters, Virginia Merian; Mrs. F. Gruetzmacher husband; J. E. Stille, wife and ghter, Marie; W. F. Stille, wife son, Donald; Lester Stille, wife daughter, Ruth; Harvey Stille, and sons, La Rayne and Keith; Charles Busch, husband, sons l and Kenneth and daughter, trice.

om Liberty Township (Garner)

J Stille, wife, daughters Fern Lucille, and sons, Kermit, Ver- and George; Mrs. Elmer Schaef- husband, daughter, Velda, and , Melvin; Mrs. John Terhufen, band and sons Howard and Glen; s. Wes Haefner, husband and sons bur, Paul and Burnette; Walter dlow, wife, daughter Marva Jean sons, Ellsworth and Merle; Mrs. n. Suckow, husband and sons e and Marvin; Elmer Bredlow wife of Kanawha.

The visitors at the re-union were s. W F. Lipke, of Aberdeen, So. k.; Mrs. Hartzell, of Chicago, Ill.! dys Hartzell, of Orange City, Ia.; Mrs. Wm. Koehler, of Meservey, a.

TO TURNS OVER AFTER STRIKING HORSE IN ROAD

Ringsted Dispatch: Carl Benson uck a horse in the road last Sat- day night and his Ford coupe turn over three times. Carl was un- ured but his car was almost ecked.

The accident occured about mid- ht five miles north of Stanhope he was on his way home from s Moines to spend a weeks vaca- n.

Another car was approaching him d he noticed a horse a long dis- nce ahead between the lights of e two cars. The weeds along the ed were nearly as high as his car d suddenly another horse stepped t of these weeds in front of his r. He tried to avoid hitting the rse but was unable to get around and as he was close to the edge of e road he ran off the grade and rned over.

He telephoned his parents and ey drove down immediately after m. He also located the owner of e horse and in lieu of other dam- es he offered to stand all costs r the repair of the auto.

Very Quiet, Indeed

Mother (just returning from a opping tour): "Did little brother any whilo I was gone?"

Big Brother: "No, ma'am; he dn't open his mouth the whole me."

Mother (astonished): "Why, how d that happen?"

Big Brother: "I gave him the glue ttle to suck."

FIND CACHE OF TWENTY SKELETONS AT CHEROKEE

Cherokee, Iowa.—The steamshovel operator in a gravel pit, seven miles south of Cherokee, has uncovered, at shallow depth, a cache of human skeletons that, from count of pelvic bones, represent the remains of more than twenty persons. Ages range from infancy to maturity, and both sexes are represented. The bones are in a good state of prservation and are not believed to compare in age with skeletons removed previously from mounds in that part of the country.

Wether they are caucasion or Indian has not been determined. Since Iowa was settled by an English speaking population there has been no burial ground near the place. The cache was beneath the site of a road used by the earliest settlers of Cherokee count and its existence had not been suspected The bones were found in a common mass and there had been no interment in accord with orthodox forms followed by either Caucasians or Indians.

While the immediate neighborhood had been repeatedly searched for the site of an Indian village no such sit was ever found. There are signs of Sioux villages within a comparatively short distance. Examination of the ground does not show that it had been disturbed to make the burials. In the language of geologists, the soil is all in "its place."

The skulls are well formed, have medium foreheads, strong lower jaws, good teeth, prominent chins, and display top and back sections that would lead phrenologists to proclaim the religious instincts and fine personal characters of the departed. Local research men can make nothing at all of the find until some authority on anthropology may have determined the race represented. It is not believed that the skeletons are ancient, and it is known that they antedate any known history of this region.

FRUIT JARS SHOULD BE CAREFULLY SELECTED

Well Known Brands of Kinds Easily Cleaned Are Best

In buying fruit jars, the housewife should get a well known brand that is easily cleaned By getting jars of well known brands, it will be much easier to get new lids and they are more likely to be satisfactory.

Before using fruit jars, they must be washed, then fitted with rubbers, filled with hot water and turned upside down to test for leakage, suggests the home economics workers at Iowa State College. By testing or leakage, it may save having to transfer the contents of one can to another.

The jars and covers should be put in a pan of boiling water with a cloth beneath them to keep them from cracking and then boiled for 10 minutes. The rubbers, however, should be merely dipped in hot water, for boiling will stretch them.

Rubbers with the lips on them are very desirable because these can be pulled from under the lid and thus facilitate opening the jars To test a rubber to see whether or not it is good, stretch it out 10 inches and if it contracts to 4 inches it is all right.

ANOTHER BIG BAND AT BAYSIDE NEXT SUNDAY

The Algona Concert Band of thirty-five pieces will play at Bayside Amusement Park Clear Lake, next Sunday afternoon and evening, August 8th. Vaudeville attractions will also entertain the park visitors. Manager Ritz has one of the season's most delightful amusement programs booked for Sunday and is expecting a large crowd including many from Algona. On Wednesday and Friday nights of each week the entertainment program at Bayside includes vaudeville, band concert and dancing. The policed parking grounds are free to all visitors on these nights Dances are held at the White Pier, Clear Lake, on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights. The Dixieland Entertainers are furnishing the music at Bayside and the White Pier this week.

FORD COMING OUT WITH SMALL SPEEDY PLANE

Rumors Confirmed By Automobile Magnate On His 63rd Birthday

Detroit, Michigan.—After producing and distributing more than 14,000,000 of his automobiles, Henry Ford has come to the front with an "air fliver."

Rumors of experiments with a new baby airplane were confirmed when Mr Ford, on the occasion of his 63rd birthday, gave a successful demonstration of the tiny monoplane, a product of his laboratories.

Although admitting enthusiasm over the prospects of the plane, Mr. Ford declared the project is still in the experimental stage

Designed by Otto Kappen, a young German engineer employed in the Ford experimental laboratories, the little plane is powered by a three cylinder, air cooled motor. The pilot sits about midway of the wing, which is placed along the top of the fuselage. It has a wing spread of 22 feet, is 15 feet long and weighs 350 pounds.

The fuselage and wing construction is of metal, with a fabric covering. The motor turning over at 1,600 revolutions per minute, gives a top speed of about 85 miles an hour.

The plane lands at 30 miles an hour and has a stalling speed of a little over 30 miles an hour.

Among those who witnessed the demonstration was Frederick Von Krupp, famous German industrialist.

HOCUM'S ELEVATOR AT IOWA FALLS DESTROYED BY FIRE LAST THURSDAY NIGHT

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the M. O. Hocum grain elevator near the Swift plant at Iowa Falls late last Thursday night. As the elevator had not been in use for several years there was no grain loss. The excellent work of the fire department saved many adjacent buildings, it is reported The heavy downpour of rain a few hours previous also prevented a more serious fire. Several small buildings near the elevator were damaged.

Mr. Hocum was in the elevator business in Klemme for several years, purchasing the business of Walt Bloom. Later Mr. Hocum sold out to the present Farmers Elevator.

At Iowa Falls Mr. Hocum does a large coal business, and also has a filling station near the elevator.

England and Wales together have averaged 150 murders per year for the past century. Which explains why the average Chicagoan finds Great Britain so quiet, uneventful a place.

GIMER AND ARNOLD HAVE FINE TRIP TO LINCOLN, NEBR.

Mr. A. D. Gimer and Mr. F. A. Arnold report that they had a very fine trip to Lincoln, Nebr. in company with C. E. Barnes, of Garner.

They left here Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and drove until that night until 12:00 o'clock when they arrived at the busy city of Omaha.

Art says they were up and going early the next morning and got to the capital city of Nebraska at about 9:30 a. m. Art further said, "The Nebrasko Buick Company seemed to us to be one of the big things in Lincoln They have their own five story building, covering about half a block.

"Through the courtesy of Mr. Barnes, we were let into the show room where only agents of the company were allowed to see the sixteen new 1927 Buick models. We were also privelged to look on and see them broadcasting their afternoon program that the Nebraska Buick maintains in the same building.

"We found crop conditions badly in need of rain. In Nebraska a lot of the corn was beyond help from rain. We found that right here around Klemme wo have about as good prospects as anywhere for a good crop of corn."

Mr. Gimer and Mr. Arnold hope to make a trip together again some time, as not the least bit of bother developed in making the round trip of 646 miles. They both agree that Mr. Barnes was a careful and efficient driver and they will remember the trip for a long time to come, Mr. Gimer stated.

The new Buick sedan which Mr. Gimer purchased and drove back, is the first 1927 model in Hancock county.

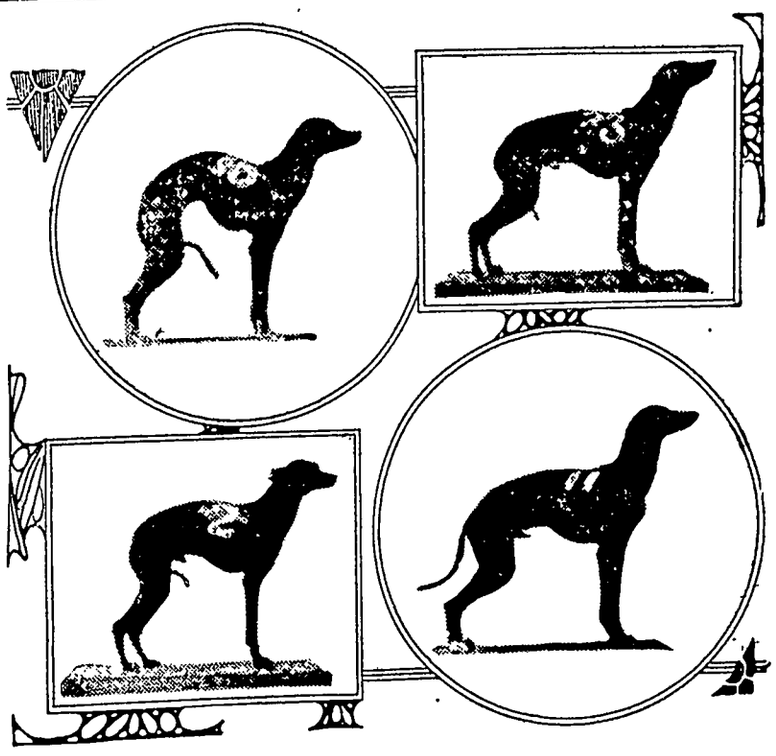
BROOKHART AND PORTER WILL TALK ON SUCCESSIVE DAYS AT NORTH IOWA FAIR

Here Is Your Chance To Hear The Two Candidates For U. S. Sen.

North Iowans wil have an opportunity to hear and measure the two nominees for United States senator during the North Iowa Fair, which opens August 16 and closes August 20, at Mason City. Colonel Brookhart will speak in front of the large ampitheatre at 2:00 P. M. Monday, August 16, and Claude R. Porter, democratic nominee, will talk from the same place on the following day.

Republican county committeemen have been invited in by District Chairman T. A. Potter, who is mayor of Mason City, and it is anticipated that Fred Biermann of Decorah, District Chairman of the Democratic organization, will take similar action. The appearance of the two nominees will be among the highlights of the week's fair program.

DOGS RACE AT STATE FAIR



Here are four of the famous whippet dogs which will appear in the six-day whippet-racing card at this year's Iowa State Fair, Aug. 25 to Sept. 3. The dogs are descendants of the greyhound and travel faster than anything of their size in existence. There will be seven whippet races each day of the fair, in addition to the regular horse and auto racing programs.

HANCOCK COUNTY REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Anna Overbeck to Mary W. B. Sherman. W. D, date 7-27-26, $1, Und. 1-3 interest in W½ of SW¼ 31-96-26.

John A. Schuler, Ex. to G. F. Schuler. W. D., date 5-4-1917, $600, lot 8 block 25 Garner.

L. A. Andrew, Supt. of Banking, to Wm. Boenke, Deed date 6-24-26, $18,000.00 N½ of NE¼ & SW¼ of NE¼ 34-97-23.

John A. Reed wf. to A. O. Anderson, W. D. date 7-28-26, $1.00, S½ of NE¼ & SE¼ NW¼ 6-96-24.

J. W. Griggs to Maude Griggs Carpenter. W. D., date 7-7-25, $1.00, SE¼ 20-94-24.

John F. Russ wf. to Mary Schmidt W D. date 4-3-26, $2400.00 lot 9 block 47 Garner.

J. F. Russ wf. to Mary Schmidt. W. D. date 4-3-26, $100.00 lot 1 blk 5 West side add Garner

BABY BEEF CLUB WANTS HELP

Ask Aid To Select Calves For State Fair Exhibits

Club workers of Iowa State College and representatives of the Iowa Beef Producers' Association have been busy of late answering the call of various countics to aid in selecting baby beevos to exhibit at the Iowa State Fair.

Among those asking for help are: Hancock, Adams, Waren, Shelby, Cass, Montgomery, Marion, Wayne, Henry, Marshall, Benton, Greene Boone, Sac, Buena Vista, Cerro Gordo, Franklin, Tama, Louisa and Cedar. These are only a few of he counties that will exhibit at the state fair, however. It is expected that calves from at least 60 counties will be shown there.

SILVER NAILS IN FLESH OF FAKIR BRING NO BLOOD

Berlin.—A man who proposes to have himself crucified every day for fourteen days and who in a preliminary press exhibition was actually nailed to a wall with silver nails through his hands and feet is the sensation of Berlin these days.

He calls himself Taimu, and clothes himself as a Hindu fakir, but he really admits that his real name is Fritz Toepfer, a former German war flier. He is only waiting for a police permit to start his public crucifixion exhibit, but the police are hesitant.

At the press exhibit silver nails, eighteen centimeters long, were driven through the hands and feet and Taimu was nailed against a huge picture painted on the wall where he hung looking down upon the men of his audience smiling and unconcerned. One man fainted.

When the nails were withdrawn, the openings which they had made were scarcely visible. There were no wounds because there was no blood.

"This is just the work of my will" he explained.

"During the war I was shot down and so badly injured that the doctors wanted to amputate my leg. I rejected the narcotic and by drawing on all my will resources I was able to stand the operation while perfectly conscious.

"Today I am able to control my body at will. By autosuggestion, I stop the blood from flowing. That's why you can't see any now. I could hang nailed to the wall this way for a month without being taken off If the police will permit, I shall prove it."

The openings, Taimu said, would disappear entirely in a few hours, so that he could be crucified all over again every day.

TEACHERS ORDERED TO GET HEALTH CERTIFICATES

Teachers in the seventy-five rural schools of Worth county will be required to present satisfactory health certificates before being allowed to teach this coming fall, pursuant to resolutions adopted by the board in every rural school district. Such action was recommended by Nora M. King, county superintendent.—Lake Mills Graphic.

FINDS U. S. FARM HOMES LEAD

Surpass Those of England, France, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Miss Arnquist Reports

Farm homes of the United States far surpass those of England, France, Holland, Denmark, Norway or Sweden in equipment and convenience, is the report of Miss Josephine Arnquist in charge of girls' club work in Iowa, following a two months' tour of Europe.

"The great trouble with the equipment of the homes in Europe is that the rural people have no money with which to buy modern conveniences," Miss Arnquist says. "While 45 per cent of the farm homes in Sweden were said to have electricity, it is used almost solely for lighting purposes Hardly any of these homes have washing machines and it is a common sight still to see the family laundry being done in the rivers or creeks."

Of the six countries which Miss Arnquist visited, she believes the standard of living is a little highest in Denmark than any other country.

"Even tho the European countries are behind us as regards the equipment of their homes, they do some things that we might well copy," Miss Arnquist declared. "It seemed to me they take more time to really 'live' than we do. They cherish their home traditions and observe the little courtesies more than we do For instance, families there never would think of being apart at Christmas time if it could be avoided."

Young Europeans still look to America as "the promised land," Miss Arnquist says. They seem to feel that if they could just get to America they would be assured of success. She thinks much of this is due to exaggerated stories that have been carried back to the "mother" countries by immigrants who return.

THAT BUNDLE OF NECKTIES

Paunee Bill, blind haberdasher of St. Louis, is flooding Iowa with neck ties. If you like them send him a dollar, if not send them back. Paunee Bill is working on folk's sympathy and hoping because he is blind to get folks to take a bunch of cheap ties. A local clothier says these ties which Bill asks about 33 cents a piece for can be bought most any place for a quarter. So you don't get stung much if you keep them.

The idea is so good a Waterloo firm now comes along offering face powder, razor and shaving stuff in the same manner. Readers are asking if they have to send this stuff back or if they have to keep it. No, you don't have to keep it, but if they send stamps the best thing to do is to return the goods.

It's too bad folks have to be bothered with such schemes but there doesn't seem to be any way to stop such practices.—Wallaces Farmer.

AVOID CANNING TOO MUCH IS ADVICE OF AMES LADY

Involves Expense and Labor; Extra Cans May Spoil

Too many housewives have an over supply of canned foods each year. In the case of fruits which are abundant only every second or third year, such as cherries and plums, it is all right to can in larger amounts.

Even with the orchard and garden furnishing an abundant supply of fruit and vegetables, it is not always wise to be too ambitious. For example, the non-acid vegetables, such as peas, string beans, asparagus and corn, are difficult to keep and the items of time, expense and the housewife's disposition are not to be reconed lightly.

These same vegetables commercially canned and of good quality, can be purchased very reasonably, especially by the case. If one must buy fruit or vegetables to can, it would be much wiser not to can, says Mrs. Ruetta Day Blinks of Iowa State College. On the other hand, homemade conserves, marmalades, jellies and the like are always in great demand and here is a case where the city housewife is justified in buying fruits for preservation.

150 LOST IN STORM; 8-MILLION DAMAGE

Two Hundred Vessels Are Missing After Gale Hits Bahama Islands.

San Juan, Porto Rico.—Towns and villages of Porto Rico are still cut off from communication with the capital, but, according to Secretary of Agriculture Chardon, more than 100 persons were killed and about 400 injured in the recent hurricane. Thousands are homeless and the total damage is estimated at $8,000,000.

Tokyo, Japan.—The toll of dead and missing in the floods which have ravaged Niigita prefecture, on the west coast of the main island of Japan, was placed at 400 and the damage to property at 10,000,000 yen ($5,000,000), as numerous corps of relief workers entered the stricken district.

Nassau, New Providence Island, Bahamas.—Ravaged by wind and wave with more than 150 persons missing, the Bahama islands were virtually isolated from communication with the outside world while anxious residents took further count of the toll of destruction from the worst hurricane in the recorded history of the islands.

The majority of those missing are believed to have been drowned with the sponge fishing fleet which set sail a few days before the West Indian hurricane struck the islands. Several weeks must elapse before the official toll of death and shipping and property damage is known. While conservative estimates place the damage at $8,000,000, reports have not been received from several islands of the group and communication with them may not be established for days.

Nassau, the beautiful capital of the Bahamas group, with a population of more than 12,000, presented a picture of desolation. Debris from uprooted trees,, wrecked houses and splintered boats washed up by the waves cluttered the stately driveways of the ancient city, where virtually all business has been suspended Abandoning efforts to repair her ruin, Nassau turned first to search for missing fleets and to ascertain the conditions on other islands under her administraton. The outer islands of the group are known to have suffered greatly, but inside the far-flung line of islands and banks and toward the coast of Florida the chief damage was at Nassau and the Isle of Gun Key, 40 miles from Miami.

Only three fishing smacks were left in Nassau harbor from 60 craft which were moored there. Between 150 and 200 sloops are missing with the sponge fleet. Harbor officials estimate that at least 75 vessels were destroyed at Nassau and other islands, not counting the sponge boats, some of which possibly found shelter on isolated banks or near uninhabited islands.

Nassau had meager warning of the advance of the hurricane. The tropical radio station near Miami radioed weather reports when brisk winds and a rapidly falling barometer indicated the approach of a storm. The wind steadily increased in velocity and becoming a gale, lashed the island, tearing houses from their foundations and uprooting trees. Wires were blown down and the public utility plants damaged to such an extent that the city was plunged into darkness. The government record showed the wind reached its velocity peak at 130 miles an hour.

Churning the harbor into a seething mass of waves, the hurricane piled waters high over the wharves into Bay street, a block into the city. Soon a gale swept down from the northwest, meeting the onrush from the Caribbean, and ships were lifted high from their moorings and sent on to the wharves. Several were blown to sea.

In Florida, the greatest damage seems to have been done in Palm Beach and West Palm Beach, with the total running to above $1,000,000.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

According to figures made public by the Department of Commerce, finished manufactured products continued to lead the exports of the United States during June.

A small army of workers has been busy both inside and outside the White House effecting the repairs and improvements authorized by congress at its last session.

The shipping board has rescinded a regulation prohibiting privately owned American ships from furnishing free transportation to the clergy. The prohibition, however, still applies to government-owned vessels.

Profits received by real estate dealers from the sale of land are subject to income tax, according to a ruling made by A. W. Gregg, counsel of the internal revenue bureau.

Freed in Shame Suicide Case

Tia Juana, Mex.—Zenaldo Llanos, former police chief, and three others, charged with offenses against Clyde and Audrey Peteet, American girls, here last February, were acquitted by a jury in the court of first instance here.

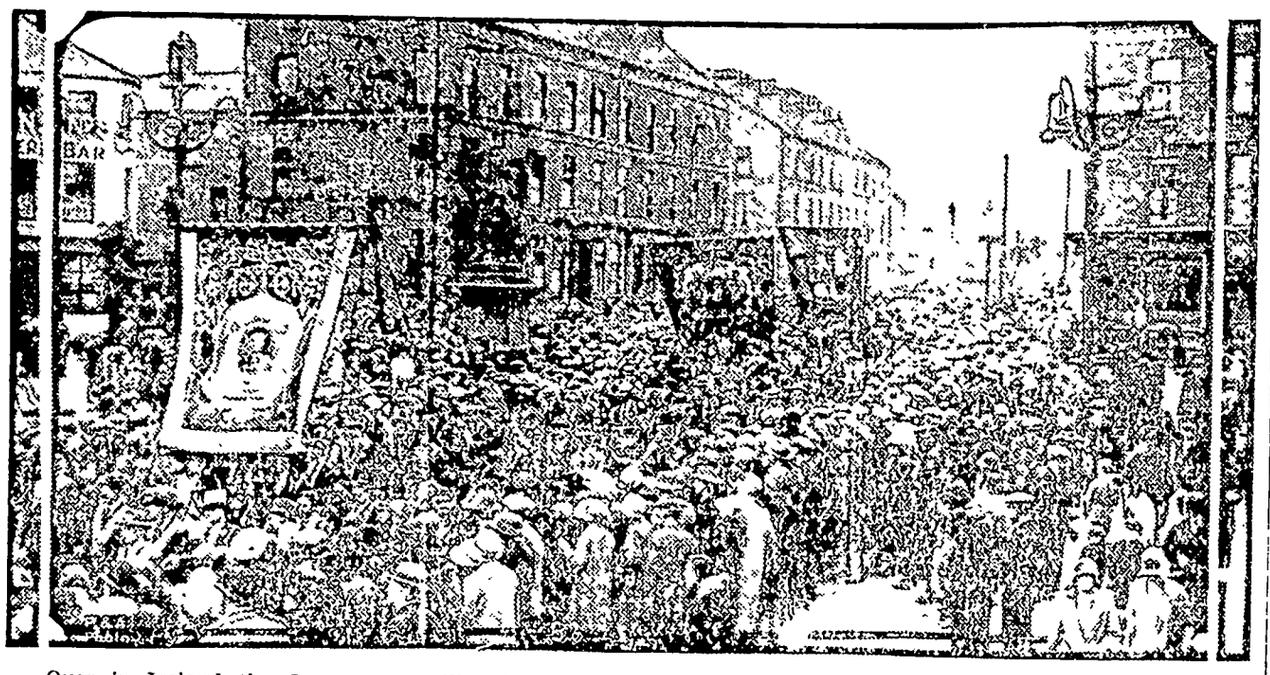
For Protective Sugar Tariff

Honolulu, T. H.—The territorial Democratic convention here adopted a platform favoring a protective tariff on sugar.

Flashlight Photograph Made at Night From Plane

Above is shown a remarkable aerial flashlight photograph of McCook field, Dayton, Ohio, taken from an elevation of 1,000 feet at night. The photograph was made by Lieutenant Goddard while the plane was being piloted by Lieutenant Bruner.

Battle of the Boyne Parade in North Ireland Town



Over in Ireland the Orangemen still celebrate the Battle of the Boyne every year on the anniversary of that historic contest in 1690. The photograph shows the procession in Belmont, northern Ireland.

Helps Make Capital a Model City

Frederick Law Olmsted of Palos Verdes estates, California, third of a famous line of landscape architects, in the patio of his Spanish hacienda. He has been chosen by President Coolidge as the long-term member of the National Capital Park and Planning commission in Washington, D. C. The duty of the commission is to select land for park purposes and to supervise the building of highways and the development of residence suburbs, with the end in view of making the national capital a model city in every way.

Wedding on Bridge of Lighthouse

When Dudley Farnworth and Evelyn Vee of San Francisco decided to be married, they wanted something solid, very solid, back of it all. "Mile Rock lighthouse," suggested the bride-to-be. "Solid enough," said the groom-to-be. So they were married on the "bridge" of the lighthouse and the photographer made this picture of the ceremony.

LOS ANGELES BEAUTY

Miss Marcella Arnold won the beauty contest at Los Angeles and will represent that city in the pageant at Atlantic City.

HAROLD P. SHELDON

Harold P. Sheldon, former fish and game commissioner of Vermont, who is now chief United States game warden of the bureau of biological survey.

BIG YEAR FOR R. R'S, OTHER INDUSTRIES

Farm Conditions Also Improved, According to Government Year Book.

Washington.—Record-breaking activity on the part of American industries and railroads, favorable foreign trade conditions, and some degree of improvement in the agricultural situation marked the year 1925, according to the commerce year book issued by the Department of Commerce. This publication, comprising more than 750 pages, is the fourth in an annual series and furnishes a complete analytical statistical record of American commerce and industry.

"Considered as an entirety the industry and commerce of the United States during 1925 reached the highest levels ever attained in our history, not even excepting the years of abnormal war activity," says the book in summarizing conditions in general.

"Nevertheless, apart from heavy speculation in the securities market, the year was not one of credit inflation or boom psychology. The high activity of business represented the continuance of conditions scarcely interrupted since the middle of 1922. The basic reason for the greater volume of business has been the increasing efficiency of industry and commerce.

"During the summer of 1924 there had been a temporary recession of modest proportions in the activity of business, so that the volume of production and domestic trade for the year was slightly less than in 1923. This small loss in ground was more than recovered last year. The Department of Commerce index for the quantitative volume of manufacturing output indicates a production 10½ per cent greater than in 1924, 5 per cent greater than in 1923, and more than 25 per cent greater than in either 1919 or 1920.

"The corresponding index of mineral production showed an increase of nearly 5 per cent over 1924, the anthracite strike alone accounting for the fact that the peak of 1923 was not surpassed. The output of forest products attained record proportions. Building construction was more active than ever.

"The immense contrast between 1925 and 1921 is indicated by the fact that manufacturing output for the year as a whole was more than 60 per cent greater, and that the maximum month of 1925 showed output more than 80 per cent greater than the minimum month of the depression year."

Increased efficiency is noted as one of the important achievements of American industry.

Railroad conditions were unusually favorable, the report indicates. "The net railway operating income in 1925 was the highest ever recorded, reaching for class one railways $1,120,000, as compared with $962,000,000 in 1923, $974,000,000 in 1924, and $1,105,000,000 the previous peak reached in 1916."

As to agriculture, it is stated that "while some branches have not yet recovered from the injury wrought by the great slump in prices of farm products in 1920 and 1921, the situation in general during the last two years has been more satisfactory than before, and on the whole the year 1925 witnessed some improvements as compared with 1924."

Sen. Cummins of Iowa Dies of Heart Attack

Des Moines, Iowa.—Senator Albert B Cummins, Iowa's outstanding political leader for more than twenty years, is dead at his home here. Death was due to heart disease, and followed several years of ill health, which, however, had not interfered greatly with his activities in Washington.

Although he was disappointed by defeat in the Republican primary two months ago, when Smith W. Brookhart won the senatorial nomination, members of his family scouted the suggestion that he died as the result of a broken heart over his failure to be renominated.

Ford Announces Air Flivver

Detroit, Mich.—An airplane whose wings measure 20 feet from tip to tip, weighing about 320 pounds, its 25-horse-power engine capable of a speed of 75 to 85 miles per hour—that is the "flying flivver," the experimental model of which Henry Ford displayed at his Dearborn shops on the occasion of his sixty-third birthday.

Big Crop in Russia

Moscow.—The central statistics administration in data given out estimates that the coming crops will amount to 78,000,000 tons.

Dodge Estate $20,000,000

New York.—An estate of $20,000,000 is disposed of by the will of Cleveland H. Dodge, philanthropist and financier, filed for probate here.

Seven Killed; Sixty Hurt

Charleston, W. Va.—Seven persons were killed and sixty others injured when a small bridge over the Coal river at Whitesville, forty miles from here, collapsed. The victims were principally women and children.

Alcohol Deaths Up 600 Pct.

New York.—The Metropolitan Life Insurance company announces that since the first year of prohibition deaths from alcoholism among policy holders have increased 600 per cent.

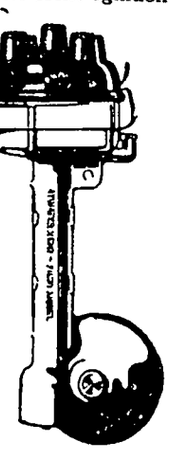
ATWATER KENT IGNITION for Fords

New or Old—Your Ford is a good c

Give it a square deal with an Atwater Kent Type LA Ignition System for Fo Its mechanism is out of dirt and oil, contactless distributor eliminates wear.

Your motor will run smoother, s easier, pick up quicker, and there'll be m power on the hills.

Of the same general design as the water Kent Ignition Systems furnished standard equipm on many of Am ca's foremost c with twenty- years' scientific rience back of th



Installed in l than an hour. E lastingly depe ble. Costs but $10.

Type LA

Price

$10.80

Including Cable and Fittings

Atwater Kent Manufacturing Co

A. Atwater Kent, President

4859 Wissahickon Ave. · Philadelphia, P

Makers of

ATWATER KENT RADIO

The Oil that resists HEAT Friction Dilution

YOUR MOTOR NEEDS Mona Motor Oil

Toothbrush Bristles

Toothbrushes are now made in 5 different types. The brush itself practically always made of h bristles, the finest grades of whi come from the cold regions of Ru sia, Siberia and China, where hai wild hogs range the wilds.

Right

Teacher—"Can you mention a ter of respect?" The Grocer's Son "Cash."—The Progressive Grocer.

A woman doesn't want to be unre sonable, but she simply can't help

"BAYER ASPIRIN" PROVED SAFE

Take without Fear as Told in "Bayer" Package

BAYER

Does not affect the Heart

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross on package or on tablets you are n getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribe by physicians over twenty-five years fo

Colds	Headache
Neuritis	Lumbago
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Each unbroken "Bayer" package con tains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Drug gists also sell bottles of 24 and 100

FRECKLES!

of all kinds vanish when Dr. C. H. Berry's Freckle Ointment is used. Your friends will marvel at the change in your complexion. The use of this cream will keep your skin clear and soft too. We guarantee it. At drug and dept. stores or by mail. Price $1.25 and 65c. Send for FREE BEAUTY BOOKLET. Dr. C. H. Berry Co., 2975 Michigan Ave., Chicago

Youth Rides West

By Will Irwin

Copyright by Will Irwin
WNU Service

THE STORY SO FAR

n their way to the new Cotwood gold diggings in Colo- o in the early Seventies, Rob- Gilson, easterner, and his tner, Buck Hayden, a veteran er, witness the hold-up of a ge coach, from which the ex- ss box is stolen before the dits are scared off. Among hold-up victims are Mrs. Conce Deane, and Mrs. Barnaby, o intends to open a restaurant Cottonwood. Gilson meets rcus Handy, editor, on his way start the Cottonwood Courier. riving in town, Gilson and yden together purchase a min- claim. A threatened lynching averted by the bravery of ris McGrath, town marshal. lson becomes disgusted with ld digging, what with its un- ding labor and small rewards, d so the sudden appearance of orty Croly, old-time partner of ck, is not altogether discon- rting to him Gilson takes a b on the Courier and arranges sell his share in the claim to orty. His acquaintanceship th Mrs. Deane ripens. As the urier grows in power a civic irit is awakened.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

—8—

en "Judge" Colliver—we all ted him that title—took the floor, ew almost as well as the variety s. A little before this climax, ways went out for another drink. tradition of Daniel Webster still strong upon the West. The ora- al lawyer, most brilliant when seas over, held the imagination of courtroom and of jury. hing back his mop of black hair, ver would work himself up like mp-meeting preacher to an ora- al frenzy. Always he harped on points. The victim was armed. yone in camp was armed, for matter. But as Colliver brought this point, you forgot that. And ys some witness for the defense lied to a "quick motion toward hip." There you were. Self-de- e, absolute and proved. Judge an closed the affair with a pom- s charge full of bad Latin, where- ercy stood better vindicated than ice. The jurors scarcely left r seats.

he pickpocket whose escape from hing I had witnessed during my t night in camp, got a quick trial short shrift. Judge Cowan, with cial emphasis on the meanness of crime, sentenced him to ten years. minor cases, such as settled com- nities usually try in police courts, re were none. Under the tolerant e of Marshal Chris McGrath, n drunkenness constituted no of- se whatever If an inhabitant was nk and disorderly, the marshal ar- ted him, put him in the log jail for night, and released him in the rning.

ly pryings and searchings about mp led me constantly to that jail. lt with a double log wall, provid- with a real door reinforced by eet iron and with a substantially rred window, it had as yet no sep- te cells. Murderer and transient unkard alike slept on straw pallets out the stove of the common room. ur deputies, by turns jailer and po- eman, stood double guard with rifle d revolver.

Over these janizaries to Marshal cGrath ruled as chief, as grand ler, one Charlie Meek. He it was o, when the marshal stopped the ching at the Black Jack, had apped the handcuffs on the pick- cket. Long a mere supernumerary the drama of Cottonwood camp, he s to step forth for a day a leading tor.

Jim Huffaker's restaurant had the ntract for feeding the prisoners. he waiters, bringing over dinner or pper removed the soiled dishes of e last meal. Consequently, the con- uous game of seven-up on the floor roceeded always amidst a most un- dy fringe. The sanitary arrange- ent I shall not attempt to describe; nd the eternal scratchings of the risoners proved that bunks and cloth- g alike were hunting-grounds for orms of lower life.

Marshal McGrath had nominally an ffice—a boarded tent on Main street here proceeded the important busi- ess of registering mining claims. ut seldom if ever did I find him in hose, his official quarters. His hours f leisure he spent at the jail; of fine fternoons he sat in a rocking-chair y its door, smoking a black cigar nd holding forth. Usually he had an udience, squatted about him on its eels. Once, on a morning when he "Hold-up Record" at the bottom of our last column, front page, included ight items, I asked him what he was doing about footpads. "Not a thing until they give me a detective or two," he replied. "I've applied twice."

"Or when we get a municipal gov- ernment," I put in, repeating parrot- like a political observation of Marcus Handy. Marshal McGrath did not take this simple remark simply. His eyes crinkled up, but not with a smile. The lines of his face went hard, as they did when he stepped upon the table of the Black Jack to stop the lynch- ing.

"Tell your editor to keep off that!" he jerked out. "If you don't like the way the county government's run, there'll be an election in November, won't there?" But as though his case needed apology, he went on: "What do they expect, those reformers? A min- ing camp ain't a Sunday school. We haven't had a lynching yet!" That record, it appeared, was the marshal's special pride.

Cottonwood continued to boom and grow; daily the Courier reported strikes or "fine prospects" in the mines working on Liverpool hill, where the last inch of ground had long been staked out and developed, and in those gulches and crevasses of the mountains where experienced prospectors were sinking shafts with bucket and winch. The stages arrived brimful; every night the public corral overflowed with the wheeled transport of new arrivals. Under my eye, this crude settlement was transforming itself into a town, a city.

In a gulch above the river valley, a brickyard began operations. Its kilns were scarcely formed before it had orders six months ahead. Father Cassidy signed the first order. Already his Ladies' sodality was advertising in the Courier its fair for the building fund. Mr. Sipple, the Presbyterian, was clearing ground for his new wooden church. The Methodists under the fiery Mr. Orcutt got along with their gospel tent, saved souls mightily, and let the Lord take care of the future. Doctor Howells, Episcopalian, arrived at about that time, found quarters for Sunday services in an assay office beside the Comstock Lode saloon. Gathering my sheaf of ecclesiastical news for the Sunday morning paper, I found that he had sent an urgent call for funds to his denomination in the East. Pending their response, he did us Christian service by spending the last of the funds he had brought up from Denver to lease a log cabin and start a pay school. Father Cassidy, fearing the winds of adverse doctrine, immediately added to his building plans a parochial school. Three Sisters of Charity, whom he had brought with him, possessed themselves of a large tent and started a hospital for pneumonia cases, gunshot wounds and other really serious disabilities.

The Odd Fellows had clubbed together and built a wide, low pine shack, floored for dancing. Within a week after the first timber was laid, they held their grand dedication ball. It paid for itself almost within a month; scarcely a night but the Masons, the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the G. A. R., the Confederate Veterans or the Knights of Pythias rented it for lodge meeting or rout. Our camp was already developing an aristocracy —wives of mining engineers, the richer mine owners and the more prosperous tradesmen. Odd Fellows' hall was but a fortnight completed when they held an assembly.

Carpenters for a time got double wages, so that every miner with the least skill at sawing or driving nails deserted the drifts and sought employment at building. Doors, windows and window panes were now arriving by the truck load; the burlap portieres began to disappear; the portiere of gunnysacking at the door of the Courier passed into memory. The pioneer sawmill had now a rival; but though the two establishments worked double-shift and transformed half a mountainside from a dryad grove into a littered ruin, they could not keep pace with the demand. Assay offices, groceries, general stores, a pharmacy, innumerable saloons operated in tents or suspended operations while the owners waited for lumber and skilled men.

The Tradition of Daniel Webster Still Lay Strong Upon the West.

We grew and grew—amorphically, without organization, by the process of adding cells like a jellyfish. No stage or caravan but brought some representative of a new and necessary trade. Plumbers slept out the first night on the floor of the St. Louis lodging house beside physicians, barbers beside dentists, plasterers beside assayers, stationary engineers beside mining engineers. But fast as they came, gamblers and prostitutes, bartenders and sure-thing workers came faster. Now a telegraph line was preparing to start from Denver; and the Courier was authorized to state, "on the best authority," that a narrow-gauge railroad was coming. How unreliable that best authority was, Marcus and I alone knew But Marcus would have printed that report if he had been obliged to invent it. For, as he said, we were bound to have a railroad some day, after—

Marcus had a way, now, of stopping short on that word "after." I knew what he meant; my eyes open, I was beginning even to grow interested in what he meant. We should have in Cottonwood camp none of the sober development which a railroad symbolized until we achieved security for life and investment. Gun law, supplemented by a withered and weakly corrupt government, a day's journey away, was outworn. Already responsible citizens said that; but said it under their breaths.

Yet day followed day, and Marcus did not, as he had enigmatically threatened, "cut his wolf loose." Less and less, indeed, did he talk about the necessity of a municipal government; more and more did he draw into himself. Almost he seemed morose. As often as the job permitted, he absented himself from the office; when he returned, he brought no news. Once, running into our bedroom midafternoon on some trivial errand, I opened the door to find him in close conference with three other men. "Excuse me, kid!" he said quickly. I stepped back, closed the door; but not before I had recognized the good-humored frog-face of Isidore Cohen the jeweler, and the lean Yankee features of Taylor, president of the bank. Once again, plodding up an unfrequented trail to Liverpool hill, I saw before me the familiar backs of Marcus and Doctor Howells, the Episcopalian clergyman. They were walking with their heads down, like men in intimate but perplexing conversation. I turned up a side trail. Then—it was toward the end of my third week on the Courier—the incident arrived which cut the wolf loose.

CHAPTER VII

Returning from supper to write up my sheaf of miscellaneous information gathered during the afternoon, I found Marcus Handy in close conversation with a stranger. I surveyed him casually as I pushed through the door, and set him down in the tenderfoot class. Then he turned, revealing a stark, small-featured American countenance, now veiled in deep gloom. One would have said, indeed, that he had been crying. Marcus looked up.

"Come here, kid; shake hands with Mr. Curtis," he said. "I want you to listen to this!"

With conscientious precision, Mr. Curtis told his story. He had arrived only three days before, bringing ten thousand dollars, receipts from the sale of his grocery business and his house in Cairo, Illinois; this money he deposited in the Bank of Cottonwood while he saw the town and looked for an opening. In the bar of the Black Jack he met a stranger, also from Illinois, who knew some of his people. Precisely at this moment, I anticipated the whole story. The proceeding, as Mr. Curtis told it in his dead, grief-stricken voice, was typical, orthodox. The meeting with two other strangers—the deal in mines by which he invested nothing and could not lose —the necessity, just when the deal stood at completion, for proving that he had funds—the trip to the bank for his ten thousand dollars—the display of the money in the back room of the Black Jack—the discovery, when he returned to the bank, that he held only a packet of waste paper. Mr. Curtis offered no excuses for his innocence and gullibility; he was past vanity. Only when he told us that he had left his family in the East and had expected to send for them did his voice choke and break. This was the second lesson to my slow imagination in the essential, invariable cruelty of crime.

The story varied, grew more interesting—and especially to Marcus—when Mr. Curtis touched on the aftermath. He had thought it over, swallowed his pride, and reported the matter to Chris McGrath. Chris had promised to look into the matter. "Didn't seem much interested—" added Mr. Curtis. And he did nothing. At this point, Marcus Handy and I exchanged furtive, significant glances. It was part of an unwritten agreement that Chris McGrath should inform me of all crimes. Concerning this, the most sensational confidence operation which had happened as yet in Cottonwood, he had dropped not even a hint.

Mr. Curtis resumed his narrative. Getting no further with the town marshal, 'he had addressed himself next to Si Conway, head-man, presumably chief stockholder, in that syndicate of gamblers which conducted the Black Jack. "He seemed real astonished that such things could happen in his house," said Mr. Curtis. "But while he was talking—it was in the bar—I saw one of the fellows that robbed me come out of the back room. 'That's him!' says I, and started to grab him. And the bartender started too. But he got stuck in the door in front of me, and before I could shove past him my man was gone. 'You did that a-purpose!' says I, and hit him. But they pulled me off him and threw me out. So I come to you. I want to know if there is any justice in this town!" Here Mr. Curtis raised his subdued voice for the first time, struck a clenched fist into the palm of the other hand.

Marcus Handy spoke, his voice unwontedly low.

"Kid," he said, "you've heard this story, haven't you? I want you to go straight over to Chris McGrath and put this up to him. Put it strong. Ask him why we haven't heard about this little affair, and what he's done. And on your way home, see Si Conway and touch him up similar. Then come back, and tell me what they have to say." He turned to Mr. Curtis.

As I approached Chris McGrath, sitting in his rocking chair, chewing his cigar, I felt that I was not going to relish this job. However, the plain recital of Mr. Curtis had warmed my own indignation; I let some of my feelings into my voice, I suppose, when I retold the story. And as I talked, the smile-wrinkles smoothed out from about the marshal's eyes; they grew hard.

"Came to your paper!" he interrupted. "Who does he think runs this camp—the county government, or your little two-by-four sheet?"

"I suppose he felt he had to come," I said, unwilling to put the already troubled Mr. Curtis into a false position, "because he thought the authorities were doing nothing."

"Nothing!" snorted Chris McGrath. "And how am I going to do anything until I git a detective or two?"

"But Mr. Curtis says he saw one of the men who robbed him today," I argued weakly.

"He did, huh?" inquired Marshal McGrath sardonically. "Then why don't he come to me with the news instead of to your paper? It's a triflin' matter to be botherin' me about anyhow."

"It involves ten thousand dollars," said I.

"Do you think," said Marshal McGrath, "that we're supposed to be wet nurses for every tenderfoot that comes into camp? What was he doin' anyhow? Tryin' to work a swindle according to his own admission—tryin' to cook up a dirty deal. The other fellow gets ahead of him. And he squeals. How do I even know it happened? I've got nobody's word for it but his. No, boy—" and here the tones of the marshal's voice, usually so pleasant, vibrant and cordial, took on a jarring note of arrogance, "no boy, a couple of tenderfoots can't come into a camp and tell the old-timers how to run it." He rose abruptly, fished out from his trousers pocket a huge key, unlocked the door, disappeared inside the jail. But he turned at the last moment, and jerked out:

"Tell your editor I know exactly what he's tryin' to do." The door clanged.

I noticed, as I turned away, that Charlie Meek stood in the shadows by the corner of the jail, on guard with his Winchester. Doubtless, I reflected hazily, he must have heard the conversation.

I found Si Conway in the gambling room of the Black Jack, watching the faro tables as they warmed up to their night's run of business. Hitherto, I had not spoken with Si Conway; but I knew him as a personage about camp. Those who knew him pronounced him a good fellow; which I readily understood when I drew him to the one unfrequented corner of the Black Jack and, as tactfully as I could, began my inquisition. For he took it all very simply; and his low voice had an agreeable quality; it seemed oiled with affability.

"I'm right sorry," he said, "if my house has been used for a skin game. It's a public place after all, you know, kid. And anybody will tell you that my games are straight."

"But Mr. Curtis says he saw one of the men that robbed him here this afternoon—" and again I recited the story of that episode.

"I was here when he came in, makin' a disturbance," said Si Conway. "Who do you suppose he saw? Fritz, one of our porters. That's who he took for his friend the confidence man. As for the bartender getting in his way, that's his imagination. I was here, I tell you. The trouble with him is he's a poor loser, and he's gone a little crazy."

"But, after all, he was robbed," I said.

"Was he?" inquired Si Conway pleasantly. "When a man goes into a game like that, what's he doing? Fixing to rob somebody else, ain't he? Then one of his partners in crime turns round and robs him. And instead of taking his medicine, he always hollers, like this party Curtis has done." The same argument; plausible, almost convincing! "But of course I'll see it don't happen again in my house—if it did happen."

I was turning away; for, after all, I had my answer. But Si Conway called me back.

"What's your editor going to do about this?"

"I don't know," said I. "Print the story, of course."

"Tell him he better not do anything rash or sudden," said Si Conway. And his voice lost nothing of its affability.

Re-entering the Courier office, I found Marcus at his case, setting type. He looked up; I had never seen him so still and grave. Normally, he was a somewhat dramatic person, as all journalists tend to be. Day by day in the past fortnight I had watched him grow more subdued. I reported accurately, sparing him nothing. At my recital of the marshal's closing remark, he started slightly. I came to the valedictory of Si Conway. Marcus was at the moment reaching into the "e" box. He froze like a statue—all but his right hand, which fumbled over the types, picking them up and dropping them with nervous fingers. At last he turned on me; and I saw that he had gone pale.

"Came to Your Paper!" He Interrupted. "Who Does He Think Runs This Camp?"

"Kid," he said, "you're a good sort. I guess you've got sand. I'm crossing the Rubicon. Will you go with me?"

"Of course!" I said. Nothing draws youth like a challenge to its courage. Nor did I understand, at that moment, all that my decision implied.

"Then sit down and write the story —straight off—just as it happened—no editorial."

I was finishing my task when Marcus laid before me the proof of his leader, remarking with what seemed to me like forced joviality:

"Think this'll make us enough trouble?"

Just how much trouble this was to make, neither Handy nor Gilson knew. Wait till the next installment.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Parts of Old London That Have Been Moved

It is frequently pointed out that Temple bar is at Theobald's park, and that the front of old Mercer's hall, designed by Sir Christopher Wren, is now the front of Swanage town hall, but there are bits of London which have gone much farther afield and are not so well known.

In the cathedral of Ghent, in Belgium, are elaborate copper candlesticks that once belonged to Old St. Paul's. It may be asked how they escaped the great fire. The fact is they had been sold by Cromwell about sixteen years earlier.

Still farther afield has gone the old rose window of the south transept of Westminster abbey, also the work of Wren. It was removed about twenty-five years ago to make room for a new window in memory of the late duke of Westminster, and was given to the cathedral in Cape Town.

In the garden of the White Bear inn near Addiscombe, Croydon, stands the figure of a real-looking white bear made of wood. This used to be a prominent object where the electric signs now blaze at Piccadilly circus. Until sixty years ago the White Bear Coaching inn stood on the site now occupied by the Criterion restaurant, and this huge wooden bear was its sign.—London Tit-Bits.

First in Silk

When you admire a piece of silk tapestry or silk damask adorning a piece of American-made furniture, it is interesting to know that America ranks first among all the countries manufacturing silks, with France second in production.

New Value to Alder

Alder, which is much used as a wood in making furniture in those sections where it grows on a commercial scale, may have another value far exceeding that for furniture. It is now believed that the little nodules or "bumps" on the roots of alder have nitrogen fixation properties. The German chemists have been working on that theory and American universities have been attempting to prove it with some degree of success. If it is true, the alder having the ability to take nitrogen direct from the air would be a great soil builder.

Why Worry?

Lord Darling, a celebrated English barrister, was addressing the court when he became so engrossed in his case that he completely overlooked the fact that it was past time for adjournment. The court asked: "Mr. Darling, have you noticed the position of the hands of the clock?"

Darling—Yes, sir; but with respect I see nothing to cause anxiety. They seem to me to be where they usually are at this time of the day.

WEIGHED ONLY 98 POUNDS

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio.—"I have really had all kinds of trouble. After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was always sickly and went down to 98 pounds My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble." —Mrs. M. Riessinger, 10004 Nelson Ave, Cleveland, Ohio.

If some good fairy should appear and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose?

Wealth? It's a transient thing that brings it's own cares.

Happiness? It's an elusive thing which we keep by giving away.

Health? That's the best gift. Health is riches that gold cannot buy and surely health is cause enough for happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you the priceless gift of better health.

Sand Pocket in Marble

A large pocket of sand was discovered recently in a solid block of marble at Middlebury, Vt. This sand is unlike any found in that vicinity. It is like beach sand. Geologists who have looked at it say that the marble was found under water and probably the sand was caught in the center of the formation.

Sensible Riding

"Why do you always drive an old battered car?"

"I hate to worry about the fenders."

Efforts are being made in France to develop a farm tractor that will use producer gas because gasoline is too expensive.

Sure Relief

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION
25¢ and 75¢ Pkg's. Sold Everywhere

Beauty Of Hair and Skin Preserved By Cuticura
Soap to Cleanse Ointment to Heal

CORNS
In one minute the pain is Gone!

Gets at the cause of corns

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads work like magic, because they remove the cause—pressing or rubbing of shoes. The pain goes instantly. Amateur paring or burning with "drops" (acid) is dangerous—and doesn't stop the cause. Zino-pads are safe, sure, antiseptic, healing. They protect while they heal. Get a box at your druggist's or shoe dealer's—35c.

For Free Sample write The Scholl Mfg. Co., Chicago

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads
Put one on—the pain is gone

"A God-sent Blessing"

is what one mother writes of Mrs. Winslow's Syrup. Thousands of other mothers have found this safe, pleasant, effective remedy a boon when baby's little stomach is upset. For constipation, flatulency, colic and diarrhoea, there is nothing like

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

The Infants' and Children's Regulator

It is especially good at teething time. Complete formula on every label. Guaranteed free from narcotics, opiates, alcohol and all harmful ingredients.

At all Druggists

Write for free booklet of letters from grateful mothers.

ANGLO-AMERICAN DRUG CO.
215-217 Fulton St. New York

Kill All Flies! THEY SPREAD DISEASE

Placed anywhere, DAISY FLY KILLER attracts and kills all flies. Neat, clean, ornamental, convenient and cheap. Lasts all season. Made of metal, can't spill or tip over; will not soil or injure anything. Guaranteed. Insist upon

DAISY FLY KILLER
from your dealer.

HAROLD SOMERS Brooklyn N. Y.

The Most Wonderful Book in the World

MORE than nine million Bibles were sold or distributed in 1925.

Would you not love to have companion volumes to help you discover the treasures in that Wonderful Book?

SWEDENBORG

[1688–1772]

explained the Bible's practical application to daily life; how it describes the life hereafter; what the Bible parables mean when spiritually interpreted.

His theological works—as issued by himself—have been published by the Houghton, Mifflin Co. in most modern translation from the original Latin, in the Rotch Edition of 32 volumes.

The first twenty give the spiritual sense of Genesis and Exodus as understood in Heaven; and volumes 26, 27, 28 give likewise the spiritual sense of the Book of Revelation.

Volume 29, Marriage Love, views from the union of the Divine Love and the Divine Wisdom the Law of Sex throughout all creation. It shows the crown and jewel of the Christian Religion, the union of one with one only. Price $2.00.

Volumes 30, 31, 32, contain a full statement of the True Christian Religion as revealed from Heaven. $3.00 the set.

The whole 32 volumes in half-morocco at $125; in buckram, $40.

The following are the best introductory books to the Revelations of Swedenborg. They are in large print, bound in buckram, and contain from 260 to 485 pages.

TITLES	PRICE
HEAVEN AND HELL from things heard and seen	$1.25
Angelic Wisdom Concerning—
THE DIVINE PROVIDENCE, which governs the Universe and the Heavens and the Hells, and the least as well as the greatest of all things in creation; and in the everyday life of man.	$1.25
THE DIVINE LOVE AND WISDOM, the profoundest book and revelation concerning God and His Creation ever written, first published in Latin at Amsterdam 1763; along with this is the "Intercourse Between the Soul and the Body" first published in Latin at London 1769.	$1.25
Price of all three at one time, including postage	$2.75

Who Was Swedenborg?

Emanuel Swedenborg, the son of a bishop, was the great Swedish scientist, philosopher and theologian, whose vast range caused Emerson to term him the mastodon of scholars. Dr. Parkes Cadman recently named him the Universal Genius.

Officially connected by appointment of the King, with the great mining industry of Sweden, he mastered all the sciences of his time, and wrote the most useful books on metallurgy, minerals, geology, astronomy, and the human brain.

His life search was for the human soul. How his spiritual senses were opened, after he was 50 years of age, that he might reveal the human soul, the life after death, and the Bible truths, may be read in the above named, uplifting, useful books.

Send orders or inquiries to

B. A. WHITTEMORE, Agent

135 BOWDOIN STREET, Boston 9, Mass.

Agent's Life of Swedenborg sent postpaid for 10 cents; Heaven and Hell in paper covers for 30 cents; Gulf Current on Swedenborg for 10 cents; or all three for 40 cents.

Millions for Your Pleasure

Nothing you've ever seen before will compare with the stupendous exposition being assembled now at Des Moines.

Over five million dollars worth of exhibits and entertainment—covering more than 366 acres, representing nearly ever state in the Union and many foreign nations! Here you can have the finest day's or week's outing of your life—a vacation fairly brimming over with pleasure and profit.

See the National Livestock Show of more than 7,000 horses, cattle, swine and sheep, the grain exhibits, farm bureau projects, boys' and girls' club exhibits, machinery show, auto show, radio show, continuous women's programs, flower show—

Enjoy the horse racing, auto racing, whippet dog races, fireworks, hippodrome, bands, grand opera, society horse shows, team pulling contests, horseshoe tournament and mammoth new midway.

This year, above all others, don't miss the State Fair—the wonder exposition of the west. Bring the whole family. Plan your outing NOW.

Iowa State fair

Aug. 25-Sept. 3

Reduced Railroad Rates

ALONG THE MAIN DRAG

A farmer was in the Times Office the other day and when the conversation drifted to the weather we inquired of him how he expected the corn would go now that we had a fine rain. Absently he remarked, "Oh, around thirty gallons to the acre, maybe!"

Doc. Anderson and party got as far as Chamberlain, South Dak., Saturday night on their trip to the Black Hills, a little over half way the first day. Doc. is now out in the country where men wear leather pants and two gallon hats and kids chew Spearhead and drink pop. The first day Doc had some experience and a card from him said, "Had one puncture, got pinched once, and have a hellofa a headache." He must have got "soaked" right!

Bill Keraus, at the Wellemeyer store, and his family are on a vacation this week in Minnesota. Bill wired the fish he was coming and expects to bring some specimens home with him. In case he has bad luck he will at least eat fish—he packed along a can of salmon and some sardines.

Frank and Donald Gibbs, sons of Postmistress Emma Gibbs, returned Friday night from their hike to Northern Minnesota, the land of "sky blue waters and ten thousand Swedes." The boys are again helping at the post office and so we might say they have returned to the "old stamping grounds."

Now that band concerts are a thing of the past Pete Wilson will notice a big slump in the sale of linament for sore hands. John Pritchard, of the Ford garage, says they fixed a lot of auto horns during band concert season. The band boys appreciated the applause, folks!

Our son, Buster, entertained the "chicken pox" last week. He must have gathered them while we were at Lincoln, Nebraska a couple of weeks ago. He is too young to run around with "chickens" yet, so we can't lay the blame there.

And, speaking of chickens, we are reminded that Klemme hardware dealers report a big sale in buckshot loaded shells the past couple of weeks. Farmers are getting pretty well riled up over so much chicken stealing lately. Somebody is going to get his pants dusted with a shower of lead one of these nights. Go to it farmers, pepper them good.

Saturday evening we noticed a number of small tables, some chairs and what appeared to be a rough box on Wellemeyer's vacant lot. We couldn't figure out whether a poker game or a wake was in session for the night. However, the fragrant odor of hamburger fried with onions and steaming hot coffee coaxed us over and we were soon sitting in with the rest of the hungry crowd at the R. N. A. feed. We guessed it all wrong that time. The R. N. A. ladies know how to throw a wicket skillet when it comes to putting out hot lunches. Oh, yes, we better explain that the tables were to serve the good feed on, the chairs to sit on, and it wasn't a rough box, but just a counter to stack cakes on.

We would like to see a ball game between the married men and bachelors of Klemme. Only drawback to the scheme is that John Pritchard, Ole Brynteson and Doc Anderson can't decide which team they want to play on.

Quite a few along the Main Drag took an aeroplane ride last Friday evening. They say Lloyd Lau, our drayman, was up so high he began to see stars.

Doc. Missman is up in the woods of Wisconsin this week fishing and scratching jigger bites. Doc. will probably have a few big ones to tell when he gets back that will sound like a fairy tale.

Peep, Peep!

A farmer, hearing suspicious sounds in his hen coop, hurriedly seized a shotgun and proceeded to investigate.

"Who's there?" he demanded as he drew near the coop. Silence.

"Who's there?" he demanded with greater vehemence.

A longer silence. Finally a quavering voice with an unmistakable African accent said:

"Only us chickens."

Absolutely Sure

Mr. Swan: "How may you avoid hitting your finger when driving a nail?"

Anthony: "Hold the hammer with both hands."

NOTICE OF INCORPORATION

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned have associated themselves together as a corporation, organized for pecuniary profit under the provisions of Chapter 384, Title 19 of the 1924 Code of Iowa, and laws amendatory thereto, the Name of said corporation to be The Wellemeyer Company, and its principal place of business, Klemme, Iowa.

The general nature of business to be transacted is to buy and sell such merchandise as is ordinarily dealt in by a department store selling everything pertaining to Goods, Wares and Merchandise, for personal, domestic, household and general use and consumption, also to buy and sell Notes, Securities, and Real Estate, and any other business which can be conveniently carried on in connection with the above, as fully as permitted or authorized by the laws of the state of Iowa.

The amount of Capital Stock authorized is $35,000.00 divided into 350 shares of Common Stock of $100 each.

Said Corporation commenced business July 2nd, 1926. It's articles of incorporation are recorded at the Hancock County Court House at Garner, Iowa, and are also filed with the Secretary of State at Des Moines, Iowa. This corporation will continue 20 years unless sooner dissolved by a majority vote of all stockholders.

The affairs of this corporation are to be managed by a board of two directors, which number may be increased to not over five by a majority vote of stockholders. All of the powers of this corporation are vested in its board of directors. The Officers shall be a President, a Secretary and Treasurer, and such other officers as the by-laws may provide.

Officers are to hold office one year. The board of directors shall be elected at the annual meting of stockholders on the first Tuesday of August of each year. The Officers shall be elected by the board of directors at a meeting immediately after the annual meeting of Stockholders. Until the annual meeting of stockholders in the year 1927, Arthur Wellemeyer and Andrew J. Wellemeyer shall constitute the board of directors, and its officers shall be Arthur Wellemeyer, President, and Andrew J. Wellemeyer Secretary and Treasurer. The indebtedness of this corporation shall at no time exceed two thirds of the authorized capital stock, and the private property of the stockholders shall be exempt from liability for the debts of the corporation.

Dated this 10th day of July, 1926.

ARTHUR WELLEMEYER,
ANDREW J. WELLEMEYER.

(Publish Aug. 5-12-19-26, 1926.)

"1776" to Be Fair Spectacle

Des Moines, Special:

Commemorating the 150th anniversary of the signing of the "Declaration of Independence" a great fireworks spectacle embracing in its action many of the famous events of Revolutionary War Days, will be a headliner on the evening program of entertainment of the Iowa State Fair, August 25 to September 3.

The spectacle, "1776" will comprise such vivid scenes in the nation's history as the Boston Tea Party, Paul Revere's Ride, the signing of the Declaration of Independence, Lexington, Washington crossing the Delaware, the surrender of Cornwallis and the Battle of the Bonhomme Richard.

The spectacle will consume more than 40 tons of fireworks. A huge panoramic curtain portraying many of the immortal scenes of '76, will be erected at the fairgrounds especially for this event. Approximately 500 people will take part in the production, which Fair officials declare is the largest patriotic event of its kind ever enacted in this country.

Largest Hippodrome at Fair

Des Moines, Special:

The greatest array of open air hippodrome attractions that has ever performed before an Iowa audience, will entertain in front of the grandstand at the Iowa State Fair, Aug. 25 to Sept. 3.

Stars from the sawdust ring of both Europe and America will be included in a program of hippodrome features which will be even larger than that offered by the biggest of circuses. The features include clowns, jugglers, trapeze performers and scores of similar attractions. This open-air circus will be in addition to the usual daily grandstand program which also includes grand opera, fireworks, whippet racing, running and harness racing and auto racing.

Special State Fair Rates

Des Moines, Special:

All railroads in Iowa and northern Missouri have announced reduced rates for the coming Iowa State Fair and National Livestock Show at Des Moines, Aug. 25th to Sept. 3rd.

The rates will prevail throughout the entire period of the exposition. Fare and one-third will be charged for the round trip. Several roads are planning even lower rates on special days.

Cord Tire Prices

OLDFIELD 30x3½	$ 8.95
FIRESTONE 30x3½	$ 9.00
OLDFIELD 30x3½ Oversize	$ 9.95
FIRESTONE 30x3½ Oversize	$11.95

Garner Auto Company

Phone 77 Klemme, Iowa

School Clothes

For Boys & Young Men

ONLY THREE MORE WEEKS until school begins, and now is the time to get your boys and young men fitted out with New Togs for the first day——

We carry a full line of School Clothes for Boys of all ages—from the first grade through the twelfth:

TROUSERS:—

Long Pant Trousers for the little fellows as well as for the big boys—all cut in the very latest style. Full line of Knickers for School Boys.

SHOES and OXFORDS:—

Our line of School Shoes are built for Hard Usage and Long Wear. Fit your boy out in a pair of our All-Leather Shoes or Oxfords. Also a full line of Athletic Shoes.

SWEATERS:—

New Sweaters arriving every day in the latest styles and patterns. Every Boy needs a good Sweater for School.

SHIRTS, TIES, ETC.—

Our line of Shirts and Ties for School is Complete. We have them for Boys of all ages.

CAPS, ETC.—

New Caps for Fall are arriving. Top off the new school outfit with one of our caps. Also a full line of Belts, Soft Collars, Underwear, Hosiery, Etc.

SCHOOL SUPPLY HEADQUARTERS

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Keep The Cream In A Cool Place

Milk and cream are regular meeting places of odors—just like the old fashioned store used to be for village loafers. They gather, the good and the bad, and the only way to keep milk and cream free from odors is to keep them away from it.

Milk and cream should not be stored in musty cellars or in cellars where the odor of vegetables are strong as they absorb odors like a sponge absorbs water, and for this reason it should not be stored in the kitchen.

Make of your milk house a shrine for the milk and cream alone and don ot permit the men to store their boots, overalls and harness in the milk house and then expect to market a quality product—"It can't be did."

When the saying was coined, "Cleanliness is next to Godliness," the fellow who sprung it must have been thinking about milk and cream.

Help make the butter manufactured at this creamery stand for the very highest quality.

Klemme Co-Op Creamery Co.

PIANOS

Players & Grand
New and
Second Hand

M. N. ZEIGER

Jewelry & Optical Goods

GARNER, IOWA

Kitchen Ranges

Another shipment of Kitchen Ranges has arrived and we are featuring some new styles that will please the housewife. Now is a good time to buy a new range, the price is right and we have a full line from which you can choose:

OIL RANGES:—

GLOBE RANGES:—

This is our big seller. See the New Style Globe, it's a dandy. We have Globes in all styles, sizes and finishes.

QUIKC MEAL RANGES:—

Look them over and decide which one you like best—we have a full line.

MAJESTIC RANGES:—

"The Old Reliable," a favorite with a lot of housewives. Buy your range here.

SOUTH BEND MALEABLE:—

We carry this New Style South Bend aMlleable, come in and see it.

A full line of several reliable makes. A fine thing for canning and summer cooking.

E. F. Jacobs

"THE FARM SERVICE STORE"

Satisfaction or Money Back!

WE GUARANTEE THAT OUR OCCIDENT FLOUR WILL MAKE MORE LOAVES OF

WHITER—
LIGHTER—
BETTER TASTING
BREAD

THAN ANY OTHER FLOUR YOU HAVE EVER USED.

TRY A SACK—YOU'LL BE SURPRISED WHEN YOU SEE THE DIFFERENCE.

Made by Russel Miller Milling Co., of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

1 Sack Lots	5 Sack Lots	10 Sack Lots
$2.80	$2.75	$2.70

—PER SACK—

Full line of MILL FEEDS of all kinds on hand at all times—ask us!

North Iowa Grain Co.

The North Elevator — Klemme, Iowa

Klemme Locals

